Business Men Join to Set Up Holiday Wreaths

Springfield's business center along Morris avenue will be gaily decorated with Christmas wreaths for the approaching holiday season, through the efforts of the newly formed Chamber of Commerce. Merchants, business men and individuals have voluntarily contributed funds to make the venture possible, and permission to place the trimmings on light poles has been given from the Jersey Central Power and Light Company and the Township Committee.

A committee headed by Max Rappaport, assisted by Mrs. Milton Keshen and Herman Kravis, has been working on the project. Further plans will be discussed at the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday evening, November 30, in Legion Hall. The date has been changed to a week later than usually scheduled, due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

Five County Towns Went Over Top In War Fund Campaign

Springfield and Mountainside were among five Union County towns which topped their National War Fund quotas. Springfield's goal which was $3,000 went over to $3,139 and Mountainside's goal, which was $1,500, was topped by $1,535. Other Union County towns going over the top were Westfield, New Providence and Scotch Plains.

New Jersey contributions to the National War Fund to date total $2,925,990. This announcement was made by Julius A. Rippel, acting president of National War Fund, New Jersey Division. The report includes National War Fund campaigns in 265 campaign units in the state where the amount raised solely for the National War Fund is $601,201. It also includes National War Fund contributions reported in united campaigns with Community Chests in 38 cities totaling $7,447,848, of which $2,234,350 is for the National War Fund.

Overseas Gifts Should Not Be Sent By Cash

Persons who missed the October deadline for mailing Christmas packages overseas and who plan to send a belated gift of money to Army and Navy personnel should send the money via postal money order. The Army and Navy Post Offices emphasize.

At many places where service men and women are stationed, it was pointed out, there is a local prohibition against the importation of U. S. currency, and cash could not be used if received. Army personnel can cash postal money orders at any APO or by presenting the order to their company mail clerk. Navy men and women whether land based or aboard ship, present the order to their Naval mail clerk. In both cases, the money is paid in local currency at the rate of exchange in effect on the date of the presentation of the money order. A limitation on the amount that can be sent on a single postal order.

Late gift articles can also be sent Army personnel, without a written request from the service man, if they weigh less than eight ounces. However, Army post office officials say there may be no assurance of their receipt by the addressee before December 25.

Story Telling Hour Tomorrow

"Children's Book Week" at the Springfield Public Library will come to a close tomorrow afternoon, featuring a story hour at 2 o'clock, conducted by Mrs. Edward Hanson of Mountainside, librarian at the adjacent community. All boys and girls of Springfield are invited to hear her stories. The program was arranged through Miss Phoebe Biggs of the local Library staff.

The Springfield Lions Club will hold its weekly meeting tonight at Orchard Inn. Plans will be made for the club's annual contest on the best dressed store windows for Christmas in town. Further details on this contest will be given in next week's SUN.

Pvt. Kimmerle Saw Plenty Of Action With Infantry

Private Walter W. Kimmerle will be glad to get back to his home at 100 Linden avenue. His mother and Dad have been keeping his wife company there while he was in France. Mrs. Kimmerle didn't have the patience to stay at home. She has been doing her bit working in an aircraft factory.

Kimmerle, an infantryman, went into France as a replacement and saw his first action around St. Lo. He saw some later action around the Falaise gap and then his outfit was attached to an armored division. Then came that famous cross country jaunt through Brittany in record blitzkrieg tempo.

Riding on top of the tanks was a pretty rough business, and it was especially hot in the back over the motor. Sometimes they had to dismount and go into action. Often so many planes surrounded them that the MPs could hardly keep up with them, for that was the time when the Germans were completely disorganized. They lived on C and K rations, but a couple of times during these few weeks they managed to set up the field kitchens and get a hot meal.

