

County Democratic chairman tapped for seat in Assembly

Neil Cohen

By Jeff Jutz
Staff Writer

Union County Democratic Chairman Neil Cohen announced he is running for the 20th District Assembly seat last week and he said Linden City Treasurer Joe Suliga were named Saturday by the county Democrats as the two Democratic Assembly candidates.

At a Thursday press conference, Cohen, who is also a former county firefighter and representative of the 21st District in the state Assembly from 1989-1991, said he emphasizes balancing jobs, labor concerns, and economic growth with environmental awareness and educational progress.

"We must have," he said, "an active solicitation, working with mayors, city councils and the governor, to bring businesses in."

"I'm certainly pleased," said Suliga after getting the nod from the county Democrats. "Now I'm one for two. Eight years ago I didn't get the nod when I ran."

Suliga also shared concern with Cohen over economic development for the district.

"We have to start doing more to help the cities," he said. "We have to bring resources in to boost the local economy. I see the problem firsthand. It has to be addressed."

Cohen said businesses must have an "environmental priority" and cited the hazardous waste incinerator planned by GAF for Linden as "economic growth you don't want to bring in."

He said while serving as a firefighter, he and Suliga placed additional inmates into a legal fund to fight GAF, but county Republicans later eliminated such funding.

House and end up being everything because they get sick."

Dunn denied accusations from current 20th District Assemblyman and former Elizabeth Mayor Thomas Dunn, who claims Cohen moved into Roselle, which is in the 20th District, from Union last year just to run in the Assembly race. George Hudak from Linden, who also represents the 20th District, does not plan to run for reelection. The 20th District includes Elizabeth, Linden, Rahway and Roselle.

"He deliberately moved into this district to run," Dunn said.

Cohen called the charges "indefensible" and said his October move to Roselle was legal and not motivated by political gain.

"No one is going to invest their life savings on the possibility they will go to run for office. My move is within constitutional parameters," Dunn said he did not attend the screening for the candidates Saturday at the Fountain in Union because the nominees named to run would be "black and white."

"For me to appear before a screening committee," which he already appeared in, to do a record that covers 41 years of public service as a councilman, firefighter, state senator, assemblyman and mayor of Union County's largest city for a record 28-year tenure would be "mischief."

Dunn also produced a letter of support signed by 21 state legislators who are backing him.

The former Elizabeth mayor said he will have made up his mind as of yesterday on what course of action he may take. Dunn noted he may seek to run outside the party or as an Independent.

He said he may run for the Senate seat currently occupied by Senator Raymond Lesniak. Lesniak was also chosen by the county Democrats at Saturday's screening. Dunn added that he is also considering a gubernatorial run with the backing of anti-abortion forces.

"I could just fold up my tent and fade away," he said last week in a telephone interview, "but I just don't leave without a fight."

Sponsored weapons ban

At the conference, Cohen spoke of his experiences serving as 21st District assemblyman for two years.

The candidate said he either sponsored or co-sponsored 67 bills which were signed into law by Governor Jim Florio during his tenure in office.

Among those, he said, was the ban on assault weapons which has been the target of Republican legislators and the National Rifle Association lately. Despite a vote in favor of repeal.

What of Coleman, Molley? Cohen and Suliga were selected Saturday by the Democratic chairs from the four municipalities that make up the 20th District. Although four other Democrats were seeking the Assembly seats, only Linden City Councilman William Molley attended the screening, which was held despite the snowstorm.

Since Suliga is Linden's party chairman, he could not select himself but he named campaign supporter Edward Milanda as a proxy.

Roselle's Democratic Chairman Anthony Amalfi was out of town and appointed party Vice Chairwoman Holm Burns as a stand-in.

Elizabeth's representative was William Malone and the party chairman from Rahway was Paul Seifanos. Rahway City Councilman Jerry Coleman said the Democrats' vote would not affect his plans to run for the 20th District seat. He said although he did not attend the screening, he spoke with Cohen about the race.

"It's unrealistic to think the municipal chair and the county chair wouldn't be picked," he said.

Coleman added that the Democrats' decision may have cost them the Democratic Party, especially in the 20th District.

"They're really closing the door on minorities," he said. "African-Americans have always been loyal to the Democratic Party, especially in the 20th District."

Coleman said he will be meeting with the 20th District Political Alliance, the organization which has organized with several counties to contract with a private collection agency to collect delinquent payments.

Saviano noted that states that have turned to private agencies to help collect overdue child support have reported considerable success.

Assembly OKs delinquent support bill

The Assembly voted unanimously last week to approve legislation sponsored by Senator C. Louis Bassano aimed at helping collect $2 billion in delinquent support owed to nearly 100,000 children in the state.

"New Jersey bears the inexcusable distinction of being dead last in the country in collecting past due child support payments," Bassano said.

The bill, S-1033, which was approved unanimously 62-0 by the Assembly on March 1, calls for the establishment of a two-year pilot project whereby probation departments in Essex, Hudson and Camden counties contract with a private collection agency to collect delinquent support payments.

District seeks outstanding teacher

The Union County Regional High School District announced that it will participate in the Governor's Teacher Recognition Program for this honor.

One "outstanding teacher" from each of the four Union County regional high schools — David Barfley in Kenilworth, Jonathan Dayton in Springfield, Arthur L. Johnson in Clark and Governor Livingston in Berkeley Heights — will be selected by a special panel comprised of teachers, administrators and Regional Board of Education members. Nominations for the designation of "outstanding teacher" may be submitted by parents, students, faculty members and all other residents of the regional district, which includes Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield.

Residents wishing to nominate a teacher for this award may obtain a form in the instructional media center of any of the four regional high schools or in the town halls and public libraries of any of the six regional districts. All residents are invited and encouraged to consider nominating teachers for this honor.

Completed nomination forms are to be returned by 3 p.m. Friday, to Kenilworth Mainfield, Office of Curriculum Services, c/o Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Mountain Avenue, Springfield, 07081.

For more information, call 376-6300, Ext. 328.

Washington kicks off Boys & Girls week

Academy Award winning film star Denzel Washington is celebrating National Boys & Girls Club Week, March 21 to 27.

Washington, recently named spokesman for Boys & Girls Clubs of America, is no stranger to the organization. An alumna of the Boys & Girls Club of Mount Vernon, N.Y., Washington said he wants to let people know about the important work being conducted at local clubs throughout the country.

"Growing up in the club played an important role in my life," said Washington. "Today's Boys & Girls Clubs continue to do many positive things for young people. Serving as national spokesman allows me to give back, to show these kids that they can succeed despite the obstacles they face."

Washington will assist the organization's national awareness campaign, promoting Boys & Girls Clubs as "The Positive Place For Kids."

To celebrate National Boys & Girls Club Week locally, the Boys & Girls Clubs of Union County has planned a week long celebration at its centers in Union, Vanahall, Rahway and Elizabeth.

Presently, more than 1,450 Boys & Girls Clubs serve 1.83 million young people nationwide.

Authorities arrest 3 in illegal betting ring

Springfield, the assistant prosecutor said, was "the hub" of the operation. "All the important business decisions of the operation were made from Springfield," Zidonic said.

Springfield police were "the origin of the investigation," the assistant prosecutor said, when they approached Union County authorities about the hearing of Frank Romano in September 1991. Frank Romano, he said, was severely beaten with a baseball bat from the neck down by masked assailants in the condo that he shared with his brother. The beating victim reportedly underwent emergency surgery at Overlook Hospital; the perpetrator of the assault was not apprehended.

