FRIENDS!!

Recent reports indicate that the Township Committee may be faced with a new problem - whether it should approve construction of a new firehouse or whether it should wait to determine whether it will yield to the Board of Education for a new school. . . . Fire Commissioner Walter Baldwin recently indicated that he could see no reason why the governing board should wait for the school commissioners to decide whether they will build a school, and if so, when.

This column is not altogether out of sympathy with Mr. Baldwin. Obviously with the township committee contracting for the purchase of additional fire equipment, it should have facilities to house it. . . . Actually, since Springfield is a large community in area and its developments in the Chisholm School area are expanding rapidly it might not be a bad idea to have some fire equipment housed there. . . . Most municipalities, as they grow, attempt to have fire apparatus housed in various sections rather than centralize all equipment.

There seems to be little question but what Springfield ultimately will need additional facilities to house its fire equipment. . . . Someday the township probably will have a population of perhaps 12,000 or 15,000 and it will need not only more fire equipment, but automotive police equipment, road department trucks and possibly other rolling equipment. . . . It will not be practical to house it in private garages so the governing board presumably can see the handwriting on the wall.

The reason we feel that Commissioner Baldwin has a point is the increasing cost of building materials. . . . It is possible that some day construction costs are going to take a big drop. But we doubt if you and I will live to see it. . . . We are not making an excellent demonstration of what delay is costing the township, in the matter of a new school. . . . By the time the voters decide to approve some sort of school project (and there's no question but what they will have to do so sooner or later) it's virtually a certainty that it will probably cost them from 10 to 20 per cent more than it would if they had approved one of the proposals submitted to them last fall by the school board.

If the township delays as long with a firehouse it will face the same situation. . . . As we see the situation in Springfield the people want the best school facilities for their children but don't want to pay for it. . . . At least a majority of them indicated dissatisfaction with the projects submitted. . . . Perhaps neither of them were perfect but both represent the culmination of considerable research and planning.

As a result, when Springfield asks for additional school facilities, whether it be another school or an addition to the Chisholm School, voters will find that their hesitancy has cost them plenty. . . . So perhaps Commissioner Baldwin has the right idea with his plan. . . . At least he realizes how building costs are increasing. And the voters last fall failed to demonstrate that they are cognizant of the fact.

Speaking of schools we recently learned from the traditional "unimpeachable source" what Warren W. Halsey, principal of Regional High School is called by some of his students. When he comes down the hall and notices there is a matter of speed the word goes out, "Checkle, here comes Jake." However, when time is not of the essence the admonition is spread, "Look out here comes 'The Great White Father.'" Apparently times don't change much in high school.

A quarter of a century ago when this writer was a student in high school the principal was somewhat lacking in his use of decoration. . . . So the warning signal generally was "Hey, here comes Cuckball."

School Forum Is Stated For Regional High

Panel Talks Focus Upon World Topics

"Death or Survival" will be the topic of the twenty-first semi-annual conference featuring the New Jersey international relations forum at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School on Saturday, January 20. Six Regional students will be speakers at the various panel forums.

The Regional group includes Gertrude Fried who will speak on "How We Can Will the Minds of Asians"; Emily Buckley, who will be featured as a member of the panel on "Is the McCarran Bill 'Totalitarian'"; Nancy Hoffman who will speak on "How Should the Community Fight Communism?"; Connie Lambert, who will talk on the panel on "How Can We Improve Inter-racial Relationships"; and Anna Casale, who will discuss the same topic.

Among the general discussion subjects which will constitute topics are "The United Nations," "The United States," "Religion, Culture and Education," "Europe," and "The East."

In the afternoon Bertram D. Wolfe, author of "Three Who Made a Revolution," will talk on "Stalin, the Man and His Tactics." Dr. Felix Wittmer, of Montclair State Teachers' College, will give a summary of the forum. He is honorary president of the New Jersey International Relations Forum.

