Regulation of towing firms follows trend

By Walter Elliot

Local towing firms, pending a proposed rule by the Springfield Township Commission, may have to leave a phone before pulling a motor vehicle for the municipal police.

The idea behind the bill is to help make Springfield more of a community town, said Councilman William Ferguson. The bill would have to be passed by the township committee, followed by a referendum.

In recent years, local businesses have fallen on hard times. With the popularity of the suburban malls and discount megastores, the mom and pop operations, which constituted the downtown areas, have been forced to either scale back or close shop.

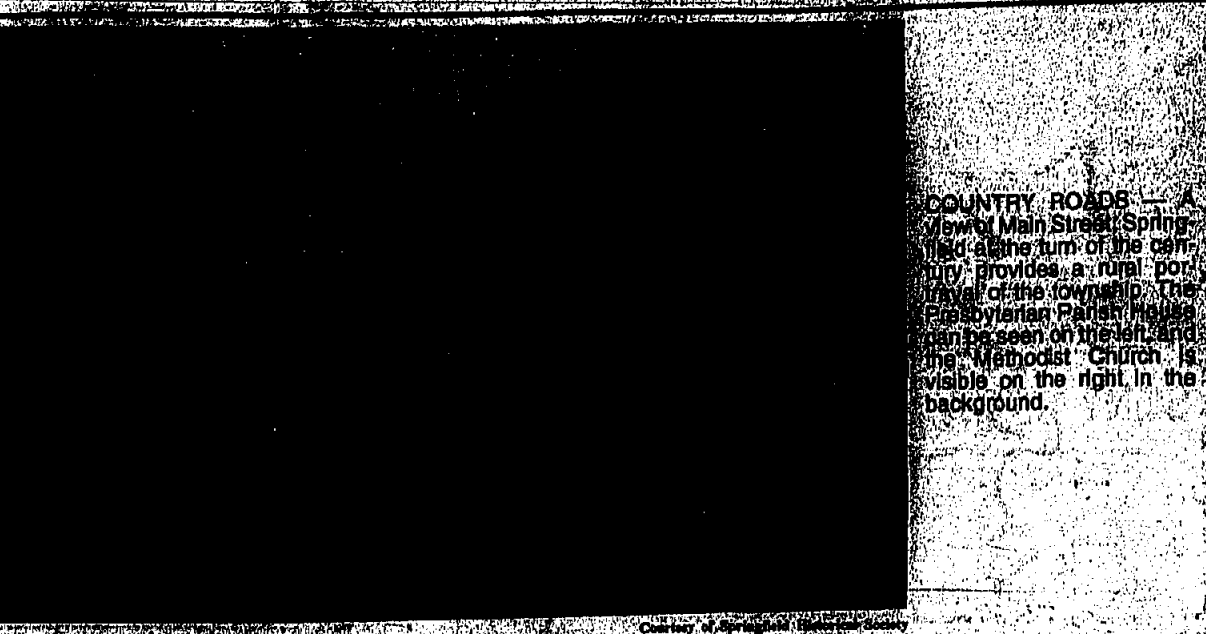

All right smart guys, now what?

The county Democrats spent most of 1996 demanding an audit of the Union County Utilities Authority's books, implying that once the task was completed, they would know best how to save the UCUA from itself.

Well, the results are in and sadly for the Democrat frodoes and frechrodes, the auditors report that there is little room in the UCUA budget for cuts and little chance of renegotiating that contract.

Merry Christmas

At the risk of offending, we wish you a very merry Christmas. Amid the cultural wreckage left in the wake of today's exploitative commerce, "political correctness" and "multi-culturalism," the meaning of the birth of Christ shines through for all who will look to it.

Funding reform is a legacy to our children

The following is an excerpt from a speech Gov. Christine Whitman gave at the 95th annual convention in Atlantic City earlier this month.

I want to focus my remarks on a plan before the Legislature that will be the most important legacy we can leave the children of New Jersey: I am talking, of course, about my administration's public school funding proposal.

More important, and this is why I feel so strongly about this issue, we need to change the way we do business. We need to change the way we do business. We need to change the way we do business.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Columnist was biased, unfair

To the Editor: I am compelled to respond to Blaine Dillport's column, "Views on the News," in the Nov. 27 issue. It would have been proper and professional for Mr. Dillport to check the chronology of his facts before he mixed them up in his article.

