Salaries Reduced at Town Board Reorganization

Rambling
Around TOWN

FOR WEEKS WE'VE BEEN told to get our license tags early and avoid the rush. Some of us did and some didn't which caused such a rush at the local agency and other places in the vicinity. The Rambling Reporter noticed last week that the local agent, Richard T. Bunnell, himself, was late in putting plates on one of his cars although he may have secured them early. Much attention in Morris avenue was centered to the impressive funeral of the late Lewis T. Ebbson Tuesday afternoon. The deceased, a veteran of the Spanish-American War, had a military funeral, a group of army men attending. The reporter who had the sad experience of a flat tire on his car at 9:30 Monday morning en route to the reorganization meeting of the Township Committee at 10, came in for mirth at the expense of those attending the meeting when he walked in at 10:30, just as the gathering broke up. The joke's on them. The Rambling Reporter had an inkling of what might have transpired so the journalist was indeed fortunate. He was prepared for something. Much comment may have been heard concerning the naming of Arthur L. Marshall to succeed Harry C. Anderson as plumbing inspector. It revives thoughts of the distasteful publicity and attention not so long ago in a certain Vahle case. Then again, the successor may have been a very hard worker in his party. He is a Republican county committeeman in the first district. Down at the Courthouse we understand the two major Republican rival factions are preparing for a hectic fight at the primary this Spring, which we understand will be as bitter as any ever experienced in Union County. A resident in Henshaw avenue, we've been told, is a former purchasing agent for the State of Washington. Peter H. Meisel, whose term as county purchasing agent ends shortly, will be in the running for a place on the small Board of Freeholders, it has been rumored about town. The former director told a member of the press recently he had not given it a thought so make up your own mind. The Rambling Reporter just passes the information along to you.

Military Honors at Funeral Here of Louis Ebbson

Detail of Fort Wadsworth Pay Last Respects at Funeral Tuesday Afternoon

Military honors were paid Louis T. Ebbson, 54, of 512 Morris Avenue, at funeral exercises Tuesday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Leslie Allen of 201 Morris Avenue. He died Thursday of last week while visiting relatives in Kansas City, Mo. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery. The Rev. Orion C. Hopper, Jr., pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church of Newark, officiated.

A group of army men from Fort Wadsworth and comrades of William J. Sewell, Camp 10, United Spanish War Veterans, of Elizabeth, accompanied the body to the cemetery.

Taps were sounded at the grave and a firing squad commanded by Corporal Thomas O'Shea fired a salute. The veterans held services at the home Monday night, as well as exercises held by Summit Lodge 1246, B. P. O. E., of which the deceased was a member.

Mr. Ebbson was proprietor of the Hemlock's, a restaurant in Morris Avenue, and former proprietor of the Farmers' Hotel in Morris Avenue.

Born in Elizabeth, he lived here for eight years. Besides his daughter, he leaves his wife, a son, Louis T. Ebbson, Jr., all of Springfield; his father, John Ebbson of Cranford, and a sister, Mrs. Harry L. Bill, also of Cranford.

Springfield Will Get $1,350 Saving on Tuition Costs

Roselle Park and Westfield Boards Announce Lower High School Fees

Approximately $1,350 will be saved Springfield taxpayers as a result of action of Westfield and Roselle Park Boards of Education to reduce tuition costs for pupils of outside municipalities attending their Senior High Schools.

Inasmuch as authorities of both places contemplate reductions in budgets of next year, it was felt they would pass the savings along to other districts.

The new rate in Roselle Park, affecting about eighty-six local pupils, will be $140 or $10 less than that paid now. In Westfield, the rate will be $163 or ten per cent deducted from the present fee of $175. There are about twenty-nine Springfield pupils in Westfield High School.

Jail for Alleged Police Car Thief

Henry Gutowski, 23, of Seventh Avenue, Manville, who is alleged to have stolen a police car from that place New Year's Day, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Recorder Spinning when arraigned Monday on a charge of drunken driving. He was unable to pay a $200 fine.

Gutowski, it is reported by police, had a family argument at home Sunday night after celebrating the incoming New Year. Police were called. While his wife was explaining things, he went out a rear door and drove off in the Manville police car which had been left in front of his home.

