Cannon and Trundle G. O. P. Organization Candidates For Town Committee Post

Republican Club Endorses Slate At Meeting; Charles H. Huff Will Be Freeholder Candidate; County Committee Men and Women Are Selected

The Springfield Republican Club last Friday night at a meeting in the Lions Club Rooms voted 25 to 2 to accept the recommendations of the Council for Regular Republican candidates at the primary election May 19. The principal local offices to be filled have the following as nominees; for Freeholders, Charles H. Huff; and Township Committee, Charles S. Cannon and Alfred G. Trundle.

Nearly Unanimous

It being necessary, according to the provisions of the recently adopted constitution, for the club members to approve of the Council's choice, the Council's report was submitted for endorsement to the general membership, and with the exception of two dissenting votes, was accepted. Voting was by ballot.

The following were slated for the Republican County Committee, first district, John Courtney and Mrs. Lura B. Anderson; second district, Lee S. Hieby and Mrs. Robert D. Trent; and third district, Fred O. French and Mrs. Joseph A. Oelling.

Resume of Candidates

Having served in township affairs for many years, Mr. Huff is well acquainted with local needs. He has been on the Township Committee for six years, and is starting his second year on the Board of Freeholders, after being appointed in December, 1928, to fill a vacancy.

Not only in the political limelight has Mr. Huff been conspicuous, but also in community circles. He is a former president of the Lions Club, present head of the Business Men's Association, secretary of the Battle Hill Building and Loan Association, and a past master of Continental Lodge, 190, F. and A. M., of Millburn. Many residents are acquainted with the yeoman work he performed last summer in helping to make the Sesqui-Centennial Celebration of the Battle of Springfield a success. More recently, he is one of the principal supporters in having Springfield represented in the Lackawanna Baseball League after an absence of several years. In this capacity, he is chairman of the special committee appointed by the president of the Lions Club, which is sponsoring the team to add to its funds. He is president of the Huff Hardware Company and resides at 95 Morris avenue.

Cannon Ex-Committee Man

Charles S. Cannon was a member of the Township Committee from 1924 to 1928. He preceded Gabriel Larsen, present chairman. He was forced to resign due to a change of location in his business.

He is intimate with sewer affairs, having been chairman of the Sewer Committee on the Governing Body for two years. He is also a former president of the Board of Health.

In 1927 he was named chairman of the Assessment Commissioners, and last July was appointed by the Township Committee as chairman of the Sewer Assessment Commission, a position which will occupy his time all of this year.

A native of Long Branch, he has been a resident of the township for seventeen years, coming here from Short Hills. At the present time he is connected with the Bachrach Press, incorporated, of New York City. He was formerly affiliated with the following firms: N. Y. and Long Branch R. R. in the purchasing and traffic department; passenger and purchasing executive of the Seaboard Air Line Railway for twelve years; Purchasing Agent for the Standard Air Craft Corporation of Elizabeth during the war, and following the war a member in an executive capacity of the Anchor Cap and Closure Corporation of Long Island City.

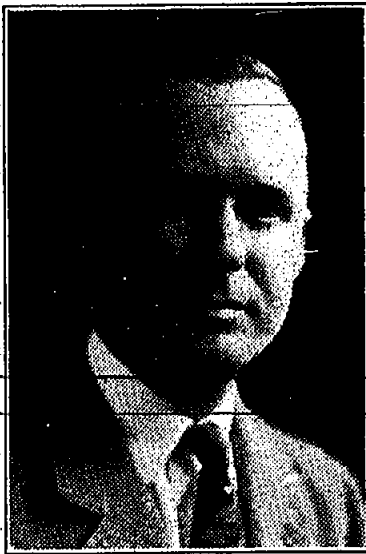

Mr. Cannon resides at 52 Short Hills avenue.

Sketch of Trundle

The second candidate for Township Committee, Alfred G. Trundle, similar to his running mate, has been active in the business field. He is chief underwriter for the Actua Insurance Companies of Newark, and as such, occupies one of the responsible positions in the firm.

Anxious to add the township in organizing the Parent-Teacher's Association, he was urged by many friends to undertake the presidency and guide the organization, which position he has served for the past six months. The association is one of the strongest units in the township and attracts as many as 150 or more members to its meetings. Through the work of the P. T. A., a movement has been initiated which will probably result in a permanent free public library of Springfield.

His supporters claim it was no small task to get his permission to allow the use of his name for greater public service. They also point out that the township will be fortunate in securing the services of a candidate

To Seek Republican Nomination For Committee Post

A contest in the Republican primary election loomed when John J. King declared last night he will be a candidate to secure the Republican Township Committee nomination in May. Two names, Charles S. Cannon and Alfred G. Trundle, have already been announced as the choice of the G. O. P. organization.

Mr. King declared he was entering through the request of friends who urged he be a candidate on the strength of his showing in last year's primary. They are confident of his chances for victory.

He has been a member of election board for ten years, and has been a resident for sixteen years. The latest entrance in the primary contest resides at 63 Tooker avenue, in the third district, and has been active in the local volunteer fire department for several years.

He is employed at the Standard Oil Company, in Elizabeth.

Clash On Purchases Marks Lively Town Board Session; Local Sewers Are Accepted

Leslie and Gaskill Exchange Verbal Accusations As to Policy of Buying Township Needs; Resolution Fixing New Plan Held Over to Be Considered

A proposal by Committee Francis Leslie Tuesday night at a meeting of the Township Committee adopting a new policy of purchasing township supplies developed into exchange of remarks between the sponsor and George D. Gaskill, only Democratic member of the board. The clash, the first open controversy in several years, resulted when Committee member Leslie offered a written recommendation, providing that the township council draw up a resolution prohibiting the purchase of supplies by a chairman of a committee except by approval of other members, in addition to being recorded on the minutes of meetings.

Resolution Offered

The major points in the Leslie resolution were: to have the township council draw up a resolution "prohibiting purchasing of materials or ordering of any work by any sub-committee head—except with the knowledge and consent of the governing body; that chairmen must consult with members of their sub-committee members regarding anything that may pertain to expenditures, regardless of the amount; that the sub-committee bring before the board as a whole any expenditure, and have approval recorded in the minutes; and that if an emergency arises in considering a purchase, between meetings as many members as possible are to be consulted, and the action spread on the minutes of the next meeting."

Chairman Gabriel Larsen after hearing the resolution read, declared, "You must have something definite in mind. If anything is not being done correctly, now is the time to have it settled and brought in the open."

"I refer to Mr. Gaskill's department," responded Mr. Leslie. "He stopped buying coal from one local concern and began to purchase it from another firm at an increased cost. As a member of his committee, I was not consulted. In another instance a man who has been cleaning snow on sidewalks, was discharged and a new man given the work."

"Mr. Gaskill retorted with, 'I had a suspicion Mr. Leslie referred to my department.' I believe in breaking up orders and distributing orders to all local dealers instead of one. As a matter of fact, I intended to split the purchases."

"I was elected on a promise to give every one a square deal and I am trying to do that. If you do not trust me in my purchasing, I will have to investigate into other committees. I never questioned any other member's purchases."

Mr. Larsen at this time remarked that it would be difficult to have a consultation in every purchase, and Committee member Frank C. Geiger also stated it was impossible to consult members of his Roads Committee every time "it was necessary to patch holes."

Committee member Lewis F. Macartney moved that the resolution be tabled for further consideration and Mr. Geiger voted with him. Mr. Leslie and Chairman Larsen did not vote, and Mr. Gaskill voted no, declaring "now is the time to settle the matter."

Sewer System Accepted

Resolutions were adopted accepting Sections 1 and 2 of the local sewer system. In both resolutions, Mr. Gaskill voted in the negative.

Mr. Larsen brought out that the sewer will not be in operation until supplemental ordinances on the Railway Valley Joint Sewer are passed by all municipalities in the Joint Meeting, appropriating a total of $850,000 to erect a disposal plant, and pay for other expenses.

He stated an agreement had been made between all towns in the system not to enter the sewer until these ordinances have been passed, thus insuring that the disposal plant will be constructed, and not delayed. Before entering, permission is also necessary from the State of Health to dump raw sewage into the Railway River. Springfield has already applied, and since no answer has been heard since the board's meeting on March 8, it is planned to have the members of the Township Committee and Council Charles W. Weeks appear in Trenton, to insure securing the permission.

