TWO SECTIONS - 50 CENTS

Community Update

Fireworks on the 4th

The township will hold its annual Independence Day fireworks display tomorrow at Market Park.

This year, through special arrangements with the vendor, the fireworks display will be the largest ever. The gates will open at 8 p.m. and the fireworks display will begin at 9 p.m. in case of adverse weather, the fireworks display will be held on the next day night.

This year's "family picnic" theme encourages families to bring their children and enjoy a family picnic with an excellent selection of food provided, at reasonable prices by Caterhosts. Alcoholic beverages are not permitted on the fields.

The Old Gardeners Management Board, Scott Sodol and John Cottge, has been running the display for almost 20 years. The Garden State Fireworks Company of Millington, provide a wide variety of fireworks.

A $2 per person donation is collected at the gates to help pay for the cost of the display.

The event having the best turnout, the most gate collections and a mailing to local businesses and organizations requesting donations. Cottge said, "the fireworks is not a money-making operation. Our goal is to collect enough from the gates and our mailing to have even. Should we fall short of our break-even point, we probably will not be able to continue having the fireworks."

Anyone interested in participating in the 4th of July Committee, should contact the Fourth of July Committee, Municipal Building, Springfield, NJ, 07081.

"Assisting are the Jewish War Veterans-Battle Hill Post, 273," and the American Legion Post 228, the Springfield Auxiliary, the Springfield Regular and Volunteer Fire Department, and the First Aid Squad. Fencing around the field is supplied by the Department of Public Works.

That's all for now. Stay tuned.

PBA local picks new leadership

By Barbara Dilmont

Staff Writer

The Policemen's Benevolence Association held its elections June 27, choosing a new president and vice president.

John P. Brody was elected president and Scott Brooks, first vice president; was elected Vice president.

Also elected were Jerry Neick, secretary; Dan Dausor, treasurer; and Rick Mikles, delegate.

Brody, who ran unopposed, expects to be re-elected president for another term.

The PBA heads said they're looking forward to working together on improving the Police Department.

"I think the new leadership will work well for us. We all have the same goal — trying to make Springfield a better place to work," Brody said.

The PBA is the police officers' labor union, which represents the members in their interactions with the police department and the Township Committee. It is responsible for the relationship between the PBA and the township, with inquiries as to recently elected officials taking the helm.

In the past, that relationship had not been friendly. Most recently, a patrolman filed a lawsuit against the township, the five members of the PBA.

"We are fighting for our rights," said William Chisholm and other senior officers, alleging racial discrimination.

Officers, Patrolman, Patrolman Walter Brooks, sought PBA vice president, according to the PBA.

Now in its 46th year, the Ruth

Earin Goldberg Memorial for Cancer

Research continues to make contributions to help fight the disease.

With the help of the community, 300, the nonsectarian organization has sponsored several fund-raising events throughout the year. One such event was a calendar, which was distributed at the fund raiser in April.

Contributions were distributed to local post offices.

Former REGM president Jennifer Weisenthal of Colonia, with the township residents Elyana Collichio and Paul Toppano, and also Union resident, Helen Disko, helped in the production of the calendar.

Collichio "handed" the bookkeeping to the group, managing all incoming funds and ads, then allocating the specified space for them.

Toppano worked with Collichio on the layout and design of the calendar and proofreading of the calendar, as well as much of the writing.

Engineers can't stop pool leak

Without plans, water pours out

By Barbara Dilmont

Staff Writer

According to the Township Committee, a leak in the municipal pool that cannot be found is wasting thousands of gallons of water each day.

The pool was designed by the architect of the Township Committee at its workshop meeting Monday night. The main concern involves the leak, coupled with the fact that the township doesn't have planning in an inability to locate the leak.

"The problem with the pool is that the water meter is continuously spinning, due to a leak in the pool. We are losing a considerable amount of water everyday," said Deputy Mayor Herb Silcox.

