Town Committee Seeks Return of Sheriff Sale Ads. to Local Newspaper

Board Desires Local Publicity On Foreclosures of Springfield Property.

CITIZEN'S LETTER PROMPTS ACTION

The Township Committee Monday night directed that a letter be sent to the sheriff's office of Union County to ask that the sheriff's sale advertisements pertaining to Springfield be published in the Springfield SUN. Failure of the office to publish foreclosure notices in the paper was brought to the attention of the board in a letter from Wilbur D. Schuster, of 43 Warner avenue, complaining against sales concerning local properties advertised in the SUN.

The sheriff's advertisements have not been printed in the SUN for five weeks. The practice, formerly used by the sheriff's office until five weeks ago, has been to publish Springfield sales in the SUN. The practice, however, has been discontinued in the past three days.

Committee Chairman Cannon said the matter referred to a personal fight between the Under Sheriff and the newspaper over an incident about that time and the fact that people of Springfield were entitled to the service of local sales in the local newspaper.

The SUN charged some time ago that the sheriff's advertisements were withdrawn because Under Sheriff Lee S. Rigby, a resident of Springfield, disagreed with an advertisement proposed for the Regional High School project, although the article did not mention Rigby's name. At a meeting of the Springfield Republican Club February 2 Rigby admitted responsibility for removing the Springfield SUN, but offered no explanation.

In discussing the need of local publicity to sheriff foreclosures, Cannon referred to a citizen who brought the matter to his attention before the advertisements were removed. "A building and loan held a mortgage on the house in which this man paid rent and was foreclosing," Cannon said. "Had he not seen the sheriff's sale advertisement in the SUN he would have been dumped out," he added.

Springfield "Left in Cold" The practice of the sheriff's office in Union County is to publish notices of every foreclosed property, one in the county seat daily newspaper in Elizabeth, and the second publication in local newspapers where the property is located. Unless there are no papers in the municipality, every local newspaper in the county publishes sheriff's sale advertisements of their own community. Springfield is the sole exception since five weeks ago, when the sales were removed from the SUN, the only local newspaper. During that time four properties were foreclosed, three of which were advertised in a Springfield newspaper and the fourth in a Union newspaper. Neither papers circulate in Springfield.

Springfield police made a quick pick up of a stolen car that was early Friday morning as Patrolmen Day and Stiles, each driving a suspicious machine and caught the driver in Union after a mile chase.

Senate Given Bill For the Control of Municipal Finances

Senator Barbour's Measure Would Establish Limit At 75 Per Cent of 1930 Expenditures.

Senator Barbour, of Passaic, introduced the municipal finance control bill in the Senate Monday night. Previously, he had obtained passage of his measure allowing municipalities to issue serial bonds for funding delinquent taxes, including tax obligations to an amount not exceeding delinquent taxes for the preceding four years. Barbour declared the act is permissive, and said it would enable municipalities to get out of their financial difficulties.

This municipal finance bill, the result of numerous conferences between the joint legislative conference committee and representatives of three leading state organizations, is preliminary to imposition of new taxes, probably a two per cent retail sales tax and possibly an income tax. The measure is substantially that proposed by representatives of the State Chamber of Commerce, State League of Municipalities and New Jersey Taxpayers' Association.

The legislation limits future expenditures of local governments for current purposes to 75 per cent of the amount so expended for 1930, and further limits them to an amount not in excess of that for that year. The measure further provides the same limitations on expenditures of Boards of Education, but does not permit the municipal governing body to shift to the school system any of the limitations imposed on the municipal government. The commissioner of local finance created in the bill would enforce the 1934 limitation by ordering the county tax board to deduct from the amount certified to be raised by taxation an amount not to exceed five per cent of the total. Tax rates for 1934 would not be struck by county boards until June 1, 1934.

NEW WORKS PLAN TO REPLACE CWA BY END OF MONTH

Orders Received by County Director Nulton to Start April 1

Specific instructions for the termination of the Civil Works Administration on March 31 and the inauguration of a new works program as a department of the Emergency Relief Administration on April 1 were received yesterday by Henry G. Nulton, county relief director. The information was contained in a letter from John Colt, chairman of the State Relief Board, transmitting a copy of the rules and regulations so far promulgated by Harry L. Hoover, Federal administrator.

The quotas for CWA employment during the month are unaffected by the new rules, and those still on the Federal payroll March 31 will presumably be transferred to the new works, department roll, subject to approval by the E. R. A.

