

OUR GUEST CORNER

From time to time the SUN invites its readers to contribute to our "Guest Corner." This week's article is written by WM. S. STERNER, MATHEMATICS AND THE WAR EFFORT

Last week, I received an air mail letter from Kenny Roll. One paragraph of his letter read as follows: "Enclosed you will find six pony drawings. Our exams for Service School are coming up soon and we must know how to do square root. Will you please send me an explanation as soon as possible? The exam is very soon but I don't know just how soon it will be. Please send reply by air mail."

Kenny is now quartered at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station and has learned of the need of mathematics in the Navy. He had studied square root several years ago but the time in between was long enough to let him forget most of the process. This is not unusual for all of us forget things we don't use every day. I hope the four page explanation I sent him was of some assistance.

Other high school graduates have told me how useful their mathematics background has been in our present war world. One boy personally thanked me for teaching him the use of the slide rule because he was the only one in the shop beside his foreman who could solve problems that way. Other men write back to inform me of three hour mathematics tests required in Service Schools and of the need for scale drawings, graphs and formulas.

Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs, Chief of the Navy's Bureau of Navigation, stated last spring that the majority of high school graduates enters the colleges and universities of this country with only one year and a half preparation in mathematics and a smaller number do not even have this fundamental background. The demand of the Navy for properly equipped young men and boys is great, and this demand can only be met by proper scholastic preparation in the country. Specifically the Navy suggests plane trigonometry, solid geometry, quadratics, shop mathematics and elementary navigation. To publicize this need throughout the schools, the Navy has prepared a fine poster called "The Navy Educational Program." In it are listed the mathematics courses required in various technical fields.

The Army, too, wants officers and enlisted men well trained in mathematics. Major Leonard Barrett suggests that even enlisted men in the infantry have a thorough knowledge of arithmetic, elementary algebra and plane geometry. Other branches of the Service require more mathematical background depending on the amount of technical information that need be learned. Coast and Field Artillery men should have a knowledge of high school mathematics through trigonometry. Pupils should master the reading of tables because the accurate firing of artillery depends upon a thorough knowledge in this field. Nurses, industrial men and combat officers need to substitute in formaths. Scale drawings are used in solving air and sea navigation problems. There have been published within the past few months, a number of books and manuals which are a great help to high school teachers. These two are illustrations. The United States Naval Institute at Annapolis has issued a "Reference Course in Fundamental Mathematics for Basic Technical Training" and the War Department has printed "Mathematics for Pilot Trainees." I have on my desk at least a dozen more such books and pamphlets which are an abundant source of war mathematics problems.

Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower Commission, has outlined the High School Victory Corps now being established in many secondary schools throughout the country. The Victory Corps Manual was worked out by McNutt and a cooperating committee composed of John W. Studebaker, Commissioner of the U. S. Office of Education, and representatives from the War, Navy and Commerce Departments. One of the Victory Corps' main objectives is competence in science and mathematics. It is hoped that the Corps will increase the number of students studying science and mathematics courses basic to the war effort and improve the quality of scholarship in these courses.

Three of the special service divisions of the High School Victory Corps have rather strict mathematics admission requirements. The Air Service Division recommends three years of high school mathematics. The Sea Service Division requires courses in secondary school mathematics, preferably through plane trigonometry (usually taught in the fourth year of high school). Even the Land Service Division requires one year of mathematics.

At the recent State Conference of Superintendents and Supervising Principals at Newark, many of the above mentioned needs were stressed by Army and Navy officers. Then one superintendent raised the question, "But who is going to teach this mathematics in our high schools? He might have been thinking of one large school which had to replace its whole mathematics staff within a year. Or was he denouncing the fact that the Army is drafting so many of our young men teaching mathematics? Or was he thinking of the sad spectacle of returning teachers from other departments so they could meet mathematics classes? Obviously with industry and the draft bleeding our present supply of mathematics teachers, it will become increasingly difficult to maintain, let alone improve upon, the high standard of mathematics instruction demanded by the Army and Navy, and so vital to our war effort. Let us hope that this manpower shortage does not hamper our war effort.

