FRIENDS!!

Last week's split vote of the Township Committee on an application for a zone variance brings forth the cry that we should have more divided votes by the governing body in order to prove to the public that our officials are capable of doing their own thinking and are unafraid of voicing their opinions. . . . The fact that the last board is 100 per cent Republican does not necessarily mean its members have to think, speak and vote alike on all occasions. . . . It was good to hear the reaction which came about as a result of the split ballot. . . . From all indications Springfield's Township Committee is going to remain GOP in make-up for a long time to come and more divided opinions in the future, not only behind closed doors, but in open session will aid in maintaining public confidence in the town board.

Just as we went to press last week state highway department workers broke ground for the new traffic light in front of the post office. . . . now we hope it won't take another month to put the long-sought signal in operation!

There's little if anything new to report on the progress of the proposed project which would be erected at Meloy avenue and Milltown road. . . . up to last week town authorities and the developer were supposed to get together on the details, but as yet the contract hasn't been taken care of. . . . we understand town officials have suggested the developer sit tight until such time as they themselves delve into the subject.

One merchant on Springfield's main stem wonders why local police have to park their cars on Morris avenue while they are on duty instead of making use of the municipal parking lot. . . . humm!

"Gambling" is "wide open" in Linden avenue these days but the town's guardians are laying off, according to Mrs. Norman Hillman of 150 Linden avenue, whose 5-year-old daughter recently recovered from polio, young Robert Dussler, who lives on the same street, already has collected more than 100 pennies for the Kiddy Polo Foundation as a result of a game he has set up on his front porch. . . . Bobby returned from the shore last week with ideas he got from watching boardwalk operations. . . . he gathered up all his old toys, nose-makers and comic books and is offering them as prizes to his lucky customers. . . . Bob's attitude is typical of that of every youngster in the neighborhood. . . . all started out to help little Linda Hillman and now that she has recovered they want to aid other children who are stricken with the dreaded disease.

Parents should beware of "Little Atom" toy guns reportedly still on sale in stores throughout the county despite a confiscation order issued last week by the prosecutor. . . . local police have been advised to take appropriate action against merchants who are selling them. . . . the guns are allegedly loaded with a type of blank cartridge, but actually discharge a pellet. . . . injuries have been reported.

The U.S. Department of Commerce recently released loads of figures showing wholesale and retail trade volumes in towns and cities throughout Union County. . . . neighboring Union Township was listed as the second richest town in the county in terms of payroll income. . . . many other communities were mentioned, but Springfield was missing completely.

We made contact this week with an old newspaper friend, now reporting Washington, D.C., happenings for one of the larger New York papers. . . . he promises to phone us pronto the moment he hears of the permanent postmaster appointment for Springfield.

Town Opens New Probe of Heavy Floods

Dr. J. V. Triolo Files Protest With Committee

The Township Committee following a vigorous protest by Dr. John V. Triolo about flood conditions along Henshaw avenue, is conducting an investigation along the legal as well as the construction front. It has authorized Township Engineer Arthur H. Lennox and Township Attorney, Robert F. Darby to conduct a survey of the situation.

Dr. Triolo in his letter to the governing board said that the drainage condition had been aggravated by the new housing development in the rear of Henshaw avenue. He charged that since construction started there had been two disastrous floods in the area. He said that both times there had been from three to four inches of water in the basement. This had not occurred prior to the construction, he asserted.

The doctor expressed belief that the residents should be protected since they had been assured of adequate drainage. He said following a heavy rain, "a virtual lake forms between the houses along Henshaw and Hawthorne avenues, but mostly in our yard and those next door to us on either side."

Dr. Triolo said that Lennox had been telephoned regarding the situation on three occasions but that no action had been forthcoming as a result. He said he had spent more than $400 in his property for landscaping and shrubbery and cited the potential of water damage to lawns as well as to basements.

The Henshaw avenue man indicated he planned to take action unless the governing board took up the matter with the construction company. The Township Committee then moved.

Hold Services for Harry O. Smith

Funeral services for Harry O. Smith, of 237 Morris avenue, who died August 8 were held Saturday at the Young Funeral Home, 110 Main street, Millburn. Rev. John R. Adler, pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church, Irvington, officiated. Interment was in Presbyterian Cemetery here.

Mr. Smith died suddenly at his home. A native of Manchester, England, he had been a resident of Springfield ten years. He formerly lived in Newark and Union. He was a machinist with the Tait Manufacturing Company. He was 72 years old.