"We do not have a firm grasp of where the leak is, but we do have some clues," he added. "Part of the problem is that we do not have any of the original blueprints from when it was constructed, so we do not know what it looks like."

The committee agreed to have Mike Disko, the local engineer at the town of Mountainside and Kensilwood, to try and find the problem and then make suggestions as to what the town will have to do to fix it.

Disko was one of the people who helped design the pool for the family with the municipal pool. "We are turning the problem over to a professional engineer to see what he can do. Disko is coming with his drawings of the pool which are the only ones we have at this point," Silcox said.

There are many ways to fix the problem due to the large water bills that the township will have to pay as a result of all the wasted water from the leak.

"We have run up a considerable amount of money in water bills

over the last few days," Silcox said.

"We are trying to get the engineers to work on this problem as quickly as possible," he said.

"We do not have workers very badly."

Trailside begins Wednesday matinees

The Band Shell Theatre will kick off its Wednesday Matinee Series with its performance of "Around the World with Marty Grah" on July 10 at 1:30 p.m.

The performance is being provided by Young Audiences, the country's leading provider of arts programs for young people.

Michael McGuire plays Marty Grah, a famous adventurer in search of the greatest crowns and treasures of the world. In this one-man show, McGuire teaches about geography and a world of culture, while juggling, recycling, performing magic and lots of audience participation.

Marty Grah, one of Young Audiences most requested programs, interactive and educational.

Young Audiences of New Jersey gained national attention last year as the state chapter of the first arts education organization to receive the National Medal of Arts, the White House's highest honor for the arts community. Young Audiences develops children's programs with professional artists and performers who are available to schools, libraries, and community centers throughout the nation.

A national nonprofit organization, Young Audiences is a resource for teachers, parents, and community leaders interested in the power of the arts in education. Last year, Young Audiences provided assembly performances, workshops, artist residencies and other programs to 350,000 children in the Garden State.

Bartender keeps busy as volunteer firefighter

Harry Heady tends bar when away from the Springfield Fire Department, where he volunteers much of his time.

By Bob Smith
Staff Writer

Harry Heady of Springfield, who, at the age of 76, has more energy than many senior citizens in that category, can't wait to talk about the grand parade he helped organize for the grand opening of Springfield's Memorial Day Parade and to be involved in a number of volunteer and veterans organizations in Union.

"I ran the parade for a long time," Heady smiled. "I'm Jeff Curtis' best man and this is the first time I was chosen as grand marshal. I guess they figured I deserved it. This is my last year. I can't do it for the rest of my life. I'm still in the job trying to make it work."

The senior citizen said modestly, "I guess it might be that I became grand marshal because I'm a Springfield Fire Department volunteer, too. I was a civil defense firefighter, serving only and getting paid $100 a month.

Heady, 76, is a retired teacher.

He hangs around the firehouse.

After the New Jersey State Fair, he went to work for a trucking company.

He was with the Newark Transportation, driving a truck and trailer-trucks.

After Heady got married, he and his wife, Fay — "we've been married 52 years" — moved to Springfield in 1944. "I never even graduated from high school, but my friends are all college-educated," he said.

Heady, 76, is a retired teacher.

HOROSCOPE

For The Week Of July 7-13

ARIES March 21-April 19

Things could change quickly this week, so remain flexible and open to suggestions. With preference given to your own ideas, you may not even consider what others have to say. You could sleep well. Share your inner feelings to help someone understand your motives better.

TAURUS April 21-May 21

You might not have time to go to a local innkeeper's for a meal, but if you do, you'll be happy you did. Some news could refresh you for a different day ahead.

SCORPIO October 23-November 22

Thrush predicts. You might not have time to go to a local innkeeper's for a meal, but if you do, you'll be happy you did. Some news could refresh you for a different day ahead.

GEMINI May 22-June 21

If money is a concern, reevaluate your budget. You may need to cut back on certain expenses, but you can still afford to treat yourself to something special.

