Referendum Wins At Mountainside

MOUNTAINSIDE—Despite opposition of the Taxpayers' Association, who protested against the procedure, higher salaries for members of the Police Department were approved by Mountainside voters at Tuesday's election. The referendum favored the raises better than two to one, with 277 persons voting in its favor, and 137 opposed. There were no local contests although residents came through handsomely for Republican aspirants.

John W. Moxon, running for Mayor, received 397 votes, while his unopposed running mates for Council, William Parkhurst and Francis Lenahan received 396 and 390 votes, respectively. Charles Dunn, who was slated for Justice of Peace, was accorded 400 votes by boroties.

All Republicans running for State or county offices were given overwhelming majorities.

Approval of the referendum means that police officers will now receive $1,900 as their first yearly salary, with yearly increases of $129 until the sixth year when the pay would be $2,500. The chief would receive $3,000 or $750 more than at present.

Regional Grad Rescued From Death Aboard Reuben James

"A cheerful note" about two weeks ago, expressing the hope that he would be home for the Christmas holidays, was the last his family heard from Thomas Paul Turnbull of Clark Township, electrician's mate, second class, one of eight crew members of the destroyer Reuben James, injured when the vessel was torpedoed about a week ago in the North Atlantic. Next news of him was in the press dispatches, which stated that he was one of the destroyer's casualties and that he had received serious internal injuries, news which was verified by a telegram which the family received Tuesday morning from the Navy Department. Turnbull who is 22 years old is the son of former School Commissioner Hugh Turnbull and is well known in Springfield as a graduate of Regional High School in its first graduating class.

He graduated from the high school in 1938 and enlisted in the Navy in August of the following year after a term at the Union County Junior College, Roselle. His early training was received at the Newport, R. I., Training School, and after serving at several other places, he was assigned to the Reuben James in February, 1940.

At Regional, Thomas was assistant school librarian, served on hall patrol duty, was an orchestra member, and became Library Club president. During his early studies in schools in Linden, Woodbridge, and Metuchen, he served as a band member, varsity dramatic player,

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

U. S. Destroyer Is Torpedoed and Sunk While on Convoy Duty West of Iceland; Strike in 'Captive' Coal Mines Ended; 34 Are Killed as Two Airliners Crash

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Myron C. Taylor, left, former board chairman of U. S. Steel, William H. Davis, national mediation board, and John L. Lewis of United Mine Workers are shown as they left the White House after conferring with President Roosevelt on the strike of 33,000 miners of nation's 'captive' coal mines. It was shortly following this conference that Lewis announced that the miners had accepted the President's proposal for opening the mines and would go back to work pending further consideration of the issues under dispute.

SHOWDOWN: The Lewis Affair

The captive coal mine strike, in which 33,000 men engaged in digging coal out of the ground to supply the defense-laden steel companies laid down their tools, approached a showdown in the fight between John L. Lewis and President Roosevelt. It has been an odd chain of events that had brought Lewis, once a close ally and supporter of the President and his labor policy, to the point where he had become, for the moment, Administration Enemy No. 1.

U. S. NAVY: Loses a Warship

First warship of the U. S. navy to be lost in the current European war was the U. S. destroyer Reuben James, which was torpedoed and sunk while on convoy duty west of Iceland.

Its sinking marked the first loss of a U. S. naval vessel since President Roosevelt commanded the navy to "shoot on sight" any foreign raiders entering what have been defined as U. S. defensive waters.

This sinking came just two weeks after the Kearny incident in which that destroyer survived a torpedo blast and made port after the loss of 11 lives.

The Reuben James was under the command of Lieut. Comdr. H. L. Edwards and was an old type, flush deck destroyer commissioned in 1929.

MAP: Of South America

Though there was much fodder for comment in the President's Navy day address, it was the map of South America which had drawn the most attention in the press of the Western hemisphere.

The story had been that Hitler had employed 20 geographers and map-makers at Koenigsberg to redraw the map of South America, giving certain countries there and in Central America the status of vassal states of the Axis.

IRE: Shown by Group

The isolationists had shown their ire against the President's speech as an exposition of his own policy, and led by Wheeler and Tamm in the Senate had fired shot and shell into Senator Pepper of Florida, a backer of the President's foreign policy.

Not far behind them was Walsh of Massachusetts, who flatly charged that the President sought to lead the country into actual war without submission of the question to the judgment of the country or of Congress.

Taft was more bitter. He said: "President Roosevelt has admitted that he has tricked the American people. While talking of peace, he has admitted that he has already done what he can to plunge the nation into a shooting war."

EXECUTIONS: Halt by Hitler

A sudden halt in the execution of Frenchmen in reprisals for attacks on German officers of the army of occupation had been accompanied by the report which was said to have "blacked out" that two German officers had been killed in the Lille sector.

'Port Is Reached'...

Among the first photos to reach the United States following the arrival in port of the U. S. destroyer Kearny following its torpedoing was the above one of Lt. Commander Anthony L. Danis, commanding officer of ship. Photo was made and released by the U. S. Army signal corps and was taken aboard the Kearny.

LIFE:

In Germany

Through a pronouncement by Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister, one had received a partial picture of what the Royal Air force had been doing to Germany and how life was changing there as compared with that before the bombing of the Reich started in earnest.

JAPAN: More Restive

Nippon, chafing under the terms of American-British peace with Japan under her present policy was evidently becoming more restless.