Mr. Smith was a member of Franklin Lodge, F. and A. M., of Irvington; of the Springfield Pistol Club and of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Millburn.

Surviving are a son, Arthur R. Smith of Union, and a grandchild.

RICHARD BAUMANN IS NAVY BAND MAN

Richard C. Baumann, Seaman Recruit USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baumann of 7 Dundas street, is a member of the Recruit Training Command Band of the U.S. Naval Training Center at Bainbridge, Maryland.

The unit is composed entirely of volunteers from recruits at Bainbridge. It performs at all recruit parades and reviews held at the Training Center. It also makes occasional trips to nearby communities to take part in parades and other civic events and has won much praise.

Policemen Break Records In Saving Child's Life

Fast work by two members of the Springfield Police Department, resulted in possible saving of a life of a townshipped baby Monday night.

The child was fifteen-month-old Terrence Glynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Glynn, of 55 Oakland avenue. His little sister, Kathy, aged 10, lifted him from his carriage and started to carry him. She tripped over a dog's leash and the child fell in front of his home. As the baby fell his head struck a sharp object. His parents took him into the house and summoned police. Within two minutes a radio patrol, directed to the scene by Sgt. Nelson Slihs and manned by Patrolman John Wentz, was at the home.

Springfield Residents Aid Work of Civil Air Patrol

Members of the Summit Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, which has several Springfield residents in its ranks, inspect medical equipment donated to the squadron's Mobile Support Unit by the Ciba Pharmaceutical Company of Summit. Left to right, Ralph G. Swanson, of 446 Morris avenue; Dr. George Relyea; Vincent Berger and Charles Mody of the Ciba Company; Lt. William Wagner, of Maplewood, commanding officer of the squadron, and Lt. Eleanor Lyons, of 188 Bryant avenue.

Contributions of medical equipment from the Ciba Pharmaceutical Company of Summit, recently were made to the Summit Squadron of the Civilian Air Patrol.

Among the Springfield members of the squadron are Ralph G. Swanson, of 446 Morris avenue and Lt. Eleanor Lyons of 188 Bryant avenue.

Swanson, as head of the squadron's Mobile Support Unit, is assisted by other members of the staff. Its principal duties are recommissions (air and ground), rescue, emergency medical treatment, emergency feeding and courier duties.

Swanson pointed out that although technically the unit is "still on paper" actually it has tremendous potentialities. The objective is to cooperate with all civilian defense programs, he said. He cited the importance of small planes which can fly into disaster zones and render aid.

The Springfield man also pointed out that the Civil Air Patrol offers a cadet program for boys between 15 and 18 years old who are interested in aviation. Any boy interested in the cadet course may contact Stephen B. Schmidt, Jr., of 20 Warner avenue at M. 6-1385-J.

Persons seeking information about the civil air patrol may contact Swanson at M. 6-0642.

Youngsters Shine In Park Contests

Representing Springfield Park last week in the Union County horse show, quail, foul shooting and pen knife championships at Warwick Park, Elizabeth, were Matthew Pope, Robert Revo, Fred Puntigam and Michael McGuire. Only victorious entrant was Pope who was awarded a medal for capturing third place in the horse-shoe event.

First place honors in the girls' foul-shooting contest went to Velma Fornell in the senior division; Ruth Pringle in the junior group; and Judy Sandbach in the midgets.

In an older hunt contest, Amelia Fornell collected most seeds for the girls, while Thais McAleese and Marilyn Mueller placed second and third respectively. Top honors in the boys' division were capped by Richard Donnell.

Scott Donington was judged the senior boy with the broadest grin, and Ruth Zeoli, Thais McAleese and Cathy Glynn were named first, second and third winners respectively for the girls. First place in the midget division was won by Brian Glynn while Seamus Glynn took first in the boys' junior group.

S. L. Williams Wins Scholarship

Sherman L. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Williams of 218 Millburn avenue, Springfield, has been awarded the Walsman Foundation Scholarship for a year's study at the Pasteur Institute in Paris, France.

A 1942 Regional High School graduate, Williams will work on a biochemical problem concerned with fat metabolism. His study will also involve the use of radioactive isotope technique and the employment of photographic emulsions which he learned at Oak Ridge.

Williams holds a B. S. degree in chemical engineering from Iowa State College and M. S. degree in chemistry from Rutgers. He is a member of the Tau Beta Pi, Alpha Chi Sigma and Sigma Xi honor fraternities.