Warren W. Halsey, supervising principal of Regional High School, will welcome the group. Following luncheon there will be a number of one minute reports. Admission of fifty cents will be assessed each student. There will be no charge for educators. More than fifty schools are expected to have representatives at the forum.

There also is the possibility, it was pointed out, that Springfield aliens might register at a Post-office in another municipality. In other municipalities postal officials have noted the reluctance of aliens to register at the Postoffice in their home municipalities.

White Clad Traffic Cops Seen As Safe From Eerie Drivers

If you see a white specter around Morris avenue after dark don't be alarmed. It will be a Springfield traffic officer and not a spook. Members of the police department who direct traffic now wear white gaudy capes. They are clearly visible in the dark and Chief of Police William Thompson believes they will protect the patrolmen from being struck by motorists whose visibility apparently isn't very good at night.

Recently Special Officer Delmar A. Tappin suffered a fractured leg when struck by a motorist. The accident occurred on Christmas Eve while Tappin was directing traffic near St. James Church on Morris avenue.

Following the accident Police Commissioner Albert G. Binder conferred with Chief Thompson. As a result of the conference Commissioner Binder announced that

Sewer Group May Vote For Status Change

High Budget May Result In Authority Plan

The possibility loomed today that the Railway Valley Joint Meeting, of which Springfield is a member, may initiate steps when it reorganizes Thursday, January 18, to change its status to become a sewerage authority.

The step was urged at a recent session of the joint meeting after Louis J. Fontonelli, superintendent of the meeting's disposal plant in Rahway, told the meeting representatives that unless nearly $80,000 is spent on improvements during the coming year, the plant may become crippled or even inoperative.

Mayor Marshall Names Heads Of Committees

The township's civilian defense program is gathering impetus today following the mass meeting Tuesday night at the James Caldwell School auditorium held under the sponsorship of the Civilian Defense Council, headed by Mayor Robert W. Marshall and the Citizens' League.

More than 100 residents attended the affair at which the Mayor, Addison C. Ely, of Westfield; Union County Civilian Defense director; Fire Chief Charles Pinkava and Chief of Police William J. Thompson were the principal speakers.

Sirens To Sound

Air raid alarm signals will be sounded Saturday at noon, it was announced today by Mayor Robert W. Marshall, civilian defense chairman. The signals will be tested subsequently, each Saturday at that time.

Three minutes of fluctuating notes on the siren will make the test period. The all-clear will be a one-minute steady blast. Two minutes of silence will be followed by a one minute steady blast. Mayor Marshall said cards notifying all residents of this test have been sent through the mail. A similar test was used in many municipalities during the recent war.

Mayor Marshall told the gathering that he has appointed a competent group of residents to head the various committees. He said he will keep the public informed of the progress made by the committee.

"Civilian Defense is the duty of every one but all won't be called on to serve immediately," the chief executive asserted. He urged that all Springfield residents enroll at the various recruiting stations. The Mayor requested all persons to cooperate by following instructions in the event of an emergency. He urged that communication lines not be overloaded in such an event.

The Mayor said such groups as the Rescue Squad, the Boy Scouts, the Red Cross and others already are participating in the defense (Continued on page 3)

Local Man Jailed For Desertion

Clarence W. Maguire, 60-year-old salesman at 81 Maple avenue, currently is serving a prison sentence of from one to three years imposed by County Judge Walter L. Hatfield after he had been extradited from Florida on a charge of desertion preferred by his wife, Mrs. Margaret I. Maguire, of the Maple avenue address.

Maguire, however, may not serve the full sentence. His wife has forty-five days in which to make a decision, she told a Sun reporter today. She reportedly had informed Judge Hatfield that she didn't want her husband in prison.

The court ultimately agreed to recommend the case if an amicable arrangement can be developed for the support of the family. Meanwhile the sentence stands.