Belgium rang out with a hearty welcome for them, the people thronging about with gifts and cheers and dancing in the streets. A medieval fort, marked with the scars of recent heavy bombing was their home for a few days. It was completely deserted when they moved in and they slept four stories deep in the earth in large stone chambers, lying on straw. Kimmerle gathered Germany at last and his outfit began the drive on the Siegfried line. Through the famous thickly wooded German forests they stole noiselessly, past ugly pill boxes they were surprised to discover were not even manned. High above a town on the road to Aachen, they took up a defensive position. They were in an open field flanked by a dense pile wood. Incessant fighting raged in and around the town below, attack and counter-attack; the ear splitting sounds echoed in their ears night and day. The 88s had them in range, too, but they learned to gauge their whistle and whine pretty well before they hit. Finally on the sixth day at 8:00 A. M. they were surprised by the Germans who came shrieking wildly out of those black woods that flanked them. This was Kimmerle's last battle. A soldier helped him down the hill to the town where he was taken in hand at once by the medics.

Mrs. Kimmerle received a telegram from the War Department informing her that her husband had been seriously wounded in action on September 20 in Germany.

Pvt. Kimmerle entered the service on September 1, 1942 and received his basic training at Camp Pan Dorn, Miss., with the Infantry. Before entering the service, he was with the Baker Printing Co. for 18 years.

Parking Meters May Be Installed On Morris Avenue

The Township Committee Wednesday of last week hinted that parking meters may be installed in the near future on Morris avenue to alleviate the congestion in the street from all-day parking.

The Chamber of Commerce had requested some weeks ago that a "one hour parking" ordinance be enacted to clear up the problem. The proposal was referred to Police Chairman Richard C. Horner, who after a study with Chief Runyon, said he felt the meters would simplify enforcement and at the same time, yield revenues to the township. No final decision has been reached on what action will be taken.

Lillian Mulsing of town purchased a piece of land in Evergreen avenue for $1,000 and a similar price was paid by George Levens of Irvington for a plot in Meisel avenue. Both are town-owned properties. Appointment of Clarence Schuler as special-police officer was approved.

The Springfield Democratic Club will hold a meeting on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of George Turk, 174 Ligon avenue.

Library Featuring First Book Used For Children

An interesting feature on display at the Springfield Public Library observing "Children's Book Week" is the "horn-book" which was the first book used by children in the early New England days during the year 1691 and has been reproduced as nearly as modern materials will allow. This so-called "horn" was shaped like a mirror and assembled by hand; is about two and three-quarters inches by four and seven-eighths inches with no two exactly alike. The type and decorative border were set by hand and protected by "horn" held in place by a narrow hand latched to the base. These books were hung on a string and tied around the necks of the children and worn to school.

The next stage in the development of school books was the "bath-tub" which are also on display. These are copies of the original in the collection owned by the Boston Public Library. "Bath-tubs" were pieces of parchment paper folded in the shape of an envelope, about three and one-half by five inches, illustrated on one side with words and stories on the other. These are a great contrast to the beautifully illustrated children's books published today.

It is also interesting to note that the first juvenile library was established in 1835 at Arlington, Mass. when Dr. Ebenezer Learned bequeathed $100 for that purpose. Added to the special list of books published last week the library is offering the children "Animals of the World" with 300 illustrations of animals, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kavin in memory of their son, Richard I. Kavin.

BETTIQUETTE

SAYS

Pre-Holiday Face Lifting

If there's one line in the year when we want the house and all its furnishings to look their very best, it's during the winter holiday season.

By this time, general fall house-cleaning is over, and a few touches here and there should put the house in good order to greet family and friends during the coming holidays. All wooden surfaces of furniture should be polished two or three times a year, and it may be that a thorough-rubbing with a soft cloth that has been dipped in liquid polish, and allowed to dry is all your furniture will require.

However some pieces may need re-waxing at this time to add to the protective coating. Select a bottle of good quality liquid wax for furniture. Follow the directions on the label and remember that rubbing is the secret of beautiful lustre.

LETTER WRITING—"A strange volume of real life in the daily packet of the postman."

We asked a woman we know (who, because of the charm of the letters she writes, is the envy of her friends) what her recipe is for writing letters. She said, "I made myself cultivate the habit of writing a letter as easily and naturally as I drink a glass of water."

