Use Home Canned Peaches To Their Best Advantage

By Mary W. Armstrong Home Demonstration Agent

If you are fortunate and you have canned peaches on your shelves, these are the days to be making good use of them. Like the fresh fruit itself, the canned product will differ in flavor and texture according to its variety and degree of ripeness. Most canned peaches from New Jersey orchards are delicious served just as they come from the jar, but there are many uses to which the fruit can be put when it is not quite so choice in quality.

In the long run, the success of any home food conservation program depends upon the way the canned or stored food is used. With peaches, for example, the most advantageous use is often dictated by the form in which the fruit has been prepared. If it has been canned in halves, try filling the canners with cottage cheese balls rolled in chopped nuts and serving the stuffed halves on crisp lettuce leaves as a salad. A spoonful of mince or cranberry jelly can be substituted for the cottage cheese. Peach preserves, combined with other fruits—pears, cherries, or orange slices—make a delectable molded fruit salad, too. Peach dumplings, peach upside-down cake, or spiced baked peaches suggest other appealing uses if the fruit has been canned in halves.

If you sliced or cubed your peaches before canning them last summer, you'll find them excellent for fragrant peach pies, tarts or turnovers, for peach shortcakes, peach butty, or an old-fashioned peach cobbler. Ice cream, peach whip, sherbet, and fruit cup made with sliced peaches are treats at any season of the year, but they're particularly welcome when the branches of the peach trees are covered with snow.

A hearty, smacking-good pudding that will contribute substantially to any dinner table of a frosty winter's night is made with sliced peaches and topped with an almond-flavored sauce.

1 qt. Peach Pudding
1 qt. Canned peaches, sliced
1 c. nutmeg
2 T. butter or margarine
1 c. sugar
1 c. flour
1 t. baking powder
1 t. salt
1 c. milk
1/2 c. vanilla or almond extract
Butter a baking dish and put in the sliced peaches. Sprinkle with the nutmeg. Make a butter

Help Wanted Ad Rules Set Up By Manpower Commission

George Schmeltzer, acting director of the Newark Area of the War Manpower Commission, in announcing the adoption in the Essex-Hudson-Union County administrative area of a uniform set of help-wanted advertising controls as a part of the WMC stabilization program today stressed such advertising as extremely necessary to the recruitment of new workers. Schmeltzer urged upon employers the continued use of advertising, declaring that it is the single factor in producing workers needed in the home-front production phase of a successful prosecution of the war.

Schmeltzer announced the following program of advertising controls which are being uniformly adopted in all six WMC areas in New Jersey. They will be substituted throughout the state for those now embraced in the several area stabilization plans.

Employer's advertisements for employees are required to meet the following conditions:

1. Indicate clearly that employees not employed in essential activities cannot be considered without a Statement of Availability.
2. The name of the advertising employer must be included in any advertisement which does not make reference to the use of facilities of the United States Employment Service, except through arrangement with the United States Employment Service.
3. Advertisements for employees possessing skills which appear on the list of critical occupations must state that hires may be made only through referral by or with the consent of the United States Employment Service.
4. Advertisements of employers located outside the Newark Area of the War Manpower Commission shall state clearly that persons now employed or residing within the Newark Area will not be considered.
5. Advertisements of employers shall contain no mention of wage rates or possible earnings.

Schmeltzer pointed out that the controls place no restriction whatever upon the nature which employers are to follow in their help-wanted advertising programs. He disclosed, however, that a cooperative program for the handling of classified-advertising had been worked out between representatives of newspapers and WMC officials at conferences held here. Representatives of the New Jersey Press Association also participated in the WMC-Publisher discussions held in Newark and elsewhere in the state, he said.

Particularly the WMC head emphasized the fact that the advertising controls place no restriction whatever on employers' advertising for workers in the 140 critical skills.

"On the contrary," Schmeltzer said, "such advertising is highly desired and essential if new sources of such workers are to be discovered and explored. Workers possessing these critical skills are urgently needed in the Newark Area's war production program. Advertising searches them out and provides an invaluable medium through which to channel them into critical jobs.

Relates How Wacs Are Making History

"The story of the WACS to date can be put briefly: They are making history," Lt. Vera L. Lynn, of the U.S. Army Recruiting Station in Elizabeth, said today.