Because Sony Brings The INTERNET to your TV

Everyone has heard about the Internet and World Wide Web. It's the exciting world wide forum for information and entertainment that offers leading news, sports scores and the latest computer news.

Now, there's a report prepared on behalf of the Democrats based on misleading and unrealistic assumptions. The report claims that our plan will cause school taxes to rise an average of 7 percent next year.

Gov. Christine Whitman begins her fourth year in office next month. In the past three years, with relatively little expense of state aid for the majority of school districts, school taxes rose by historically low amounts. Now we're calling for $250 million more in state aid — more than four times as much as we added last year.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Stowe joins financial firm as vice president

Leonard Stowe, a resident of Springfield, has joined Fremont Financial Corporation as a vice president responsible for marketing the company's asset based loans in the New York metropolitan area.

Stowe, 58, had been a vice president at C.T. Group in New York.

Previously, he was an executive vice president and director at Gibraltar Corporation of America, a subsidiary of United Jersey Bank.

With 12 offices nationwide, Fremont expects its year-end 1998 portfolio of secured business loans will total $630 million, up from $569 million at year-end 1997. Fremont Financial is a subsidiary of Fremont General Corporation, an insurance and financial services holding company.

For some people, the holidays are the brightest time of the year.

For others, they're the darkest.

If you are feeling down when everyone around you seems to be in the holiday spirit, this may be a sign of depression. You don't have to face it alone. We can help. Atlantic's Behavioral Health Services can offer you comprehensive counseling and support.

Our full range of quality services include:

- Individual, family and marital therapy
- Alcohol and substance abuse programs
- Employee assistance
- Inpatient and partial hospital treatment
- 24-hour hotline for crisis intervention

With Atlantic Health System, the area's premier behavioral health services are right where you need them most—during the holiday season, and throughout the entire year.

Invest with the Best

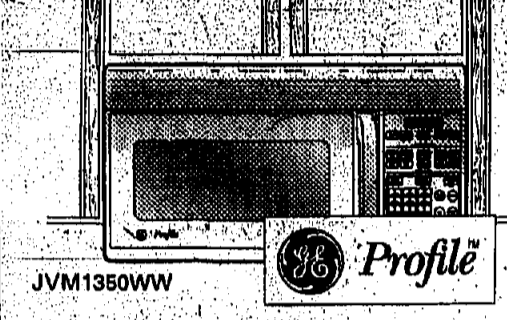

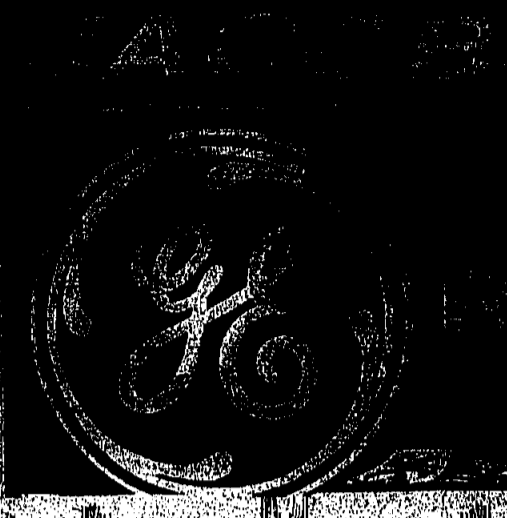

All through the year, give your world The Best.

As we celebrate the holidays in our respective ways, it seems only right and proper to remember that we are the chosen caretakers of this world on which we live. For too long, we have collectively neglected our obligation to the Earth's environment, and our lapse has pulled us precariously close to the edge. Now it is time to understand and respect the rights of the world, itself a living organism. And it's not too late to reverse a trend that must be reversed. It just takes a little more caring from each of us, a little special attention. In this season of love of family and friends, give thought to the beautiful, fragile world that has been given over to our care. It deserves The Best we have for it is all we have.