No individual may be employed unless his case has been shown in accordance with the State relief administration rules. "Not more than one person from a family may be employed. Needy women are to be given 'equal consideration' with needy men.

Projects under the new program will be similar to those undertaken by the CWA, and in cases where projects of a general public nature remain unfinished when the CWA is ended, they will be taken over by the new works division.

James G. Blauvelt Opposing Senator Kean at Primary

Bull Moose Leader in Days of Theodore Roosevelt Re-Enters Field

JAMES G. BLAUVELT James G. Blauvelt, of Ridgewood, former Assemblyman and former member of the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission, and for many years a follower of the late George L. Record, announced his candidacy for the Republican United States Senate nomination against Senator Hamilton F. Kean at the primaries May 15.

The announcement came as a big surprise, the supposition up to now having been that Senator Kean would win re-nomination in May without a contest. The winner of the Republican nomination will have to face next November Governor A. Harry Moore, who is slated for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

Blauvelt was a Bull Moose leader in the days of Theodore Roosevelt. In his announcement Blauvelt says among other things: "Senator Kean, New York banker, represents the Wall street point of view. He holds that view very naturally and honestly. His name was on the Morgan list but not to secure his vote or favor. He is above that bait. His name was probably on the J. P. Morgan preferred list because, at the head of a large banking house in Wall street, he has had, as he testified, dealings with Banker Morgan and his father before him, over a period of many years. It is likely his name was on the list because he was a banker with such satisfactory standing and not because he was a Senator. Their ideas and his were, are, and probably will be the same.

County Airport Plan Is Studied

Freeholders Discuss Clark Township Project

The offer of the owners of the Westfield Airport, in Clark township, to lease it free to the county for five years in the hope of securing CWA aid to the extent of $50,000 for its improvement was the subject of a session of the Board of Freeholders and a number of others interested in the airport and in aviation at the Courthouse Tuesday.

HOW TO SECURE MOVIE TICKETS

Persons identifying themselves as the names discovered, are eligible for a pair of movie tickets to the Roth-Strand Theatre in Summit, absolutely free of charge. There are no obligations. Merely pick up your tickets at the office, 10 Glenner avenue. Names hidden last week were: J. Grant Thomas, Albert A. George, Clarence Peters, L. L. Wood and William Lynn.

TO PLAY CARDS

"Jackson Day" will be celebrated by the Springfield Democratic Club tonight at 8 o'clock at a card party and dance at the Dutch Oven Inn, Springfield avenue. The committee on arrangements consists of James A. Callahan, assisted by Mrs. Lillian Lott, Mrs. James Callahan and William J. White. Tickets are fifty cents.

BOARD WILL NOT ACT ON LUMBER YARD ORDINANCE

Town Committee Awaits Payment of License Fees In Arrears First

Upon the recommendation of Committee Trundle, the Township Committee Monday night deferred action on changing a second-hand lumber ordinance as requested by Joseph Honixfeld, of Maple avenue, until such time as the township pays certain obligations to the township, aggregating $1,100. This includes annual license fees of $500 for two years and a township fee of $100 not paid due to an appeal which was later lost, Trundle stated.

River-Project Up

Chairman Cannon said he understood CWA work on widening and deepening the Rahway River in town had been curtailed. He recommended that a letter be sent by the clerk to W. R. Tracy, secretary and engineer of the Union County Park Commission, to seek "considerable more labor on the job and to use influence to continue the CWA work." Citizens in the vicinity have been anxious over reports of moves to curtail the project and efforts to have the men returned, if possible, by influence at the CWA headquarters in Elizabeth, as Chairman Cannon suggested.

New Member Fills Vacancy Caused By Resignation Of Arthur Phillips

ACT TO CONTINUE CWA FLOOD RELIEF

Arthur Lamb, of 27 Rose avenue was appointed to the police department by the Township Committee Monday night for a year's probationary period. He replaces Arthur Phillips, who resigned January 22 after being accused of an alleged violation of the township ordinance which started work immediately as a special officer and upon completion of one year's service will automatically become a regular police officer. The base salary to begin will be equal to that of the regular patrolman, $1,850, less the voluntary salary deductions in the department.

Jam and Jelly Gone? Make Some Now With Canned, Dried and Citrus Fruits

Even in winter, jelly like this can be made easily.

MOTHER, isn't there any more jelly?