"Not only at Army posts throughout the country but overseas as well."

Wacs trained in weather observation are now on duty with our Air Forces at airfields throughout the United States.

of an efficient and capable job being done, and of a real soldier on duty," Lt. Lynn continued.

The WACS are coming in not merely to release men for the fighting fronts; they are improving on their jobs. They appear to thrive on the diet of administrative detail and technical duties; the same "paper work" which stifled men hungry for action.

With proper training and experience they are checking supercharges and clearing fuel lines of our fighters and bombers. They become photo lab technicians, weather observers, medical technicians and cryptographers.

Just as that barrier which erroneously labeled so many occupations as "men's jobs" is crumbling under the direct fire of proved ability, so it is collapsing in our Armed Forces. Wherever the WACS have gone on duty they have done such a top-notch job that there are not enough available to meet the demand for their services. And in the final analysis, that reaction is the proof of their success.

YOUR RED CROSS

The new year has begun and we must remember to write "1944." Our women are again taking up the task on Thursdays and Thursdays of folding surgical dressings and meeting on Wednesdays at Legion Hall, to sew garments. Next Tuesday, our Canteen Corps will serve a hot luncheon at a nominal price to the workers on surgical dressings in the Methodist Church annex. And on the following day the Canteen Corps will serve a hot luncheon to the workers in the sewing group at Legion Hall. These luncheons will mark the reopening of the two projects after the short period of rest during the holiday season, and will serve not only as a means of reunion but, it is hoped, will bring in new volunteers whose help will increase the production of dressings and garments and assure the completion of quotas which are constantly being urged upon the chapter by National Headquarters.

Word has been received by Mrs. A. H. Richards, department chairman, that there is an increasing demand for Canteen workers in the simple refreshment to members of the armed forces, blood donors, and Red Cross workers, and it has therefore been decided to reinstate the Canteen Aide training program with modifications.

The requirements for this course are:

1. Ten hours of instruction.
2. Ten hours of supervised practice work. (This may be done in blood donor centers, parts of entertainment, and Red Cross centers for the Armed Forces or for chapter workers.)
3. Upon successful completion of the course, volunteers will receive Red Cross Canteen Aide certificates.
4. A Canteen aide will wear the commando-blue uniform of the Canteen Corps with the two-inch Canteen Aide emblem one-half inch above the upper left pocket and the one inch Canteen Aide emblem on the front of the cap.

Those who are interested in taking this Canteen Aide course should call Mrs. Richards, Millburn 6-0872. A class will be started as soon as a sufficient number of registrations have been made.

Registrations may also be made by those who wish to qualify for the Canteen Corps certificates. These must complete the 30-hour Standard Nutrition Course and 10 hours of additional Canteen training.

From a letter written by an American civilian in North Africa we get an illuminating picture of Red Cross activities in that area. J. R. Deamison, P. W. B. Force

Headquarters, writes as follows: "Please allow me to congratulate you and your organization for the wonderful work they are doing in the North African field. Our boys, both in Army and Navy, are always welcome at the Red Cross and it is a common sight to see large crowds of them taking advantage of the sandwiches and coffee and above all else, ice cream, which your organization manages to find for our boys. When you realize the remarkable spirit your organization is building up in our men, it is no wonder that we were able to go out and defeat the enemy.

"Your organization, through our organization, is promoting great shows. Boys of ours just returned from the front tell the finest stories of how the Red Cross was 'pitching' just like the veterans; bringing supplies, taking care of the wounded, seeing that everyone received medical attention, always in direct range of enemy's fire.

"If the people in America only realized what a remarkable job the Red Cross is doing, I am sure they would not hesitate to double their contributions to the Red Cross."

It is of interest to note that the surgical dressings group, although the workload was open only two days and one evening during December, made 2,500 dressings in that time. There were 48 workers who contributed 175½ hours of volunteer service.

Do you know that as of October 20, 1943, there were 3,756 chapters and 6,084 branches of the American Red Cross, each one using to the limit all its resources of man and woman power in forging ahead unflinchingly toward the objectives continually set before it? Think that over!