Before passing the supplemental ordinance, it is necessary to have contracts signed between Governing Bodies of municipalities in the Joint Meeting to erect the disposal plant at a sum of about $375,000. The definite plans for the plant will not be completed by Clyde Potts, Joint Meeting engineer, until June, and on the advice of the various municipalities' councils, it was deemed wise to postpone signing the contracts without seeing definite plans and not a mere sketch which has been already prepared. It is believed that this may delay the operation for several months. However, Mr. Larsen pointed out that as soon as the respective ordinances are passed, and permission granted from the State Board of

G. ARNOLD WRIGHT NAMED PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD

Organization Is Held Friday; John Potts Selected As New Vice-President

George Arnold Wright was elected president of the Board of Education at its organization meeting last Friday night in the James Caldwell School. John Potts was named vice-president.

The new president succeeds Alvin H. Doss, who has served in that capacity for one year. Mr. Wright is starting his fifth year on the board, and Walter White being the oldest member, 16 years of service. Mr. Potts, recently re-elected for his second term, is the next member in years of service.

Charles Phillips took his seat as a member. Others on the board are Alexander R. Briggs, August H. Schreffel, James M. Dunsid, T. C. Davidson, Jr., and Charles T. Smith.

Following the organization, a dinner was given by members of the domestic science class of the James Caldwell School, under the direction of Miss Helen T. Schultz, home economics instructor. District Clerk William Hoppaugh and Supervisor Principal Fred J. Hodgson attended the dinner.

Mr. Wright was not present at the meeting, being on a business trip in the Middle West. The standing committees for the year will be named by the president at a meeting of the board Tuesday night.

Health, Springfield will be allowed to ship raw sewage into the Railway River, even if the disposal plant is not completed.

Other Activities
Frank B. Levson was granted a contract to erect a retaining concrete wall in Colonial terrace, where a street was cut through several years ago. His contract price of $375 was the lowest of three bids.

Gordon Lundy of Baltusrol Way, asked the board if action would be taken to pave Baltusrol Way, since a petition had been presented last year by a majority of property-owners requesting the work. He also stated the residents were anxious to have a street-light there. He was told that action will be taken on both requests, quickly.

Later in the meeting, when an ordinance was about to be introduced providing for the paving of the street, Mr. Larsen reported that due to a proposed ordinance appropriating an additional sum of about $72,000 as Springfield's share to finish the Railway Valley Joint Meeting construction, the township will be in no position to introduce any more local improvements until the township's debt statement is certified by Commissioner of Municipal Accounts Darby. He added that Mr. Darby verbally informed him he would approve of the township's financial condition when the supplemental ordinance is given its final reading. Then, Mr. Larsen declared, necessary local improvements may be considered.

Discuss Zoning Law
Committee member Leslie opened a discussion of a building zone ordinance. It was the consensus of the board that while it was impossible to zone the township this year, no harm could result from having an expert explain the cost and other details. The clerk was instructed to communicate with the New Jersey League of Municipalities to secure further information on speakers, etc.

Mr. Larsen invited the other members of the board, Township Clerk Robert D. Trent, Township Treasurer William Hoppaugh and Chief of Police M. C. Runyon to be his guests at a testimonial dinner for William I. McMane, chairman of the Board of Freeholders, to be held in the Elizabeth Elks Club on Thursday, April 9.

The report of Building Inspector Rouben H. Marsh showed a total of $12,000 for February, or $16,000 for the year to date.

CHILD, STRAPPED TO CARRIAGE, IS RESCUED IN FIRE

Infant, Less Than Two Years Old, Taken From Dwelling By Next Door Neighbor

A baby, less than two years old, strapped to a carriage in the flaming kitchen of his home in Mountain avenue, was rescued Tuesday afternoon when Martin Ganska, former local policeman, a neighbor, rushed into the dwelling and carried the child to safety.

The infant, George Callahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Callahan, was alone in the house, while his mother and sister were feeding chickens in the rear of a little farm in the rear of the house. Ganska was working at his property about 200 yards away from the Callahan home when he noticed flames and heard the child's cries.

He entered the house and with a knife cut the straps of the carriage which was next to a flaming stove.

The blaze, which was of undetermined origin, caused more than $2,000 damage, according to Fire Chief Charles Phinaka. The chief suffered cuts about the hands which required ten stitches and Volunteer Fireman Fred Allen also received lesser cuts when a hose which both firemen were holding forced them against a locked broken window pane. Dr. Watson B. Morris treated the wounds.

Water and chemical sprayed on the structure destroyed much furniture.

The building was covered by insurance.

A large crowd, including children leaving the local schools, watched the firemen battle the flames.

Millburn firemen received the first call, being also connected with the Millburn telephone exchange. Not before water hose had been laid in Mountain avenue, Millburn, was the mistake realized. Meanwhile the local department responded.

When Looking for a Life Partner

By JEAN NEWTON

IT MAY surprise you to learn that thousands of Americans each year arrange marriages through agencies by mail. It surprised me to learn that the percentage of success is greater in these unions than among those preceded by the traditional romantic courtship.

That is from an article on "Marriages by Mail" in a current magazine which one of our readers sends us with this question: "Can you imagine marriages between people who know each other only by correspondence turning out more successful than those which take place in the regular way?"

The author of the article to which our reader refers, after investigating the workings of the so-called matrimonial agencies, tells us that most of their clients seem to be conservative folk, honest and hard-working, usually in isolated places, and that their sincerity in looking for the right kind of life partner is unmistakable.

And if we believe him, dear reader, it is not at all difficult to imagine a large percentage of success. It is just the old story of not expecting too much.

These people, since we are to take the proposition seriously, come together in no rarified atmosphere of romance and illusion. They don't put each other on pedestals and expect of each other what is impossible. They are very seriously and bluntly looking for a life partner, and in that spirit they concentrate, as one does in a business partnership, on the qualities that are likely to make a successful partnership.

They know what they want, they see without rose-colored glasses, and according to our informant, they get it.

Just a little personal digression, if I may be permitted—to say that for my part I still believe in taking one's chances on marrying in the conventional way and make no recommendation of matrimonial agencies for my readers.

A YEAR FROM NOW

By Douglas Malloch

THEY will not matter such a lot. A year from now, the things to day.

Alas, we think that they will not. I know that every word we say, kind or unkind, no matter what, makes some heart sad or some heart gay.

Leaves on some life a bloom or blot. Yes, day by day we shape our own. And others' lives in all we do.

We cannot live our lives alone. For you mark me and I mark you. As does the sculptor shape the stone. Our words, our deeds, are shaping.

Two. The days to come and yours unknown. We get our wrinkles one by one. Some made by smiles and more by frowns.

The good or evil we have done. Upon the remembrance appears—Alas, not only ours, my son. For all the stirrings of the years. Or others were by us begun.

BUTTONS AND BUCKLES ADORN GARMENTS FOR SPRING WEAR

MOTHER-of-pearl buttons, buckles and slides are being featured as high style ornamentation for spring by leading couturiers in this country and abroad. Designers are enthusiastic about the fashion possibilities of mother-of-pearl, first, because it provides wide diversity both in black and white and vivid colorings to contrast or harmonize with the color and texture of the fabric it trims, and second, because it is a genuine material which cannot be imitated.

Both from a useful and an ornamental standpoint, the spring style program emphatically declares the importance of buttons. Buttons especially lend a brightness and new interest to active and spectator sportswear in cottons, linens, shirtings, hemburg weaves and the new worsted and silk costumes.

Gleaming mother-of-pearl buttons and a buckle in matching color tones distinguishes the attractive sports model in the picture. This gay and stunning costume is fashioned of a whipped twill of hemburg and silk in red and white. The generous uses of buttons which so enhance this smart outfit is indicative of the new trend. Note the unique collar and scarf neck. The novel scarf arrangements being another outstanding characteristic of the mode.

Speaking of the existent flair for mother-of-pearl decoration, sometimes a single buckle or slide of unusual design is the only trimmings used, but always with extreme effectiveness. Lustrous mother-of-pearl slides in ump were confined to the boudoir and the beach, but nowadays modern pajamas are traveling about most everywhere "in society." Veritable gaudiums have these trousered modes become. From the boudoir and the beach they are venturing out into all sorts of environments—at the dance, if you please, and in the drawing room where as hostess pajamas fashion's elite is accepting them with utmost enthusiasm.

