ENGINEER REPORTS SANITARY SEWER IS AHEAD SCHEDULE

Flaherty Company 62 Percent
Finished; Miller Will Be Done About January 1

NEWS OF MEETING OF TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE

Work on the sanitary sewer installation is now a month ahead of schedule according to the report presented to the Township Committee at its regular meeting Wednesday night by C. S. McNulty, resident engineer.

Mr. McNulty said that the H. A. Flaherty Company which is working on the main contract, laying about 30 miles of sewer, has already completed 62 percent of the installation. George Miller who is installing the local trunk sewer expects to complete his work by the first of the year. Roy C. Collins, county engineer, wrote requesting the township to draw up an ordinance concerning the improving of Morris avenue from the Farmer's Hotel to the Summit line. Mr. Collins stated that a tentative deed had been drawn up by which the abutting property owners agreed to deed the land needed to make a 70-foot width in return for being exempted from assessments for gas, water and sewer and cost of curbs.

Comment was made by the committee that such a step would not prove beneficial to the property owners and would increase traffic congestion. A hearing will be held on Monday, November 25 when property owners affected will be heard.

Township Clerk Treat was instructed to write to the Board of Freeholders requesting them to construct a bridge over Billingsworth's Creek at Henshaw avenue.

Camp 209, P. O. S. A., sent in data for a proposed ordinance for a flag code. The matter was referred to the township attorney.

E. R. Wilson, Colonial terrace, was granted a request for adjustment of the terrain by his property made necessary by the sewer excavations.

Officials of the township will leave Saturday evening by bus from in front of the Brookside Building to attend a theatre and supper party to be given by Thomas P. Bove, consulting engineer, in New York City.

DRUNKEN DRIVING CASES POSTPONED

The case of Raymond Morton, this township, charged with drunken driving; Walter Robinson, of 129 Richfield terrace, Newark, also charged with drunken driving; and Gordon J. Birtan, 12 Peconic avenue, West Orange also arrested on a charge of operating a car under the influence of liquor were all postponed Thursday evening by Recorder Everett T. Spang in police court until next week, which will be held for the first time on Monday.

Who's Who In Springfield

Peter H. Meisel, director of the Board of Freeholders for 7 years and local representative on that body for 25 years, is expected to resign from his post shortly. Although no definite announcement has been made by Mr. Meisel it is believed he will accept the position of county purchasing agent and leave the freeholdership. In such an event his successor will be chosen by the Springfield Township Committee. Mr. Meisel who is 59 years old, has resided here practically all of his life after leaving Germany when about one year old. He took up carpentry at the age of 18 working for S. R. Mullen of Summit who afterwards became a member of the Board of Freeholders. At one time Mr. Mullen was one of the oldest members of the State Society of the Sons of American Revolution.

Soon after, Mr. Meisel became president of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Old First Presbyterian Church of Springfield about the time the Rev. William Hop-pough, present tax collector, was minister.

In reminiscing of the Springfield of long ago, Mr. Meisel recalls when the school he attended and which housed also the town hall on Academy lane was burned about forty years ago. He was also present at the planting of the tree at Academy lane and Main street about this time which commemorated the memory of a Springfield soldier who died in action during the Revolutionary War. The tree is still standing.

His first public position was that of constable. After that he became a member of the newly formed Sinking Fund Commission about thirty years ago. Mr. Meisel served on the committee which drew up the franchise for the Morris Avenue trolley system two years later, in the days when Old Dobbin supplied the literal "horse power."

As Springfield grew a new school became necessary. Mr. Meisel was an ardent supporter of a wider educational program and although the measure for a new school was defeated several times, Mr. Meisel and his persistent supporters succeeded in having it passed. The school was named James Caldwell in honor of the Revolutionary patriot.

In 1904 Mr. Meisel was elected to the Board of Chosen Freeholders. While on that body he was instrumental in the development of the present Flemmer avenue with the aid of Carl Flemmer. When the problem of making Morris avenue a State road was brought up, he represented Springfield in a conference with the State Highway Commission and his efforts for the township were successful.

Other important accomplishments of Mr. Meisel on the board, indicated briefly, are as follows: the development of a Model avenue which was named in his honor; changing of the local law committee and a number of that nature; for 20 years chairing the State flag; legislation affecting the county and in the county; the local flag; and on the 10th of October the Police

PETER H. MEISEL

County Park Commission. As director of the board he appoints members of the Shade Tree and Mosquito Commissions and the Board of Managers of Bonnie Burn Sanitarium.