And letter-writing is fun when you think of it as such a simple and thoroughly natural thing to do. When you are thirsty, you drink that glass of water. When you yearn to have a chat on paper with a friend, obey that pleasant impulse. Sit down at your desk and write those friends-ly thoughts that you are wishing to write. Write that thank-you that is in your heart, for a gift, for a favor that has been done for you, for hospitality given you. Write these warm words of congratulation for some happy milestone in your friend's life: to a mother when her baby is born; to a girl or boy graduating from school or college; to a friend who has achieved something important or significant to his or her life; to a friend with high hearted wishes on her or his engagement or marriage. Write that "break and butter" letter to your hostess after your visit in her home for a night or week-end, or longer. When a friend is ill, write that note-of-sympathy-and-heartening-good-wishes. When there has been a death, write that sincere note of sympathy and understanding and comfort.

Our letters are a part of ourselves—and when we send them on their winged way out into the world, they are inevitably the expression of ourselves as the image that looks back at us from a mirror. And just as we are given every opportunity, so when we write letters, we are given every opportunity of expressing ourselves, our character and personality as well as our breeding, sense of good taste and good form, our spirit.

Everyone is given the choice of what kind of letterwriter she or he is to be. That choice may be either a good one or a bad one.

To learn the technique and forms of letter-writing, the finger exercises of the art, is simple and needs only a little practice.

STATISTICS OF SPRINGFIELD

Population—1944, 6,000; 1941, 5,477; 1935, 5,293.
Springfield was settled in the early 1700's. Its township form of government was adopted in 1857, and was incorporated in 1857.
Springfield is essentially a community of homes, with little industry except for farming, nurseries and a contractor-manufacturing for these 45 minutes from New York City on the Lackawanna R. R. with two stations at Millburn and Short Hills, less than a mile away; 7 miles to Elizabeth;
7 miles to Newark; excellent bus connections to Newark, Elizabeth, Summit and Plainfield.
The Highway Value-Added—$1,000,000 in the township affords service for doctors, commercial and industrial purposes. State Highway 29 miles New York City; 17 1/2 miles to Newark in 20 minutes. 25% of the 500,000 Union County Regional High School, serving Springfield, Mountainside and four other communities.
It has great streets, water, gas, electricity and modern sanitary sewer system, excellent police, fire and school facilities; mail carrier delivery system and zoning regulations for the protection of the individual property owner.
Of Interest—The "Columbian" history with its historic "Protestant Church" where the first "Lutheran" church in the state was built in the middle of the 17th century. Founded on June 23, 1783. Several colonial landmarks are found in Springfield, one of the oldest communities in Union County.

on foot in political circles to break up this relationship between doctor and patient. It is spoken of as "suspending" medical medicine. By no means have all the details of the plan been worked out, but the early steps have been charted. It adds up to putting all doctors on the government's payroll and assigning them their patients.

It's Regimentation
To Mr. Average Citizen it means that he can't choose his physician. If he gets sick or a member of his family encounters an accident or ill

Personal confidence is one of the world's really great power resources. When two individuals become acquainted, after they have more or less dealing with each other, confidence (or a noticeable lack of confidence) always results. This is no part of high-brow psychology. It is a practical experience that comes to every human before he knows enough words to tell about it.

The power contained in this commonplace, human relationship is too big to estimate. How many times have your known insolvent business firms to rise above ruin and fight their way to prosperity because a banker believed personally in somebody? More than once I have seen "defeated" ball teams build victory from nothing anybody could see but the hopeful grin of a respected coach.

Of Practical Use
Nowhere in mortal experience is the power of personal trust as obvious as in a hospital. Patients get better when the doctor comes. Pain seems to lose its edge, fever actually subsides, confusion gives place to calm when the physician enters. It is a positive curative, a definite part of physical treatment. It is a thing too useful and effective to be lightly discarded.

health, he must complain to a bureau and accept the doctor picked by the bureaucrat in charge. He probably will be obliged to go somewhere and fill out a blank first. If the case calls for hospital service, he will be so informed and a hospital selected for him.

