Firm says deregionalization still is option for tax equity

By Kathryn Fitzgerald
Managing Editor

In its updated report, the consulting firm hired by five of the Union County Regional High School Districts' member municipalities said changes in the tax levies should not deter the movement to dissolve the district.

Deloitte & Touche, consulting firm it had begun in 1993 upon being retained by the boards of education of Berkeley Heights, Clark, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield Regional High Schools in Kenilworth in 1993 had not prompted a large enough reduction in the high school district's budget to end calls for deregionalization.

The firm's original report, which called for the dissolution of the district as a means to establish an equitable sharing of the tax burden among the six member towns, was criticized by supporters of the regional district, who said it had been prepared without factoring disbanding of Berkeley into the computations.

The initial report, submitted Oct. 21, 1993, proposed separate district arrangements that could be effected by the six local school boards, including the separation of four high schools and several "hand-over" relationships. Information for the district's annual audit for the 1992-93 fiscal year was incorporated into the new analysis.

Clark, which according to the Deloitte & Touche report, pays approximately $11,000 to send each of its students to the regional district and would pay an estimated 4 percent tax hike, now would pay an amount of less than one-quarter of 1 percent.

If Clark enters into a non-exclusive relationship with Garwood, taking that borough's ninth through 12th grades and Kenilworth High School, Clark taxpayers will see a tax cut of approximately 1 percent.

Kenilworth, which pays approximately $13,000 to send each of its students to the regional district and would have assumed a 10 percent rate in taxes, now would assume an 8 percent increase.

Lustbader, O'Toole win District 21

By Tom Canavan
Editor in Chief

Republicans maintained their lead in the 21st Legislative District Tuesday as GOP candidates Monroe Lustbader, a two-term incumbent in the Assembly, and Kevin O'Toole, the mayor of Cedar Grove and chief of staff to the Essex County executive, triumphantly defeated their Democratic opponents in the general election.

O'Toole, the top vote getter, garnered 30,696 votes, while Lustbader received 20,638 votes. They defeated Democrats Kay Stacey of West Caldwell and Roy Hirschfeld of Springfield, who received 15,702 and 14,177 votes, respectively.

Republicans have maintained control of the 21st district since 1990, when statewide redistricting added a Republican-leaning portion of Morris County to its makeup.

West Essex County to its makeup. Lustbader was re-elected Tuesday to another term in the 20th Legislative District, was the last Democrat to serve in the newly formed 21st district. He was defeated in 1991 by Lustbader, who, following Tuesday's election results, will begin his third term in the Assembly.

Lustbader will be joined by O'Toole, who entered the race after longtime Assemblywoman Maureen Quinn announced earlier this year that she would seek re-election political office and not seek re-election.

O'Toole said Tuesday night that he was excited and gratified by the results of the election, and called the victory a mandate for another, more efficient government at the state level.

Gaudineer teacher faces child molestation charges

By Kathryn Fitzgerald
Managing Editor

At a Friday press conference, members of the Springfield Board of Education announced the suspension of a Gaudineer Middle School teacher arrested Nov. 2 and charged with multiple counts of child molestation.

John Howarth, 33, of Millburn was taken into custody by officers of the Prosecutor's Child Abuse Unit and Millburn and Morris County police departments at a Morris County school and charged with three counts of criminal sexual contact, 10 counts of endangering the welfare of children and one count of indecency.

Some of these charges stem from videotape and photographs of several of the victims allegedly made by the defendant, police said.

Howarth was admitted to Morris County Memorial Hospital after arresting officers observed his actions to be consistent with having taken a large dose of over-the-counter medication.

Most of the reported victims, boys between 7-12 years old, are residents in or around the Short Hills Circle apartment complex where Howarth lives. The incidents are reported to have occurred between January 1992 and Oct. 31.

The main concern of the Springfield school district is the children, said Beth Gillett, a guidance counselor at Gaudineer, who explained that there's "a built-in crisis team in the Middle School comprised of classroom professionals, teachers and administrators."