Mr. Meisel is one of the few remaining charter members of the State Freeholders' Association of which he was once vice-president. Other important positions now occupied by Mr. Meisel are: director of the Millburn Building and Loan Association, of the Jersey Mortgage and Title Guaranty Company of Elizabeth, a member of the Passaic Valley Flood Commission appointed by Governor Larson last spring; Fraternal organizations of which he is a member are: Knights Templars, Summit; Order of Shrine of Newark, Salam Temple. He is an honorary member of the Springfield Lions Club and a member of the Presbyterian Church of Springfield.

Mr. Meisel takes this opportunity of publicly thanking his many supporters for their encouragement and also the county municipalities and officials which cooperated with him in effecting public improvements.

UNDERWRITER TALKS AT LIONS MEETING

Alfred C. Trindle, of the township, spoke Friday afternoon at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions Club on the important subject, "State Compulsory Insurance Law," which goes into effect today. Mr. Trindle, who is chief underwriter for the Aetna Casualty and Surety Company of Newark, answered the questions of members.

President Charles H. Huff conducted the meeting. Three visitors and fifteen members were present. The visitors included James J. Young, Hemersty, of Westfield, and Lion A. F. Keshen, of Union.

President Huff appointed Dr. William G. Huff and Dr. S. O. Burns to serve as delegates from Springfield to attend the State-wide conference to be held in Newark November 29, when State officials, including the Governor, are expected to attend.

POLICEMEN HEAR DILL

Several members of the local police department attended the lecture given by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles William T. Dill in Maplewood Wednesday afternoon. The lecture, which was the first of the season, was sponsored by the Police Chiefs' Association of New Jersey.

HUNTERS SHOOT TOO CLOSE TO HOUSES

Complaints are being sent to the police department that hunters are shooting game too close to houses. There is a township ordinance which prohibits persons from hunting "within 500 feet of a house, chicken coop or any inhabited area." The police have given out warnings to offenders, but if the practice continues, it may be deemed necessary for the Township Committee to take action and prohibit hunting within township limits.

TRAFFIC REPORT STUDY PRESENTED

Business Men's Association Discusses Problems

Thirty-five members were present at the meeting of the Springfield Business Men's Association Friday evening in the Lions Club rooms in the Brookside building. The committee, appointed by President Huff at the second meeting of the association September 24, consisting of Dr. Watson B. Morris, chairman, assisted by Carl H. Flemmer, Robert S. Bunnell, Fred A. Brown, chairman of the township road department, and Dr. William G. Huff, with Director of Union County Board of Freeholders Peter H. Meisel, serving in an ex-officio capacity, gave its report on how to solve the vital problem of traffic congestion in the township. The report was passed upon and a recommendation made that it be read to the township committee at its meeting, which was held Wednesday night, in the Municipal building. Then an open discussion was held on different questions pertaining to the report. The report will be found in the columns of this paper.

D. A. R. NOMINATES, MAKES MANY PLANS

The bi-monthly meeting of Pride of Battle Hill Council No. 17, Daughters of America, was held in the Municipal Building Friday evening.

The first nomination of officers took place and arrangements were completed for the dance to be held Friday evening of next week in the Municipal building at 8.30 o'clock. Mrs. William Buetell, chairman of the entertainment committee, is in charge. Music will be furnished by Penn's Pennsylvanians. A short business meeting will precede the dance.

The council will entertain the State Councilor, Mrs. Sadie Ludlow of Jersey City, and her staff, and Miss Sarah Johnson, of Newark, the national councilor at the first meeting of next month, December 13. Past State Councilor Anna Chestnut, who instituted Pride of Battle Hill Council June 17, 1927, will also be present.

Council Deputy Josephine Murray is making plans for a public installation of officers in the Municipal building at the first meeting of the new year, January 30.

TOWNSHIP BOARD HEARS REPORT ON TRAFFIC SURVEY

Recommendations of Business
Men's Association To Be Given To State

MAPS OF PROPOSED HIGHWAYS SHOWN

Following the reading of a report by Dr. Watson B. Morris, representing the Springfield Business Men's Association, on the causes of traffic congestion here and recommended methods of relief, the Township Committee at its regular monthly meeting Wednesday night decided to take up these suggestions with the State Highway Commission. Maps of the proposed new roads were shown. Robert Bunnell, collaborating Police Chief, Rmynon took the maps for study.