Do You Know How Ration For Fuel Oil Is Determined?

The Rationing Board finds that many people do not understand how the ration for fuel oil is determined. Having seen in the papers from time to time that there will be 70% or 75% of the fuel shipped into the eastern district, they have interpreted this to mean that each home will be allowed that percentage of the amount that they used last year. Some also have been led to believe by what they have read or heard, that 65% heat is promised.

"Both deductions are wrong," says the board, which adds this explanation: "There is no guarantee of heat of any temperature and the amount of fuel allowed is based on the square footage of living rooms, bedrooms, halls and bathrooms, also closets opening into the heated rooms; and the number of persons regularly living in the home. The amount of fuel used last year is used only as a check on the results of the above method of figuring. The result is that some will be allowed less than 50% of what they used last year. This is especially true of large houses with few persons living in them."

In some cases, the board declares, people have ordered and used all the fuel oil to which they are entitled during the first period which closes Dec. 15. It is permissible, however, say rationing officials, to use the No. 2 coupons on and after Dec. 3, which will tide them over, but takes just so much from the second period allotment which ends Jan. 15. In figuring the 3,000 applications, there are probably some errors, owing both to wrong billing out of the banks and to the figuring. If any one feels that there has been an error in his case, the Rationing Board will be glad to go over his application with him at the board office any time after Monday, Dec. 7, during the office hours.

War Program Is Adopted By Regional

Regional High School has joined the Schools at War Program that is being sponsored throughout the country by the War Savings Staff of the U. S. Treasury Department, the U. S. Office of Education and its Wartime Commission. The object is to develop a close co-ordinated program of school war activities. Each school gets a scrapbook in which to present a bird's-eye view of the school war program. After these books have been on display at "Schools at War" exhibits, a certificate of service, signed by the Secretary of the Treasury, will be awarded. The books must be finished by January 7, 1943.

Both faculty and student committees have been appointed. The members of the faculty committee are: William S. Sterner, director of guidance, chairman; Alfred Campbell, head of the English Department; and Miss Katherine Johnson, head of the Art Department.

Those on the student committee are: Chairman, Miss Thelma Sachsel, Springfield; Gordon Swartz, Springfield; Miss Shirley Hickamp, Mountaineer; Gerald Wells, Springfield; Richard O'Neill, Springfield; Catherine Upton, Kenilworth; Phyllis Bunell, Springfield; Margaret Golder, Springfield; and Davis Lamb, Springfield.

Ruth Dannefeler Will Report For WAVES School

Miss Ruth Dannefeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dannefeler of 24 Severna avenue, has been accepted as an officer candidate for the WAVES. It was announced by the Third Naval District Friday.

Miss Dannefeler is a graduate of New Jersey College for Women and is employed in the First National Bank of Springfield.

Did you write this week to someone in the service? It builds up morale—especially if the news is good news.

EARLY MAIL

Post offices will make every effort to handle the Christmas mails without congestion and delay, but owing to the enormous volume this can be done only with the cooperation of the public. Pack carefully, wrap securely and address carefully.

Surgical Dressings' Volunteers Needed

Springfield women who have leisure time and wish to participate in a patriotic program, are urged to support the surgical dressings' project of the Red Cross, headed by Mrs. Lewis F. Macartney. - Tuesday—10 A. M. to 5 P. M.
- Wednesday—10 A. M. to 5 P. M.

BLOOD BANK HERE DECEMBER 19TH

The Red Cross Mobile Blood Bank makes a return visit to Springfield on Saturday, December 19, at the Legion Building between the hours of 12 o'clock noon and 5 P. M.