The Prosecutor's Office credited Springfield police with triggering the investigation. The department, Zidonic said, performed "extensive detective work" and presented "back-ground information."

In making his arrests last week, Zidonic said, he was aided by two dozen other individuals from other municipalities in the state — the Prosecutor's Office also relied on information provided by the Secret Service.

The Newark field office of the Secret Service had uncovered an extensive counterfeit credit card operation that had taken in some 60 people associated with groups conducting operations out of Springfield and Rancocas.

The gambling arrests in Springfield last week were an outgrowth in part of the Secret Service investigation.

Anthony Romano is being held on $250,000 bail while his brother Frank is being held on $175,000 bail. Both originally faced $1 million bail each, but this was reduced by Superior Court Judge William Wertheimer.

The three gambling arrests in Springfield last week were an outgrowth in part of the Secret Service investigation.

Community Observer Patrol volunteers, from left, Jerry Kamen, Herb Ross, Joseph Tannenbaum, Sandy Blum, Myron Soloman and Myron Soloman, are preparing to become eyes and ears for local police.

Educators set $9.9-M fiscal plan

The local board of education this week presented its 1993-94 spending plan to the public. The proposed $9.9 million budget to fund the four-school operation next year reflects an increase of about 1.8 percent over last year.

The increase is under the state-imposed spending cap, about 6 percent. According to officials, the tax impact to the owner of an average assessed home in Springfield is about $75.

Before its introduction for public hearing Tuesday, Board of Education President Gary Tass characterized the budget as a "prudent" fiscal plan. "This is really a win-win-win budget," Tass said. "It will enable students to continue to receive a quality education in well-equipped facilities with the latest instructional equipment."

According to Tass, instruction costs — salaries and materials — will consume the lion's share of the budget, followed by health insurance increases and other benefits, as well as building-wide expenses like district-wide maintenance and plant operations.

According to Superintendent of Schools Gary Friedman, preliminary figures put the '93-'94 budget closer to $10 million, before the board appropriated money from its source funds. Revenues from other sources such as tuition from out-of-district students, rent from leased facilities, grants, and other grants will also be included in the budget, Tass said. "This is a very realistic plan," he said.

Springfield residents go to the polls April 20 to vote on the local and regional education budgets.

Civilians to bolster crime fight

"We're contacting all the major organizations in the area," said Tannenbaum. "We hope to enlist volunteers from organizations other than the police."

According to Tannenbaum, volunteers will be assigned in pairs to patrol public areas and report suspicious activity to the police.

Petition calls for new vote on GOP county ticket choice

The Union County Republican Committee has been circulating a petition among its membership directing the county chairman to call a meeting within 10 days to consider a screening committee's selection process of this year's GOP freeloader candidates.

In addition to the petition, a letter from Republican gubernatorial candidate Cary Edwards has been mailed to all county GOP committee members requesting the leadership to reconsider its action of "dumping" Freeloader Lou Santagata from the GOP line.

Santagata, a Hillside resident who has served as chairman of the GOP line, was removed from the line three weeks ago when the GOP screening committee selected Springfield's Fredrick Westerman as the GOP freeloader candidate.

Meetings to target flooding

A month after meeting with residents of Springfield and Millburn, Elizabethwater Water Co. has scheduled two meetings with state representatives and municipal engineers to update them on steps the company is considering to ease flooding problems tied to the cessation of pumping operations.

Elizabethwater Water Co. requested a meeting with Maureen Ogden, R-Union, the assemblywoman who has spearheaded local efforts to persuade the water company to come up with solutions to the flooding problem. The meeting is scheduled for Tuesday and may include other state legislators.

Ogden said this week. The water company will be represented by Henry Patterson, vice president of public affairs.

Fredrick West, Elizabethwater director of system operations, is scheduled to conduct a second meeting, this one with municipal engineers from Springfield, Union and Millburn, April 2.

A spokeswoman for the water company said she did not have precise agendas for the meetings, which are closed to the public. She thought the sessions would "update" officials on any developments.

Residents of Springfield, Millburn and Union have claimed that flooding problems in sections of their municipalities coincided with Elizabethwater's decision to cease operating some polluted wells in a Springfield well field two years ago. Residents say the cessation of pumping there caused the water table to rise, flooding homes and areas.

At a meeting in Millburn last February, the Westfield-based water

$1.3-M bond sold at 4.55%

Springfield officials this week settled on an offer of 4.55 percent on a $1.3 million bond issue to pay for capital improvements initiated in the late 1980s.

Financial institutions lined up Tuesday night at the Township Committee meeting to pitch their proposals in an effort to finance capital projects at interest rates ranging from 4.55 percent to 4.75 percent over an 11-year period.

While two of the five bids offered the same interest rate — 4.55 percent — a division of the National Westminster Bank was awarded the contract, as it offered a slightly higher initial purchase price for the contract.

Under the terms of the agreement, the township will essentially borrow the money at an annual interest rate of 4.5 percent, paying the portion of the 1.3 million premium with interest annually beginning in 1994. As outlined, the entire bond will be paid, or retired, by the year 2004.

Technically, the bond issue carried a serial bond; a portion is retired each year. Generally, bonds are issued to fund capital projects over a longer period to ease the financial impact on the municipality.

Based on an interest rate of 4.55 percent applied to each portion of the bond, an unofficial calculation indicates the township will pay out nearly $40,000 in interest before it is retired in the year 2004.

Philip Kurnos 'They're stonewalling'

Philip Kurnos, a resident of Springfield, said he was "stonewalled" by the water company in its efforts to resolve flooding problems in his area.

Kurnos said he had been in contact with the water company for several months, but they had not provided him with any information about the flooding problem.

"They're stonewalling," he said. "I've been in contact with them for several months, but they haven't provided me with any information about the flooding problem."

March fund-raiser begins

As the Westfield/Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross begins its 76th year for the March Campaign, residents are urged to keep in mind how their donations have helped many people through the years. The past year has been a difficult year for every Red Cross Chapter with assistance given to victims of Hurricanes Andrew and Iniki. Never before has the Red Cross faced such a challenge. The New Jersey Coastal Storm, in December, affected many local residents who have families and friends in the disaster areas of the state. The Red Cross has responded throughout all areas with the necessary assistance.

Regional board approves $30-M budget

By Debra Schaal Staff Writer

The Union County Regional High School District Board of Education voted 7-1 Tuesday evening to adopt a proposed 1993-1994 budget based on a three-school configuration that would trim the tax levy 1.73 percent over the current year.

Board Vice President Frederick Soos of Kenilworth voted against the resolution and one board member, Margaret Hough of Springfield, was absent.

Residents of the six member-communities will vote on the proposed $30,038,505 tax levy April 20. The total current expense budget of $37,387,505 projected for 1993-1994 is a 7.23 reduction over the current budget and it is some $2.13 million under the 5.63 percent state cap requirement.

The board adopted the resolution following a public hearing on the budget Tuesday night at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield. Although about 100 people attended the session, it was the #### most sparsely attended board meeting in recent months.

Kenilworth residents dominated the microphones as they stepped forward to interrogate the board about various line items. Residents accused the board of running up excessive surpluses — $8.7 million as of June 30 — and protested that the district saved very little money in salaries and maintenance costs by closing David Breaux Regional High School in Kenilworth.

"You closed a school and saved nothing on teachers," charged Janet Glynn of the Committee of Concerned Parents of Kenilworth.