To play this role of hostess and dine and dance pajamas successfully those trousered and divided-skirt modes are affecting the airs and graces of midday's most beguiling frocks. In fact, at times the resemblance is puzzling.

Coming this spring and summer, the stage is all set for ultra-modern pajama fashions as charming and styled as cleverly as occasion as the graceful models pictured. For the attractive costume on the seated figure the designed selected, pale yellow triple georgette of hemburg. It brings into play several details which make for chic this season. There is, for instance, the cowl-drape neck-line, also the low-placed wide revers and of special style significance are the bell-shaped flowing sleeves, likewise the circular-cut ruffled drape.

Fashion also bestows a smile of approval on the modernistic dinner pajama ensemble posed to the right in the illustration. Its full-skirt trousers are styled of pale green lustrous satin of hemburg and silk. The circular-flounced jacket is of irate tissue in green and gold fastened with a gleaming mother-of-pearl . . . its flower.

In the instance of formal pajamas, a fascinating model designed for dinner-party wear is shown, made of black lace, the tiers of flounces and the off-the-shoulder drape stage, making it look just like a dress.

Printed silks of extreme elegance and formality contribute their beauty to the pajama mode, designers embodying in their styling the very self-same details as distinguish afternoon and evening frocks.

About Economical, Nourishing Foods

By NELLIE MAXWELL

We all have inspired moments when we see clearly how we may do great things but we do not believe in them enough to make them come true.

EGGS are one of the best of foods and when reasonable in price, most economical.

Omelet With Cheese. Mix one tablespoonful of flour with one cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of pepper, then add four eggs beaten very light. Melt one tablespoonful of butter in a frying pan and when hot turn in the mixture. Bake in a moderate oven until well puffed and a golden brown. Sprinkle with six tablespoonfuls of thinly sliced cheese and return to the oven until the cheese is melted. Fold the omelet and turn on a hot platter. Serve at once.

Cottage Cheese Pie. Line a deep pie plate with pastry and fill with the following: Three well beaten eggs beaten with a half cupful of sugar, and one cupful each of cottage cheese and fresh grated coconut, one teaspoonful of nutmeg and two cupfuls of milk. Bake as you would a custard pie—very hot at first to bake the crust, then lower the heat.

Orange Sponge Cake. Beat two egg yolks with four tablespoonfuls of orange and one-half tablespoonful of lemon juice, add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful of grated orange rind, and then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and cut and fold in a cupful of flour that has been well sifted to mix with a fourth of a teaspoonful of soda. Pour into a cake pan and bake in a moderate oven forty minutes.

Coconut Apples. Prepare red apples by stewing after coring, unpeeled, in very little water. When nearly done carefully remove the skin and scrape any red stain left on the skin and paint it back on the apple cheeks. Stuff with any chopped fruit such as raisins, prunes, figs and sprinkle the tops with freshly grated and sugared coconut. Bake until the coconut is brown and the apples well done.

MOTHERS SHOULD TEACH THEIR DAUGHTERS

By BETSY CALLISTER

DON'T teach that, you might break it. "Don't try to pour the milk, you might spill it."

"No, I don't want you to help me make the cake. You would only upset things and make more work." And so it goes and the little girl who would have been only too glad to help mother when she was five or six has outgrown her desire to do so by the time she is thirteen or fourteen.

One of course mothers had to let their children help, even when they were so young. Now with improved, shortened methods of doing things they usually find it easier to do things themselves than to bother teaching their daughters to help. And the number of girls of high school age who know practically nothing about cooking is amazingly large.

This inability to do the countless and one thing that girls all used to know how to do sometimes amounts to a real handicap.

Early English Glassmaking In old England the glass making industry was concentrated in the county of Sussex, where an ancient glass works was dug up recently. James I issued a proclamation forbidding the making of glass with timber or wood or fuel made of the same, for, no doubt, that the forests were being depleted too rapidly. But, in spite of this order, glass works increased, later on, in 1661, the import of foreign glass was prohibited by government order, although an exception was made in favor of Venetian ware. The most important glass factory was at Chiddingfold, which dates back to 1240. It produced Henry II with white and colored glass for his abbey of Westminster.

Because Paul Smith of Los Angeles thought his wife's paintings were unappreciated, he decided to take revenge on the critics. Young Fascists to Drill Every Sunday

Two Million Italian Boys and Girls Enrolled in Youth Movement

Rome.—Thousands of squads, platoons and companies of boys in Fascist uniform march in disciplined military formations every Sunday in Italy.

Athletic youths in olive-green breeches, black shirts and football caps with swinging tassels go through military drill to the commands of Fascist militia officers in hundreds of towns. Some drill with rifles, others without. From rifle ranges is heard the crack of trigger practice.

This is an outward manifestation of one of the most notable and significant institutions of the Fascist regime—the Open Nationalist Militia—enrolling some 2,082,210 boys and girls between eight and eighteen years. Upon this voluntary organization, the Fascist state is placing its greatest reliance for the perpetuation of the regime and the moral, physical and military education of rising generations. Fascism is centering its hopes for the future in youth, physical fitness and guns.

Military Only One Phase. The military phase is only one, and not the most important, aspect of this remarkable Fascist institution, although emphasis is laid upon semi-military training in the later stages between fourteen and eighteen.

Between the ages of eight and fourteen most emphasis is laid upon moral and physical education. This stage resembles the Boy and Girl Scout movement, although more nationalistic. Sometimes little boys march with toy rifles. Some of the older girls are taught the use of the rifle and marksmanship.

Children are inculcated with the concepts of Fascism from the beginning, in accordance with the primary purposes of the movement. The militia's manual says: "It must nourish their minds and form them to Fascist standards, impregnating them with all that is high, noble and pure in the doctrine of new Italy," and complete the state program by "constant intellectual propaganda."

The institution is organized on the basis of the armies of ancient Rome and is composed of a squadron of 11 children. Three squadrons form a platoon; three platoons form a company, and so on to the legion, which comprises nine companies.

497 Legions on Parade. On the last anniversary of the Fascist "march of Rome" it was announced there were 497 legions of boys between eight and fourteen, and 288 legions between fourteen and eighteen years. The movement is divided into four great divisions—two for boys and two for girls—which are, respectively: Balilla, Avanguardisti, Piccola Italia and Giovane Italia.

The latest membership figures given by Giovanni Giurati, secretary of the Fascist party, are as follows: Balilla, 954,903; Avanguardisti, 305,703; Piccola Italia, 640,000, and Giovane Italia, 42,330, making a total of 1,942,937 boys and 732,330 girls in the organization.

The most extensive activities of the Balilla organization are devoted to cultural, industrial and physical training. Many hundreds of modern recreation centers and playgrounds have been established, schools of arts and crafts, evening classes for technical instruction, industrial training courses, in agricultural instruction, training in seamanship in the coast towns, music and dramatic colonies for weak children, classes in sanitation, training in wireless telegraphy, anti-aircraft gunnery and preliminary training in aviation for older boys. Girls are given somewhat similar training, concentrating upon the requirements of their roles as the future wives and mothers of Italy.

First of New Navy Fighting Planes

Fifteen fast Boeing wasp-powered fighting planes, which reached a speed of 350 miles per hour in a 10,000-foot vertical power dive and which will be used as dog fighters and diving bombers by the naval air service, were delivered in Seattle, Wash., to the albatross carrier Lexington by the Boeing airplane company on its contract for 46 airplanes of this type. They are said to out-speed the navy fighters of any other nation. Special flotation bags keep the plane afloat if forced down at sea. These fighters carry machine guns and bombs.

Paris Seeks to Avoid Ravages From Seine

Paris.—The Paris council general of the Seine will shortly ask for 10,000,000 francs to supplement existing appropriations for the protection of Paris and its suburbs from the frequent rising of the Seine.

Judging future floods by past performances, M. Lenard had indicated that Paris has a great flood every 11 years and an important rise in the river about every three years.

The city council has drawn up a plan which when completed will make the valleys of the Seine and Marne near Paris safe from sudden floods. Reservoirs will be built holding in the overflowing water; new buildings along the quai which have cellars below the Seine will be rigorously inspected and constructions in zones which are not considered safe will be forbidden.

It is suggested that the Pont de L'Alma be rebuilt, especially the substructure from which floods always escape in bad weather. Near Notre Dame dredgers will begin working the Seine deeper and the current faster, although at other places in the suburbs the river will be widened.