How often this plaintive question is asked in most families here each winter, after all those glasses of jelly and jams put up last summer have been eaten and the pantry shelves are rapidly becoming bare again.

However, just because the summer fruits happen to be out of season, the modern housewife isn't stumped. She knows that jellies, jams and marmalades can be easily and rapidly made for her table by using canned, dried, and citrus fruits, or fruit juices.

With the following recipes she can have a tempting dish of new marmalade, a hickory jelly, or a new kind of jam ready for father and the children almost in a jiffy.

Grapefruit Jelly—
3 cups (1½ lbs.) juice
6½ cups (2½ lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

Add juice of 4 grapefruit to grated rinds and let stand 10 minutes. Press juice through cloth. Boil dry marmalade, sugar and juice in large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hot fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ¼ minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 8 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Canned Pineapple Mint Jam—
2 cups (1 lb.) prepared fruit
¾ cup (1½ lbs.) sugar
green coloring
¼ bottle fruit pectin
½ to 1½ teaspoons aspartame extract

To prepare fruit, use 1 No. 2 can of pineapple. Grind or chop fine. Juice of 1 lemon may be added, if more tart jam is desired.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit in large kettle, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Add green coloring to give desired shade (use coloring which fruit acids do not fade), while mixture is coming to a boil. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard ¼ minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Add aspartame extract according to taste. Then stir and skim by turns for just 2 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 9 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Your Teeth and Your Health

By DR. J. M. WISAN
Chairman, Council on Mouth Hygiene, New Jersey State Dental Society

C. W. S. Helps Stricken Communities

An average of seven defective teeth per pupil! Only five in a school of 467 pupils had mouths free of decayed teeth!

This condition was discovered in a small school district of New Jersey. When the principal was notified by a C.W.S. (Civil Works Service) dentist of the findings, he stated that he was not surprised. "How can people pay for dentistry when they lack funds? Taxes have been unpaid, school teachers and other city employees have been deprived of sufficient incomes."

The State officials, in setting a C.W.S. Children's Dentistry Project for New Jersey, provided for a preliminary survey of school children's teeth to obtain the following information:

- Percentage of children who require dental treatment.
 - Percentage of children who obtain dental treatment.
 - Numbers of permanent teeth lost by school children.
 - 90 Per cent Need Treatment
- As the data were studied, it was apparent that most of us had minimized the prevalence of dental disease among children. Very few localities had less than 90 per cent of their pupils requiring dental treatment. The percentage varied with the economic status of the population, that is, the well-to-do communities showed healthier mouths. The most amazing discovery, however, was the great number of children who had never had dental treatment.

Noting Packaged Food Net Weight As Important As Counting Change

Vari-Sized Cans Often a Puzzle; Simple Grade Terms Adopted by Tri-State Cannery Aid Shoppers

By FRED W. JACK
Director, Division of Consumer Information
Department of Agriculture, Trenton, N. J.

THAT all women like to shop is quite generally conceded. Many say they enjoy shopping because of the challenge presented as they seek to secure bargain values. Matching wits with the adversary behind the counter does have its thrills although most American merchandising is done on the basis of a named figure and not on the European compromise price. Hence, with a stated price, there remains the problem of choosing the product having the most of quality or of quantity for a given sum.

Protecting Consumers
Government agencies have done much to protect consumers but despite state and federal regulations, "things are not always what they seem." Although efforts are now being made to strengthen the federal food and drug laws, shoppers should always be wary and alert. For instance, some food distributors have resorted to questionable practices through using over-size containers, partially filled packages, false bottoms, slack packing, and deceptive labels. These are possible because of the trend away from loose commodities toward package goods.

Net contents of food packages must be stated on every container, according to the law, and every purchaser should read carefully the statement for the weight of contents becomes the factor for measuring the value of the package. Price or cost per unit of weight rather than an eye-measure of the package. This over-sized package at a lower price looks like a bargain but its contents usually cost more

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

CONTINUED stormy and cold weather is beginning to result in a real shortage of fresh fish. Fair quantities of haddock filets and cod steaks from the Atlantic, and of halibut and salmon from the Pacific are available at moderate prices. Salt cod fish and annan haddock are also fairly plentiful. Canned fish in variety may be substituted for fresh.

Eggs are fresh, plentiful and as cheap as they are likely to get. Well-aged cheese is inexpensive and probably offers more balanced food value, for the money expended, than any other food. Dried peas and beans are also nourishing and they may be purchased in cans ready to use, if desired.

