

YOUR RED CROSS

The regular monthly meeting of Springfield Chapter, American Red Cross, was held Tuesday afternoon at the Red Cross Headquarters. Mrs. Edgar Jacobs, chairman of Charles Hill, chairman of the First Aid, reported that all classes in First Aid were now completed and that no other classes would be held until Fall.

An chairman of arrangements for the Memorial Day parade, Mrs. Jacobs was complimented on the fine job she and her committee did. It was felt that in spite of the lack of motor transportation, or perhaps because of it, the local chapter made a notable showing in the parade and certainly the members participating made quite a splash of color.

Mrs. Morris Lichtenstein, chairman of Home Nursing, announced that two classes had finished the course in Home Nursing and that there would be no more classes until after the summer.

The Nurse At Home

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of ten articles on Home Nursing prepared by the Public Information Service of the American Red Cross. For complete details about the standard course, inquire of your local Red Cross chapter.

URGENT! MORE SURGICAL DRESSINGS WORKERS NEEDED!

There will be a course in motor mechanics, however, details of which appear elsewhere in this issue. Arrangements for the course were made by Mrs. Harry Spencer, Motor Corps Chairman.

The urgent need for surgical dressings workers continues. Mrs. Lewis Mearns, chairman of Surgical Dressing is making every effort to have the workroom as comfortable as possible during the hot days ahead. Dark window shades have been installed to keep out the glare of the summer sun and a large fan is being loaned, which will keep the air circulating.

Mrs. A. H. Richards, Chairman of Nutrition and Canteen, wishes to extend the thanks of the Canteen Corps to the many women and girls who responded so enthusiastically and generously to the appeal for "Engines and Samboles for the Camp Kitchen trips." Two of the number, Mrs. Warren W. Halsey and Mrs. Lafayette Morrison, donated something on each of the five occasions. The following names of contributors were received too late for publication in last week's SUN: Mrs. Charles Quibbel, Mrs. Charles Zoeller and Mrs. Nell Jakobson.

Attitude Of Mind, Factor In Gas Crisis, Says Ration Board

A representative for the Summit War Price and Rationing Board said yesterday that a person's attitude of mind has become the important factor in making the OPA restrictions on gasoline more workable and acceptable.

This representative said: "It should not be a question of 'Can I get gas,' but rather can I do without it although it is inconvenient."

FROM GARDEN TO SHELF Putting-up Strawberries

By MARGARET ARMSTRONG,
County Home Demonstration Agent

Many lovers of good food consider jam and preserves the most delicious forms of preserving strawberries, but both methods are rather limited by the present rationing of sugar. Next in favor are frozen berries for winter short-cakes, and some families like candied berries to use as sauce for dessert.

The strawberries that you select to freeze or put up in jars should be in prime condition, that is, they should be thoroughly ripe, completely red, and tender, but also firm and sound. Plan to use two quart baskets of berries for every quart jar you expect to fill.

Prepare the berries by washing them quickly, but gently, in cold water. Remove the stems and cut out any bruises or spotted spots. For freezing, the excess moisture should be removed by careful drying.

Canning With Sugar
Attractive canned strawberries require the use of sugar in excess of the allotments possible under rationing. You are allowed one-half cup sugar for each quart—just half the amount used in pre-war days. This large quantity of sugar replaces the abundant water in the berries and prevents them from floating to the top of the jars.

As you hull the berries, arrange them in a shallow pan. In alternate layers with the sugar. Allow the mixture to stand for two hours. At that time bring it to a boil slowly. Let the strawberries stand over-

Pointless Pete Helps Housewives To Save Points

He's the little man who wasn't there—until food rationing came along. And what a man with the ladies, too, for Pointless Pete arrived just in time to help them with their biggest wartime problem—how to use food dollars and ration stamps to the very best advantage. In newspaper advertising and store display cards you've probably seen this round little man with the apron around his equator, calling attention to the day's best buys in unrationed foods.

The introduction of this humorous little character, who so effectively performs a vital service to thousands of New Jersey homes, was something of an innovation in food-store advertising. When the problems of acquiring the public with unrationed foods presented itself to the Acme Market, a new method of advertising was sought.

Constant reviewing week by week of the leading retail grocery advertising throughout the country failed to produce any unique ideas that effectively expressed the thought that there are variety, vitamins and value aplenty in unrationed foods.

The caricature "Pointless Pete" was finally created as a completely original idea as the result of close co-operation between Herbert A. Hery, district manager of the American Stores Company and Natalie Jenkins Bond, food editor of the Newark Star-Ledger.

"Pointless Pete" was the spark that arrested the public's attention in newspaper advertising. The natural follow-up was the use of "Pointless Pete" as a tie-up in store display cards, window signs and interior displays of unrationed items.