Overlook Hospital Gets Legacy from Mrs. Burling

The will of Mrs. Margaret Bensinger Burling has been filed for probate with Charles A. Otto, surrogate, courthouse, Elizabeth. Bequests ranging from $100 to $5,000 were left to niece, Overlook Hospital, and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude B. Jennings of East Orange, the executor.

Specific orders regarding the conduct of her funeral were set forth in the will and these were fulfilled at the funeral held on Tuesday-August 8, Mrs. Burling died the Sunday previous.

The residuary estate, including the home at 117 Summit avenue, was left to Mrs. Burling's husband, John J. Burling.

School Men Study Ban On Materials

Possible Delay In Construction Of Schools Seen

Officials of the Board of Education and of the Regional school board today are studying the most recent edict of the National Production Authority, banning various types of construction, with considerable interest as well as some anxiety.

They have learned that the order, promulgated on August 3, actually does not ban new construction. However, it definitely sets up strict limitations on the amount of controlled materials. This included steel, copper and aluminum which may be used in such projects after September 30.

If a builder has the needed metals or can get all but small amounts of them, the regulation does not prevent him from commencing construction. Persons familiar with the situation inside the real estate is the amount of scarce materials which will be needed after September 30 to complete a project.

After October 1 the construction industry, like the rest of the civilian "hard goods" economy will be brought under the Controlled Materials Plan. Under this arrangement, steel, copper and aluminum will be allotted quarterly for specific purposes and in specific amounts.

That is the situation confronting the local board of education which is anxious to commence building the new elementary school which was authorized by voters in last spring's referendum. Belief has been expressed that consideration will be given the board in view of the lack of space in the James Caldwell and Raymond Chisholm Schools.

Approval of the Regional School authority has yet to be given by the voters. However, Supervising Principal Warren W. Halsey has pointed out that the school population rapidly is reaching the saturation point. Since Regional still is several weeks away from getting approval of the project, conceivably the board could meet with more trouble than the Springfield board which is well on its way.

Observers also point out that the international situation could have tremendous influence over construction. If it becomes critical to the extent that the defense program, there is little doubt that both school projects will face considerable trouble.

Officials of both boards are hoping the tensions will ease off.

Disaster Practice Planned by Squad

Preliminary plans for a "Springfield-Disaster" test, slated sometime in September, were made last Thursday night at a meeting of the First Aid Squad in the Town Hall.

Initial arrangements call for a "day run" of the big event, which means squad members will go all through the motions of the test without actually carrying the idea through to conclusion. Then, once all details are sifted and flaws overcome, the "disaster" test will take place.

Purpose of the demonstration will be to prove the local squad's ability to bring out-of-town help to Springfield to work closely with first aiders here and members of the Civilian Defense Unit in the event of a major disaster in this town.

Help will be given at the time of the actual demonstration by the New Jersey First Aid Council.

Local Man Starts Vacation Finishes It in Ohio Jail

Louis Todio, of 20 Henshaw avenue, is returning today from a vacation spent in Detroit and in jail.

Not that Todio is a criminal. Unless speeding can be considered a crime.

Apparently, it is listed in that category, or thereabouts, in Youngstown, Ohio. The Springfield resident had been vacationing in Detroit and was returning, apparently at a faster than normal clip, when he was overtaken by a patrolman.

Arraigned before Municipal Judge Nevin, Todio pleaded guilty to the speeding charge. He as-

Lester Moody, of 150 138th avenue, Jamaica, L. I., was fined $50 and assessed $3 costs by Magistrate Henry C. McMullen in Municipal Court Monday night on a charge of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car.

The driver, George A. Frost, of 57, was assessed $7. The summonses were issued August 8 by Radio Patrolman Louis Quinton on Route 26.

Ten traffic offenders were fined a total of $82 by the magistrate.

Merchants Asked For Certificates

Springfield merchants who have failed to turn in gift certificates to the July 4 celebration committee this week were urged to do so without delay by Joseph Foelt, general chairman. The committee is anxious to close its books for the year and is unable to do so unless merchants redeem the certificates for cash.

At the same time Foelt also acknowledged receipt of a $25.00 contribution to this year's celebration from the local Veterans of Foreign War Post. Next meeting of the July 4 unit is slated for the third week in September.

