PERSONALS

There is power in prayer! We have seen it as a Nation. Our fighting men are seeing it every day. Let's not forget, when Victory comes, that HE was on our side because we trusted HIM when we faced a great crisis.

Worried
A woman whose husband had been called up for service saw him off at the station. As the train left she burst into tears.

When the station-master tried to cheer her up by saying that her husband would probably come back alright, she said: "It's not him I'm crying about, it's them poor Germans. I know what my Bill's temper's like."

Street vendors in London sold pineapples from North Africa at $21.35 each. All were bought up quickly.

Grapes are still selling briskly there at $7 a pound.

Women of '44
Future generations may look back to what the women of '44 did to set the standards by which future politicians, seeking public office will guide themselves. To those who feel that men have made a rather mess of things, here is the challenge to American womanhood. To the sometimes considered sleek, professional politician, that a woman's vote can be won with sham promises; who underrate, perhaps, woman's ability to discern between sincerity and insincerity, the first majority vote of women in the Presidential election may find a place in history's pages and present something over which future generations may ponder.

Women's Vote:
Citizenship is meaning a new thing to women in this election. The war has caused a lot of soul-searching which has brought a new feeling for their rights and privileges still ours. In other words, we are valuing the franchise. Women know they must save with the ballot what men are dying to protect.

Lillian Bock Will Enter Waves Training

Friends and relatives were present.

Seaman Bock attended Regional High School and was employed at Weston Electrical Instrument Corp., Newark, for the past two years. She is the fiancée of George Kernan, U. S. Navy, of Kentilworth, stationed in the Pacific fleet, and has two brothers in the Navy, Cook third class Frank and Soundman third class Frank, stationed in the Pacific and Atlantic, respectively.

Rosary, Altar Group Met Monday Evening

Mrs. William Ensbcock of Mountaine side will be hostess at the next home party the evening of October 21, in a series of the parties held by the group.

The next monthly meeting will be held Monday evening, November 6, in the rectory. Refreshments will be served and cards played.

BETTIQUETTE
SAYS
THE MAN UPSTAIRS
To him who doubts there is a God And has no faith in prayers, Remember that copilot, and His talk with "The Man Upstairs."

Remember Rickenbacker too, And the tale to which he swears: The amphibious dangers to his raft, And "his" talk to "The Man Upstairs."

There is a God, a loving God, Who governs world affairs; Such miracles are daily wrought By Him, "The Man Upstairs."

This war will not be won by might, None are, the Book declares; But victory comes as a nation prays, And trusts in "The Man Upstairs."

The Power of Prayer
This is not a preaching. If you have no loved one fighting on foreign soil, or who may be, or know of no neighbor's boy who you would like to see come home safely, just turn to another page, please.

For what we say in this column is born of experience. We have learned of the undeniable power of prayer, as have millions of American mothers, fathers and relatives of our fighting men.

Are prayers answered? Only a fool would deny what a whole nation has witnessed. You recall the day of the Normandy invasion. You remember how thousands of our churches opened their doors that we Americans might send up a prayer for the men "over there." You will recall how millions of us prayed that the invasion, fraught with such great risk, would succeed. You know how our prayer was answered and how well the invasion succeeded. And do you remember how many of us prayed for a speedy victory so our boys might come home soon?

Let the skeptics, the safe-at-home, the indifferent or ignorant mock, but let them not do before our fighting men. Let them not dare. For if anyone knows the power of prayer, it is our brave fighting men. A countless number of tales could be told of how their faith saved them. How they called upon HIM and did not call in vain.

War Prisoners Aid
"On Sunday, I brought an electric gramophone to the camp and the records of 'La Tosca,'" writes a Representative in England of War Prisoners Aid of the Y. M. C. A., a participating service of the National War Fund. "It was the first music of its kind that the men had heard since they arrived, and while it lasted there was complete silence."

"It is a curious experience to be present at one of these open recitals in a prison camp. It might surprise those who, satisfied that prisoners are well fed and clothed, are content to feel charitable."