The newspaper Yomiuri, writing of President Roosevelt's promise of full aid to the Chungking government, said:

"American aid to the Soviets and Britain is reasonable and acceptable, but support to Chungking, which is not at war with Germany, is inconsistent in view of the United States' aim of destroying Hitlerism."

LABOR: General View

Generally speaking the labor front in the United States was troubled, with several defense plants involved, and others threatened.

A machine-gun factory in Detroit was silenced by a walkout with wages at the bottom of the controversy. There were 1,500 workers and they were asking a five-cent minimum raise.

There was a fear that three other plants of the same company in the Detroit area would suffer a sympathy strike.

The OPM office demanded that striking welders in a Seattle shipyard return to work, and were met by the defiant retort that the request should come from the White House direct.

The welders' organization, an A. F. of L. union, stated that it had appealed three times to the President, and that the OPM had let them down.

Man About Town:

How British! Lord-Louis Mountbatten, the ex-Captain of the Illustrious, will soon be making front page news again, but that's a naval secret. He was telling us about the sinking of the Hood by the Bismarck and the way the Bismarck was chased, trapped and destroyed.

Observation: Eddy Duchin says he's surprised that none of the isolationist editors headlined it this way: "American-Destroyer-Rams Nazi Torpedo!"

We've Met Her: A lovely blonde walked into a night spot, nose in air. Someone cracked: "She's sure putting on the dog since she's been to the Coast."

I Don't Believe It: Rosemary Lane met a panhandler who asked for a nickel feracuppawtee and her name and address!

By Way of Report: Most papers missed this bit at the Biotf-Browne trial, where testimony about thousand dollar bills is being tossed about like confetti.

Idiot's Delight: Seymour Berkson of Int'l News contributed this one to the book of anecdotes called "The Best I Know."

The reporter finally explained it was an American idiom. "In that case we change it anyway. Make it: 'The American Ambassador stood near Stalin. He threw NO stones!'"

Uncommon Sense: Conrad Thibault tells of the three appeasers who were crossing the Arabian Desert. "Look," said one, "there's an ostrich with its head in the sand. Isn't it a silly bird?"

First Army Goes to 'War'

The hills and countryside made famous by Stonewall Jackson and many other famous Civil war generals have seen thousands of troops this autumn engaged in simulated warfare conducted by the First Army under Lieut. General Hugh A. Drum. These photos were taken during training maneuvers in locality of Camden, S. C.

Immediately after soldiers of the 13th infantry went into action, planes of the "enemy" swooped down with machine guns wide open.

A taste of real warfare as they charge through smoke screen.

Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

Washington, D. C. CANAL DEFENSE PLAN UNFETTERED It isn't going to be announced, but Nazi propaganda in South America has upset U. S. plans for an important new base defending the Panama canal. Plans had been carefully laid for commercial development of an island off the coast of Ecuador, to be followed by naval installations.

The island is known as Albermarle, in the Galapagos group, lying southwest of Panama, a perfect location for watching Japanese maneuvers near the Pacific entrance of the canal.

Accordingly, the Pacific Development company was formed, incorporated in Delaware, and financed with funds from the R.F.C. First it got a credit of $30,000, but later, when a credit of half a million was extended, R.F.C. Jesse Jones innocently announced it to the press.

Apparently the naval strategem was such a dark secret that even Jesse, a member of the cabinet, didn't know about it. So he announced it as nothing but a commercial development, because the island was owned not by Ecuador but by a private individual.

Up spoke a correspondent who knows Spanish well: "You spell it G-I-I," he said.

"That's right," said Jones. "Go to the head of the class."

But there was no laughter in the navy department, for German propaganda through short-wave radio and local newspapers, stirred up the old fear of Yankee aggression.

More Crackdowns: You can put it down as a certainty that there will be other OPM crackdowns, in addition to the one on the Chicago "juke-box" firm, for "bootlegging" scarce raw materials.

The auto maker was called on the carpet by Nelson and spent several uncomfortable hours trying to explain the unauthorized purchase of a large quantity of strategic materials and the action of a parts subsidiary selling such supplies.

The steel company is suspected of secretly filling orders for big customers in direct violation of defense requirements, particularly naval.

MERRY-GO-ROUND: Informed that defense officials want to use her famous legs to publicize non-silk stockings as soon as she has recovered from her fractured ankle, movie queen Marlene Dietrich sent back word that she stands ready, or will sit if preferred, for any patriotic purpose.

Streets of Water

Venice, with its 118 small islands connected by 378 bridges, is only one of several large cities, a great number of whose "streets" are waterways, says Collier's. Among the others are Ghent, built on 28 islands connected by 237 bridges, and Amsterdam, built on 96 islands connected by 230 bridges.

Regional Marking Systems Outlined

The following is a news item issued by Regional High School. It is part of a series which the high school issues from time to time explaining to parents the details of the high school's policies in respect to administration and student activities.

"Through this news item," it is hoped to bring about a better understanding between students, faculty and parents.

The grading program as set up in Regional High School consists not solely in giving out marks at regular intervals, but these grades are preceded by a Subject Failure Warning Slip which is given to students at least two weeks before the marking period ends. Each student failing at that time receives a warning form from the subject teacher. He is asked to confer with the teacher about steps which may prevent his failure.

But if, in spite of this assistance, a student is still not successful, the guidance counselor of each failing student sends a conference form to the teachers who failed the student. These teachers hold a brief conference with the failing student to hear his reasons for failure and to explain their reasons, with suggestions for improvement. These reasons, student's and teachers', are written on the conference forms which are returned to the counselors. The guidance counselors then confer with the student, advising him on methods of surmounting his difficulties.