Here are a few excerpts of experiences from those men in service who were aided by blood transfusions through voluntary citizens, such as will donate their blood at the Blood Bank visit:

Young Hugh Sheridan is lying in the Naval Hospital in San Francisco. "Me," says Sheridan, "I'm Irish, I and my father and mother and all my kin before me were born in Ireland. But on December 7th, when the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor, I knew I was an American."

He joined the Navy two days later on December 9, and was assigned to duty on a gallant little destroyer. It was an explosion on that destroyer that got Sheridan. A sudden, instantaneous, scorching flash that burned his face, his head, his eyelids, his arms and shoulders and hands.

Sheridan went out cold, white and weak and perspiring. The doctors called it shock, acute shock. With those deadly burns, there were two strikes on him at the start. But they've changed the rules in medicine now, and they save his life more chance—blood!

Into his veins the doctors pushed half a pint of blood, perhaps the blood given months before by a housewife in Peoria. If she could have seen a miracle come true, life coming back in his body, the red in his skin, the pulse picking up again and beating strongly. And today she would see Sheridan ready to go back to his ship.

"Forget it? Not as long as I live," he says. "I never forget the minute after she blew—men, my friends, screaming. I couldn't see, and for weeks afterwards, when they brought me to the hospital, I wouldn't let the nurses bring a mirror near me—I didn't have the nerve to look at my face. I just lay there thinking about the scars on my face."

"But there are no scars on Sheridan." The doctors and the surgeons took care of that—they worked their magic skill after the blood kept him alive, the blood, perhaps, from Peoria.

Mrs. Charles Phillips, Sr., is general chairman of the Mobile Blood Bank committee and anyone who wishes to register may do so by communicating with her.

Service Honor Roll Will Be Constructed By Springfield Lions

The Springfield Lions Club is making arrangements to construct a Service Men's Honor Roll on the P. & E. Nursery grounds at the Center, probably at the corner of Morris and Plover avenues. A large sign, bearing the names of all Springfield men and women in the Service, will be installed shortly. Harry Nalbh heads the committee on arrangements, assisted by Roy Waldeck and other members.

At Friday's meeting in the Half-Way House, Lion Warren W. Halsey gave a talk on High School curriculum, the second in a series by the local principal of Regional High School, Dr. Alfred Cookman, a faculty member, will speak tonight.

The club is considering changing its meeting place to probably meet in Springfield, rather than at Mountaineer.

Henry C. McMullen, club president, extends an invitation to all Springfield service men to attend meetings as guests of the club, whenever they are in town.

Mrs. Charles Phillips, Sr., is general chairman of the Mobile Blood Bank committee and anyone who wishes to register may do so by communicating with her.

Block Plan Devised For Publicity Uses

The block plan is a plan of organization, establishment of a uniform total coverage of all households for civilian war service. Civilian war services are all those citizens activities other than protection; with which the community must be concerned as a part of the contribution toward the prosecution of the war. On the Springfield Defense Council the Civilian War Service Committee consists of Mrs. Roland W. Nye in charge of Consumer's Interest, Postmaster Otto Helzig in charge of Salvage and Warren W. Halsey in charge of the Schools Committee.

The purpose of the block plan is to secure understanding and support of the programs and activities of the War Service Committee through neighborhood or family units. Direct contact provides the opportunity for discussion of the reasons for a particular campaign, its relation to the war, and the part which individuals or families can play.

Steps toward organizing the block plan in Springfield have been started by Mrs. Nye. As head of the Consumers Interest section of the Defense Council, it is Mrs. Nye's duty to see that householder are kept informed about foods to be rationed. At present the problems in connection with the rationing of meat are of most immediate interest.

Mrs. Nye and Miss Florence Gandness, school nurse, are dividing Springfield into blocks and endeavoring to secure the services of a block leader for each block. The block leader will be chosen from the families with whom she will work and will be given the responsibility of bringing to these families essential information about rationing or other important matters.

The block plan has the objective of encouraging a clearer understanding by all the people of the reasons behind our civilian war efforts and the development of a neighborhood spirit of co-operation for war service. It is hoped that all women, who are asked to help in organizing and putting into effect the block plan, will give freely of their time and energy.