"In this instance, the melodrama of Tosca vied with the melodrama of today—and won. The life of the camp became unreal and forgotten. The shouting, the perpetual tramping and shuffling, had stopped. Only when the opera was over did anyone in the room speak, or any one of the dozens who had stood listening outside every window, begin to move away."

Everyday things mean so much to war prisoners. Remembered music, a cherished book, the loved materials of the religion learned at a mother's knee and, perhaps, long forgotten. Now, in the emptiness and dark of that life, these are the steps to hope.

Action Leading to Heavy Court Fines Caused By Grudge

MOUNTAINSIDE—Two Plainfield men and a Scotch Plains woman were fined in Police Court last week for automobile law violations as a result of a Plainfield man's desire to "get even."

Arthur Craig, Negro, of 1283 Arlington avenue, Plainfield, paid a fine of $100 and $3 costs Friday when he was arraigned before Recorder William Winckler on a charge of driving a car after his license had been revoked.

Last Thursday night in Police Court, Bernice Onque, Negro woman of Scotch Plains, paid a fine of $53, for allowing an unlicensed person to operate her car; and Albert Griffin, 300 Liberty street, Plainfield, was fined $28 for lending his driver's license.

While riding west in Highway 29 on Sunday, October 1, Police Chief Charles F. Honecker and Officer Jack MacRae said they were halted by a passing motorist.

Pat Peterson, Negro, of Plainfield, the driver of the car, said that a car following him was driven by a man who had no license.

Police said Peterson told them he knew Craig's driver's license had been revoked and that he was operating Bernice Onque's car. He added he wanted to "get even" with the woman in the car and the driver, not explaining the reason.

When Chief Honecker and Officer MacRae stopped the car which was driven by Craig, they said Albert Griffin, a passenger in the car, handed a license to Craig which Craig gave to Chief Honecker. The car driven by Craig was owned by Bernice Onque. They were both summoned to appear in court last Thursday night.

When Craig failed to appear, a warrant was given to the Plainfield police. When police went to Craig's home they were told he could probably be found at the Shady Rest Tavern in Scotch Plains, where he works as a bartender, nights. The warrant was then turned over to Scotch Plains police, who arrested Craig at the tavern about 2 A. M. last Friday.

Spedito DeLuca of Bayonne was fined $28 on a charge of disorderly conduct last Thursday night by Recorder Winckler. Joseph Engen of Irvington and Warren Morris of West Caldwell were fined $2 each for stop street violations and Fred Leadman of Short Hills was fined $13 for speeding.

Nisei Are Leaving Centers to Work In Rural America

Rural America has absorbed upwards of a third of the 30,000 persons of Japanese ancestry who already have left the nation's relocation centers to work and live in normal communities, records of the War Relocation Authority show.

The agricultural experience represented by the 60,000 evacuees still living in the centers indicates that considerably more than half of those who will eventually relocate will settle in farm areas and raised on an Ohio farm and approximately 45 per cent of the original 110,000 evacuees came directly from West Coast farm communities. Many of the other 55 per cent have lived or worked on farms.

WRA has consistently centered a major share of its energies upon resettlement of this group of the evacuee population, believing that these rural adjustments will prove to be the most permanent.

Its director, Dillon S. Myer, born and raised on an Ohio farm and for many years active in agricultural planning and administration, says that because of the long farm experience of these individuals and families, their greatest contribution to the war effort and to the communities in which they live can be made in food production.

The 10,000 to 15,000 evacuees already raising foodstuffs from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico are working under every kind of farm arrangement from day labor to resident ownership, the records show. A similar diversity of pre-evacuation experience is represented by the farm families still in the centers, among whom are farm workers.

Community Drive Returns Listed

MOUNTAINSIDE—The early returns in the Mountainside Community Association drive show $988 turned in by Wednesday. It was reported by Theodore V. Mundy, campaign manager. This represents about 28 per cent of the $3,884.70 quota in the borough.