Schecter walk to aid transplant patients

The hundreds of children and adults who gathered for the Schecter Family Walk for Transplant Patients at the Lincoln School in Cranford last night were united in their determination to raise money for the Schecter Family Foundation. The walk, which is the first of its kind in the area, was held to honor the late Albert Schecter, who died of liver cancer in 1985. The walk was held on the campus of the Lincoln School in Cranford, New Jersey. The walk was held on the campus of the Lincoln School in Cranford, New Jersey. Fire safety important during holidays

This is the time of year that usually ends up being the most hectic. Our thoughts are on finding just the right gifts, making sure all the Christmas cards are mailed in time and hoping that everyone who is supposed to be here for the holidays has had a safe trip. Fire prevention is probably the last thing on our minds at the moment, but it is important. Fire prevention is probably the last thing on our minds at the moment, but it is important.

UHS girls' swimmers splash two foes

The Union High School girls' swimming team opened its 1998-99 season in the form last week by defeating Livingston 50-44 at the West Essex YMCA. The Ramblers then hosted Holy Family 101-49 at the Union Boys and Girls Club to start the year at 2-0.
This is a very encouraging start, Union coach Don Erdman said. "We have a very tough schedule and must continue to work hard. I'm pleased with the turnout. We're carrying 34 swimmers on our roster."

Elizabeth, Johnson Regional and Roselle Park were conference champions last year. Elizabeth won the Washington Conference-American Division title for the second consecutive season and Johnson captured the Mountain Valley Conference-Mountain Division crown for the second straight year. Roselle Park won the MVC-Valley Division championship for the first time since 1993.

Union was the only team to win in the post-season, defeating Elizabethtown 34-26 in the North Jersey, Section 2, Group 4 semifinals at Williams Field in Elizabeth. Union was defeated by Montclair 20-0 in the sectional final at Giants Stadium.

STARTING OFFENSE
MIKE CHONKO — This outstanding senior right guard was also very efficient at outside linebacker. Liza's effort on offense at the line of scrimmage helped play the way for Union backs Corey Ferguson and Leonard Ni-Moi.

MIKE PASSERO — One of two returning starters on the offensive line for Union, Passero helped guard' Farner quarterback Nick, Hornon on the line. He was the only player on the team to be named to the All-Area team by not punting the ball and minimizing for a first down in their play-off encounter.

ANTHONY MARTINI — The two-year starter was one of the premier centers in North Jersey, a top offensive lineman in the state. He was a key player in the team's success in the playoffs.

GUENTER KRVSZON — The 6-5, 270-pound senior two-way tackle has verbally committed to Georgetown Tech, where he is said to be on the offensive side of the ball. For Johnson Regional on offense this fall, Krvszon "really took people off the ball," head coach Bob Taylor said.

UNION COUNTY NEWS

WORRALL COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS THURSDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1998 SECTION B

From The Editor's Notebook

By Tom Canevar Editor in Chief

Find yourself in the company of a group of county officials and you find yourself in a discussion about the next county manager.

That seems to be the trend of late and each gathering occurs; another name is added to the list of potential candidates.

County Manager Ann Barn's five-year contract will expire in July 1997 and with the November general elections signaling a majority of Democrats on the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Barn's threat of the county is sure if she will be reappointed.

Despite the growing list of candidates, I predict the list will narrow to Barn and Joe Silliga as the new year approaches. Silliga, the city treasurer in Linden and assemblyman for the 20th Legislative District, has been named in more conversations about the position than any other candidate. These include Frank Capes, an attorney who said he would not want the position; Elizabeth Mayor J. Christian Bellwage; Hillside Township Clerk and Union County Democratic Chairwoman Charlotte DeLillo; and First Assistant Prosecutor Michael Lucifora.

Missing from the list, by the way, are businesspeople who have been meeting regularly and successfully and streamlining budgets. I would think these kinds of people are the kind you would try to tap for a position such as county manager and not political leaders who would serve only because their friends have the ability to make the appointment. But then again, that is government where any candidate for the position knows that he or she would be serving at the will of the legislative body that makes the appointment and their job is only as secure as the amount of time they hold the majority.