Regulations Prohibit Christmas Lighting

Henry C. McMullen, chairman of the Springfield Defense Council, was officially notified this week from the State Defense headquarters that Christmas lighting will be banned outside of homes this year.

The order, from Sgt. Director Leonard Dressfus, follows: "A few months ago you were informed that Christmas lighting outside the home would be permitted provided the lighting was unostentatious and did not contribute materially to the sky glow. This information was given you at that time with the approval of United States Army authorities.

"Since then, however, new anti-air rules and regulations have been issued by Major General Thomas A. Terry, Commanding the Second Service Command which includes New Jersey.

Under these new regulations, it is virtually impossible to have outdoor Christmas lighting and still comply with the Army's orders. "We of the State Defense Council were hoping there would be no dimming of the Christmas spirit this year, but through General Terry's order, the Army indicates that it has good reason for asking us to comply with its request as contained in the new dim-out rules. "I regret that under these circumstances we must forego outdoor Christmas lighting this year."

Private Houses Spared OPA Order To Convert From Oil

The local rationing board has been advised by the Office of Price Administration that all buildings other than private houses must be converted to equipment using fuel other than oil before Jan. 16.

Fuel oil, after that date, will be issued only to buildings where conversion is not possible and where proof of the impossibility of conversion is submitted to the board and is satisfactory to the board's technical advisor.

Notices to that effect are being mailed this week to applicants who have applied on Form 1101. This includes stores, apartments, churches, public buildings and the like.

Although traffic fatalities in the State of New Jersey decreased 15% during the first ten months of 1942, Union County showed an increase of 16%.

YOUR RED CROSS

Resources of the American Red Cross were ordered into action for the aid of the victims of the Boston night club fire and their families.

It was announced from National Headquarters that blood plasma and sulfa drugs were flown to Boston from New York and Washington to aid the injured.

In addition to 272 units of blood plasma previously made available to Boston hospitals, another shipment of 100 units was dispatched from Washington Monday.

Dr. Albert McCown, medical director of the American National Red Cross, and Miss Ella Gimmedal, assistant director of the Disaster Nursing staff, left Washington for Boston to advise and lend assistance.

Ten members of the North Atlantic Area Disaster staff in New York City were sent in immediately to assist the Boston Metropolitan Chapter, and Red Cross nurses and nurse's aides were mobilized in Boston and surrounding chapters to relieve the exhausted nursing staffs of the Boston City Hospital and the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Chairman James R. Hamilton of the Boston Chapter immediately upon the Saturday night, notified the members of the chapter to aid local authorities, ambulances, canteens, and nurse's hospitals and morgues. Desks were established in the Boston Metropolitan Chapter to handle the hundreds of welfare inquiries pouring in from relatives and friends, and Red Cross Disaster workers visited the homes and families of victims of the fire to offer emergency aid where required.

Near-by chapters cooperating in the work were Cambridge, Lynn, Newton, Quincy, Wakefield and Weymouth.

Lesson-Sermon For Christian Science

"God The Only Cause And Creator" is the Lesson-Sermon subject for Sunday, December 6, in all Christian Science Churches and Societies throughout the world.

The Golden-Text is: "All nations whom thou hast made shall come and worship before thee, O Lord; and shall glorify thy name. For thou art great, and doest wondrous things: thou art God alone." (Psalm 86:9, 10).

Among the Lesson-Sermon citations whom thou hast made shall glorify thy name: "Wilt thou also disannul my judgment? wilt thou condemn me, that thou mayest be righteous?" (Job 40:8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "Divine Mind is the only cause or Principle of existence. Cause does not exist in matter, in mortal mind, or in physical forms." (page 262).

A WEEK OF THE WAR

A summary of information on the important developments of the week made available by official sources through the Defense Advisory Committee of the National Editorial Association.

