Crusade Union Boy Singers to be Heard in Methodist Episcopal Church April 10

Nationally-Known Group Will Appear Here in Epworth League Benefit

The much heralded Crusade Union Boy Singers, consisting of boys from all parts of the country possessing leading voices, will pay a visit to Springfield Friday evening of next week, April 10.

The boy singers will be heard in the Methodist Episcopal Church at 8 o'clock. Tickets are twenty-five cents for children up to the age of fifteen, and fifty cents for adults. The price of admission to hear the famous group has been as high as two dollars at some concerts, but in view of the present economic conditions, the price was reduced to insure a large appearance.

The Epworth League of the church is sponsoring the exercises, and proceeds will go to that organization. Mark M. Brady is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the exercises.

The Crusade Union Boy Singers have traveled in many states in the last year, and have been successful in New England, New York and Canada. The trip was made in a bus of the Somerset Bus Company, luxuriously equipped.

The chorus consisted of 36 boys, 12 sopranos, five altos, seven tenors, seven bass, a horn quartet and a pianist.

They traveled nearly 3,000 miles and were greeted everywhere with an escort of state and local police. In Toronto, they were tendered a luncheon, attended by the Mayor and other high officials.

According to reports, one lady after hearing them in a concert, declared she had never dreamed there could be music like that this side of Heaven.

Many members are residents of Union County, although most of them are separated in many states.

SCHILLING, ALLEN ADDED TO LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT

Board of Fire Commissioners Make Selections From Seven Applications

Charles Schilling and Leslie Allen were appointed paid members of the Springfield Fire Department, by the Board of Fire Commissioners Tuesday night. Seven applications for the positions were received, the requirement being that only members of the Volunteer Department could be considered.

The salary of the new men, $1,820 per year, equal to that paid new police members, is provided in the budget of the fire department approved earlier in the year by the voters of the township. The appointments were effective on Wednesday of this week.

Schilling and Allen will work full time, one day and the other nights, under Chief Charles Pinkava, hitherto the only paid member in the department. The chief was named a paid member in November, 1929.

The Township Committee met with the Board of Commissioners the night the appointments were made and decided that the question of a municipal department, to be laid over until the November election, when a Township Council, Charles W. Weeks, advised the proper legal step is to submit the question to the voters at a referendum. The department will still consist of the three paid men and volunteer members, until the need is required for more additions.

The volunteer force consists of thirty-five men, including the paid members.

PRESBYTERIANS TO HEAR MISSIONARY

Arizona Worker to Speak in Springfield April 14

Because of disturbed conditions in the island of Hainan, China, the Navajo Indians gained a friend in Dr. Clarence G. Salisbury, Presbyterian national missionary, superintendent of National Mission, Ganado, Arizona, who will speak at the Elizabeth Presbyterian meeting in the Springfield Presbyterian Church, April 14.

Dr. Salisbury went to China in 1914 under the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions to do medical work in Hainan. There he also became known as the "mission builder" because of the extensive building programs carried out at the several stations at which he was located during his stay in China. He himself speaks of his services in this direction as "recreation." In 1926 he came to America on furlough, and found it impossible to return because of conditions in Hainan. He consented to give assistance in Ganado Mission, Arizona, while waiting opportunity to go back to China but found his medical skill of so much value to the Navajo Indians in their need that he decided to stay with the Board of National Missions. The Presbyterian Hospital and the new boys' dormitory are two concrete testimonies to his continued activity at Ganado in his chosen recreation.

"The greatest drawback we have in our hospital work," states Dr. Salisbury, "is the belief in the medicine man. Navajos think that evil spirits infect the hospital where people have died. You see when a Navajo dies in a Hogan, that hogan is deserted forever. It is then an abiding place for evil spirits." In a recent report from a missionary on the Navajo, the number of Christian Navajos was estimated as 115 per cent.

Dr. Salisbury is one of 1,023 missionaries who carry on 7,752 enterprises maintained by the Presbyterian Board of National Missions. Sixty-three different languages and dialects are used in the work.

Over 400 delegates of Presbyterian Churches throughout Union County will attend the meeting, which will be an all-day session.

SCHOOLS CLOSED UNTIL APRIL 13

Springfield's schools closed yesterday afternoon for the spring vacation until Monday, April 13. A half-day session was held yesterday.

CRUSADE SINGER

LEROY CONNELLY

Barnby; Organ Postlude: March of the Priest (Athalie) by P. Mendelssohn.

Good Friday Services A joint Good Friday service for the Methodist Episcopal and Presbyterian Churches of Springfield and Baptist Church of Millburn will be held tonight in the Presbyterian Church at 8 o'clock.

The Rev. John Wesley Riley, Baptist pastor, will deliver the sermon, and the Rev. Dr. Liggett and Rev. Mr. Reed, Presbyterian and Methodist pastors, are assisting.

Springfield Girl Weds in Bridgeport The wedding of Miss Mabel Estelle Spencer, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude H. Spencer of 30 Marion avenue, to Donald Meeker Spinning of Bridgeport, Conn., was held Monday in the Congregational Church of Bridgeport. The Rev. Dr. William Horace Day, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Spencer's sister, Mrs. George Johnson, also of 30 Marion avenue, was bridesmaid, and her brother-in-law, Mr. Johnson, was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Spinning are spending a few days on a trip to Massachusetts and Rhode Island, will make their residence in Bridgeport.

In Pageant The Misses Eunice E. Bohl, Edith E. Bohl and Mildred A. Bohl of Maple avenue have parts in a pageant, "The Holy City," to be presented Sunday evening in the Millburn Baptist Church by the Young People's Baptist Union. Miss Mildred Bohl is the author of the pageant.

Buildings Filled to Capacity, Impossible to Postpone Action, Board Member Tells P. T. A. Body

REPUBLICAN CLUB TO HEAR SPEAKER

Charles J. Ehmiling of Cranford Guest Tonight

The Springfield Republican Club will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight in the Lions Club rooms in the Brookside Building, Flermer avenue, at 8 o'clock. President Lee S. Rigby will be in charge.

Charles J. Ehmiling of Cranford will be the principal speaker of the evening, and postal cards sent to members as notification of the meeting state "he is man with a message." Members are being urged to bring their friends.

It is believed that Mrs. Charles A. Mundy, chairman of the club's entertainment committee, will report something definite regarding an affair to be held soon under the auspices of the organization.

No action in the primary contest campaign is expected to be discussed. The club at its March meeting approved the candidacies of Charles S. Cannon and Alfred G. Trundle for Township Committeeman, and Charles H. Huff for reelection as Freeholder.

PETITIONS FOR CANDIDATES OUT

Circulating Papers For Democratic Candidates

Nominating petitions are being circulated for the Democratic candidates, Joseph H. Gunn, for freeholder, and David S. Jenkins and Otto Heinz for township committee. When they are filed they will be filed with the township clerk.

The list of Democratic county committee members have been completed. They are as follows: First district, Vincent Shea and Mrs. Lillian Lott; second district, Cecil Jenkins and Mrs. Florence Cullen; third district, Edward Cardinal, Jr. and Mrs. Emanuel O. Holms.

The regular meeting of the Democratic Club will be held next Thursday night at the Colonial Inn.

Democratic members of the election boards will be announced. Plans will be completed for the Democratic Club outing, to be held in the United Singers Grove, Immergreen avenue, Saturday afternoon and night, May 16. A carnival feature has been added to the program, starting in the afternoon. There will be dancing at night. Prizes will be given at the carnival booths and special gold prizes will be awarded at the dance.

DEALERS REPORT OF REDUCED COAL PRICES

New Spring prices on coal were announced by dealers of this vicinity Wednesday. Reductions of 75 cents to one dollar have been made in the egg, stove and nut sizes, but increases of approximately 50 to 75 cents have been added to the smaller sizes, pea, buck and rice.

Dealers are not certain that the prices will remain fixed during the Spring, but may change, either higher or lower.

PREBYTERIAN SUPPER NETS PROFIT OF $200

A profit of close to $200 was realized from a turkey supper last Friday evening in the Presbyterian chapel, under the auspices of the Ladies' Benevolent Society. It was reported at the monthly meeting of the society, Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. F. M. Marshall, president of the society, conducted the meeting.

About 150 suppers were served, and the men of the church served the tables, which were decorated with spring flowers. The ways and means committee, with Mrs. A. P. Brill and Mrs. William Stocke as chairman, arranged the details.

The topic of the Wednesday meeting was "The Leadership in Africa and America Among the Negroes." Mrs. Everett T. Spinning read a set of papers compiled by Mrs. Marshall. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. A. H. Schmidt, chairman, Mrs. N. Bonnet, Mrs. T. Hankins, Sr., Mrs. A. Lamb, Mrs. Albert Hall, Mrs. H. Ross, and Miss Elizabeth Kessler. About 25 members were present.

WILL HOLD EASTER SUNRISE SERVICE

The annual Easter Sunrise service of the Methodist Episcopal and Presbyterian Churches will be held Sunday morning. Members will meet in front of the Methodist Church at 4:45 a. m. They congregated at Eagle Rock at 5:30 a. m., at which time the service will begin.

Vice-President John Potts Says High School Building Must Be Erected; Elementary, Junior High Purposes At First; Election in April or May

An election to vote for appropriating approximately $300,000 for a high school building on the Flermer high school site in Flermer avenue, to be used for housing elementary and junior high school pupils, will be held within a month or six weeks.

"Impossible to Delay" John Potts, vice-president of the Board of Education, in an address to members of the Parent-Teacher's Association Monday night in the James Caldwell School announced plans for such an election, declaring that the tremendous increase of school pupils within the past few years has reached a point where it is "impossible to go along without erecting a school building."

The present school quarters are caring for more pupils than the standard requires, "Mr. Potts stated," and in recent years the Board of Education has utilized all possible space, combining classrooms and part-time classes to cope with the situation.