To award the above-average student an Honor List is submitted every six weeks by each homeroom teacher. The purpose is to call to the attention of the school the good work of these students and to make this achievement a matter of record. The homeroom Honor Lists are compiled into a school list, and published in the school newspaper. There are two ranks: Honors for those receiving B or better in all subjects, and High Honors for those who receive A in all major subjects except one and B in all other subjects.

When the marks received on the card in the various subjects have with them a subscript 1 or 2, the teacher of that subject has indicated that the pupil's low mark is due to not enough effort or poor work habits.

The report card at the Regional High School is issued six times yearly, and is given to the student one week following the close of the six-week marking period. This year cards will be brought home for signatures on October 27, December 12, February 6, March 27 and June 24. The report card should be returned by Wednesday of the following week.

Good citizenship is an outstanding attribute of a good student today. To aid in showing a student at Regional High School his weaknesses or strong points along this line the following system has been devised:

Citizenship grades are recorded on the regular report card under these headings:

- Cooperation—which means among other things, willingness to participate in homeroom discussions and routine, sharing of duties in classes, attention to course requirements.
- Courtesy—by showing correct attitude toward the teachers and other students. Normal tones used in speaking, minimum of rough behavior.
- Personal appearance—consider whether hair is combed; clothes are neat and clean, shoes shined; cleanliness is stressed, not good clothes. Respect for school regulations.

Kathleen Norris Says: Mothers-in-Law Should Remain Aloof

(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

My son Don's interest in a twice-divorced woman quickly developed into an infatuation that swept everything else aside. I had hoped it would end when the voyage ended. She came to Brooklyn and he saw her every day.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THE sons of all the other mothers I know have married decently," writes a despairing mother from Brooklyn. "Sometimes they haven't especially liked the girls, but invariably they have been fine girls, ambitious to make good homes, have children, help their husbands in every way they can.

"Only mine has lost all his bearings, forgotten everything I ever taught him or helped him to discover for himself and is planning a marriage that will wreck his life and alienate him from me forever! Let me tell you a little of his background. Both his father and grandfather were well-known doctors. My father was a musician; my mother belonged to one of the finest old families of Kentucky.

"Don lost his father when he was three, and I gave my whole life to him. His friends were the children of my friends. I tried in every way to keep him simple and unspoiled, for his beauty and charm were noticeable from the first. We spent many summers in Europe, where he perfected his languages. We were in Europe when the war broke out. "It was with great difficulty that I obtained a cabin for the home trip. We had no sooner gone on board than Don brought to me a young woman with a small boy. Don was then 26, the woman admits being five years, and I think is at least eight years older than he. She is beautiful, the divorced wife of an Austrian count, herself American born of Swedish and English parents.

Married at Sixteen. "We found out much later that her mother had been in a circus, and that she herself had been married at 16 to a man she divorced also. Don insisted, on this first meeting, that she and the child move into the cabin with me, while he found a bunk somewhere else; and I consented.

"I have blamed myself a thousand times for this, because Don's interest quickly developed into an infatuation that swept everything else aside. I had thought that with the end of the voyage it must end, but she came to Brooklyn, lived near us, and he saw her every day. He gave her the money for her divorce from the Austrian; gave her a great deal more than he could afford; bought her everything for which she showed the slightest whim. He paid over $2,000 for medical attention for the child.

"Now, you would think, if she decided upon a third marriage, it would be to my poor infatuated boy. Not at all. While spending Don's money at Reno she met a man who was, she said, the only man she ever had loved, and she married him there. My poor Don attempted suicide; we found him unconscious. Transfusions saved his life. I took him to Mexico, feeling that I would rather live there the rest of my life than expose him again to this scene.

"A month ago he left me without leave-taking, joined her, and is living with her now, caring for her and the child in a flat in New Jersey. Her marriage to her third husband, he says, can be proved illegal, and that as soon as she is free they are to be married. Meanwhile, as she is quite ill, and should have an operation, he is caring for her, bringing her trays, washing dishes, going to market. I followed him up, attempted to see him, to reason with him. But he is determined to make her his wife.

MUST STEP ASIDE

The time has come, says Kathleen Norris, for this "Devoted Mother" to step aside, even though in doing so she must watch her only son risk his happiness by marrying a woman already two times divorced. There is nothing she can do for him now. And, of course, there is always a chance that he will make a success of his marriage. Then she will be sorry to have with her the memory of harsh words and bitter recriminations. Some mothers-in-law are lucky enough to be needed. But most mothers, Kathleen Norris continues, must learn that there may come a time when another woman means more to their sons than they do. Then they must face a period of loneliness before they begin to build for themselves a new and equally useful life. Don't fail to read this story of a "Devoted Mother."

"I need not tell you what agony of spirit this causes me. She will never have a child. There will be an end to the family. She will not be faithful to him or give him a home; she has already all but ruined him; she will not be satisfied until he has my modest fortune, too. He asks me to try to understand her, but she is at heart only an adorable child.

"But I understand her only too well, and if that is the heart of a child there is something wrong with the child. Is there no way that I can stop this before it goes any further? Appeals to him have failed. Is there any use in appealing to her?"

"Don used to talk of being an architect. Cara wants him to go on the stage."

In answer I would say, my dear "Devoted Mother," that in having this splendid son to yourself for the first 26 years of his life, absorbing him, glorying in his constant affection and companionship, you have had, in the argot of the day, about all that is coming to you."