Hen Takes Over Job of Raising Small Puppies

Russellville, Ark.—Frontie, the police dog, and Henry Penny, the hen, are on the "outs" with each other. One day Frontie left her seven newly-born pups to search for something to eat and returned to find the hen sitting on six of them as her wings would cover. Frontie objected but received only a sharp peck for her pains.

Now Henry Penny sits all day trying vainly to "protect" all seven of the puppies at once with quick pecks at anyone who dares touch her foster children.

Every now and then Frontie, by force, chases the Rhode Island hen out of the dog box and gives her offspring a light lunch.

Old Trade Gave County in Wisconsin Its Name

Ladener, Wis.—A trader, who roamed among Indian tribes of this region wearing his brass cooking kettle as a helmet, gave Grant county its name.

Although bordering on the Illinois county where, Ulysses S. Grant resided, the Wisconsin subdivision bore the name Grant because the former general and President was born in Grant. The trader followed the trails of Marquette and La Salle into this country, where he arrived about 1780.

Three Relays Carry Body Down Icy Slope

Harrisonburg, Va.—How it required three relays of 18 men to carry the body of Rev. Bailey Nicholson, a minister, down the icy slopes of the Blue Ridge mountains for burial near Sky-land, Page county, was related here. The home-made coffin was carried down the snow-covered, almost perpendicular path for two miles.

Nicholson was a minister of the Plymouth church. He was killed when a tree his fourteen-year-old son was chopping crashed upon him. The lad said that the tree fell up the mountain slope instead of down grade as the father had expected.

AMAZING TALE OF CRUELTY IN PERSIA

Tribesmen Sacrifice Humans to Propitiate Spirits

Mahammerah, Persia.—An amazing story of slavery and human sacrifice has just been related here by a former slave who was liberated from Marma in 1926 and is now working his way back to Zanzibar, where he was captured as a young man 20 years ago.

During the time of John Willmott, given him by sundry British employers in India, he is an intelligent man of about forty-five. In Marma he was a slave chief who lived in a cage in constant fear of blood vengeance.

John described in fair English how the tribesmen sacrificed humans to propitiate the spirits. The victim was well housed and fed for a month, he sold, getting all he wanted, and then, on the day of sacrifice, being dragged from the house and either speared or decapitated. The head was then boiled and the skull cut in half.

The victims of these official sacrifices were usually slaves who were bought and sold by middlemen and profiteers. All these practices were stopped by Britain in 1926, when all the slaves were liberated, including John. Most remained, but he left, owing, he explained, to the cruelty and also his desire to return to his home.

He described vividly how infants were taken from their parents for childish faults and sold—the children of slaves belong to the owner, not to the parents, and the slaves have no rights at all. John, who is a Moslem, said that the tribesmen are very superstitious and spend most of their time making their peace with the spirits.

When a man dies, his wife goes to the next male relative, excepting the son. Premarital morality is apparently lax, and the escaped slave told with a grin how he was once nearly killed owing to the unfortunate discovery of his affair with the chief's daughter.

The tribesmen hold great rebellings, with dancing and singing, when torments take place.

Young Man Turns Thief to Make Hit With Girl

Seattle, Wash.—Theodore von Hohenstein Skinner, an immediately attracted youth, said to be the son of an army officer stationed at Schofield barracks, Honolulu, is reported to have confessed to Captain of Detectives William G. Witzke that he had robbed the Black Shoe company store on two occasions.

According to Witzke, Skinner was motivated by a desire to make an impression on his sweetheart, whose identity was not revealed.

The first burglary netted him $435, but the second only $5.00 and several pairs of socks.

It was the hokey which led to his arrest. Patrolman William O'Day became suspicious when he overheard Skinner trying to sell the socks to a Chinese and arrested him for investigation.

After being held in the city jail for several days, Skinner finally broke down.

It was reported Skinner's mother called from Honolulu as soon as she heard of his arrest that she would sail for Seattle immediately to come to his aid. Skinner reluctantly confessed this, observing: "I wish she'd keep out of it. I like to fight my own battles. It's bad enough as it is."

Dog Swallows Diamond; Veterinarian Gets It

Modesto, Calif.—When Mrs. Walter H. Field, wife of a Modesto business man, lost a diamond ring worth $1,500 she called in the police. They found no trace of it, then, Pansy, the family police dog, became ill.

Mrs. Field called in a veterinarian. He put Pansy under an X-ray. Inside Pansy could be discerned a circular object. It was the missing ring.

The animal was given an emetic, an operation performed and the diamond recovered.

SIMPLE TRICK HID THEFTS BY SEATTLE BANK CASHIER

Deposit Cards Removed, Says Embazzler When Brought Up for Sentence.

Seattle.—By the simple expedient of removing savings deposit cards Lorence Greedy Phillips, former assistant cashier of the Ashburn National bank, evaded for five years detection of serious shortages in his accounts.

His method of covering up defalcations amounting to $6,000 was revealed in Federal court when Phillips appeared for sentence on a charge of embezzlement to which he pleaded guilty recently.

Such a strong plea was made for leniency, however, that Judge J. Nelson directed Federal Probation Officer Adrian B. Miller to investigate the circumstances. Sentence was put over. So successful was Phillips' system, Assistant United States Attorney Jeffrey Helman said, that examiners did not discover the shortage until a savings depositor whose card had been removed made demand for his money. The cards were found in Phillips' home.

"Through his attorney, Paul D. Coles, Phillips admitted his peculations began when he was a teller.

"Money had been missing at various times in the bank and several employees under suspicion were discharged," Coles said. "One day Phillips discovered that he was $100 short. Some one else had taken the money, but he was afraid to report it for fear he would be blamed. So he removed a savings deposit card to make his accounts balance."

A few months later, Coles stated, Phillips took $120 himself and covered it up in the same manner. From then on, he used the system for his own benefit. After he was found out Phillips, the court was told, made

The Volunteer

THERE is no community service as significant as is that rendered by the volunteer firemen of this or any other municipality.

The first volunteer fire fighters of history probably were actuated by fear of personal danger more than by any other consideration.

Later, the volunteer fire companies acquired more modern equipment. These were the days of horses and "steamers," with nocks polished to a sparkle.

Today, however, volunteer fire-fighting is a serious business. Firstly, in only a negligible number of alarms is one of the firemen personally interested.

There is no duty of modern civilization as commendable as that of the volunteer fireman. He throws all else to the back of his mind, and answers the call with thought only of the possibility that some person may be in the path of searing flames.

The volunteer fireman is the most altruistic member of modern community life. No matter how valuable a citizen he may be in any other capacity, his worth is enhanced a hundred fold when he responds to the alarm of fire.

GUN FOUND IN TRUCK, DRIVER FINED, HELD

Caught after a chase of a half-mile through the business section of Springfield, David P. Phillips of New Albany, Pa., an alleged hit and run driver, was apprehended by Police Chief Runyon and Patrolman Stiles, Wednesday afternoon and held on two charges of drunken driving and carrying a concealed weapon.

Phillips pleaded guilty when arraigned that night, and was fined $200 and costs and was held in $500 bail for action of the Grand Jury on the concealed weapon charge. He also pleaded guilty to the latter charge.

Phillips' truck crashed into a sedan owned by Emory V. Minton of 2 Lincoln avenue, Dover, parked in Morris avenue. The police heard the crash and gave chase and stopped the truck at the Farmer's Hotel. A quick search of the machine revealed a .32 caliber revolver, the police reported.

Dr. Elwood M. MacPherson declared Phillips unfit to drive.

Rambling Around Town

SPRINGFIELD SOON WILL RECEIVE its share of baseball this season, now that the Lackawanna League schedule has been released. The local team will be seen in play on April 25th at the Millburn grounds, Taylor Park, in action against the Millburn nine. . . of course a large delegation will be present from Springfield to cheer its new team to a victory in the league opener. . . one particular fan, "J. C." Carter, the most rabid baseball rooster in the township, has eagerly requested Herb Penoyer, the "Cubs" manager, to reserve him a seat at every game of the season between here and home plate, so as to "razz" the opposing hurler into a fit of generosity, thus giving the Springfield players their share of bases on balls, singles, etc. . . the suggested name of "Cubs," as posted in last week's issue, has brought forth favorable response, so that the moniker will have to be officially baptized as such. . . having attempted last week to predict the choice of the Springfield Republican Club's two candidates at the primaries for Township Committeemen, this paper chalked up a percentage of 500. . . Alfred G. Trundle was included among the possibilities, and he was the G. O. P. organization choice, together with Charles S. Cannon. . . many residents were surprised to learn that Mr. Cannon would again seek the office which he formerly held. . . he has already served one term on the board, having retired several years back. . . a local resident, Commander William Ward Smith, of Milltown road, was promoted Monday by the Naval Department from commander of the gunboat Sacramento to senior assistant to the commandant at the Naval Academy in Annapolis. . . brought up in Springfield and educated in local schools, it is an honor to this township that one of its sons should be given such a high position in Annapolis. . . much interest is being shown in the Recreation Bowling League, organized Tuesday night in the Lions rooms. . . teams entered are the Lions Club, Board of Education, Five Aces, Severna Avenue, Jr. O. U. A. M., Fire Department, Royal Blues, and the Union County Coal and Lumber Company. . . if that isn't a representative group, then the moon is made of green cheese.

