FRIENDS!!

When Bob Treat submitted his resignation as township clerk after nearly 25 years of service last month little did he realize that his act would cause an unprecedented furor in local Republican ranks. . . . originally it was the opinion of GOP heads that it would be an easy matter to select a replacement candidate. . . . but the weeks rolled by competition for the all-important post became siffer and party leaders found themselves embroiled in a real squabble. . . . first it was thought there would be few, if any, persons who would look for the job. . . . as the situation has shaped up in the past week, however, there are at least a half-dozen individuals who want the position.

One thing we can say about the Republican party in Springfield and that is this. . . . seldom, if ever, has it been able to come out of an internal scrap without irreparable damage. . . . the town clerk letup is no exception. . . . leading candidates for the job have been narrowed down to Mrs. Carolyn Harmon, now acting town clerk, and ex-Mayor Wilbur Selander. . . . Bert Layne is the power behind the female aspirant, while the bulk of the GOP County Committee is pushing Selander. . . . our guess would be Selander. . . . others, still not lost in the shuffle are Mrs. Eleanor Worthington and Bill Jensen.

As usual the Democrats are reported to be sitting by watching Republican fireworks. . . . Harry Monroe, who has given Springfield many of his spare hours in civic enterprises, is said to be the party's leading choice for the clerkship. . . . an answer from both sides should be forthcoming right after Labor Day.

There's going to be some rip roaring things to talk about in Springfield soon if present plans of "Just a plain good for nothing" outsider" materialize. . . . on the receiving end, but good, will one of our famous ex-officials.

They're progressing rapidly on installation of the traffic signal light in front of the post office. . . . shouldn't be too long before we can check that campaign up as successful!

Only another couple of weeks and the vacation season will be over and we'll be getting back into the regular run of news events. . . . the Township Committee, as is its usual practice this time of year, has declared a recess until September 12. . . . when it re-convenes there will be a host of decisions to be made, the most important being the one on the proposed new $10,000,000 apartment development everyone is talking about. . . . the governing body might even come forth with an answer to the study of the Municipal Parking Survey Committee's report nearly a year ago.

As an added reminder to parents, Springfield schools will reopen on Thursday, September 6. . . . bus schedules and registration dates already have appeared in print.

There's another letter to the editor in today's paper regarding the town's overall parking problem which makes plenty of sense.

New School Bids To Be Received

A. B. Anderson, district clerk of the Board of Education, announced yesterday that bids for construction of the new upper-grade school on the Plover tract in South Springfield avenue will be advertised on August 20. They will be received at a special meeting of the school board on September 25.

There will be contracts awarded in five categories: general construction, steel and iron, heating and ventilating, plumbing and electricity. Specifications may be obtained from School Architect Frederick A. Elmsner of Union.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education, scheduled for Tuesday night, was postponed until September 18 because of lack of a quorum.

Business Men Again Knock Parking Ban

Claim Set-Up Hurts Merchants On Morris Ave.

The crescendo of critical comments regarding the Springfield parking situation is on the increase as Warren P. Partelow, an employe of a realty concern, in this week's issue of The Sun urges that changes be made in the "no parking" signs placed on Morris avenue in the business section.

Partelow points out that many persons merely look at the top line of the signs which reads "No Parking." He expresses doubt that many read beyond that point. He observes that as a result many persons, including numerous potential Springfield residents, are forever stalling in to ask if it is all right to park a few minutes when actually it is possible to park for hours.

The reality man suggests that it would be less confusing if the sign read "Parking This Side Between the Hours of such and such and no parking after 2 p.m. Sundays." He points out that in this manner people who do want to patronize Springfield business men will know that there is some form of parking, rather than none at all.

Last week Anthony J. Taddeo, proprietor of the Regional West Shoppe, commenting of Mayor Robert W. Marshall's statement that he believed more stores should be built in Springfield, in a letter in The Sun, pointed out that one store owner had gone bankrupt and others were barely making ends meet since the parking ban had been in effect.

He suggested the governing board worry more about the merchants who pay their taxes to support the municipality than about getting cars home two minutes earlier. He observed that Union-Clinton and Madison provide parking in their business area even at the sacrifice of possible convenience to the motorist. Taddeo pointed out that currently Morris avenue is a speedway since the parking ban was placed in effect. He urged that the township committee awake to the situation affecting the business men of the municipality.