"We've also called in all of the district guidance counselors, psychologists, social workers. We're here on the building site, supporting faculty and students from parents," she added.

"We very much want our children to know that they're safe here on our school, that there are a lot of people here to help them if they have questions or concerns about this."

Students arrived for school on Friday already knowledgeable of Howarth's arrest, and the act, he has been charged with, expressing "shock, upset, concern and disbelief," which are normal reactions, according to Gillett.

Howarth's classes have been covered by a substitute since his absence at the beginning of the week, said Gaudineer Principal Dennis McCarthy, who present in the classroom in the school's gymnasium, "should be the school psychologist," should the See TEACHER, Page 2

Republican candidates William Ruocco and Judith Blitzer defeated Democrats Marcia Forman and Arlene Newman in a close contest for two seats on the Township Committee.

Forty-one percent of Springfield's registered voters went to the polls Tuesday, the overwhelming majority of votes supported the Democratic candidates for county and state offices, but voted Republican for Township Committee.

Ruocco, a veteran of four terms on the governing body, including two years as mayor, garnered the most votes of the four candidates with 1,785. His running mate Blitzer attracted 1,751 votes.

Mayor Forman, a two-term veteran of the Township Committee and the only incumbent campaigning, this year, placed fourth with 1,724 votes. Her running mate Arlene Newman garnered 1,753 votes.

"We ran a number of campaign promises, and although we'll be the minority, we will try to push our campaign promises through," said Ruocco, who on Jan. 1 will return to the governing body after a 12-year absence. "We ran because we are upset by the lack of credibility of the party in power. We went out and gave our message to the voters, and they responded by saying 'yes.'"

Blitzer, who campaigned in part on a pledge to ensure a system of checks and balances will exist on the Township Committee, said she is looking forward to serving as "the taxpayers' watchdog."

"We'd like to thank the voters of Springfield for having confidence in us," she added. "We'll listen and respond."

Fulfilling promises

The two wasted no time before issuing their first statement as committee members-elect. Before an official tally of votes had been reported, the candidates hunched over a laptop computer, typing a memo they later faxed to The Star-Ledger, the Springfield Leader and Township Administration Helen Keyworth.

The letter is a checklist of issues the two Republicans intend to bring to a vote during the governing body's reorganization meeting on Jan. 1.

- The Republicans called on the three Democrats to not offer Deputy Mayor Herbert Stote as their party's choice for mayor in 1996, saying they will not support Stote "in any leadership position."
- The Republicans will attempt to remove Bruce Bergen as township attorney.
- They will attempt to rework the formula by which the township attorney is paid, including placing a cap on the total dollar amount the attorney may charge the township per year.
- They will advise both the Planning Board and the Library Board of trustees to eliminate any fees above the annual stipends paid to their attorneys.
- In addition, the candidates said they planned to attend the Board of Health meeting scheduled for last night, during which the board was expected to vote on renewing the contract with the Summit Regional Department of Health, and urge board members to break from Summit.
- It also was intended to be forwarded to Deputy Mayor Herbert Stote and Township Committee member Gregory Clarke and Roy Allan Hirschfeld.

A close call ends a drought

The close vote — 61 ballots separated Ruocco from Forman — surprised several veteran politicians, including former Mayor Jeffrey Katz, who said he'd expected a disparity of approximately 200.

Others said the totals could be attributed to a senior citizens' backlash against Republicans because of congressional plans to change Medicare funding.

The victory Tuesday ended a three-year drought for the local Republican Party.

"I'm not surprised the people of Springfield realized we had two wonderful candidates here," said GOP campaign treasurer Phyllis Gerber. "They will bring professionalism."

O'Toole said Lustbader carried their hometowns of Cedar Grove and Millburn, in addition to Essex Falls, Kenilworth, Livingston, North Caldwell, Roseland, Summit, Union and Verona. O'Toole and Slattery were top vote getters in Caldwell and Roselle Park, while Slattery and Hirschfeld carried Springfield, which is Hirschfeld's hometown.

