Republicans win election, retain majority

By David Brown
Managing Editor

The Republican party has retained control of the Township Committee for another term.

After a tough, heated, and, some believe, drawn-out campaign for two committee seats, Republican candidates Jeffrey Katz and Harry Pappas defeated Democrats Myrna Wasserman and Steve Firsichbaum by approximately 1,700 votes of 9,313 cast. Pappas' victory marks his first appointment to elected office.

"We really thank the voters for their support and pledge to repay them by working to keep Springfield a better place in which to live," said the Republicans in a joint victory statement.

"We will continue to ensure the lowest possible taxes and run Springfield like the $14 million business that it is," they said.

"Obviously, I'm not happy about the results," said Firsichbaum, "We did better than most Democrats. I think Katz and Pappas were helped by the Republican landslide."

The campaign marks Firsichbaum's second try for elective office in the township. In 1989 Firsichbaum was narrowly defeated by incumbent committee member Philip Kurmos. Wasserman could not be reached for comment.

Springfield voters supported the Republican ticket by a majority in seven of the township's 14 polling districts. While the Republicans received the largest majority in Districts 1 through 5, the margin narrowed in Districts 6 through 11. The Democratic team carried Districts 8, 10 and 11.

Of the votes recorded, Wasserman and Firsichbaum received 2,162 and 2,133 respectively, while Katz and Pappas received 2,691 and 2,327 votes.

"We campaigned on issues and on what we truly felt was in the best interests of our community," Katz and Pappas said. "We stated in April that we would take the high road in this campaign and refused to go down to their level."

The campaign was marked by debate over a series of issues. Points of contention included which party could take responsibility for the decrease in the municipal tax rate, positions taken on the future of the Houdaille Quarry, the relationship of appointed officials, and one candidacy, to incumbent committee members, and the responsiveness of the present administration to residents.

Mayor Marc Marshall, whose seat Pappas will assume in 1992, called the election atypical. "This campaign was like giving birth," he said. "It was a long campaign, but these guys hit the ground running."

Marshall attributed the victory to the voters' concern about taxes. "I have to give credit to the voters. They saw through all the garbage in the campaign. They voted their pocketbooks."

As of 1992, the Township Committee will consist of Republicans Philip Kurmos, Jeffrey Katz and Harry Pappas, and Democratic incumbents Lee Eisen and Marcia Forman.

As in Springfield, Republican candidates won an overwhelming majority of the races throughout the state. At the county level, Republicans won three seats on the Board of Freeholders, giving them a six-member majority.

Republicans in the New Jersey Senate assumed a 14-seat majority, while gaining 10 in the Assembly.

Republicans monopolize 21st Legislative District

By Tom Canavan
Editor

Getting caught up in the wind that swept a majority of Republicans into both houses of the Legislature Tuesday, Senator C. Louis Bassano, Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden and Essex County Freeholder Monroe Lustbader will join an overwhelming number of Republican legislators in Trenton whose constituents felt they had enough of Gov. Jim Florio and elected them to serve in the newly aligned 21st Legislative District.

The message which many people speculated would be uttered to Florio through Tuesday's general election came across with a resounding boom as the GOP claimed 58 of the 80 seats in the Assembly and 27 of the 40 seats in the Senate. That number gives the GOP-controlled Legislature the two-thirds vote to override the governor's vetoes, and could render Florio powerless during the next two years.

In the 21st district, Bassano defeated his opponent, Ely Manov, 36,905 to 15,019 to regain a seat in the Senate. In the Assembly, Ogden and Lustbader garnered 32,682 and 29,223 votes, more than enough to defeat Assemblyman Neil Cohen, who earned 19,789 votes, and his running mate, Frank Covello, who earned 15,457 votes.

Republicans across the state walked away with a majority of the victories, and Bassano, Ogden and Lustbader are giving Florio credit for at least half of the votes that turned the GOP way.

"What you're seeing is a reaction against Florio and the Democratic policies that were enacted during the last two years," Bassano said Tuesday night at his Union-based campaign headquarters, where Ogden and Lustbader joined him to celebrate their victories. "This is the voters' mini-revolution to what Governor Florio and the Democrats did. This is the first opportunity the voters had to respond to the actions of the Democratic majority."

Bassano, a senator for the last 10 years and a former assemblyman and Union Township Committeeman, recounted the venture into his new district, which includes eight municipalities from Essex County and five from Union County. "I don't like the idea of almost having to start over again," he said, referring to his new constituents. "It has to be frustrating to the voters to vote on the basis of two or three pieces of literature. Now I'll have two years to get known over there and to let them know that if they have a problem, there are constituent services available to them."

The first item the Republican-controlled Legislature is expected to tackle during the new session which begins in January, Bassano said, is the Quality Education Act. "We'll either change it or abolish it and start over again. You're going to see a much more conservative approach to fiscal problems."

Jewish community sees hope in Mideast peace negotiations

By David Brown
Managing Editor

Springfield's Jewish population kept a close and hopeful eye on Madrid, the site of an historic peace conference that brought Palestinians and Israelis to the negotiating table. According to representatives of several Springfield synagogues, Jews in Springfield viewed the unprecedented chance for peace in hopeful anticipation.

"It's a great joy," said Rabbi Joshua Goldstein of Springfield's Temple Sha'arey Shalom. "A momentous precedent has been set by the willingness of the Arabs to sit down and talk. An opening seems to have been found, and our prayers will be focused on that hope."

Goldstein, said he, and he believed, most of his congregation watched the peace conference closely after it began last week.