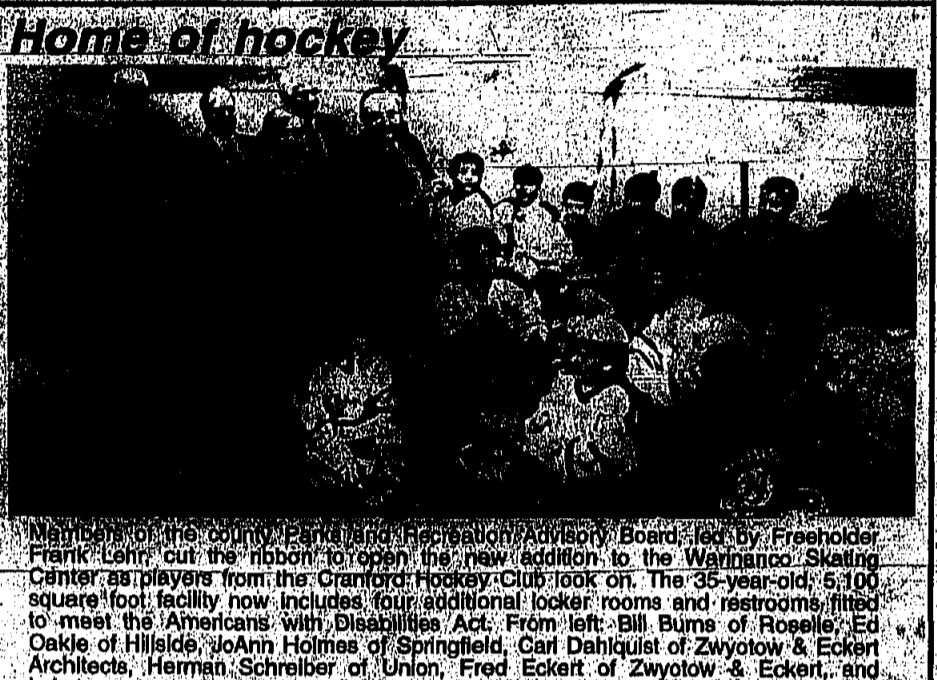

Who would want that?

One of the reasons why Barn, a Democrat, may not be reappointed by the Democratic-controlled freeholder board is because she worked well with the Republican-controlled freeholder board during the last three years. Is that bizarre?

The freeholders must realize one very important factor in their decision to appoint the next county manager. County government is the most invisible layer of government in the minds of taxpayers, yet it is a very costly layer of government. Taxpayers probably would not care who runs the county if taxes are kept stable or lowered, and that position are not created and raised granted just to take care of friends.

The next county manager, like Essex County Executive James Treffinger has been doing in his county, should find ways to decrease the size of county government and return the money to the taxpayers. That's been a mistake of Treffinger since he took office in 1994 and he has been successful in maintaining zero increase budgets during the last two years.

The Union County freeholders and county manager should examine some of Treffinger's actions and implement them in Union County. The most effective legislative body is one that serves the people well. That's the bottom line, no matter who holds the position of county manager.

The Union County Economic Development Corporation has opened a website on the Internet to help the business world do to cooperate in growing and changing. Located at <http://www.ucedc.com>, the site allows users access to information about the corporation's programs and services, which are geared toward start-up and established small retail and manufacturing businesses, and to those leaders interested in strengthening the county's commercial districts.

UCEDC also visitors can use the website to obtain information about the corporation's loans for small business, financial and in-depth technical training, demographic and economic reports, help with finding a commercial site, assistance with obtaining government contracts and help get through the "red tape" issues which often face businesses.

In all, more than 60 pages of information are available. "We have put a lot of time, sweat, and effort into this for 20 years," said Maureen Tines, president of the UCEDC. "We are pleased to provide another tool to help them obtain information about doing business in Union County."

Tines said she thinks the Internet and the telecommunications explosion have the potential to impact the economy in development in the region.

UCUA seeks OK to not raise fees

The petition is a result of cutting costs, including administrative costs, by about 8-10 percent per year.

The petition is a result of cutting costs, including administrative costs, by about 8-10 percent per year.

The Union County Utilities Authority filed a petition Dec. 12 with the state Department of Environmental Protection, seeking to not increase its per-ton garbage rate — or "tipping fee" — at its Rahway-based incinerator for next year. The petition is accepted, the UCUA's tipping fee will remain at $80.22 and should save residents about $2 million.

According to UCUA, Comptroller Thomas Brennan, the petition is a result of the UCUA's cutting costs, including administrative costs, by about 8-10 percent per year.

"We're getting to a point where costs are stabilizing," he added.

The tipping fee is the largest part of the per-ton garbage rate at the incinerator. The county's 21 municipalities pay an additional charge of $2.83 per ton that is used for county enforcement, household special waste collection and recycling. According to Brennan, this will not increase in 1999, either.