Boosters for socialized medicine claim it will improve the entire nation's well-being. They say it will make doctors anxious to keep their communities well, make them zealous of disease prevention. I doubt it. Making doctors salaried government men can't help but make a lot of them lazy and indifferent. It might reasonably cost many times as much and it would certainly pile administrative cost to the sky.

A Labor of Love
Professional services by their very nature, are personal services. In large part, they are confidential. A man who is not free to pick his own confidants is not a free man at all. Doctors admit that they, on the average, might earn more money in fewer hours of work under socialized medicine. Nevertheless doctors oppose it and it is to their moral credit.

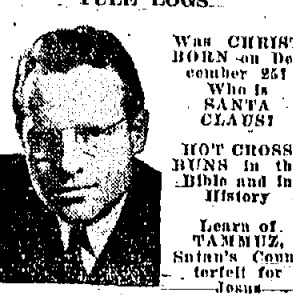

Doctors oppose shorter hours at better pay? Why? Because in getting these "goodies" for themselves they would cause their patients to pay more, suffer more and perhaps die sooner. The physician's work would be no longer personal. . . no longer professional. In their vital and delicate services doctors would have to get along without personal confidence, the most helpful of all medicines.

Recreation In Bowling Tie

Al's Tavern dropped two games Monday night to Colonial Rest in the Municipal League and as a result is tied for first place with Recreation which grabbed the odd game from Von Borstel. One pin separated the league leaders in their opening roll with Colonial, won by the latter, 586 to 585.

The schedule next week finds the two top teams engaged in a match for the first spot and the "war will fly" when the Kenilworth tavern boys clash with the Recreation youngsters.

Bulldogs Lose In 20-19 Thriller Against Roxbury

Regional traveled to Roxbury Saturday afternoon and for three-quarters of the game was content to be on the short end of a 13-0 count until a sensational burst of scoring 19 points in the final quarter but the home team managed to squeeze out a 20-19 win when they came back with a third touchdown and an all-important pass for the extra and deciding point.

Thus, the Bulldogs lost their fourth in seven contests, not more than a touchdown's difference in any game played thus far. Roxbury scored first after a 50-yard pass set up a plunge into paydirt on the 2-yard line. Another 41-yard pass in the same second period by Holdnak to Plerson made it two touchdowns.

Regional took the offensive in the third quarter but were stopped by penalties. Bruce Davis passed to Sonny Hanzel to set-up the score, but the conversion failed. Hanzel's first tally, Malcolm Airdridge went off twelve 25 yards for a punt after Blair Murphy got off a punt aided by the wind which went 60 yards to Roxbury's 1-yard line and on the first play, Bill Detrick, Regional center, grabbed the ball from Dempsey, home team half back, and plunged for another touchdown. Hanzel's kick was good for the extra point and the count was tied, 13-all.

Roxbury took to the air and covered 40 yards by several passes for its third score. The pass for the extra point was good and the locals were behind, 20-13. Davis passed to Hanzel on Roxbury's 25 right after the kick off and Regional took the ball on Roxbury's 1 on an interference penalty. Wes Gill had thrown to Ed Havelka in the end zone, who missed the ball through interference by the defensive back.

Airidge went over from the 1 and as the whistle was about to signal the game's end, Hanzel tried for the conversion and the kick was bad. It was all over, but the Bulldogs had made one of the greatest comebacks in the school's football history.

War Prisoners Aid

Other V.I. H. Germany is a typical camp of Polish officers. Here, in addition to the usual educational courses, there are four orchestras: a symphony orchestra of 22 pieces, a brass band of 24, a large jazz band of 20, and a small one of 12; and a choir of 45 voices which sings at religious services and informal gatherings. Yet none of these explains the camp's profound effect upon a visitor.

The camp has a theatre group of 120, which presents an excellent production every month, each running for 15 performances. But this, too, is not unusual in Polish camps.