Prompted by the recent events in the Middle East, particularly the Gulf war, the peace conference in Madrid, Spain, which was promoted by the shuttle diplomacy of U.S. Secretary of State James Baker, brought the major players of the unsettled region to the bargaining table.

Although the international delegations have departed, and mixed reactions have been expressed about the meeting's success, the parties involved hope to continue the talks at a later date.

For one week in Spain, the Arab representatives of Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Jordan and others attempted to hash out the terms of a regional peace plan that would bring to an end hostilities between Israel and the Arab states that began nearly 45 years ago.

In support of the Palestinian pursuit of statehood, the region's Arab states have been in a perpetual state of war with Israel since 1948 when it declared independence from Britain. Arab delegations have yet to recognize Israel as a legitimate state.

"Some pessimists are dismayed by the harsh language of the talks," said Goldstein, noting he found many of the positions taken by Arab hardliners predictable. "What wasn't predictable, even one month ago, was that Israel would be sitting down at the negotiating table."

The primary demands of the Arab delegation included the return of the Eastern half of Jerusalem to the Arabs, taken by Israeli forces in the 1967 war; the halting of Israeli settlement efforts in occupied territories; the removal of Israeli occupation forces from the Golan Heights, the West Bank and Gaza Strip; and, to a degree, a transitional period leading to statehood, or Palestinian self-rule.

While the Israelis have expressed a willingness to discuss limited self-rule by the Palestinians, the delegation, led by Israeli Prime Minister Itzhak Shamir, said Israel must be recognized by the Arabs as a legitimate nation, with Jerusalem as "eternal capital city."

"I think once the Israelis have a sense that they're fully recognized by the Arabs as a state, everything is negotiable," said Goldstein, qualifying his remarks as not speaking for Israelis.

The rabbi, however, acknowledged that the status of Jerusalem was a "tough one. Maybe it's best to leave that issue for the end of the talks," he said. "But I think the city of Jerusalem should remain as it is, united and free. Hopefully, that won't be a sticking point in the negotiations."

While acknowledging "some American Jews will disagree with Israeli policies," Goldstein said "this is our spiritual homeland, so we insist

Police become educators for students' benefit

Officer "Dan" and Officer "Ed" got to school early. They toss the football around with the kids before school, they chat with the kids in the halls and eat lunch in the school cafeteria between classes.

Teaching? Springfield police officers?

Not in the traditional sense, but Springfield's finest appear to have found a second home in the Gaudineer School, where they've initiated a program that seeks to pre-empt substance abuse through education.

Proactive in approach, the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program, or DARE, is part of a statewide effort by law enforcement officials to prevent substance abuse among youngsters. Deemed most impressionable and therefore at higher risk, the fifth grade at Gaudineer has been targeted for the pilot program.

According to police and educators, the DARE classes, scheduled to run for 17 weeks, have been universally well received.

"The kids love it," said Cpl. Dan Maidling of the Springfield Police Department's Crime Prevention Unit, who is affectionately called Officer

Dan by Gaudineer's student body. "We're really starting to build a good rapport."

Officer Ed McNary, Maidling's teaching partner in the course, now in its fourth week, echoed his assessment of the program which has been established as a part of the official health class curriculum.

"We seem to have made the breakthrough as far as the uniform goes," said McNary, who along with Maidling in their police uniforms, have become a familiar, and obviously welcome, sight in the halls. "The kids are really starting to open up in terms of the questions they ask, and talking to us one-on-one."

The DARE program, which is taught by police officers in cooperation with the school's health instructors, emphasizes the ways kids can avoid getting mixed up with drugs and alcohol — it helps them, in effect, to say no.

"We teach the kids both sides," said McNary, who appeared on Suburban Cablevision's "Eye on Springfield" to discuss the program. "We inform them of the drugs that are out there, and the effects of using them," he said, explaining the participatory

School board continues restructuring hearings

By David Brown
Managing Editor

The Springfield Board of Education Monday continued its series of public hearings concerning the reorganization of the school system to accommodate a changing student population.

During the second of these hearings, designed to garner public input into the grade level reorganization strategy that has been in the works for the past year, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Gary Friedland reviewed the various patterns in which grades K-8 might be arranged in the district's school buildings.

Springfield's primary school system presently includes the Sandmeier and Caldwell schools, each housing grades 1 through 4, the Gaudineer school for grades 5 through 8, and the Walton School, which houses kindergartners and the special education students. A portion of the Walton school is leased to the Summit Child Care Center, a private facility.

The different grade level configurations, examined to address a growing student population, an apparent need for a pre-kindergarten program and state requirements to assimilate special education students into the regular student population, includes one proposal that appears to have the general support of the board.

Although no firm decisions have been made, and additional public hearings are scheduled, the ad hoc committee recommended a grade configuration that would establish a preschool through kindergarten program at Walton, and the "maintenance of the neighborhood elementary school concept with grade levels 1 through 4 at Caldwell and Sandmeier, and the continuation of grades 5 through 8 at Gaudineer.

According to Friedland, the ad hoc committee, made up of administrators, teachers and members of the community, "weighed both educational and financial factors" before recommending the last of six proposals.

"This particular grade level pattern was supported by the committee because it utilized resources to enhance programs by establishing a preschool program," said Friedland. "It also allows for the continued complementary services of the Summit Child Care Center at Walton, and it maintained the neighborhood schools concept."

The six restructuring proposals were categorized as "neighborhood," or "campus" systems. The neighborhood schools approach entails schools serving the populations in the contiguous, surrounding area. The campus system would bring students in the same grade to a common building — a kind of small-scale regionalization.

