

MEN IN SERVICE

We received the following letter today and he send his regards to this week from Private First Class all of his Legion buddies and Robert Southard, stationed at Sheppard Field, Texas:

"Just a word of thanks for the SUN each week. The sight of familiar names and faces bring back memories of old times. Most interesting to me are the service men's column and the Regional News column. When each SUN arrives I look for them first."

"I see that more of my friends are entering the service each month. I am sure they will find the SUN a fine companion in a far off place just as I have. Please send all future copies to my new post. Thank you again for the SUN."

Pvt. Southard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Southard of 175 South Springfield avenue.

Tormey is a graduate of Union High School class of '31. Before entering the service he was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. He sends his regards to all of his friends. OPA Tells How Prices Of Foods Are Controlled

With a nationwide OPA mobilization of consumers and retailers under way in a concerted drive to "hold the line" against inflation, the District OPA has issued a comprehensive outline showing how the prices of foods are controlled by various regulations.

District price officials explained that the outline of price regulations on food is intended as "background information to guide both consumers and retailers in complying with the price regulations which are designed to hold prices down and eliminate unpatriotic profiteering."

According to the digest there are three general types of regulations which embrace the majority of the most commonly used foods and groceries. The first and oldest of these is the General Maximum Price Regulation which established the price ceilings of all cost-of-living foods at the highest price charged by each retailer during March 1942.

This regulation, it was explained, was considered the quickest and easiest way to "throw on the brakes" in the emergency created by the war. With the prices dammed temporarily at the March 1942 levels, price officials then devised more particularized special regulations adapted more specifically to certain groups of commodities and to the special requirements of the industries involved. At the same time a way was sought to adopt the regulations to consumer requirements.

As a result, the mark-up type of regulation was evolved. This kind of control fixes a specific margin of profit which each retailer is permitted to add to his net cost.

On the basis of those mark-up regulations the District Office price division has calculated retailer costs on hundreds of food items and issued community ceiling prices expressed in dollars and cents for specific areas. In northern New Jersey, Essex, Hudson and Union counties have such price lists in effect now. The other four northern counties will be covered by such lists within the next few weeks.

The third type of price ceiling is the nationwide dollars-and-cents ceiling price which covers meats and soap products.

The latter type of regulation and the community dollars-and-cents ceiling prices are the most satisfactory, for they permit the consumer to determine what the ceiling prices are merely by consulting a list.

The digest listed the following foods affected by each type of regulation together with the requirements regarding posting of prices under each:

1. The most commonly used foods still under the General Maximum Price Regulation which sets the ceiling at the highest price charged in March 1942 are the following:

Baked beans; baked goods; other than doughnuts, cakes, pies, pastries, and sweet yeast raised goods; candy; bread; corn sugar; cream; dry baby cereals; ice cream; sherberts; maple sugar; milk; peanuts; salads and rolls prepared by the retaines; soft drinks; vitamin concentrates; and wheat germ.

The regulations require each retailer to put his ceiling prices on cost-of-living items themselves, or on the shelf, or on a placard hanging at the point of sale.

2. The most commonly used foods and commodities now under a mark-up regulation are the following:

(a) Dry Groceries: baby foods; breakfast cereals; cocoa, chocolate, malted milk, and cereal drink preparations; coffee; cookies; cake; toast and crumbs; corn meal and hominy; dog and cat foods; processed fish; flour and flour mixes; canned fruits, berries, and fruit juices; dried and dehydrated fruits; frozen fruits and vegetables; gelatin and pudding mixtures; jams, jellies, preserves, honey, and peanut butter; hard; macaroni and spaghetti products; mayonnaise and salad dressing; canned meat; canned milk; cooking and salad oils; oleomargarine; pickles and relishes; rice; shortening; canned soups; spices; sugar; syrup; tea; canned vegetables and vegetable juices; dried and dehydrated vegetables; vinegar.

Library Moving To New Building Soon, Closing This Month

The Board of Trustees of the Springfield Free Public Library announce that the Library will close tonight and, for an indefinite period, no further book loans will be made.

It will be of material assistance to the volunteers who are preparing the books for removal to the new Library location in the Sarah A. Bailey House, Main street, if the borrowers will return all of their books to the Library. The old Library will be open the week of September 6 to 11, at the usual hours, for return of books only.

No books will be checked out to borrowers until the Library opens in the new location.

The decorators under the general contractors, Residence Construction Company, are now completing the balance of the inside work and soon will be working on the exterior. Certain internal changes have been made to provide ample space for the various kinds of books. A room will be assigned for juvenile borrowers only. There will be a reading room apart from the stack room where research and study can be carried on under desirable conditions.