Board President Burton Zitomer told the audience that the district will lose "some" teachers due to the school closure, but the district is unsure how many since a proposed eight-period day, which would require some 18 additional positions, is currently being negotiated with the teachers' union and teachers-qualifying for an early retirement incentive buyout have another week to make their decisions.

'93 municipal pool fees hiked

By David Brown Managing Editor

Swimmers will have to dive into their wallets before they dive into the Springfield municipal pool, according to an ordinance adopted this week by the Township Committee.

According to the measure — which did not pass without opposing comment from the public — the family membership fee will jump to $190, up $20 from last year; the individual fee is now $125, a $20 increase over last year; the senior citizens membership will jump to $50, up $10; out-of-town membership fees for families and individuals will also jump $20 to $370 for the pool season.

Fees for resident and out-of-town participants in the pool's day camp program will remain the same, $175 and $250 respectively.

In justifying the fee hikes, Jo Ann Holmes, the Township Committee's liaison to the Recreation Committee, stated pool membership fees for families and individuals had not been raised in several years. Senior citizen fees, Holmes reported, had not been raised in nearly a decade.

Citing a dwindling surplus and growing maintenance and improvement costs, Holmes said the money raised through the fee hike — approximately $25,000 — was necessary to maintain the operation. The municipal pool is considered a utility, and as such it is required to be self-nourishing.

Springfield resident Charlie Jake was apparently less than satisfied with the reasoning. "I don't see how you #### can justify such an increase. It just seems to be out of line with the present economic conditions," Jake said. "It seems to me your going to lose memberships and gain nothing."

While a second resident spoke out against the fee increases, Mayor Philip J. Kuncy backed Holmes. "We need to do this in order to keep the pool afloat. It's one of the finest and least costly facilities around."

In related action, the Township Committee authorized a bond ordinance to fund improvements at the municipal pool. The $60,000 measure lists the financial foundation for renovations, improvements and the purchase of additional equipment for the pool.

Although the committee approved of the bond issue unanimously, the vote only authorizes the bonding process to begin.

Jo Ann Holmes "likes necessary."

Schools Superintendent Donald Merschlik opened the session by noting that the 1993-1994 budget plan would allow the district to introduce choices for students in art, music, business education and industrial arts. He said the district's priorities would include curriculum revision and staff development.

Curriculum director Kenneth Martfeld added that starting next year various honors programs and the advanced placement science lab would take place during the regular school day rather than early morning. Teachers would get an additional preparatory period, staff development would heighten curriculum quality, and the libraries would become fully "automated," he added.

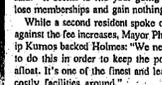

In related development, the superintendent announced that the summer school program will take place this summer at Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights. It had previously been conducted in Kenilworth.

He also announced the results of the "Choice Phase-In Plan," which gave current ninth-, 10th- and 11th-graders from Kenilworth, Orwood and Mountainside an option of where to attend school next year. He said 369 of these students made choices while 62 made none and were given assignments.

Merschlik said that it "appears" that 769 students — 36 percent of the

Due to the regional school tax formula, which is based on equalized valuations, the 1.73 percent dip in the tax levy would be played out in the following manner: Berkeley Heights' tax will increase 0.2 percent; Clark's will rise 1.5 percent; Orwood's will decrease 12.3 percent; Kenilworth's will jump 3.2 percent; Mountainside's will rise 4.6 percent; and Springfield's will plunge 7.7 percent.

News From the Stacks

Healy magic Saturday
 Magician Michael Healy will stage his Magic Show and Workshop at the Mountainside Public Library, Saturday at 2 p.m. Healy has been performing magic for over 18 years. His versatility in the magical arts has enabled him to perform in front of audiences of every age — from pre-school to older "youngsters" of well over 100 years of age.

Michael's act, sponsored by the Friends of the Mountainside Public Library, includes all types of magic — from "close-up" and "stage magic" to "escape magic" and "mind-reading" using his own special wit throughout his performance. Audiences have enjoyed him throughout the tri-state area as well as Europe and the Soviet Union.

The event is free and open to the public. For more information, call the library at 233-0115.

Moskowitz paintings, Heller sculpture exhibited
 The Donald B. Palmer Museum of the Springfield Public Library will feature the paintings of Philip Moskowitz and the ceramic sculpture of Kevin Heller from March 31 to April 30. A public reception to officially open the show will be held on April 4 from 1 to 4 p.m.

Moskowitz, a Springfield resident and employee of the library, works in acrylic and oil. He strives for a style reminiscent of the Impressionists. The painter has studied at Rutgers University, New York University and Ken College, and has had several shows in New York City and Northern New Jersey. His paintings attempt to capture the color and excitement of the street vendors he fondly remembers from his summers in Spain and Northern Italy.

Kevin Heller lives in Hillside where he maintains his studio. He is a graduate of Ken College, having received a bachelor's in visual communications and a master's in fine arts education, ceramics.

He currently serves as assistant supervisor of the Junior Museum of the Newark Museum, where he is also a pottery instructor. His pottery classes are also held at the Maplewood/South Orange Adult Center.

He is currently displaying reproductions of ancient Egyptian pottery at the Newark Museum and is at work on the design and illustrations for a children's book titled "Explore Tibet" to be published by the museum. The Palmer Museum show will include pottery and sculpture made from clay and some new paper sculptures.

Museum hours are Monday, Wednesday and Thursday 10-9; Tuesday, Friday and Saturday 10-5; and Sunday 1-4. The Museum is located at 66 Mountain Ave. in Springfield. For further information, phone (201) 376-4930.

Lobby Sale slated
 The Friends of the Springfield Public Library will hold a Lobby Sale on April 23 and 24 from 10 to 4 p.m. in the meeting room of the library. Donations of such household items as china, ceramic, plastic, glass or metal dishes or knick-knacks; cooking utensils; silverware or stainless steel eating utensils; small pieces of furniture; tools and any other garage sale-type merchandise are now being received. No clothing will be accepted, and books should be saved for the "Ernie's" book sale which is held in the fall.

One popular feature of this sale has been the jewelry table. Donations of costume jewelry are especially encouraged. A special "treasure chest" for depositing jewelry has been set up on the Circulation desk.

The public is urged to support the Friends in this worthy activity by bringing their saleable items to the library between the hours of 10 and 4 p.m. and to mark their calendars for the dates of the sale.

Proceeds from this project are used to underwrite special performances and lectures, and purchase reference materials not included in the library's budget.

Prom fashions featured

Tonight at 7 p.m. the cafeteria of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School will be transformed into a showcase for prom fashions. Students will be modeling prom and sportswear fashions from Brooks-Scalfoni of Summit and Marc Formal Wear of Springfield. Refreshments will be provided, and a silent auction will be held for a variety of gifts.

Tickets are $5 and can be purchased at the door or by calling (201) 376-6300. Proceeds benefit program and scholarship sponsored by the Parent-Teacher-Student Organization.

Police, community sets bicycle safety rodeo

The Springfield Community Conference Group in cooperation with the Springfield Police Benevolent Association Local 76 and the Union County and Traffic Safety Program will hold a Bicycle Safety Rodeo on April 3, from 9 to 12:30 in the rear parking lot of the P.M. Guardian School, South Springfield Avenue.

Recent legislation mandates the use of bicycle safety helmets for all children under the age of 14. Much dialogue and discussion has been heard on instituting bicycle safety programs throughout all communities. In conjunction with this, the Springfield Police Department offers a bicycle registration program to facilitate the recovery of a lost/stolen bicycle.