The parking ban which has been in effect for nearly two years has been a subject of bitter controversy. The merchants protested the move when it was first being considered and have never liked the setup, which bans parking on the west side in the early morning and on the east side in the evening.

The ban was placed in effect as a result of an agreement between the governing board and the State Highway Department. . . . Chase Runyon, who then was chief of police, urged the ban as a method for speeding traffic through the township. There is no question, observers agree, that traffic now speeds through the town—and does not stop.

Merchants are in general agreement that business has slumped since the parking ban and they attribute the decrease to the parking situation. They claim shopkeepers go to other towns where they can park. Meanwhile the township committee stands by its guns and behind the parking ban.

Struck By Car, Boy Is Injured

David Zeller, 14 years old, of South Springfield avenue, suffered abrasions of the body, head lacerations and shock last week when he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle in South Springfield avenue near Hillside avenue. He was treated at Overlook Hospital, Summit, and released.

Police said the driver of the car was Sam L. Cantor, 32, of 22 Crestwood drive, Maplewood. He told police the youth tried to cross in front of him.

To See Dodgers Play
Announcement was made this week by the officers of the Springfield Baseball Club that final plans have been completed for next Wednesday's trip to Ebbets' Field, where forty local boys will see the Brooklyn Dodgers meet the Cincinnati Reds. The boys, as well as the men who will accompany them on the trip, will meet at 11 a.m. Wednesday, at the Keebler street entrance to the James Caldwell playground. The officers of the club, who have emptied out the organization's treasury in order to finance the event, have suggested that the boys bring their own lunches.

Safeway To Break Ground Here Soon

Building Inspector Rueben H. Marsh announced yesterday that he had issued a permit to Safeway Stores Inc. for the construction of a super food market to be located on Morris turnpike, west of the Huffman & Boyle furniture company store.

The construction company will be the firm of B. J. Laccarelli & Company of Jersey City, authorities of which told Marsh they expect to break ground for the project within a week.

Cost of the super-market will be approximately $140,000. The building itself will contain 20,000 square feet of floor space, a mezzanine and will be 100 by 200 feet overall.

Dog Owners Warned By Health Board

The Board of Health has warned owners of dogs and vacant lots that they are subject to fines for violation of the township dog ordinance in the first category and to the sanitary code in the other.

The board reminded dog-keepers that they are responsible for a knowledge of provisions of the ordinance which require them to keep their pets on a leash. It was pointed out that there recently have been reported several violations of the measure. Dogs must be tied or kept on leashes, it was said.

Letters are being sent to owners of vacant lots warning that the sanitary code requires rubbish to be removed.

Another requirement is that grass and weeds be kept short as a preventive measure against ragweed and other allergy pollen.

In instances where this regulation has been violated a time limit will be fixed for the correction of abuses. It was reported the board has recently received numerous complaints about dogs running at large as well as criticism of many lots overgrown with weeds.

There have been indications the failure to enforce regulations could have some effect on the November election. In view of the many complaints the action on the part of the Board of Health is understandable. Apparently the health commissioners plan to crack down and this is the first step.

Local Youngsters Join Riding Troop

Five Springfield youngsters have enrolled in the autumn riding course of the Watching Troop, it was announced today by T. N. Tully, director of the Watching Stables, Glenstone avenue, Summit. Organized seventeen years ago, the troops now claim the highest membership in their history with riders from all over Union County and from many of the nearby communities.

The local youngsters who will begin their course on September 7 and participate in the ten-day season at the Union County Park Commission's Watching Stables in Summit are: Luddy Buerklin of 18 Tower drive, Bruce and Charles Heard of 7 Alvin terrace, Gilbert Mann of 11 Alvin terrace, and Richard Glasier of 248 Baltusrol avenue.

Jr Women Clubs Plan Fund Drive

In preparation for its campaign to raise funds for the purchase of a mobile unit to be used by the American Cancer Society as an educational weapon in the fight against cancer, the members of the Junior Department of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs have organized chairman in the various districts of the state under the guidance of Miss Dorothy Weiss of Jersey City, junior public welfare and cancer chairman. Miss Geraldine V. Brown of Keyport, is junior chairman.