Dr. Norris stressed the immediate importance of this subject since he said it was understood that the state is contemplating traffic changes here and that it would be advisable to wait on the State board immediately.

The report which is addressed to the Springfield Business Men's Association, and which was presented at their regular meeting last Friday, follows:

Your committee appointed to study traffic conditions in Springfield and to recommend methods for relief of the present congestion in and around the business center of Springfield respectfully report as follows:

Most of the congestion occurs on Morris avenue between the Seven Bridge road and Mountain or Westfield avenues. The balance of Morris avenue through Springfield is also heavily congested with traffic, but the worst condition seems to prevail in the above section. Morris avenue is a State Highway and the traffic, although very bad, before this road was improved by the State has since that time grown rapidly worse. At the present time the traffic congestion on this road in Springfield Center has reached such a candidate that immediate action is necessary in the opinion of your committee to relieve the situation.

Maps have been prepared showing a large portion of the township together with most of the buildings in this area upon which maps your committee has shown proposed changes in present street widths, and alignments and also new streets and highways, which it is thought will relieve the present congestion if carried out.

Your committee believes that an additional width of eight feet between curbs could be secured through Springfield Center along Morris avenue without the re-

Hanlon, 559 Valley road, West Orange, reported to the police department Monday morning, that while backing up his black truck, he rammed into the traffic booth at Morris avenue and Main streets and disabled the number light. The bell was rung and the time was given. The driver was arrested and the truck was towed to the police station.

To the Tune of Wedding Bells

ALFAR BOUND—Frieda Mierse, 1927 15-year-old Atlantic City beauty prize winner and runner-up for Miss America, will be married to William Droege on Monday, at the Lutheran Church, Flushing, N. Y., her home town.

Remarries Former Hubby

THE THEATRICAL WORLD sat up and took notice over the announcement that the Hart and Kennedy, Hartan, her former husband, and the third time they have embarked on matrimony together. It will be the second time they have embarked on matrimony together. She said "I do," and the third ceremony for the movie star, and the fourth time she will take another trip to the altar. The wedding was held at the home of the bride's mother, and the bride and groom were accompanied by a large party of friends.

Rich and Poor Mourn at Riordan Bier

JAMES J. RIORDAN, president of the County Trust Company of New York, affectionately called Jim by his thousands of friends and admirers in all walks of life, was laid at rest in Calvary Cemetery. No more popular man ever rose from the ranks of clerks and truck drivers to that of millionaire president of one of the largest financial institutions in America than this friend of the lower west side, who never foresaw his old neighborhood when prosperity entered his life. A victim of his own hand, committing suicide in his home last Friday while in a mood of depression which followed heavy financial losses. Above picture shows the funeral cortege leaving the late bank president's home. Many men prominent in all walks of life acted as pallbearers.

Manslaughter Ostracized

MRS. ALEXANDER PANTAGES escaped a prison term for manslaughter by pledging not to drink liquor during the next ten years. She was placed on probation for that period by Superior Court Judge Carlos R. Hardy.

The manslaughter conviction grew out of a motor accident. Mrs. Pantages, homeward bound after attending a bridge party at which drinks were served in abundance, drove her car into a little machine loaded with a Japanese family.

Mrs. Pantages is recuperating in her luxurious home from a nervous illness brought about by the blow of her conviction and aggravated by the verdict against her husband.

Strive for Ideal Life

PREPARING way for Raymond Duncan, leader of group dedicated to Greek ideals of living. Victoire Ivanow Bertrand, society's secretary, arrived in United States from Europe. Picture shows her in costume similar to ones worn by all members of the group. Duncan is brother of the late Leonard Duncan, noted dancer. (New York Graphic Photo)

WITH THE VAST wealth he garnered gambling, Rothstein invested in realty, doubled his fortune and became playboy in the night clubs and cabarets.

A QUARREL WITH one of his partners over a $100,000 bet led to his being tagged in an underworld.

WENT AS EARLY, even on his first day, Rothstein would not reveal to anyone his whereabouts who had just been tagged as the "gamblers' pal" in the underworld.

LIMITATIONS OF A MUNICIPALITY

We live through political subdivisions, townships, cities, counties, states, nations. We secure benefits from these associations, and also suffer some disadvantages. The benefits arise from co-operation, the fact that there is a certain something created by joint action of people, which makes it greater and more effectual than the sum of their separate efforts. The disadvantages come from limitation of action, some surrender of individuality and freedom, which are unavoidable in community living. That is the price each person pays. The benefits are greater than the disadvantages. If that were not so, communities would disappear. But it is a sensible course to strive always to retain the benefits and lessen the disadvantages.