Maguire was called up for sentencing Friday by Asst. County Prosecutor Edmund J. Kivly, who reminded the court that Maguire had resisted extradition by every means after she had refused to send money to his family or to return voluntarily to this jurisdiction. The court observed that the action cost the taxpayers a large sum.

Louis Forman, Maguire's attorney, argued that Mrs. Maguire knew her husband was going to Florida and that he had a business there and could realize money on it in a short time. The wife conceded that he had debts there but said he also had others here when he left.

William J. Dalton, 20 years old, of 730 High street, and Franklin L. Lieber, 18, of 177 Orchard street, both of Newark, charged with larceny of gas stations and taverns here and in Westfield and Union, were committed to the State Reformatory at Annapolis.

Police Chief Issues Warning Of Winter Driving Hazards

Slippery streets slowed automobile traffic to a crawl Monday and Chief of Police William J. Thompson was glad of it due to absence of accidents.

"Ice is the most treacherous surface over which any motorist ever is called upon to drive," the chief warned.

The principal causes of accidents in such weather are speed, improper use of brakes, and lack of traction. If you have to stop on ice, apply pressure to the brakes lightly with a pumping action; jamming on the brakes causes them to lock, and sends the car into a skid.

As a matter of fact, the chief added, attempting to drive without tire chains when ice conditions generally prevail is foolhardy, and should be avoided if possible. To this warning he coupled another that under conditions of glare ice, most so-called "winterized" tires are but little better than regular tires.

Tests conducted by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards show that an automobile traveling 20 miles an hour on ice with "winterized" tires will skid an average of about 188 feet after the brakes are applied. Chief Thompson said, "With tire chains on the rear wheels, a car traveling at the same speed can stop on ice in about 88 feet. Reinforced type of chains stop in about 77 feet. At 40 miles an hour without chains the usual skid is about 700 feet. Chains reduce it to about 250 feet. So, if you have to drive, put on your chains, and take it easy. But it's even better to leave your car home."

In addition, Chief Thompson suggested, it's a good idea to keep more than the usual safe distance between vehicles, use extra care at corners and intersections, and signal for stops or turns in ample time to protect the car behind.

Library Lists Circulation Rise

Total circulation of the Springfield Public Library for 1950 was 28,004 volumes. This is an increase of 3,783 books over the 1949 circulation and nearly 10,000 more than that of 1948.

Of this total circulation, 12,836 were juvenile books and 15,228 Adult. This denotes an increase of 2,438 juvenile and 1,333 Adult books over the total number circulated in 1949.

There was also a decided increase in the number of active borrowers, the total number for 1950 being 1,716 as compared with 1,323 in 1949. In 1950 there were 388 new borrowers, of whom there were approximately as many juvenile as Adult. Juvenile applications numbered 190, while the Adult numbered 198.

The cost of circulation for the year 1950 was thirty cents per book, which figure compares favorably with neighboring municipalities. This low cost of circulation is due in part to the efficient services rendered the library by an extensive corps of twenty-five volunteers, ably assisting in various ways the two regular paid librarians.

Know Your Government
By H. J. Taxpayers Association

THE PEOPLE WANT TO KNOW

Government, Federal, state and local. New Jersey taxpayers nearly one and three-quarter billion dollars a year. At least that was the total tax bill in 1949, the latest year for which figures are available. With the Nation on a war footing, further drastic increases at the federal level are in prospect.

Faced with higher and higher taxes, more and more citizens today are demanding all possible curtailment of non-war expenditures and the highest possible return on every dollar spent by government.

As indicated by the activity of numerous local taxpayer associations in New Jersey and of many other civic groups which today are broadening their programs to include the study of government. Also, state taxpayer associations are active today in 37 states, including New Jersey. These organizations are serving a widespread and increasing demand by citizens for clear and concise information about government.