Meetings of individual clubs will be attended by the various district chairmen at which the purpose of the mobile unit will be explained. The Junior Women Clubs, at their convention last May, decided to make cancer their project for the year.

Quarry Co. Waits For Tax Ruling

Township Firm Files Appeal On Assessment

The New Jersey Quarry Company still is awaiting a hearing on its 1950 appeal which was filed with the State Tax Board.

This was revealed this week by Mayor F. Edward Bierbaum, president of the Union County Board of Taxation.

The township board of assessors valued the land and building of the firm at $95,400. The personal property was assessed at $87,500. The firm wants the land valuation cut to $79,000 and the personal property reduced to $53,000.

The State board has been considering the company's appeal for many months. There has been no indication when a decision will be rendered. The county tax board upheld the township assessors.

A change in the assessment of the quarry company was made after the township had approved a survey of heavy industry here. The report indicated three companies were being under-assessed. Considerable controversy centered about the survey with the project being pushed by former Township Commissioner George M. Turk.

The governing board finally approved a survey with former Mayor Wilbur M. Selander voting with the Democrats.

Considerable furor attended the report after it finally was submitted. There were indications that the only copy had been placed in the Mayor's safe. For several weeks there were charges and counter charges among members of the township committee and the township board of assessors.

The new assessments finally were made on the basis of the report with the representatives of the industries appearing before the governing board to lodge protests.

County Play Areas To Close Today

Supervised playgrounds in the Union County Park System will close during the next week; however, most of these playgrounds will remain open on an unsupervised basis until early October, reports W. C. Cook, playground supervisor.

Closing dates for the 14 supervised playgrounds under Mr. Cook's supervision are as follows: Squier Island, Rahway; John Russell Wheeler, Linden; Kawamech, Union; Springfield and Roselle. Park will close on August 23 (today) after which the playground equipment will be removed. Green Rock, Plainfield; Cedar Brook, Plainfield; Echo Lake, Mountainside and Westfield; Umi-ki, Garwood; Rahway River, Rahway; and Scotch Plains playground will close tomorrow (August 24). After closing playground equipment will remain and be available on an unsupervised basis.

Warhancos No. 1 and No. 2, Roselle and Elizabeth and Mattano, Elizabeth will close on August 31. Equipment will remain in use on an unsupervised basis in both Warhancos playgrounds. Equipment at Mattano playground, however, will be removed after the closing date.

Annual Horse Show Set For Sept. 23

Officers in charge of the program elected this year include: Chairman, Douglas Bailey of Cranford; Vice-chairman, T. N. Tully of Summit; Treasurer, William Peets of Watchung; and Secretary, F. S. Mathewson of Plainfield.

Ex-Mayor W. M. Selander Seen As Republican Nominee For Post Of Township Clerk On Nov. 6th.

The Lights May Go Out But The Show Goes On

It takes more than a thunder and lightning storm to stop the amateur thespians of Springfield. Last Thursday a talent show was being held in the auditorium of the James Caldwell School when all lights went out during the storm.

More than 250 parents and friends had gathered to see the children who regularly attend township playgrounds, display their talents.

With this gathering present the sponsors resolved that it was going to take more than a lightning bolt to stop the show. Jack Keith, chairman of the recreation commission mounted the stage and urged the audience not to go home.

Then police were called. Sgt. Wilbur Selander dispatched Patrolman George Parsell to the school with a general battery-operated flashlight. These were set up and the show continued. Twenty minutes later power was restored and the show continued.

During the power failure police and fire headquarters continued to function. An auxiliary gasoline generator was used to power lights and radio.

Now everyone knows that in Springfield, as on Broadway, "the show must go on."

Awards Climax '51 Playground Season

The 1951 summer recreation program came to a close last week climaxed by two major annual events.

The talent show held last Thursday evening in the James Caldwell auditorium featured many of last year's performers and several new participants. Among the former were Rosemary Bodnarik, mistress of ceremonies; Gretchen Forbes, Helen Mitznacht, Marie Griffith and Ellen and Janet D'Andrea.