Patrolman Stiles, standing at Morris Avenue and Seven Bridges road, saw Gutowski approach at 8 o'clock that night. Suspicious of the "MG201" license number on the side, he spotted the driver had no cap or uniform. Stiles blew his whistle and when Gutowski failed to stop, he gave chase for two miles.

The policeman's car was forced to the side of the road several times but he finally cornered Gutowski. The latter had driven twenty miles and explained everything by saying he had been drinking, police report. He carried no 1933 driver's license and six .32-calibre shells were found in his pocket.

Gutowski pleaded guilty when arraigned before Recorder Spinning and in addition to the jail sentence, was barred from driving for two years. The next day, Manville police filed a detainer at local headquarters to hold Gutowski on an automobile larceny charge, upon his release from the Union County jail.

Committee To Not Recognize Tenure of Office Act For Clerk Treat

Considerable reductions in salaries of appointive offices were provided in a move toward drastic economies in municipal expenditures for 1933 at the reorganization meetings of the Township Committee and Board of Health Monday morning.

The principal reduction affected Robert D. Treat, secretary of the health board, whose salary was cut from $450. to $1. It is understood it was with Treat's agreement that the saving is being made. Last week his salary as township clerk was reduced from $2,000 to $1,500 by ordinance. His salary as health secretary was reduced January 1, 1932 from $500 to $450.

Chairman Charles S. Cannon was re-elected chairman of the Township Committee and Committeeman Alfred G. Trundle was elected president of the Board of Health to succeed Lewis F. Macartney, retiring member.

Treat was reappointed clerk for one year, ending December 31, 1933. This move is regarded as significant, indicating the board does not recognize the clerk as under tenure of office.

Asked to explain, Cannon said after the meeting, "We wanted to have a legally authorized clerk and so we made the appointment."

Treat has been township clerk two terms of three years each ending December 31.

NEW BOARD MEMBER

WILBUR M. SELANDER

Under the terms of the tenure of office act, a clerk is regarded as being under tenure after five years of service, but the local Governing Body is taking the initial step in ignoring the act which has never, it is believed, been tested in the higher courts. The position is a part-time one.

It is reported candidates for the position may file petitions at primary election this Spring for the position should there be candidate in either of the local political parties.

A. B. Anderson, township treasurer was renamed at the same salary of $765. Police Chief M. C. Runyon was reappointed clerk to the recorder at $100.

Macartney, municipal relief director, was appointed overseer of the poor to succeed James C. Stiles, at $250. Reuben H. Marsh was reappointed building inspector.

Assistant Scoutmaster Edward Chiovarou became a scout in 1925. A member of Troop 1 of Springfield a little over a year he became a first-class scout. He returned to Scouting in 1931 and was appointed assistant scoutmaster by the Troop Committee.

He holds specialization course certificates for first-aid, archery and mapping, advanced scoutmaster's course and was a member of the staff camp in Swastika at Brookside this past year. He is an experienced camper, having spent considerable time under tents on different occasions. Last summer he was a member of the group which made up the Union Council canoe cruise in the Adirondacks.

Reductions Are in Order

PRACTICAL reductions in expenditures appear to be the watchword of the Township Committee as we judge steps already taken by the Governing Body to keep taxes at a minimum point this year.

The Board of Education and Board of Fire Commissioners are no doubt acquainted with the item of debt service attached to installing a sanitary sewer which must be reckoned with in this year's preparation of the budget.

County and state governments are sharpening the axe with hungry eyes of taxpayers ever fixed upon them. The Governing Body has announced steps toward drastic reduction. Where will the school and fire authorities stand in the paramount issue of interest to those paying the bills.

READERS' FORUM

To the Editor of the SUN:
Will you kindly publish this letter in your paper explaining why I was discharged as plumbing inspector of the Township of Springfield? I am doing this because so many of my friends want to know the reasons.

I was called on the telephone Sunday evening, by Committeeman Trundle and although the meeting was not held until Monday morning at 10 A. M., he told me in a stuttering and stammering voice that I would not be reappointed to my position. He said my work was satisfactory but that the majority rules.