O'Toole, who was the only candidate available for comment Tuesday night, said he plans to continue with the Whitman mandate of downizing.

Township specialist offers therapy for vertigo

Vertigo, the sensation of the world spinning out of control, is terrifying and disabling for millions of Americans. If the problem is caused by Meniere's Disease, a condition affecting the inner ear balance system, a new non-surgical therapy, known as an Intratympanic Chemical Labyrinthectomy, may provide relief.

Dr. Jed A. Kwartler, a specialist in hearing and balance disorders in Springfield and a clinical associate professor of otoryngology at UMDNJ-New Jersey Medical School in Newark, began performing ICL as an alternative to the standard surgical treatment for Meniere's Disease. Traditionally, patients with Meniere's Disease who required surgery were offered either a stapedectomy or a vestibular neurectomy.

During a vestibular neurectomy, the vestibular, or balance, nerve is cut. Successful in controlling vertigo attacks in more than 90 percent of patients, this procedure carries the risks of a major brain operation and the expense of a seven to 10 day hospitalization.

Dayton improved to 1-6 by winning their first home game of the season, while Bound Brook slipped to 2-3. The Bulldogs have an excellent chance to win their second straight game when they travel to Manville tomorrow night for a 7 p.m. start. Dayton coach Ed Ryscavage said, "We can't take them for granted."

Two Springfield teams victorious A Team posts 4th shutout; B Team scores late to win

Two of three Springfield youth football teams defeated Millburn at home last Sunday. The A Team improved to 4-0 in the conference with its fourth conference shutout, a 21-0 victory. The B Team scored with two minutes remaining to beat Millburn 20-14. The C Team lost a close game, falling to Millburn 13-6.

Springfield's A Team was sparked on offense by the fine play of Brian Berger and Dorian Scott, both preventing a Millburn running back from scoring late in the first half. Springfield's offense was led by running backs Matt Fisher and Justin Azran. Fisher also caught four passes and quarterback Richard Jones scored a touchdown on an exciting 40-yard run.

What good is a good deal without a good dealer? We don't look at you as one customer. We look at you as three customers. We see you as the buyer. And as the one of you without pleasing all three. We offer a professional team as standard equipment. An extremely knowledgeable service manager, his assistant and some incredible technicians who'll know you and your car personally. So when you see us for a new car or van you'll feel a "good deal" better...and avoid the highway hassle.

Youth Football. Also playing well on defense were Fisher, Mike Kessal, Michael Basile, Sean Thoms and Charlie Byers. Scott registered a quarterback sack good for a 30-yard loss and Thoms applied pressure all afternoon. All fans are invited to attend Springfield's last home game of the year this Sunday against Chatham at 1 p.m.

Springfield's special teams continued to excel, holding Millburn scoreless on punt returns. Brian Birch made the team's first two-point conversion when his kick made it through the goal posts. Playing well on defense for Springfield were Mike Orman, Ross Rahmani and Justin Hunter.

Springfield improved to 4-2 with the win and has a chance to win the conference championship by beating Chatham and Hanover in the next two weeks. Leo Ferriss scored the C Team's lone touchdown early in the game. Springfield's special teams continued to excel, holding Millburn scoreless on punt returns. Also playing well for Springfield (1-5) were Steve King, Anthony DeNicolio, Bryan Stitt, David Johnson, Frank Mitchell, Charlie Connelly, Sean Apicella, Frank Carbone, Helmi Abdelaziz, Camilo Rodriguez, Kevin Dashi, Yuri Porruge and Sean Frank.

NEEDHAMLANDS RACETRACK

County Seat

We received a press release Monday from the American Red Magen David for Israel, based in New York.

The group, which maintains an office on 7th Avenue, sent the release to notify the press that it would be honoring King Hussein of Jordan, President Clinton and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin for their courage, humanity and statesmanship in achieving the peace treaty.