Now acts included a family chorus by the Coan boys, Ed, Richard and Peter, who sang, "Daddy's Little Boy"; several Hawaiian numbers by Billy, Patty and Peggy Haggerty; and singing of "Turkey in the Straw" and "Zip a Dee Doo Da" by Charlotte Bodner, and "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" by Maria and Donald Inemorato.

Among the other performers were Joyce Cramer, Nancy Bishop, Joyce Field, Peter Kent, Barbara Havalta, Carolyn Kordjick, Bruce Goldstein, Lois Hogking, Barry Patterson, John Bradley, Gary Brandell, and Nancy Frey.

The program was interrupted early in the evening when the lights went out because of the storm. During the intermission Guy Selander, a favorite with the audience, played many popular tunes on the piano until flood lights were brought from the fire house.

On Friday morning about 200 young people met at the Regional Athletic Field for the closing picnic. The children brought lunch and were given ice cream and soda provided by the recreation department.

Big event of the afternoon was the awarding of twelve medals to the top three children in each playground. Presented by the Rotary Club, the medals were presented on the basis of points scored during the summer.

Lightning Storm Cuts Town Power

Lightning caused a nineteen-minute interruption of electric service by the Springfield-Summit area during Friday night's storm. The 66,000-volt steel tower transmission line from Jersey Central Power and Light Company's Whippany generating station to the company's Chatham Road Substation in Summit was struck by a bolt at 7:08 P.M., utility officials reported.

One of two transmission circuits between those points was damaged, affecting circuit breaker equipment at the Chatham road switching station, where a small oil fire occurred. The station, which supplies electric power to Springfield, Summit, Millburn, Chatham and other areas, was put out of service at 8:18 P.M. Service was restored at 8:37 o'clock.

Approximately 21,000 customers were affected.

Springfield Boy Hurt In Play Area

Robert Burt, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burt, of 170 Linden avenue, suffered a laceration on the back of his head Tuesday afternoon when he fell from a swing in the Union County park play area near Regional High School. He tumbled into a brook, striking his head on a stone, police reported.

Miss Betty Collins, playground director, sent a boy from the field to Police Headquarters—Patrolman George Parsell, injured to the scene, took the injured boy to Overlook Hospital, Summit, where several sutures were used to close the wound. Mrs. Burt went to the hospital with dry clothes for Robert and took him home after he was treated.

Outlaw Red Alerts On Air Raid Sirens

Civil defense directors in New Jersey were told today that they must not blow red alerts on their air raid warning sirens as noontime tests on Saturdays.

Deputy State Director Thomas S. Dignan, in a bulletin to all municipalities, ordered such practices stopped immediately. He said Saturday tests should be confined to "short blasts of the sirens—just to see that they are working." Any other siren test must be cleared through state headquarters, he ordered.

At the same time, local directors were reminded not to set up local tests of the air-raid communications warning system. Dignan pointed out that several instances had been reported to state headquarters where local directors had initiated tests and red alerts had been relayed from one municipality to another.

He said the only time municipalities are to use the warning network are in drills ordered by state headquarters. Such drills are held at regular intervals.

Moonlight Cruise
Ticket sales are going ahead satisfactorily for the Union County Young Republicans' moonlight cruise up the Hudson River on Friday, September 14. It was slated last evening by Coroner C. Wyllys Cass of Elizabeth, county chairman of the outing. Cass reported increasing demand for tickets, to members of his boat-ride committee yesterday at a meeting held at the Kenilworth Inn. County-wide distribution of the tickets, is handled by the municipal Republican chairman in all 21 municipalities of Union County, assisted by all Republican county committee members and the Young Republican Clubs of Elizabeth, Westfield, Summit and Plainfield.

Observers Forecast Victory In Event He Makes The Run

Indications today are that former Mayor Wilbur M. Selander will be the Republican candidate for township clerk in the November 6 election. Observers, pointing out that he apparently has the inner track for the nomination, already are predicting his election over virtually any Democratic opponent who may oppose him.

Discussing the situation this week with a Sun representative the former chief executive admitted he was interested in the clerk's post. "However, actually it is up to members of the Republican County Committee," he said.

The former Mayor said that he would make the run in the event he is given support by the county committee. "There may be other candidates who are interested and I do not want to cause a split in the local Republican party, he pointed out.