Camps of educated Poles maintain high educational and artistic standards. Polish morale has continued high, even though the majority have been prisoners for more than four years. Yet even this does not explain the camp's inspiring effect upon visiting representatives of War Prisoners Aid of the Y. M. C. A., a participating service of the National War Fund, which provides the materials for leisure-time activities.

Finally, the explanation dwains. These camps symbolize the unquenchable vitality of Poland, throughout her tragic history so often conquered, partitioned and betrayed by stronger foe and friend alike. Yet still... brave, staunch, unshaken and unshakable—steadfast, unconquerable!

Producers of early white potatoes will receive ceiling prices. Assuming that the same average return as a year ago and about 17 cents a hundred-weight above the legal minimum price, it is announced by the Office of Price Administration. At the same time, however, consumers will find that the average cost of this early crop of potatoes will be the same as retail prices of last season. The action was needed to maintain production at a level sufficient to meet estimated demands.

Supplemental ceiling price lists that will include all the changes that have been made in the prices of dry groceries since issuance of the current quarterly community ceiling price lists will be forwarded to food retailers in most areas, the Office of Price Administration announces. Objectives of the additional lists is to make it easier for retailers and consumers to keep track of changes in ceiling prices. Under this plan it will only be necessary for grocers to post two lists for dry groceries—the quarterly list and this supplement—instead of the larger number of separate postings previously required. Thus it will be easier for housewives to find the price of an item.

Continued high military requirements for nitrogen mean that less will be available during 1945 for use on American farms, according to a report of the Chemicals Bureau of the War Production Board to the Nitrogen Producers Industry Advisory Committee.

Light naphtha, the petroleum product normally used for cooking and lighting, will be brought under rationing control, effective November 20, in 15 Midwestern states, the Office of Price Administration states. This is being done to prevent the illegal use of this product as a motor fuel—a practice that has become prevalent in the area. Legitimate users of light naphtha can apply to their local rationing boards for issuance of "E" and "R" non-highway gasoline coupons for such rationed naphtha as they may need in bulk. No coupons will be needed to buy that which is already packaged in containers of less than eight ounces. Local boards can deny requests for light naphtha for home dry cleaning—it is not well adapted to such use—if a suitable non-rationed substitute can be found at reasonable cost.

(NOTE TO EDITORS: Affected states are: North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.)

Makers of new household vacuum cleaners and attachments may agree to sell these products at prices that can be increased up to maximum prices that will be in effect when the cleaner is delivered, as a result of action taken by the Office of Price Administration. Thus buyers can place orders for the new cleaners and manufacturers agree to deliver them at the maximum price that will be set by OPA when production begins. However, the action specified that no seller may deliver or make an agreement to deliver a new vacuum cleaner at a price to be adjusted upward in accordance with a maximum price to be set after delivery—unless so authorized by OPA. But no such authorization will be given at retail.

An increased production of low cost shoes of rationed types for men, women and children is anticipated by the War Production Board through relaxation of quality and quota restrictions. It is expected that better values will thus be made available to the public. The amended order eliminates price line and quota restrictions on footwear under certain price levels. The order affects shoes selling at about $4 to men, $3 to $3.50 for women, and $2.75 to $3 for children.

Facilities of the nation's grain beverage distillers will not be needed during January for making industrial alcohol, states J. A. Krug, Chairman of the War Production Board. The distillers, however, will return to industrial alcohol output in February 1945. The January release reflects the cut in requirements of alcohol for synthetic rubber during the fourth quarter of this year, due to the nearing of capacity rates by synthetic rubber plants producing butadiene from petroleum.

Families of soldiers engaged in operations in the Philippines will soon be receiving batches of mail that have been delayed for security reasons during the period preceding the invasion of these islands. Some 400,000 letters and a large number of parcels were impounded. This mail originated with units now engaged in American Army operations in the Philippines. Some of the letters date as far back as last July.

If it happened in town, read it in the SUN.

POST-WAR DREAMS

OUR FIGHTING MEN are too busy winning the war to have much time to think about what comes after. But when they do, their thoughts are chiefly concerned with "getting it over" and coming back home.