Mrs. Ralph H. Titley, trustee, is organizing the volunteers to sort the books in the old Library in such a manner as to make the moving as easy and orderly as possible.

Additional volunteer help will be welcomed in the new location when service is resumed in October.

Private Walter William Kimmerle of 100 Linden avenue was inducted into the Army on Wednesday morning. He was married nine years ago to the former Ruth Caroline Allen of East Orange. Mrs. Kimmerle will remain in town for the duration. Pvt. Kimmerle, who is stationed at Fort Dix for his basic training, was employed with the Baker Printing Co. in Newark before entering service.

A GREAT VOLUNTEER ARMY

As you know the third great war loan drive begins this month — starting officially on September 9th — but any purchases you make at any time during the month, beginning now, can be credited toward the third war bond goal of $15,000,000,000.

This is the year of invasion — the year in which the United Nations began to roll back the Axis — the year in which the outskirts of continental Europe were re-entered — a year in which even bigger things may yet begin to happen.

This year — this month — now — the costs of war are mounting as we pour men and materials into great battles by land, sea and by air. This month — now — is, therefore, the moment for all of us to enlist our dollars in the greatest financial army ever to volunteer for war.

How much weight you can throw into the scales at this time is for you to say. No one can say for you. But you will want to step up the pressure. You will want to be able to say to yourself, "Well done."

The sacrifice that we make in buying war bonds is a sacrifice of convenience. We are saving money, not giving it. We are lending money, and the money we are lending will come back to us with interest. All we are doing is to forego the pleasure of spending now — putting off the pleasure. And in doing this we are doing ourselves a favor because we are helping to keep living costs down.

There is so much advantage on the side of the bond buyer today that it seems hardly necessary to argue in favor of lending your money to the nation today. As a matter of fact the records show that the American people don't need much urging. Government has been able to raise readily sums which no one dreamed could be raised a decade or more ago.

But perhaps we should say one thing more, and that is this: When you step up and throw an added investment weight into the scales at this time you are reminding yourself, and the men on the fighting fronts, and the enemies of our nation that everyone is in this fight.

Let's really go through the roof on this bond drive.

Top Mark Of 200 In Voting Registration

The Springfield Post Office will be closed all day Monday, Labor Day, Postmaster Otto F. Feltz announces. There will be no deliveries, except those marked special delivery.

Caught In Chase For Stealing Car

August Daum, 34, of 29 Walnut street, Summit, arrested at 4:30 a.m. Friday, was sentenced to 34 days in Union County Jail, by Recorder Spinnin, of Springfield, on Wednesday evening.

In the absence of official voters eligible to cast ballots at the primary election September 21, the new registrants are expected to swell the township figures well over 2,500.

The influx of new voters registered is attributed to the keen interest shown in the primary campaign for Republican candidates for Township Committee.

Two weeks before the deadline of August 24, the clerk's office was open evenings twice weekly, with 23 being signed up at the first session.

This increased slightly with each successive reporting, until the last few days before August 24, when 123 voters were registered.

Township Clerk Trout was assisted by Mrs. Carolyn Harmon and Mrs. Richard Grondlyte. Trout said 75 per cent of the new voters were from Spring Brook Park, Housen Avenue, Linden Avenue and Country Club Estates sections of the township.

He will be arraigned later in Mountainside on an auto theft charge. Police charge he was driving a stolen car.

Daum was arrested in Summit after a chase during which several shots were fired, also in Summit, by Patrolmen Stiles and Schneider.

Corcoran attracted by the shots fired by the Springfield officers, joined the chase in Summit.

Police said the car was stolen in Mountainside, where it was parked by Charles Cameron of Union.

Tony Sherinsky, 50 years old, of Passaic, an escaped inmate from Greystone Park in Morris Plains, was apprehended in Springfield by Patrolmen Phillips, Day and Soriano.

The police were changing beats at the time the Passaic man was taken. He had left the hospital a full day before being taken and although the vicinity was fully searched by Greystone Park officials, he was not discovered until he arrived in Springfield. At headquarters, the desk sergeant checked his description with that of a tele-type report and Greystone Park was notified. Later that day, he was returned to Morris Plains.