Recognizing this need, the New Jersey Taxpayers Association numbers among its more important functions the dissemination of facts about government through popular new channels. One feature of this service is its "Know Your Government" series, written especially for New Jersey home town newspapers. The current article is the fifth in the series and marks the beginning of the 14th year of this service to the press and public.

Revokee Pays Fine Amounting To $103

Ernest Coles, of 204 Richmond Street, Scotch Plains, was fined $100 and assessed $3 costs by Magistrate Henry C. McMullen Monday night when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to operating a car after his license had been revoked.

Coles was apprehended December 13 in Mountain avenue by Radio Patrolman George Parsell. A complaint also was filed against Henry Diggins, of Bound Brook, charging him with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car and for operating an unregistered vehicle. Hearing on these charges was postponed.

Sewer Group

The Springfield member of the Joint Meeting. Originally it was believed that the operating budget for 1951 would be only $1,700 higher than the current measure. However, Fontenell told the group that at least one item of equipment is a "must" for next year. He referred to 3,600 feet of chain which drive settling tank mechanism. Making of the chain is worn to the breaking point, he said.

The discussion which followed again raised the issue of making a sewerage authority of the present Joint meeting. There have been reports that first Westfield, and later Cranford, opposed the move. Support and opposition has been expressed by various blocs on occasions.

Members were in general agreement that formation of an authority would be the answer to many of the Joint Meeting's problems. An authority could float its own bond issues and as a result would not be dependent on its individual member municipalities for annual budget contributions or emergency appropriations during the year.

The 1951 budget of $76,000 has been adopted. This does not cover the replacement of worn-out equipment. It was pointed out that this will mean that either an authority must be formed or a request for large emergency appropriation from each of the nine municipalities must be obtained.

setup. He predicted that many additional units soon will become active. Mayor Marshall introduced Mr. Ely who described various phases of the State Civilian Defense Act. He stressed the fact that in an emergency the township will be operated by the Defense Council. He told of plans being made for defense by other Union County municipalities.

Police Chief Thompson told of the duties of the police department in event of an emergency. He urged all groups to cooperate with the police. Fire Chief Pinkeva also told of the details which will be assigned to his department in event of an air raid. The following committee chairman were appointed by the Mayor: Personnel and administration, A. B. Anderson; intelligence and security, G. Chase Runyon; operations, George D. Harrison; supplies, Timothy J. Sheehan; air-raid warnings, former Township Committee member Richard J. Horner; welfare, James M. Looking Into Yesteryear

From Files OF THE SUN

Ten Years Ago

For the first time in the history of Springfield, building operations passed the half-million dollar mark for a total valuation of $379,008. Building Inspector Reuben H. Marsh reported at the Township Committee meeting. This amount included the erection of 121 private dwellings, a total of $811,800. The installations of 94 oil and gas burners accounted for $33,633, the building of 13 private garages brought in $2,375, and 14 alterations and repairs accounted for $28,300. Marsh issued 241 permits for a total fee of $1,573.

Miss Dorothy M. Cron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Cron of 148 West Roselle avenue, Roselle Park, and Arthur H. Smith, Jr., son of Arthur H. Smith of Milltown road, were married at the home of the bride's parents.

Police were investigating the daring daylight burglary of $600 in jewels stolen from the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Malsbacher of 46 Park lane. The theft, said by the Malsbachers to have occurred between 7:30 a.m. and 5:45 p.m., apparently was the work of one man, who left muddy footprints. Entrance was made by breaking a glass in a rear door, gaining access by the lock, in which was left a house key. Witnesses questioned by the police, including workers constructing homes nearby, were unable to throw any light on suspicious strangers in the vicinity during the day.

The last units of Union County's National Guard were inducted into the regional army at the armory, Westfield. These groups included about 235 men in the 102nd Cavalry (horse-mechanized) which was divided into Troop A, a horse troop-unit of the first squadron of the regiment, under the command of Captain John L. Lee of 184 Tooker avenue; Troop B, a scout car troop of the second squadron, and the Second Squadron headquarters.