"The condition is now acute," he marked. The enrollment of elementary and junior high school pupils in the local system is 767, and we have available eighteen rooms, fourteen in the James Caldwell School and four in the Raymond Chisholm School. This makes an average of 42 pupils to a room, which is never proper for comfort and instruction.

"Should the Flermer Annex in Morris avenue be sold or torn down, the building must be vacated. Also, this does not measure up to the standard." The speaker also asserted that the Flermer Annex was "very temporary."

Mr. Potts continued, "Three or four years ago, the average increase per year in enrollment was 53. In the last two years, we have an average increase of 65. Thus, in five years, we will require ten classrooms, each room seating about 35."

"Twenty-two rooms are now available, in addition to the Flermer Annex, or an average of 35 pupils, which are being filled to capacity. Unless another building is erected, nothing can be done to solve the problem. This is similar to the 'Old Woman With the Shoe.' She had so many children and didn't know what to do."

Four Possible Plans The speaker declared four possible solutions remained to solve the problem of increasing enrollment. They are: one, to add to the James Caldwell School; two, enlarging the Raymond Chisholm School; three, to build on the tract of land purchased last year in South Springfield avenue between State Highway 29 and Mountain avenue for elementary school purposes; and four, to construct a high school building on the Flermer high school site, which will not be used during the first few years to house high school pupils, but those in the elementary and junior high grades.

Mr. Potts said that the first plan, to add to the James Caldwell building is out of question, since it would have to be adjacent to the present structure, the plans not permitting constructing higher stories. In this manner, the playground space will have to be sacrificed, the speaker said. To enlarge the Raymond Chisholm other building is erected, nothing can be done to solve the problem. This is similar to the 'Old Woman With the Shoe.' She had so many children and didn't know what to do."

A question from the audience asked in what way the Parent-Teacher's Association might play a part in the project, and Mr. Potts replied that by helping to keep the public informed of the true situation of overcrowded conditions might the taxpayers know that the construction of a new building is needed. The advantage of having such a representative body as the P. T. A. assisting in the plan would prove beneficial, he concluded.

Physiology Talk Heard Miss Wilma Lloyd, instructor in physiology and physicist at the Montclair State Teachers' College spoke on the subject of proper methods for aiding in correcting problems encountered in the study of child physiology. Miss Lloyd, who also teaches mental hygiene and child guidance at the college, gave an interesting forty-five minute talk, using as an example a ten-year-old boy with whom she had been aiding.

Miss Lloyd stressed the important principles taken into consideration in the study, and after finishing her address, answered questions from the floor.

The program opened with individual selections by members of the Junior High School Orchestra. Harry Anderson was heard in a saxophone solo, "Indian Love Song"; Thomas Cushing, a trumpet solo, "Lost Chord"; and Rochford Fern in a violin solo, "Passé Pied."

Mrs. E. Ward, a member of the James Caldwell School faculty, rendered a vocal solo, "Gypsy Love Song."

Mrs. A. B. Anderson, chairman of the Library Commission, and chairman of the original committee of five appointed by the P. T. A. to investigate the possibilities of a library, reported that twenty-two members have enrolled in the Library Association. She also stated that a rumor that the funds will be used to erect a separate library building, were untrue, and that the library quarters, vacant and centrally-located store. The quarters will be the modest, the chairman explained.

Refreshments were served after the meeting. Mrs. Thomas J. Cullen and Mrs. Edward P. Mollor were hostesses. Over 100 members and friends were present.

Worst Enemies of Peace I think rather the worst enemies of improvement in the relations of the nations are the people who are impatient.—Bliss Road.

COUNTY COMMITTEE CONTEST IS SEEN

G. O. P. Women's Club Plan 3rd District Fight

The Women's Republican Club has placed Mrs. Ernest B. Woolverton, of Hillside avenue, as a contestant from the third district to secure the Republican nomination for the county committee at the primary election May 19, it was announced yesterday.

Mrs. Joseph A. Oelling of 17 Renner avenue, Springfield Heights, has been endorsed by the Springfield Republican Club, to take the place of Mrs. John J. King, of 63 Tooker avenue, present county committeewoman in that district, who is forced to resign due to a recent illness.

According to the statement issued by the Women's Republican Club, Mrs. King is favoring the candidacy of Mrs. Woolverton.

The contest for a Republican county committee post here is unusual, the first of its kind occurring last year when Mrs. Charlotte A. Treat, Republican county committeewoman in the second district, was opposed for reelection by Mrs. G. M. Duttweiler, Mrs. Treat, a member for many years, won by a comfortable margin. She is a present member of the Republican county committee.

May Report State While the report was not confirmed, it is evident that the Women's Republican Club may also enter a slate of two other female candidates for the county committee in the first and second districts.

UPSETS MARKED IN MUNICIPAL LEAGUE

Jr. Order Bowlers Win Odd From Five Aces; Fire Dept. Drops One; Still First

The Jr. O. U. A. M. team taking two out of three games from the strong Five Aces quintet, and the loss of one game by the Fire Department marked upsets in the Municipal Bowling League Wednesday night.

The firemen's string of eight straight snapped in the third game against the Union County Coal and Lumber squad, the volunteers marking a poor 781, in spite of a brilliant 222 by Dean Widmer, their lead-off man.

The Five Aces were expected to win three from the Juniors, but a high 268 in the second game the highest score to date in the league to date, by Walt Parsell, of the Jr. O. U. A. M., spelled defeat.

Other results: Board of Education won two over Severna Park, and the Royal Blues, after losing seven straight, decided to gain a notch in the winning column, by taking over the Lions Club in the last two games.

WORLD'S BILLIARD CHAMP TO PLAY HERE

Erwin Rudolph, of Chicago, who holds the world's championship in pocket billiards, will be seen in an exhibition at Woodruff's Alleys in Center street tomorrow night at 9 o'clock. A local player will oppose the champion.

After the match, he will exhibit several trick shots. Admission is twenty-five cents.

SPRING DANCE HELD BY D. of A. COUNCIL

Pride of Battle Hill Council No. 17, Daughters of America, held a spring dance Friday evening in the Municipal Building. A large attendance was present.

Music was furnished by Penn's Orchestra. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Mrs. Ofa Duell, chairman, Mrs. Lillie Solander, Miss Carrie M. MacDonald and Miss Anna Eldred.

The council will meet April 10, at which time several candidates will be initiated.

President Hoover on Business and Pleasure Trip to Porto Rico and Virgin Islands—Mayor Walker Under Fire.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Gov. Theodore Roosevelt

PRESIDENT HOOVER and a "stag party" sailed from Norfolk, Va., Thursday morning on the reconditioned battleship Arizona for a twelve-day trip on which the Chief Executive planned to combine rest and business. Included in the party were Secretary of War Hurley, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, Capt. William Furlong, who handles navy island matters; Capt. Charles H. Train, naval aide; Col. Campbell Hodges, army aide; various other officials from the White House, and a bunch of newspaper men and photographers. Capt. C. S. Freeman was in command of the Arizona and the vessel carried a full complement of 90 officers and 1,244 men for it was making a staking down run after being rebuilt.

The first stop was at San Juan, Porto Rico, and the President for two days was to be the guest of Governor and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt at La Fortaleza, the old mansion in which governors of the island have resided from the early days of the Spanish regime. It was planned that Mr. Hoover should make a tour of the island in order to observe industrial, agricultural and social conditions, meet the leaders of the political parties and gain a general idea of the success Governor Roosevelt has attained in meeting the problems of the Porto Ricans, which are many and serious.

The governor in his official reports and in communications to the American papers has given detailed pictures of the distress obtaining in the island. Sixty per cent of the people are out of work, he said, either all or part of the year.

The population density is exceeded by few countries. It is 430 to the square mile and even intensive agriculture would not support this population. So it is in industries that Governor Roosevelt says must be developed. More than 35,000 persons are suffering from tuberculosis, 200,000 from malaria, and 600,000 from hookworm.

From Porto Rico the Arizona was to proceed to St. Thomas, principal port of the Virgin Islands, where Mr. Hoover was to be met by Dr. Paul M. Pearson, of Philadelphia, the recently appointed civil governor, and Waldor Evans of the navy, the retiring governor. With them he was to study the problems of the group, which are as serious as those of Porto Rico. The Virgin Islands used to prosper on the manufacture of rum and the transshipment of European cargoes for the entire Caribbean region. The prevailing economic distress is the result of prohibition and the conversion of coal burning vessels to oil consuming ships.

Only a few days ago the control of the Virgin Islands was transferred from the Navy to the Interior department, and now in Washington it is suggested that one result of the President's visit may be the amalgamation of the group with Porto Rico as a single political unit administered by one governor.

THEODORE G. JOSLIN, Washington correspondent of the Boston Transcript, has been made secretary to President Hoover to succeed George Aikens, resigned. Mr. Joslin is a close personal friend of Mr. Hoover. His main duties will be arranging the President's calling list, handling visitors at the executive offices and maintaining contact between the President and the correspondents.

The new secretary is an experienced political reporter and has a wide acquaintance among public men. He is a native of Massachusetts and is forty-one years old.

DEVELOPMENTS in the campaign to clean up New York City politically are coming rapidly. During the week formal charges of neglect and ineptness were filed against Jimmy Walker, the dapper and debauched mayor of the metropolis, now residing himself in California. The charges were presented to Governor Roosevelt by leaders of the city affairs committee and were said to be of such a nature as to compel the governor to take some action toward wounding the investigation now being conducted by Samuel Seabury and confirmed by police and magistrates.

Samuel Seabury

Governor Roosevelt had let it become known that he would not respond to any public clamor for a wide investigation and that he would act only upon specific charges, such as led him to appoint Seabury to investigate the conduct of District Attorney Thomas G. T. Crain. Previously Seabury had been put in charge of an investigation of police frameups in vice cases and of the conduct of city magistrates.