I have tried to serve both the citizens of Springfield and the plumbers to the best of my ability and I have no regrets to make. I do not think, however, this job should have been made a political football because I did not drag out enough votes to the polls.

HARRY C. ANDERSON.

SPRINGFIELD

Population—1930 census 3,725—1920, 1,716. Assessed valuations—1931, $5,481,774. Tax rate, 1932—Township, $3.22; state and county, $1.06. Incorporated 1857; settled early in 1700's. Springfield is essentially a township of homes. It is 55 minutes from New York City on the electrified D. L. & W. Railroad and has excellent bus connections to Newark, Elizabeth, Summit and Plainfield. The railroad stations at Millburn and Short Hills are less than a mile from Springfield Center. The Rahway Valley Railroad has a freight station in Springfield, giving service for factories, commercial and industrial purposes. State Highway Route 20 makes it convenient to reach New York in thirty minutes by car when completed. Numerous state and county highways pass through the township. It has good streets; water, gas, electricity and a newly opened sanitary sewer system. Of interest is Revolutionary history with its historic Presbyterian Church where Rev. James Caldwell cried, "Give 'em warts, boys," in the midst of the Battle of Springfield fought on June 23, 1780. Several colonial landmarks are to be found in Springfield, one of the oldest communities in Union County.

MATTER of OPINION

A Woman Looks at Springfield

The sudden death yesterday of former President Calvin Coolidge, came as a shock to his countrymen. Although of hardy, long-lived New England stock, of the spare, lean type which is generally associated with bodily stamina and resistance against disease, he paid the price of the terrific strain which is put upon our Presidents. Mr. Coolidge had the ingrained quality of thrift which inheres in the character of the New England farmer who is compelled to wrest a living from rocky and unproductive soil. His administration was marked by economy in government and by a let-alone policy toward business, which was generally accepted by his party as forming the best possible background for the furtherance of the prosperity which marked his term of office. The great sorrow which came to the Coolidges while in the White House, the loss of their younger son, added to the cares and burdens of the Presidency aged Mr. Coolidge considerably. Possessed of a dry wit and a somewhat acid sense of humor, his visage, which Alice Roosevelt Longworth said reminded her of a man who has just swallowed a sour pickle, did not exhibit the traits of kindness which those close to him knew in him. One of the things that he and Mrs. Coolidge greatly desired was foreign travel, but this was impossible for them because of their abhorrence of the crowds which follow celebrities. After his retirement from the Presidency, the associations between Mr. Coolidge and Alfred E. Smith, Democratic national leader, in several enterprises and organizations interested the people and brought forth commendatory comment in the press. There was a similarity in their activities, also, both beginning to write for publication at about the same time.

The sympathy of the people will go out to Mrs. Coolidge; hers is the real bereavement.

"We listened to the pleas of the taxpayers and studied the figures again. We felt in view of the conditions prevailing we must do something to relieve the taxpayers of some of their burdens. We have taken the initiative and now present the rock bottom figures." These are the words of Freeholder Lillibridge, chairman of the County finance committee, presaging the drastic reductions which were made since the hearing last Saturday on the county budget. Not only are the pleas of taxpayers bearing fruit, but public budget makers are becoming enlightened on the most important factor in this situation; that real estate cannot much longer bear the burden of housing the unemployed and those reduced in income, and at the same time return to the holder of the real estate sufficient money to support government in the style of expenditures which prevailed in boom times. The landlord is holding the bag—a statement which has been voluntarily made by a number of emergency relief officials. The County budget has now been reduced more than half a million dollars, and it was done after a budget had already been passed, with reductions of about $138,000. This is a cut which must bring satisfaction to those taxpayers who made such determined protest.

Friday, 7:30 to 9:30 P. M.

With the beginning of a New Year there is a natural inclination to at least try to improve on the results obtained during the previous year. This state of mind seems ingrained in the character of humans. Also hope springs eternal that the future will have been better than the past has produced. After all isn't it up to each of us to make of our time all that can be done under the circumstances.

The trustees of our library are constantly working that all may have just a little better opportunity for whatever kind of mental exercise or refreshment they may desire. This means study, work and forethought. Then there is a staff of volunteer workers making available at convenient hours the books placed on the shelves.