While commenting that the last of the proposals sounded the most feasible, given the need to "use the space

Township posts traffic cop at Caldwell for kids' safety

By Dennis Schaal

Following a letter from the Board of Education, police officials this week reportedly have reinstated the practice of posting a police officer in front of James Caldwell School at peak hours to alleviate traffic concerns.

Schools Superintendent Gary Friedland said Monday that coupled with the routine positioning of two school crossing guards at the facility, the assignment of an officer to keep traffic flowing and enforce no parking regulations is a "workable" solution to the problem.

The issue arose anew at the Oct. 21 school board meeting when a parent expressed apprehensions that the heavy traffic on Caldwell Place jeopardized the safety of the youngsters. Board President Jeff Rauchbach explained this week that some parents have called for the installation of a blinking, yellow traffic light to counter fears over student safety, but that this would be a move that the township, not the school board, would have to undertake.

"It's really out of our control," the board president said. He stressed that parents with ongoing complaints regarding the heavy traffic should take the matter up with town officials.

Friedland related that the board sent a letter to the mayor and police chief a day after the school board meeting expressing renewed concern over the issue.

The school chief indicated that the Police Department — which he emphasized has been very cooperative in regard to school board suggestions

Hearings continue

We have before us today a public hearing on the proposed changes to the public preschool program. Board of Education member Gary Tias cautioned the public that no final decisions have been reached. "We won't make any decisions until we've completed the public hearings," said Tias.

Public input into the hearing focused on the need for a public preschool program. Two Springfield residents expressed concern about putting their children directly into a full-day kindergarten program.

Areas covered so far at Gaudinier include personal safety, drug use and its consequences, and techniques for resisting pressure. The curriculum will include sections on building self-esteem, assertiveness, managing stress without the use of drugs, media influences on drugs and alternatives to drug abuse.

According to Gaudinier Principal Kenneth Bernabe, teachers are also playing an important, supportive role in the program. "This program is not hung up on the science of teaching," Bernabe said. "So the teachers are assisting the officers, when necessary, in getting the message across."

"It's almost like insurance," said Bernabe, "you can never have enough."

Freeholder reins given to GOP

By Sharon Cates
Staff Writer

Thanks to a Republican sweep of the three freeholder seats that were up for grabs in this year's election, the Union County board of Freeholders is only one of the entities that the Democrats will lose control of in January.

Unofficial results show that all three GOP freeholder candidates, Mario Paparozzi, Frank Lehr and James Keefe, beat their Democrat opponents during Tuesday night's general election.

Also, Republican County Clerk incumbent Walter Halpin will retain his seat for another five-year term, according to unofficial results.

Unofficial freeholder tallies show that Lehr captured the most votes with a countywide total of 55,977. Keefe followed closely with 55,913 and Paparozzi finished with 54,430.

As for the Democrats, unofficial tallies show that incumbent Freeholder Walter Bright received 41,511 votes, Fred Eckel received 37,695 votes and incumbent Freeholder Chairman James C. Welsh took 36,742 votes.

The Republican freeholder candidates took almost every municipality in the county. Of the 10 municipalities, the Democrats only took Elizabeth, Hillside, Linden and Plainfield. Kenilworth, Roselle and Winfield Park were split.

The impact of the GOP sweep will be felt in January, when the Republican take control of the freeholder board for the first time since 1987.

And, while many county Democrats were quick to blame anti-Florio sentiment for their losses, the Republicans contradicted the Democrats' presumption.

"Personally I am elated," Keefe said. "I think the voters made an intelligent choice. I don't attribute these election results entirely to the anti-Florio sentiment."

"We campaigned the old-fashioned way," Keefe added. "The campaign

UCUA to target minority and women contractors

Union County businesses owned by minorities and women will benefit from a new program designed to assist those groups in finding, hiring and contracting opportunities during construction of the county's resource recovery facility, Union County Utilities Authority officials announced this week.

The plan is being developed by Ogden Martin Systems Inc. of Fairfield, builders of the planned resource recovery facility in Rahway, in collaboration with the UCUA.

"We hope this program will provide assistance to those groups who are traditionally most affected in times of economic downturn — minorities and women," said UCUA Chairman Angelo J. Bonanno.

"The development of this $155 million facility will contribute more than $50 million to the Union County economy during its two-year construction period. This program will ensure that Minority-owned Business Enterprises and Women-owned Business Enterprises will have every opportunity to participate in the economic boost that this project will provide for the area," he said.

Bonanno also noted that the proposed plan, which grew out of discussions with members of the New Jersey United Minority Business Brain Trust

Guidance counselors get look at "new" vocational schools

More than 60 persons were in attendance when the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools played host Nov. 1 to guidance counselors from high schools located throughout the county. Stewart Mills welcomed the guests to the annual Information Breakfast and gave an update of current activities.

A look at the "new" Union County Vocational-Technical Schools was provided by Vito Gagliardi, superintendent of the UCV-TS. He referred to an ongoing review of the programs and operations by the school's administration and the County Vocational Schools Board of Education.

The purpose, according to Gagliardi, is to ensure that innovative steps are being taken to put forth and maintain top quality training augmented by fine, accessible facilities and state-of-the-art equipment. Gagliardi asked the support of those present in spreading the word about the availabilities at the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools.

Principal Carol Hopper pointed out program additions and modifications while the workings of the student assistance center were explained by social worker Evelyn Jeffrey and counselor Barbara Kaczmarek.