Forty Local Boys To See Big Game

Announcement was made this week by Ed Ruby of the Springfield Recreation department that forty local boys will be chosen shortly to attend the Brooklyn Dodgers-Cincinnati Reds baseball game to be held Wednesday, August 29, at Ebbetts Field.

Sponsoring the trip will be the officers of the Springfield Baseball Club, an organization which disbanded in 1949. Ruby will personally choose the lucky youngsters and will be assisted in his capacity as chaperone by Raymond Bussett, Walter Pasch, Art Menzle and Joseph Conn.

Passes for the game were provided by the Brooklyn ball club.

HANDCRAFT EXHIBIT SLATED ON SUNDAY

Mrs. Tice was taken to Overlook Hospital, Summit, in the First Aid Squad ambulance. Police listed the driver of the other auto as Lillian J. Stultz, 59, 380 South Springfield avenue. Patrolman Louis Quinton was at the scene.

Mrs. Tice is a former resident of Westfield.

REGISTRATION SET FOR TOWN SCHOOLS

Thursday, August 30, has been set as the day for registration of all children who have moved into town over the summer and have not yet attended the Springfield Schools.

Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the James Caldwell and Raymond Chisholm Schools. No new pupils will be registered at any time on the days of the opening week of school, which are Thursday and Friday, Sept. 6 and 7.

July Construction Totals $184,300

The total value of building operations during July was $184,300. It was announced today by Building Inspector Reuben H. Marsh. This included issuing of permits for installation of 29 oil burners, the inspector pointed out.

The total number of new buildings was eight. Their valuation was listed at $182,700. Permits were issued for five alterations which had a value of $9,400.

The 29 burners were listed at $12,200. Total amount of license fees received, the inspector said, was $905.

School Tax Burden Seen on Increase

Springfield taxpayers are paying a greater share of local school costs each year, a survey released by the New Jersey Citizens Study Foundation reveals. An analysis of State Aid to Education from 1948 through last year made by the Foundation shows that local educational costs increased 10 per cent while State Aid dropped from 7 to 4 per cent of the total expenditures.

On a state-wide basis, district school taxes jumped from $128,335,952 in 1948 to $148,875,101 in 1950, the survey showed. Direct State Aid to education has remained at approximately $25,000,000 since 1948 but changing school enrollments and rising local costs have caused wide differences in the allotment of the funds which are available.

The report explained that State Aid is apportioned by two formulas: the Pascoe Act of 1947, based largely on the assessed valuation of the school districts; and the Armstrong Act of 1948 which takes into major consideration the number of enrolled pupils in the three-year period.

The survey also pointed out that the revenues have accrued to various school districts as a result.

Ralph R. Lounsbury, president of the Tax Study Foundation, pointed out that state aid to education has been in effect less than five years. He said it is time the people recognize the critical tax situation in New Jersey.

"The people must decide whether the municipality can stand the additional costs of education or whether the state, with its wider resources, should make a greater contribution to education. Figures at a local level are important only as the basis for future action," he asserted. "They are presented so that all citizens may thoroughly realize what is happening to their tax dollars. If costs of education cannot be held down by sharp economies and careful planning, the people must expect new or revised taxes, either at the state or local level."

He pointed out that experts all agree that the present tax system rests on the narrow base of real property. He said if the state wants to continue its good education, and continue to provide higher construction and essential health and welfare services there must be a sound and effective tax revision.

Leads Fish Tournay
A Springfield man leads the surf fishing department in a contest being sponsored by Brown's Sport Store of Stayview avenue, Union. He is Charles Ball of 116 Tooker avenue, who last week snared a 13½-pound striped bass in the surf off the Holley Golf Club at Beach Haven on a plug.

General Greene Fully Occupied

Completion and full occupancy of General Greene Village, garden apartment project is here, wider ground was broken only last November. It was announced this week by Franklin Mortgage & Title Insurance Co., Newark.

All the 181 apartments had been rented in advance by families attracted by the apartment designs, open layout of buildings among lawns and playgrounds, and strategic location for commuting to New York, Newark and other centers. But the construction and occupancy, completed by this August, were held as something of a record for such projects.

The apartments range from 3-room efficiency suites to 5½-room layouts with the floor space of a modern house. There also are 45 garage spaces and on-site parking for 137 more cars of tenants and their guests. Franklin Mortgage handled the one-piece financing, a factor in the speed of completion; builders were headed by Nicholas Angleton of South Orange.