Mother Should Withdraw. Since there is no common ground of understanding between you and the woman he is so determined to make his wife, your only course is to withdraw. Tell them both frankly that you wish them well, that you want them to forgive any lack of enthusiasm or co-operation, and that if ever they need you you will be ready. And then go back to Mexico or to China or to Baffin's Bay and build a life for yourself, while attempting to assimilate the bitter truth, that the time comes when another woman is more important to a boy than even his mother, and that you are just about as necessary to Cara as your mother-in-law was to you 30 years ago.

Our mothers-in-law! Those dim, elderly dames who were to be a little considered and petted and cultivated because it pleased doting Tom, but who remained shadowy still, quite apart from the vital, absorbing interests of our young lives. How little they mattered!

You're in that place now, "Devoted Mother," and it's for you to say whether they ever will love you or need you again. For wealth is no help here. In fact, it's in a poor family that grandpa holds her own; she is necessary there, and often she really is beloved.

"I suppose I love my own daughter as much as I do my son's wife," one fortunate mother-in-law said to me some years ago. "But Ann doesn't need me, and it's so good to be with Jimmy, because she does."

Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE

SEVEN American league cities' club owners and managers, are already wondering how they are going to keep the Yankees from another common cinder next season. So far they haven't found the answer. Maybe there isn't any answer.

There is certainly no solace at hand in suggesting that the Yankees are growing old. The vital statistics show that a ball player's prime is somewhere between 28 and 30. It is here he has the combination of youth and experience linked together. For example, Ty Cobb was 29 when he had his greatest season in 1911—when he batted .420.

How does this concern the Yankees? Well, DiMaggio is 27, Gordon is 26, Killer Keller is 25, Heinrich is 25, Rizzuto is 23, Sturm is 23, and Bonham, Russo, Donald and Brewer are all under 23.

It's true that William Malcolm Dickoy, better known as Arkansas Bill, is 34. But Dickoy, always in condition, is good for 80 or 90 games, and Buddy Rosar, Dickoy's understudy, is only 27. Red Rolfe is 33. Ruffing and Gomez are no longer in the kid class. But Friddy is only 22, and there is some first-class talent coming up from Newark and Kansas City.

The Yankees, in the main, are still a young team—a team that is in its active prime. And there is still Joe McCarthy at the head with his team blending influence. No wonder the other American league clubs are in a sadly baffled frame of mind.

For while the Yankees have been mauling all National league rivals with considerable gusto, they also have been mauling their own league just as lustily.

Great 2nd Basemen

Joe Gordon's performance in the last World series will more than hold its place when the Hot Stove league opens its winter session.

In Gordon's case it might be remembered that he is still a young fellow—with 8 to 10 seasons left in his wily system, and this is too soon to compare him with the masters of the past.

In this masters list you'll find Nap Lajoie, Eddie Collins, Frank Frisch, Rogers Hornsby—and these four are enjoinable.

Lajoie, the most graceful of all ball players, was also a normal .350 hitter. Eddie Collins was faster than the big Frenchman and in addition was a .340 or .350 hitter. Hornsby was the best hitter of the lot with a consecutive four-year mark above .400. Bill Hanna, one of the wisest of all the baseball experts, always ranked Hornsby and Ed Deleahany as the two greatest right-handed hitters of all time—not even bashing Wagner and Lajoie. Frank Frisch was another great second baseman, fast, aggressive, smart, and dangerous at bat.

It would be foolish to start ranking Gordon, in his fourth big league season, with these veterans who starred for 15 or 20 years each. I'll say in-lieu of Gordon, however, that on the defense he can make plays I don't believe any other second baseman could match.

About 3rd Basemen

In any event, there are no third basemen now around who even can be compared with the best of other years—Jimmy Collins of Boston, Bill Bradley of Cleveland, Buck Weaver of the White Sox, to mention only three.

Collins, a fine artist, was also a normal .330 hitter—almost as graceful at third as Lajoie was at second.

Buck Weaver is Ty Cobb's all-time pick and Buck isn't far away from the top. Red Rolfe, in better health, might have been a closer challenger.

Efficiency can also be costly at times. For example, there are the Yankees. They have needed just 38 games to win their last eight World series championships.

If they had been somewhat less efficient and had needed the full seven-game quota to win their titles, these eight World series contests would have required 56 games. This means 28 possible extra games blown off the deck, or a matter of some $3,500,000, which is quite a chunk of cash that combined ability and honesty have cost various club owners.

HERE'S TO BUTTERY FINGERS AND A TAFFY PULL

CHILDREN'S DELIGHT

If you want your children and their friends to give you a rating of "super," then give just one party for children alone, and make that party a good, old-fashioned taffy pull. Think back a moment and remember how you looked forward to a taffy pull just as much as going to a circus.

This party is exciting fun because the children have a chance to help in the making of refreshments. Yes, pulling taffy with their fingers all buttered, and watching the dark candy mixture get lighter and lighter each time it's pulled. They'll like this too, because a taffy pull isn't a fussy party. When you send out the invitations, let the mothers know it's a taffy party so the children will be dressed accordingly.

Unlike many foods which are iron sources, molasses when cooked does not lose its iron content.

If possible use a candy thermometer to test the candy so it will be cooked just right, neither too slight nor too messy to handle. When the candy is cool enough, cut it just the right size for small hands. The piece should be large enough to work on, but not too large. When the piece is light tan and very stiff, pull into a long strip and cut.