During the scheduled event all participants will have the opportunity to

St. Elizabeth plays to stage musical 'Annie'

The Academy Saint Elizabeth, Convent Station, will present the Tony Award winning musical "Annie" on April 2 at 8 p.m. and April 3 at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. in the Academy Auditorium.

The whole family will enjoy this heartwarming story of a young girl left at an orphanage, who dreams of finding her parents someday, and her rags to riches story.

Tal Kean is professionally directed by Paul O'Leary, with music directed by Peter Candela and choreography by Ann Marie Niemyak.

Tickets are $7 for students and senior citizens, and can be purchased by calling the Academy at 292-5454 or Pamela at 538-6929, or at the door before performances.

See Page 11 for more news from the schools.

Model Seder slated

The Temple Beth Ahm Religious School, Springfield, will hold its annual Passover Model Seder and workshop on Sunday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. The event, which will take place during regular hours, will be led by Rabbi Perry Rank, Cantor Richard Nadel and the Religious School principals, Miriam Lagan.

Parents are invited to attend and participate in the "model" observance of the holiday along with the students. The Seder class will be seated at the head table and will lead major portions of the Seder.

Each of the other classes will have an opportunity to lead other sections of the event. Prior to the Seder, Religious School teachers will help their classes prepare to lead and present portions of the Haggadah.

As in the past, it was announced, all participants will have an opportunity to participate in the opening Passover singing by stringing traditional shema, reciting the blessings and sampling Seder foods.

Choir due in festival

Santi Wagner of Mountaintide, director of music at Mountaintide

Chapel, has announced that the Children's Choir will participate in the 23rd annual Plainfield Area Children's Choir Festival Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church, Plainfield.

The children participating from Mountaintide Chapel range from grades first through fifth. The children are Jennifer Adona of Roselle, Jaime Bowers of North Plainfield, Tara Cane, Rebekah Givens, Courtney Kutsep, Ashley Kutsep, Brittany Kutsep, Daniel Peconie, Ariel Wagner, Rebekah Wagner and David Wagner, all of Mountaintide, Elizabeth Downs and Tamara Rose, both of Scotch Plains, and Amy Krason of Union.

Approximately 130 children from Union County area churches will be present. The concert will begin at 3:30 p.m. with an organ recital by Kay Upton, Second, a procession at 4 p.m. involving all the children and their choir directors. And third, nine ensembles will be staged around the church building. A scripture will be read before each anthem corresponding to the anthem. Sandi Wagner will be the conductor. Cantor Gretcia of South Plainfield and Kay Upton of Berkeley Heights will be the accompanists.

Support the NJCTF

If you love children, and everyone should, you have an opportunity to show it by investing in the New Jersey Children's Trust Fund.
In 1992, New Jerseyans, through their contributions, supported 45 community organizations, serving 15,500 children and adults across the state.
"Stop child abuse." These simple words on page two of the New Jersey income tax form are saying that you have the opportunity to help prevent one of society's most disturbing tragedies — child abuse — by contributing to the New Jersey Children's Trust Fund.

By checking the amount on line 45c, taxpayers can donate part of their refund or make an extra contribution to support child abuse prevention programs. Taxpayers' dollars go to support parenting programs for teen moms, home visiting programs for at-risk newborns and pre-school safety and self-protection programs.

Statistics strongly support the need for child abuse prevention programs. According to the New Jersey Division of Youth and Family Services, nearly 19,500 of the 53,750 reports of child abuse or neglect received in 1991 were found to be true when investigated.

You don't need more incentive than that to contribute.

There are still 22 days for those of you who have not filed your state income tax.

Let's shoot for '0'

A pat on the back for New Jersey. The National Transportation Safety Board is lauding New Jersey as the most successful state in enforcing laws against underage drinking. The board says, "If all states were as successful, we'd be seeing massive numbers of lives saved."

In 1980, 81 underage drivers were killed in alcohol-related crashes in the Garden State. That number dropped 85 percent in 1991 to 12. That's great, but the goal should be zero.

While New Jersey law prohibits the sale, purchase, possession and consumption of alcohol by those under 21, strict enforcement of the law, education in the classroom and strong emphasis on non-alcoholic graduation and party alternatives have contributed greatly to our success.

Keep up the good work, kids, parents, teachers and law enforcement people, and perhaps we'll reach our zero goal sooner than you think.

Two revolutions influenced county evolution

The following is the second of a three-part series and the beginning of a regular column by William Frolich, a Roselle resident who is a member of the Union County Historical Society and the chairman of the Roselle Centennial Committee.

It was the Revolutionary War that helped create the colonies' break with England and the region which would later become Union County would see residents divided between loyalists and separatists.

The British Parliament felt that the American Colonies should help pay for the war, and passed laws and shipping restrictions which brought strong protests from the victims of British taxation. Eventually open warfare broke out and the residents of this area became deeply involved. Some, with little to gain whatever the outcome, were neutral. Others, with much to preserve, remained loyal to the King and Parliament. A third group, who felt that the king had no right to control and profit from what the colonists had built here, organized for the revolution. Congress, by its ratification of the Declaration of Independence, was chosen to be the first governor of the state of New Jersey in 1776.

As the 18th century passed into the 19th and the Industrial Revolution began, many changes appeared in this yet-to-be Union County. The development of the steam engine eliminated the need for water power, and factories could be built where convenient. Steam ferries plied the waters of the Arthur Kill with trips to Manhattan and Staten Island. The Eli-field. In this 2½ week period the county was decisively repulsed and routed to Staten Island, never again to invade New Jersey. The senseless murder of Hannah Caldwell and the burning of the villages brought no honor to the British troops who were involved.

There were other local patriots who took a different part in the struggle for independence. There was Abraham Clark, who lived in what is now Roselle. He was seen by his neighbors to be a member of the Continental Congress, and as such, signed the Declaration of Independence, plotting his life, property and sacred beliefs to the cause. Elias Boudinot of Elizabethtown became a president of the Continental Congress and accepted the position with England in 1783.

The Civil War had its heroes from Union County also. There was J. Madison Drake, a Congressional Medal of Honor winner, who, with Winfield Scott, hero of the Mexican War and Chief of Staff in the early days of the Civil War is remembered by a monument standing in Scott Park, across the street from the Elizabethtown City Hall.

The 1860s brought new changes to Union County. Clark Township was formed, named for Abraham Clark. Linden Township was formed in 1861, encompassing an area between Elizabeth and Rahway which included present-day Roselle. The Central Railroad tracks, once the Elizabeth and Somerville, were the dividing line between Linden and Union Township, once known as Connecticut Farms.

By this time, the Central Railroad of New Jersey had built a bridge over Newark Bay at Elizabethtown and had extended its tracks to Jersey City and Manhattan. With such easy access to Manhattan, with ferry service to the Wall Street financial district, the towns along the railroad began to become business executives as summer homes, and permanent residences. The Roselle Land Improvement Company, organized in 1865 by John C. Rose, laid out a grid-like map of streets similar to a section of Philadelphia. Large Victorian-style houses soon appeared on 100x200-foot lots.

Churches, a hotel, and a railroad station were additions to the village, known as Roselle. To the west, Crane's Ford was incorporated as "Craneford" in 1871, and with its Rahway River and Westfield, the "Venice of the West." Garwood, next to Cranford, became a small factory town, with the Dutchess Farm Company and Acolian Piano Company hiring machine workers. Westfield and Plainfield became towns with some of the largest and grandest houses and estates of any along the railroad.