Fresh vegetables in variety are plentiful and most of them are inexpensive. The asparagus season is just beginning. Apples, bananas, grapefruit and oranges are all attractively priced. Strawberries, too, are plentiful and cheap.

The Quaker Maid suggests the following dinner menus.

- Low Cost Dinner
Pot Roast of Beef with Vegetables

How Far Will The Gulf Stream Carry A Bottle?

Two Famous Artists' Models Would Like To Know

SOMEWHERE on the bosom of the sunny, blue Gulf Stream a bottle is floating today that may be washed ashore many years hence at Timbuctoo, at Malaga, Yucatan or some equally far off port of call depending upon the whims of wind and current. Wherever and whenever that bottle does appear, however, the message which it contains will assure a report of its recovery and thus provide an accurate and scientific check-up on the course of the Gulf Stream itself.

The message in the bottle is the result of the feminine curiosity of Dorothy Diane and Dorothy Jacobson, two well known artists' models who have posed for Howard Chandler Christy, James Montgomery Flagg, McClelland Barclay, John La Gatta, Carl Mueller and other famous artists.

Food Market Advice

DRISHES which are popular for Sunday dinner are roast beef or lamb, a pot roast, baked smoked ham, fresh pork, a chicken fricassee, or a nice thick steak. Every day dinner are given over to eating up the roast, to chops, to chopped beef, sausage and the weekly fish.

Plentiful supplies of fresh fish are available, including filets, bouillabaisse, sea bass, porgies, croakers, fluke, Spanish and King mackerel, smelts, halibut and salmon at low or moderate cost. Oysters and clams are very plentiful and scallops more so than they have been recently.

Strawberries Fine and Cheap
Strawberries are unusually fine. They are so plentiful that they will probably be available at summer prices. Strawberries with fruit sugar, strawberry shortcake, strawberry tarts, strawberry bavarian and strawberry ice cream are all favorites which can be enjoyed without seriously depleting the food budget.

California navel oranges are at the height of their short season. These oranges are delicious to eat out of hand, to slice or section for desserts and salads. They combine well with grapefruit which are unusually fine this season. Grapefruit are also plentiful and cheap. Florida oranges provide us with our breakfast juice at this season and they are fine, abundant and very economical.

A spring delicacy which is beginning to appear in the markets is hot-house sauerbraten. Delicious stowed sauerbraten is a real treat. It combines well with strawberries, too.

Broccoli Neglected
What has happened to the vogue for broccoli? There is an abundant supply of excellent quality broccoli available. It is low in price but people are not buying it. Let's have some this week. New cabbage, Brussels sprouts and cauliflower are good choices from the standpoint of quality and price. Spinach is again very plentiful. Stringless snap beans are also abundant and cheap. Green peas become more plentiful each week though lima beans are scarce. Tomatoes become more attractive in quality as the season advances. They are moderately priced.

Here is an appetizing menu* prepared from the foods that our experts consider especially suitable for this week.

Orange and Grapefruit Cup
Roast Beef or Chicken Fricassee
Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Broccoli
Tomato Salad with Dressing
Rolls and Butter
Strawberry Tarts

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

Division of Consumer Information
Department of Agriculture, Trenton, N. J.

Not Free to Gain

While visiting a school recently, I noticed a little girl whom I mentally catalogued as a case of malnutrition. When the opportunity came I asked her how much milk she was drinking. To my surprise she answered "a quart a day."

This called for investigation, so I sought the principal and the school nurse for information. From them I learned what we should all suspect in similar cases. This child was not "free to gain," because in spite of the milk, her habits and handicaps were such as to offset the benefits.

At home she was allowed to stay up until a very late hour listening to the radio, and two or three nights every week she went to the late movies with her parents. Her teeth were in very bad condition. Several times a year she suffered attacks of tonsillitis. Her diet was deficient in vegetables and fruits, and at the table she was called "finicky." The moral is "don't expect miracles without first removing all obstacles."

The "perfect attendance" game, in which children are the pawns, will be discussed by Dr. Ireland next week.

Pity To Stop Now

CONSIDERING that CWA labor—decaying and widening the east branch of the Rahway River has been so beneficial since the project was started a few months back it would seem a pity to curtail activity at this stage of the game.

The park board has more than a passing interest in the project, second only to residents of Springfield in that vicinity who are anxious to get permanent relief at any cost and through any source, regardless of who is able to steer the necessary pressure.