BETTIQUETTE

SAYS

FASHION FORECAST

Leading New York designers state that the slim era is definitely established, which means unconditional surrender to the short and narrow sheath. In fact, dresses are coming in shorter and narrower than the L-85 fashion regulations say they need be. Drimble, bouncy drapes and shrivels are out. The general silhouette is that of a square placed on a rectangle; in plain English, very square shoulders, a bioned torso, a slightly lowered, sharply defined waistline and a slim, straight skirt. To go with this, the 1943 beauty will adopt a Bettie Davis slouch with her hands in her pockets and her pockets in her skirt placed like a man's along the side seams.

HIGHLIGHTS from the big-time New York collections are always something for the fashion-wise to believe in. Take a note on these: Claire McCordell's winter sunbeam halter dress in tweed, shown with sweatshirts or bright wool blouses and jacket; Maurice Reuter's huge chevron stripes, either black on bright or bright on black; Jo Copeland's rati on the male wardrobe, producing sequined and beaded four-in-hands and bow ties to wear with tweed date suits; Nettie Rosenstein's naughty neckline, the widened V open from the shoulder points way down to here.

HATS

Berets will be a leading fashion: small for dinner, large and bold for around-town-and-somewhere to go with mostly everything. One of the latest hats has an exaggerated brim at one side only, or across the front with none at the back. The point to remember about this season's hats is that the millinery industry led by such as Lilly Dache, John Fredericks and Sally Victor, is creating hats that fit.

SEPTMBER BRIDES

Old fashioned marriage customs, such as white roses, double ring ceremonies and long bridal trains are being revived by youngsters bent on making the days of a shrill memory to brighten lonely hours ahead. The point is that in the good old era, women were really feminine, and nothing more delights the heart of a man in uniform than femininity. Hence the bows, pleats and deep necklines adorning modern wedding dresses that for fragile, lovely look which is the prerogative of every bride.

One of the most popular New York creations is of frosted organza with ruffles of the same material trimming the skirt, sleeves, train and deep square neckline.

Out Hollywood way, Leah Barnes of Warner Brothers, is designing heavenly bridal headresses; white violets cascading down the left side of the head on white net veiling; white poppies massed behind a pompadour with veiling looped out on the sides.

FABRICS

There's enough wool in this country to do for three years, if we never import or grow another cent of it. An exciting result of this happy situation is the short wool dinner dress. Durable enough for meal-shrugs and smart enough for anything. A perfectly plain, straight skirt frock with a drapery swing train and low, heart-shaped neckline, has a bolero which can be discarded to reveal a halter cross-strap backless top.

Home dressmakers will be pleased to learn that colors in the Forsmann collection of wooden goods are as abundant as ever. Purple is important, blue and red very much in demand. Black, still leads. There's little trimming to be allowed by the W.P.B., but you'll see bows and self-covered buttons all over the place.

Much of the rayon formerly on the market is now going into tire cords for bombers, heavy-duty Army vehicles and such. But still available in this field are spun rayon, gabardine, flannel and cottons. You'll find tweed-type fabrics too for coats and blends of spun rayon and wool, plus various crepes for dresses. Lack of novelty interest in these crepes will be offset by the use of much draping with fringe for trim.

Because more chemicals are required for deep colors, Uncle Sam is urging lighter tones. For the same reason, printed fabrics will carry less design coloring. Often wartime conditions affect quality too. For this reason, it is advisable to read the labels on fabrics. These should give you information on care, fiber, content, use and the tests the fabric has passed for strength, stability and permanency of finish.

Fall 1943 marks the launching of 100 per cent Aralac interlinings in two types—woven fabrics and quiltings. Aralac is the first American man-made fiber with a warmth to rival wool. Furthermore, this little test-tube wonder has been accepted by top-flight designers who have found that Aralac eliminates that overstuffed look, will last the life of the garment without lumping.

And, finally, don't overlook the fall and winter collections: upholstery plush, Jersey mixtures, horse-blanket cottons, and, of course, velvet.

Fashionably yours—

AT WEBER-GALLOWAY NUPTIALS SATURDAY

MOUNTAINSIDE—Lieut. and Mrs. Leslie R. Galloway snipped a few seconds after their wedding ceremony was completed Saturday in the First Methodist Church of Westfield with the pastor, Rev. John W. Lord, on the altar. Mrs. Galloway is the former Marlin Woher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Weber of Central avenue.

MOUNTAINSIDE—The wedding of Miss Marlin Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Weber of Central avenue to Lieut. Leslie R. Galloway of Spruce street, Greenwood, took place Saturday afternoon at 4 in the First Methodist Church, Westfield. The Rev. John Wesley Lord, pastor, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white satin, with a yoke of lace and seed pearls, and a fingertip veil attached to a headress of white gardenias. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and baby's breath.