Coming next: The influence of Thomas Edison would have a profound effect on Union County — and the world.

We haven't been 'thinking about tomorrow'

When we inaugurated our new president, two words that best characterized his mandate were "change" and "hope." People know they needed a change, and President Clinton instilled a sense of hope in people throughout the country. The night he accepted the Democratic nomination, a song kept running through the minds of millions of Americans: "Don't Stop Thinking About Tomorrow," by Fleetwood Mac. The song was meant to convey optimism.

If you stop think about it, the message was contrary to our reality. It's not that we have been thinking of tomorrow, and we have to avoid stopping. Rather, in the most obvious ways, we have not been thinking about tomorrow at all.

In many ways we are failing to look to the future. We cannot turn our backs on an urban America that each year gets poorer and more populated by families in distress and then claim we're thinking of tomorrow.

Next, we continue to neglect our children. As financial pressures have mounted, both parents worked but the human and government support for our children decreases. As a society, we haven't made children a priority. That's not thinking of tomorrow.

The Senate Report

By Bill Bradley

But by far, the best evidence that we are only living for today is the exploding national debt. For example, between 1980 and 1987, consumer credit increased 95 percent. People under economic stress didn't consume; they borrowed and consumed more. By 1989-90, the bubble had burst and people began cutting back. Businesses started paying debt down. In New Jersey, we're coming out of this four-year recession, in part because Jim Florio acted responsibly and made the tough choices.

In Washington, however, the federal government's debt continues to increase prodigiously. There is no time for magic cures. It's time to get back to the basics.

Puning the economy back on track won't be easy, nor painless. To reduce the deficit, nothing should be off limits. Yet, everything should be cut.

—Bill Bradley represents New Jersey in the U.S. Senate.

Those who can sacrifice should be called on to do so. Wasteful spending should be cut, but some spending should be increased such as public investment that creates jobs.

No effective strategy will be simple or one-dimensional. I believe any plan to significantly reduce the deficit will reduce entitlements, raise taxes, and cut defense spending.

By early spring, the President should put on each legislator's standard of living will be higher than our own. In fact, experts conclude that, without meaningful deficit reduction, by the year 2020 our incomes will be 40 percent less than they otherwise would have been.

The time for passing the buck is over. The issue of deficit reduction will take considerable debate and dialogue. I encourage you to share your opinions with me by writing to me or joining in on "Strategy Talk With Bill Bradley," on the first Thursday of every month on cable television. ### Jobs program better alternative

To the Editor:
Is there a need for a "low security risk" prison for 3,200 inmates instead of a jobs program and rehabilitation at Fort Dix?

Alternatives to incarceration has long been a program in Newark under the leadership of the American Friends Service Committee.

They have been speaking and acting on the need for job creation and rehabilitation as an answer to drugs and crime. When visiting Congressman Robert Franks last month, the Coalition for Alternatives in Fort Dix presented the idea of a community service jobs program similar to a Civilian Conservation Corps that benefited New Jersey during the great Depression of the '30s and '40s. This program could be of great benefit to the cities, it could also address the need for more spending for city needs in the Save Our Cities campaign of the U.S. conference of Mayors March on Washington last May.

A fact sheet is needed on the social cost/benefit of the 3,200 inmate prison versus spending on a jobs program over a five year period. Which is most cost effective in terms of our taxes and the benefits received? This can be done by a reputable research group.

Congressman Franks, who has traveled the state for ideas and action on job creation, is aware of what a planning commission has done in the Presidio Base in San Francisco. They have published alternatives in areas of the environment, disabilities, energy production, youth training and nature conservation. Could this be a model for broadly based citizen participation in Fort Dix and McGuire Air Force Base?

Could there be alternative economic conversion measures taken to ally the tears of defense workers and military personnel?

Congress can act to protect this sector of our economy in N.J. while planned cut-backs are taking place.

taxing continued! Legislation for state-mandate, state-pay is a cruel hoax! The federal government, the state, county or municipal governments collect taxes! They do not pay them! The taxpayers do! An even worse result of this legislation would be the further destruction of home rule! The state could mandate projects and the people would pay! The people, under the constitution, have always had the right to accept or reject proposals — this would deny that right!

Not only are they trying to ignore the mandate of the people to stop spending, but now the League of Municipalities is acting as a lobbyist group to push for legislation to continue the pet political project.

The League of Municipalities, which consists of elected officials of each local municipality, are in office to represent the constituents in their towns — not act as a lobbyist for their own self-interest. There is nothing wrong with committees gaining their heads together to solve mutual problems, but they're bypassing the people!

Every time one of the elected says we can get a government grant, or federal funds for something like "infrastructure," we better check our wallets! No state-mandate, state-pay! If they are so anxious to please the public, whatever happened to the years of promises to honor the mandate by the people to pay Initiative & Referendum on the ballot?

Computer targets crime

Union County Prosecutor Andrew K. Ruotolo Jr. announced the implementation of a state-of-the-art computer system which will enable law enforcement agencies to develop information regarding types of crimes that have occurred throughout Union County.

"Today's technology enables law enforcement agencies to track certain crimes as well as the type of individual who commits these crimes. With full implementation of the new system, we should have the ability to develop patterns and trends and focus in on areas where a particular type of crime is committed," Ruotolo said.

Governor Florio, who visited Ruotolo's offices March 15, got a first hand look at the new program. "It is only through innovative thinking and the willingness to devote time and energy to new programs such as this, that law enforcement will have the investigative tools it needs to take criminals off our streets," Florio said. Ruotolo said the program is in its initial stages and would be fully implemented within the next few months.

Child care offered

Citizens can celebrate Month of the Young Child with Community Coordinated Child Care by attending free child care seminars at the agency's Hillside offices.

On Tuesday, "Summer Camps and School-Age Child Care" will be presented to help working parents select a summer program for their child. The seminar runs from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and counselors will be available to provide referrals and answer questions.

On April 15, the topic "How to Choose a Nanny" will be discussed. Participants will learn how to find referrals, interview prospective candidates, and the legal requirements of household employment. The seminar will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. and child care counselors will be available for referrals and assistance.

On April 22, CCCC will host a child care provider.

The fourth Elizabeth resident is Tina Williams, an 18-year-old Union Catholic senior whose talent is lyric dancery. From Roselle Park is Lori Ziegler.

Lawmakers to target handguns

Assemblymen Alan M. Augustine and Richard H. Bagger were expected to introduce a bill to ban cheap handguns involved in many crimes known as "Saturday night specials" and to submit an Assembly resolution calling on Congress to enact firearms licensing standards and waiting periods as demanded as New Jersey's.

The 22nd District Assembly members said they will take great pains in drafting the legislation to ensure that the proposed ban is directed toward specific models of cheap handguns identified by law enforcement authorities as predominant weapons of choice manufactured, distributed or sold in the black market.

The bill would be taking the single-most important action to date toward the goal of removing the most commonly used form of weapons used by lawbreakers in the commission of violent crimes," Augustine said.

Bagger noted, "Handguns kill more than 200 people a year in New Jersey and are without question the single most common type of firearm used in the commission of violent crime. In many cases, the type of handgun used is a Saturday night special — one that is crudely manufactured and sold cheaply on the black market where criminals can easily obtain them." Augustine said that the controversy over the Assembly's override of the assault weapons ban is "misplaced because the Florio ban is 'badly virtually no impact' in cracking down on the vast majority of crimes committed with firearms."