The governor was asked by Crain to revoke the appointment of Seabury on the ground of bias but refused, and Crain was summoned to appear and answer the charges made against him by the City club.

Republican members of the state legislature were all trying to put through a resolution for a general inquiry into New York conditions, but were blocked by several recalcitrant members of their own party.

DURING the next three months it was announced at the White House, President Hoover will carry out an extensive speaking program, delivering eight addresses and making nine public appearances. Besides this, he is contemplating a trip to his home in Palo Alto, Calif. The subjects of his speeches have not been announced, but it is understood he will take the opportunity to set forth his own estimate of the achievements of his administration so far and his aims for the future. Thus he will be in a measure taking up the challenge put out by the progressives at their recent conference in Washington.

The speaking calendar for the President is arranged as follows:

April 13—American Red Cross in Washington.

April 14—Pan-American Day, Pan-American Union, Washington.

May 4—International Chamber of Commerce, Washington.

May 21—Fiftieth anniversary of the Red Cross, Washington.

May 30—Memorial Day, Valley Forge, Pa.

June 15—Republican Editorial Association, Indianapolis, Ind.

June 16—Dedication of Harding Memorial, Marion, Ohio.

June 17—Dedication of Lincoln Memorial, Springfield, Ill.

In addition to these engagements, the President is to review veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic at their reunion June 10 in Columbus, Ohio.

Senator Hiram Johnson

SENATOR HIRAM Johnson, of California, who is one of the most independent members of the upper house, thinks the recent conference of progressive leaders was a "fine thing" and that the leaders of the Republican party should call a similar meeting, adding: "Only good can come from such gatherings. He is convinced that 'something is radically wrong somewhere' with the Republican party."

Mr. Johnson gave out a statement in which he agreed with some of the progressive doctrines and disagreed with others, but said that "public consideration, study and discussion constitute the contribution and value of the conference." He asserted the country was naturally interested in unemployment, representative government, the power question, monopoly encroachments and public utilities, adding:

"Some of our Republican brethren not only belittle the effort but would transmit it into the one public matter of concern to them—politics. But a philosophic outlooker who long ago marked his own course, and professes in his own way to follow it, might suggest that only progressives, in the interim between sessions, bring these vital questions up in public meeting for public discussion. Can any one imagine the staid wing of either party meeting together with earnest and able experts and publicly discussing economic problems?"

DEATH once more has changed the political make-up of the house of representatives which will assemble in December. James B. Aswell, of Louisiana, Democrat and ranking minority member of the agricultural committee, passed away at his apartment in Washington after a heart attack. He was sixty-two years old and had served in congress for nine consecutive terms.

Mr. Aswell's death leaves in the house 217 Republicans, 215 Democrats and one Farmer-Laborite. Representatives John P. Quayle and David J. O'Connell, both Democrats of New York, died last winter. Their successors, Matthew V. O'Maley and Stephen A. Hudd, are both Democrats. Representative Henry Allen Cooper, Republican of Wisconsin, died last March 11. His successor has not been chosen.

EVERYONE has now filed his income tax return, or should have done so, and the experts in Washington are busy figuring up how much Uncle Sam will receive. Treasury officials could not yet make definite predictions as to the collections for the first quarter, but they hoped that the receipts for March would run above $400,000,000 and those for the first quarter, ending March 31, well above $2,000,000,000. At least one-fourth of the total tax due was paid with the income tax returns filed, so that collections for the first quarter will run somewhat above the average for the four quarters.

Indications are that the higher tax rate for 1930 incomes will fail to offset the losses caused by the economic depression by around $100,000,000. Last year's collections for the first quarter were $628,000,000.

PROBABLY twenty men perished when the sealer Viking was blown up in White Bay, Newfoundland. Of the survivors 118, many of them badly injured, managed to reach Little Horse Island, where a few inhabitants tried to care for them with inadequate food and no medical supplies. Several others were picked up by vessels that sped to the rescue, called by the messages of the young girl radio operator on the island. Besides the large crew the Viking carried the members of a moving-picture expedition.

Secretary Doak

ONE of the earnest hopes of the American Federation of Labor—the affiliation of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen—is soon to be realized, according to dispatches from Washington. Representatives of both bodies and of certain affiliated railway workers' unions were engaged during the week in drafting the terms of an agreement for the amalgamation. Representing the federation in the conference were President William Green, Secretary Frank Morrison and Vice President J. M. Bugonovich, who also is secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Sitting in for the trainmen were President Albert Whitney and James J. Farquharson, legislative agent.

The drafting conference was the culmination of negotiations that have been in progress for a year. In which Secretary of Labor Doak, in his former capacity as legislative agent of the trainmen's organization, is said to have played an important part.

UNEXPECTEDLY heavy demands by World War veterans for loans have made it necessary for the treasury to raise $300,000,000 in less than a month. Secretary Mellon announced a request by Veterans' Administrator Hines for $500,000,000 to cover payments on 1,372,000 applications received up to March 15. It had been estimated $300,000,000 would suffice, and 1 1/2 per cent treasury certificates were issued to get that sum. Hines said, however, the $400,000,000 would be needed by April 11. The veterans' administrator also told Mellon $1,000,000,000 would be required to pay all loans.

MAL DAUGHERTY, brother of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, was sentenced at Washington Court House, Ohio, to ten years in prison and a fine of $5,000. He was convicted recently of abstracting funds from the now defunct Ohio State bank of which he was president and was refused a new trial.

PIETRO CARDINAL Maffi, archbishop of Pisa and one of the most eminent members of the sacred college, is dead. In 1918 at the age of seventy-three years, in his earlier years he gained fame as an astronomer and teacher of philosophy; he was made archbishop in 1903 and four years later was raised to the purple by Pope Pius X. The same pope, it was rumored, considered deposing him because he supported the modernists in a contest with the reactionaries in the church. Twice, afterward, Maffi was considered a papal possibility. He was always a great friend of the Italian royal family, and he celebrated last year at the marriage of Crown Prince Umberto of Italy and Princess Marie Jose of Belgium. For this he was given the Collar of the Annunziata, the highest gift of the crown.

Cardinal Maffi's death reduces the Italian membership in the sacred college to 28, against 30 foreign members. Therefore it is expected in Rome that a consistory will be held before long at which the pope will create a number of cardinals and give the Italians at least equal strength with the foreigners.

SO VARIED are the interests of different countries that the tariff armistice convention called at Geneva by the League of Nations is forced to report that it has failed to reach an agreement, though it has hopes that within a few years enough nations will ratify the pact to make it effective for Europe.

The conference was called by the league in an effort to secure a truce on the raising of tariffs and later to obtain a general reduction of tariffs. Only eleven countries ratified the truce clause and all eleven made important reservations. The usual reservation was, "If surrounding countries would also ratify."

Wife Almost Drowns

Man When He Faints

Seattle, Wash.—Gilbert King fainted in his water. His wife doused him with water. The water failed to revive him, and Dr. J. T. Colow was forced to use artificial respiration to bring him to consciousness. King was on the verge of drowning.

WIFE ENSLAVED BY SISTER, MAN SAYS

Wealthy Contractor Files Suit for $25,000.

Washington.—The matrimonial happiness of George W. Moore, wealthy retired contractor, was wrecked by his sister-in-law, he charged in a suit filed in District Supreme court recently, seeking $25,000 alleged alienation of his "wife's affections."

Mrs. Hazel Jason Littleton of Chevy Chase Gardens, Md., sister of Moore's wife, is named as defendant. The plaintiff describes himself as a man "past middle life" and of considerable income.

On May 10, 1930, he relates, he married Honilete Jason Davidson.

Among his belongings, says Moore's petition, are:

"A commodious residence at 436 York avenue, N. W., which has been his family home since youth, together with a resort cottage at Colonial Beach, Va., where it was his habit formerly as well as after marriage to spend his leisure time."

Mrs. Littleton, he charged, urged her sister to seek a resort home more favorably located.

For this purpose, the husband continues, he made available the sum of $12,000.

This was the result, according to his petition:

"The defendant, contriving to injure the plaintiff and disrupt amicable relations between the plaintiff's wife and himself and exercising a kind of superiority over her, persuaded her to select a residence out of all proportion to requirements of the plaintiff, his family or their friends."

Mrs. Littleton, he charges, continued to "mold his wife to her will."

On October 11, 1930, he said, while he was absent from home, his wife's sister persuaded her to leave him and go to her home in Chevy Chase.

Daughter Says Mother Stole Her Boy Friend

Newark, N. J.—Mrs. Pauline Johnson, wealthy, socially prominent and maturely beautiful, yearned for youthful love; so she took her daughter Evelyn's boy friend to join her in sunbaths in the Catskills.

"I have a very warm nature," she explained to Advisory Minister in Chancery Francis Childs while defending Charles J. Johnson's suit for divorce. "Charles doesn't love me."

Young Bob Fridkin, orchestra leader, who, Johnson charged, shared the sunbaths and breakfasts, was not in court.

Boys employed by a Catskill mountain hotel, however, testified that on fifteen occasions they had served Mrs. Johnson and Fridkin in the former's room, before they had dressed. Other employees told of startling sunbaths which the two took on the Catskill hillsides.

Johnson testified that he had given his wife everything she wanted, a home in Lakewood, N. J., for the winter, and summer in the Catskills, eight fur coats, a $5,500 automobile, $300 a month pin money—and still she wasn't satisfied.

"How can I love her?" he asked. "When she stays out until one or two o'clock in the morning, refusing to tell where she has been."

Perhaps the most pathetic figure in the case was Evelyn, whose boy friend her mother is said to have sunbathed with.

"It's all a mistake," she said in court. "Bob is my friend. He came to the hotel to see me. At least, I thought so."