The sanitation angle on the problem of overflowing its banks, makes the Rahway River job far more important to the community as a whole than any other project undertaken in town by the CWA.

In suggesting close cooperation with the park officials, Chairman Cannon and his fellow members are indicating a spirit of being concerned in flood relief and it speaks in favor of the governing body that it was alert to the curtailment—temporary we hope—and seized a good opportunity to speak for the interests of the people they represent.

GEORGE WARREN OF SUMMIT ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR GOVERNOR ON G. O. P. SLATE

President of Fish and Game Commission Will Get County Support

George C. Warren, Jr., of Summit, president of the State Fish and Game Commission, yesterday formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor in a statement he declared "is a statement of economy and efficiency in government."

Warren further declares that even though he has committed himself, he will gladly retire if all other candidates will do so and permit the selection of someone entirely free from political taint and selfish ambitions.

Warren has already enlisted considerable support in Union county. One of his sponsors is Robert J. Murphy, of Summit, member of the Union County Board of Elections and chairman of the executive committee of the Republican Campaign.

Warren has served for eleven years on the Fish and Game Commission. There is no salary attached to the post.

STATEMENT ISSUED

This statement follows: "In making this announcement of my candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, I wish to emphasize the fact that I am not actuated by any selfish motive and that the decision has been reached after mature deliberation and after many conferences with business, farm and political leaders of the State."

"For some time past I have been strongly urged to become a candidate for Governor. I have refrained from accepting the call because I have never had any political aspirations and have been hopeful that the unavowed and potential candidates would sacrifice their personal political ambitions and agree to support the candidacy of someone who would command and merit the united support of our party. Even though face this fact squarely and do something definite about it. I am convinced that the excessive expenditures throughout the country has been one of the principal causes of the present economic depression and that the people must get this whole subject of public expenditure in hand before we can expect any real or permanent relief from the depression. The enormous waste of public funds must stop.

"I am not unmindful of the vast responsibilities that the Governor assumes and I would approach them fearlessly and with a determination to render a service that would merit the respect and confidence of our citizens. My platform is not cumbersome and will be easily remembered. It is Economy and Efficiency in Government supported by an honesty of purpose and the will to make the platform effective in the respect and confidence of our citizens. My platform is not cumbersome and will be easily remembered. It is Economy and Efficiency in Government supported by an honesty of purpose and the will to make the platform effective in the respect and confidence of our citizens."

TAX BURDEN HEAVY

"There are many problems confronting us, but none more pressing than the matter of taxes. The burden of the property owner is unbearable. When we consider that almost half of the taxpayers in New Jersey are delinquents and that real estate is prostrate, it is idle to claim that slashes and the relentless application of the axe will meet entirely the needs of the hour. It is time that a new and sensible plan for the equitable distribution of the tax burden be adopted. The present tax system should be scrapped and a new and fair system installed based on equity and common sense."

"I believe the time has come to WILL STOP WASTE. I believe the time has come to PLANTS—To show the need of growing vegetation for nine elements, tobacco plants were grown in culture solutions by U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. The tall plant in No. 5 jar had all the nine elements. No. 1 had no nitrogen added; 2, no phosphorus; 3, no potassium; 4, no calcium; 5, no magnesium; 7, no boron; 8, no sulphur; 9, no manganese; 10, no iron. Natural fertilizer materials, such as Chilean Nitrate, contain many traces of the rarer elements needed by plants.

WHAT a beaver-dam looks like? Here is one that these industrious little animals have built across a stream in northern Quebec. Although these dams are built by the beavers with the object of providing a depth of water to make a safe underwater entrance to their lodges, they also assist materially in storing up large reservoirs of water and creating fine spawning beds for game fish. The beaver is protected by the government in Canada.

