VICTIM WAS MILLBURN
STREET DEPT. EMPLOYEE

Patrick Cronin, sixty-one years old, an employe in the Millburn Street Department, living at 208 Main street, Millburn, was struck Tuesday night on Main street, Millburn, near Meeker place, by an auto, driven by Donald A. Cain, twenty-one, 16 Bryant avenue, this township. He was taken to Overlook Hospital, Summit, where he died shortly after.

According to Cain, he was driving, twenty-five miles an hour, going from Springfield to Millburn Center on Main street, with the electric lights on Main street out, in a heavy wind and rainstorm, when he felt an impact against his car. He got out and found Cronin. He notified the police, and Officer Finan was sent to the scene. Cronin was rushed to the hospital.

Cain was held on a technical charge of manslaughter, and released in the custody of Chief of Police Runyon, to await the action of the Essex County Grand Jury.

The body was removed to Kane's morgue in Orange.

IMPOSES HEAVY FINE ON ILLEGAL DRIVER

Recorder Spinning Disposes of Several Motor Cases

Frank D. Wesley, 182 Westfield avenue, Clark Township, arrested by Officer Searles early Saturday morning on a charge of driving without a license, was fined $100 and costs, by Recorder Everett T. Spinning in police court Tuesday night. Wesley's license had been revoked some time ago.

Andrew Martin, U. S. S. Raleigh, who was arrested by Officer Sope Saturday night, charged with passing left of a headlight on Morris avenue, was given a suspended sentence.

Irwin, charged with a car, driven by William J. Katz, 407 North 1st street, Newark, Sunday night, and Officer Schneider, charged with a complaint made.

WHO'S WHO

Township Committeeman, Fred A. Brown, who resides at 28 Washington avenue, has a long record of public service to Springfield.

He has lived in this community for the past nine years and was elected to the Township Committee in 1924. At that time he was chairman of the law and franchise committee and served on the road and finance committees.

Now Mr. Brown is chairman of the police and road committees. When he first served on the police board there were only two members of that department, the late Chief Edward F. Rubin, and the present chief, Milton C. Runyon. Now the police force is composed of eight men including the chief.

Roads were comparatively few and unimportant in Mr. Brown's early administration. Today the road department is a highly important cog in the township's machinery and is carefully supervised. With the completion of the sanitary sewer system next year, it is expected that a more comprehensive road schedule will be effected.

The installation of the sanitary sewer which has come to be recognized as a great step forward in the township's development was also aided by Mr. Brown who served on the township's sanitary sewer committee of which Gabriel Larsen was chairman. Committeeman Frances Lech was also on this committee.

Mr. Brown is a member of Madison Lodge, River 49 of Elmhurst, Washfield Scott Council, Jr. O. U. A. M. and Camp 734 of the P. O. S. of A.

D. OF A. PLANS CIVIC MASQUERADE DANCE

A civic and social meeting in the council at 7:30 o'clock in the Municipal Building will precede the dance.

AUTO REGISTRATION BUREAU NAMED HERE

Lycos-Conley Co. Appointed
By State Department

Realizing the steady growth of Springfield, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, William Hill has appointed the Lycos-Conley Company, located at 277 Morris avenue, three doors west of the Post Office, as the Motor Vehicle Registration Bureau for the territory.

Beginning November 15, this new agency will be equipped to supply the people of Springfield and nearby communities, with automobiles, drivers, licenses, permits, transfers, etc. This service should prove a convenience for local residents, who hitherto were forced to travel either to Elizabethtown or Summit, where the agencies were overcrowded and considerable time lost.

DRUNKEN DRIVERS PAY $200 FINES

Main Street Man Is Arraigned
Before Spinning Sunday

Fred Pierson, 58, Main street, was fined $200 and his license was suspended for two years by Police Recorder Everett T. Spinning Sunday morning on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Pierson collided with a car driven by Frank C. Archer, 8 Oakdale street, Maplewood, on Morris avenue Saturday night. Archer made a complaint against Pierson, and Patrolman Stiles took him to headquarters where he was pronounced drunk by Dr. Dengler.