As to whether there will be an increase or decrease in the tipping fee in 1998, he said, "I don't know, it depends on 1997."

The UCUA's actions were related to a federal court decision that could force municipalities from their obligations to send their trash to the incinerator.

That ruling declared New Jersey's waste flow laws unconstitutional. If it stands, it could take effect in less than two years, leaving the UCUA in competition with other incinerators and landfills.

The UCUA has been exploring a number of methods for shaving costs and bringing in more revenue to be competitive.

These include lightening the ash that the incinerator produces, thus decreasing transportation costs in a deal-of-state landfill, Empire Sanitary Landfill, and new uses for the steam that the heat the incinerator generates. Currently, this is used to create steam, the UCUA's sells.

But Executive Director Jeffrey Callahan has said that these are not enough to make the incinerator competitive. He has also said that the UCUA cannot reduce its tipping fee for some years yet because of the way free municipalities from their obligations.

DOT urges 'roadkill' reporting

Citing the seasonal increase in the number of deer killed on the roads, the New Jersey Department of Transportation is urging citizens to follow proper reporting procedures to ensure that deer carcasses are removed in a timely manner.

"The most important information is getting a deer carcass removed quickly. Identifying the location," said NDOT Contract Administrator Clint Gage.

November and December are the busiest months for deer pick-ups, due to seasonal mating. "The quality of the pick-up service is directly related to the information contractors receive about the location of the carcass," he added.

Those who see a dead deer should contact their local police departments immediately, and provide detailed information about the location of the animal, including a route, direction, nearest mile-marker, street name and nearby address, structure signs or natural landmarks.

It is also important to specify to local police if a dead deer is obstructed or hidden from view from the road. For example, the carcass could be camouflaged by foliage or located in a ditch.

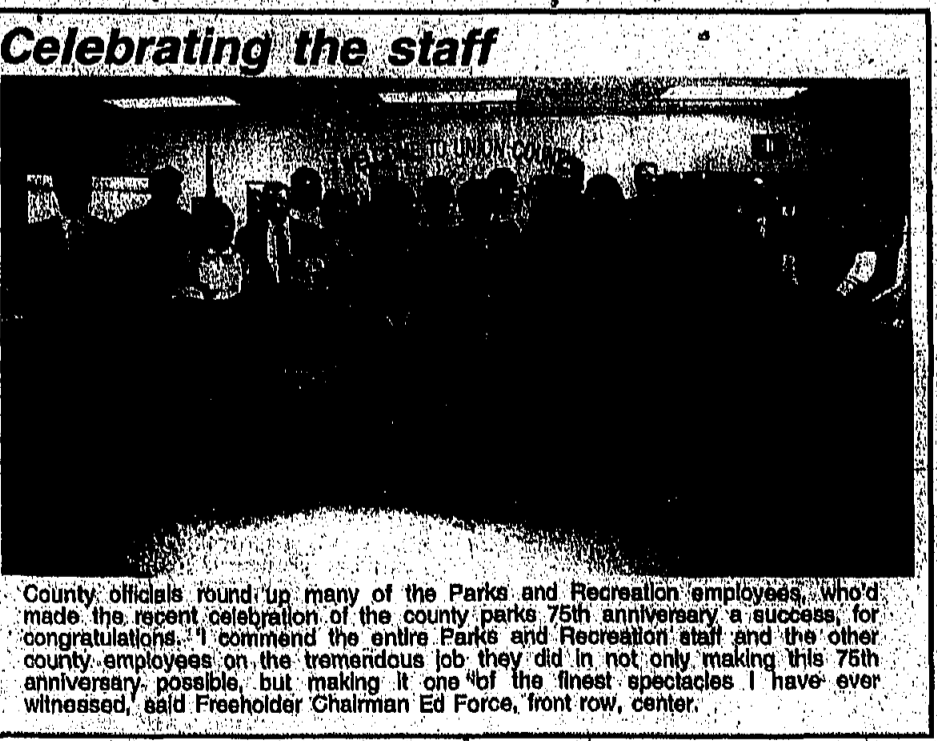

While some municipalities and counties remove dead deer within their borders, two New Jersey-based private contractors are under contract with NDOT to pick up dead deer statewide. Each vendor is responsible for one half of the state, divided roughly into northern and southern regions. Under the contract, the vendors may remove a carcass from public right-of-way within one day after receiving the report of the animal from local police.