Rabin was assassinated by an Israeli student during the weekend, and I think it would be safe to say that the organization, which had planned to celebrate the first anniversary of the Israel/Jordan Treaty of Peace, mulled the press statement prior to Rabin's death.

Rabin, who had suffered his stance pertaining to Palestinian occupation in Israel during the past several years, came under scrutiny from extremists, who opposed surrendering land that had been seized by Israel as the result of unsuccessful efforts by its Arab neighbors to overrun the Jewish state in decades past. It was Rabin's renowned efforts for peace which eventually led to his demise.

Vigils were scheduled around the country, including Union County, this week to remember Rabin's achievement. While many mourn the prime minister's death, not all — even in the United States — agree with his efforts toward peace. Many believe Israel is setting itself up for another ruthless attack by making peace with Jordan, and by attempting to work out a satisfactory compromise at home that would put an end to fighting among Israelis and Palestinians.

While everyone would like to see peace in the Middle East, it is understandable that conservative Israelis would be hesitant to agree to any treaties — fearing that weaker horses may result in further death and destruction. But most assuredly all us will mourn the passing of a man — philosophy aside — who can only be faulted for attempting to do what he believed in his heart was for the best.

Now that the election is over, perhaps we will not have to suffer anymore with having to hear the Hillside Citizens Action Committee calling for the Township Committee to take advantage of a free audit offered by the State of New Jersey for municipalities.

I'm getting so sick of reading about HCAC members calling for the audit, I wish they'd just realize that the Democratic-controlled governing body is not going to open its books to the Republican Whittin administration. Although I would like to see the township take advantage of the free audit as much as anyone else, I realize it will not happen as long as the Dems are in control.

So, HCAC, please give it a rest, at least until a new majority is in power at the municipal level.

Democrats sweep to victory despite weather

By Chris Gatto
Regional Editor
Typically it is thought that a rainy Election Day produces a better result for Republicans, but it was Democrats who proved to be the true muddlers Tuesday, with all three freeholder candidates turning up victorious.

Democrats Walter McNeil, incumbent Daniel Sullivan and Carol Cohen swept to victory in Union County, marking the end of a slew of Republican victories which have taken place in recent years.

"We did terrific," said an obviously excited Walter McNeil when contacted late Tuesday night at the Coachman Inn in Cranford, which served as headquarters for county Democrats after the polls closed. "I'm very excited. Words cannot express how I feel. I think the people were listening."

McNeil, who unsuccessfully ran for freeholder last year, and his running mates campaigned on issues such as unemployment, development, and the Union County Utilities Authority. He noted that the Democrats hit upon issues with which the people were concerned and that's the reason his party was successful in this go around.

Unofficial election results revealed that Cohen, a resident of Westfield, led all freeholder candidates with 32,686 votes. Finishing second was Sullivan with 32,668 and McNeil gained 31,570.

The totals, however, did not include ballots from Union Township and Plainfield. Those numbers could not be obtained prior to deadline. One district from Summit also was not recorded because of a jammed machine.

While the background noise stemming from a celebration made it difficult to hear Democrats via the telephone, the mood was much more somber at Republican headquarters, The Westwood in Garwood.

Although Union's numbers had not been officially recorded, residents of that municipality said the Republican plurality would not be enough to push GOP candidates over the top. Plainfield, in which McNeil resides, is a Democrat stronghold, and unlikely that Republicans would pick up any ground in the city.

Freeholder Chairman Linda DiGiovanni, who served as campaign chair for GOP freeholder candidates, expressed feelings of frustration when she looked at vote totals being tabulated at The Westwood.

DiGiovanni, a Union resident, said she knew Republicans were in trouble in the county races when she saw the vote totals they received in Union Township.

Voters in Union Township are generally considered to be among the county's most astute, picking and choosing whom they wish rather than winging the straight party line. DiGiovanni noted that this was the case

Walter McNeil

Daniel Sullivan

Carol Cohen

They continued down the party line Tuesday, with voters in the township voting for Republican Assembly candidate, going with Democrats in all county races and then back to the GOP in the municipal election.