ACTIVITIES OF MOUNTAINSIDE

Borough Now Owns Heinichowitz Land

MOUNTAINSIDE—The Lafayette Development Co. property known as the "Heinichowitz Tract," situated off Route 29, opposite the Somerset Bus terminal, has been taken over through final legal action by the Borough. It was announced at the final Council meeting Tuesday of last week. The property, between 15 and 20 acres, is about $11,000 in arrears in taxes and interest, and has long figured in delays of foreclosure with former Council authorities and remained on the delinquent list for years. Council members hinted that the property will not be offered for private sale, until the reappointed Planning Board has an opportunity to plan for its future development.

Comprehensive Improvement Program For Borough Roads

MOUNTAINSIDE—Borough Engineer Arthur H. Lennox, in conjunction with Councilman William Parkhurst, road chairman, jointly announced this week that the Board of Freeholders plan an extensive 1944 road improvement program for Mountain Side. The Borough Council's share of the expense will be $1,400, and the total value of the work, estimated by Engineer Lennox, is $10,000. This is made up by labor furnished through the county road department, of which Roy C. Collins of Westfield is head. Lennox described the work in detail as follows: Tarring and sealing of Deer path, Tanager way, Fairview road, Whipperwill way, Evergreen court and Central avenue; resurfacing of New Providence road from Central avenue to the intersection of Whipperwill way, a distance of 1,700 feet, and also resurfacing of Prospect avenue, off Summit road, a distance of 175 feet. All of the other borough thoroughfares will be scraped and cleaned, the report concluded and no definite time as to when the improvements will get under way can be disclosed, except that it will be completed during the year.

Mountainside Library Notes

The first meeting of the Library Board for the new year had to be postponed due to bad weather. The next meeting will take place on the first Monday in February. The Library has received several new books, among them "The Hills," by Frances Parkinson Keyes; "Heads and Tails," by Malvina Hoffman; "Persons and Places," by George Santayana; and "The Sign Post," by E. Arnold Robertson.

Coal Committee Will Give Residents Aid

MOUNTAINSIDE—Mayor John Moxon advises residents who do not have sufficient coal for proper heating to get in touch with Police Chief Charles Honecker. The committee in charge during the coal crisis is made up of Mayor Moxon, Councilman Mrs. Thomas Doyle, Councilman Norman Woolley and Police Chief Honecker.

School Activities

There was no school on Tuesday due to the storm. Many parents listened to the radio for school bulletins and Mountain Side was confused with Mountain Lakes. Principal Charles Wadus reported "no school" to OR at 7:10 A. M. Since Mountain Side was not mentioned but Mountain Lakes and Mountainville were, Mr. Wadus talked to John Gumbing about the error and a new system of reporting will be made.

AROUND THE BOROUGH

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Doyle of Mountain Avenue were dinner guests on New Year's Day, of their oldest son John and Mrs. Doyle of Springfield, and sister Frances Doyle. Other guests included Miss Frances Doyle, Mrs. Charles Doyle and son. Another son, Roger, 3rd Class Petty Officer in the Coast Guard, was home for the week-end. His mother, Mrs. Thomas Doyle, fiancée, Miss Dolores Mowrey of Springfield, and sister Frances returned with him on Sunday, and were guests at the Groton Training Station in Connecticut.

Only 8 pupils were absent since the start of school after the holidays.

The Health Department would like all parents to keep children home who show any sign of a cold. The "flu germ" is still around and it is important that parents use every precaution possible during the next two months.

The Student Council has marked off areas for snow-balling in back of the school park road. A buck must be 20 paces away before throwing any snow. The areas are divided into three groups, upper grades, middle grades and lower grades.

75 per cent of the students have taken advantage of the hot dish the past month, which is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association.

The price of milk has been reduced from 6 cents to 5 cents (1/2 pint). The two cents per half pint is paid by the Federal Government.