Charged with drunken driving, Edward Helmstender, 67 Wilber street, Belleville, was fined $200 and costs, and his license revoked for two years, by Recorder Spinning Sunday night.

Helmstender was driving along Michel avenue, Sunday at 6:15 P. M. when he collided with a car driven by Miss Ada Stearns, 63 Hillside avenue, Newark. Helmstender's brother-in-law, James W. Grogan, living at the same address in Belleville, was hurled against the windshield of the car and was badly injured, suffering lacerations on the throat and face, and a considerable loss of blood. He was taken to Overlook Hospital in Summit.

Patrolman Nelson C. Stiles took Helmstender to headquarters, where he was pronounced drunk by Dr. Dengler.

POLICE AND FIREMEN RESCUE SMALL BOY

Three-Year-Old Had Impoverished
Self in Bath Room

A three-year-old boy locked himself in the bathroom of his home at 68 Tooker avenue Monday afternoon and was rescued by members of the police and fire departments three hours later.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon, his mother, Mrs. Cummings, discovered him in the bathroom, with the latch locked on the inside. He could not open the door. She tried for several hours to gain entrance, conversing with him all the time. Then she heard up sound within and fearing for the safety of the child, she summoned the police.

Officer Nelson D. Stiles was assigned to the case. Not finding a ladder available, he called volunteer firemen John King, Edward Townley and Thomas Hankins. The four set up a ladder leading to the room, and forced their way in. There they found the boy safe, sleeping on the floor.

The losing team must give dinner to the winners. The winning team consisted of Robert S. Bunnell, captain; A. H. Boss, Charles H. Huff, Andrew Wilson, Dr. W. G. Huff, Frank E. Meisel, Fred K. ### House to House Canvass to Be Supplemented By Groups of Girls On Corners

CHAPTER ACHIEVES
NOTABLE RESULTS

With the approach of Armistice Day, plans are being formulated by the Springfield Branch of the Newark Chapter of the American Red Cross, for the annual roll call. From the funds of the branch there has been supported during the past year a service which has filled a need previously unprovided in the township, and which becomes increasingly important with the growth of the population. With the co-operation of the Neighborhood Association of Millburn, a visiting nurse service was established, and the success of the service, and the increasing use which is made of it have been very gratifying.

The nurses have been under the supervision of Miss Edith Granger, head of the Visiting Nurse Association of the Oranges, who has been engaged by the Millburn Neighborhood Association, to take charge. They have been without exception of the highest calibre, and through their interest, problems affecting the welfare of the families visited by them have been brought to the attention of the Red Cross nursing committee. Social service work has therefore become a corollary of the nursing service, and has taken on an ever widening scope. Miss Florence Gaudenier, school nurse, Mrs. Carrie Hull, social worker at the Millburn Neighborhood House, the township officials, county institutions and county welfare workers, have all been appealed to and have co-operated in working out solutions of the problems presented.

Such problems are as varied and diverse as human nature is, and with the assistance and advice of trained workers, the Red Cross committee of volunteers is rendering an important service, valuable not only to those individuals who are personally benefited, but also to the taxpayers of this township.

Every enlightened community is now seeking through some agency, to offer its people such a service. The visiting nurse has become one of the greatest factors in health conservation in this country. Statistics show that 22 per cent of the families of the United States are living on an income averaging $2,000 a year. It is evident that the great majority of people can ill afford the heavy expense of full-time nursing, in illness, and that the cost of hospital service is also beyond their means. The cost of the nurse's visit is $1.00. A large part of this fee, as the patient can afford, is collected by the nurse, but the same service is given to those who are unable to pay anything. Since the Springfield Red Cross entered into the arrangement with the Neighborhood Association, the free nursing service which is offered by the Millburn N. H. has been included in the Red Cross service, and the visits made to patients.

Dr. William M. Gilbert, professor of Home Missions in Drew University, spoke on the subject, "The Christian Church in a Changing Age." Dr. Gilbert emphasized the fact that changing conditions make family worship almost impossible. Although not approving the idea of renting pews, Dr. Gilbert nevertheless declared families should attend services, and sit together in the church.

It is expected that the "Family Pew Service," originated by the pastor, Rev. William J. Reed, will be an annual affair.