But there must be some money spent for necessary expense in maintaining quarters and operating this library. We are a Free Public Library, serving hundreds who

"Thrill School" of the Air Puts Sleuth In Every Home

The radio detective mystery drama—thrill school of the air, has placed an amateur sleuth in every home and a figurative magnifying glass in every hand.

Coffee boils unheeded over the stove while amateur sleuths listen with bated breath to the awe-inspiring voice of the Shadow and raise imaginary guns to shoot down the desperadoes who are making off with the hysterical maiden.

Dishes remain unwashed in the sink while housewives listen to the denouement of the latest radio thriller and tell the iceman and the grocery boy just how they, themselves would have gone about solving the mystery.

A simple twist of a radio dial has developed a nation of amateur sleuths. The modern broadcasting station has taken the place of the correspondence detective school in all but one particular—that of issuing a handsomely embossed diploma and a glittering tin badge boldly proclaiming "Sleuth."

If all this sounds like an overstatement, you have but to wade through some of the thousands of letters received at police headquarters, particularly after a mystifying crime has been committed. From Busted Forks, Ariz., to Two Pants, Vt., thousands of radio-made sleuths send in well-meant advice to the police as to how to go about their detecting.

The broadcasting stations, particularly the larger ones have developed a method of their own in handling the mystery thriller. It is a method calculated to raise the hair right off the top of the head and give the radio fan all of the thrills of the genuine detective without any of the perils.

One of the most popular programs on this form of entertainment is the Shadow feature of the Blue Coal Radio Hour which is broadcast every Wednesday evening over the N. B. C. network.

The slamming of doors, the rattling of chains, the swift interplay of shots and the ensuing groans, all part and parcel of the modern S. S. Van Dine or Edgar Wallace detective mystery provide greater thrills when heard over the air than when read in the cold type of the printed book.

When a Shadow program goes on the air, the broadcasting studio is an orderly jumble of musicians and sound effects, the latter ranging from a drum like contrivance to simulate machine gun bullets, to an actual door set in a frame and mounted on wheels so that it may readily be rolled to the mike when the script says "Slam door!"

Unusual musical instruments are frequently called for in mystery dramas to supply the weird, eerie noises that cause a slight tremor to run along the amateur sleuth's spine... especially if he happens to be home alone, at the time.