"It is hard to be a Democrat right now," Winfield Park Mayor Dave Wright said.

The draft plan for the program will be submitted by Ogden Martin to the UCUA in mid-November.

The new initiative was announced at a press conference at the offices of the UCUA in Elizabeth. It was attended by representatives of Ogden Martin, the UCUA, the New Jersey United Minority Opportunity Brain Trust, as well as local, county and state officials.

Individuals who would like more information about the program may call or write the Union County Utilities Authority, 24-52 Rahway Avenue, Elizabeth, 07202, (908) 351-8770.

UCUA offers brochure

Union County residents can learn more about the county's solid waste management plans by reading an informative, new brochure published by the Union County Utilities Authority.

The two-color brochure, titled "What You Need to Know About Integrated Waste Management for Union County," describes how the county's plans for source reduction, 60 percent recycling, resource recovery and limited landfilling will help Union County to avert New Jersey's impending solid waste management crisis.

"We hope residents will take a moment to read this brochure and become more informed about solid waste issues and the approach our county has taken in order to meet our waste disposal needs, today and in the future," said Angelo J. Bonanno, chairman of the authority. "We've designed this easy-to-read brochure to answer many of the questions we're often asked by the public at our meetings or when we attend community events," Bonanno added.

The brochure is being distributed to libraries, municipal offices and community groups throughout Union County as part of the UCUA's effort to inform the public about its integrated waste management plans.

Additional copies of the brochure may be requested by residents or community groups by writing to the Union County Utilities Authority, 24-52 Rahway Avenue, Elizabeth 07202, or by calling (908) 351-8770.

Views' targets jobs

In November, "Vintage Views," Union County's cable television program for seniors, will discuss how the "Green Thumb Program" helps seniors find part-time employment, announced Elmer Ertl, Union County Freeholder vice chairman and liaison to the Advisory Council on Aging.

"Green Thumb Inc. 'grows' jobs for seniors 55 years of age and older who meet federal income guidelines," said Ertl. "This federal program began in 1965 to help unemployed rural workers by giving them jobs beautifying America's highways. That's where the name came from."

"Today the program operates in every state, and its aim is to improve the quality of life for seniors by sliding them in finding part-time work in their local communities."

Host Lou Coviello, a program coordinator with the Division on Aging, Department of Human Services, which produces the show, will talk with George Bacha, a Green Thumb supervisor, about the program and current part-time job opportunities.

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances." — U.S. Constitution, Amendment 1

Support the chosen

The votes have been solicited, cast and counted. The election is over. Now it's time to get back to work.

The partisan politics of the election should be put to bed, ideally, for good, but at least until next November. Those elected have been named as the stewards of Springfield for the coming term. They have been chosen by the majority of people because they were seen as the ones who could best serve. Whether or not individuals agree with their positions is of secondary concern. The elected leaders need the support of all township residents.

They must now be afforded a chance to serve. Judgments will come next election when again it will be time to pull the powerful voting booth levers. For now, however, they need cooperation.

The leaders-elect have been chosen to serve the whole. They must now reciprocate support in order to fulfill their duty. Their future decisions will affect their supporters and their adversaries alike.

Acceptance must also come from their colleagues on the governing body. Each of the members should see the other as an equal. In order for the Township Committee to use its knowledge and wisdom to make judgments which benefit the constituency, it needs bipartisan support. The body must act as one. That does not mean discussion is unwanted; but it must be constructive. Integrity should be the key and the driving force behind government.

Like most conscientious residents, the Springfield Leader looks forward to following the progress of the new administration, which, hopefully, will lead the township as a united force through trying economic times — a common denominator which transcends party lines.

Support the government officials that Springfield has empowered, and expect no less from them in working with their colleagues and constituency.

Remember the vets

The observance of Veterans Day this year is particularly significant because, for the first time for many Americans, veterans are not only heroes from wars past, but from an era with which each one of us can identify.

Not since World War II have our service men and women received such wide and sincere support from a citizenry that placed its trust and confidence in them for the protection of democracy.

The conflict in the Persian Gulf earlier this year prompted a re-evaluation of the negative backlash that has plagued veterans of such wars as the Korean and Vietnam conflicts for decades.

Veterans Day 1991 should be a time when all citizens of the United States look with fresh eyes upon the veterans of earlier wars and try to understand the dangers they battled in their quest for the preservation of democracy, just as many of us came to understand the dangers our men and women faced when they fought in Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Iraq for the same reason.

Let's also look at Veterans Day 1991 as a symbol of peace for the future.

We owe it to our veterans for the freedoms we have come to enjoy as Americans. Let's take a few minutes Monday in our communities to honor the men and women who have given us this place on Earth.

New ideas needed to recapture old ideals

It wasn't so long ago that growing up and living in towns across New Jersey used to be a lot simpler. Shared values like responsibility, teamwork, a spirit of community seemed to make tasks and challenges a little easier to deal with.

Indeed the history of our nation is filled with stories of settlers coming together for a barn raising or groups of immigrants forming mutual aid societies in our cities, neighbors hosting a potluck supper to raise money for a local project. We've always had a spirit of working together to meet challenges.

Today, those challenges are even greater. But sometimes we lose sight of the old values that bind us together. "Back then," many towns relied on the good will of volunteers to staff fire companies and rescue squads. Some still do. But more and more, that spirit of working together to meet challenges is being squeezed as people around the state are being squeezed by higher costs and the pressures of modern life. Ultimately, it comes down to the issue of property taxes. Over the past decade, property taxes here have doubled in New Jersey. Yet people know that for every dollar more they've paid, their services have stayed the same or decreased.