When Funston Captured Aguinaldo

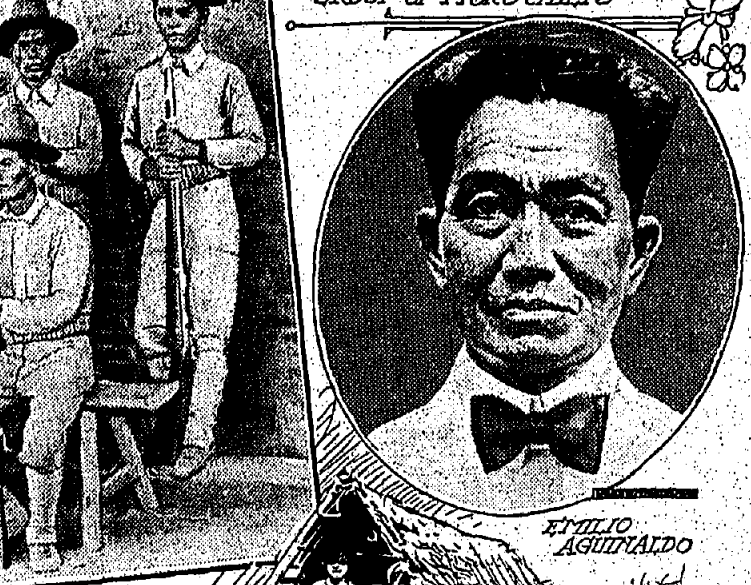

Gen. Funston

GROUP OF MORO CHIEFS

FILIPINO CONSPIRATORS

EMILIO AGUINALDO

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON.

SEVENTY years ago America had a new national hero. He was a little man with a slight hump, a little man who weighed less than a hundred pounds, with a Yankee's heart and a sense of humor that bubbled in him like the effervescence of wine. His name was Frederick Funston and his "mad-cap enterprise," as he himself called it, put his name on the lips of millions. For Funston had captured Emilio Aguinaldo, the leader of the Filipino insurgents, the most talked-of man in the Orient, if not in the whole world, at that time, who for three years had been leading some 70,000 American troops and native auxiliaries a merry chase from one end of the province of Luzon to another. On March 23, 1901, the chase came to an end when, through the cunning and strategy of the little Funston, this wily native leader was taken prisoner.

Insignificant though Funston may have been in appearance, few men's lives had been wrecked as full with adventure as his when he sprang into fame almost overnight. He was born in Ohio in 1825, the son of a first lieutenant in the Union army, who in 1857 moved to Kansas when Frederick was two years old, where he was elected to the Kansas state legislature and later elected and repeatedly re-elected to congress.

Young Funston was educated in Iowa, Kan., attended the University of Kansas for two years and then went to work as a newspaper reporter, first at Fort Smith, Ark., and later on the Kansas City Journal.

During the summer of 1896 he attended a mass meeting in New York called to arouse sympathy for the Cubans who were struggling to throw off the yoke of Spain. Funston became interested in the cause of Cuban liberty and offered his services to the Cuban Junta. After drilling recruits under its direction, he joined a filibustering expedition and aided in delivering to General Gomez the first Hotchkiss guns owned by the Cuban revolutionists. Two weeks later he was placed in charge of these guns as captain of artillery.

dered to the Philippines and in November, 1898, he joined Gen. Wesley Merritt at Manila and aided in the capture of the city.

It is at this point that Aguinaldo comes into the picture. The early life and ancestry of this leader is checked in mystery. He is said to have mixed Spanish blood in his veins from which came his intelligence, his courage, his military ability and his political acumen. When in August, 1898, he declared himself president of the revolutionary government of the Philippines and general in chief of its army, he called himself Don Emilio Aguinaldo y Famy. He was even then dreaming of independence for his native land, after the Americans had defeated the hated Spaniard and those dreamed of the insurrection against the new masters of the islands.

Almost from the beginning of the insurrection Funston had been in the field against Aguinaldo's followers. His strict discipline had not made him especially popular with his soldiers, but after the affair at Murlina river in April, 1899, he had their undivided respect. There he found the bridge across the river destroyed and a strong force of insurgents on the other side to resist a crossing by the Americans. Selecting 20 of those who volunteered to accompany him, Funston swam the river, drove the enemy back and took 80 prisoners. A few days later, with only 45 men, he crossed the Rio Grande at Calumpit on a raft, and after a desperate fight drove 2,500 of the enemy from an entrenched position. For this feat he was promoted to brigadier general of volunteers.

Throughout 1899 and 1900 there was constant fighting but always the leader of the insurgents eluded capture. Sometime during 1900 he seemed to have dropped out of sight entirely but in January, 1901, from his hiding place in the province of Isabela, Aguinaldo sent out a letter denouncing the soldiers who had taken the oath of allegiance to the United States and ordered certain insurgent forces in southern Luzon to join him at the rendezvous in Isabela. The messenger entrusted with this letter surrendered to an American lieutenant in February and upon securing the information so long desired, General Funston determined upon a daring plan for capturing Aguinaldo, going to Manila to lay his plans before his superiors, Generals MacArthur and Wheaton, he finally gained their consent to the attempt. Taking with him Capt. R. W. Newton and Russell T. Hazard, Lieut. Oliver T. M. Hinz and Burton J. Mitchell and a company of 50 Menabebes who spoke the Tagalog language, he was landed on a beach south of Cagayan in the province of Principe on March 10, 1901.

Aguinaldo's messenger and the Menabebes sought to pass themselves off as a detachment of insurgent Tagalogs who had captured the five Americans and were taking them as prisoners to Aguinaldo. The position of Funston and his companions was a dangerous one. Everything depended upon the faithfulness of the Menabebes. Should they turn traitor to the Americans, it meant certain death. But they remained faithful and after a fatiguing and dangerous march of seven days and nights, the party reached a point eight miles from Palanan, Aguinaldo's hiding place. A message, stamped with the seal of General Enano, an Aguinaldo supporter, which had been found among the papers handed over by the insurgent leader's messenger, was sent forward to Aguinaldo and a prompt response was received, welcoming the party. The Americans and their fake Tagalogs hastened forward. Funston himself was not present at the actual capture. That he entrusted to a Spaniard, Lazaro Segovia, a detachment of the "semitis." The story, as Funston told it later, follows:

"Turning up the bank toward the house, we were met by Segovia, who came running out, his face aglow with excitement and his clothes splattered with the blood of the men he had wounded. He called out in Spanish: 'It is all right; we have him.' We hastened into the house and I introduced myself to Aguinaldo, telling him that we were officers of the American army, that the men with us were our troops, and not his, and that he was a prisoner of war. He was given assurance that he need fear no ill-treatment. He said, in a hoarse sort of way: 'Is this not some joke? I assured him that it was not, though, as a matter of fact, it was a pretty bad one on him. While naturally gratified, his hearing was dignified, and in this moment of his fall there was nothing of the cry."

In four years Aguinaldo was found in his guise of Funston, for the audacity and skill of his plan, saying that only by the stratagem used could he have been captured. The news that Aguinaldo was captured was flashed to the United States and was hailed with delight as the sign that the long and weary war against the insurgents was over at last. President McKinley on March 30 commissioned Funston a brigadier general in the regular army and had it not been for his untimely death in 1917 it is probable that he would have been commander in chief of the A. F. V. when the United States entered the World war. His only part in that great conflict was to give his name to a training camp in Kansas where thousands of men acquired their training for "over there."