Operations on all fronts against the Axis are progressing favorably. Secretary of War Stimson said. He summarized the situation as follows: (1) The Allies have failed in all of their main objectives for the year in Russia and will have to withdraw from wide areas unless they can stop the Russian counter-offensive. (2) The Allies are building up strong assault forces in Tunisia to oust the Axis, but the enemy there will "offer strong resistance." (3) American and Australian troops have cornered substantial numbers of Japanese troops between Gona and Buna in New Guinea. (4) Although weather conditions make extensive activity difficult in the Aleutians, American fliers are doing everything possible to harass the enemy.

Navy Secretary Knox said it is unlikely the Japanese can get reinforcements into Guadalcanal. Australian troops, advancing on Buna, have smashed Japanese counterattacks, while Allied bombers blasted enemy gun nests and mortar emplacements. Gen. MacArthur's New Guinea headquarters reported November 28, Japanese naval forces, however, despite heavy losses, have landed "strong, fresh reinforcements" on the Buna-Gona beachhead. Earlier Allied forces sank two and probably three troop-laden destroyers and definitely sank one other destroyer and two smaller vessels.

Communications during the week reported Allied forces in North Africa destroyed 100 Axis planes and 21 medium tanks at the cost of nine Allied planes destroyed and four damaged. The War Department estimated U. S. Army and Navy casualties from the initial landings in the North African operations: Army—killed 350; wounded 900; missing 350; Navy—killed 14; wounded 150; missing 100.

Rationing

President Roosevelt, in letters to Rubber Director Jeffers and Price Administrator Henderson, stated: "We must do everything within our power to see that the (rationing) program starts December 1st because victory must not be delayed through failure to support our fighting forces." Expanded passenger car tires and tube quotas for December to meet needs in the first month of mileage rationing—the plan under which virtually all passenger cars become eligible to apply for needed recapping services or replacement tires—were announced by the Office of Price Administration. The total of passenger car tires and recapping services combined is 2,301,342 for December, against 1,285,189 for November.

Rubber Director Jeffers stated that unless tires are conserved in the U. S. by nationwide gasoline rationing until synthetic rubber production gets in full swing in 1944, the United Nations' rubber stockpile will be reduced to "considerably below the point of reasonable safety." In 1943, there will only be 30 million tires, including recaps, available for automobiles, compared with a normal demand of 48 million tires. "If all goes well," Mr. Jeffers said, "we should be able to allocate important quantities of rubber for the manufacture of civilian tires in the early months of 1944. Thus, if there is no hitch in the program, we should be able in 1944 to replace in a large measure the automobile tires now in use on the 27 million passenger cars and the 5-million trucks operating in the United States."

The Office of Civilian Defense said that beginning November 20, 2 million Civilian Defense Block Leaders will "swing into action to carry in a coordinated national campaign the Government's voluntary share the meat plan to every city, town and village in the land."

Stabilization of Wages

The War Labor Board delegated to War Secretary Stimson the power to raise upon all wage and salary adjustments of the more than one million civilian employees in the U. S. and Alaska employed by the War Department, the Army Exchange Services and Government-owned, privately-operated facilities of the Department. The Board issued a list of 27 organizations employing 8 million workers in which its regional directors will be authorized to act on requests for wage increases to correct maladjustments by applying the Little Steel formula without Board review.

The Armed Forces

War Secretary Stimson announced Army furloughs will be granted between December 12 and January 12 to no more than 10 per cent of the enlisted strength of any camp or station at any one time. Mr. Stimson said many young officers have been transferred from Washington jobs to combat duty, and they will continue to be transferred until at least 25,000 of the officers on duty in Washington will be men more than 35. The Federal Communications Commission announced that after December 1 members of the armed forces and persons sending money to them will receive a 50 per cent rate reduction on domestic telegraph money orders up to $25.

Selective Service registrants will be required to carry classification cards as well as registration cards with them at all times, beginning January 1.