NDOT officials said the vendors stressed the importance of providing complete and accurate information when reporting the location of a deer, vague or inaccurate descriptions of a location can lead to delays in removing a carcass, which can turn results in duplicate reporting, duplication of effort, and additional delays.

Dead deer have been removed by contract in New Jersey since 1991. Between October 1995 and October 1996, approximately 16,000 carcasses were picked up under the state contract.

December is the busiest month for deer pick-ups; due to seasonal mating. Those who see a dead deer should contact police and give directions to the location.

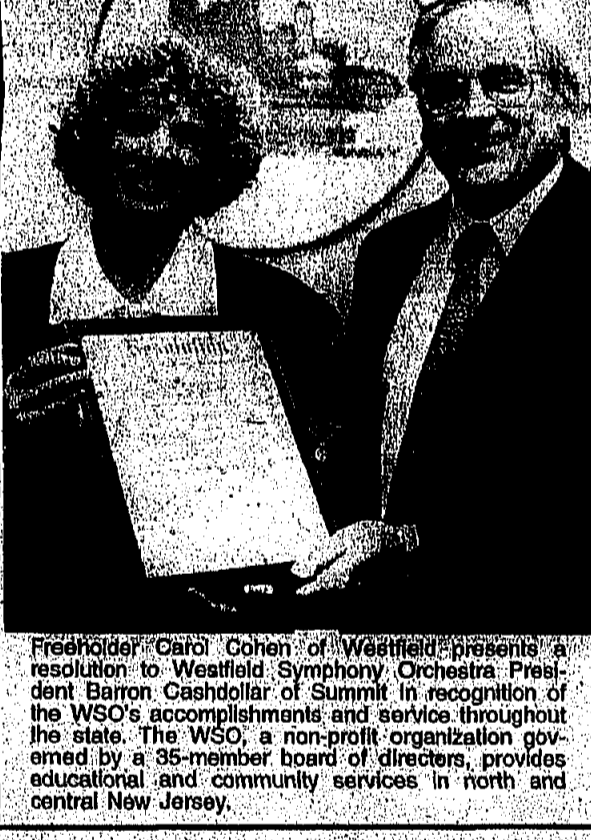

December is the busiest month for deer pick-ups; due to seasonal mating. Those who see a dead deer should contact police and give directions to the location.

Celebrating the staff

County officials round up many of the Parks and Recreation employees, who'd made the recent celebration of the county's 75th anniversary a success, for congratulations. From left, the entire Parks and Recreation staff and the other county employees on the tremendous job they did in not only making this 75th anniversary possible, but making it one of the finest spectacles I have ever witnessed, said Freeholder Chairman Ed Force, front row, center.

A symphony serving

Freeholder Carol Cohen of Westfield presents a resolution to Westfield Symphony Orchestra President Baron Cashbollar of Summit in recognition of the WSO's accomplishments and service throughout the state. The WSO, a non-profit organization governed by a 35-member board of directors, provides educational and community services in north and central New Jersey.

UCC gets $70K grant for computer training

Union County College has received a grant for $69,700 from the state Department of Education to conduct two, in-service courses in desktop publishing and use of multimedia technology.

One session will be held on March 18 at Union High School, a member of the Tech Prep Consortium. Teachers will be entitled on a first-come, first-served basis.

According to Ivan Rubin, Tech Prep project director, not only will teachers learn how to use desktop publishing equipment and multimedia technology during the program, but they also will learn to use of such skills into their particular subject areas to enhance classroom presentations.

Other activities resulting from the grant include the creation of two curriculum committees in desktop publishing and multimedia, each having eight teachers as members and one facilitator. Ten meetings are planned to design a curriculum in-house.

In addition, the grant enables per-semester counselor visits with individual high school students.

Also, a committee will be established to review all 115 agreements that have been formed between and among Tech Prep Consortium members. This committee will produce uniform lesson plans for the participating high schools and conduct visits to adult high schools.

Participating in the program are Union County College; Kean College; Lincoln Technical Institute; Rowan; Camden; Elizabeth; Hillside; Union County Regional; Linden; Plainfield; Rahway; Scotch Plains-Parsippany; Union, and Westfield public school districts.

