Defense Council And Legion Join In Sending Paper

A new arrangement has been effected between Continental Post No. 228, American Legion, and the Springfield Defense Council, whereby through joint co-operation, it will be possible to send weekly the Springfield SUN, upon request of the family, to every service man and woman in Springfield.

Otto F. Heinz, salvage chairman, has announced that beginning September 1, the Legion will act as his Salvage Committee and that the Legion will be responsible for all arrangements for collections and disposal of salvage.

All monies arising from the sale of salvage will be paid to the Defense Council, which has, in turn for the efforts put forth by the Legion, obligated itself to pay out of such salvage funds, the cost of sending the SUN to the township service men and women.

The Legion has long been desirous of making some arrangement whereby the SUN could be sent to all the service men and women, but as their funds were limited, they were unable to undertake this program. The arrangement with the Defense Council's Salvage Committee will guarantee sufficient funds.

The Legion and Defense Council urge the families of all men in the service to contact the SUN and make a request that the paper be sent to their kin, whether in this country or abroad, together with the proper address. It is therefore, the responsibility of the families at home, to see to it that their boys' names are sent to the SUN so that they may receive the home town paper regularly from now on, if they have not already been receiving it.

Opposition to Garden Apartment Site Brews In Spring Brook Park

Opposition to the proposed construction of a three-unit $750,000 garden apartment at Morris and Short Hills avenue "is brewing among residents of Spring Brook Park, adjoining the property. A meeting of the Spring Brook Park Civic Association was held in the Legion Hall Tuesday night to discuss the project.

Seventy home owners were present, with Dr. W. G. Stratiff, association president, presiding. Reports that a petition from property owners opposing the apartment will be presented to the Township Committee were termed by Dr. Stratiff as "premature" in the absence of full details of the plan for the project, which the group is gathering for a full report at another meeting Tuesday night in Legion Hall. Roy Waldeck of 25 Park lane was chosen to head a committee to study plans for the apartment, which will be aired at next week's meeting.

Talk of opposition was declared by Dr. Stratiff as "out of order" and he termed newspaper accounts of the meeting as "very questionable." He said the Spring Brook Park Association was working "quietly" and preferred to remain silent on its attitude until Waldeck's report is heard next week.

Dr. George M. Hamilton of 61 Park lane, former association president, was directed to contact other home owners in the vicinity to urge their attendance at not only next week's meeting, but also the Township Committee session September 13.

Application for the apartment has been made by Elmer N. Rinhart & Co. of Summit. Since the land is zoned Class A for one-family dwellings, either an exception or variance of the Zoning laws to Class C, permitting multiple buildings, must be recommended by the Planning Board or Adjustment Board. Building Inspector Reuben H. Marsh has already denied the Rinhart application, on the technicality that the present Class A zone does not permit such construction.

The next step would be setting a public hearing by the Board of Adjustment to allow citizens to be heard. No date has been set as yet.

Revising the New Jersey State Constitution

(NOTE—This is the fourth of a series of educational and informational articles on the proposed revised State Constitution prepared and released by the New Jersey Committee for Constitutional Revision.)

From the dusty archives of constitutional history today arise the "ghosts" of earlier State leaders to haunt the highways and byways of old Jersey.

Leaders for civic betterment, who through the decades fought for improvements in New Jersey's basic laws, are long since dead, but a study of the state's history reveals that many of the problems and conditions which they once faced again confront the citizens of the State, points out the New Jersey Committee for Constitutional Revision.

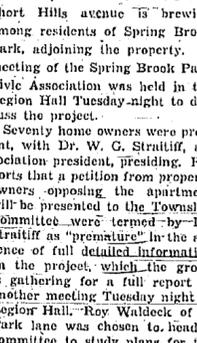

In the discussions attending the forthcoming general election vote on the proposal to revise the State Constitution, has emerged the fact that history does repeat itself and that the struggles for civic betterment fought by our grandfathers and great-grandfathers are as important today as they were in 1776, 1844 and 1876.

That as early as 1790 civic-minded citizens were struggling to better their basic law and that even then there were opponents of Constitutional revision is an historical fact. Throughout the years—the same struggle for improvement in the state government continued, shifting from time to time as conditions and needs changed.

Modernists don't think in terms of the ancient, but New Jersey citizens facing a vote on Constitutional revision next November 7, will do well to harken to the warning of the leaders of the state now long since dead, who fought for modern state administration in their time.