DiGiovanni suggested that voters familiarity with the name of Sheriff Ralph Froelich may have been a contributing factor at the county level.

Froelich, who is well known throughout the county, topped the county ticket, something which political handicappers generally believe can have a significant impact upon those who are listed under him on the ballot. The feelings is that voters cast ballots for the incumbent sheriff and then continued down the party line. Roselle Mayor Joseph Safaryn, who did not seek re-election to the mayoral post this year, finished tops among Republican freeholders hopefuls Tuesday. Incomplete figures showed Safaryn with 29,170 tallies compared to 26,445 for Giaditta and 26,435 for Fulcozzer.

Safaryn said "the voice of the people has been heard" and he congratulated his opponents on their victory. He also credited his runningmates and local and county campaign managers with doing a good job. "I think everybody ran good campaigns. No one used any types of disparaging comments about the other side," he said. As for his top finish among Republicans, Safaryn suggested it was a result of his work as an elected official in Roselle. Safaryn, the first Republican mayor elected in Roselle in 20 years, will now retire from politics, and intends to practice law full time, do some vacationing with his wife and become a consultant in the pharmaceutical industry from which he will retire by year's end.

With the Democratic sweep, Republicans will retain control of the freeholder board, 3 to 4. All three slots up for election this year were held by Democrats.

Rajoppi elected as county clerk

First female clerk since post's creation 138 years ago

By Chris Gatto
Regional Editor
It took 138 years, but Union County will finally have its first female county clerk come January.

Joanne Rajoppi, the county's registrar of deeds and mortgages, overwhelmingly defeated Acting County Clerk Paul O'Keefe, a Republican, in Tuesday's election for the vacant clerk's position.

Rajoppi, with Union and Plainfield totals unaccounted for, tallied 32,795 compared to 24,503 for O'Keefe. A third candidate, Bob Griffin, ran as an independent candidate, finishing third, but vote totals were unavailable prior to press time.

"I'm very, very pleased," said Rajoppi during a phone conversation Tuesday night. She said her victory was a sign that voters were more concerned about qualifications than about mud that had been thrown at her during the campaign.

Rajoppi said she intends to work along with legislators and freeholders regarding plans to merge the Office of the Clerk with that of the registrar now that she has been elected. Rajoppi and freeholders have differed as to how the consolidation should be carried out.

As for her opponent, O'Keefe, Rajoppi reminded that he had signed a campaign ethics pledge. But, Rajoppi said O'Keefe did not abide by it.

According to Rajoppi, O'Keefe sent out campaign literature that misled the public about her, Sheriff Ralph Froelich and freeholder candidate Walter McNeil. "I'm very pleased the people looked past that and relied on the issues," she said from Democrat campaign headquarters, the Coachman Inn in Cranford, following the election. She called O'Keefe's campaign literature "malicious."

Rajoppi noted that O'Keefe, who had been appointed deputy county clerk by Walter Halpin, who retired as county clerk to accept a position with the state last month, will not have a post when she takes over. The deputy clerk serves at the pleasure of the clerk.

Rajoppi, a former mayor of Springfield, outscored O'Keefe in the township 2,098 to 1,204, and pounded the acting clerk in Elizabeth despite the efforts of Griffin — an Elizabeth resident who ran an anti-Rajoppi campaign. Rajoppi tallied 4,676 votes to O'Keefe's 1,926 scores.

"I want to thank the people in Union, my hometown, for their support and overwhelming plurality they gave me as well as my former hometown of Springfield for the overwhelming plurality they gave me," she said. Although Union's votes were unofficial, Rajoppi estimated her margin of victory at 300 in that municipality.

Rajoppi said she intends to "perform to the best of my ability" in her new position. Also, she noted that she was happy the county's voters finally chose a woman clerk after 138 years.