Miniature Golf Course Romance Ends in Court

Los Angeles.—A kissing honeymoon was described in intimate detail by Mrs. Jessie M. Lelhy, choir singer, testifying at the hearing of the contested divorce suits of herself and George W. Lelhy, wealthy retired candy manufacturer. Frequently giving way to tears, Mrs. Lelhy said she and the white-haired bridegroom spent their honeymoon at Agua Caliente, La Jolla and Riverside. She is forty and Lelhy is sixty-two.

Both Lelhy's charge cruelty in the brief married life from September 14, 1929, to April 22, 1930, when they parted. They met on a miniature golf course.

Child Dies in Flames as Mother Insures Her Life

Charlottesville, Va.—Suffocation by smoke and flames brought death to nine-month-old Mary Lou Danks as her mother, Mrs. Frank Danks, stood upon the front porch of her home, near here, taking out insurance on the lives of her three little girls.

The child was in the living room of the home less than 50 feet away from her mother. Her sister, Anna Lee, two, in her play, had pushed Mary Lou's baby carriage into an open grate.

The Come-back of the Old Time Fiddler

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

SHORT time ago a Montreal newspaper printed an article under the title of "Our Canadian Folk Dances" in which Kathleen Rodman Strange, the author, said: "If you ever have watched a group of country people engaged in a square dance, you will readily understand why I regret the passing of these old-time favorites from the floors of our present-day country dance halls."

"As recently as ten years ago these square or group dances were an integral part of our western country life. Today the modern tendency for jazz is crowding out the old-time fiddler and the old-time dances. The old-time fiddler cannot play the new dance music, though he can play the old Irishly. The consequence is that not only the fiddlers, the callers, and the old rhymes themselves, but also the people who know how to dance the figures are disappearing."

If this Canadian woman had crossed the boundary line into this country and visited various places in a number of different states she might have discovered that mourning over the "passing of the old-time fiddler" is still a bit premature. If, for instance, she had gone into the Catskills in New York she might have made an interesting discovery, as witness the following from the New York Sun:

Having explored the Catskills, Mary Elizabeth Osborn has recorded in American Speech some of the results of her observations on the square dance.

The neighbors gather in the "front parlor," the barn, or, corrupting touch for the true antiquarian, in the garage. The fiddler calls the figures; he is dictator of the dance; he has been known to stop fiddling and scold the dancers if the figure is not being performed quite swiftly enough or evenly enough to meet his approval.

Whatever the dance may be, says this historian, there are introductory and closing steps that are always the same. The opening figure is called thus:

"Head compass, right and left, half promenade, ladies change, balance four, alternate left, all promenade."

The closing figure is directed in this fashion by the master of festivities:

"Ladies to the right and swing, balance to the next; Gents to the right and swing, balance to the next; Alternate left, all promenade."

In "Swain's Links," a favorite dance, the figures are performed with enthusiasm to these instructions, the "flying lady" is frequently lifted, thrown from the dance and swung in the air with right good will:

"First lady swing with captain links; Now with the one that never drinks; Now with the one that carries the drinks; And now with the duke of the ballroom; First gentleman dance with lady so fair; Now with the one with curls in her hair; Now with the one that lies in the room; And now with belle of the ballroom."

A typical dance for four couples is expressed in these lines:

"First two give right hands across, back with the left; Fall back between side couples, and forward six."

Richmond, Va.—For the first time in Virginia's history the old lyrics of a forgotten day that came to America with the first colonists, are to be heard again, when the picturesque valleys and hollows of the Blue Ridge mountains surrender their mountain bards, April 14 to 17, of this year for the first Virginia music festival, to be held at Charlottesville. Above is shown a group of the old fiddlers getting in a bit of practice for the coming festival.

And back with the left; Join your partner, And balance four in a line; Swing to places, And promenade all."

This is an aspect of life in the Catskills, the summer boarder does not know. One author says that in the villages the square dances are falling off somewhat in popularity, but on the farms they are as greatly enjoyed as they were a generation ago. Jazz leaves the guests' appetite.

It was only a year or so ago that the Kansas City Star chronicled the fact that "ten old-time fiddlers, five from north Missouri and an equal number from the southern section of the state, will see it out December 30 at Jefferson City for the state championship." The winner will receive a large silver cup. The contest is expected to "take all night." And the Iowa (Des Moines) Herald reported that "the Ozarks have radio and free rural mail delivery; they have automobiles and roads but refuse to abandon the old square dance where the fiddler plays the 'Arkansas Traveller' and 'Turkey in the Straw' and at the same time calls the dance figures in verse."

A year or so ago a South Dakota editor, commenting upon the revival of the old-time dances in that state, was moved to the following reminiscence of an earlier day:

In the spring of 1870, I witnessed my first frontier dance. A new store building was to be dedicated with a dance. There was room for three "sets" of four couples each to dance at once and the musician and caller was Dime Evans. Just what Dime was a contraction of I never knew. His music didn't appeal even to my unpracticed ear, but his unique and poetic improvisation as he "called" to his own fiddling impressed me more than the movement of the dancers. When the sets were full, Dime's fiddling and also his voice came into action. He always sang in a booming monotone, keeping time also with his foot. The opening was always the same, "S'ute yer partners."

"One hands and circle to the left, "Eight hands and circle to the left, "Eight hands and circle to the left, "Eight hands and circle to the left."

By this time his eyes were closed and his voice had risen to a sort of rhythmic wail:

"First couple lead to the couple on the right, "Lady in the center and three hands round; mind yer feet fellers, don't tramp on her gown, "First lady swing out and second lady in; three line hands and circle again, "On to the next couple, hoe it down; three line hands and caper round, "Third lady to the center; give your honey a whirl, lead to the next yer best girl, "Grab your honker, don't let 'em fall, shake yer honks and balance all, "Blindfold cones in the cross at play; grab your partners and run away, "Or there might be a variation, after the grand circle to the left, something like this:

"Buffalo gals are a comin' out to-night; first couple lead to the couple on the right; Jaybird scoldin' 'em in a tree; gents stand around and ladies do-se; if you catch a yellow jacket let 'er go; ladies stand back and gents do-se-do. On to the next and do it some more; make them cow hites hit the floor, "Back to your places that-away; grab them helters and all-chaw hay, "Or it might be in a sort of reminiscence and sentimental vein that he would call:

"First gent lead to lady on yer right and watch yer step now, mind yer back to yer place and swing there gal, the gal yer left behind yer."

Dime's physical endurance apparently was an inexhaustible as his power of improvisation. Hour after hour the old fiddler would screech, and hour after hour the voice of the fiddler would drone on while his foot kept time without intermission. Of course there were occasional periods of irritation, though Dime never seemed to be affected by his notions, and when at last the dance broke up it was near the hour of blushing morn.

Similarly a writer in the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal told of old-time dances and old-time fiddlers in that state as follows:

Some of the old-time Kentucky fiddlers had more of a variety of tuneful breakdown melodies in their repertoire than others, but there was one accomplishment in which fewer excelled. That was the calling of the dance figures, which some of them could do in an original and novel way.

The figures of the old-time square dances were called off in the quaint vernacular couched in loose rhyme, and the variations that took a wide range occasioned much merriment. Following is a sample of one of the characteristic dance calls of the period:

"S'ute yer partner and let her go; Balance all and do-se-do; Swing yer gal and run away; Right and left and gents susans; Gents to right and swing or cheat; On to next and repeat, "Balance next and don't be shy; Swing yer pard and swing her high, Bunch the gals and circle round; Whack yer feet until they bound, Form a basket and break away; Swing around and all get gay; All gents left and balance all; Lift yer honks and let 'em fall; Swing yer opposide, swing again; Ketch the suzobens if you kin, Back to partner, do-se-do; All line hands and off you go, Gents salute yer little sweeties; Hitch and promenade to seats."

The time-honored square dance, or quadrille, included other figures, one of them being called "blind-in-the-eye." Others were made up and interpolated, such as "Swing Yer Long Cornstalk," which had its origin in Arkansas. Usually the fiddler "calls" at other times had a fiddler's voice and he contributed much to the "shindies" of the period that often lasted until daylight before the final strains of "Home, Sweet Home" broke up the party.

All of which offers rather conclusive evidence that it's not yet time to write "finis" to the old-time fiddler and his dance tunes. He will hold sway at the Virginia music festival at Charlottesville this month, according to the information accompanying the picture shown above, and judging by reports of fiddlers' contests in other parts of the country which have appeared in the newspapers recently, it seems likely that he will pursue his "calling" for some time yet to come. ## FIGHT MADMAN WHILE AIRPLANE RACES TO PORT Passengers Have Thrilling Battle With Maniac 2,000 Feet in Air.

Detroit.—Two passengers in a cabin monoplane speeding at a hundred miles an hour over Indiana and Michigan on its way from Chicago to Detroit staged a protracted battle with a madman in an effort to keep him from leaping 2,000 feet to his death or imperiling their own lives by damaging the plane.

The man is James T. Mangano, advertising manager of the Mills Novelty company, Chicago. After an examination in the psychopathic ward of a Detroit hospital, physicians declared that he had suffered mental aberrations. Police were called to the Detroit airport to remove him from the plane when it landed after the battle in the air.

Battle Shakes the Plane.

Pilot Louis Steward of Plano, Ill., who took off from the Municipal airport in Chicago on the regular run of the Tri-State Airways to Detroit, said he first noticed the commotion in the cabin of his plane while he was flying over South Bend.

"I felt the plane shake and veer from its course," said Steward. "Then

Wrestling With a Third.

I looked back and saw two of the passengers wrestling with a third. The third man kept motioning to stop at South Bend and shouted that he wanted to have his lunch.