I've been around the state listening to your concerns about car insurance, clean water and schools. But one question I continually get no matter where I go comes from people who want to know why their little town pays so much for services when they could be saving money by sharing responsibilities with the town's next door.

That's a good question. And we're taking steps to answer it. I believe in finding new ideas to recapture old ideals. New ideas to keep New Jersey a place of opportunity. To ease the property tax burden that has squeezed middle-class families for too long.

In this spirit, I recently signed an Executive Order that creates the Local Partnership Task Force, to find ways that local governments can pool resources and save money, without cutting services. This task force will bring together people from a wide variety of backgrounds, like government, business, planning experts and representatives of public interest groups such as the League of Women Voters.

These people will examine what's being done now, evaluating what's working and what hasn't been working. They'll look for new ways to encourage greater participation. New ways to encourage towns to work together to pool resources and provide more cost-effective, efficient services and relieve the property tax burden on their residents.

For example, many rural areas of our state are underserved and hard-pressed to staff their local fire and rescue squads. Working together, two or three municipalities might be able to pool equipment and resources and provide a better and efficient service.

It's an exciting prospect that will put New Jersey on the cutting edge of finding new, better ways to serve people.

We've made some real progress in the fight against property taxes. This year, in almost every town, property taxes stabilized or even went down. But, a key to making sure that we've accomplished as much as we've accomplished can last is to get to the root of the matter, and control the costs of local, county and state government — and our schools too.

We've done a lot. We've provided greater property tax relief for homeowners and tenants. We've relieved some of the burden on counties and municipalities by taking over some of the costs they've always carried for state social service programs.

We've done these things because we're committed to giving you, as taxpayers, your money's worth. But if we really listen to people, we know they also have come to expect a level of service and protection that must not be compromised. This task force will explore all avenues. They'll look at areas where there are local partnerships that are successful. By the end of next June, the task force will report to me with their recommendations.

The past isn't something that is found only in history books. The lessons and the values that we have carried throughout are just as important today. And we can make them work just as well today and learn from the experience to pass those lessons on for tomorrow.

Teamwork. Community spirit. Opportunity. These are guiding values that we can't afford to lose sight of. And we won't, with the help of our new Local Partnership Task Force.

Tax cuts now can stimulate the economy

One of the cardinal rules of politics is that "perception is reality." If people believe something is so, it makes little or no difference whether they're right or wrong. They will follow their instincts.

The same thing can be said of our economy.

If consumer confidence is shot, you can forget about any slight improvement in the economic indicators. Instead of spending money, people will hold onto it — and that will only delay an economic recovery.

Right now, New Jersey is stuck in an economic rut, even though some other parts of the country are beginning to pull out of the recession. It's obvious we need to jumpstart our economy. But that's not all. We also need a major attitude adjustment.

I believe one will lead to the other. People have a bad case of the jitters in New Jersey, and you can't blame them.

More than 252,000 residents are out of work. During the past six months alone, 40,000 manufacturing jobs were lost. Commercial and industrial construction fell 40 percent. The wholesale and retail trades suffered the largest employment contraction in 20 years.

So it should come as no surprise that people are still fuming about Gov. Florio's decision to raise taxes by $2.8 billion. Times are tough, and higher taxes only make matters worse.

That's why Republicans are proposing a rollback of the state sales tax to its pre-Florio level of 6 percent. This would give consumers an extra half-billion dollars in buying power. It would be dollars for them, and the economy.

right track. It will show the people that their elected leaders in Trenton are committed to restoring New Jersey's competitive edge in the region. And if it comes on top of a major tax cut in Washington, that could be exactly the right medicine to cure our ailing national economy.

If the people believe we are doing all we can to promote an economic recovery, consumer confidence will return.

In New Jersey, rolling back the sales tax will help bridge the gap between "perception" and "reality." It will touch the lives of people in a way no amount of economic statistics can.

At most, the proposed tax reduction will mean the businesses in Trenton will have $550 million less to spend than they do now. The current Florio budget is $15 billion. We can make $550 million in cuts without hampering the delivery of essential services.

I am concerned about the fiscal health of government. But I am more concerned with the fiscal health of working men and women. It's a matter of priorities. This Republican wants the economy to grow, not government.

History has proven that tax cuts can stimulate the economy and begin a beneficial chain reaction. When the economy grows, jobs are created, personal income rises, business expands and everyone's standard of living is brighter. But that's not all. When the economy grows, more tax revenue flows into the state treasury.

If there ever was a time for a forceful, pro-growth strategy, it is now. Lower taxes will help us achieve our goal. The fact that neighboring states are making the same mistake Florio did and raising taxes during a recession makes this an even more opportune time for us to strike.

We can make New Jersey an economic oasis. We can become known as the "Tax Advantage State."

All it takes is the political courage and will to act.

Little time remains to alter collision course

When President Bush announced as new federal policy "no net loss" of wetlands, hope for the future of this nation's environment surged in all who know that too many acres of this irreplaceable resource have been lost already.

But hope turned to despair when the federal government on Aug. 14, published in the Federal Register new proposed criteria for identifying wetlands which will, if adopted, exclude many of the acres considered to be wetlands today under the current definition.