The apartment is on the site where Colonial troops under General Nathaniel Greene met and drove back a detachment of British and Hessian troops during the Revolutionary War.

The point that the ingredients of true manhood and womanhood—such as strength, nobility, beauty, and grace—come from 'God the Father of man, will be brought out in Christian Science services next Sunday. Subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Soul."

The Golden Text is from Psalm: "Unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul. Show me thy ways, O Lord; teach me thy paths." (25:1,4). From the Holy Bible (King James Version) this passage will be read: "... for the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart." (1 Samuel 16:7).

This correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read: "The recipe for beauty is to have less illusion and more soul, to retreat from the belief of pain or pleasure in the body into the unchanging calm and glorious freedom of spiritual harmony." (247:31-2).

Fined For Overloading

The truck, hauling a load of steel, was stopped by State Trooper Edward Burke July 31 in Route 29. Police said the vehicle was carrying 17,820 pounds in excess of its load limit of 80,000 pounds.

Youth Development Thru Vocational Agriculture

OR
'Know Your Aggies'
by Adam P. LaSota

This week I will cover F.F.A. purpose number four: "To create more interest in the intelligent choice of farming occupations."

At Regional High School the Voc-Ag Department has been quite fortunate in having sufficient space to facilitate vocational agricultural activities and enterprises. Not only do we have good laboratory equipment, but we also have additional buildings. These buildings are, in reality, laboratories in which the boys can practice what they learn, as well as what they think are feasible or workable techniques.

Those of you who do not visit the school grounds may wonder what kind of buildings we have. The answer is a small greenhouse and a small poultry house.

In the greenhouse the students have the opportunity to grow seedlings for their vegetable garden or other plants which they may use for home beautification. This year we will begin a program of propagation of shrubs through cuttings.

To date the poultry house has been our best means of fulfilling purpose number four. In the photograph which was taken outside the poultry house three of our vo-ag students who are, read-

The boys are examining one of the hundreds of broilers which are reared by them each year.

I think that Joe Pinder's story would be an interesting one and I'll run through it quite briefly this fall. Joe will be a junior in the vo-ag course. In his freshman year Joe became interested in poultry and decided to do something about it. Joe doesn't have too much land in Kenilworth; but through parental help and hard work on his own part, he has been able to develop quite a profitable poultry project. At the present time Joe has about 300 pullets, 160 broilers, 20 geese, 80 ducks and an oven dozen turkeys. Joe sells all of his products through retail sources, most of them being private families.

Joe's main ambition is to continue expanding his business while in school, and after graduation he hopes to purchase a farm on which he will be able to produce poultry, ducks, geese and turkeys by the thousands.

When you see Joe's project and discuss his plans with him you can readily see that Vocational Agriculture and the F.F.A. have certainly helped him make an intelligent choice of farming occupations.

Playground Activities

Our last playground accounts were written by the children themselves in a playground contest. Following are the best from each playground:

I like to play in the playground because it is big and you can play most anything you want. You can make lanyards, rings, pitholders, bracelets, color and play games.
GARRY BRANDLE

I like to play in the playground because it is a big playground. You can make rings, lanyards, bracelets and pitholders. You can play ball and tetherball and punchball and basketball. You can get in contests and win points. They have a dog show and a cat show and you win ribbons for your pet.
CAROL MUELLER

I like the playground because there is always something to do. It keeps your mind occupied. You can play with the other children instead of just sitting home. Every Friday we have a show and we get prizes. It also adds more to play. Every Monday and Wednesday afternoon we have arts and crafts. We take home all of the things that we make. We have ice cream every Wednesday and Friday afternoon. Without the help of Mr. Ruby and Mr. Blahof and a lot of fathers we would not have as nice a playground as we have now.
MYRNA CHESLER

catchy for family-reading. But, if we look only for the good in books, as we should in everything else, we will find something to interest and entertain.

There are so many divers needs to fill and tastes to please that no one book or type of book could possibly please everyone. The following list constitutes a rather varied selection. "The Iron Mistress" by Paul Wellman, "Night at the Vulcan" by Ngalo Marsh, "The Hunter" by James Aldridge, "The Mocking Bird" by Robert Ramsey, "The Sultan's Warrior" by Bates Baldwin, "Talks with Nehru" by Norman Cousins, "U.S.A. the Permanent Revolution" by the Editors of Fortune collaborating with Russell W. Davenport, "Fire in the Rain" by Rev. William A. Doty, and "The Demon's Mirror" by James Wallerstein.