Springfield Township is in this category. Its citizens share in the benefits which have come through progress in sewers, streets and civic improvements that could result in no other way than by municipal action. And Springfield also suffers from some of the limitations in political forms.

For instance, the theory of our government is that each municipality is a complete and authoritative entity by itself. The areas are marked on maps. But the physical conformation of the ground takes no thought of these legislatively made maps. Nature pays no attention to human statutes. In the two great substantive utilities, water and sewage, political maps become inadequate. Topographical maps, the actual lay of the land, these are the things that count.

Sewage can only be handled by leading into a natural drainage basin. These drainage basins rarely lie within the boundaries of the interested town. They comprise many towns and must lead through probably still other towns to tide-water. The result is that if a town does not happen to be situated at tidewater, it cannot act alone. It must go through a somewhat complicated, costly and cumbersome arrangement with other townships. And they in turn may have to treat with and sometimes strive to dispel the hostility of a tide-water town. We have examples of this procedure in the Rahway Valley Joint Meeting of which Springfield is a part, and which has been a matter of years in the making, and has had to overcome the discordances of differing municipal situations.

What applies to sewerage, is true of water. That indispensable commodity must be secured where it happens to be found. And very seldom can each city find what it needs within the borders of its own political lines. As a result we see joint action on water subjects delayed and endangered by long and difficult negotiations that have to be carried on by different cities, possessing different viewpoints and different needs.

Sewerage is not something that can be exclusively handled within a town's borders, like a street, or fire department. It extends beyond single political boundary lines. And water likewise is something that cannot be confined in control and discussion to separate municipalities. These are subjects that transcend local government. They will ultimately have to be handled by agencies more comprehensive than local government.

Rambling Around

Hunting season opened Monday, and as a result many persons about town will be out in the open. Care should be exercised that matches be extinguished before being thrown away and fires put out before leaving hunting grounds. This is the time of the year the fire department is called frequently to brush fires, and the department's duties could be lessened if hunters were a bit more careful.

Police court was held Tuesday in new quarters, on the second floor of the Municipal Building. Frank E. Meisel built the platform. This presents a baffling situation. If Frank should ever be brought before Police Recorder Everett T. Spinning (which we doubt), at least he can say he is resting on his own support.

Mrs. Belle Smith, post-mistress, reports that more money orders are being sold each month than ever before, and for the benefit of those who were ignorant of the fact, the local post office was established on July 1 as a second-class bureau. This is quite an achievement for a township of this size, since Union, with a population nearly three times greater, enjoys no better record. And by the way, the local office surpasses the business of the Union office in registered letters.

How many persons know that Charles Pinkava was the first volunteer fireman to pull a hose wagon in this township to a fire by motor? Back in 1915, when an alarm was sent out by the Union fire department, he got out the tow-car from the garage, which he and his brother owned and motored to the nearby town. This and many other interesting facts will be presented in the complete history of the Springfield Volunteer Fire Department, which is being compiled now and will appear soon in these columns. And by the way, Mr. Pinkava is also the first paid fireman in the department. Last week the Township Committee appointed him to his new position, where he is at his post twelve hours a day—and it is said that more additions will be made before the spring, to keep in line with Springfield's rapid growth.

Beginning today, motorists may obtain registration licenses for the coming year, and one needn't go far. The Lyons-Conley Company, at 277 Morris avenue, three doors west of the post office, which was appointed recently by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles William E. Dill as the Motor Vehicle Bureau for this township, and nearby communities, is able to supply you with all your needs.

It has happened—it was predicted. After having selected the smallest member of the police force last week, somebody, always looking for trouble, suggested that the SUN pick the oldest member of the department. We may have been infringing upon the rights of the guardians-of-the-law when the smallest one was suggested but certainly the line is drawn when it comes to finding the most aged—why? Because competition is too keen. Without searching church records or family heritages, at least three patrolmen could be chosen as the most advanced in years. But let's not talk about that. It is promised that no further intimation of the subject will be made. (Whew! That's getting out of a tight situation!)