It's up to all of us to see that their homecoming is a happy one. More than parades and flagwaving, they'll appreciate being welcomed with jobs. It's not too soon to start planning this kind of homecoming—it can't be done overnight.

The employees of this company on leave of absence in the armed forces have already been assured that their jobs and a warm welcome are waiting for them when they return. We want them back.

YOUR RED CROSS

LOCAL
Mrs. Doris Auerbach, general field representative of the North Atlantic Area Office was at Red Cross Headquarters Tuesday, to confer with the Executive Committee.

The Junior Red Cross has been having its Annual Drive for members from November 1, through the 15. During this time, moving pictures were shown in the schools showing the work the Red Cross is doing at home and abroad.

Our Juniors have been working steadily on their projects for the military camps and hospitals. The elementary school children have been making favors and decorations for parties given at Lyons and Camp Kilmer. This week the Motor Corps took down the Thanksgiving articles. So now the Juniors will start work on the Christmas decorations. Some children are knitting squares for an afghan for use in a camp or hospital. In the High School, the Juniors have been making menu covers for the Navy, and have received a letter of appreciation from the Junior Red Cross Director, Mr. Richards, to which he adds in his own handwriting that the menu covers were exceptionally good. The boys have been making cribbage boards for the U. S. Naval Hospital at St. Albans, L. I., and receiving high praise for their work also.

In the empty store next to E. Clayton's on Morris Avenue, there is a display of stuffed animals the Juniors have made for the children of other lands. Around Christmas time, another display of the above-mentioned menu covers, favors, etc., which the Juniors make for the camps and hospitals will be in the window. Watch for it. The Juniors accomplish a great deal, and know the value of "service for others."

NATIONAL
The American Junior Red Cross is the American Red Cross in the schools—elementary and secondary; public, private and parochial. It is the largest youth organization in the world—more than 18,000,000 school-age boy and girl members are enrolled. This is approximately 70 per cent of America's school population. During the school year, 1943-44, Junior Red Cross members produced more than 12,600,000 comfort and recreational articles for Servicemen in camps and hospitals in America and overseas. They have made more than 25,000,000 such items since the United States entered the war. Those articles are made to meet specific requests of the military, channeled through Camp and Hospital Councils and area offices. Typical items are ping-pong tables, games boards, bedside tables, lapboards, canteen trays, bathrobes, slippers, afghans, and holiday favors.

Here is part of a letter from a hospitalized soldier in the South Pacific, written to the members of the Junior Red Cross, in his home-city of St. Paul, Minn.: "You don't know what it meant to me to receive that writing board you made. I've been in this hospital more than five months, and boy, have I been homesick! Yesterday, the nurse brought me this writing board, and when I turned it over and saw 'Made by the Junior Red Cross, Wilson High School, St. Paul, Minnesota' I got out a yell and began to cry. I went to Wilson High School and live only a few blocks from there. I can tell you I just hugged that board. I just want you to know that soldiers do appreciate these things."

A subscription to the SUN, $2.50, will keep you accurately informed for a year of all local happenings.

AT REST CENTER

SALVATORE W. COLANDREA

Following his third-trip overseas, Gunner's Mate first class Salvatore W. Colandrea, was home recently on a 17-day leave. He is now at a rest center in Florida for two weeks.

Petty Officer Colandrea has four brothers-in-the service, Master Sergeant Carl Seaman, second

Office of State Chairman 972 Broad Street, Newark 2, New Jersey November 8, 1944.

TO THE ADVERTISING MANAGER:
The Sixth War Loan which opens on November 20 and extends until December 16 probably is the most important yet undertaken by the United States Treasury Department.

Of course, the optimism of the European situation is false. That war is not yet over—and even when Germany is defeated Military and Navy authorities estimate that the cost of all-out war against Japan will cost at least 75 per cent. of what has been the carrying costs of the two wars.

Newspapers have played a tremendous part in the success of the five previous loans and we are relying upon you to continue that assistance, because nowhere has this cooperation been better than in our own State of New Jersey. Your help has been one of the vital factors in our success.