Rats Help Science Prevent Baby's Rickets

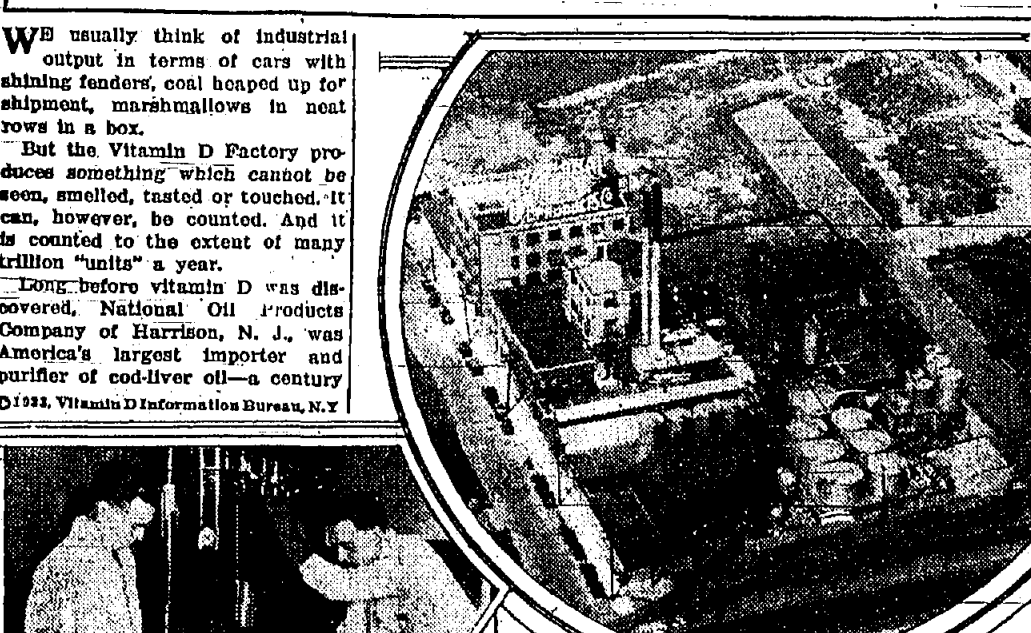

WHAT'S the good of a rat? Science, at last, has found an answer to this question which people have asked for centuries. It has found a real use for these noxious and despised little animals. Rats, it is known, have eating habits much like human beings, and thousands of them are being used in laboratories all over the country to study the health values of many of the foods we eat. One of the great discoveries made with the aid of rats was the substance known as "vitamin D" which was found in cod-liver oil. This substance was proved to be needed for building healthy bones and sound teeth. Children, deprived of it, develop a disease characterized by poor bone development and called "rickets."

Vitamin D is now extracted from cod-liver oil and added to milk, bread, and other foods so that children may get this essential vitamin in an agreeable form. Rats are used to test such foods to make sure they contain enough of the vitamin to ward off rickets. This is the way the test is made. Young rats, as soon as they can eat solid food are placed on a diet known to be free from vitamin D, for several weeks. This special diet prevents their bones from hardening—in other words, they get the rickets. Then they are placed in individual cages and fed on a diet containing varying amounts of a food supposed to contain vitamin D. Their bone development is now watched very carefully. X-ray examinations, among other things, being used. Presence of vitamin D in the food is indicated by signs of healing of the bones, and the amount of the vitamin is estimated by the extent of the healing. Living animals have to be used in this way to determine the presence of vitamin D in foods, because ordinary chemical methods fail to detect it.

Looking Down on a "Frostbitten" Niagara
Looking up the Niagara gorge from the air, you see the mighty cataract with some winter frosts it has never before possessed. Notice for instance the huge mounds of ice in front of the American falls. One chunk attained a record height of over 100 feet. It's absolutely solid. Then, too, for the first time in well over 20 years, the entire lower rapids have been completely frozen.