The engagement of Miss Caroline Louise Yeager, daughter of Mrs. George Yeager of Ruby St., and the late William Yeager, to Gordon Louis Stiles, son of Louis H. Stiles of Mountain avenue, was announced.

Your Library

To most people there is an unfathomable fascination about the origin of their own family history. The names of their ancestors, their way of life, their homes, and the personal possessions they cherished and bequeathed are part of a family pattern of interest to all ages; the old contemplate and reminisce, while the young should respect and uphold whatever standards and beliefs their forebears maintained. Records of sorts have been kept for centuries, some sketchy and debatable, some clear and authentic. Genealogy has become a paying business as well as a hobby. Local residents who have connections with one or more of the old New Jersey families, are fortunate in having so much source material available. The Springfield Library contains many volumes of the New Jersey Archives as well as reference works by Record, Clayton and Stricker and other well known historians. The most recent additions are several copies of the Genealogical Magazine of New Jersey, the gift of Mr. Edwin Baldwin of Summit. These contain vital statistics as well as church records, diaries, etc. and will be of immeasurable help and interest. The Union Co. Historical Society and the New Jersey Historical Society and other sources too numerous to mention, have a fund of historical data which is available to the public.

New books recently received are "Son of a Hundred Kings" by Thomas Costain, "Firat the Blind" by Dayton Maynard, "The Dove and the Dart" by Patricia Campbell, "It's Only Temporary" by Charles Morgendahl, "Grim Rehearsal" by Ruth Pennington and the new "Information Please Almanac" for 1951.

Hot Stovers Slate 15th Annual Dinner

The 15th Annual Hot Stovers League Dinner, sponsored by the Union County Baseball Association, has been set for February 5, 6:30 p.m., at the Winfield Scott Hotel, Elizabeth. The program, according to Mike Myska, Association president, will feature several major league players and officials as guest speakers and the 1950 World Series film will be shown. Progress which baseball has made in the fifteen years since the first dinner will be reviewed and several Oldtimers who helped organize the Hot Stove League will be given recognition.

The Union County Dinner, attended last year by some 300 players, officials, scouts and fans, has become known as one of the outstanding affairs of its kind in the country. Many baseball celebrities have graced the head tables at this annual get-together, among them Phil Rizzuto, Joe DiMaggio, Don Newcombe, George Slaughter, Hank Borowy, Lefty McDermott, Rabbit Maranville, Lefty Gomez, Mule Haas, Chuck Drossen, Joe McCarthy and Frank J. Shaugnessy.

The main purpose of the dinner is to agitate the interests of baseball in Union County. Mr. Myska said the Association had the support of the Union-County Park Commission, the schools, the public recreation departments and other organizations. Senior leagues, including the Union County League, the Intra-County League, and the Industrial League, will be represented. Many youngsters from the Youth Leagues, which last year had 45 teams with 625 players, are expected to attend.

County baseball awards will also be presented on this occasion, Mr. Myska said. These include the Union County, Intra-County and Elizabeth City League trophies, Youth League trophies, and individual awards for highest batting average, most promising player, greatest total bases, and the Association's Acknowledgment Award for outstanding service.

Jerry Mulloy, well known coach, and sports official of Hoboken, will serve as master of ceremonies at the dinner. The Dinner Committee is made up of Mr. Myska and Frank O'Rourke of Elizabeth, Ted Cooper, Linden, Lou Cancell, Union, and Herm Shaw, Roselle Park. Chairmen of City Committees are Al Lohalby, Elizabeth, Fred Stahuber, Union, Joseph Turner and Bob O'Grady, Roselle, Pete Humann, Hillsdale, Royelle, Pete Ray, Hoagland, Rahway, Lou Pelcino, Summit, John Storge, Plainfield, Frank Krystal, and Bob Schaeffer, Linden, John Morris, Westfield, Mike Tarro, Cranford, Bill Brown, Springfield, Angelo

James Sees Grid Formation Shift

George K. Hale (left) James Cornell football coach, does not agree with Sid Wilkinson of Oklahoma that football may either go back to the old single wing offense or become a gridiron version of basketball.