Farm Production and Prices

Agriculture Secretary Wickard announced 1943 Food-for-Freedom goals asking the highest production in the history of American agriculture. The goals will shape next year's farm production to the needs of the United Nations, and are aimed at maintaining or exceeding the record level attained this year. The 1943 corn acreage allotment for the commercial corn area will be 43,423,000 acres, as compared to 41,338,000 acres in 1942, in order to insure feed for 1944 and beyond.

To combat a critical butter shortage, the WPD prohibited dairy producers from distributing whipping cream or other heavy cream. The order does not affect coffee cream and does not apply to any farmer who delivers up to four quarts of heavy cream per day if his deliveries averaged less than one gallon daily in the three months ending November 25.

Labor Supply and Disputes

Selective Service Director Hershey instructed all local draft boards to release for enlistment or essential aircraft or shipbuilding workers—mechanics employed in these industries who are not classified in class 2-B or 3-B. War Manpower Chairman McNutt announced that a comprehensive list of "essential" occupations has been prepared to guide Selective Service boards in determining occupational deferment and to aid the U. S. Employment Service in deciding activities having a prior claim on a worker available for placement.

The Office of War Information reported that approximately 15 million U. S. women—less than 23 per cent of the total female population—are now gainfully employed, 4 million of them in war jobs. The Office estimated there will be 18 million women in paid employment by next year—6 million of them in war industries. Germany is doing as 1939 and 37 per cent of her women working. The WLB announced the number of man-days lost from war industry strikes decreased from 318,892 in September to 167,866 in October—the lowest since last January.

Transportation

The Public Roads Administration said its surveys show the average speed of passenger cars on rural highways since the institution of the 35-mile-an-hour speed limit has been reduced to 37 miles per hour and trucks to 36 miles per hour. Another survey showed that in 12 war plants in six States the majority of the employees travel to work by automobile. Office of Defense Transportation Director Eastman recommended that buses and street cars space their stopping places in cities at distances from 600 to 1,200 feet. He said any distance less than 500 feet would be wasteful of rubber, gasoline and equipment.

Editor's Mail

To the Editor of the SUN: I shall be very grateful to you if you will publish this letter.

There is a path leading from the Lane to the Seven Bridge Road. On part of the path and adjacent to it is rather valuable soil, called humus; but this soil is more valuable to us who use the path as it is than it could possibly be to anyone who might try to enrich his premises by removing it. I have at considerable effort tried to fill in with stones, depressions caused by some thoughtless person or persons who removed part of the path. Recently one of the neighbors fell into a hole made by soil stealers. Humus may be purchased at no great cost, so please let us have our path.

The depressions caused by the soil removal also provides places where rain water collects, thus fostering mosquito breeding. I appeal to whoever it may be who wants humus, please buy it and leave our path intact.

BETTIQUETTE

SAYS

Howdy, folks! "In between the seasons" is always an exciting time of the year. We put quotes around the phrase because it comes from one of our Hallmark cards reading:

"Just a little message that is sent between the seasons and intended just to greet you for a lot of friendly reasons!"

We can't help but think that is a charming idea. We recently read an article in Reader's Digest which tells how a man sends out letters every Thanksgiving telling people about his past life and in the previous year how various kind individuals, words, thoughts or actions made him so happy. He is in turn by his letter, has made other persons happy. So few of us in our mad and busy civilization have time for common courtesies and thoughts, which don't involve any personal effort other than a kindness to a fellow being.

Engene O'Neill, one of the greatest, modern experimental writers of our day, often philosophizes on the "aloneness of man" and how often we feel we are completely alone without true friends.

In our rush to "get places" we seem to lose our perception of what is important. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." How true that saying is from our oldest and greatest book, "The Bible."

LIGHTER VEIN

This is a season for gaiety and laughter. Our boys in the fighting fronts of the world want us back home to continue the spirit. They are fighting to enable us to, thus with apologies we produce our gossip column.

The gayest and nicest time we've had up to date at any functions attended was at the Polkeman's Ball at Singer's Park last Wednesday night.