In 1790, when failure to secure revision turned upon a "scramble" about the senatorial appointments in Congress, and in 1876, when the Legislature summarily refused to submit the question of revision to a vote of the people, supporters of constitutional reform charged that both failures were due to the intense conservatism and selfishness of the legislators.

"Was-cracks" and "adages" of the day warned the people against innovation—just as they are being used by opponents of revision today. One objector to the proposed constitutional convention quoted the fable of the fox and the goose, in which he compared an advocate for change to a fox and the Legislature to a "flock of geese."

YOUR VICTORY GARDEN

FILL UP THE GARDEN
By FRED D. OSMAN,
County Agricultural Agent

All of the garden space should be used to capacity, so any vacant spots should be planted to some crop that will produce food. Within the next few days—the final plantings of the season—should be made over the larger part of New Jersey.

Beets sown now will not yield large roots, but the tops make fine greens and the roots should develop to an inch or so. They will not be suitable for storage, but will make good eating.

Spinach may be expected to mature its crop if seeds are sown by August 15. This crop requires about 50 days to reach maturity, but of course spinach plants can be eaten at almost any size. It just requires more small plants to make a mess. Spinach may be planted in almost any part of New Jersey until late August if you want young plants for harvest.

Recommended Varieties
If spinach has been grown on the soil before, it may be desirable to use a variety that is resistant to a disease known as the yellows. Virginia Savoy is a recommended variety. In most Victory Gardens, Bloomsdale Savoy will prove satisfactory.

Kale is another late crop which requires about 70 days to mature. However, this will grow even after frost, and many persons who eat kale prefer it after it has been frosted. Siberian is the variety recommended for late planting as it will grow under low temperature and will resist heavy frosts.

Letfence Likes Cool Weather
Seeds of head lettuce may be sown or plants set out in their permanent location. This type of lettuce requires short days and cool weather to mature properly. If seeds are sown when the soil is dry, be sure to moisten the soil about the seeds with water or a water-solution. A homo gardener I know opens up a furrow four inches deep and fills this with water. After it soaks in, he draws in loose soil to fill in. Then he makes the furrow of suitable depth for the seeds to be sown, places the seeds and water with starter solution. When this is soaked in, he draws in dry soil and then mulches with dried grass clippings. Germination is quick and plentiful. Get the mulch off, though, as soon as the first seedlings show.

Insects Still a Problem
Insects are still with us, so we cannot relax our control measures. Cucumber beetles, squash bugs, cabbage worms and Mexican bean beetles are all present in some gardens, and appropriate measures should be taken to destroy these pests.

At this season be on the lookout for aphids or plant lice. They will cause the leaves of cucumber or melon plants to curl, and we may find infestations on tomatoes, cabbage, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower and broccoli.

Since these little soft-bodied insects multiply very rapidly, we should be on the watch and get the control measures under way promptly. Sometimes, when all the leaves of a plant, such as a cucumber or melon, become curled because of aphids, it is wiser to pull up the plant and destroy it rather than to leave it as a source of infestation.

Spray or Dust Weekly
Where there is little or no curling of leaves, thorough spraying for we must cover every insect with 1½ teaspoons of 40 percent nicotine sulfate and five teaspoons of granulated soap to one gallon of water will be effective. The spray should be repeated at weekly intervals until all the aphids are killed.

When the leaves are curled, as on cabbage or similar crops, a 4 per cent nicotine dust will be more effective than the spray, especially if it is applied when the temperature is above 75 degrees.

Watch for Corn Borers
Corn borers will now be working on late corn. Dusting with rotenone dust, fixed nicotine dust (40%), or a combination rotenone-fixed nicotine dust has given effective control. The dust should be applied as soon as the plants are about a foot high, and it should be applied into the top funnel-shaped whorl of leaves. Continue applying it there until the ear shoots begin to appear and then cover the shoots and the silks. These are the chief regions where the young larvae feed so the dusting should be thorough. This dust will also discourage the Japanese beetle, which is very fond of corn silks. This dust treatment has also given control to corn smut.

There has recently been published Circular 487 titled "Controlling Corn Borer and Ear Smut on Sweet Corn in the Home Garden." A copy of this publication can be had without cost on request to the County Agricultural Agent, Court House, Elizabeth, N. J.

FROM GARDEN TO SHELF

SAUERKRAUT FOR HEALTH
By Mary W. Armstrong
County Home Demonstration Agent

Like chicken-and-biscuits or ice cream-and-cake, sauerkraut-and-spareribs go hand in hand when we think of things good to eat. To know that besides being good to eat, sauerkraut is really good for us, makes the situation perfect. How comforting to discover that our old favorite sauerkraut is check full of vitamin C and minerals.