Selander explained that the confusion which now exists in the contracting business has had considerable to do with his decision to run for the clerk's post, assuming he has the support of the county committee. He said that he frequently must travel fifty to seventy-five miles to fulfill contracts. He pointed out that the difficulty in securing materials, also adds to the complexities of his present work.

"Not that there probably won't be plenty of headaches involved in the work of the township clerk, too," the former Mayor said. "However, they will be considerably different than those with which I now am confronted every day and I believe I can handle them."

It is understood that one faction of the party led by Wilbur W. Layne is supporting Mrs. Carolyn Harmon, acting clerk, for the post. However, it is considered doubtful that she will be given the measure of backing which is expected to accrue to the former mayor.

There is little question but what Selander will be familiar with the routine of the clerk. For many years he served as Mayor and during that period he became fully acquainted with all phases of municipal operations. Selander was the first mayor to give up all committee assignments and devote himself exclusively to the duties of township committee chairman. Prior to that he was first department commissioner.

Entering into the consideration of the former mayor for township clerk is the fact that he has served the party for a number of years and has considerable prestige. When the Democrats and Republicans of the four-man township committee failed to re-organize for several days in 1948, it was the former Mayor whom they finally selected as the Mayor and fifth member of the governing board.

It is not believed any other candidate can match Selander either in experience in municipal matters nor in popularity.

On the Democratic side there apparently still has been no action but persons who purport to be in the know say Harry Monroe will be the candidate. He is probably as popular a vote-getter as the Democrats can produce in this Republican municipality.

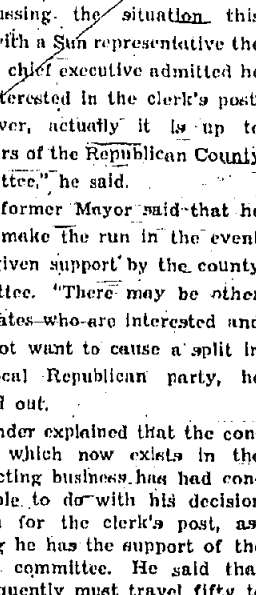

The candidates must be selected forty days before Election. The county committees probably will meet shortly after Labor Day to make their selections.

Capital Four Hurt In Highway Crash

Four Washington men today are recovering from injuries suffered when the car in which they were riding crashed into a lead cable pipe off Road 29 near the Sandler and Worth building early Saturday morning.

Police said the driver, Lawrence Diggs, 39 years old, fell asleep. As he dozed, the car veered from the highway striking the reel, they reported.

The quartet was taken to Overlook Hospital, Summit, in the first aid ambulance. Diggs was treated for a nose laceration. Ellis Dillard, owner of the car, suffered lacerations of the face and arms. Leon Mitchell was detained for X-rays of his legs and torso. McNeal was treated for cuts on the face. Several sutures were taken in the injuries.

Flying Putter Injures Caddy

Bobby Deller, 13-year-old caddy, of Shunpike road, is recovering today in Overlook Hospital, Summit, after being in critical condition for several days. The boy was injured last Thursday when he was struck by a putter at the Baltusrol Golf Club. Police said the putter was swung by another caddy.

Soon after the boy was taken to the hospital an emergency operation was performed. Deller, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deller, had been taken to the hospital by a club member.

Police identified the caddy who inadvertently swung the club as Richard Algood, 40, of Newark. He was practicing 25 feet from Deller when the putter flew out of his hands, according to what he told police.

Country Oakers Ask Zone Freeze

A special meeting of the Country Oakers Association was held last Thursday evening with reference to the proposed new $10,000,000 apartment development which would be located at Melset avenue and Milltown road.

Following considerable discussion on the subject, the group directed that a letter be sent the Township Committee requesting it "freeze" all properties as now zoned for the next three to four months.

Your Library

A vacation in the country usually results in one of two things: either an intense desire to make it last, to buy a farm and live on the land or an equally strong sense of relief to get back to city sights and sounds.