The Junior Epworth League will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Miss Alice Bell, superintendent, will be in charge. Plans for a Halloween party will be made.

ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL PLANS ARE BEING DRAFTED BY LOCAL BRANCH

The number of indigent patients, for whose nursing the Red Cross has paid in whole or in part, has been large and the balance in the treasury has been considerably depleted. The executive committee has been constrained during the past year, to forego the annual contribution for Christmas bags to be sent to the soldiers in the Canal Zone. No appeal has been made in this section during the past year for disaster relief, and for that reason, and because emphasis is being placed on the local service rendered by the branch, it is hoped that the coming roll call will exceed any heretofore held here since war time.

The house to house canvass will be supplemented this year by two groups of young girls, who will be stationed on Saturday afternoon, November 9th, at two central points one near the post office, and the other on Morris avenue, near Baltusrol Way. The girls will wear the well known Red Cross apron and kerchief, and each group will have the assistance of an older roll call worker. Membership is $1.00, and each person joining will receive a receipt, badge button, and window pasters. The house to house canvass will begin on Monday November 11, Armistice Day, and will continue until November 30. Announcement will be made next week of the groups of roll call workers. Mrs. Paul Prince, of South Springfield avenue, and Mrs. A. Palmer Brill, of Keeler street, are co-chairmen of the nursing committee, with Mrs. Charles D. Horster, chairman of the branch, member ex-officio. Mrs. Horster is also chairman of the roll call.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF SPRINGFIELD LIONS CLUB

Although only four years old, the Springfield Lions Club by its civic achievements has made itself felt in the growing development of the township.

The recent decision of the club to place signs at all entrances and exits of the township as a guide to passing motorists is only one of the many activities planned and executed by the Lions.

During its early organization in 1925 the club took steps to improve the collection of garbage. The listing of Springfield separately in the telephone directory is due to the efforts of the club. Previous to that time Springfield was classified with Millburn in the directory.

Now the club has announced a policy of having prominent speakers at its regular business luncheon meetings each Friday at the Villegianti Inn. Besides bringing a message of importance to the members, these speakers will become acquainted with Springfield and the possibilities here.

The primary aim of all Lions Club, however, is charity relief work and in this respect the Springfield Club has kept pace with her brother organizations. The local group has donated its share toward the upkeep of the Arthur Home for Blind Babies in Summit.

Believing that charity also begins at home, the needy of Springfield have been provided for with no discrimination shown for color, race or creed.

The personnel of the club is composed of the leading business and professional men of the township who have the best interests of Springfield at heart.

Under the capable leadership of President Charles Huff who is also president of the Springfield Business Men's Association, the Lions' roar is echoed in an improved township.

The club is to be given credit for its civic welfare work and we hope that the Lions will realize that their reward lies not only in the satisfaction of having accomplished their work well, but in a realization of the greater tasks and problems which await them in helping to build a better Springfield.

AS A WOMAN THINKS

We recently took part in a discussion in which several women set forth their views and opinions as to the value of cooking and sewing lessons in public schools. As in all similar discussions, there were arguments pro and con. Of course, there are some people who still hark back to the old days when the three R's were deemed the only important things in the curriculum, and who are set in the belief that all extra activities which are now incorporated in the pupil's school life are useless fads, extravagant folderols, eating up the taxpayers' money. Physical training, manual training, music, cooking, sewing, health supervision, the school nurse—all these things cost money. Everything worth while costs money, and there is of course no doubt that the expenses of running our schools makes up a great part of the tax budget. But there are things which cost money, and which are yet impossible of being valued in terms of dollars and cents. We have delegated so many tasks to the teachers, so much of the shaping of the mind and habits of our youngsters, manners, morals, even the decencies of living. Nothing is of greater importance than the training and fitting of children for the business of life, for if people are the nation, then children are the coming nation. Under the old school systems, there was a narrow mold into which the pupil was supposed to fit—there was no room for individuality. There was no recognition of the needs of the "different" child, no vocational guidance, no extra-curricular background to throw into relief the aptitude of the pupil for work done with the hands.