"He would shout at the top of his voice and jump around and about a dozen times he tried to climb into the control room with me," Steward said. "He would say, 'I want to help you run this plane.' Each time I would push him back with one hand, keeping the other on the controls. Then he would run back into the plane again, once in a while opening the door to throw money out."

Passengers Block Exit.

Then the passengers blocked the exit so that the man could not get to the door and jump out. While the windows were too small for him to leap from them, the other passengers guarded him closely throughout the remainder of the flight.

At the Detroit airport he refused to get out, insisting that he wanted to fly on to a number of other cities. Police found papers in his clothing which gave the name of James T. Mangano, 3436 South Bishop street, Chicago.

Curiosity of Small Dog Saves Life of Master

St. Helens, Ore.—The curiosity of a small dog saved the life of its young master, although the animal paid with its life.

Pearl Kobb, twelve-year-old farmer boy, was on his way to school with his dog when the sight of a barbed wire fence shooting sparks drew their attention. Both advanced to investigate.

The dog thrust an inquisitive nose close to the strands, over which a high-tension wire had fallen, and dropped dead.

Frightened when he saw his pet fall over, the boy retreated to the road, where firemen found him crying over the tragedy. They said instant death would have resulted had the boy attempted to remove his dog.

Horse Freezes to Death, Incinerator Revives It

High Point, N. C.—Will Craven's "dead" horse is alive again, revived by James of an incinerator to which its body had been condemned.

Supposedly frozen to death, the animal was dragged, with the aid of a block and tackle, to the local incinerator for cremation. When the flames scorched its hide, the horse revived and ran from its pyre, causing consternation among sanitary officials.

Recaptured, fed, warmed and watered, it became the same old gray horse of the day before.

Benton Harbor, Mich.—Louis Januskie, farmer contractor and Van Buren county farmer, owes his life to his police dog, which sprang on his bed-room door while flames engulfed the house. The rest of the family was away.

THE LORD IS RISEN

Sing, soul of mine, this day of days.
The Lord is risen.
Toward the sunrise set thy face.
The Lord is risen.
Behold He giveth strength and grace;
For darkness, light; for mourning, praise;
For sin, His Holiness; for conflict, peace.
Arise, O soul, this Easter day!
Forget the tomb of yesterday,
For thou from bondage art set free;
Thou sharest in His victory
And life eternal is for thee,
Because the Lord is risen.

Divine Message in the Bursting Buds of Spring

The spring miracle, of which Easter is at once a symbol, and a culmination, is still, probably always will be, a puzzle to which natural science offers no solution. What is the force that makes life to pulsate where for months all has been deadness? What and where is the heart that sets all vegetable life a-going?

In defiance of ordinary law, water runs uphill in millions of tree trunks and flower stems; some hidden unexplainable mystery of life sends herbage up from inwards of graves, renewing plant lives in their own order, wintry death has given place to resurrection life.

How? Why? Shall we ever know enough about this mystery to be able to explain in terms of purely physical life? A writer in the Montreal Family Herald asks: "To say that roots, bulbs, tubers have a germ of life in them which the spring season calls into vigor tells me nothing. How does it happen? Who gives the signal for it? What is this germ, this mystery of life? Can science make one? Where is the pump that sends billions of watery matter climbing up trees, and plants on top of the highest points in the landscape? Gravity can have nothing to do with it. Where is the great throbbing, pumping heart of nature? What controls it to stop at one time of the year and start again at another time? All that we can say about it is that a miracle happens each spring. Resurrection from the dead, worked by a power outside of and beyond all our human mechanics?

Symbol in Spring Awakening.

As I write some years ago, it is my belief that "spring is earth's Easter time, its rising again to renewed life; the vegetable kingdom printing upon the world's surface, the all-important news for mankind, 'Because I live, ye shall live also!' For the spring awakening is purely typical of the return of the life principle to the dead body of the second Adam or Head of our race at the "Spring of souls" when life came forth from the ground with the promise of another summer and a blessed harvest time for mankind. It is that sure and splendid hope that makes Easter a festival time. It is founded on the angel's message to the women: "Christ is risen from the dead!" It carries the logical corollary, confirmed by the Divine Master's own words, "Because I live, ye shall live also." Every little pale green shoot in the woods and fields, every crocus, heurion or spring beauty, and gleaming bloodroot blossom sings out if we would hear it.

Since I am here, doubt not the rose and lily with me His Easter day.

Life After Winter's Deadness.

Easter comes most appropriately at the earth's resurrection time from its winter's deadness. Life from death is the message of spring and of Easter too. Death is no longer to be considered an ending, but only an interval between this life and another life. Since that first of all Easter day dawned upon this world of humanity, Death is such an appalling fact, you know. Human nature instinctively dreads and rebels against it. It is something imported into humanity which after all these centuries since man was first made still comes as a shock to it. We were not intended, not designed to meet that shock! None can escape it. Death comes to everyone as a stop to all worldly activities. That One had actually overcome death, and proved that it was for the future to be a gate to another, larger, compensating life, and no longer a prison gate, swinging open only one way, inwards, because of sin, was amazing news to the world. Only the Creator of man and the Manager of all things, could have accomplished a change like that! Just as we cannot but see that only He could set a-going that principle which works the spring miracle of life renewed out of wintry deadness.

and certain hope of a harvest-time resurrection from the dead.

There is no joy like that of Easter-tide, and I think it is a fine thing to give expression to our joy. It was that impulse that taught men and women to wear something new at this season. The Easter hat has a significance of its own. It means that the lovely, ornamental part of humanity is rejoicing and very happy in the joy of Easter. It shows a responding to the angel message "He is Risen," and says with Him we have risen also to new hope, new life.

A few years ago a good bishop said a good deal in denunciation of "Easter," actually $25 paid for a new hat, and that by his faithful wife! I am not sure, but I imagine that since then a good many twenty-fives have gone the same way. And I cannot see anything blameworthy in the expenditure, if it has not taken money that should have been spent in other good works.

For the best, therefore the most representative part of humanity, thereby sets forth the joy of mankind in the Resurrection, and the happiness that has come to it from the defeat of sin and death by the Man, Christ Jesus. It is one way of letting our "joy be known unto all men," as an inspired writer advised.

Mandrake and Easter Connected in Iceland

In Iceland there is a quaint Easter superstition about that weird root, the mandrake. If one wishes to become suddenly rich—and who does not!—he must possess a mandrake root and steal a coin from a poor widow at early mass on Easter Sunday. When the stolen coin is placed beside the mandrake it will, mysteriously and immediately, draw all coins of like denominations to itself from every individual's purse in the church. But the root can only exercise this magic when it is dug from the ground on Good Friday before sunrise by a man with a sharp sword, and an undesirable black dog. Superstitions say that the terrible shrieks of the uprooted herb will immediately kill the black dog and therefore save the man and bring him luck and fortune. John of Arc is supposed to have carried at all times a female mandrake possessing great magical powers.

EASTER OMENS

IN ENGLAND and France it is considered a good omen to see a lamb on Easter morning when one first looks out of the bedroom window. If the lamb's head is turned toward the house any wish that is made will come true. It is commonly thought that the devil can take the form of any creature in the world except the lamb and the dove.

Colored Easter Eggs

When eggs first became identified with the Christian festival they were dyed red to commemorate the blood of Christ, shed on Calvary. But this practice did not remain universal, for it is recorded that Edward I, in 1285, ordered "450 dozen eggs to be stained in holding and some to be covered with gold leaf" for distribution in the royal household.

The School Question

SPRINGFIELD'S taxpayers will be asked within a month or six weeks to come to the polls in a special election, and pass upon a recommendation by the Board of Education that a high school building, for elementary and Junior High purposes, be erected on the site in Flermer avenue purchased five years ago.

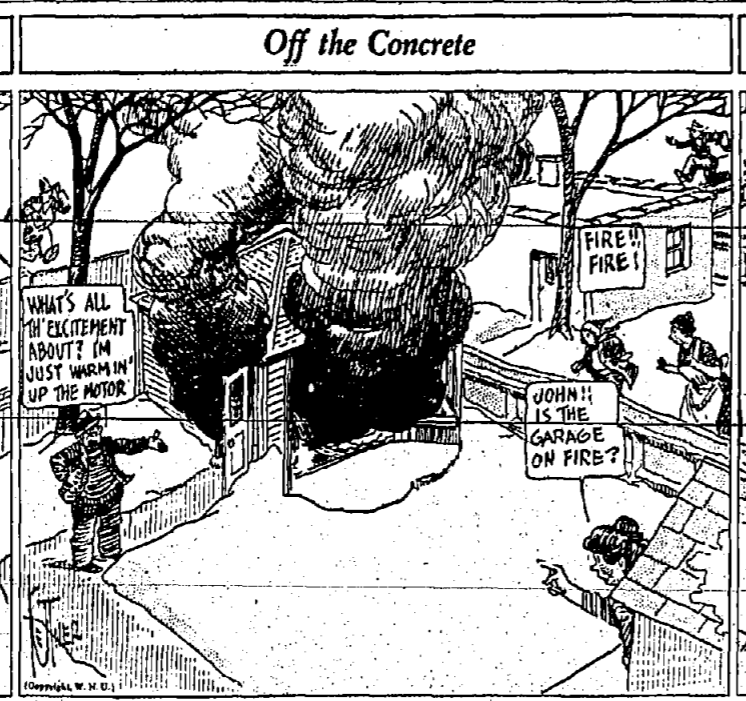

John Potts, vice-president of the Board of Education, told members of the Parent-Teacher's Association Monday night that such a project has been developed and is now ready for the careful scrutinizing eye of the voter.
 Mr. Potts declared that the acute condition in the school system of having 767 pupils enrolled in the elementary and Junior high grades, with practically no room to handle even a slight increase, is indeed a perplexing problem.