Sugar Lobby Gift Story Under Investigation, Senator Davis Promising Help—Lame Duck Sessions Probably Will Be Abolished.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Senator J. J. Davis

IN THE closing days of the session of congress the senate ran into what gave some promise of developing into another lobbying scandal. Mr. Borah read to it an article in a New York newspaper which said, in effect, that a senator, during his former occupancy of a high official position, had received $100,000 from the president of a domestic sugar company in return for his agreement to lobby for a high sugar tariff. Senator Nye of North Dakota had already alluded to the story, deploring the fact that such an unsubstantiated report had been given publicity and credence. Replying to questions, Nye admitted that the campaign expenditure committee, of which he is chairman, had come upon the report of a $100,000 gift to a senator, had completely investigated it and had turned over a memorandum to the committee on lobbying. He said he thought the senator in question was entitled to have an inquiry made and the truth established by the lobby committee, which is headed by Senator Curaway of Arkansas.

At the instance of Senator Borah, supported by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the senate instructed the lobby committee to investigate the story.

Immediately thereafter Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, former secretary of lobby, announced to the senate floor that he stood ready to appear before the lobby committee at any time and that he would assume the committee of the presence of several witnesses whom it would desire to hear. Among the witnesses he named was Bro. G. Lindberg of Chicago, president of the Southern Sugar company. Mr. Davis declared he would assist the committee in investigating the charges "to the bottom."

Appearing later before the lobby committee, Senator Davis declared the charges, if directed at him, were absolutely false.

WITH little or no expectation that his veto would be sustained, President Hoover put the mark of his disapproval on the veterans' bonus bill. His veto message to congress included data provided by Secretary Mellon showing how the bonus loans would aggravate the financing difficulties of the treasury, and also new estimates of the number of veterans who will apply for the bonus.

ABOLISHMENT of the "lame duck" session of congress seemed assured when the house adopted the Gifford resolution to that effect and providing for the inauguration of the newly elected President in January instead of March. The resolution, which proposes an amendment to the Constitution, differs somewhat from the Norris measure passed by the senate with the same purpose, but it was believed the differences would be ironed out in conference. It is planned that the terms of the President and Vice-President shall end on the twenty-fourth day of January and the terms of senators and representatives at noon on the fourth day of January of the years in which such terms normally would end. Congress would assemble on January 4, and the President would be sworn in on January 24.

ONLY a veto by President Hoover can keep the government from going into the power business, for the senate joined with the house in accepting the conference report on Muscle Shoals. The senate vote was 55 to 28. This indicated that a veto would be sustained. Twenty Republicans voted for the measure, eleven of them being of the middle group which has the power question for its chief issue.

Another rebuff for the administration was administered when the house passed Senator Wagner's bill setting up federal and state employment agencies, without a record vote. It was believed President Hoover might kill the measure by a pocket veto.

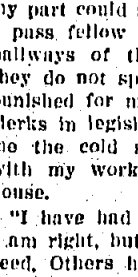

ONE of Oklahoma's lame duck Republican congressmen, U. S. Stone of Norman, put forth a parting shot that aroused little if any sympathy among the national law makers but considerable among the public at large. Mr. Stone had introduced a bill barring relatives of members of congress and of high officials from becoming federal officers, and the other day he called at the White House to ask President Hoover's support for the measure and also to tell what his attack on nepotism was getting him.

"I never dreamed," said Mr. Stone, "that a simple, constructive move on my part could make such a difference. I pass fellow house members in the hallways of the office building and they do not speak to me. My wife is punished for my daring. Even bureau clerks in legislative departments give me the cold shoulder and interfere with my work as a member of the house."

"I have had members whisper that I am right, but that I would not succeed. Others have warned me that I would gutter for my rashness. The reaction against my proposal to make it unlawful for any legislative official, or judicial officer to appoint any person related to him when the pay is to come out of public funds has been most extraordinary."

The last annual report of the clerk of the house reveals that approximately 100 relatives are now on the pay rolls of members, and a survey shows that many of these have never done a tick of work in the offices for which they got their appointments.

One letter to Mr. Stone points out that the daughter of a certain representative signed vouchers for $3,500 last year and spent almost the entire time abroad. Another report which he would like to investigate before a committee is that a southern member has paid his father $10,000 and the man has never been in Washington.

Ambassador J. C. Grew

WHILE the conference on narcotics was in progress in Washington, word came that Joseph C. Grew, American ambassador to Turkey, was getting results there in the fight to suppress the illegal exportation of the drugs from that country. Mr. Grew made vigorous representations to the government at Ankara and brought about the sealing of the three big drug factories of Istanbul with their entire stocks, to be effective until the factories present documents attesting the amounts of production and exportation.

Drug exporting from Turkey to countries such as the United States, which do not allow unrestricted entry of narcotics, is henceforth expected to be impossible, as a government official has been attached to each factory to control production and exportation. Factories must report to the government every 24 hours the amount of raw material purchased and the amount of production. The director of the Japanese factory in Istanbul says the new order is so severe that his factory probably will be forced to cease functioning.

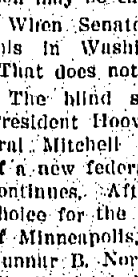

Senator T. D. Schall

MINNESOTA Democrats announced, through Chairman J. J. Farrell of their state executive committee, that they would try to unseat Senator Thomas D. Schall, Republican, who was re-elected last November in a five-cornered contest. Farrell said Schall would be charged with violating the state corrupt practices act and also with violating federal regulations governing the use of postal franking privileges, and that the state elections committee would be asked to declare the seat vacant so that a new election could be called.

When Senator Schall was told of this in Washington he said only: "That does not deserve comment."

The blind senator's dispute with President Hoover and Attorney General Mitchell over the appointment of a new federal judge for Minnesota continues. After rejecting Schall's choice for the post, Ernest D. Michel of Minneapolis, the President named Gunnar B. Nordby, now a Minneapolis district judge and Schall immediately announced he would contest the nomination in the senate. His course in this matter, it is said, has led some Hoover Republicans in Minnesota to support the ouster move.

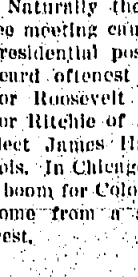

J. J. Raskob

DRY Democrats in congress were exceedingly active during the week getting ready for the meeting of the Democratic national committee scheduled for March 5. Chairman John J. Raskob announced that the committee would consider future policies of the party, and assuming that he would try to commit it to the wet side of the prohibition controversy, the dries were lining up to fight him to the bitter end. Senator Morrison of North Carolina, one of the most ardent ones, said his group had enough votes to defeat any wet resolution. Senator George of Georgia asserted the committee had no right to form party policies, that being the function of the national convention. Other Democratic leaders were anxious to head off any discussion of the liquor issue.

Naturally the approaching committee meeting caused a lot of talk about presidential possibilities. The names heard of most were those of Governor Roosevelt of New York, Governor Ritchie of Maryland and Senator-elect James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois. In Chicago there developed quite a boom for Colonel Lewis on his return home from a sojourn in the Southwest.

DEHR EVIND SVINHUFVUD, who has just been elected president of Finland, is going to have the prohibition question put up to him promptly. Distinguished women of the country, of all parties, are circulating a petition asking his support of a speedy repeal of the "ferocious prohibition law."

The petition urges mothers to "feel deep concern in the ever increasing intemperance which ruins men, women, and children morally and physically. It is awful to contemplate how alcohol will affect the descendants of the present poisoned generation unless legislators abolish the prohibition system." The petition further points out that women are unable to restore a temperance movement until the de-

President Cerro

COUNTER revolution broke out in Peru under the leadership of friends of the deposed president, Augusto Leguia, and threatened the regime of Provisional President Luis M. Sanchez Cerro. The uprising was quelled in Callao but the revolutionists seized Arequipa and set up a government under the name "Southern Junta." They were joined by considerable parts of the army and held control of southern Peru.

To prove the sincerity of his intentions by leading the August revolution, Cerro issued a proclamation declaring that he would not be a candidate for the presidency when the elections are held. This, he and his adherents thought, would pacify the Arequipa rebels and lead to peace through negotiations.

morallizing prohibition law is repealed and replaced by reasonable legislation.

ONCE again the United States Supreme court has applied the validity of the Eighteenth amendment. This time the action, which was unanimous, was in reviewing the decision of Federal Judge William Clark of Newark, N. J., who held that the amendment should have been ratified by state conventions instead of by state legislatures. This decision was reversed, the opinion being written by Justice Owen D. Roberts, the newest member of the Supreme court.