Let's put away a crock or some jars of it, then, for next winter. Did you plant Bugner Yellow Resistant or Penn. State Danish Ball Head varieties of cabbage in your garden? They are two excellent kinds for making sauerkraut. At any rate, use fall cabbage with firm heads, and remove all outer leaves—that are bruised or discolored.

Quarter the heads, removing the cores, and shred the cabbage finely on a shredder or with a sharp knife on a board. Weigh out 5 lbs. of shredded cabbage (or 6 plants) and 2 ounces (3½ tablespoons) of big or coarse salt. In a clean 3- or 5-gallon crock place a layer of the cut cabbage 4 or 5 inches deep. Cover with a light sprinkling of salt. Tamp with a mallet or wooden block attached to a handle until the juice begins to show. Repeat this process until the crock is filled to within 5 inches of the top, tamping after each layer of cabbage and salt until liquid shows on the surface. Cover the top of the crock with clean cheesecloth, a large plate, and a heavy weight—a clean stone is fine. The heavy paper or a towel over the crock to keep out the dust. The crock is then ready to be stored at a temperature of from 75 to 80 degrees Fahrenheit for 10 days or two weeks.

It is during this period that fermentation takes place. After a few days a scum will rise to the top of the crock. To remove this scum, hold it in the cloth and rinse carefully before replacing the cloth over the kraut. Remove the scum every few days.

When bubbles cease to rise and the fermentation process is complete, tie a cloth over the top of the crock and cover it with heavy paper. Then put the crock in the cellar or in a cool place where a temperature of from 50 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit can be maintained.

If storage space is limited, sauerkraut may be made in 2-quart glass jars. Mix shredded cabbage and salt in the same proportions as given above in an enamel pan. Pack tightly into glass jars up to the shoulders of the jars. Cover with glass lids and fasten only the top wire of the bale clamp tops, or partly seal screw-top jars. Place the jars in an enamel pan to catch juice which will ooze out, and keep them at a temperature of 75 to 80 degrees F. Remove the lid daily and tamp down the kraut, pouring back the juice that has oozed out. About 10 days will be needed for complete fermentation, after which the lids may be tightened. Store in a cool dark place.

Remember that it is the fermentation process that changes cabbage into sauerkraut, and that a warm temperature is needed to cause fermentation.

Don't repeat the experience of one man who bought 20 lbs. of cabbage early last season and chopped it up for sauerkraut. But instead of measuring the correct proportions of cabbage and salt, he used his own judgments as to amounts of each. And instead of putting the mixture in a warm place to ferment, he put it at once in a cold place. No fermentation took place, of course, and to this day all he has to show for his work is plain salted cabbage . . . and much too salty to eat!

Think of all the hearty winter-time dishes you can prepare by combining sauerkraut and pork shoulder, ham, hocks, salt pork, bacon, sausage or frankfurters! . . . not to mention spareribs! Try 'em, too, cooked with apples or prunes, or pan fried in bacon fat. A treat!

VICTORY STYLE

An important victory style is successful gardening. It is fashioned along these lines:

- Weeds are kept under control.
- Destructive insects are killed.
- Watering is properly done.

It's wise to remember to water your garden only when the soil is dry, and then thoroughly, and deeply as by a fairly heavy rain.

The best time to water your garden is early in the morning or late in the evening.

Keep in Victory Style.

Pingry Faculty Remains Unchange Despite Draft

The reputation and growth of the Pingry School in Elizabeth has been based on the accomplishments of its graduates, 90% of whom have entered college. Of this number, all but 2% were successful in their freshman year, the year for which the preparatory school is partially responsible.

In World War I, the Army found that the best officer material came from the colleges and so in World War II both the Army and Navy set up college training programs. Private schools qualified 85% of their students in the various V-12 and A-12 tests given throughout the nation for admission to these specialized training programs. A recent survey shows that 67% of private school graduates who are in service now hold commissions. Pingry School stands among the top schools in this category in the percentage of its graduates who have qualified for Army and Navy college training and in the number of commissioned officers among its alumni in service.

Thorough training in English, mathematics, science, languages and history is given the students. These are not only the subjects needed for college preparation but also those required by the armed forces. Four years of mathematics are taken by the majority of students and at least one major science.