Within the past few years, various plans have been used to care for all of Springfield's pupils. Now the time has been reached where patchwork and careful consideration of cheaper facilities will not be sufficient to answer the needs of the township's population which is slowly and steadily rising, and as the speaker declared at the P. T. A. meeting, "With the new sanitary sewer in operation soon, we may expect an even greater increase in new families and school children."

However, the burden of the sewer expense is to be considered. For a community the size of ours or even a larger one an expenditure of nearly $1,000,000 is a vast sum. Of course, both a sewer and ample school facilities are as important to a growing municipality as any other need. The question arises whether the cost of the sewer system is to handicap the school construction, will be answered when the returns of the special election are known.

But, if the taxpayers refuse to members of the school board in whom they have entrusted the important phase of their town life, education, a serious dilemma may arise. At any rate, whether the voters approve of a new school or not, it will be necessary to erect some type of building, be it large or small. From a business viewpoint, it will be cheaper to erect the high school building now for immediate use of elementary and Junior high school pupils.

If the voters will carefully weigh the points to be given out soon in a letter to every resident by the Board of Education, giving all facts and figures, they will rendering their community most valuable assistance, and note with intelligence and an eye to the future.

CONSIDERABLE DISCUSSION will be held around town this week, as a result of the announcement by the Board of Education that a vote for the construction of a building on the Flermer site in Flermer avenue, will be submitted to the taxpayers either in April or May.

John Potts, vice-president, broke the first report of the board's action at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher's Association Monday night, and judging by the silence in auditorium of the James School, as the speaker was being heard it proved quite interesting to the gathering of over 100 members and friends who were present.

What the SUN Advocates

- Believing that the following improvements are vital necessities to nourish Springfield's betterment and substantial progress, the SUN advocates:
1. A high school.
  2. Removal of dilapidated buildings which are "sore spots."
  3. Sidewalks wherever needed.
  4. Encouraging clean factorles, to increase the rates.
  5. Better and more powerful street-lighting system.
  6. Postal-carrier delivery.
  7. Reduced bus fare within town limits and to Millburn R. R. station.
  8. Plan whereby dead-end streets are eliminated.
  9. Set of Building Zones, before township is developed.
  10. A county park.

LACKAWANNA TEAM TO CLOSE SEASON

The Springfield Lackawanna bowling team will close its season Thursday night at the latter's alleys. The locals won the old game Thursday from Summit A. The team showed an improvement in each game, climbing about 30 pins for each succeeding game.

As I took my place on top of a pyramid which was being made on the parallel bars, the distance between me and the floor gradually increased. Everything became blurred before my eyes. The bars shook and bent as other parts formed themselves. Mr. Neis started counting, "One, two, three, four, five, all right, top man down." I scrambled down, the others followed, and the pyramid was finished.

WILLIAM CLARK—Grade 9.
At the assembly Tuesday of last week, we heard a talk by a man from the Union County Mosquito Commission telling us how we can keep mosquitos from breeding by not allowing any water to become stale, and cleaning other places where mosquitos might breed. He also described the different kinds of mosquitos.

THE FEUDAL SYSTEM
King Edward II told William the Conqueror that he should be King when he died. But when Edward II died the people elected Harold to be King. William the Conqueror heard this and said, "Harold has no right to be King. Edward II promised it to me." In 1066 William went to England and conquered Harold and killed him. He could not control all the land and he started the feudal system of having vassals under him.

BLIND MAN AND ELEPHANT.
There were six blind men. They went to see an elephant. They did not know what it was. One of them felt his stomach and said it felt like a wall. The second felt his tusks and said it seemed like a spear. The third touched his trunk and said he felt a snake. The fourth felt his knee and imagined it was like a tree. The fifth touched the ear and he said it was like a fan. The sixth felt the tail and said it was a rope. They were all right and all wrong. We are going to give a play on this story. Would you like to see it?

FANNY BARDY—Grade 4.

CYRUS McCORMACK
Cyrus McCormack's father was always trying to invent a reaper. After many years he gave it up. Then young Cyrus tried. He invented a plow and a cradle scythe. Then he began to make the first reaper. He improved his machine so that he began to sell them. Farmers said that he was very clever but they couldn't buy them because it would put too many men out of work. He tried his invention in the West. He went to England, and men laughed at him. He tried in the World Fair. The joke was on the Englishmen. The machine worked. One morning he awoke and found himself famous.

HARRY WELFF—Grade 5.

SIGNS OF SPRING
Saturday I was looking for signs of Spring. These are the signs I saw. I saw some frogs and baby fish. Then I noticed that my dog's fur was shedding. I also saw a brown bird singing loud and sweetly. "Chirp-chirp-chirp."

DOMINICK GASTRONOVI—Grade 4.
Teacher—Miss M. Jakobson.

AN ASSEMBLY PROGRAM
Our class gave a play on Friday.

before the play the band played. Tis- sy Conitsky recited a poem called, "Way Back in Sixty Sona." Then we had a play called, "What Did You Say?" The characters were Snooks, Harvey Briggs; "Captain," Floyd Thurston; "John," Joe Walls; "Joan," Mill-cent Marsh; "Lndlan," Stanley Roll and "Drummer," Arthur Albanese. We next had a violin solo by Otto Hoffer, "Wedding Bells Are Ringing For Sally." Adelaide Deller, Ruth Rock and Elva Bright sang, "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver," and Robert Berger gave a violin solo, "When It's Springtime in the Rockies." Robert Berger and Otto Hoffer played a violin duet, "When the Organ Plays at Twilight."

YOU COOK WITH HEAT ... NOT WITH FIRE

And that's the reason why Electric Ranges can do your cooking for you more easily, quickly and conveniently. An Electric Range gives you heat without fire. Heat can be easily controlled—so you can put your meal in the oven and leave until you are ready to serve it. An automatic timer turns the heat on and off when you wish, and the heat control gives you just the temperature you wish.

When you cook the electric way, your pots and pans are never scorched by fire—they're always spotless without scouring. And the kitchen's free from soot. You'll be surprised at all the conveniences offered by electric cookery. We'll be delighted to demonstrate.

SUCH IS LIFE—Worse 'n' Worse!

By Charles Sughroe

WORLD WAR YARNS

by Lieut. Frank E. Hagan

A Present for the President

Wartime Capt. Phillip Browne of the Quartermaster corps, National Army, had been a peacetime police officer on the force at Washington, D. C. In the course of his ordinary duties he often waved an official greeting to the chief of the nation, President Woodrow Wilson. "The two were, you might say, business acquaintances."

On June 7, 1918, an air-raid warning of the approach of hostile airplanes, sounded behind the lines where Captain Browne was stationed. From their places of safety the French inhabitants and Captain Browne watched the German flight in action. Shortly, Allied planes ascended to give battle. One of the German ships, a Fokker triplane was forced low enough for anti-aircraft batteries to get the range and was hit by a shell fragment.

The German aviator fought to retain control of his plane, but finally was forced down in a wheat field. Imagine his embarrassment to find Captain Browne, who had followed in an automobile, covering him with his service revolver. Imagine then, immediately after, his complete annoyance when the former policeman fished from his pockets a pair of handcuffs and snapped them on his wrists.

A "Palestinian Guards" Officer

Irvin Cobb, the humorist, is known most widely today for his writings of fiction for which he laid the groundwork by newspaper reporting in his native French, Ky., and in New York city. When he began to be famous, Cobb was called the "Duke of Paducah," and in the early part of the war his Kentucky origin won for him the rank of colonel on the staff of the governor of Kentucky.

Cobb's commission was received shortly before he embarked on a war correspondent's assignment overseas. He assembled various and almost unmatchable parts of a uniform and donned the outfit on his way across. Shortly after landing Cobb was interviewed by a serious-minded London journalist who made the inquiry:

"Would you tell me, Mr. Cobb, just what uniform it is you are wearing?"

"Well," replied the humorist, "you see, I am an officer on the staff of the governor of Kentucky, but the uniform—ah, yes! the uniform is that of a field marshal in the Palestinian guards."

And so, duly chronicled in the files of a London paper, is recorded Cobb's high rank in behalf of old Palestine, as faithfully reported by the London Journalist.

"We Meet Again"

What does an M. P. think about—that is, when he's not inspecting a soldier's leave order, or his pass, or something like that? Well, in early 1910, Lieut. Albert Mackey of the Two Hundred and Sixty-third M. P. Corps was on duty at the stockade erected for American prisoners in the Bois du Douaigue, Paris.

The site originally was intended for a French officers' hospital. Just outside Lieutenant Mackey's doors flowed traffic along one of the most exclusive drives of the world, the road to Versailles. Restaurants, whose fame extended beyond Europe, flanked the stockade. Directly across the road was the aristocratic Longchamps race course.

An odd site, at that, for a prison camp. Lieutenant Mackey reflected as he assembled a burial detail to proceed to the beautiful cemetery at Suresnes-sur-Seine, also nearby, where most of the Americans who died in Paris are buried. Once at the cemetery, Lieutenant Mackey and his men waited. It was to be a double burial, for military authorities are efficient that way, and one of the bodies was yet to arrive from Paris.

While he waited, Lieutenant Mackey strolled among the new-made graves. What does an M. P. think about? Well, he thought of earlier days of the war. "Who won the war?" And particularly he thought of a school-boy chess, Lieut. Wm. C. Pope, with whom he'd discussed the war in 1917. Pope, he recalled, had gone overseas. He'd never heard from him since. Then a nearby grave attracted the officer's attention. He walked over and there was the name: "Lieut. William C. Pope."

Hyde Park in London

Although there are towns all over America named Hyde Park, the first was and is a real park and not a town. With its neighbor, Kensington gardens in London, it comprises about 300 acres and is the city's chief breathing space, belonging to the monks of St. Peter's, Westminster, but left to Henry VIII, when the monasteries were abolished.