Playhouse to Present "Sally" Starting Monday

A familiar and popular musical play deserves a well-known cast, reasons Director Frank Carrington, and he has selected a group of featured players who have made their mark with Millburn audiences in the past for the new production of Jerome Kern's "Sally" which opens at the Paper Mill Playhouse Monday.

In addition to the Canningham, who plays the title role, Arthur Maxwell and Clarence Nordstrom, all of whom are started, the three top roles following the stars will be taken by Allen Knowles, Janet Brooke and Albert Carroll. Knowles appeared in both "Annie Get Your Gun" and "Up In Central Park" while Miss Brooke is the soprano in "Sweethearts." Carroll who has been appearing in Paper Mill musicals for nine seasons will play two interesting character roles.

Mary Dyer, currently the mother in "Sweethearts," will switch to one of her crusty swagers to play Mrs. Ten Brock in "Sally." John Roland Hogue of Denville will make his first Millburn appearance in two seasons to play "Pops," owner of the restaurant where Nordstrom is a waiter and Miss Canningham a dishwasher. David Tlhamar will be seen as the featured dancer, his first atch Paper Mill role, since 1949. With them in other parts will be Sara O'Neill, William Pearson, Barbara Cavonagh and Nancy Gay. The choreography for the production will again be by Peter Birch who will double for his Broadway dancing role in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." A special dancing group has been added to the usual singing ensemble to enhance the featured ballet sequence of "Sally" which represents a scene in the "Follies." Musical direction will be under the baton of John Charles Sacco.

The American Federation of Labor was organized in Pittsburgh November 15, 1851.

Despite the fact that the best-selling novels are being severely criticized for their alleged failure to raise moral and ethical standards and the admission that, in many instances they override good taste, there is still much to be said in their favor. According to surveys of selected numbers of the most popular novels of the last 50 years, their subject matter is found to have changed perceptibly. Where the main theme in 1905 was a love interest, it is now predominantly historical or deals with social and economic problems of society, psychological adjustments, politics, etc. Realism is the word, but sometimes the results are too

Shoppers Assured of Tie

Rip Braves, 12-3; Need 1 More Win To Gain Pennant

SHEET METAL, INDIANS BATTLE TO DEADLOCK
By DONALD ROSSELET

Assuring itself of at least a tie for first place in the town league, the Regional Shoppe tumbled the Braves, 12-3. The Shoppe rocked Al Hausman for 13 safeties in scoring its tenth victory in 12 outings. The Shoppe tallied once in the first frame. A walk to Chet Searles, Bill Koonz's two-bagger, and Bill Detrick's home run netted the Regionals a lead in the fifth which it never relinquished. Charley Calderaro followed successive singles by Searles, Koonz, and Detrick with a grand-slam home run. A singleton by Calderaro, a double by Dick Pousar, a pass to Searles, and a hit by Carl Post plus a Brave miscue in the final frame added four more runs to the Shoppe total. The Braves scored twice in the fourth on a hit by Al Hector, two Shoppe errors, a walk and a fielder's choice. One final marker for the losers came on Don Eichhorn's home run.

The Indians and Sheet Metal battled to a 2-2 deadlock for eight innings before darkness called a halt. The teams will complete the contest at a later date. Sheet Metal scored on Cliff Smith's double, an error, and Don Schwandt's safety. Two singles by Clyde Royster and O'Hara coupled with an error by Gerry Ferrone gave the Indians two scores.

WINS SALES CONTEST—Michael H. Formichella, president of Eastern Fuel Co., was one of seven General Electric refrigerator dealers in North Jersey to win special honors from the company in a recent sales contest. Mr. Formichella finished first in the State and won $1,000 in prizes offered by GE. He will be the company's guest at the Yankee-Indian ball game Monday, September 17, and will attend a cocktail and steak dinner in New York City after the game with the six other winning dealers and a group of top management personnel from Bridgeport and Bloomfield GE plants. Another honor paid to Mr. Formichella came in the form of a letter from Wm. Rae Crane, senior representative of the northern division of Jersey Central Power & Light Co. The letter said in part: "Please accept my congratulations on again being first in the sale of major appliances among the 74 dealers in this division. You have consistently maintained a high volume of sales during the five years in which records of dealer sales have been kept, and your total sales during these five years is in excess of that shown by any other dealer."