Not many people have the determination or the means to make a change from one manner of life to another, but when it does happen the move is usually of interest to many, especially if written up in an entertaining fashion. There are many such instances, and your library offers the most popular of these when in book form. "Farm Wanted" by Helen Train Hill is the latest of this kind, others include "Country Wife" by Dorothy Van Doren, "Reluctant Farmer" by Elsworth Thane, "Green Mountain Farm" by Elliott Merrick and similar titles. New books recently received include "The Cruel Sea" by Nicholas Monsarrat, "The United" by Carlos P. Romulo, "O, the Bruce Music" by Dorothy Evelyn Smith, "The Father Brown Omnibus" by G. K. Chesterton, "How to Meet a Millionaire" by Doris Lilly, "Doctors are Different" by Dorothy Pierce Walker and a choice of the new mysteries and westerns.

Ten Years Ago

In a fire of unknown origin that burnt a gaping hole in the floor of the Post Office and temporarily overcame three firemen, including Fire Chief Charles Pinkava, the Springfield Fire Department again summoned the aid of Millburn firemen. Seven lines of hose, two from the Millburn company, were necessary to quench the smoky blaze. The fire was the second of great proportion to occur in Springfield in one week. The first occurred at the Union County Coal and Lumber Co. yards on Mountain avenue. Although the lobby floor of the post office collapsed, loss of postal property was slight. William Corby, postal clerk, ran into the office and removed the mail receipts and records while firemen were fighting the blaze in the post office basement where it began.

Youth Development Thru Vocational Agriculture

'Know Your Aggies'
 by Adam P. LaSota

By now you readers have become acquainted with a few of our young students as well as with four of the twelve purposes of the Future Farmers of America. Today I will discuss purpose five. To encourage members in the development of individual farming programs and establishments in farming.

This should be a fairly easy task today, for I have as an example the son of one of the better established poultry farmers of Springfield, Jerry Richelo, of South Springfield ave. Jerry is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. George Richelo. The Richelos have been conducting their poultry farm on South Springfield ave. for more than twenty years and have been doing a fine job of producing eggs and raising their own replacements.

As school opens in the fall Jerry will be a sophomore in the agriculture course. Jerry, of course, has spent all of his life on the farm, but that still did not make him any different from the many thousands of youths who have been reared under similar conditions. By that I mean that he, like many others, has not always had the craving for establishing himself in the farming business. Recently he has become deeply interested and has decided to develop a program of his own along with what his dad is doing.

A boy in such a position makes our job a great deal lighter. You may ask how that is. In a great many instances farm boys are discouraged from developing their own programs because the parents feel that the time the boy spends in his own work is time lost from dad's work. That usually is not true, for if a boy is permitted to work part of a farm on his own, he soon grows to love the farm and all work on the farm becomes a joy rather than a chore.

Now let's get back to Jerry. He began to grow broilers last November and in nearly a year has produced more than 1500 birds for market. Of course, broiler growing is not the only part of Jerry's program. Under the watchful and knowing eye of his dad he is receiving some excellent training in the management of laying and breeding hens as well as preparation and marketing of the poultry products which are on the farm.

Jerry is not the only fortunate lad in Springfield, but he is one of the few. I say "few" because our farms are becoming scarce. However, the boys that we are training at present and will train in the future will be ready to answer the challenge of diminishing farmlands and will be in a position to help the farmers of the nation to continue feeding the growing population of this country.

It is this growing population which is causing the reduction in farm areas and demanding more products from the farmers. That is where we farmers of the Future Farmers fit in. We help and encourage them to develop individual farming programs, become established in farming, and learn the best methods for producing a great deal on what seems to be insignificant acreage.

It is this writer's humble opinion that as long as the Future Farmers of America are in existence the people of America will not go hungry.

"Sally" Starts Second Week

Jerome Kern, a former Newark resident, "arrived" as a top musical composer with the score of "Sally" when it was originally produced by Florenz Ziegfeld on Broadway a quarter of a century ago, and today's audiences are reaffirming the verdict with their approval of Frank Carrington's new production of "Sally" which begins its second week at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn Monday, August 27th.

"Look For Them Silver-Lining" ranks as the greatest of the musical favorites in Kern's score and in the show it is first sung by Ronnie Cunningham and Arthur Maxwell, the stars, and later repeated by Miss Cunningham with Clarence Nordstrom.