Comprehensive
"By and large" has about the same meaning as comprehensively, on the whole, or everything considered. For instance, Mark Twain says in "Old Times": "Taking you by and large, you do seem to be more different kinds of an ass than any creature I ever saw before."

Towns With Short Names
Two towns in the United States are easy to remember. They are Al, in Georgia, and Uz, in Kentucky.

Legal Precedent
One local authority says: "In the Anglo-American legal system a decision by a court, made on a question of law arising in a case and necessary to its determination, is an authority, or binding precedent, in the same court or in other courts of lower rank, in subsequent cases where the same question is again in controversy." This is called the doctrine of precedent, or "stare decisis et non quieta movere," which means "to stand by the decision and not disturb what is settled."

Hobbies Benefit Children
Encourage your child to develop a hobby. No matter that the hobby does not interest you, if it will develop initiative, artistic or construction ability, something that the child will grow along with, encourage him in it. Wholesome hobbies like carpentry, photography, hobbies, chess, radio and modeling keep the youngsters off the streets and at home where they belong.

Early Cooking
The old-fashioned outside oven had a domed fashion built of brick and heated by means of light wood and steels were burned inside. When the bricks were well heated, the ashes and embers were raked out and the floor swept and the food to be cooked introduced by a flat, wooden shovel with a long handle and the door was then closed.

Myrtle in History
Medicinal virtues are attributed to the myrtle, and its oil had a place among the drugs of the apothecary in the days of alchemy and incessant warfare. Now, however, it is esteemed chiefly for the beauty and sweet fragrance of its foliage, and as such is planted freely about the palaces of eastern potentates, as has been the rule from remote antiquity.

Above All, Be True!
He that is habituated to deceptions and artifices in trades will try in vain to be true in matters of importance, for truth is thing of habit rather than of will. You cannot in any given case by any sudden and single effort will to be true, if the habit of your life has been insincerely.—F. W. Robertson.

Fraternity
A fraternity lad who had been suspicious of a brother's maneuvers was calling on his regular date. The small end of the household, who was entertaining him while his sister put on the finishing touches to her toilet, said: "I see you have a pin just like the guy who comes when you're not here."

Horsehound Candy
Horsehound candy is flavored with an extract from the leaves of the plant known as horsehound. This plant belongs to the mint family and was called horsehound or horsehound because of the white, downy appearance of the stem and leaves, suggesting hoar-frost.—The Pathfinder.

Ring It Up
A Westinghouse scientist says one noise can be silent another. The little bell on the cash register, for instance, stops the sound of moaning.—Los Angeles Times.

Age of Soldiers
According to statistics compiled by the Veterans' bureau, out of 500,000 United States officers and enlisted men serving in the World War, the average age was 24.95 years.

Indian Castes
It is not known definitely just when castes originated in India. Records are not available until the Vedic Arya period, about 1200 B. C. Castes were then in existence.

Synthetic Widely Used
Ninety per cent of all the pipe stems, imitation woods, beads and gayly-colored automatic pencils are made of a synthetic of formaldehyde and carbolic acid.

PAINS
No matter how severe, you can always have immediate relief.

BAYER ASPIRIN
Bayer Aspirin stops pain quickly. It does it without any ill effects. Harmless to the heart; harmless to anybody. But it always brings relief. Why suffer?

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

By WALTER TRUMBULL

The usual New York crowd of skyscrapers erected around the big trunk to superintendent the hoisting of a huge steel girder to its destined resting place, many stories above the street. The ground end of the job was being expertly handled by two big fellows and another worker, who mule up in breadth what he lacked in height. As the attached cables started the girder on its upward way, it slipped, ever so slightly, in its sling. The two sturdiest instantly leaped clear of the truck and came to a stop only when they were well outside of any danger zone. The squat gentleman, on the other hand, stood as steadfast as the boy on the burning deck, calmly watching the mass of steel right itself and resume its skyward journey. This display of stoicism evidently annoyed the two who had retreated so hastily. As they returned, one said dogmatically to the still placid sign of humanity: "Say, ain't you nobody's sweet-heart?"

Charles Hanson Towne was enumerating for me those known in the arts who had come from his birthplace, Louisville. He named Thompson Burdick, Fontaine Fox, Henry and Shelley Hull, and Isaac Margesson. Then he turned to A. E. Thomas, who was sitting close by. "Were you born in Louisville, A?" he asked. "No," said Mr. Thomas. "I was not, and I can mention several other cities where I was not born, but which, strangely enough, appear to have achieved a certain measure of recognition."

As a matter of fact, Mr. Thomas originally was a mountain boy. He came from the Berkshires.

A man driving his automobile down Long Island picked up a little urchin who was tramping along the road. He began to talk to him pleasantly. "What do you do out of school hours?" he asked. "Oh," said the small boy proudly, "I help my father and mother. They showed me how to fall out of cars, without hurting myself, and people give them money."

In another moment a little urchin was again tramping along the road. A tender-hearted New York woman recently sailed for Europe. When the ship reached Southampton, she was distressed by cries and moans, which came through the dusk from the direction of a nearby dock, and insisted upon knowing what the trouble was. A fellow passenger hazarded the reasonable guess that the sounds came from a boatload of cattle, destined for France. This so upset the woman that she sat down and wrote a scathing letter to the local S. P. C. A. It was later discovered that the anguished

FOR STREET WEAR

The ever smart black and white combination is the ideal choice for street wear. The narrow band of ermine that edges the flared bertha collar is a distinctly new note.

TO RENT

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

The Culliver house has been standing for a good many years. It was one of the first houses built in the town and one with which I was pretty familiar when a boy. We thought it an elegant place then, for the Culliver family was one of the oldest and most aristocratic in the community. Like all such families are likely to do, they had disintegrated.

Marriage and death and a desire for change had each done its work, and there was no member of the family left, and the house had passed into other hands. I walked by it one day recently and there was a "To Rent" sign on the porch and in the window. The house still had character, though there were no modern touches in its architecture.

But it was unkempt. Whoever now owned it, had not recently spent any money in keeping it in repair, hoping, I suppose, to get a reasonable return upon his investment without sinking anything further in the property. And yet there were great possibilities in the house. Its lines were excellent, its situation attractive, situated as it was far back from the street amid pine trees and overhanging eaves. A little paint, a few repairs, a clearing-up of the yard, and a few hours given to trimming the shrubbery and the trees, would have made the place beautiful as it had once been. As it is, it will stand a long time bearing the sign "To Rent." The man who owns it evidently is not a good business man.

Grant was a great horse trader in our rural community, and what is more uncommon, he seemed to prosper in the business. He could see more possibilities in a skiny ill-groomed horse than anyone else I have ever known. He would pick up one of these crowhairs, feed him well, curry and brush him until, he used to say, he could see his face in the animal's glossy coat, and then sell him for three times what he cost. He believed that if he had anything to sell he should first put it into the best possible condition to attract attention. He put up no "To Rent" signs on run-down property. Satisfied to Keep "Bad Dime"

Detroit.—The little man with the big derby seemed to be a foxy sort of gent. Almost all of the other passengers on the bus could sense that.

three people and hold two and a half, you could tell that he was not ordinary. Maybe it was that cocky but nervous air about him. Or maybe the uneasy glances he cast about as he sat down. Anyway, the bus driver, conductor especially seemed to take a sudden dislike to the little man with the big derby. Every time he stopped the coach for a traffic light he turned in his seat and scowled at the foxy gent.

the buses nowadays I been studying coins and new-minted ones. I'll keep this dime myself, then. It's dated 1892 and worth thirty bucks!"

Podunk, Butt of Jokes, Dates Back 265 Years
East Brookfield, Mass.—Podunk, traditional object of funpoles, really exists in this mid-Massachusetts town. The history of Podunk dates back at least 265 years. It was a permanent Indian village at the time Massachusetts was the sachem and it figured in the King Philip war. Podunk's population is about 200.

WINS BEAUTY CONTEST

Little Miss Townsend of Chicago, who was selected by the Judges as the first prize winner in the International Child Beauty contest staged in Budapest, Hungary.

When the bus stopped at the link bridge the driver-conductor sat out of his seat and made his way down the aisle to the little man with the big derby. Extending an enlivened palm in which nestled a small coin, he roared at the little man with the big derby: "Did you try to put over this dime on me?" "I don't know," the foxy gent responded. "Maybe I put it in, maybe some one else put it in, how do I know? I don't remember."

Coroner's Decision Halts Murder Hunt

Seattle.—A hurried police search for additional "murder" clues was halted when the county coroner announced that a human skull found in a yard near the county hospital had apparently been part of a doctor's display and was fifteen years old, and that a rib, found near the skull, belonged to an animal.

OUIMET'S NEW JOB

Francis Ouimet, well-known golfer and former national amateur champion, assumes his new position as president of the Boston Bruins Hockey team.

wise as a philosopher, vary as profusely as the crimes attributed to their charges. They range from etiquette to justice, from medicine to character training, from efficiency to law, to say nothing of those courses which would make the keeper a comforter of the afflicted, an executive, a disciplinarian, and an arbiter on matters military.

Dr. C. V. Braitham, deputy commissioner of correction, opened the school with a lecture explaining its purpose. The entire course, which looks from the first announcement like the curriculum of a great university, will be covered in one month. When information about the studies reached the cell blocks by the grapevine route loud guffaws were reported

School of Penology Opened

Ostling, N. Y.—School days have begun for Sing Sing's 200 keepers and the newly founded school of penology has opened its doors within the prison walls. The courses, designed to make each keeper as courteous as a courtier, as versatile as a major domo and as to have been heard. "If they don't know most of that stuff now," the occupants were said to have declared in substance, "they must be mighty dumb." For Sergt. Benjamin Felsler has the task of instructing the keepers in how to lock and unlock doors and gates, what to do when a prisoner breaks up his cell, the necessity of staying at his own post, and like subjects.