Molasses Taffy

- 2 cups pure New Orleans molasses
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1-tablespoon vinegar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, if desired
- 1/4 cup water

Cook the molasses, sugar and water in a heavy kettle slowly until the mixture reaches 200 degrees or until a little of the mixture dropped in cold water becomes brittle. Stir a little during the latter part of the boiling to prevent burning; pour into a buttered pan. When cool enough to handle, cut in pieces and pull up light and stiff. Butter the hands before pulling.

Refreshments can be simple for a taffy party, for children will be so excited about the taffy, they won't give their best attention to elaborate dishes. Assorted sandwiches will fill the bill perfectly and a hot chocolate milk drink will take care of their keen, busy appetites. As dessert you might have simple cupcakes (iced with pink and chocolate icing, fruit, and of course, the taffy).

If you'd rather give them a hot dish in place of the sandwiches, here's a simple but elegant one:

- 2 egg yolks
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1/4 teaspoon mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 cups milk
- 1/2 pound American cheese
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 pound mushrooms

(Serves 6)

LYNN SAYS:

Stop food wastes. Not only is this a matter of thrift but also a vital step in conserving this country's resources. It is estimated that tiny food wastes total up to a tremendous amount.

Wise shopping will prevent buying unwanted and not usable food. The wise shopper should also recognize between good and poor grades, by reading labels and markings, and by watching the season.

Poor cooking causes much waste. Meat, for instance, shrinks when cooked at too high a temperature. Vitamins and minerals are lost when cooked too long or when air is stirred into them while cooking. Use short methods for cooking whenever possible.

Star Dust STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

AFTER Veronica Lake made her screen debut in "I Wanted Wings," there was plenty of comment about what fashion experts call the "plunging neckline" of her attire. Veronica's necklines held the all-time record for plunging; for a while they attracted almost as much attention as Dorothy Lamour's saffrons. In "This Gun for Hire" the blonde bombshell is going to give the clothes-conscious public another jolt; this time she's going to wear tight. The script's to blame—she's cast as an entertainer in a night club who does sleight of hand tricks and sings, and that seems to call for tight. That is, it evidently does in Hollywood.

Telegraphers are going to have more fun than anybody when Eleanor Powell does that new tap dance in "I'll Take Manila"; to most of us it will be just a swell dance, but we're told that wireless operators will read a definite message in the taps!

Paramount's fixed up a banister cycle for us—no Barbara Bannister, but the kind that accompanies stairs. In "Birth of the Blues" six-year-old Carolyn Lee power-dives down one, smack into Bing Crosby. In "The Great Man's Lady" Barbara Stanwyck slides down another, in ornolines. For "The Wizard of Arkansas" Bob Burns shoots the banister glides, but Burns, of course, is different; he picks up a splinter on the way. And this, it is felt, will definitely end the banister cycle.

Richard de Rochemont, managing editor of The March of Time, says that filming "The Story of the Vatican" was like a vacation. Since 1934 he has been chasing film scoops, and more than once he's escaped death by a narrow margin. "At the Vatican I had a good crew of technicians, all our locations were in a small area, and there were no intrigues or subversive movements to be dealt with," says he.

The latest March of Time is "Sailors With Wings," which traces the development of the navy's air service and how it operates in partnership with the fleet; it's vital and absorbing, one of those pictures that you won't want to miss.

The manager of an RKO theater on Long Island heard patrons imitating the voice of the RKO Pathe rooster so often that he finally arranged a contest and let them choose cash and poultry; several hundred persons mounted the stage and crowed like mad.

Gleason Ford almost sailed off to distant ports the other day as a way of getting into the right mood for "Martin Eden," his next picture. He was just stepping on-board a freighter, believing that his next stop was San Francisco, when a production assistant raced the dock and stopped him. He wanted to sign on as a seaman and see what it was like. But five minutes later the freighter sailed—for Honolulu.

The radio scoop of the year is the signing of Shirley Temple to do four programs for one of the big watch manufacturers. For the first time in her career she'll be on the air regularly—Friday evenings, December 5 to 25, 10 to 10:30, Eastern Standard Time, on CBS. She will do a series of four Christmas programs, in which she will sing and present Christmas playlets, and her salary for the month's work will be $50,000. Radio sponsors have been pursuing the young star for years.

ODDS AND ENDS—Hold Back the Dawn is holding back other pictures; theater owners have found it so popular that they're extending its run, and it's running neck and neck in receipts with "Caught in the Draft," Paramount's top grosser of the year. "Ocean Levant," "Information Please" and a couple of pictures are being given a rare contract by Paramount. . . . Beraya, Okla., will appear on new maps as Gena Autroy, Okla. . . . Jeannette McDonald and Nelson Eddy are reunited again in "I Married an Angel." . . . Milton Berle can tell you in a minute and keep up that pace for two hours without repeating one.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS Reviewed by CARTER FIELD

Capital's Job After War Will Be to Prevent Unemployment Problem . . . Aluminum Production and Post-War Period Discussed.

(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

WASHINGTON.—At several recent meetings of manufacturers there has been serious discussion about the prospects AFTER the shooting stops. Just when that will be, whether in 1943 or 1950, nobody is sure, but there is no blinking the fact that a tremendous problem will be presented when peace stops all this national defense spending.

Most of the advice which the business men are getting from editors of the publications identified with the industrial system can survive, in the post-war period, only if business starts right in full steam ahead. "Never again," said a prominent figure at one of these meetings, (which was a meeting of executives, so his name cannot be mentioned) "will we stand by while millions of men are out of jobs, while industry is prostrate, while there are huge unsatisfied needs for goods and while the banks are filled with money."