The faculty of the Pingry school remains intact on its pre-war basis. The first five grades are taught by women and those above that by men. Masters selected to come to Pingry have usually had a number of years of teaching experience and when appointed have tended to stay at the school for a period of years with the result that most of men teachers are over the draft age. Although many of the men offered their services to the armed forces they were told that their work in teaching was more essential. Taking the entire Pingry faculty into account, the average number of years spent teaching there is twelve.

Many of them have taught there for fifteen or twenty years and it is this experienced staff that has given Pingry the reputation for scholarship it enjoys.

Class instruction is carried on in sections averaging twelve boys and thus each boy can receive the individual attention of the teacher. There is also a daily conference period in the Upper School during which boys may have additional help from teachers.

The athletic program at Pingry presents many unique features, chief of which is the policy of "athletics for all." Instead of a few "gym classes" a week, every boy has supervised sports every day. In grades 1-5 there is a half-hour daily, while in grades 6-12

there is one hour and a half of active participation in the various sports in season. A popular feature of the athletic program of sports, since January, 1942, there has been the recommended program of "physical fitness" and "commando" exercises, and a weekly military drill.

In addition to athletic activities, the school also has a complete program of non-athletic extra-curricular activities. The instrumental music work is under the direction of August May, conductor of the Elizabeth Philharmonic Orchestra.

There are three glee clubs in the school for boys of different ages, and there are hobby clubs, such as Arts and Crafts Club, Navigation, Stamps, Chess, Rifle, Museum, and Radio Clubs.

Boys come from thirty-five different towns and communities in the Elizabeth area. The school operates chartered buses which bring boys from Madison, Millburn, Short Hills, Morristown, Staten Island, Westfield, Summit, Maplewood and the Oranges. Other students come by train and private cars from various points.

Boys are admitted to Pingry after having passed placement tests which are required of all candidates. Many classes have been filled to capacity for some time, and a waiting list exists for these classes.

YOUR RED CROSS

There will be a meeting of the Red Cross Board of Directors Wednesday evening at 8 at the Red Cross Headquarters.

Mrs. Charles Phillips, Sr., chairman of the Blood Donor service of Springfield Chapter, lists below the requirements for donors.

The Mobile Unit will be in Springfield Wednesday, October 25, from 1:45 P. M. to 5:30 P. M. It might be wise for people who are planning to donate to read these requirements, as there have been some important changes since the last time:

1. Donors who are from 21 to 60 years of age are accepted.
 - (a) Donors who have attained their 60th birthday cannot be accepted.
 - (b) Minors 18 to 20 years inclusive can be accepted only with written permission from a parent or legal guardian (for exception, see paragraph "e" to follow). The standard release form is to be used for this and properly witnessed. Releases will continue to be mailed from the New York Chapter according to previous instructions.
 - (c) No one under the age of 18 will be accepted as a donor, whether in the military or in civilian life.
 - (d) Minors belonging to the Armed Services of the United States and Allied Nations and members of the Merchant Marine may be accepted without written parental permission.
 - (e) Married minors who are economically independent and living apart from their parents may be accepted without permission of parent or legal guardian, but, if possible, written permission of the mate should be obtained.
2. Sex. Both male and female donors are taken.
3. Race. Members of all races are accepted.
4. Temperature. A donor is not acceptable if the temperature by mouth exceeds 99.5 degrees.
5. A donor is not eligible if his or her hemoglobin is less than 12.5 grams (copper-sulfate method).
6. A donor is not eligible if his or her blood pressure is known to be over 200 or under 100 (systolic).
7. No donor is eligible who weighs less than 140 pounds.
8. A donor is not eligible if he or she has:
 - (a) Ever had pulmonary tuberculosis.
 - (b) Had malaria within fifteen years.
 - (c) Diabetes (i.e. is taking insulin or is on a diet).
 - (d) Had undulant fever within 5 years.
9. Four to six months must elapse after a major operation—one to two months after a minor operation.

10. A donor with a history of hay fever or other allergy is eligible.

The above information is to lessen the number of rejections after appointments have been made. Many questions however, regarding eligibility of donors must be decided by the examining doctor or nurse at the time of appointment.