There had been some confusion as to whether the county would be able to go ahead with its plans to merge the clerk's and registrar's offices, because state law required that elected registers be allowed to complete their present terms prior to a merger. Rajoppi's terms was not scheduled to expire for three more years.

With her victory, however, Rajoppi will likely resign her post as registrar and slip into the clerk's post, thus making it possible for a merger.

O'Keefe, a former freeholder, was appointed to the deputy clerk's post by Halpin earlier this year. When Halpin announced his plans to step down and accept a post with the state-run court system, both Rajoppi and O'Keefe announced their intent to run for office.

During the campaign, the two candidates pledged to abide by the criteria outlined regarding candidates conduct during a campaign. Almost from the outset, the two threatened to file complaints against one another, alleging the other had violated the pledge.

The matter escalated during the campaign's final week, with an onslaught of literature of a derogatory nature being distributed throughout the county.

Challenger gunned down in county sheriff's race

By Chris Gatto
Regional Editor
Despite the efforts of his opponent, there will not be a new sheriff in Union County come January.

Ralph Froelich, who has occupied that position for 18 years, was elected to a new term Tuesday, founcing Republican opponent Pete Novargie.

Froelich, a legend in the county, compiled 37,064 votes compared to Novargie's 23,802 during the election. Totals, however, are unofficial and do not include Union, Plainfield and one voting district in Summit, which was hampered by a jammed machine.

Deadline constraints would not allow this newspaper to report complete official vote totals. "I couldn't be happier. This was the sweetest win in all of my 18 years," said Froelich when being contacted by telephone Tuesday. The sheriff indicated that the win was especially fulfilling because the county Democrats' ticket included the "greatest group" of individuals with whom he had been involved.

Another county victory was sweet, said Froelich, was because his opponents used dirty campaign techniques in an effort to sway voters.

Novargie, a Newark police captain, was greeted by an assortment of supporters at county Republican campaign headquarters — The Westwood in Garwood — on election night, and didn't seem to be affected too much by the tally. He kept his spirits up. Some of his supporters, however, lost their spirit after seeing Froelich's hatannased an insurmountable lead later in the night.

While Froelich was credited by some with much of the Democrats' success Tuesday, he didn't wish to take all of the credit. He acknowledged that he has built up a reputation around the county and that may have had something to do with his party's finish, but the other candidates, he said, carried their own weight.

As for Froelich, he plans to continue some of the initiatives for which he already has been responsible, and he intends to enlist the assistance of newly elected Democratic freeholders in addressing some budget concerns, such as seeking increased funding to fight domestic violence. The sheriff said he also expects more cooperation from GOP freeholders this year than last, that the result of their "being embarrassed" during the campaign.

County stepping up its efforts to put lid on teen-age betting

With the professional football and basketball seasons moving into high gear, the Union County-Juvenile Crime Unit has stepped up its efforts to curb teen-age betting.

The 75-member association is gearing up a campaign to alert youngsters and their parents about problems involved with illegal organized gambling.

The juvenile officers, according to Clerk Detective Sgt. Robert Sarnicki, are getting help from the Union County Prosecutor's Office and the County Council on Compulsive Gambling in New Jersey.

"We know it's out there, whether it's football slips to bet on the weekend games or money placed with a bookmaker," Sarnicki said. "All we're doing is getting the word out to students that it's not worth the trouble."

The association is having Ed Lowrey, director of the Trenton-based council, discuss "The Hidden Epidemic," that has plagued many people because of the money involved and glamorized forms of wagering that take place, especially in New Jersey.

Lowrey, who will make a presentation to the juvenile officers Wednesday at the Westwood restaurant in Newark, said he has seen first-hand by his staff members that gambling can be an addictive behavior with severe consequences.

Several years ago, the council surveyed 3,000 students in 50 high schools only to learn that 90 percent had gambled once that year and more than 30 percent gambled at least once a week.

Assistant Prosecutor Robert P. O'Leary, counsel to the juvenile officers, said his office developed a brochure to respond to the problem and had more than 4,000 copies distributed by members of the Organized Crime Unit and the Juvenile Unit.