Mr. Wadus attended the Superintendent's meeting in Elizabeth on Wednesday. The topic for discussion was "Post War Planning and Production Information" of all boys entering the service. Speakers were two well-known psychiatrists.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schweitzer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weber, Mrs. Francis J. Leuchan, Mrs. Anna Abraham, Michael Gullfoyle, Alfred Hecker, Charles Carson, Al Smith and Miss Gertrude Schweitzer, approximately 40 people were invited, but due to inclement weather the rest were not able to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rader and Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell are going to College Point, L. I., on Sunday to attend the wedding of their cousin, 2nd Pharmacist's Mate Howard Renart to Miss Mary Ellen Fugia.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred C. Hand of Evergreen court, entertained at a co-operative New Year's Eve party. Approximately 30 guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goodall of Sherwood parkway attended a New Year's Eve party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Borke in Rahway.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jacobus of Partridge Run entertained at an "eggnog" party on Sunday afternoon. Approximately 18 guests were present, and all went to the Chi-Am Chateau for dinner.

Mr. Charles R. Plister of Route 29 recently entertained eight of her former co-workers. Guests were Miss Frances Dingler and Mrs. Donald Trussell of Newark, Mrs. R. Robertson of West Orange, Mrs. R. Waidson of Maplewood, Mrs. D. McFall and Miss Freda Seitzer of Union, Mrs. John Pryor and Mrs. Roy Pinkett of Rahway. Plans were made for a theatre party to be held in New York early in February.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Plister of Route 29 will celebrate their 12th wedding anniversary on Sunday. They have three sons, George Jr., Arthur and John.

There was fine skating over the week-end at Echo Lake Park. Mrs. Gilbert Pittenger, who is in charge of the refectory, was kept plenty busy with "hot dogs" and "cakes." It's amazing how many people lose gloves, probably because it's inconvenient to hold a "hot dog" with them on, but there's a lost and found box at the refectory where they may be claimed.

Mayor and Mrs. John Moxon were guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Adelaide Sawyer at the Chi-Am Chateau on Wednesday night in celebration of Mrs. Moxon's birthday.

MOUNTAINSIDE—Residue of the estate of Mrs. Ann Louise Foster, who died in Westfield December 22, is left in trust for her husband, Jed S. Foster, executor, of 23 Stoneligh Park, Westfield. At his death, the estate reverts to two sons, William C. Foster of New York City and Gerald S. Foster of New Providence road, Mountainside. The will was written May 23, 1939, and was admitted to probate Monday before Surrogate Otto at Elizabeth.

Seek Financial Aid

MOUNTAINSIDE—Request of the Mountain Side Rescue Squad to the Board of Freeholders for their annual allowance of $500 was referred by Director McMane last Thursday for consideration of the finance committee.

It doesn't matter—Main Street, New Jersey, or Main Street, in any other State. The boys who after work or school bought sodas or went to the movies are all of the same make-up. Americans. And where are they now? Africa, Solomons, Iceland, Italy, England or India.

They have gone forth to protect the way they want to live—the way YOU want to live. Life without regimentation; freedom to come and go as you please; freedom to spend your mind; freedom to worship as you desire.

Don't let these boys down! When they come home let them find that the thing they fight for is still an American ideal—Freedom.

Asks Post-War Program and Pay-As-You-Go

At the organization meeting of the Board of Freeholders, William J. McMane of Summit, following his reelection as director, gave the members his annual message, in which he spoke of development of a post-war program for the county and pledged a continuation of the board's pay-as-you-go policy. He spoke as follows:

"It has been said that the years that lie before us may be the most trying that any generation of Americans have been asked to face, yet I believe they will be faced with the characteristic fortitude of the American people. To due to war conditions we find our activities curtailed, although we are fortunate in being in a position to maintain essential service through the operation of our various County departments, and in taking care of the maintenance of our County system, our bridges and public buildings. "After the war the men and women in the armed services and the millions in industry will be returning to peacetime pursuits, eager for productive employment. To take care of these millions in industry, it will be necessary to offset the production of war materials with an equivalent amount of peacetime services and goods. To take care of this broad objective a correlated postwar program of public and private works should be undertaken. It is necessary to all governmental bodies. Many states, counties and municipalities have plans well developed. We, of course, have a limited postwar program, which may be expanded if it seems advisable. Our best chances of making the most of the postwar period, with full employment of labor is by a planned economy in which government business and labor work together to encourage business expansion to take up the

Town and Farm IN WARTIME

Sugar rations for home use will remain the same for another two and one-half months, according to the Office of Price Administration. Sugar stamp number 30 in War Ration Book Four becomes valid on January 16, and will be good for buying five pounds of sugar through the end of March. Sugar stamp 29, now in use, is good through January 15.