The new, narrow definition will result in the loss of as much as 50 percent of this nation's wetlands. New Jersey will be subjected to similar losses, including wetlands in the Pine Barrens and the Great Swamp area. The current scientific definition will be replaced with a political definition of these fragile areas. Freshwater wetlands filter pollution, mitigate flooding, recharge underground aquifers, provide habitat for endangered species, function as a nursery for aquatic life, and serve as recreation areas. Rare plants that serve as essential building blocks for new wonder drugs have been found in wetlands.

As sponsor of New Jersey's 1987 Freshwater Wetlands Protection Act which utilizes the federal criteria to identify wetlands, I am extremely alarmed at this latest attack on our fragile resource.

While we in New Jersey can sever our tie to the federal definition by amending our law, it won't be an easy task. It took 4 1/2 years of constant effort to pass this landmark legislation, and the developers won't sit idly by if we attempt to retain strong protection for our declining resource.

Bill passes to update municipal land use law

A bill sponsored by Assemblyman Bob Franks that will update the Municipal Land Use Law and make it easier to administer became law recently.

"A number of comprehensive changes designed to streamline the law have been recommended by a special committee that drafted the original statute in 1975 and has monitored its workings ever since," said Franks, R-Union/Fisck.

As a result of exhaustive deliberations by the Municipal Land Use Law Drafting Committee, the statute was modified in 1979, 1984 and 1985. The Municipal Land Use Law Drafting Committee was chaired by Harry Maslow, a well-respected architect and planner from Berkeley Heights. Maslow said, "Assemblyman Franks has been a strong supporter and had taken a key role in promoting the passage of this important legislation. The new revisions and clarifications came directly from discussions and problems that arose out of input from municipalities all over the state."

"After reviewing record court decisions affecting land use, including some that were not reported, and evaluating the comments of local officials as well as concerned citizens, the panel has proposed another set of sweeping reforms," Franks said.

The omnibus bill will revamp the procedures certain municipalities must follow when appointing planning board members, approving variances and handling subdivision requests.

In addition, it would permit members of the board of adjustment to serve as members of the planning board when the planning board would otherwise lack a quorum because of conflicts of interest.

The bill will also allow developers to use letters of credit as performance and maintenance guarantees. Municipalities will be prohibited from requiring that a maintenance guarantee be in cash or that more than 10 percent of a performance guarantee be in cash.

Roselle Park tops Brearley for fifth consecutive win

Sports Editor
Roselle Park and Brearley Regional have produced one of the better high school football rivalries in Union County over the years and last Friday night's game in Roselle Park added to the lore.

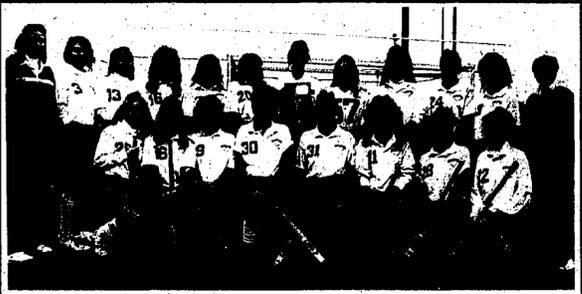

What made the game even more interesting was that both teams entered the contest 4-1 and with four game winning streaks. Both clubs are also vying for playoff berths in North Jersey, Section 2, Group 1 and the Valley Division title in the Mountain Valley Conference.

So with the game deadlocked in the fourth quarter, it was time for one team to charge. That team was Roselle Park as the Panthers came away with a hard-fought 25-15 victory.

Roselle Park scored 10 unanswered fourth-quarter points after the two teams battled to a 15-15 tie after three quarters.
"Both of our lines did an excellent job," Roselle Park head coach John Wagner said. "We had nice balance on offense and made some big plays on defense."

Roselle Park senior quarterback Tom Baylock threw a touchdown pass of seven yards to Carlson in the first quarter and one for 17 yards to John Jacobs in the second period to give Roselle Park a 12-0 lead. Baylock's kick failed after his first touchdown pass and his pass attempt went incomplete after his second.

Breary Regional senior quarterback Jonathan Chang, four carries for 133 yards, put the Bears on the scoreboard with an 80-yard touchdown run in the second quarter.

Runners-up - The Roselle Park High School field hockey team gave a valiant effort in reaching the Union County Tournament final where it lost a 1-0 decision to Kent Place. The Panthers will play at Whippany Park at 2 p.m. on Tuesday in the state North Jersey, Section 2, Group 1 semifinals.

Bears host Johnson today

The Brearley Regional High School boys' soccer team, seeded second, begins defense of its Group 1, Section 2, Group 1 title on Saturday by hosting seventh-seeded Johnson Regional today at 10 a.m. in the first round of the North Jersey, Section 2, Group 1 playoffs.

The Bears, 14-3, swept Johnson Regional during the regular season, winning a 4-3 overtime decision in Clark and a 4-1 verdict in Kenilworth.
Trivet paced the Bulldogs on the ground with 81 yards on 20 carries. Senior defensive end Neal Lynch had four assisted and two solo tackles and junior safety Gordon Morrison three assisted and two solo.

Dayton Regional hosts Roselle Thomas LaVecchia, 36, and Jackie Mullen, 41, ran in their first New York City Marathon last Sunday. LaVecchia finished the race in 4:11 and Mullen in 4:33.

"Roselle is a very dangerous club with a lot of speed," Maglione said. "We don't have as much speed so we're going to have to be very disciplined."
THE ROSELLE PARK HIGH SCHOOL FIELD HOCKEY team, seeded third, will play at second-seeded Whippany Park Tuesday at 2 p.m. in a North Jersey, Section 2, Group 1 semifinal contest.