Richard Bagger

Augustine noted, "All the publicity that has appeared about the assault weapons issue might lead one to think that the ban was critical to the removal of dangerous guns from our streets. In fact, the governor's ban accomplished nothing of the sort; there was actually an increase in the rate of certain kinds of violent crimes, including robberies and aggravated assaults committed with firearms, in the years following enactment of the assault weapons law."

According to figures compiled by the National Bureau of Investigation, estimates of the two-year crime totals for 1991-92 indicate that one-tenth of 1 percent of all violent crimes involved the use of firearms covered by the governor's ban. Only 109 incidents involving assault weapons were reported in the past two years; 49,257 total violent crimes were committed in 1991, while the 1992 total — expected to be comparable to the preceding year — are still being compiled.

The legislation he plans to introduce is not aimed at simply making a statement, but taking effective action designed to prevent the continued widespread distribution of the kind of firearms that is involved in a large percentage of violent crimes," Bagger said.

Bagger and Augustine said one of the most difficult tasks involved in their legislative effort will be to develop a workable definition of the Saturday night special, since there are dozens of models of handguns that can easily be confused.

Bergen County Utilities Authority to feed trash to Rahway burner

By Jeff Jotz Staff Writer

Last week the Bergen County Utilities Authority agreed to a contract which would send almost one-third of Bergen County's trash to the Rahway incinerator currently under construction along Routes 1 & 9.

The 20-year agreement, which was authorized last Thursday by the utility, would guarantee 150,000 tons of trash each year from the North Jersey county. The agreement is expected to be approved by the Union County Utilities Authority and the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

"We see this agreement as a positive environmental and economic deal for both Union and Bergen counties," said BCUA Executive Director Larry McClure.

McClure, whose authority is slated to be dissolved by Bergen County Executive William "Pat" Schuber after Schuber claimed mismanagement of the authority, said the county currently pays $63 per ton in tipping fees. That agreement, he added, expires next March.

According to McClure, Bergen County currently generates approximately 540,000 tons of non-recyclable trash each year, with 300,000 tons of that trash heading to the Essex County incinerator in Newark and the remainder sent to a landfill in Virginia.

The BCUA director also said the Union County Utilities Authority, which is overseeing the construction and operation of the $157 million facility, would charge Bergen County $72 per ton of garbage in 1994, when the Rahway burner is slated to go online. He said the cost would increase to $75 per ton in 1995, with a yearly 4 percent increase in fees for the next 18 years of the contract.

McClure said Bergen County and the UCUA entered into a "memorandum of understanding" over the trash agreement in late 1991. He added that the county was planning its own incinerator but the idea was scrapped in 1990.

CUA Executive Director Jeffrey Callahan said he expects the county authority to approve the Bergen agreement on or before its April monthly meeting.

Middle school students improving fitness levels

Union's Kawamech Middle School physical education department has continued to implement the Physical Best Program in physical education classes. The Physical Best Recognition System is designed to motivate students to engage in physical activity that promotes their fitness level.

Overall, Kawamech students are making a better effort to improve their fitness level. The goal is to have students think positively about their health and make a commitment to reach their fitness goals.

There was a 37 percent increase in the amount of students who passed the basic skill level over the last marking period. A Family Fitness Day is scheduled for Tuesday, May 4.

Parents, guardians, brothers and sisters will have an opportunity to test their fitness level along with their child. Interested individuals may enter one, two, three or all four skill tests of the Physical Best Program.

The focus of the Physical Best Program is based on:

1. Aerobic Endurance (mile run/walk)
2. Muscular Strength (sit-up, 1 minute)
3. Muscular Endurance (pull ups)
4. Flexibility (sit and reach)
5. Body Composition (body mass index)

The health fitness standards compares each student (age and sex) to a standard identified by the American Alliance for Health, P.E., Recreation and Dance. Students are instructed to set reasonable goals that will lead toward fulfillment of these goals.

Youth wrestlers to give it another go

The New Jersey Wrestling Federation Kids State Championship Tournament was postponed last weekend and will now take place Saturday and Sunday at Union High School.

Two more members of the Union Wrestling Booster Club qualified and will be participating.

Joe Bertolotti took first in the Lakeland Qualifier in the 125 pound weight class in the 9th grade Intermediate Division.

Jason Perrotto captured first place in the Local Qualifier in the 100 pound weight class of the Junior Division.

Union unbeaten for 3rd straight year

The Union High School junior varsity wrestling team reeled off its third consecutive unbeaten season by finishing the 1992-93 campaign with an 11-0 mark.

Union captured the Scotch Plains Invitational and placed second in the Union County Novice Tournament, four points from first place.

"The team was successful because of their dedication and hard work," Union coach David Arminio said.

Leading the way this season were juniors John Borowski at 130 (12-2), who placed first in the Scotch Plains Invitational; Jason Alonzo at 189 (15-1), who won both the Scotch Plains Invitational and the Union County Novice Tournament; and Chris Matlenick at 152 (11-2), who placed first in the Scotch Plains Invitational and second in the Union County Novice Tournament.

Other JV wrestlers who performed well during the course of the season included Seth Gollin, Mike Kelly, at 112 (10-2); Sam Hilton and Steve Katz rounded out the talented group of sophomore grapplers.

Two freshmen, Joe Bertolotti at 125 (12-1) and Dan Zuena at 119 (13-4) won both the team's and the JV level.

Bertolotti was first in the Union County Novice Tournament and Zuena placed third in both the Scotch Plains Invitational and Union County Novice Tournament.

H.S. JV Wrestling

Brian Newman, Frank Pagano, Jeff Konopack and Dan Roman.

A number of sophomores were equally responsible for the team's success. They include Jason Washington at heavyweight (12-2), Chris Almerico at 135 (5-1), Billy Slobert at 103 (13-3) and Steve Hiron at 112 (10-2).

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Artskids scheduled for Rahway concert

Caribbean musicians, country dancers, a unicycling clown and a storyteller are set to entertain at an afternoon concert at the Union County Arts Center, Rahway, April 10 at 3 o'clock. "The Can't Wait Got To Go ArtsKids Family Good Time Show," presented by Young Audiences of New Jersey, was originally scheduled for the weekend of March 13, but due to the blizzard of '93, it was rescheduled for the holiday weekend.

The show has magic and mime, motion, music and make-believe. Jocko the Clown will be in the lobby and he will be followed by M.C. Pele Pire, Spirit Ensemble and the Foes & Fiddle Dance Co.

Jocko McKean

Mercer & Co. Inc., the international pharmaceutical corporation, once again will sponsor the ArtsKids concert this year. The company sees support of arts education as consistent with its primary focus of supporting math and science because in the arts, "multitask students" interests in learning, including children, must have a ticket. Any tickets reserved, it was reported, but not purchased by the Friday before the concert, will be released for sale. The box office will remain open on the day of the performance.

Admission to the concert is $1 for all children age $5 for adults who accompany them. An adult can bring up to four children, it was announced. All children also receive a free copy of the ArtsKids News and the chance to join "ArtsKids," a "kids-only" club developed by Young Audiences of New Jersey.