Many of our town's women looked glamorous in evening clothes, and our policemen looked handsome in uniforms. An added feature of the evening was the excellent music of Miss Irish, supplemented by individual table serenading of request numbers.

We try to make it a point of not repeating the name of any one person too often in this column, but again as in the Red Cross dance our vote for best dressed woman of the evening goes to Mrs. Leslie Jones. She wore a blue dinner dress that was chic, stunning and in excellent taste. We personally prefer the kind of clothes that are not obviously unusual or new but subtle so, and the outfit she wore was undeniably so.

Incidentally, we sort of feel like a second Mrs. Wheeler as one subscriber wouldn't buy the SUN last week, when she heard we didn't have a report of the Polkeman's Dance in this column. To you, dear lady, we say the paper has much more to offer than our trivia. We feel it is a very vital and important purveyor of news in this community.

Two ladies looked well dressed in lace dinner jacketed dresses. They were Mrs. Vincent Pinkava and Mrs. A. B. Anderson. Among those who wore street length dresses which were very attractive was Mrs. Bert Jones in a grey crepe dress; Mrs. John Froh in a black dress with white trimming. In her party was Miss Gethell of Satorstreet, who wore an attractive pink two-piece cloth dress.

Some people seemed to be having an exceptionally good time. For one thing, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Martinko were celebrating their anniversary and were feted by numerous friends. Dr. and Mrs. Henry Mulhauser with a group of friends leded numerous greetings. The Legion group always supporters of all our civic functions, were well represented by their officers, past and present. Our Mayor and his wife with all the official family had a reserved ragside table and nodded graciously to all who danced by. Really, folks, the whole affair can be summed up briefly in one short and simple word of slang, "sweet."

CHRISTMAS DEMANDS CANDY

Christmas would not be Christmas without turkey, holly and candy—hard candy especially. This year with sugar more precious than ADD BETTIQUETTE, ever, many will revert to the habit of grandmother's—making her own candy for Christmas. Here is a caramel candy that may be made before the Christmas rush without too heavy an load on the sugar supply. The corn syrup lends its assistance as a sweetening agent and the caramel that results has a flavor all its own.

Chocolate Coconut Caramels

1 cup sugar; 1/2 cup light corn syrup; 3 squares unsweetened chocolate; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/2 cups heavy cream; 1 can moist sweetened coconut.

Combine sugar, corn syrup, chocolate, salt, and 1/2 cup cream. Place over low flame and stir constantly until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils. Continue boiling until a small amount of mixture forms a soft ball in cold water (235° F.), stirring constantly. Add 1/2 cup cream and again boil to (238° F.), stirring constantly. Add remaining 1/2 cup cream and boil slowly until a small amount of mixture forms a firm ball in cold water (246° F.), stirring constantly. Remove from fire; add coconut. Pour into slightly buttered pan, 8 x 4 inches. Do not scrape pan. Let stand until cold. Mark with knife into 3/4-inch squares and turn out on cold slab, turning top side up; cut in squares, using full length of long sharp blade. Let stand in cool place 2 to 3 hours to dry. Wrap each caramel in waxed paper. Makes 40 caramels.

BY FRED D. OSUN
County Farming Agent

Fall work in the garden is practically at an end now that we have a cold snap and the soil is starting to freeze. Although there may still be some mild spells, we may look for enough frost in the ground to stop any real planting or other work. If there are bulbs that have not yet been planted, it is better to mulch the soil. This precaution will hold the frost out for a long while. The purpose of mulching is to keep the ground from freezing and thawing too much. Bulbs will rot, and although they are absolutely hardy, freezing and thawing does not do them any good. If the mulch is put on too soon, it may provide a harbor for mice and the bulbs may be so damaged that they will disappear over winter. If you have not given any thought to mouse control, now is a good time to do so. Make some trap piles of refuse material and get some poisoned bait to put under these piles. It is