Petresca followed right behind Behrens and finished 10th in 22:52. A trio of veteran senior runners took the next three Union scoring places. Amy Posen finished 13th in 23:14, Katy Posen 17th in 23:26, and Liz Machado 19th in 23:43.

Also competing for the Farmers were Martina Assuncao, 46th in 26:30 and Melody Gocklin, 50th in 27:04.

"Our girls are peaking at just the right time," Union coach Bill Soranno said. "Every one of them had a 1991 personal-record in the race."

Both squads will be competing in Saturday's North Jersey, Section 2, Group 4 championship meet to be held at Westfield Park. The Group 4 race is scheduled to start at 12:55 p.m.

R. Park wins conference crown

By J.R. Parachini Sports Editor
A mix of sophomores, juniors and seniors helped the Roselle Park High School girls' tennis team to its second best ever season in school history.

Seniors Joy Ferraro and Senajida Kajosevic, juniors Laura Mahon and Pam Davis and sophomores Tara Bogota, Adrienne Appello and Jennifer Gibki sparked the Panthers to a 19-2 record and a fourth consecutive Mountain Valley Conference-Valley Division championship. Only Roselle Park's 1986 Group 1 state championship team finished with a better record and more wins, 25-1.

"As the season unfolded we played better and better," head coach Nancy Sturcke said. "She moved all the way up from being our No. 7 player last year," Sturcke said. "Playing at first singles is never easy because you're always playing the other team's best player."

"So, for Tara to wind up with a winning record is an extraordinary accomplishment. She's a very fine athlete and has a good mind for tennis."

Second singles: Laura Mahon, 15-7; "Laura struggled this year because she didn't feel good physically," Sturcke said. "She had a back problem and a cold but despite all of that she was always on the court for us."

"They both won more matches than we were totally unprepared for this year and did a fabulous job."

Second doubles: Jennifer Gibki and Pam Davis, 17-4 together; Gibki 20-4 and Davis 18-4; "Pam and Jennifer proved to be a very strong combination and finished unbeaten in the conference," Sturcke said of the second-year, letter-winners.

and that balls her out a lot." Third singles: Adrienne Appello, 17-4; "Adrienne was one of our top TV players last year and worked hard to improve in the off-season," Sturcke said of the three-sport athlete. "She has good legs, scrambles a lot and usually gets to every ball."

"Adrienne has a very good competitive attitude and is all over the court going after shots. She's physically strong and has a lot of raw talent."

First doubles: Joy Ferraro and Senajida Kajosevic, 14-7 together; Ferraro, 15-7; "Although we may have a young team this year, it's going to be very difficult to replace Joy and Senajida," Sturcke said of the senior tandem. "Joy is a four-year, letter-winner and has played both singles and doubles for us. Senajida's biggest strength is her net game."

"They both won more matches than we were totally unprepared for this year and did a fabulous job."

Second doubles: Jennifer Gibki and Pam Davis, 17-4 together; Gibki 20-4 and Davis 18-4; "Pam and Jennifer proved to be a very strong combination and finished unbeaten in the conference," Sturcke said of the second-year, letter-winners.

'Camelot' enchants audience

By Bea Smith Lifestyle Editor
"Camelot," as presented at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Milburn, is a unique theatrical experience. Rarely has a production offered such perfection in every aspect, and the 31-year-old Lerner and Loewe musical, in its timelessness, has a magical quality unsurpassed by age.

Alan Jay Lerner wrote the book and lyrics and Frederick Loewe wrote the music for "Camelot," which was adapted from T.H. White's book, "The Once and Future King." It was presented on Broadway in 1960 with Richard Burton, Julie Andrews and Robert Goulet in the principal roles.

The applause they received from New York theater-goers could not have surpassed the applause and standing ovation offered by the Paper Mill audience on Sunday.

When Angelo Del Rossi, executive producer of the Paper Mill, assembled his talented team from last season's "The Merry Widow" and placed them in this fabulous production of "Camelot," he created more stage magic than even the play's character Merlin the Magician could have. He managed to transport his audiences into a wondrous land of marvelous music, outstanding performances, fabulous sets, colorful costumes and a world that may or may not have existed in the fifth century of the legendary King Arthur and the magical kingdom called "Camelot."

Of the dozen or more songs that came out of this production, the best known are the title songs, offered by James Brennan, as King Arthur, who is completely at home in his role and gives a fantastically sensitive performance; "If Ever I Would Leave You," which the handsome, operatic-voiced Joseph Mahowald, as Lancelot, sings to the beautiful Mari Nelson, as Guenevere, who is equally endowed with a lovely operatic voice.

The story of how King Arthur civilized England when he became king and created a Round Table for his 150 knights so that they might discuss their standards of ideal behavior rather than fight in the name of chivalry is unveiled early in the story. It is especially entertaining to watch Merlin the Magician, who can see the future, advise the young king to think for himself, be a "man," follow his code and rule peacefully.

Wright, Lloyd pace Farmer gymnasts

The Union High School gymnastic team placed fourth out of 11 teams with a score of 90.75 in the Union County Tournament held last Friday in Scotch Plains.

Scoring highest for the Farmers was freshman Rachel Wright, who placed sixth All-Around out of approximately 30 competitors. Wright scored 8.0 on the bars, 8.5 vaulting, 8.2 on the beam and 8.35 on floor exercise.

Senior captain Donna Lloyd scored an 8.25 on the beam.

Scotch Plains won the team championship.