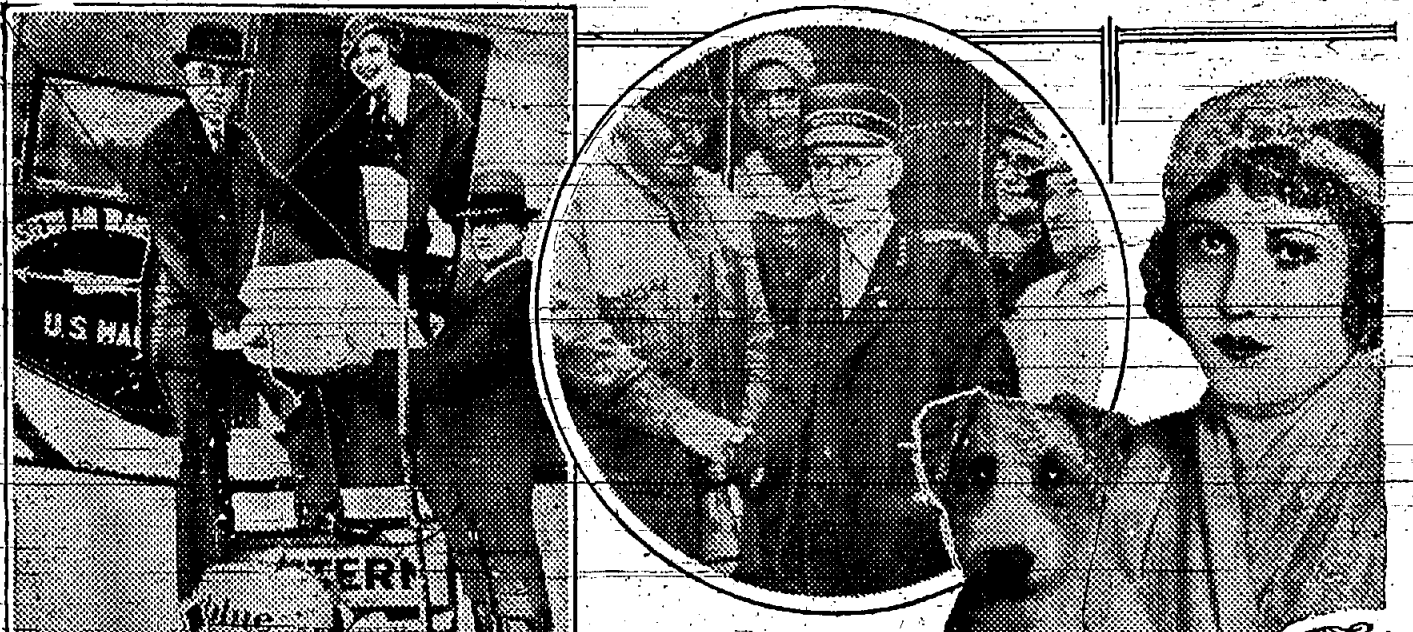

Ross Gorman, the musician who originated the heart thumping run in the Rhapsody in Blue for Paul Whiteman, plays the quavering octavin, the brusque hecklephone, the penetrating terra cotta and the unvarying telephone on the Shadow program creating an atmosphere which places the imaginative amateur sleuth at bay in a Chinatown joss house or tracking his quarry through a Limehouse fog, depending upon the desired locale.

THE ROAD OF THE EMPIRE, an Embassy to the Secretary of State, the Honorable Henry M. Stimson, as special gift of Rome to the United States, according to the Italian America Society. The Road of the Empire is one of the most historically inspiring roads in the world. On one side is the Forum of Augustus and the Forum of Nerva. On the other side against the background of the Palatine stands the newly excavated Forum of Caesar, the old Roman Curia, the Temple of Faustina and the Temple of Venus. The road ends at the Colosseum which is now visible in all its grandeur from Piazza Venezia.

Ship is Anchored In the Sky For Use of Apartment Folk

NEW YORK, August 25—A trim and smart new ship, which rides at anchor twenty-three stories above the street, has sailed into a dominating position on the Hudson River horizon to take its place at the head of the great fleet of transatlantic liners which berth at the Chelsea piers. With a regular ship's funnel, masts, wireless antennae and ventilators, as well as rigging from which authentic "sea-gull" flags are flown, the new "S.S. London Terrace" on the roof of the world's largest apartment house provides a playground that brings officers from their bridges on big liners in the harbor to inspect this novel "craft."

STRIKES AND SPARES

The second half started Tuesday night and when the smoke cleared away, the Hose Company had put out the Indians, first-half champs, in three games. The winners' high team score to date in the second game, 1033, was marked by a 260 for Howard Smith, their anchor man. He shot nine straight strikes and then got a "double pinochle." He followed with a brilliant 231. It was the first clean sweep against the diner team this season.

The improved A & P lost the odd game to the Recreation but outhit the winners for total pins in the three games. Watch those former "cellar" boys go!

The Five Aces whose average of 801.35 to date looks good for the prize in team average, had a fine night, hitting three games of 960, 929 and 947 to take all of them from the Hook and Ladder.

Battle Hill had an interesting match with the Juniors who came in on top. The first and third games were close, one pin separating the teams in the finale.

One bowler had a stiff back suffering from lumbago. All he averaged for the night was 188. What'll he do when he improves?

"Good Coffee Not Made By Slap Dash Methods," Says Coffee Trade Expert

By Sarah Blackwell
Coffee Service Institute

SO often housewives tell me of some perfect cup of coffee they have enjoyed at a friend's house or at some hotel and how hard they have tried to bring their coffee up to the standard of the cup they remember. Some days they seem to hit it right, other days, the coffee is a flat failure. Sometimes they think the blend of coffee is at fault and switch to another blend only to be sadly disillusioned. And so they ask me "Why?"