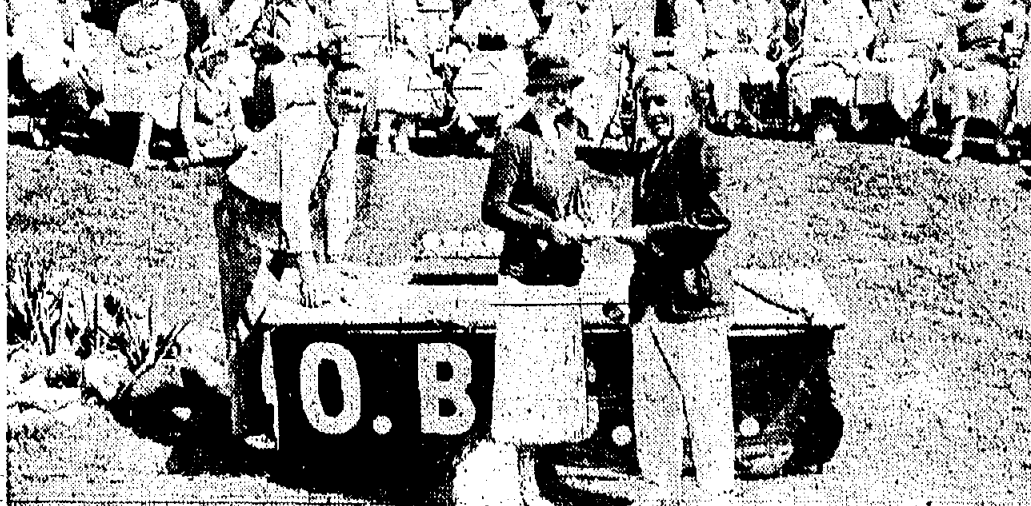

"Manufacturing" Vitamins A New American Industry

WE usually think of industrial output in terms of cars with shining fenders, coal heaped up for shipment, marshmallows in neat rows in a box. But the vitamin D factory produces something which cannot be seen, smelled, tasted or touched. It can, however, be counted. And it is counted to the extent of many trillion "units" a year. Long before vitamin D was discovered, National Oil Products Company of Harrison, N. J., was America's largest importer and purveyor of cod-liver oil—a century old children's medicine and "tonic" for adults. Then a few years ago, an important discovery was made. Dr. Theodore F. Zuckor, working in the laboratories of Columbia University, found a way to extract vitamin D—the bone and tooth-building factor—from cod-liver oil. This extract is added to milk, bread and other foods, in amounts equivalent to a dose of cod-liver oil—about 100,000 units of vitamin D. None of the odor or taste of the oil is apparent in the food. In order to put this discovery to work for the public good, National Oil Products Company was licensed to produce the extract. Before being sent to licensed bakeries and dairies for use in their products, the extract is tested for vitamin D potency on experimental chicks and rats in the Nopco laboratories.

Trail Work!

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, Feb. 25: (delayed) (via Mackay Radio) — Trail work! Rounds like a leaf from the diary of a Boy Scout. Well, so it is. Twenty-five members of this group left on the South Polar ice, got their first contact with the rugged outdoors in the Boy Scout organization back home. Therefore they know what it is all about.

Our first trail work of the season has started. And what an elaborate enterprise it is! And what an elaborate mass of transportation equipment we are using for it. The main party, which will go out 300 miles to establish a foot and supply base, consists of three dog teams of nine dogs and two men each. Behind this there will be a supporting party of two dog teams. And behind this group there will be the tractor party using the two Mechanic Citroen and one American Citroen tractor. Those three parties will be kept in constant touch with the main base at Little America by radio and by three of our airplanes—the Condors which have been given the name William Horlick, one of the chief sponsors of the Expedition, the Fokker and the Plerin.

I am simply up to my eyebrows in the work connected with this interesting phase of the Expedition. One minute I am issuing orders to the dog drivers for cooking; the next I am passing out gasoline and oil for the tractors and the planes. The amounts consumed are stuporously enormous. On this trail trip we are using a thousand gallons of Tydol gasoline for the tractors alone and 800 gallons for the planes.

Both groups will take sufficient food for 40 days. The supporting party will go out 100 miles, put down a cache of food, oil, gasoline and other necessities and return to Little America. The main party will continue and lay down a base 300 miles away—and then walk back home! Some walk!

Conditions in our main camp at Little America are surprisingly good. We are quite comfortable except that I still hate to get up in the morning. We'll be entirely settled in another two weeks for our long year away from civilization. My sleeping bag is warm as toast but getting out of it and into my cold clothing at 20 degrees below zero—with my boots frozen solid every morning makes for hurried dressing. I am becoming as expert as a fireman at diving into my clothes. The coldest part of the program is the delay while I beat my boots against the wall to soften them up. In my spare time—and I have darn little of it—I am building a desk out of scraps of wood so I can have more comfort while writing these stories for our Club. I am also building another bunk, more substantial and a little fancier than the one I have been using.

Making trail flags has been an interesting part of our work and we now have five thousand of them. They are small reddish-orange pennants mounted on bamboo poles. When a sledging party goes out on the trail these pennants are stuck in the snow every half mile or so, so the party will be able to pick up the trail on the way back to the base. We look aboard thousands of bamboo poles for this purpose at Panama, and now the guide flags are all ready for our fifteen dog teams for which we have put together 50 sledges. There are 56 of us left on the ice at Little America.