James, addressing about 450 Cornell alumni and guests at the Baltusor Golf Club Saturday night, said he does expect more trends to come into the game in the next few years, but he believes that the dominant note will be running with the ball, not passing. He thinks the increasing use of spreads is necessary for the attack to keep the defense off balance and to keep it from getting set to meet the offense.

James said he has come to the conclusion that football today is an assembly-of-footballs anyway. Regardless of what formation a team may use to put the ball in play, Cornell, he said, used about 40 spreads last year, including line and backfield combinations, although Cornell was a T formation team. Princeton, he declared, used 17 spreads in its game with the Iacians, and he cited Charley Caldwell as one of the prime developers of this type of play among single wing coaches.

High and prep school coaches, numbering about 25, were the guests at a clinic in the afternoon, with James explaining the general organizations of coaching at Cornell and then answering.

A dinner for the coaches followed the clinic, after which an alumni smoker was held. James was introduced by Stan Lomax, radio announcer, and after his talk supplied the commentary as he showed movies of the highlights of Cornell's season.

Several high and prep school students were among the guests. Cornell Clubs of Essex and Union counties were the sponsors.

School Room Menu
The menu next week at Raymond Chisholm lunchroom will be:
MONDAY
Chicken soup, hologna sandwich, pickles, cherries and milk.

Grade 1-Mrs. Corby
Most of all, we would like to say that we enjoyed the Christmas play, called 'When the Chimes Rang'. It was one of the most interesting Christmas numbers we've seen. Everyone who took part did splendidly. It thrilled us when the brother brought his gifts to church and 'The Chimes Rang'.

Grade 2-Mrs. Hill
This week we have had only three days of school. We have talked about our Christmas gifts. We are reading about trains. We will see movies about them.

Grade 3-Mrs. Cross
We have another teacher to help Mrs. Cross. Her name is Miss Gordon. She is going to be with us for eight weeks. We brought our favorite Christmas presents to school. The girls brought in their favorite presents on Thursday, and the boys brought their favorite presents in our class. We have a new girl in our class - her name is Joan Pitney. She came from Bloomfield, N. J.

Grade 4-Mrs. Ryder
Before Christmas we had a little skit called 'The Doll's Christmas'. It was Lorelei Smith's idea. Mrs. Ryder changed it a little bit. Now that Christmas is over, we are going to give it again, but not about Christmas. We are going to call it 'Dolls from other Lands'. We had an extra special Christmas party - thanks to Mrs. Binkley, Mrs. Mentim, and Mrs. Piovava.

Grade 5-Miss Dorivaux
This week our class wrote poems for the first time. Here are some of them:
'MY DOLLY'
By Judith Crowley
I have a little dolly,
And I call her Maryann.

'THE LITTLE BOY'
By Phillip Little
He lives in a little boy,
He always plays with toys.

Santa Claus brought watches to several children in Mrs. Thurber's class so we are learning to tell 'time'. Nancy Worthmann, Richard Ostrom, Andy Shepard and Patty Andrews have stars on our number chart for counting from 1 to a 100 and by 5's and 10's to 100. Each day we expect to add more names to our chart. Santa was good to all the children in Mrs. Busch's class. On Wednesday we drew pictures of our favorite toys. Nelly Stiso brought in an electric organ. We are writing from 1 to 50. Some of us have to study our counting, because we cannot write until we can count.

Grade 2
Mrs. Ann Waters and Miss Alice Kieck
Monday, January 1st, was Diane Reiche's birthday so she brought cookies and lolly-pops for a party on Wednesday, Tuesday, January 2nd, was Judy Marchell's birthday and she brought candy for a party on Wednesday.