But if the remarks were passed the keepers held their heads high and chaste thrust out the colonels of the Mulligan guards and heard nary a guffaw. Were they not to become experts in law through the ministrations of Supreme Court Justice W. P. Beakley, District Attorney Frank Coyne, and County Judge George Champlin? And in diagnosis, allopathy and public health through Dr. C. C. Sweet and other physicians, and in machine gunnery through Major Fitzgerald?

They expect to learn much from Warden Lawes, who will lecture on the proper carriage, language, and dignity expected from a keeper. And on other things, such as when a convict should be patted on the head and when he should be slugged, when he should be comforted and when he should be chided.

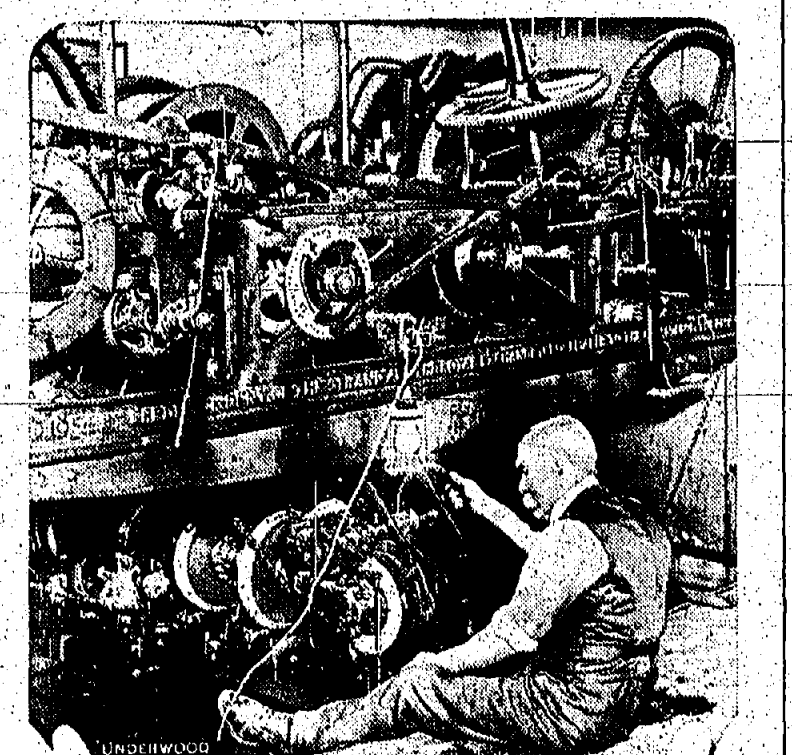

When the courses are completed, the keepers will be examined to determine how much of their lessons they have absorbed. It was facetiously reported within the walls that those keepers who intend to pass with high marks are planning to open prisons of their own.

This Man Is Just Winding Up a Clock

The workman in this picture is winding up Big Ben, the famous clock on the Houses of Parliament in London, the operation being somewhat intricate. The huge timepiece was cleaned and repaired the other day.

DON'T let a Cold Settle in your Bowels!

Keep your bowels open during a cold. Only a doctor knows the importance of this. Trust a doctor to know how it can be done.

That's why Syrup Pepsin is such a marvelous help during colds. It is the prescription of a family doctor who specializes in bowel troubles. The discomfort of colds is always lessened when it is used; your system is kept free from phlegm, mucus, and acid wastes. The cold is "broken-up" more easily.

Whenever the bowels need help, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sure to do the work. It does not grip or sicken; but its action is thorough. It carries off all the souring waste and poison; helps your bowels to help themselves.

Take a spoonful of this family doctor's laxative as soon as a cold starts, or the next time coated tongue, bad breath, or a bilious, headachy, gassy condition warns of constipation. Give it to the children during colds or whenever they're feverish, cross or upset. Nothing in it to hurt anyone; it contains only laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other mild ingredients. The way it tastes and the way it acts have made it the fastest-selling laxative in the drugstore carried

CAP AND BELLS

HIS UNHONORED DUST

A welcome caller, after many kind receptions, plucked up his courage and asked his hostess why a beautiful urn in the living room was always covered over.

"Oh, it contains my husband's ashes," was the response.

"So sorry," replied the guest, "but I had no idea you were a widow."

"I'm not. My husband is just too tiny to buy ash trays."—Argonaut.

PLACE FOR BRIDGE

"They say auction bridge is responsible for a lot of nervous breakdowns."

"I know it. It won't be long before we'll have to go to an asylum for a really good game."

Costly Interrogative

The man who said that: "Talk is cheap."

We very much incline to think he'd said with ardent deep: "Darling, will you be mine?"

Little Encouragement

"You look very ill."

"I can't sleep. I have a bill due tomorrow."

"Why didn't you tell me that before?"

"Can you lend me the money?"

"No, but I can give you a sleeping draught."

Helping Moike

Visitor—Me brother Moike's in jail and I don't know what to do. I thought maybe you'd give me some advice.

Lawyer (sarcastically)—Do you want me to give it to you gratis?

Visitor—No; I want you to give it to me brother.

The Fresh Thing!

Sue—Look at that silly chap over there. He's trying to flirt with you! I'd like to give him a good punch in the jaw!

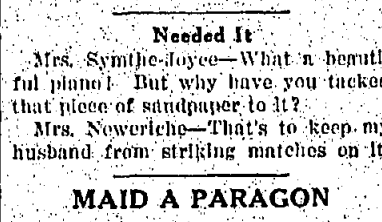

Mae—So would I. That's my husband!

Needed It

Mrs. Syntho-Joyce—What a beautiful plan! But why have you tucked that piece of sandpaper to it?

Mrs. Nowelche—That's to keep my husband from striking matches on it.

MAID A PARAGON

"Are you satisfied with your new maid?"

"Very. She's too old to get married and too fat to wear my things. So I think we'll be able to keep her."

How, Indeed?

"Daddy, I know why words have roots," said smiling little Flo.

"Cause if they hadn't any roots, how could the language grow?"

Circumstantial Evidence

Mrs. Fryer—Do you think Mrs. Suck is a woman who has seen much life in her time?

Mrs. Gayer—Goodness, gracious, yes! Why, there isn't an insecticide on the market but what she is familiar with, my dear.

Correct

Henderson—Your wife says that the maid she wears is simply priceless.

Brown—So the pawnbrokers told me when I tried to borrow on it.

The Tyrant

Hamilton—Women are certainly queer, eh?

Shumway—Yes, my wife used to say she would give the ground I walked on, and now I get bowled out if I track in a little of it.

Is He Hungry?

Insurance Agent—Your slide shows are all of wood. You ought to take out fire insurance.

Showman—Why? I have a fire-cut on the premises.

As the Poot Has Sung, "No Place Like Home"

When William May Garland returned to Los Angeles after his remarkable accomplishments in competing arrangements for the 1932 Olympic games in Los Angeles, he was, of course, the guest of honor at many public and private gatherings. At one of these a friend asked him how he had enjoyed the trip. "I remember," he said, "that you were highly pleased with the prospect of going."

"True," replied Mr. Garland with a quizzical smile, "but there is one thing I have learned about traveling and that is, that most of the time it is quite a relief to get back to where you were so glad to get away from."

THE LAXATIVE WITH HIGHEST ENDORSEMENT

When you get up—headachy, sluggish, weak, half-sick, here's how to feel yourself again in a jiffy.

Take a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water—or lemonade. Taken in lemonade, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia acts like citrate of magnesia. As a mild, safe, pleasant laxative, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia has the highest medical endorsement.

As an anti-acid to correct sour stomach, gas, indigestion, biliousness, it has been standard with doctors for 60 years. Quick relief in digestive and eliminative troubles of men, women, children—and babies.

Monument Over Burro

Primes, a burro that hauled ore in Colorado mines for 62 years, has a monument built over his grave in Main street in Fairplay, Colo. The burro was shot recently when he lost all of his teeth, and became too feeble to eat. He was buried with ceremony, and a popular subscription erected a monument over the grave. Modern methods have all but eliminated burros from the mines of the state where once they were employed by the thousands.

For TEETHING troubles

FUSSY, fretful . . . of course babies are uncomfortable at teething time! And mothers are worried because of the little upsets which come so suddenly then. But there's one sure way to comfort a restless, teething child: Castoria—made especially for babies and children! It's perfectly harmless, as the formula on the wrapper tells you. It's mild in taste and action. Yet it rights little upsets with a never-failing effectiveness.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given to tiny infants—as often as there is need. In cases of colic and similar disturbances, it is invaluable. But it has every-day uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue

"MY PAST" TO PLAY AT UNION THEATRE

Two of Hollywood's most popular newlyweds enjoyed a delayed honeymoon when the picture in which they were working together went on location for ten days.
 Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, who recently dazzled the film world with their sumptuous wedding, had no opportunity for a honeymoon trip as both were continually busy before cameras and microphones.
 And plans for one could not be made as no sooner did one finish a picture than the other started another.
 But when the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone company making "My Past," the attraction at the Union Theatre Monday and Tuesday, deserted Hollywood and went on location, the stars combined business with a honeymoon trip.
 The troupe cruised on a luxurious yacht to Catalina Island and sailed the surrounding waters filming scenes of this screen story of modern love.
 Miss Daniels enacts the title role in "My Past" with Ben Lyon playing opposite her. Lewis Stone, John Blondell, Natalie Moorehead, Albert Gran, Daisy Delmore and Virginia Sale have important roles.
 "Father's Son" brings you back to the days when you were a kid! Leon Janney, as Bill, and his pal, Vestibule, he of the wide grin, relieve for you boyhood day! It's a drama with a lot of fun mixed up in it! Bring the kiddies to see it! At the Union Friday and Saturday.