We need every bit sponsored advertising possible to insure the success of the Sixth War Loan. If possible, we would appreciate more advertising than ever. You probably have received your advertising portfolio direct. If not, if you communicate with this office we will see that it is forwarded to you immediately.

A repetition of the facsimile of the $100 bond on your first page on the initial day of the Sixth War Loan will be greatly appreciated.

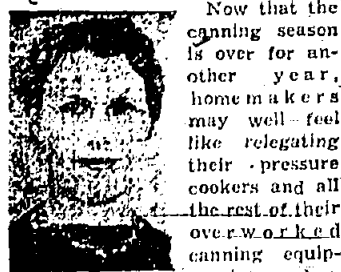

Thank you again for your past cooperation and looking forward confidently to your help during the coming campaign. I remain Sincerely yours,

JOHN E. MANNING State Administrator New Jersey State Division.

FROM GARDEN TO SHELF
NO MOTHBALLS NEEDED!
 By Mary W. Armstrong
 County Home Demonstration Agent

Now that the canning season is over for another year, home makers may well feel like relegating their pressure cookers and all the rest of their over-worked canning equipment to a deep corner of the attic with a "There! You're off my mind till next summer!" But wait. Why don't you insure a happier, more successful canning season next year by doing one extra morning's work now? During that "insurance morning" you'll need to do only two things. First, check on your canning equipment to see if there are any utensils or gadgets you should purchase, or any new parts you should order for the pressure cooker. Then, clean all the equipment thoroughly and cover it for storing.

Equipment Satisfactory?

The end of a summer of canning is a good time to decide whether the equipment you had was satisfactory. Was it? Did you have a jar funnel, tongs, colander, and a large preserving kettle? If you got along this year without some of the labor-and time-saving supplies which you would like to have for next season, make a list of them and buy them now while they are available. Then, when rhubarb time comes around next spring, you'll be able to start your 1045-canning with all the zest of a woman who has something new to use!

How about the pressure cooker? If it needs to be repaired, or if worn parts should be replaced by new ones, now is the time to have the repairing done. In winter, as we all know, the demand for repair work is so great that much more time must be allowed, and orders for new parts often require several months for delivery. So take care of those items now.

Although hot water bath equipment consists only of a large kettle, wire rack and lid, nevertheless it should be given a good scouring at the close of the canning season. Scour, wash in soap suds, rinse well, and dry thoroughly by the kettle, rack and lid. Then invert the cover on the kettle and wrap everything in paper. Store in a dry place where this equipment can be out of your way until it is needed.

Pressure Cookers
 Before storing the pressure cooker, if it is not one you can cook in, too, clean and dry it thoroughly. Leave no food or salt deposits on the canner, for they will pit aluminum, may impair the glaze-on-porcelain enamel, and may cause thinned steel to rust.

Smear the threads of the screw locks with a thin film of vaseline, or any salt-free oil, to prevent rust. Crumple newspapers inside the cooker to absorb moisture and odors.

Wrap the cover in paper to keep dust out of the gauge and valve openings and to protect cover edges.

Invert the cover on the kettle. Never store the canner with the cover on right side up.

No, you don't need mothballs when you put away your canning equipment for the winter. But you do need to be sure the equipment is clean, dry, covered, and properly treated to prevent rust. Then your conscience won't have "canning-equipment-jitters" during the winter!

"There was a telephone in the house when I moved in—but I couldn't just take it over!"

It would be a lot easier to leave the telephone in and connect it for the new occupant of a house or apartment, as we did in normal times, but that would hardly be fair when so many people are waiting for service.

Now—when residence service is discontinued, we take out the telephones, as soon as we can, and put them into a general "pool", from which we fill current applications for essential service, and as many orders as possible from the waiting list.

Every need for essential service is being met, but with telephone factories producing at full capacity for war needs, the only facilities there are to care for pending applications are those released by present customers.

Those now waiting for service can be sure that they will be connected in proper turn as fast as disconnections permit.