The good old Bear of Oakland is coming back to us tomorrow bringing a new doctor from New Zealand to take the place of Dr. Shroy whose health would not let him stay with us. We have some work for the new medicine to do. Some of the boys have been careless in not using their colored snow goggles and have been stricken with temporary snow blindness. There are also a few cases of influenza and one chap has some badly strained ligaments from a fall. Otherwise we are in good shape.

The Bear will take out the last mail we can send for almost a year, so you can imagine that everyone, in every old moment available, is dashing off last minute letters to the folks at home. I have made quite an exploration of Little America on my own hook and next week I'll tell you some of the interesting things I found.

The radio continues to tell me what a wonderful success our club is proving, with hundreds of new members every day and membership cards and maps going out by the thousands. Seems to me all of America must have joined by this time. If you and your friends haven't come in yet now is a swell time. There is no cost whatever to membership in our wonderful Club. Simply send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to C. A. Abelo, Jr., President, Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y., and membership card—big working map of the South Polar region and, later, some other things, will be sent you

Kerner In G. O. P. Assembly Primary

Elizabeth Attorney Enters Republican Campaign

John M. Kerner of Elizabeth announced his candidacy this week for the Republican nomination for the Assembly. A life-long resident of the county for thirty-three years, Mr. Kerner is engaged in the practice of law in Elizabeth.

His policy, as declared in an announcement, will be for re-franchisement in operation and administrative costs of the State government, new sources of revenue to secure lower taxes and relieve landowners of the burden and not to interfere with the proper maintenance and efficiency of State departments and institutions.

Mr. Kerner was graduated from New Jersey Law School in 1925, admitted to practice as attorney the next year. In 1929, he became a counselor-at-law and the next year was admitted to practice in the United States Supreme Court.

He is financial secretary of the Young Men's Republican Club of Union County; secretary of the West End Republican Club in Elizabeth; vice-president of the Richard J. Harrigan Association of Union County; and treasurer of the Broad Street Improvement Association in Elizabeth.

Mr. Kerner has named as his committee on vacancies Mrs. Mabel B. Lovell of Cranford, John Tucker of Elizabeth and former Mayor Martin B. Stutsman of Plainfield.

Friends of the Rev. William Hoppage will be glad to know that his condition has improved so that he is able to leave his room and be about the house.

Agricultural Men At Dinner Friday

Township Represented Among Dutch Elm Workers

A banquet for the workers in the Department of Agriculture of Union County was held Friday night at Club Morocco, on Route 29, Mountaintop. Nearly 100 men attended, forty of whom were from Springfield.

George Shepard, personnel manager and Fred Cutler, of Orange, spoke. An entertainment by the club followed the dinner.

The men, under the supervision of Clarence W. Gillis, of 113 Leaker avenue, who is district supervisor of the Dutch Elm Tree Disease Control in Union county, have been fighting the disease throughout the county. Mr. Gillis states that the disease is twice as serious in this county as in any other place in the state.

He has found twenty-five trees in Springfield that were infected with the disease and had to be destroyed. He also reports that a very serious condition existed outside of Westfield, where about sixty trees were effected. Mr. Gillis believes that it will take much time and effort to fight the elm tree disease before it is under control.

Red Cross Plans For Easter Sale

To Hold Benefit March 31 In Legion Headquarters

Plans for the annual Easter food sale of the Springfield Red Cross were completed at the meeting of the executive committee in the Town Hall last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Nicholas C. Schmidt, chairman, presided. The sale will be held in the Legion Rooms 540 Morris avenue, on Saturday, March 31st, and will open at 10 a. m. Mrs. George W. McGrath will be in charge of the sale and will be assisted by members of the executive committee. Proceeds will be added to the fund to support the Red Cross Visiting Nurse service.

Final report on the Roll Call was made by Mrs. Hattie Doerries. The total collected was $606.45, of which $247.45 was in donations to be used for the nursing service. There were 359 memberships of $1 each, so that the amount forwarded to National Headquarters, which is 50 cents of each membership enrolled, was $179.50. The net amount of Roll Call proceeds remaining in the local branch treasury was $425.95. Donations which were not previously reported are as follows: Springfield Police Benevolent Association, $15; Mrs. M. Chase Runyon, $2; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Young, $2; Mrs. Doerries emphasizes that donations to the work will be appreciated at any time, and that one may join the Red Cross at any time during the year.

A summary of the work of the visiting nurse during the past year and of the Red Cross volunteer service will be published in the SUN next week.