"There was a tremendous response to our tour-of-area-high-schools," O'Leary said, adding the "office received a statewide award for efforts to get the message out after a large gambling problem surfaced in one of the county's larger high schools."

"The odds are stacked against you," the booklet warns. "People who run illegal gambling operations are only out for one thing — your money."

Detective Sgt. James Schneider, commander of the organized crime unit, said anyone who promotes gambling operations or uses violence to enforce a debt faces criminal prosecution.

"Any sports betting pool, distribution or collection of wager slips or even a card game are illegal in the State of New Jersey if the person running the operation makes a profit or takes a 'piece' or 'cut' of the action," O'Leary said.

Assistant Prosecutor Edward M. Zidonik, who has prosecuted many gambling cases, said the fear and intimidation factor is real. "Violence and threats are the norm if someone doesn't pay since you can't sue in court," he explained.

Sexual abuse victims to get exams

Children who have been or are suspected of being sexually abused will now be able to receive medical examinations at a Union County location.

First Assistant Union County Prosecutor Michael Lapolla, from left, Elizabeth General Medical Center President David A. Fletcher, Program Coordinator of the Child Sexual Abuse Program Patricia Meyers, and Dr. Linda Shaw, medical director of the Child Sexual Abuse Program.

Lapolla said that the establishment of the clinic in Union County is the "first step" of a program of medical examinations for victims of child sexual abuse.

First Assistant Prosecutor Michael Lapolla said the clinic is the "first step" of a program of medical examinations for victims of child sexual abuse.

The opening of the Child Abuse Program of the Central Jersey Regional Child Abuse Center will now provide medical examinations at Elizabeth General Medical Center, Eastern Jersey Hospital, and Eastern Jersey Hospital, which are suspected of being sexually abused.

Prior to the establishment of the Elizabeth clinic, child abuse victims from Union County had to go to Robert Wood Johnson Medical Center in New Brunswick for examinations.

The Child Sexual Abuse Program is the Central Jersey regional center for children who have been sexually abused, or are suspected of having been sexually abused. The program serves families residing in Middlesex, Union, Somerset and Mercer counties. Through prevention, diagnosis and treatment services, the program is an advocate for children and their families coping with incidences of sexual abuse, said Dr. Linda Shaw, a pediatrician who serves as medical director of the program.

The program is a partnership between Elizabeth General Medical Center and the Child Sexual Abuse Program at Elizabeth General Medical Center. The program is a partnership between Elizabeth General Medical Center and the Child Sexual Abuse Program at Elizabeth General Medical Center.

Wynton Marsalis to play State Theatre

Called "a genius" and "leader of a powerful renaissance in jazz" by New York Times Magazine writer Frank Conroy, Wynton Marsalis will perform at the State Theatre in New Brunswick next month.

The concert, scheduled for Dec. 10 at 8 p.m., will benefit the work of two central New Jersey organizations — St. Peter's Medical Center and Music For All Seasons. All money raised will be used to brighten the lives of children at St. Peter's Medical Center and other residential-care facilities.

Music For All Seasons is a not-for-profit organization that brings the therapeutic power of five music to the residents of special-care treatment facilities such as hospitals, nursing homes, jails and schools for handicapped children. In the words of Music For All Seasons' Advisory Board Member Wynton Marsalis, the organization "helps make an important segment of our population, who are often times overlooked and cut out of the everyday workings of life, feel part of something vital and growing."

Malamut opens Strogart exhibit

Russian artist Alexander Strogart displays one of her paintings, 'The Las Malamut Gallery in the Union Public Library will open an exhibition of her works — titled "A Voyage to the Birch Country" — Wednesday with a reception at 7 p.m. The show will run through Dec. 14.

"A Voyage to the Birch Country," an exhibition of paintings by Alexander Strogart, will be the next show at the Las Malamut Gallery in the Union Public Library in Friberger Park on Morris Avenue.

The opening reception will be held on Wednesday, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The show will continue through Dec. 14. The public is invited.