We are fortunate in having a school board whose members are imbued with one purpose—to provide good teachers, good schools, good equipment at a reasonable cost; and a progressive, forward-looking supervising principal working with the board to that end. It is not easy to attract and hold good teachers against the lure of higher salaries in the cities; it takes work, perseverance and business acumen to keep down the cost of equipment, supplies, repair bills, etc. We have heard nice things said about our teaching staff by teachers in other systems. There is harmony and good will and co-operation among them, and between them and their director. The good effect of this spirit in our schools is incalculable, and its benefit to the pupils is apparent.

We have become so accustomed to the attentions of our school nurse, the service offered in the dental clinic, and the campaigns for immunization against disease, inaugurated by our health director, that we take these things for granted, but the fact is that the work done here for health conservation is on a par with that in the most progressive communities. And if there is a more conscientious, more devoted, more efficient, kinder school nurse to be found than the nurse we receive,

RAMBLING AROUND SPRINGFIELD

Election time will soon be here—campaigns have been planned—and the ladies are doing their bit, too, with benefit card parties and other social affairs to encourage the women to do their share at the polls—each year more women are voting than ever before—last night the card party at Brookside building given by the Women's Auxiliary of the Springfield Republican Club turned out to be a success.

Many attended the civic and masquerade ball given last week by the local Junior Order Council. Tonight the Parade of Battle Hill Council, No. 17, Daughters of America, will hold a masquerade ball at the Municipal Building, and it is expected more will attend than at the affair the week previous. Sisters and wives, we know, can do more than husbands and brothers.

Armistice Day will mean peace to many, but to the directors of the Baltusrol B. and L. it will mean which team succeeded in bringing in the most new members. The Baltusrol B. and L. is having a drive on for securing new members and the second series of the association will be opened November 11. The teams are led by Edward A. Conley and Herman Shack, May the best team win!

Sewer construction began on Morris avenue last week and many persons, including children and adults, delighted in watching the giant tractor in action. It digs the dirt and carries it to the side of the pavement. And the contractors are thoughtful enough to see that no one may go too near the edge and also see that it is possible for passers-by to walk on the sidewalk, instead of going out in the street.

A greater attendance is noticed at the weekly meeting of the Lions—due perhaps to the fact that prominent speakers talk at each meeting. If the committee on arrangements for speakers, consisting of Rev. Dr. William I. Reed, Louis J. Wiman, Joe Go-lightly, and Richard Bunnell, are as successful in the future as they have been in the past, securing Newman D. Wall, of Orange, noted mountain climber and headmaster of Carteret Academy, and Dr. William M. Gilbert, professor of home missions, in Drew University to deliver short talks, it illeged to have had for some years, we should like to be shown. All of which goes to show that since Thanksgiving Day is approaching, it behooves us to count our school blessings. We have some lacks—such as a high school for instance, but we are already visualizing that, and it will materialize in due time.

And when there is some difficulty to be smoothed out, some unsatisfactory condition which concerns a child of ours, let us remember that the spirit in which we approach the teacher makes all the difference in the world as to the working out of the problem.

The fact that teachers are supposed to retain their poise in the face of the daily onslaught on their nerves, of classes of thirty to forty-five active children, must not lead us to assume that they are so super-human as to accept cheerfully, undeserved, parental criticism and fault-finding. They appreciate intelligent co-operation, and it is a great pity that due to the indifference of many parents, this co-operation is so often withheld.

will be impossible to determine the number of members present at each meeting as 100 per cent.

The Springfield quintet is coming to the front in the Lackawanna Bowling League. Last week they defeated the Union bowlers, in three games.

The local branch of the International Sunshine Society, who distribute sunshine throughout Springfield to the needy at all times of the year are to run a theatre benefit in the Millburn theatre October 30 and 31. However, the society does not benefit from the sale of tickets at the box office, therefore it is requested that tickets be purchased from Mrs. Harold C. Brill or Mrs. William Stoeckle, who are in charge of the affair, or from any of the members. A splendid performance is guaranteed with Pauline Frederick in "Evidence."

Mrs. Belle Smith, postmistress, reports that more money orders are being issued each month than ever before. The Post Office Department rates a post office on its sale of money orders and stamps. Every local resident should buy his stamps and money orders here in Springfield. A full-time clerk will be added to the force soon. Examinations were held recently, and results will be known in a month or two.