"ArtsKids shows children how much fun the arts can be," said Kristin Cammerell Golden, the executive director of Young Audiences of New Jersey, "and we want to make it easier for parents to know what's happening with the arts in their community, too. Children get their own membership card and a newsletter. Parents get to know what events are taking place, what age group they're intended for, and they can save on the cost of admission to over 25 arts organizations, as well."

Any tickets can be purchased for the March 13 date will be honored for this event, it also was announced. All other children obtain tickets by calling the box office of the Union County Arts Center at 409-8226. Payment can be made in person Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. or mailed to the box office. All seats will be sold on a reserved basis. Everyone attend.

An alumni reunion planned at dinner

St. Patrick's High School of Elizabeth will hold its second annual Hall of Fame ceremony and alumni reunion April 16.

The ceremony will be the highlight of a formal dinner at the Portuguese Club, Rt. 1 and Grove Street, Elizabeth.

Three alumni will be inducted into the Hall of Fame.

They are Judge John Arai, Class of '42; Ron Billik, '67, and Jose Alvarez, '74.

In addition, a living legend of St. Patrick's High School, Sister Dorothy Jose, also will be inducted.

"The beloved Sister Dorothy has been at the tiny Elizabethport school since 1958 serving for the first 10 years as a teacher, for the next quarter century as principal and currently as assistant administrator," it was announced.

It also was announced that during the evening St. Patrick's Hall of Fame will pay tribute "in a special way" to members of graduating classes with the last digit of three, such as the classes of 1933, '43, '53, '73, '83 and '93, and to this year's St. Patrick's High School Varsity Basketball Team for winning the Union County Championship.

For tickets and other information, one can call Ann Skramsky at 351-2671 or write to: St. Patrick's Alumni Association, P.O. Box 6726, Elizabeth, N.J., 07206-6726. One also can call 353-5220.

GARDEN RESTAURANT

Pleasant atmosphere and fine food make the Garden a real treat.

Over cocktails, while waiting for our pollock water, boy to bring me a menu of jumbo shrimp delicately filled with crabmeat and herbs over rice, priced at $13.95, and my companion's perfectly prepared wild scallop with fresh vegetables, at the same price, we shared a delicious appetizer, chicken fingers served with lime honey mustard, priced at $5.25. Two other members of our party were thrilled with their entrees, a chicken appetizer, chicken fingers served with lime honey mustard, priced at $5.25. Two other members of our party were thrilled with their entrees, a chicken appetizer, chicken fingers served with lime honey mustard, priced at $5.25.

The restaurant was already crowded at 5 p.m. with happy diners. Handrins explained that the restaurant is busy every night and there are many regular customers, but it's its busiest on a Saturday evening. "We also have a good business crowd for lunch," he said, which keeps the staff hopping. "There are three chefs, our assistant manager and host Robin Lewis, and 10 waiters."

Laughs feature sandwiches which start at $6.50 and salads that start at $6.95; they also offer individual pizzas from $5.25. There are 11 fantastic-tasting appetizers, two different soups, pastas and burgers. There also is a children's menu with an array of eye-catching choices.

Harry and Dolores Del Plato of Livingston enjoy a fine dinner at the Garden Restaurant with family members Dominick and Annette Del Plato.

Pat Cooper set Sunday

Veteran comedian Pat Cooper of stage and television will be starred in "Save Our School" benefit for David Brentley Regional High School, Cliffworth, Sunday at 4 p.m. at Union High School.

He will share star billing with soprano Christina Fontanelli.

The show will be sponsored by James Ramos, broker, of Ramos Real Estate, Chestnut Street, Union.

Following the performance, there will be a reception at the Cafe Republic, 372 Boulevard, Cliffworth. One can call 851-0320 or 276-7775 for tickets.

Of all the interesting characters in Neil Simon's play "Lost in Yonkers," currently at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Milburn, one of the most complex is Bella. It takes a lot of insight, emotion and special empathy to play the role of Bella, the character with the body of a woman, with all its needs and desires, and the simple mind of a forgetful youngster, who grows more mature and is transformed at the climax of the play into a promising adult.

Versatile stage actress Marsha Waterbury, who was selected to play the role after auditioning for the director, Philip Cusack, explained the other day during a chat, "I had to read the script a lot, and mostly, I read it for emotional control. I had to find out what made this lady tick."

"Actually, I just had a month's rehearsal," she said. "Coming into it, I tried to keep my mind kind of empty. But Bella has kind of a lid on her. Her thoughts are muddled but her heart is very subtle and very complex. She's a very pretentious people and she's a very intelligent people and she's a very naive person."

Waterbury said thoughtfully, "I guess we're all trying to do that in some way. And throughout the play, we can see Bella overcome her deficiencies, you know, so that it makes some sense."

The attractive and talented actress, who really has to work to look as dumpy as Bella, said, "It's quite a journey to go through something like this every day, day to day. Just love the role, the character with the body of a woman, with all its needs and desires, and the simple mind of a forgetful youngster, who grows more mature and is transformed at the climax of the play into a promising adult."

"I love doing Bella's story, and I want to make sure it's right."

Waterbury, who is familiar with Simon's works, declared that "Lost in Yonkers" is "a great play and beautifully written. I've done three of his plays now, 'Jake's Women,' with Alan Alda, and 'They're Playing Our Song,' both on Broadway, and now this."

"He's very quiet," Waterbury mused. "And he's observing all the time. Actually, he's a rational treat-sure. Nobody writes a play a year and has the nerve to put it on Broadway. I really believe he's a great One of the things I like about Simon's works is that he shows what life is."

Waterbury is not unfamiliar with the Paper Mill Playhouse. A few years ago, she played Diana in "Lend Me a Tenor." "The Paper Mill," she said, "is a wonderful theater. Really, it's so incredible. I love working here. It's like being on Broadway, and Broadway is just a hop, skip and a jump away. The people really are like family — a real close family. I also love working with everyone. It's just a treat."

She said she admires the entire cast, and particularly Irene Dalley, who plays the steely-cold Grandma Kurnitz. "Irene is just splendid," Waterbury exclaimed. "She's a fine woman with a wonderful actress. And the director did a terrific job. It's just a great company of actors. It's so exciting to be a part of this group. It's really a blessing."

Waterbury, who was born in Cleveland, Ohio, attended Purdue University and was graduated from the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City. She has had many diversified roles, and off Broadway, in national and regional theater and in television. Among the plays,

For week of March 28-April 3

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) Friends may say that you're weird, but to you, this is not an insult. You of all people know that you're not actually weird, you just have a different approach to life than all. Most of your friends appreciate you for that reason. It's a good time to start saving money.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) You are probably on the verge of being burned out from working so hard. You need to learn how to delegate responsibilities. Your hands are not the only capable pair in the world. You loved ones are concerned about your welfare; they know everything is all right.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) This will be a very strange week. Every time something happens, something twice as good will happen soon after. The expression "you have to take the bad with the good" applies here. But don't worry, the bad won't be anything you can't handle.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) Your moody behavior is driving everybody around you nuts! This is especially true in the case of your partner. Send him or her flowers and promises to behave yourself. Things great will happen to you Thursday. If you're saving up for something special, now would be a good time to consider your financial situation.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) Don't take your close friends for granted. You could be on the verge of losing a valuable friendship if you don't show that you appreciate them. You're probably in a difficult situation starting to look better; just continue to keep spending to a minimum.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) A situation that seemed easy and exciting to you a few months back is now sour and dull and boring. With some initiative and imagination, you could make the situation fun again. A Libra friend will advise you on possible options. A family pet is craving your attention.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) This will be an excellent week for you. You will feel cheerful and generally at peace with yourself. A great opportunity will come your way. It's a Libra friend who will advise you on possible options. A family pet is craving your attention.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) You will feel pulled in a thousand different directions. Hopefully, that's a good thing. You're needed to do too many things. Try to make yourself a little less indispensable at work. It won't hurt your career, and you will have greater peace of mind. Your financial situation looks very good.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) Don't make promises you can't keep. A friend will resent you if you cancel plans at the last minute. You need to predict, saying "no." It's really not that hard and you will gain more respect that way. You will do something very offbeat this weekend. Let your family know you care about them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20) You're your own worst critic. A recent failure is not as severe as you make it out to be. You must take a look at yourself from an outsider's point of view. Don't put off medical or dental appointments. A visit from old friends will give you a boost.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18) Things have been going very well for you.