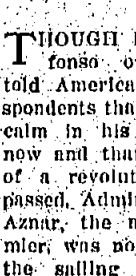

In a case appealed from Michigan, the Supreme court held that the severe penalties of the Jones "five and ten" law are not applicable to conviction for possession of liquor.

Ambassador J. C. Grew

WHILE the conference on narcotics was in progress in Washington, word came that Joseph C. Grew, American ambassador to Turkey, was getting results there in the fight to suppress the illegal exportation of the drugs from that country. Mr. Grew made vigorous representations to the government at Ankara and brought about the sealing of the three big drug factories of Istanbul with their entire stocks, to be effective until the factories present documents attesting the amounts of production and exportation.

Admiral Juan Aznar

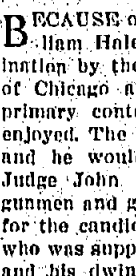

THOUGH King Alfonso of Spain told American correspondents that all was calm in his country and that danger of a revolution had passed, Admiral Juan Aznar, the first premier, was not finding the sailing weather especially fine. This was mainly because the national executive committee of the Socialist party and the labor union decided to boycott the national elections and co-operate fully with the Republican revolutionary committee. This determination was so forcible that some of the moderate leaders among the Socialists resigned from the committee, their places being filled with real revolutionists.

These resignations ended the government's dream of splitting the revolutionary ranks by divorcing the Socialists and their 300,000 workers with their terrible weapon of a general strike from the purely Republican element with their backing among the bourgeoisie and friendly soldiery.

The government announced that the municipal elections, the first in a series of elections that will end eventually in balloting for an assembly to amend the constitution, would take place on April 12 instead of March 29. Educational institutions, closed by the Borah government a month ago, are ordered reopened.

In his talk with correspondents, Alfonso said he had done all he could to satisfy his people and that he was willing to give up almost everything but his crown, which, he added, was not his to give away, being his inheritance of which he is only the temporary holder.

BECAUSE of divided opposition William Hale Thompson won renomination by the Republicans for mayor of Chicago after one of the hottest primary contests that city has ever enjoyed. The attack on him was fierce and he would have been beaten by Judge John Lyle, "nemesis" of the gunmen and gangsters, had it not been for the candidacy of Alderman Albert who was supported by Senator Deneen and his dwindling faction. The hope of these Chicagoans who seek to eliminate Thompsonism now rests with Anton Cermak, who is the nominee of the Democrats.

Ancient Swiss Hospiz Victim of Electricity

The ancient hospiz on the Grimsel pass, Switzerland, is no more; it is the latest victim to electricity, writes the Zurich correspondent of the London Sunday Observer. The wall which is being built up to block the valley of the Aare, and which will be the highest in Europe when finished in 1922, has been raised to a level above that of the former Grimsel lake. The old stone bridge which has served the traffic of six or seven centuries was engulfed by the waters, and the hospiz had to be abandoned. The longest-kept two-story building, with its whitewashed walls, was set on fire and the ruins left to the waves. Owing to the frequent rainfalls the lake rose rapidly, as much as several yards in one day, and the building has now been completely submerged.

The hospiz was first mentioned in a document dating from 1307. It was then a primitive inn. In 1557 it was much enlarged so as to accommodate the increased traffic. It had its good times up to 1880, when the Gotthard tunnel was finished and the railway absorbed the traffic.

Germany's "Medically Unfit"

There are 713,571 persons in Germany, including 290,076 women, suffering from physical and mental afflictions, according to the latest official returns. More than 23,000 are blind; of whom 4,000 were blinded in the war; 45,000 are deaf and dumb, and 430,000 others, including many war wounded, are crippled and maimed. Attention is drawn to the fact that some 40 per cent of those monthly afflicted were born so, which is considered strong evidence in support of the demand that the limit should not be permitted to marry.

THE FEATHERHEADS Which Will Be Pretty, Pretty Hard

FINNEY OF THE FORCE And You Can't Throw Out a Present

WORLD WAR YARNS

by Lieut. Frank E. Hagan

By Taxi to the Front

When the Germans started their invasion of Belgium, four American war correspondents, Irvin S. Cobb, John T. McCutcheon, Will Irwin and Arno Dorsch-Fleuret hurried to Brussels where, on the morning of August 18, 1914, they engaged a taxicab and started out to find the Belgian army. By noon they were in the thick of the fighting but not finding any place in the territory held by the Belgians where they wanted to stop they kept right on going.

Eventually this led them into the German lines where they were immediately taken prisoners and carried to a camp that night. In the morning they were taken to Gen. Von Bulow's headquarters. Through his adjutant, who spoke English, the general demanded, "How did you get here?" "Why, we came in a taxicab," replied one of the four casually. "In a taxicab!" exclaimed the general "Gott in Himmel! In a taxicab!" At the thought of these four crazy Americans driving in a taxicab straight into a battle and beyond into certain captivity, the general roared with laughter.

The four were inclined to join in the joke until the general suddenly became stern and let it be known that they were in a precarious situation. He might not shoot them as spies but there was a good chance that they would be interned for the duration of the war.

Finally Cobb, acting as spokesman for his companions, said to the general, "I beg of you, as man to man, shoot us if you must, but for God's sake stop that taxicab meter. It's still running."

For a moment Von Bulow looked sterner than ever. Then he broke into a hollow laughter and he was still roaring as he dismissed his captives. For four days they were detained at his headquarters, then were sent back under escort to Brussels.

Excuse It, Please

The Irish have a wit which responds quickly in emergencies—and emergencies always were popping up during the World War.

Witness the story told by Louis G. Bruhaker, a member of the old Second Virginia Infantry at the time of the war, to illustrate the point.

My outfit, the old Second Virginia, was encamped on the Roanoke (Va.) fair grounds in 1917, under command of the late Robert F. Leedy, says Bruhaker.

While we were on guard at the main entrance to the grounds one day, several of us were being entertained by an Irish member of our outfit who was unusually adept at imitating others. The talents of this man were directed principally toward the mimicry of Irish.

His favorite pose for this "act" was to hold one hand against his chest, with eyes rolling and mouth agape—too ridiculous for description.

He was, in this attitude when the colonel and his staff suddenly reined up before us. We snuggled into a salute but our comrade was too absorbed in his acting to even notice the visitors.

The colonel sat his horse for some moments, looking down at the Irishman, before the latter became aware of what was happening. When he saw the colonel, however, the Irish soldier retained his silly pose.

The officer was amused and astonished. It was evident. There was a twinkle in his eye as he roared: "How in the blank-blank did you ever get into this man's army?"

Without blinking an eye, the soldier's Irish wit came to his rescue. The mimic replied instantly: "Sister, they enlisted me over the telephone."

A Narrow Squeak—Rather!

On August 12, 1918, Maj. Reed G. Landis of Chicago, then a lieutenant and on the way to becoming America's second ace, hopped out with his fellow war birds in search of the enemy squadron.

They found twenty hostile flyers high above the lines of advancing Allied infantry. For twenty minutes the opposing groups played a game of aerial hide-and-seek, each trying to outmaneuver the other. Then Landis and his companions cornered some of the enemy planes, twelve miles behind their own lines. The fighting began.

Suddenly Landis, who was separated from his mates, saw a German plane swooping down for him, point blank. He swerved his own plane toward the enemy and "zoo'er the gas."

Neither hostilities. Both planes were meeting as though they were in a track. The faces of the pilots were almost together when, suddenly—

The German plane rocked sharply, spun dizzily, and whirling like a top, crashed to the forest directly below a tangled wreckage of pilot and ship.

"And that," Lieutenant (now Major) Landis admits, "was rather a narrow squeak; what?"

Earliest Magazines

The American Library association says: "It is said that the first magazine that really deserved the name was the Athenian Gazette, which appeared in London in 1691. Gentlemen's Magazine, starting in 1731, is the real beginning of the monthly magazine, such as we know it in recent years."

Soothes restless, wakeful CHILD

THERE are times when a baby is too fretful or feverish to be sung to sleep. There are some pains a mother cannot pat away. But there's no time when any baby can't have the quick comfort of Castoria. A few drops, and your little one is soon at ease—back to sleep almost before you can slip away.

Remember this harmless, pure vegetable preparation when children are ailing. Don't stop its use when Baby has been brought safely through the age of colic, diarrhea, and other infantile ills. Give good old Castoria until your children are in their teens! Whenever coated tongues tell of constipation; when there's any sign of sluggishness, just give them a more liberal dose. Castoria is so pleasant-tasting, all children love to take it.