"That sounds radical," said S. T. Henry of the McGraw Hill Publishing company, in addressing a recent meeting of the American Institute of Steel Construction, "but it was made by one of the most noted industrial leaders of the country, not by a New Dealer, nor by a labor leader."

Must Rebuild Devastated Lands

"Here is another statement made recently," Mr. Henry told the gathering. "After the war ends we must feed Europe and will get nothing for doing it; we must supply most of the capital to rebuild the devastated countries, and will be lucky if we get a return on the investment; we must be ready for other radical undertakings, whether we wish to do so or not. All landmarks of how to proceed to do business will be gone."

"This was said by the senior partner of one of the great Wall Street banking houses. He was addressing a small group of labor leaders, financiers, industrialists, management engineers and others."

"The position occupied by business in the revolutionary post-war activities that are unescapable," Mr. Henry said in another part of his talk, "depends entirely on the vision and the courage displayed by business. If business has any idea that pre-war commercial policies will return, then it will fail, when the post-war period comes, to have much of a hand in what is done."

"On the other hand, if business can forget the past—remembering that all the old landmarks will be gone—and will readjust its thinking so that it may take the lead in the huge undertakings that are in the making, then business may expect to be a dominant factor in the post-war period."

"After having sat in with officials speaking off-the-record for all of the government agencies concerned with post-war planning," said Mr. Henry, "it has been possible to make a summary of the vast program of government and other activities they have in mind. This summary shows a total of about five billions a year. It is likely to be more!"

Aluminum Production And Post War Period

One of the revolutions in American industry almost certain to follow the end of the war is involved in the enormous expansion of aluminum production. This light, but strong metal will be available in quantities never before dreamed of, and at prices on which engineers have never thought of figuring.

Just before this country started its "priorities" and began curbing production of articles not required for national defense there had been a considerable building of "streamliner" trains. Some of these were built of aluminum, more of stainless steel. The essential desire of the engineers in each case, after streamlining to cut down weight so as to insure quicker starts and hence lower running time.

But the point is that the engineers recently had turned to stainless steel because aluminum was so expensive. With aluminum selling at a very low price, and no more terrific pressure for turning out large numbers of airplanes, aluminum naturally will be pushing other materials in commercial competition. There will be more aluminum than ordinary needs would provide a demand for, and hence aluminum MUST find additional markets.

At the low price which will then be possible, it is unthinkable that this will not provide a revolution in our railway trains, and in doing so provide a lot of the employment which will be so vitally needed when the war is over, and the demand for more shells, tanks, planes and guns suddenly ends.

ARE YOUR Bowels Stubborn?

Then try kindness! First of all you can't expect them to act unless you give them a chance. Most people make sure to get 2 meals a day. But they never think of giving their bowels a regular time (daily) for attention. If you've neglected YOUR bowels until they finally become stubborn and unwilling to act, ask your druggist for ADLERIK. It is an effective blend of 5 carminatives and 3 laxatives giving DOUBLE action. Gas is expelled and bowel action follows surprisingly fast. After that, make-up your mind to give your bowels 5 or 10 minutes' time at regular hours, daily. Your druggist has ADLERIK.

IMAGINARY DIALOGUES: MRS. ROOSEVELT AND THE OGD CHIEF

(Mrs. Roosevelt takes office as assistant to Florello LaGuardia, director of the Office of Civilian Defense.—News Item.)

Mrs. Roosevelt (making her first appearance)—Good morning, boss.

Mr. LaGuardia—Good morning. What can I do for you?

Mrs. Roosevelt—I'm the new girl here. Roosevelt is the name.

Mr. LaGuardia—Oh, yes. I remember. Let's see... just what were you to do?

Mrs. Roosevelt—You just said to report as your assistant.

Mr. LaGuardia—So I did! Well, are you all set?

Mrs. Roosevelt—I'm willing to give you all my spare time.

Mr. LaGuardia—Come, come! You'll have to do better than that!

Mrs. Roosevelt—Dear me! If it isn't one thing it's another these days.

Mr. LaGuardia—If it isn't ONE thing it's A DOZEN OTHERS!

Mrs. Roosevelt—I don't see how you get time to attend to so many matters in so many places.

Mr. LaGuardia—I'm puzzled about you in the same way. Gosh, I guess we are the four busiest people in America.

Mrs. Roosevelt—Four? There are only two of us.

Mr. LaGuardia—Let's not belittle ourselves!

Mrs. Roosevelt—I'm very anxious to get going.

Mr. LaGuardia (whipping out a bunch of timetables)—So am I.

Mrs. Roosevelt—I mean to get going here... on the new job.

Mr. LaGuardia—Oh, yes. My error. Let's see what the set-up is. I'm head of the OGD and I need help.

Mrs. Roosevelt—Fancy Florello LaGuardia needing help!

Mr. LaGuardia—It does seem fanciful, I admit. But I need a deputy and I thought of you, as the First Lady of the Land and such a great worker in so many causes, would be of great help.

Mrs. Roosevelt—What can I do that you can't do?

Mr. LaGuardia—Well, a dally column for one thing. And you have a radio sponsor, too. I heard you on the air. I went right out and bought some of that tea.

Mrs. Roosevelt—I spoke for a coffee program.

Mr. LaGuardia—Sorry! It must have been a bad reception on my radio set.

Mrs. Roosevelt—I've often wondered why you didn't do a newspaper column yourself.

Mr. LaGuardia—I guess the papers don't use that kind of language. But I've had a radio offer.

Mrs. Roosevelt—From a sponsor? Who?