AS A WOMAN THINKS

There are two outstanding current events which practically every columnist is taking a whack at—the stock market crash and the change in women's fashions. Our own knowledge of the distinction between stock gambling and investing was acquired years ago, when, in our not-so-late teens, we began our business career as a confident and trembling stenographer. They call themselves secretaries now. The investments of our employer—a shrewd and able man, were mostly in real estate mortgages, but he did own some stock—and it was of superlative value. He bought it when it was low in price, but he believed in the future. He bought it because he could afford to buy it and not worry if he lost every penny of what he paid for it. It was Prudential Insurance Company stock, and it rose to enormous value; but the thought of selling it never occurred to him. Nor did the increase in value on that stock purchase tempt him to the purchase of other stocks offered to him by salesmen. In short, he was not a gambler, but an investor. It is probable that his heirs still hold the Prudential stock.

Will Rogers' definition of the Wall-street market, as told to him by Eddie Cantor, as a sieve in which the big fellows remain, while the small fellows fall thru the holes, was printed, ironically, on the same day when the news of the suicide of a wealthy New York financier, Riordan, broke. John J. Raskob, associated with Riordan and former Governor Smith in a New York City financial institution, is being blamed in some quarters, because of his article leading people to gamble in stocks published several months ago in the Ladies' Home Journal. It is certain that the effect of his article was to make many of his readers disatisfied with thrift as a means of becoming financially independent. Just pick out the right stock to buy, and sit back, and presto, in a few short years count yourself worth $80,000. As easy as that. Probably many speculators were born with the reading of that article.

Mr. Raskob could be shown that thrift can be made to pay well. Any person acquiring the building and loan habit, beginning with ten shares at twenty years of age, need not worry about financial income in old age. At 31 years he will have $2,000 from his matured shares. Investing this in a guaranteed mortgage bond, at 5-1-2 per cent interest, he receives $110 yearly income therefrom.

This income will pay almost half of the dues on twenty shares of new stock. The other half will be the $10 a month which he has been regularly saving from his earnings. By investing the amounts received for matured shares, as they are paid to him, and adding the interest from the investments to the $10 a month saved, he will at 53 years of age have $14,000, and at 64 have $39,000. All this on a saving of $10 a month, an amount which is less than most men spend for tobacco, slaves and haircuts.

This would be no hardship to any man except one earning an exceedingly small salary. The average wage earner could in addition, marry, acquire a home, and educate his children. It's merely a question of determination, and habit.

We have spread ourselves so on the subject of investments that our expression of views on fashions must be curtailed. We will say, however, that those of us who with the passing years have taken on more or less adipose tissue in the neighborhood of the diaphragm (a term which dear Dr. Brady abhors, insisting strenuously on using the good old English word of five letters beginning with B) look with panic at the fashion illustrations. The slim young things can get away with the new silhouette, but those with the spare tire effect bulging out at the top of the stays, as one writer cruelly puts it, are in for a bad time.

THE COCKEYED WORLD AT THE STRAND, SUMMIT

With the advent of talking pictures the world, judging by the many newspaper articles on the subject, seemed to have gone hysterical on the subject of accent.

One would almost be led to believe that every studio making talking pictures had posted a sign at the entrance, "Only English Spoken Here."

Raoul Walsh, who directed the ox Movietone all talking picture, "The Cock-Eyed World," which is to be shown at the Roth-Strand Summit, next Monday and Tuesday with his habit of doing the unconventional, knocked that theory into a cocked hat.

A score of players in the quite pretentious cast which brings this Stallings-Anderson story to the screen, were engaged chiefly because of their varied accents.

For example, the beautiful Lily Damita, "the fairest and most flaming flower from France" plays the role of "Elenita," daughter of a tropical inn keeper. Her French-Spanish blend of accents is a treat to the ear, even as her beauty blesses one's eye.

Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe, the "Flagg" and "Quirt" of "What Price Glory" fame, speak in the patois of the world travelling American Marine; Lelia Karnelly, a Russian girl with a load of that S. A., delivers her lines with a delicious natural accent, for she is an educated Russian, of a noble family.

The third girl of this beautiful trio is Jean Bary, who plays the role of "Fanny," a Coney Island girl, just a bit hardboiled and speaking in the true Coney Island patois. This beautiful blonde is American born and of a family whose forbears can trace their ancestry back through the centuries of Ireland's history.

Italy and the Italian accent has its representative in Joe Brown, a very excellent character actor. He's a real Italian and ably portrays a "wop" Marine "Brownie."