The need for an outlet for traffic was shown Sunday when cars were pouring into Morris avenue and Seven Bridge road from Plainfield, Summit, Millburn, Union and Van Hook. The officers on duty handled the situation as good as can be expected, but nevertheless, they are being overtaxed in their duty. It is necessary that the road to relieve traffic be built very soon.

The traffic court will be moved soon to the second floor of the Municipal building, where cases may be handled more efficiently, and without the inconvenience caused when court is held in Police Headquarters.

It is certainly getting bad when motorists ride with compasses in their hand and a bottle on their hip, but what is worse than an individual, clothes stuffed with leaves and apples and potatoes in his pockets and a letter in his hand addressed to President Hoover? Ask Patrolman Nelson C. Stiles, he knows.

NOTED for leadership in financial world, J. P. Morgan (above) has been elected president of the Harvard Alumni Association.

HEART AND SOUL MUST GO INTO WORK TO MAKE ANY MAN'S LIFE WORTH WHILE

WORK is one of Heaven's most precious gifts.

Like love, it is capable of exalting one to the skies. Like love, also, it may plunge one into the depths of despair.

The great object of every one should be so to adjust himself to his work that each day will be filled with the sheer enjoyment of accomplishment.

This is largely a matter of attitude. Of mental and physical attitude.

Work should be regarded as an exuberant privilege. A privilege to participate in one of the most entrancing of all games.

THERE are those who regard their work as a drudgery. To whom life in consequence seems dull and depressing. For all such day succeeds day in an endless treadmill of dreary routine.

It is needless to point out that in such cases something is wrong. Perhaps the trouble is with the body, poorly adapted to meet the stress of life.

The remedy in such cases is obvious—to search for and to find health, as one would search for and discover a precious gem. For of all precious jewels, that of abounding health brings the most enduring satisfaction. And without health the most interesting work on earth will seem drab and unimportant.

TO WORK is the lot of all men.

Whether he wishes to do so or not, every person in civilized society is called upon to justify his existence by doing something the world considers worth while.

This the average man accomplishes through what he calls his job. Those who think themselves better than the average talk about their "positions." Those who feel they are still higher in the social scale pretend to look down on all workers from their empyrean of make-believe leisure.

For leisure in such circumstances is make-believe. And people who have nothing to do except to avoid all semblance of work are to be pitied.

They spend their days—or often their nights—at futile efforts to amuse themselves to avoid being bored to death.

They pretend to play. In reality they make work out of their play. Work that adds nothing to their own satisfaction and still less to the welfare of the world.

Their desperate effort to make leisure satisfy their natural appetite for work makes them objects of pity.

WORK, and nothing but real work, brings real satisfaction. It gives a glow to life and a thrill to living that nothing else can give.

Of all the happy men in the world, those who have jobs that they love to do are the happiest.

Such persons literally sing at their tasks, because to them every day's occupation is a thrilling diversion.

All those who do not rise in the morning with a spirit of joyous anticipation of going to their work need to consider their shortcomings with a view of correcting conditions.

The world is full of men who complain about their jobs. Who permit drudgery to press them down. Who lose out in the game of life.

Dissatisfaction is no serious offense.

But dissatisfaction that does not lead to a healthy change is fatal.

If it were not for that supreme dissatisfaction with existing conditions which is known as ambition, there would be little advance for any one.

Because he was dissatisfied Premier MacDonald of England lifted himself out of the rut of depressing work as a laborer on an English farm.

But while farm work seemed intolerable to MacDonald, to others life can hold no greater satisfaction than farm work.

Because he loved the growing things of the farm, Luther Burbank became an eminent naturalist. Because he was immensely interested in the development of mechanics as applied to farm work, Cyrus McCormick became an eminent inventor and business genius.

There is opportunity, in other words, for developing out of a seemingly dull job the most brilliant success.

The problem for every one is to find the particular job for which he is best adapted and then to put heart and soul into that job. To all such success is assured, for success consists 90 per cent. of doing work that gives one that almost indefinable, intoxicating thrill of knowledge that he has performed a task to the very best of his ability.