Mr. LaGuardia—A cigarette company. It wanted some new noises for the Modern Design theme.

Mrs. Roosevelt—Are you going to accept?

Mr. LaGuardia—No. My doctor thinks I am doing too much already.

Mrs. Roosevelt—I don't blame him from worrying about the strain on you.

Mr. LaGuardia—That isn't it. He's worrying over the strain on me. To get back to business, do you think you understand just what our job requires?

Mrs. Roosevelt—Hark!

Mr. LaGuardia—What is it?

Mrs. Roosevelt—I thought I heard enemy bombers overhead.

Mr. LaGuardia—Excellent. You got the whole idea exactly!

CAN YOU REMEMBER?

Away back when people could always find out whether they were in a war or not without much trouble?

Mixing Prepared Paint.

A N. OWNER recently blamed the paint for a job that was rough and uneven. As a matter of fact, the paint that he used was of excellent quality, and the fault was his own for not mixing it completely. When a can of paint is allowed to stand, the heavier parts separate from the oils and collect in a dense mass at the bottom of the can. Before using, this mass must be thoroughly and evenly blended with all the liquid. For this a second can—should-be-at-hand, as large or larger than the paint can. Much of the paint liquid is poured off into this and the remaining liquid stirred into the heavy remaining in the can. When this has been softened, some of the liquid is poured back and stirred in, and this process should be continued until the entire can of paint is brought to an even consistency. For final mixing, the paint should be poured back and forth from one can to the other, several times. The paint is then ready for use. Instructions on the label for the possible thinning of the paint should be carefully followed.

Varnish does not need any such treatment for its parts do not separate. Great care should be taken not to shake a can of varnish, for air bubbles would form in it and spoil the final result.

Cleaning Enamelled Fixtures.

Stains on the enamel of a washbasin, sink, bathtub, or other plumbing fixture should not be rubbed with steel wool or any other harsh abrasive, for the glass-like surface would be dulled and roughened, and would then stain more easily. Neither should acids, or strong alkalies of the kind used as drain cleaners, be applied to the enamel, for the effect might be to eat the enamel and to destroy it completely. One safe method for removing stains is continued rubbing with a scratchless cleaning powder moistened with kerosene. A special cleaning powder can be had at a dime store or from a plumber, and one of my correspondents reports complete success by mixing this with borax before adding water to make a paste. The success of these cleaners depends on continued rubbing. Many stains can be taken out with a bleaching liquid. The fixture is filled with water to above the level of the stain, a cup or more of bleaching liquid is added, and the mixture allowed to stand for several hours or overnight.

Crack in a Table Top.

Question: What is your recipe for filling rather bad cracks in the top of a fine old cherry drop-leaf table, otherwise quite perfect? I do not hope to conceal the fact that the cracks were present, but I do want to fill them with something that will stick and not shrink.

Answer: If the table is really valuable, I should have an expert cabinet-maker do the job. But if you wish to do it yourself, get strips of cherry wood, cut them to fit snugly, and glue them in. Another way is to get fine sawdust, preferably of cherry-wood, make into a paste with spar varnish, and pack into the crack, filling it to the top. Press some dry sawdust on top, to take up any excess varnish. When dry, rub smooth with very fine sandpaper. If you cannot get cherry-wood sawdust, use any fine sawdust and color with a small quantity of mahogany or cherry oil stain, mixing it in the varnish before making the paste. You will have to experiment to get the proper shade.

Dull Black Marble.

Question: I have a beautiful black marble fireplace in my home; but it is very dull and the beauty of the marble is gone. No amount of elbow grease or the usual cleaning compounds do any good. Can you recommend anything?

Answer: The polish can be restored by long rubbing with water and putty powder applied with a damp felt pad or a piece of an old T-shirt. Hard rubbing will be needed. You can get the putty powder at a monument or marble yard. Or you can engage a marble contractor to come to the house and do the job for you.

Linoleum Walls.

Question: I am considering finishing the walls of my kitchen and bathroom with linoleum squares that are supplied with an adhesive. The manufacturer says that they can be pasted on the walls by any handy person. Would you recommend these?

Answer: The permanence of the job will depend on the condition of the wall and how well it takes the adhesive. Try to persuade the manufacturer to let you have a few of the squares and some of the adhesive, so that you can experiment to find out if the job will be successful.

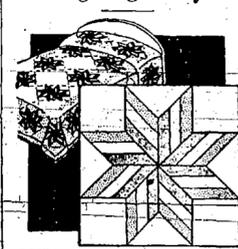

Protecting Windows.

Question: Does pulling down window shades help to keep a room warm?

Answer: In bitter and windy weather, yes. With the shades pulled down, air is confined between the shade and the window glass, and acts as insulation. Pulling down all the window shades in the room may raise the temperature by as much as ten degrees. The shades should be drawn to the window sill, and the bottom of the shades pressed against the lower edge of the sash.

Data Revealed on Employment

The annual survey of the most recent graduating class at Regional High School has been completed by Miss Krumacher and Mr. Manze of the faculty and data is now available on a variety of interesting subdivisions. A comparison between the classes of 1940 and 1941 shows some definite differences in the occupations entered upon since the defense boom began.

In June, 1940, there were 184 graduates, while in June, 1941, the class numbered 210. This year 33 per cent of the graduates are in schools and colleges, compared to 22 per cent of the 1940 graduates. On the other hand, 31 per cent of the latest graduates are working in offices, a type of work engaged in by only 17 per cent of the 1940 class. The increase in industrial employment provided jobs for 34 per cent of the 1941 graduates, whereas 20 per cent of the previous class obtained this type of employment. Miscellaneous jobs are held by 14 per cent of the 1941 class, with 24 per cent of the 1940 group falling into this category.