Mrs. Mildred Weber was her sister's maid of honor and wore a gown of lace blue satin, bonnet style. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses with matching flowers in her hair. Miss Evelyn Woher, a sister, and Mrs. Stanley Bortl, a cousin, were bridesmaids. Miss Weber wore a gown of gold satin with a net skirt and Mrs. Bortl wore rose satin. They both carried bouquets of Tishman roses and had matching flowers in their hair.

Eugene Galloway, a brother of the groom, was the best man and the ushers were Henry C. Weber, Jr., brother of the bride and Alan Schumpp. A reception was given at the home of the bride for the immediate families and friends. The couple are on a wedding trip to Fort Wayne, Indiana, temporarily where Lieut. Galloway is stationed. For her going away outfit, Mrs. Galloway wore a red velvet dress with black accessories.

Last Thursday Miss Marlin Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Weber of Central avenue, and her cousin, Mrs. Leslie R. Galloway, at the home of Miss Marlin Weber, decorated. Decorations were done by Miss Marlin's father, who is a painter in the firm of Doerrer's, Morris. The scheme was a white picket fence entwined with rambling roses, with steps leading to the house of a miniature bride and groom, in Army style, and red, white and blue streamers were attached to the gifts.

"LET THERE BE LIGHT"

SERVICEMEN MUST GET XMAS MAIL

Packages Should Be Sent Between September 15 and October 15 To Insure Delivery of Parcels

The Christmas shopping season is here even though the weather is still warm. Mailings of gifts for Army and Navy personnel overseas must begin by September 15, if many of the men and women in our armed services are not to be disappointed; and September 15 is less than a few weeks away.

Christmas gifts may be mailed by parcel post to Army men and women overseas only between September 15 and October 15. After the latter date such parcels may not be mailed unless a written request from the soldier or the article is presented with each parcel. No and get their letters first. Officers at our large military and naval stations report that the spirit and efficiency of their men receive a distinct lift when mail is distributed, and that a delay in mail service caused a decided letdown in spirit with a consequent letdown in efficiency.

A disconsolate soldier or sailor who thinks he has been forgotten at Christmas obviously is not at his best. So the gifts must be mailed on time so that they can arrive on time.

Rules for Christmas mailings to the fighting forces overseas were made public in June for the guidance of early shoppers. They include:

The parcel must not exceed five pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 30 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked "Christmas parcel" so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same sender.

The parcel must be well and strongly packed, in a container of metal, wood, strong fiber board, or similar material, then wrapped in strong paper and tied with twine. The cover should be such that it can be opened readily for censoring. The contents should be packed tightly.

Perishable goods, such as fruits that may spoil, are prohibited. Intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited.

Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, must have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages.

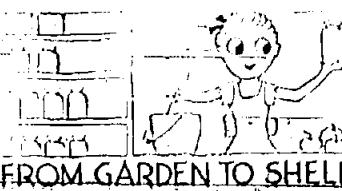

Since the armed forces are being plentifully supplied with food and clothing, the Army and Navy recommend against these as gifts.

Addresses must be written clearly and completely. In addition to the return address of the sender, a parcel for an Army man should show the name, rank, Army serial number, branch of service, organization, Army post office number and name of post office through which the parcel is routed. A typical address for an Army man:

Pvt. John R. Doe (Army serial No.) Company F, 187th Infantry
A. P. O. #10, c/o Postmaster
New York, N. Y.

The address on a parcel for a Navy man should include the name and rank or rating of the addressee, the Naval unit to which he is assigned and the Navy number assigned thereto, or the name of his ship, and the fleet post office through which the parcel is routed. A typical Navy address:

John M. Jones
Seaman First Class, U. S. Navy
Naval Air Station
Navy 189-Gone-in-the-airne
c/o Fleet Post Office
San Francisco, Calif.
or:
Lieut. Roger W. Doe, U. S. Navy
U. S. S. Minnesota
c/o Fleet Post Office
San Francisco, Calif.

called for with an equal measure of honey. Corn syrup can be used, too, by replacing up to one-fourth the sugar called for with an equal measure of the syrup. When either of these sweeteners is used, be sure to do the boiling in a large kettle, because they cause excessive foaming. It will be necessary to boil the mixture longer to remove the extra liquid in both syrup and honey.

A vigorous, rolling boil accompanied by occasional stirring makes sparkling jelly.

When the jelly test is reached (two drops sheeting off the spoon) turn off the heat. Skim the jelly and pour it immediately into hot, sterilized jars or glasses. As soon as a "skin" forms over the jelly, seal each container with a layer of melted paraffin.