Clock Silent Reminder

of Neglected Deposit

An ingenious incentive to thrift—a quality for which the French people are justly famous—is provided by a device recently placed on the market. It is a clock, which is at the same time a savings bank. Unless one feeds it a franc, or two francs, or three francs, as the case may be, each day, it will not run. The owner of the clock, if he does not wish the openly accusing face of the timepiece to stare at him heartlessly, motionless, and silently must therefore make his savings deposit regularly as he would wind his alarm clock. In an age when time payments can be made on almost anything, the savings clock will probably assist many people in paying their installments promptly.

Success sometimes seems the less worth while, the nearer you approach it.

Any COLD

That cold may lead to something serious, if neglected. The time to do something for it is now. Don't wait until it develops into bronchitis. Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin as soon as you feel a cold coming on. Or as soon as possible after it starts. Bayer Aspirin will head off or relieve the aching and feverish feeling—will stop the headache. And if your throat is affected, dissolve two or three tablets in a quarter-glassful of warm water, and gargle. This quickly soothes a sore throat and reduces inflammation and infection. Read proven directions for neuralgia, for rheumatism and other aches and pains. Genuine Bayer Aspirin is harmless to the heart.

BAYER ASPIRIN

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monocellulose of Salicylic acid

Their Turn

HISTORY POSTERS

The Seventh Grade History class is making posters showing scenes in the lives and administrations of the different presidents of the United States. Among those presidents chosen are Washington, Lincoln, Adams, Monroe, Jefferson, Polk, Van Buren and others. The class is working in groups of two, three, and four. Pictures are cut from old history books and supplements of Sunday newspapers.

RAINY DAYS

On rainy days I like to read, draw, and sew for the dolls in my doll house. For one of the dolls, I made a dress for afternoons, a dress for mornings and an apron. Sometimes I draw houses, trees, sunsets, airplanes, and rooms of houses. I have many books. I like to read them all. I have read each book twice. I have much fun on rainy days and like them.

JEAN FLEMING—Grade 5A,
Teacher—Miss E. Purgel.

CHANGE IN LANGUAGE

The English language which we speak was not always as it is today. Language grows and dies like every book and we find words that we no longer use. For instance, "eo eke" meaning "also", and expressions like "methinks." If a person who lived one hundred years ago should return today he would not understand some things we say.

Suppose you told him, "to switch on the lines," or "telephone a taxi-cab." So far as he is concerned, you are speaking a foreign language.

Before the fifteenth century books were written by hand on parchment which was made from skins of lamb and goats. Books were very scarce and expensive until they could be turned out in large quantities and sold cheaply. Therefore common people could not own them. In the twelfth century, paper was introduced in Western Europe by the Moors of Spain.

DOROTHY MAYER—Grade 6B,
Teacher—Miss Wahl.

I am black and white,
I live in Holland,
I eat grass from the pastures,
I give you milk,
Children drink my milk.
What am I?

EMMA KENT—Grade 4,

CLASS BASKETBALL

The ninth grade boys are leading the Class Basketball League with 9 victories, 2 ties and no defeats. The eighth grade is close behind with 7 wins, 2 ties and 2 defeats. Seventh grade is next. The series will come to an end several weeks. The winner of the league will receive a plaque with the name of the championship class on it.

SALVATORE CASALE—Grade 9A,
Teacher—Miss Gabriel.

GYM CLASS NOTES

The ninth grade physical training class is taking up making of pyramids. The activities are being entered in the school exhibition. The construction of pyramids is coached by Mr. Nols, school physical training teacher.

MAKE FURNITURE

We made paper furniture for our doll houses this week.

GENE C. BRILL—Grade 2,
Teacher—Miss Smith.

TO KEEP HEALTHY

We have been talking about health in our room. We have learned some things we can do every day to keep us clean and healthy. Do you do all these things every day? 1. Do you brush your teeth twice a day? 2. Do you wash your face, hands, neck and ears and clean your fingernails? 3. Do you take a bath at least twice a week and wear clean clothes? 4. Are you in bed at least nine hours and sleep with your windows open? 5. Do you drink more than four glasses of water and lots of milk? 6. Do you eat lots of vegetables and fruits? 7. Are you out of doors at least two hours? If you want to be healthy, do every one of these things every day.

Grade 2—Raymond

Teacher—Miss Gabriel.

A QUAIL

I saw a little quail,
I ran after him and caught him.
I put him in a pill,
And called him little Jim.

GEORGE RICHELLO—Grade 3,
Teacher—Miss Wilkie.

SIGNS OF SPRING

Our class is talking about Spring. When the grass is green, when pussy willows are here, when flowers come, when hens start to set, when leaves are green, all these are signs of Spring.

URSULA KRONE—Grade 4,
Teacher—Miss L. M. Jakobson.

WHEN I GROW UP

When I grow up I am going to be an artist. I'll draw pictures and plans of houses and things. I am going to college. I'll have an office, too.

EDWARD J. MCCARTHY—Grade 3,
Teacher—Miss Mende.

BAND NOTES

The School Band played at an agricultural cultural meeting Wednesday night, March 11. They played several selections which received much applause from the audience. The members are practicing two or three selections for the State contest in which they will represent Springfield. The band is under the supervision of Herman R. Maber.

EDWARD PHILLIPS—Grade 9A,

"BACHELOR FATHER" AT ROTH-STRAND THEATRE

Four o'clock tea was served on "The Bachelor Father" set when the comedy film, opening today and tomorrow at the Roth-Strand Theatre, was being screened at the studios. The innovation was occasioned by the predominance of Britishers in the cast, Ralph Forbes, leading man; C. Aubrey Smith, the father; Doris Lloyd, David Torrence, Ray Millan, Edward Norton and Halliwell Hobbes. Marion Davies heads the cast. It is adapted from the stage play by Edward Childs Carpenter.

Mr. Culp, Frederic March and Mary Brian are the featured players in "The Royal Family of Broadway," the offering Monday and Tuesday. It concerns a clan of actors who comprise the "royal family" of the theatre.

First on the double-feature program Wednesday and Thursday of next week is "The Passion Flower," with Charles Bickford and Kay Johnson. Others in the cast are Lewis Stone, Zasu Pitts, Winter Hall and Dickie Moore.

Leila Hyams, striking blonde heroine of "The House," portrays the feminine lead opposite Edmund Lowe in his latest Fox movie-tone comedy romance, "Part-Time Wife," companion feature on the same program.

TELEPHONE SYSTEM SHOWS EXPANSION

One Million More Spent Last Year In Program

Last year's progress in the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company's five-year expansion program to provide adequate telephone facilities in advance of need for statewide industrial and residential growth cost $34,143,653, the company reported.

This amount, $1,000,000 greater than in 1929, was spent for new buildings, central offices and equipment, telephones and telephone lines, and included equipment and new buildings for the dial telephone system in the Northern New Jersey metropolitan area.

Besides preparing the system for growth, carrying out the construction scheduled for 1930 in the five-year plan, minimized the effect of the sharp change in business conditions on the telephone organization, and contributed to the employment of workers outside this business, the report states.

Dial centers started in Newark, East Orange and South Orange were the principal new building projects of the year. A large addition to the Elizabeth telephone building was completed for dial use. Installation of new dial equipment was started in Elizabeth and Irvington during the year, and a large part of the engineer-dial project was completed. In addition to construction directly attributable to the dial program, thirteen new telephone buildings were erected during the year, including new central office buildings at Allendale, Bordentown, Livingston, Ramsey, Rockaway, Ocean City, Radburn, Riverton and Westfield. A new building to house "repeater" equipment for long distance circuits was completed and placed in service near Hammonton, and a second "repeater" station building, not yet in service, was completed at South Amboy. Additions to buildings in Jersey City and Morris town were completed and another was started at Mendham. New central office buildings were started during the year but not completed at Summit, Keyport and Mendham.

A subscription to the SUN is only $2.00 a year and will keep you informed on all local happenings of interest.

Anarchistic Principle
Anarchism is a system of social doctrines and propaganda based thereon, the essential features of which are the abolition of all constitutional authority and the complete emancipation of the individual from every form of control, political, social and religious.

The BEST Gray Hair Remedy is Home Made

To half pint of water add one ounce bayrum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.