Comparing totals, it is found that 92 per cent of the June, 1941 class is working or attending school, while at this time last year 83 per cent of the June, 1940, class was similarly occupied. Unemployment of the graduates has been cut in half, since 8 per cent of the 1941 class is unemployed, compared to 17 per cent of the 1940 graduates. There is no doubt that employment opportunities have improved for high school graduates seeking their first job.

In making the survey Miss Krumacher and Mr. Manze sent a double postcard to all 1941 graduates. The return card provided space for reporting jobs, schools attended, satisfaction with the present job and the high school subjects which now seem to have been most helpful. One hundred sixty cards were returned by graduates, 25 more were secured by sending office practice students to interview graduates, while returns on the remaining 25 were secured by seeking information from relatives and friends of the graduates.

It is interesting to note a few subdivisions of the survey. Seven students are in liberal arts colleges, two are attending State Teachers Colleges, while four girls are in nursing schools. One boy is attending a preparatory school and two students are taking business courses. Four students are in technical schools. At present six graduates are taking advanced work at Regional. Seven girls are working as telephone operators. There are only 17 graduates of the 1941 class who are unemployed and not attending school.

The energy and initiative of our graduates is shown by the large number who secured positions through their own efforts. Of the 150 people working, only 27 indicate that they are dissatisfied with their present job. Of the subjects mentioned as being helpful on the job, the students listed the following: Office Practice, Typing, Stenography, Mathematics, Shop Work, English, Science, Bookkeeping, Social Studies, Sales and Home Economics, in that order.

The Regional Guidance Department and especially Miss Krumacher and Mr. Manze, the Director of Guidance, feels that this year has been an unusual one and that any one studying the results of this survey should not jump to conclusions as to long-range planning for graduates. The condition of the employment market will not always be as favorable as it is now and plans for further schooling should not be abandoned. The usual careful personal help is being given to all students in the school, to guard against unwarranted enthusiasm.

HOLIDAY MATINEE AT THE PLAYHOUSE

As a result of popular demand, The Paper Mill Playhouse at Millburn will give a matinee of "The Bohemian Girl" on Thanksgiving Day, November 20, at the usual time, 2:30 p. m.

This is not a special matinee but supplants the regularly scheduled matinee on Wednesday, November 10.

Because of the popularity and classic standing of "The Bohemian Girl," there have been so many requests from school authorities for a special matinee for the benefit of school children, that the Playhouse management has decided to accede to this request by giving a special matinee on Monday, November 17, which is entirely under the jurisdiction of school authorities.

Dartmouth, Princeton Play In Palmer Stadium

PRINCETON — Dartmouth, defeated by Harvard and victor over Yale, will attempt to capture the "rubber game" in its annual series with "Big Three" teams by winning from Princeton in Palmer Stadium on Saturday.

Dartmouth has a polished, hard-hitting team, the handwork of DeOrmand McLaughry, now in his first season at Hanover. Princeton, however, is not unfamiliar with his tactics, since it has played, in other years, Brown teams coached by him. Dartmouth won its last victory over Princeton in 1938, by the impressive score of 22 to 0. Princeton finished ahead by narrow margins in the last two keenly contested games.

Two New Jersey residents are on the Dartmouth squad. Walter T. Anderson '43, of Cedar Grove, a product of Montclair Academy, is first substitute quarterback, while Robert R. Krumm '43, of Maplewood and Newark Academy, is a substitute end.

Saturday's game will start at 2.

'JEKYLL AND HYDE' AT LOEW'S STATE

Ingrid Bergman and Lana Turner are starred with Spencer Tracy in another screen version of the Robert Louis Stevenson classic "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," now at Loew's State Theatre, Newark. Tracy's version of Jekyll and Hyde underlines the psychological aspects of the dual character of one man, with the film depicting thoughts, impressions and visions which run before his mind's eye as the transformation progresses. Miss Bergman is seen as the cabaret girl and Miss Turner as Dr. Jekyll's fiancée.

The companion feature at Loew's will be "Thanks a Million," starring William Tracy, Elyse Knox.

Hardy Film

"Life Begins for Andy Hardy," as you can see from the picture above, begins a three-day run Sunday at the New Theatre, Elizabeth, featuring the Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland. On the same bill will be "The Smiling Ghost," with Wayne Morris and Brenda Marshall.

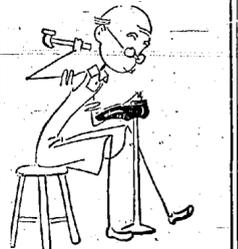

The program for tomorrow and Saturday will consist of "Aloma of the South Seas," with Dorothy Lamour and Jon Hall, and "The Richest Man in Town" with Frank Craven.

On Wednesday and Thursday the bill will include "Under Two Flags" starring Ronald Colman and Claudette Colbert, and "The Great Victor Herbert" with Allan Jones, Mary Martin and Walter Connolly.

Court Of Honor Being Arranged

The first Council-wide Court of Honor for the Union Council Boy Scouts of America of the Fall is scheduled to take place in the Franklin School auditorium, 55 Georges avenue, Rahway, on Friday evening, November 14, at 8 o'clock. Awards of the evening will be made in the higher ranks of Scouting—Star, Life, Eagle, Eagle Palms and Quartermaster.

An excellent program has been arranged and Martin J. Corcoran,