CARTERET
THE SCHOOL FOR YOUR BOY

Superior College Preparation

Perhaps your boy is different. He may be brighter than the average; possibly more ambitious. Or, on the other hand, he may be behind in one or two studies. Carteret, through small group instruction, through discussion rather than recitation, is sufficiently flexible to take care of your boy's individual requirements.

Sound curriculum from lowest grades to college. Individual attention given to improvement of reading habits, with complete equipment under supervision of Psychologist.

TOWN and FARM
WARTIME
OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION

"The selection of men needed for the armed forces and the deployment of men required for agriculture, war production, and war supporting activities are much more difficult than in the days when we had ample men from which to choose," said Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, in a recent letter to local boards. He said available men will be called for induction in the following order: (1) single men without dependents; (2) single men with collateral dependents; (3) married men without children; (4) men with children (non-dependents); (5) men with children.

Distribution of about 37,000 air and liquid-cooled internal combustion engines of 20-horsepower and under will be controlled by County Farm Rationing Committees. Preference rating certificates will be issued to farmers or operators of farm machinery for hire, based on the need for the machine in essential production of crops, livestock and livestock products, poultry and eggs, and bees. When the farmer receives such a preference rating certificate, he can take it to his local dealer and buy the engine.

A new star, Andzia Kuzak, will take the leading role. Miss Kuzak, a native of Chicago, began her career as a dancer and child radio star at the age of six. She has appeared in many cities of this country and Canada in both grand and light opera and has lately sung with great success in St. Louis and Dallas in "The Merry Widow," "The Chocolate Soldier," "Robbin Hood," "Babes in Toyland" and "The Great Walz."

James Montgomery who will sing the role of "Captain Dick" is a graduate of Princeton and began his musical career as leading tenor at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City. He has appeared as soloist with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra and City Opera Company and is especially known as an interpreter of Gilbert and Sullivan, being the only American artist who has sung all thirteen of the leading tenor roles in these operas.

Another newcomer is Dorothy Dare who takes the comedy part of Lillie. She is fresh from Hollywood where she has figured in more than twenty films including "The Yanks Are Coming." She has also appeared frequently on Broadway, notably in "Hi! The Deck" and "Show Boat."

George Lipton again plays Rudolfo, keeper of a marionette theatre; other old favorites are Yolanda Lapachina as Adah, and Lucy Hilliard as "Pancho."

Certain kinds of rubber boots useful in farming and similar work but no longer being manufactured for general use have been released from rationing by a recent OPA amendment. All olive drab, chay, or khaki colored rubber boots, all over-the-shoe ankle-fitting and all light-weight ankle-fitting rubber boots which depend upon stretch at the ankle for fitting are included in the order. However, quantities will be small because dealers do not have complete stocks on hand.

If you are planning to take a train trip over Labor Day, you probably will have to stand in the aisles. ODT officials say passenger trains throughout the U.S. continue to run heavily loaded, with standing in the aisles occurring frequently on some trains, particularly at week-ends.

Many farmers will be among the 15 million Americans who are required to file a declaration of estimated income for 1943 and make a payment on that basis under the "pay-as-you-go" plan which became effective July 1, this year. September 15 is the date for filing declarations, except that farmers, if they wish, may wait until December 15 since they receive the bulk of their income in the fall. Generally speaking, all single persons earning more than $3,700 a year from wages subject to withholding and all married couples earning more than $3,500 will be required to file declarations. In addition, individuals or couples with an income of $100 or more from sources other than wages are required to file if their total income is such that they must pay an income tax. Individuals who were required to file an income tax return for 1942 and whose wages subject to withholding in 1943 will be less must also file.

Chaplain Julius S. Busse, reporting to the War Department on his service in the Attu campaign, said the chaplains had many opportunities to help the wounded. Chaplains, he said, should travel light. "If you are not loaded down there are many times when a lagging soldier can be helped with his load and if you have a heavy load you can't support a wounded man." Every chance he had, Chaplain Busse said, he filled his pockets with "D" ration and a few packages of cigarettes for the men. Troops appreciate the presence of a chaplain in Every successful Victory Garden draws the noose that much tighter around the enemy's neck.

Help strangle the Axis. Give your garden proper care:

- Stir the upper inch of soil with a hoe or cultivator regularly.
- Watch for signs of plant diseases and pests.
- Water your garden when dry. Then water it thoroughly so that moisture penetrates 8 or 9 inches.