Learning goals for students from such grade have been established, and the teacher instruction is designed to facilitate a holistic learning process.

This process would include the development within students of workplace readiness and applied technology skills, computer literacy, critical-thinking and problem-solving abilities, self-management skills, and understanding safety principles.

Author declares most recent work a personal favorite

Harlan Coben, noted mystery writer who has won the 1996 Anthony Award for his Myron Bolter Mystery Series, and was nominated for the Edgar Award, has had the third in his series, "Fade Away," published this month by Dell Publishing Co. Coben, who was raised in Livingston and West Orange, and whose family owned a business in Union for many years, admitted the other morning that of his five published mystery books, "Fade Away" is his favorite.

DINING REVIEW

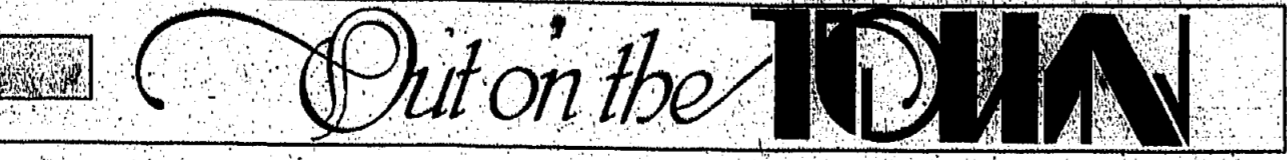

By Jacquie McCarthy, Associate Editor. Not sure what kind of food you are in the mood for tonight? Eliminate your indecision by dining at Coach & Four, conveniently located on North Avenue in Cranford, next to the train station. In addition to a pleasant atmosphere and reasonable prices, this restaurant offers a small taste of cuisine from many parts of the world.

COACH & FOUR

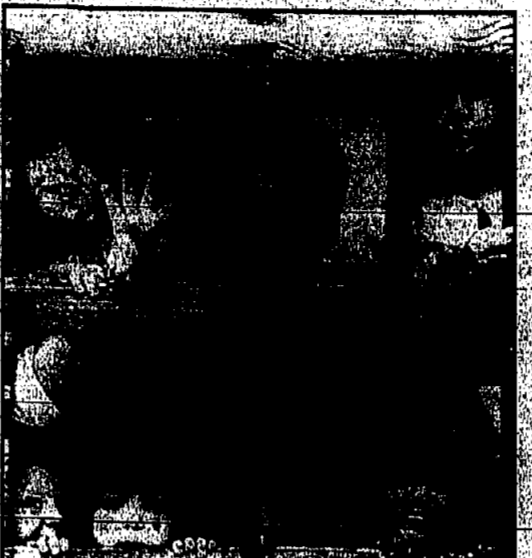

A little bit ethnic, a little bit American. The menu includes such European favorites as chicken fraisee, veal marsala, Czech salad and beef luncheon. If these choices don't appeal to your palate, you can select one of the Italian dishes, such as spaghetti or grilled veal. If the romantic atmosphere of the restaurant is what appeals to you, chateaubriand for two will complete the ambience.

We read about it in the media and see it in the streets - the number of people needing help in our society is growing, and public dollars earmarked for this purpose are disappearing.

United Way is the critical link between those who can help and those who need help. Partnering with community residents and 86 area nonprofit organizations, United Way of Union County ensures that people facing difficult personal crises receive the services they require.

Schering-Plough brings a successful year to a close

"1998 has been an exciting year for Schering-Plough, Pharmaceuticals," said Paul C. Csan, president of Schering-Plough Pharmaceuticals...

Csan highlighted the nononcologic anti-infective Claritin, or loratadine, line as the company's "star performer," sales of which rose 42 percent in this year's first half to total $584 million...

In his review of compounds-in-development, Csan said that 1998 spending on research and development is expected to approximate $720 million versus $657 million in 1997...

Schering-Plough expects to build upon its success in 1998 with continued growth in its major product lines...

Customers want homes to be more distinctive

If you had a million dollars or more to spend on your new, custom-built home, what features would you include? A gourmet kitchen? A home office? Here's what Coldwell Banker's New Home Division, working with the previous department which markets luxury homes, has found that their buyers are including in their custom built homes of a million dollars or more...