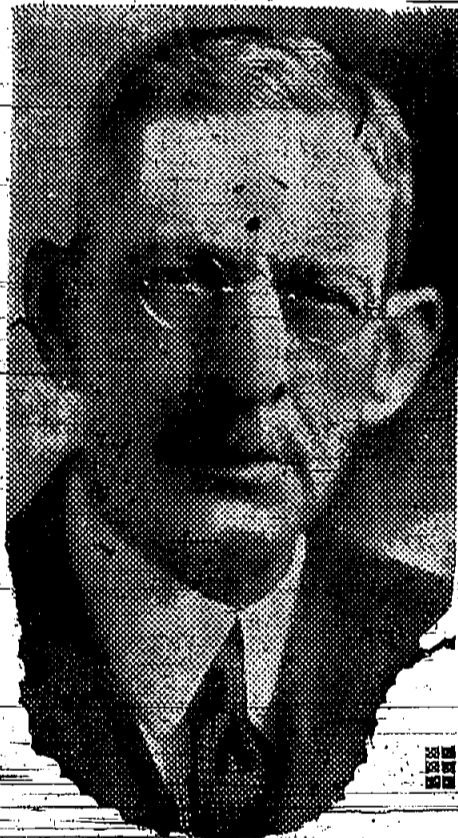

This was something for a trade expert to answer so I went to Mr. Felix Coste. Mr. Coste, who has recently taken an active part in negotiations on coffee with the Brazilian government in behalf of American coffee roasters, has been in the coffee business since he was eighteen years old. He can make coffee the most fascinating subject in the world. He knows coffee, and here is what he has to say about the perfect cup:

"Good satisfying coffee, day by day, isn't an accident. It's just intelligence and efficiency in coffee making."

"If your own coffee isn't uniformly good, don't jump to the conclusion that the quality of the coffee you bought is at fault. There is comparatively little poor quality coffee on the American market today. Our public has increasingly demanded higher and higher quality for years and today wants the best. Coffee importers and roasters are not only supplying the best coffees, but have brought to the preparation and marketing of their product every possible modern improvement. But it takes more than quality in the coffee you buy to make your ideal cup day after day."

"There are dozens of kinds of coffee and each has a distinctive flavor characteristic. There are hundreds or thousands of brands of coffee on the market which are blends or mixtures of the various kinds. Each of these is the best blend in the opinion of its manufacturer. Yet, it may not be best for you; for tastes differ and your taste preference probably is not the same as the manufacturer's. Your best is the ideal cup you still remember, so your first step in securing your ideal cup is to buy a coffee that possesses the flavor you like. This should not be difficult, for certain progressive stores are offering three or more blends of different flavors and are describing them plainly. With intelligent shopping, one's flavor preference in coffee can readily be supplied. Of course, your

FELIX COSTE

"There is careless and faulty coffee making going on in the majority of homes," says this coffee expert.

Ideal cup also requires that the coffee you buy is freshly roasted.

"It is an old story in the coffee business that most of the coffee sold is spoiled in the making. And it's the truth. A recent nationwide investigation disclosed careless and faulty coffee making in the majority of the homes. How can you expect to get the full value from the coffee you buy if you guess at the quantity of coffee and water you throw carelessly together and then guess again at the time the coffee is allowed to brew."

"Coffee making is a slap-dash, hurry-up chore in many a kitchen. It is a side issue in the preparation of breakfast and gets attention when the bacon, eggs and toast permit it. Consequently, it is weak today and strong tomorrow and far from right every day. And yet it is said that the coffee makes or ruins any meal."

"Really, if one has an ideal cup of coffee in mind, the way to make it is a daily enjoyment at home is wide open and requires only the intelligence and care given to the preparation of all good food."

High Courtsters Beat Elizabeth

Union High's courtsters invaded Thomas Jefferson at the Elizabeth court Tuesday afternoon, and after a hard, fast tussle, marched home with a 29-27 victory in their bag. The local basketweavers took the lead from the beginning. Although it was slim in places, the Elizabeth boys were unable to overcome the margin.

Passing skill displayed by the Jeffersonians earlier in the season was lacking and only in the third quarter did they make a rally which put them in a commanding role.

Peacock took scoring honors for the afternoon netting eleven points, and was quite effective on defensive work and broke up several of the Elizabeth boys' attacks.

The half ended with the score 15-11 and the third period ended 27-22. The fourth canto was marked by wild play and tittle shots at the net.