People could not forget the pleasing personality of plump little "Pointless Pete" and the advertising merchandise when they saw the same character on the displays in the Acme Markets throughout northern New Jersey.

The "extri thought" given to Acme advertising to help it click also proves true in every angle of the Acme Market theme of only the best in every department.

WE'RE 40 YEARS OLD THIS MONTH

Public Service Corporation of New Jersey

When Public Service Corporation of New Jersey was organized and began business forty years ago (June 1, 1903) no person could have predicted that today the United States and most of the great countries of the world would be engaged in the bitterest war in history. Certainly no one of the Corporation's founders could possibly have foreseen such a world catastrophe.

But the little group of far-seeing business men who conceived the Public Service enterprise realized that this State of New Jersey would become a great industrial commonwealth and they knew also that, in order to progress, the State would need sound public utilities—such as could produce an unending amount of gas and electricity and adequate transportation facilities. These men further knew that the success of these utilities would be dependent upon the growth and prosperity of the State.

So, after forty years of expansion and conservative management, during which period millions of dollars of new capital have been invested in the business, Public Service operating utilities today are supplying electricity, gas and transportation not only to a vast residential and commercial area but to hundreds of thousands of workers in New Jersey's war production industries.

New Jersey, although comparatively small in area, today stands second among all the states in the value of its ship building and fifth in the value of its total war work, with contracts totalling $7,733,277,000 as of February 1943. The very life blood of these war industries is an ample supply of electric, gas, and transportation services to keep their wheels moving.

the female population of working age 17.1 million women will be required for the civilian labor force and the armed forces and WAC.

Consumers' selling prices on potatoes have been decreased about 10 percent according to a recent OPA announcement. At the same time the price paid growers was increased 30 cents per hundred-weight on the 1943 early crop.

School-teachers will not be prevented from taking jobs at higher pay under War Regulation No. 4, "Hold The Line" order, nor will they endanger their regular positions by working during the summer vacation in war plants, agriculture, or necessary civilian services, said Paul V. McNutt, Chairman of the War Manpower Commission, recently.

Driving to victory gardens will be permitted under the non-essential driving ban in the 12 Eastern states only if other means of transportation are inadequate, and if the trips are necessary to assure top food production from the garden, OPA has declared.

Wives of men in the four lowest pay grades of the armed forces can now get maternity care plus medical, hospital and nursing care for their babies in 23 states without cost to the family, the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor has announced. To apply for such aid the wife must fill out a form secured from the State Health Department. Additional states are expected to have approved programs soon.

To obtain additional mileage from tires that can be made serviceable with the addition of liners, the Office of Rubber Director has excluded retreadable tires from rationing. Because of this, a number of half-million otherwise unusable tires can be placed in service through the Defense Supplies Corp.

Any upward adjustment in next year's fuel oil ration for owners of small homes will be made without a special application or extra forms OPA has announced. The adjustments, to correct excessive cuts for consumers heating small houses, will be made automatically by War Price and Rationing Boards with the regular application-to-renewal of fuel rations.

Farmers who use nitrogenous fertilizers—used mainly for top-soil-reconditioning—will be saved approximately $225,000 within a year by the six per cent freight reduction which became effective May 15, 1943. This saving will chiefly affect sales and purchases next year, since most farmers have already bought their 1942 requirements. The individual's saving will depend upon his location and upon the delivery system of the seller.

A clothing conservation program adopted by WPB will affect every branch of the women's and children's outerwear industry. Manufacture of dresses is now subject to two controls: Square-inch limitations on the amount of material which may be used for trimmings, collars, pockets, etc., and restrictions on the size and design of the trimmings—and control of the basic silhouette to specified measurements of length, sweep, hip-line, etc., listed in amended Order L-58.

Bus and taxicab operators in the Northeastern—gasoline shortage area, which includes New York and New Jersey, have been directed by the Office of Defense Transportation to start cutting their mileage immediately. A general order (General Order ODT 39) was issued by ODT Director Joseph B. Eastman requiring operators to begin reducing their mileage at once. That additional curtailments must be made—the action was forced by the failure of some operators to begin stretching their "G" gasoline rations voluntarily to meet the overall 40 per cent reduction in mileage imposed by extending the valid period for the current rations to July 25.

Buses, trucks, taxicabs, fire engines and other commercial motor vehicles should not be used in parades, the Office of Defense Transportation states. Gasoline is allocated to commercial vehicles only for essential operations, which are specified by the vehicle's certificate of war necessity.

SELF-STARTERS

You may be too young to remember the early models of automobiles before the days of the self-starter. A strong arm on the crank under the radiator was required to turn the engine over, and usually the crank had to be spun around fast to start the engine. The levers on the steering post had to be set just right, and if you failed the first time, you kept on trying or perhaps called someone to give you a hand.