Union, 6-4, faced Linden Tuesday in its final dual-meet of the season. Competing for the Farmers in the state sectional on Saturday in Cranford will be Wright on the bars, floor and vaulting, Lloyd on the beam and Tori Lockett on floor exercise.

KELLY BRANDYBERRY'S GOAL-SCORING EFFORTS helped lift the Union field hockey team to consecutive victories last week.

Brandyberry scored the game-winning goals in successive 3-2 home triumphs over Oak Hill last Friday and Bernards on Oct. 30.

Union, seeded sixth in North Jersey, Section 2, Group 4, was scheduled to play at third-seeded Roxbury this week in a state sectional quarterfinal-round contest.

Union lost at Sayreville 3-1 on Monday to fall to 7-7-2.

UNION'S BOYS' SOCCER TEAM, seeded ninth in North Jersey, Section 2, Group 4, played at eighth-seeded Randolph yesterday in a state sectional quarterfinal-round match. The Farmers entered the week with an 8-9-1 mark.

UNION TENNIS PLAYER TERRY ANN ZAWACKI closed out one of the finest careers in state history on Monday with a 6-0, 6-1 win at first singles over Westfield's Jessica Burley. Terry Ann's younger sister Tammy won at second singles but Westfield won the match 3-2.

RESTAURANT GUIDE

IN THE SPOTLIGHT
FINNAGEL'S
A variety of fine food: steak, seafood and many other specialties served in generous portions. Wide selection of fine beers and wines. Dining room, cocktail lounge and tavern.

By Chris Gatto
One thing's for certain, Finnagel's certainly does not live up to its name. The only "finagling" involved is how they serve such wonderful food at such reasonable prices.

The inviting restaurant/tavern, which is patterned after an Old English inn, is owned by Bob Finno and Gary Nagel. Nagel, greeted my companion and me at the door on a surprisingly warm Friday night in late October. As we entered the front door, we observed a posting of events ly not short on beer and wine of all varieties. In fact, Nagel noted that the list includes about 60 bottled beers of foreign and domestic origin. Also, the owner pointed out the extensive wine list, including white, red, rose, as well as champagne and sparkling wines.

Nagel, in discussing how the restaurant's name came about, insisted he and Bob Finno had met accidentally. He admitted, though, that it didn't take too much "finagling" to come up with the restaurant's name when they first opened 10 years ago. In fact, the popular restaurant, which is located at 254 North Broad St. in Elizabeth, just celebrated its anniversary on Oct. 20.

Finnagel's, which is both a restaurant and Irish pub, has a homey, family-type atmosphere. Nagel, who briefly sat with us while we debated which one of the many appetizing dinners we would select, provides a friendly touch, not just for us but for all patrons.

Nagel is justifiably proud of their long list of specialties, which are very reasonably priced.

"A couple can come in, and with just a tip, get by for less than $30," Nagel said. One incredible special, the All-You-Can-Eat Prime Rib, can be had for just $10.95 on Sunday.

Our friendly waitress, Joan, immediately greeted us and asked if we would like a cocktail. While my companion and I elected to go with a domestic brew, Finnagel's is definitely one of their specials, I had a difficult time deciding which one to order. Since my companion had already decided on the tempting Steak and Scallops ($13.95) for a main course, we decided to order some appetizers while I made up my mind. We chose the Shrimp Scampi and Fried Ravioli. Both were delicious.

After a trip to the well-stocked salad bar, I finally decided on the Chicken Elizabeth ($9.50), a boneless breast of chicken topped with sautéed mushrooms and mozzarella. What a treat! It was definitely the right choice, wonderfully tender with a delightful blend of flavors.

Finnagel's is open for lunch and dinner throughout the week. Lunch-time hours are from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Dinner is served from 5 to 10:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and on Sunday from 1 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. A late night menu is also offered.

Reservations are not required, except for large parties. All major credit cards are accepted.

Amos featured in NJYS program

Amos, a former area resident, is best known for his work in television and motion pictures. As the adult Kunte Kinte in "Roots," Amos earned an Emmy nomination. Other television credits include Gordy, the weatherman, on the "Mary Tyler Moore Show." Recent motion picture credits include "Coming To America," in which he co-starred with Eddie Murphy, as well as "The World's Greatest Athlete," "American Flyers," "Let's Do It Again," with Bill Cosby and Sidney Poitier, "Vanishing Point," "The Best Master," "Lock Up," co-

George Mariner Maul, music director and conductor of the youth symphony, will guide the audience through a demonstration about music and an orchestra, using the "Lincoln Portrait" as a teaching tool during the afternoon program.

The New Jersey Youth Symphony is a non-profit organization of five student orchestras. Based in Summit and Berkeley Heights, the groups are composed of 300 young musicians, ages 7 through 18, from 10 counties in New Jersey. Every real estate company promises great results. Your ERA broker puts it in writing.

When you list your house with an ERA broker, you get something very unusual in return.
 You get your signature on the ERA Commitment To Service. This written document assures you of access to all of the exclusive sales and marketing services that make ERA "IN SERVICE."
 Like the ERA Home Warranty Plans, which protect you and your buyer alike against repairs from the breakdown of a home's major systems and built-in appliances.
 The ERA national referral network, which can market your home to thousands of potential buyers in all 50 states.
 And the ERA Sellers Security Plan, which carries the strongest commitment in real estate today.
 "If We Don't Sell Your House, ERA Will Buy It!"
 A commitment like that is truly "just the kind of help you'd expect from a friend!" And we can put it all in writing: Your local, independent ERA Broker.