Special Problems Concerning Donor Requirements

1. Nourishment.
 - (a) Donors should be instructed to eat a substantial meal 3 to 5 hours before donating. Every attempt should be made to instruct the donor not to deviate to any marked degree from his normal eating habits.
 - (b) Light nourishment (no fats) is permitted in the interim before coming to the donor station.
 - (c) Donors who have had a heavy meal (especially fatty foods) within two hours of coming to the Center are to be postponed.
2. Military personnel are not to be solicited for donations. However, when individuals or groups offer on their own volition they will be accepted.
3. Members of the Air Forces who participate in flight operations are not to be accepted. This also applies to plane crews of commercial airlines.
4. Although delayed reactions are rare, they do occur. For this reason no donors are to be accepted who are to return to work with heavy machinery within 8 hours after a donation.

NATIONAL

Private Stebbing, Prisoner of War in Germany, devoted to the American Red Cross one of the two letters he is permitted to send each month! Here it is:

"Goddess of Mercy" (The Red Cross)—April 21, 1944 by Frank Stebbing, P.O.W.

Goddess of Mercy, in whose hand The charities of Jesus lie, Thy goodness shadows every land; Though red the trench, though black the sky, See! how we in exile raise Our grateful eyes in solemn prayer, To see above the blackish haze A sign that Brotherhood put there; Without thy far-flung ministry Our days were longer, leaner—lost.

What angels send us o'er the sea? The symbol of the crimson-cross? N.B. You are welcome to use this poem if it may help any to ward publishing the magnificent work you are doing. Dignity is a matter of appetite, and you keep us proud. When The Debauch is over, I think few men in retrospect will hold anything much dearer than the memory of a simple cardboard parcel which has emblazoned the symbol of the crimson-cross indelibly on their hearts—God-bless and perpetuate you. We send our snappiest salute.

Frank Stebbing.

Over twelve million Red Cross Standard Food Parcels have been shipped to the International Red Cross Committee in Geneva, Switzerland for weekly distribution to American Prisoners of War and Civilian Internees.

Packing of Christmas parcels for prisoners of war in Europe started Wednesday, August 16, by volunteer workers at the Red Cross packing center in Philadelphia.

The Red Cross officials suggest that the families of war prisoners use the current text of Rip label to send their own Christmas parcels, since no special Christmas label will be issued by the Provost Marshal General's Office. Transportation conditions in Europe are steadily deteriorating. So parcels should be sent promptly in order to reach the men in European camps in time for the holidays.

The Philadelphia packing center will provide a Christmas package for each American Prisoner of War and Civilian Internee held by Germany. A wide margin has been allowed, so that there will be a sufficient supply of packages for distribution to additional servicemen taken prisoner between now and the holiday season.

The Christmas package will contain turkey, plum pudding, sausage, butter, deviled ham, cheddar cheese, bouillon cubes, tea, honey, strawberry jam, candy, mixed salted nuts, fruit bars, dates, sliced pineapple, chewing gum, playing cards, cigarettes, smoking tobacco, a picture, a game, a washcloth, and a piece for the barracks walls. Some of the pictures will be photographs of typical American scenes, such as Old Faithful geyser and Niagara Falls, while others will be reproductions of Currier and Ives prints of humorous subjects.

The Red Cross packing centers at New York and St. Louis will continue packing the standard food parcels, which go weekly to American prisoners in Europe, and to those in the Orient, whenever Japan permits. Continuous efforts are being by the United States Government and the Red Cross to get food parcels to Americans in the Far East.

Mountainside Inn vs. Watch Hill.
(No games Labor Day, next contests scheduled September 11)

MOUNTAINSIDE — There was little activity in the Adult Softball League this week, due to postponements from threatening weather and vacation absences. Orchard Park took over Watch Hill, 7-2, on Sunday played a day earlier than originally scheduled and the defeat dropped the loss to a match to five plays.
Ed Menoth was the winning pitcher allowing four scattered hits and his opponents, Mayor John Moxon and Councilman Fred Mundy, who pitched, yielded an even dozen safeties.
The "friendly" tilt between Hall and Fahn and the Rangers took place was actually postponed Monday night, with several members of the Rangers out of town on vacation, which will bring the teams together at a later date. Because weather threatened, Mountainside Inn and Watch Hill called their game off, which will be played tonight.

Police Court Notes

MOUNTAINSIDE — Recorder William L. Winkler presided at a brief court session last Thursday night at the Borough Hall. For improper parking, H. Gels of Bayonne was fined $1. Edward R. Marsh, Jr., of Bloomfield, on a charge of having no license in his possession was fined $5, and Edward J. Laurenstein of Chatham was fined $5 for having no registration in his possession and $5 for passing a stop street.