The nation's motorists are being overhauled on anti-freeze and told of shortages that do not exist, according to the War Production Board. Production of alcohol antifreeze for this winter is 50 percent more than last, WPB said, and asked motorists to watch their own needs and not to overload. Alcohol from which anti-freeze is made is a critical war material.

To insure sufficient production of infants' and children's wear, the industry has been included by the War Manpower Commission in its list of essential activities. Also, WPB, under the War Production Board, has set aside for the manufacture of certain specified items of infants' and children's clothing. Worst and cotton yarn will be allocated for manufacture of knitted outerwear and infants' ribbed long sleeve, socks, and mitts. Such goods will not arrive on retail counters until February and March.

Retailers selling rationed foods should file their applications for ration tickets by January 8, to be sure of having a supply when the token plan starts February 27, OPA says. The application form is being distributed to retailers by trade associations and also is available at local rationing boards.

Eligibility requirements for rationed heating stoves have been widened. A consumer who has a heating or cooking stove that cannot be used satisfactorily is now eligible for a stove rationing certificate. Ration certificates also may be issued for stoves to heat premises where essential community activities, such as volunteer Red Cross work, are carried on. A ration certificate now may be issued to a landlord who wishes to buy a stove for the use of an eligible tenant.

A program to make two million flatirons for civilian use in 1944 has been approved by WPB. This amount will come up to normal production but it will ease the hardships caused by two years of almost no production. It will probably be six months before many of these irons will reach dealers' shelves.

To aid servicemen in recuperating from illness or wounds received while on active duty, OPA has announced that they may be issued special gasoline rations for use in traveling to and from their homes or other places of convalescence. This special ration will be issued upon presentation of leave papers to a local rationing board and a letter from the attending medical officer certifying that transportation by automobile, rather than by any other means, is necessary to hasten the recovery of the serviceman's health.

Some women's footwear, mostly novelty types, will be sold ration-free at $3 or less a pair from January 17 through January 23. This does not mean that the shoe supply picture has improved. It is intended to help dealers dispose of limited quantities of wearable shoes which have been lying on the shelves.

Your Garden This Week

It is a good idea to prune hardy material between now and spring, but anything that may winter-kill if the weather becomes extremely severe should not be pruned until February or early March. Lilacs, Ranunculus, Clematis, and other plants susceptible to scale can be pruned at this time to excellent advantage, and the pruning will be out of the way before it is necessary to spray in late winter, with an oil emulsion. With all surplus wood cut off, these trees and shrubs will be in condition for a good start in the spring. It is useless to spray them, though, unless the branches can be thoroughly covered. A practical plan is to make up a solution of oil emulsion in a pail and apply it with a whitewash brush, covering all parts carefully. The emulsion can be put on whenever the temperature is above 45 degrees Fahrenheit, and late February or early March is a good time for the job. Care should be taken not to use the emulsion when the ground is so wet, and although a small amount will do no harm, too much oil is detrimental to plant roots. While you have the pail handy, go over the rose bushes, too. Some of them are probably affected with scale insects. Evergreens in exposed corners of the garden with a coating of wax, or cover with burlap to keep them from drying out. Winter burning of evergreens results from their drying out, not from injury due to cold.

These are good nights for armchair gardening, and for browsing through seed catalogues with an eye to planning 1944's garden. Seed catalogues these days are more than mere listings and pictures of the plants and seeds offered for sale; many of them also contain a lot of valuable information on gardening.

Did you plant any herbs last year? If you didn't, try at least a few of them this spring. They were used extensively in most kitchens a generation or two ago, and few good cooks would be without them. Now that many synthetic flavorings are growing scarcer, more and more gardeners are turning back to the old-fashioned herbs their grandmothers planted and used so successfully—rosemary, dill, thyme, tarragon, and a number of others that give salads, meat dishes, vegetable soups, fish a tang and a flavor nothing else quite achieves. Most herbs are easy to grow, and from a comparatively small amount of space they will yield an abundance of fragrance and flavor. Write for a copy of "The A B C D of Herbs" free on request.