SAGITTARIUS November 23-December 21

Things may take longer than usual to settle into your new job or home.

Eliminate a major source of stress.

A younger person will be feeling nervous about their new quality of life.

CAPRICORN December 22-January 20

If you're looking for good news, you'll have to sift through a few setbacks.

Treatments in a relationship may not run deep, but you should still work to keep things interesting. Be sure to prepare before an important meeting.

LEO July 23-August 21

Cornell Hall honors its volunteers

For National Volunteer Week, Cornell Hall Nursing and Rehabilitation Center in Union honored its volunteers, ranging from a usher, laundry person to a personal aide, a volunteer reception committee.

Among those who gave their valuable time to help Cornell Hall residents was Irvington resident Pete McConnell, 82.

McConnell, who has been a Cornell Hall volunteer for 25 years, recently announced his retirement. "It's been a pleasure for 25 years," said McConnell, who is retiring to spend more time with his wife, Catherine, who is 85 years old.

Cornell Hall is a non-medical facility for elderly adults and volunteers equally. "To me everyone is a human being. I just didn't go to the Catholic Church," he said.

Pete McConnell is a volunteer at the facility with his wife in 1970.

"Her sister was a resident at Cornell Hall for 17 years, and while I was visiting with her, I started to visit with the other residents," he said. He quit with them at lunch and during recreational activities.

"People hardly have time to sit and take a break from their family. It is so easy to forget the little things that mean so much, like spending time with an elderly person," said Recreational Director Shari Britt.

"We're grateful to Mr. McConnell's 25 years of involvement. I

Overlook becomes first in state to win OK of children's group

Overlook Hospital has become one of nine stereotactic radiosurgery centers in the country and the only one in New Jersey to receive approval from the Children's Cancer Group to use the protocol to treat children with brain tumors.

"Radiosurgery is a way of treating tumors in a much less invasive manner," said Dr. Brian Biyeli, an attending surgeon and co-director of the Overlook Hospital Stereotactic Radiosurgery Program.

The Children's Cancer Group is a group of 130 hospitals that administer treatment to children with cancer and the approval is recognition of Overlook Hospital's medical and technical expertise in the delivery and care to these patients.

A protocol is an outline of medical treatment that also serves as a collection process for continuing research on the effectiveness of the treatment.

"Until the development of this protocol, there were no good treatment options available for children after surgery, and radiosurgery was used," said Dr. Louis Schwartz, director of Radiation Oncology and co-director of the Overlook Stereotactic Radiosurgery Center.

"The patients we will see are those thought to have been cured and those who are still in remission.

The new Valerie Fund Center at Saint Barnabas Medical Center will specialize in the treatment of tumors with radiosurgery and some success, often prolonging life for several years. Tumor response rates of 70 percent are normal.

"Radiosurgery is coordinated by the hospital's Valerie Fund Children's Center for Cancer and Blood Disorders, which was initiated this center to bring together providers of pediatric oncology services in one location.

The new Valerie Fund Center at Saint Barnabas is a joint partnership of United/Religious Hospital and Saint Barnabas Medical Center.

The center will be a joint partnership of United/Religious Hospital and Saint Barnabas Medical Center.

The Children's Cancer Group is the largest and most specialized provider of care to children in New Jersey. Saint Barnabas Health Care System is the largest health care provider in the state, treating nearly 1.5 million patients annually. The alliance will be called the Children's Health Network.

Radiosurgery is a non-invasive treatment that uses a highly focused burst of radiation to treat a recurrent or inoperable tumor. The focused "radiation beam" is directed at the tumor, sparing normal tissue.

In addition to state-of-the-art medical care, The Valerie Fund Center offers support groups and counseling for children and their families, and operates Camp Haven Times for children with cancer. The Valerie Fund Children's Centers are located at Children's Hospital of New Jersey/United Hospital Medical Center in Newark, Cooper Hospital.