However, other top favorites in the show include the title song, "Sally," "Wild Rose" and "Whip-Poor-Will." Maxwell sings the former with the male chorus, while Miss Cunningham gives voice to the second with the ladies choral group. The two stars sing the third as a duet.

Comedy numbers include Nordstrom's solo of "The Schnitz-Komski" and Miss Cunningham's "You Can't Keep A Good Girl Down" which is done with a girls sextette and a group of dancers. Allen Knowles has a singing opportunity in "On With The Dance" while James Davis sings "The Night Time," "Little Church Around The Corner" is a duet by the stars.

Miss Cunningham and David Thim are seen in a number of dance scenes, including the central ballet in the last act. Two comedy dance scenes bring Knowles together with Janet Brooks.

Pressman Weds News Writer At Summit Church

The marriage of Mrs. E. Clinton Longwell of East Orange, widow of E. Clinton Longwell of Philadelphia and daughter of Mrs. Clark E. Taylor of Philadelphia and the late Mr. Taylor, to Eric D. Hedden of Maplewood, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Goff Hedden of Irvington, took place Saturday at 12:30 p.m. at Community Church, Summit.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jacob Trapp, D. D., minister of the church, and was attended only by relatives and close friends. A reception followed at Hotel Suburban.

Mrs. Hedden is on the editorial staff of the Summit Herald and Mr. Hedden is in charge of the Press Room where the Springfield Sun is printed.

Previously Mrs. Hedden was with the Newark Star Ledger and Philadelphia papers. Mr. Hedden formerly was with the Newark Evening News.

The bride was given in marriage by H. Denton Williamson of Philadelphia, a friend of the family. She wore a street-length dress of beige linen, cut with short sleeves and a square neckline. The neckline was outlined with golden-bronze beads which formed a design on the right shoulder. A thin pocket on the skirt carried the same beaded design. Her small off-the-face hat was of brown velvet trimmed with gold-bronze beads. She wore brown gloves and carried a small pocketbook covered with a corsage of tulip roses.

Miss Beatrice K. Arthur of Morristown was the bride's only attendant. She wore a street-length dress of gun-metal shantung trimmed with a pink organically collar and pink pockets encrusted with the gun-metal. A black velvet hat, touched up with pink, and a black velvet bag covered with a corsage of pink roses completed her outfit.

Donald L. Squier of Morristown served as best man and Alfred E. Sironi of Maplewood was usher.

Following a three-week wedding trip to the West Coast and the Grand Canyon, the couple will reside in Maplewood.

KNOW YOUR GOVERNMENT

Hundred Million Dollar Business
 County government, sometimes overshadowed by more sensational developments at the Federal, state and local levels, again is sharing the spotlight of taxpayer attention.

The report, "County Finances," issued annually by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, is being prepared. A pre-publication tabulation shows that the business of county government is approaching the hundred billion dollar level in New Jersey.

The over-all total of expenditure appropriations in the 21 county budgets for 1951 is $98,292,332. Included in these budgets are $86,980,078 of operating expenditures. The operating expenditures are the day-to-day costs of operating the governments, exclusive of capital outlays, and debt payments. For the counties as a whole, during the period 1946 to 1950, this type of expenditure rose slightly more than 44 per cent—from $56,976,000 to $82,198,409.

In reporting the county-by-county totals, the Association noted the necessity of interpreting the comparative figures in the light of local conditions. It was pointed out that a comparatively low percentage of increase might have resulted from unduly high expenditures in the first year covered by the report.

Frequent Cleaning Helps Clothing

Clothing takes a beating from accumulated perspiration at this season of the year. So Miss Inez LaBossier, extension specialist in clothing at Rutgers University, suggests you clean your garments often and regularly if you want to make them wear a long time.

Perspiration is a secretion given off by the many, many glands in our skin," Miss LaBossier points out. "It is mixed with an oily, heavy liquid and cast-off cells of the skin. It becomes contaminated with bacteria on the skin, hair, air and on our clothes. Perspiration is acid when it is first given off by the body, but when mixed with bacteria it becomes alkaline. All this is normal procedure for anyone."

Sterile perspiration is odor-free and has no particular action upon the strength of fabric. It may, however, affect a water-soluble finish on fabric and may also affect some dyes, causing a discoloration or "running" of colors on a printed fabric.