First to Cast Ballots

MOUNTAINSIDE — Frederick Rumpf of Route 29, in the Army and stationed at Fort Dix, was among the first 21 servicemen and women to cast their absentee ballots. The first batch of ballots were received August 18 at the office of the Union County Board of Elections, in the Court House, Elizabeth.

Praise for Corn-Sellers

Farmers who sold their corn to the Government during the "corn-for-war" program, thus enabling war essential processors to operate at about 85 per cent of their normal output until November 11, were commended by War Food Administrator Marvin Jones. Corn is used in making such essential war materials as explosives, textiles, paper products, sizings, penicillin and sulfa drugs, sirups for K-rations and dextrose. It is used also to make butyl alcohol for rubber, going into self-sealing, bullet-proof gasoline tanks for airplanes.

Millions Train for War Jobs

During the past four years, more than 13,300,000 men and women enrolled in organized training programs for war jobs. Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower Commission reports, "The training was provided by agencies cooperating with the War Relocation Authority. Of this vast group, the Food Production War Training program, conducted through vocational agriculture schools had 5,035,566 enrollments. The Engineering, Science and Management War Training program, given in selected colleges, had 1,538,123 enrollments. The Training Within Industry program enrolled 1,375,767 supervisors who, in turn, provided instruction for millions of war plant workers. The National Youth Administration, which is no longer in existence, provided training for 772,756 persons, during 1942 and 1943 fiscal years. Every veteran, upon being discharged, will receive a booklet entitled "Your Right and Benefits, a Handy Guide for Veterans of the Armed Forces and Their Dependents." The booklet was prepared by the Retraining and Reemployment Administration of the Office of War Mobilization. Nearly 2,500,000 copies of the booklet are now available. Veterans who have already been discharged will be able to obtain copies from draft boards, offices of Veterans Administration, USES or community veterans' information centers. The cost of living has risen six tenths of one per cent in retail prices of essential commodities. American pigs are killed (too young) to have time to grow the long, strong bristles characteristic of Chinese pigs in readily hoars. These hog bristles from China are very important in the making of paint brushes for the Navy and U. S. Maritime Commission, as well as for brushes used in wool combing machines. The Army purchases annually enough baseball equipment to outfit 50,000 baseball teams and 100,000 softball teams; the Navy enough for more than 11,000 and 22,000 respectively. OWI reports: "The Army and Navy buy up about 99 per cent of all sports and game equipment produced in the United States and, as a consequence, civilians can expect little or no increase for the present in the amount left over for their use. Last year the services bought sports and game paraphernalia, devoted to the use of enlisted men, costing $38,000,000. Even so, total new supplies represent approximately one baseball glove for every 17 men in the Army and for every 28 in the Navy. WFB announces: The total value of farm machinery produced during July 1944 was $72,292,553, a figure which is 51.2 per cent higher than the monthly average during the 12 preceding months. Manufacturers of corn pickers and binders were urged to speed up their production during August and September so that corn growers will have this machinery for the fall harvesting season. American coal mining machinery sent to Britain is helping to raise the rate of production of "strip" coal from the current 10,000,000 tons a year to 18,000,000 or 20,000,000 tons. Lumber stocks at sawmills and concentration yards totaled 4,118,083,000 board feet at the end of the second quarter, 1944, the lowest figure since December 1941. Exactly 15,000 electric hair clippers will soon be made and the finished snippers will go to the armed services. Olympic Park Looking For Gala Holiday Crowd—Olympic Park's management expects a minimum of 100,000 patrons during the Labor Day week-end beginning Saturday but is prepared to handle a crowd twice that size. "For many, it will be the season's final fling of fun because the Irvington-Maplewood park closes at midnight, September 9. The "pool, largest fresh water natatorium in the East, concludes one of its busiest seasons in history on Labor Day. A new circus, featuring four tree acts, will arrive Saturday for afternoon and evening presentation throughout the park's closing week. Twice-daily concerts by Joseph Bastie's band and by Bubbles Ricardo, the park's vocalist, also are scheduled.

Such public notice shall be given at such time and in such mode and shall be so evidenced and the evidence thereof shall be so preserved as may be provided by law.

Payment for Property Taken 10. Individuals or private corporations shall not be authorized to take private property for public use, without just compensation first made to the owners.

SECTION VII State Militia 1. The Legislature may provide by law respecting the enrolling, organizing, and arming of the militia, the appointment, terms of service, qualifications, and removal of its officers other than its commander-in-chief, and all other matters relating to the militia.