From the vaudeville stage to play "Jacobs," comes Joe Rochay, a Jewish boy; from pictures to play "O'Sullivan," comes "Curley" Dresden; while that former musical comedy and vaudeville star, El Brendel, is acclaimed the truest impersonator of a dumb Swede, interprets the role of "Olson."

All of which gives a real international flavor to this story of two virile red blooded leathernecks who love each other's sweeties and fight about them continuously.

The scenario was written by director Walsh, while Billy K. Wells is responsible for the sparkling dialog.

TRAFFIC REPORT STUDY PRESENTED

 removal of buildings and that such a widening is very desirable.
 The Township of Union has provided that Morris avenue, in Union, be widened from Union Center westerly to the Springfield Township line at the Rahway River. This widening could be continued from the Rahway River to the Seven Bridge Road.
 Also corners at all intersecting streets could be rounded off, making large intersections which would facilitate the flow of traffic.
 Future sewers in Morris avenue and this section could be laid in the sidewalk spaces and the pavement left without damage.
 At the intersection of Main street and Morris avenue a civic center could be constructed as shown on maps herewith, which in some opinion would materially relieve traffic congestion. This action should be taken up with the Board of Freeholders as county roads are affected in such a change.
 Your committee also recommends the construction of a by-pass road from Seven Bridge road to Morris avenue at Morrison avenue. This road to be located as shown on map and go through property of former School Green road north of Morris avenue. This road would carry practically all through traffic and relieve the situation very materially.
 In regard to the by-pass roads of this nature your committee wishes to call attention to recommendations of Engineer W. H. Sharp of Connecticut published in "American Highways," October, 1929, in which Engineer Sharp says:
 "Within villages and cities, through which a highway passes the local parking lot vehicles, operation of trolley lines, narrow and inadequate improved streets and construction, maintenance and police control of the highway route are under an independent jurisdiction. Local vehicle and pedestrian traffic add to the difficulty of free movement of

through traffic.
 It is a fallacy to believe that the benefit which accrues to a community from routing through traffic through the congested business section is at all commensurate with the cost of constructing and maintaining an adequate right of way, the danger and inconvenience to local vehicle and pedestrian traffic and the loss of local business.
 The loss of time and inconvenience caused to through traffic by its necessary passing through congested areas far exceeds any local convenience or benefit.
 Your committee is of the same opinion as Engineer Sharp and believes such a by-pass will practically solve the traffic problem in Springfield in connection with other recommendations herewith.
 Your committee also understands that the New Jersey State Highway Department favors carrying through heavily traveled routes around or outside of municipal centers and that there are many instances of this kind of planning on the new State Highway System now under construction.
 It has been suggested that the ultimate solution of the traffic in Springfield would be the construction of a grade separation of highways in Springfield Center. Your committee is opposed to this method of handling the situation as they do not believe such a project of this kind is warranted at the present time and that it is a long way in the future if ever needed.
 Your committee is of the opinion that the present situation requires attention and action now and that a by-pass road is the best solution of the problem. The construction of a by-pass road as outlined in the opinion of your committee would solve the traffic problem in Springfield for many years and that its cost at the present time would be worth while. Such a road would relieve the Township of Springfield of a large portion of the cost of traffic policing and regulating changes now necessary.
 Referring to the maps submitted herewith showing proposed changes and new constructions your committee submits these recommendations and have adopted a resolution as follows: Be it resolved: Be it resolved that all corners at streets intersecting Morris avenue between Seven Bridge Road and old Westfield avenue be rounded off wherever possible to provide larger intersections. Further be it

 RESOLVED that Morris avenue be widened 8 feet between curbs from Seven Bridge Road to Keeler street and to width recommended by Union township between Seven Bridge Road and Rahway River. Further be it
 RESOLVED that a by-pass road be constructed north of Morris avenue from Seven Bridge Road to Morris avenue at Morrison avenue to pass through property of former School Green and roughly parallel with Morris avenue in the location shown on the plan. Further be it
 RESOLVED that Main street traffic at Morris avenue be handled by the construction of a civic center approximately as shown on plan and that this matter be taken up with the Union County Board of Freeholders. Further be it
 RESOLVED that the widening of Morris avenue from Seven Bridge Road to Keeler street and from Seven Bridge Road to Rahway River be taken up by the Township Committee with the State Highway Department.
 Respectfully submitted,
 Dr. Watson B. Morris (chairman)
 Carl H. Flemer
 Robert S. Bunnell
 Fred A. Brown (chairman township rd. dept.)
 Dr. William G. Huff