Soviet exhibition is part of series

An exhibition of underground Soviet art presenting forbidden religious themes is now being shown in the executive offices of Schering-Plough Corp., Madison, Conn. Called "Struggle for the Spirit: Religious Expression in Soviet Non-conformist Art," the exhibition has been assembled by Schering-Plough and is visited by the Jane Voorhees Zimmerli Art Museum, Rutgers, the State University.

The exhibit is part of an ongoing series of art presentations at Schering-Plough's Madison offices, and is available to the public on weekdays between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. through April 9. The show will then travel to the Dixon Gallery and Gardens, Memphis, Tenn., for an exhibition sponsored by the Schering-Plough Foundation, which will run from May 2 through May 30.

"Struggle for the Spirit" is drawn primarily from the Norton and Nancy Dodge Collection of Non-conformist Art from the Soviet Union, with additional selections from the George Risbov Collection of Russian Art, both part of the permanent collection of the Zimmerli Art Museum.

The show features works by Soviet artists who, during the period from the early 1960s to Glasnost, incorporated forbidden religious themes and images into their works. The exhibit illustrates that religious themes in Soviet non-conformist art took many forms. For instance, imagery based on biblical texts is presented in humanistic ways as Andrius Romanov's "Unholy Virgin and Child," Dmitry Pivinsky's "The Lamentation" and Not Volkov's "Secret Night."

The juxtaposition of Judeo-Christian subjects and symbols with scenes of prosaic Soviet life are used in Evgeny Abazganz's "Israelko (Little Israel)," Wanderer, and Wandered throughout Russia in Search of Happiness," Alexander Khritonov's "The Lamentation" and Tatyana Shir-

Concert set

Carlos Vasquez, a composer, will perform a public concert of his compositions April 1 at 8 p.m. in the Wilkins Theater, Union. The event is sponsored by the college's School of Liberal Arts and music department.

Vasquez, who has a doctoral degree in musicology from the University of Paris IV, Paris-Sorbonne, is regarded for his compositions, concerts, and radio program productions. A former lecturer at New York's Lehman College, Vasquez is an associate professor in the University of Puerto Rico's music department and has written and edited several articles and texts.

He will serve as composer in residence at the college from March 29 to April 2. On April 2 at 11 a.m., he also will lecture at a music department forum.

For further information, contact the music department at 527-2107.

Quartet set for Rahway

The Rahway Valley Jayettes Local Chapter of SPBSQSA, the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, reportedly the world's largest singing organization for men, together with the Suburban Sound Sweet Adeline Chorus, 1992 Regional champions, will perform at the Union County Arts Center, Rahway, April 3 at 8 p.m.

The "big new sound" of the Rahway Valley Jayettes, a 60-man chorus, will be directed by Jim Bawozewicz with Jack Robinson and Doug Brown assisting lead concert, and the Suburban Sound Sweet Adeline Chorus will be directed by Alice Leznicki. Quartets featured on the program will be the Happy Harmonies, a Melodious Trio, The Perfect Alibi for the men's organization, and the Prelude Quartet from the women's organization.

For further information one can contact Charles Spodzial at 925-2629 at the Union County Arts Center at 499-8226.

FAMILY ENTERTAINMENT ON SKATES

Roller skating rink! Everyone in New Jersey remembers visiting the rink local to their town. It was fun for the tots and also a great place for children to meet. Many rinks have long since disappeared but the memories of the people who used to skate can be brought back with a visit to Skaters World located in Wayne, Skaters World is owned by Cliff and Barbara Galline. These parents of a 4 and 6 year old have taken a mom and pop roller rink and transformed it to an entertainment center to be enjoyed by everyone in the family.

For the very young there are sessions where moms and dads can roam the floor and other sessions where birthday parties rule the rink. Birthday parties are a specialty at Skaters World. Each party gets personal service by a courteous host or hostess. The food is great, and there is plenty of it. Along with lots of fun skating, there are games the Holey Poley and the Chicken Dance usually performed with a customized character that can be purchased from $36 for children's nights. That is when teens mob the dance club called "City Limits." This is a recently renovated room that houses its own killer sound system, strobe lights, lasers, bubble machines and other effects lights. This complete entertainment center is one of a kind light show on the 10,000 sq. ft. rink floor. On Friday and Saturday, the teens have the ability to dance or skate to the most current music and enjoy the special cocktail frozen Margaritas.

City Limits gets its name from the famous skyline mural painted on the skyline glows in the dark. A local artist has also decorated the arcade and at the end of the entrance concourse is a painting of a huge roller skate. What makes this note worthy is the laser and fog that shoots out of the concourse. Every where you turn, there is something to see and enjoy.

The staff is polite and courteous from the general manager, Joe, his assistant, Gloria, party host and topless Timmy and Michelle to all the floor guards, snack bar servers and the DJ, who will try to play special requests if possible.

For your skating enjoyment, they have a full service proshop and will custom order anything they sell. They sell only quality skates that can be purchased from $36 for children's skates to $300 professional dancer or speed skates, along with accessories.

For additional information or visiting Skaters World or renting the facility for your group's exclusive use call Cliff or Barbara. They will be happy to help you.

Degnan nominated for awards

The Real Estate Department of Degnan Boyle Realtors has been nominated for awards in two categories of achievement by Genesis Relocation Services, a national relocation network of realty companies. Degnan Boyle, an affiliate of the network, also has qualified for designation in the 1992 "Producers Group," ranking it among the top 50 Realtors in the Genesis network organization. The two nominations reflect the performance of Degnan Boyle, one of New Jersey's leading real estate companies, in the category of firms of similar size. The company placed among the top five producers of both closed outgoing referrals — and of referral fees generated in 1992. Genesis Relocation Services is based on mutual contributions of quality referral business from member to member.

Singer aggressively leads the field in office leasing

When the office-glass recession knocked, Singer was too busy to hear. Instead, more than three dozen active Singer special agents were listening to the excitement of deal-making orchestrated by their broker, Gary Singer. Singer Real Estate Inc., headquartered in Springfield at 140 Morris Ave., has fully leased many quality office facilities recently. Gary Singer, president of the aggressive, full-service brokerage firm, attributes much of his firm's success to "creative diligence."

A precision marketing strategy targets the best tenants for the vacant space. Generous tenant work-letters and accommodating landlords eager to please couple to delight the prospects. The details are professionally negotiated by the Singer Leasing Team with diplomacy and decisiveness.

Highlighting Singer's recent leases is Essex/Union-Goway, a new JASZ, a food brokerage corporation; Noble Title Co., an insurance firm; Tabernacle of Love, business offices, 660 North Michigan Ave.,