Strogart, a native of Russia, is the daughter of artists and musicians. An early age she began taking art classes in Moscow and studied in many artists' studios throughout her teen years. She also studied at the Ecole Leptine in Paris.

When she came to New York City, she was accepted at the School of Art and Design and the Art Students League. She also attended Pratt Institute and after graduation, was awarded a scholarship member of the Salamitgund Club where she exhibited and won numerous awards.

Her true passion for painting realism is reflected in her most recent paintings of the birch country, painted both here and in Russia. In 1990-1991, she spent a year working and traveling in Russia and she brought back many paintings to the United States.

Among the galleries where Strogart has had shows are: Uptown Gallery, Utah Gallery and Grand Central Art Gallery in New York City; in New Jersey, her work has been shown at the L & M Gallery in Elizabeth, Art Forms Gallery in Red Bank and the Art Co. in West Orange. Her paintings also have been shown at the Art Museum in Zaporozhye, Ukraine; Helen Driscoll-Gallery, Brookings, South Dakota; and Margaret Kahl, Toronto.

The cast of "Dreamgirls" performs at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn. A charity group that works on behalf of children and troubled families will be the beneficiaries of proceeds raised by a performance of the musical.

'Dreamgirls' to benefit charity

An Elizabeth-based agency committed to helping children and families in crisis, will benefit from an upcoming performance of the Paper Mill Playhouse production "Dreamgirls." Based on the 1960s vice to fame of Chicago vocal group, "Dreamgirls," parallels the story of Diana Ross and the Supremes, a group that helped define the "Motown sound."

The musical's Dec. 2 performance has become part of the "Evening at the Theater" series of Family and Children's Services. A benefit committee co-chairs Jacqueline Haley and Bernadette House, supported by 18 volunteers from around Union County, have lined up strong community support for the event. Led by the corporate sponsorship of NatWest Bank, the committee has enlisted an additional 15 patrons and hopes to recruit more before the performance.

In addition to the performance itself, the agency is offering a dinner package at the P.M. Kirby Carriage House Restaurant and a post-theater reception and benefit event. Event tickets range from $75 to $150 per person; patron opportunities are available at $50.

November 12-18

ARIES — March 21/April 20. Tune down your quick side when being introduced to new people. Although based ones may have a little on your personality, others may not have time to adjust to it. As matters of business, playing a safe card will be a good idea.

TARIUS — April 21/May 21. Show appreciation to someone who has helped you. A simple thank you will go a very long way. That big pile of tasks in just going to get bigger if you choose to ignore it. At least make a start in the new year's resolutions from appreciation letter on them may be complicated in total plan.

GEMINI — May 22/June 21. Climb out of a rut. You are in a new difficult situation that even the most careful planning cannot solve. Consider the consequences first. Adult responsibility at work could be a good opportunity for you in the long run. Keep a lock on speaking.

CANCER — June 22/July 22. Don't let minor annoyances turn you into a major crab. Save your emotional energy for more important things. If the day drags, maybe it's because you don't know what you're doing.

LEO — July 23/August 23. This is a time to get serious and put your nose to the grindstone. Although an abundance of social invitations may be tempting, work will have to be the paramount priority. A misunderstanding with a loved one could be a real pain.

VERGO — Aug 24/Sept 23. A humbles fitment could turn into more than just a burghal for. Be careful not to walk off with yourself in an awkward situation. Something that happens on Wednesday will make you realize that you are pretty lucky.

LIBRA — Sept 24/Oct 23. Don't let yourself get caught in the middle of a workplace battle. Be like Snowball on approach. You're best off focusing on the work at hand. You do have to take the initiative, however. As labeled as you may be, nobody is going to come barging on your door.

It is hard to imagine what it would be like to live in a country without freedom...without the right to wave a flag...assemble peaceably or speak our minds. Thanks to our nation's veterans, our freedom has been protected, but not without a price." Includes details about Veterans Day 1995.