But human perspiration does not remain sterile. Normal human perspiration causes fabrics to rot and lose their strength. Besides, it produces strong odors in the fabric which are often difficult to remove. The color and finish of the fabric are definitely affected. The degree of alkalinity varies with the physical make-up of the individual. The greater the de-

Shoppers Annex Pennant

Humble PBA, 8-5 Gaining 2nd Softball Crown

STRAUSS TOPPLES INDIANS, 11 to 4

By DONALD ROSSELET
Securing its second local softball title in as many tries, the Regional Shoppe mathematically clinched the crown with a win over the PBA. In winning, the Shoppers took two of three from the losers and has now won two from every team in the loop. For the Shoppe, it was the eleventh victory in 13 contests, while the PBA has won six and dropped a like number for a 500 mark, 345 percentage points behind the Shoppe. The defeat lowered the PBA to third place.

The win for the Shoppe was not an easy one. It committed three errors, Bert Jones threw six wild pitches, and backstop Charley Calderaro was charged with a passed ball. The PBA made good on these lapses by the "clumps" for four of its runs. The Shoppe batted around in the first frame, getting three runs, and having the sacks full when Jones popped to shortstop Vin Allert. Regional scored twice more in the second on four PBA errors and a base on balls. A beautifully executed bunt single by Jones, a pass to Calderaro, and a triple by Jerry Applefield netted the winners two more in the third. Applefield and Bob Etzold followed a pass to Calderaro with singles for a final run. "Pop" Detrick drove in two runs for the Shoppe.

The PBA notched a run in the third when Allert singled and Joe Pepe doubled. The losers then collected three runs in the fourth and a single marker in the fifth without the benefit of a safety. Strauss Stores sent an even dozen batters to the plate in a big second inning, garnering eight runs. That was more than enough to beat the Triple, but it went on to bring home an 11-4 victory.

Singles by Tom, Frank Calderaro, and Tony Sostika, coupled with Charley Calderaro's three-bagger and four walks gave Strauss a winning margin. Six passes highlighted a three-run Indian third. The Redmen also picked up a run in the third, while Strauss was scoring once in the third and twice in the fourth.

Highway Safety

By Martin J. Ferber
Director
N. J. Division of Motor Vehicles

One of the most persistent hazards on the road today is the driver who cannot stay in line but must pass every car ahead of him. The result, too often, is a head-on collision and loss of life.

Last year in New Jersey, for example, 5,459 drivers were involved in accidents resulting from driving on the wrong side of the road. These crashes cost 62 lives. In addition, scores of other motorists figured in accidents from passing on a hill, passing on a curve and other improper passing maneuvers.

Overtaking and passing a vehicle ahead is frequently a convenient and necessary driving maneuver, and the only restriction imposed here in the interests of safety. Passing accidents result when drivers try to overtake a vehicle ahead when there is insufficient sight distance or when the driver misjudges the speed and distance of the approaching vehicle. In either case there is no real reason for such chance taking.

The cases usually stem from the impetuosity of a driver when following a slow-moving vehicle or the inability of some motorists to drive in back of another vehicle at the same speed. In the first instance drivers must become convinced that the few seconds to be gained are not justified in relation to the risk of a head-on crash. As for the driver who always wants to be at the head of the line, he must realize that with today's traffic volume there is always someone just ahead and it's impossible to pass everyone. Better stay in line when traffic is moving at a reasonable and uniform speed.

Drivers are contributing to their own safety and to better traveling conditions when they resist that urge to pass unnecessarily.

Here are three thoughts on passing:
1. Never pass near the crest of a hill or on a curve.
2. Never pass when there is any question about the adequacy of sight distance.
3. Never out-drive your vision.
If all drivers in New Jersey remember these rules when it is necessary to pass the vehicle ahead, there would be fewer passing accidents.

Health Hints

By The Medical Society of New Jersey

First Aid in Accidents

First aid is emergency treatment given to an injured or stricken person until the physician arrives. Anyone whose condition is serious enough to require first aid should be given to a physician's care at the earliest possible moment. That is the first point to have clear in mind.

There are certain things that should not be done. After a violent injury, such as results from a fall or from being struck by a car, the patient should not be moved. You may make a serious injury a fatal injury by pushing broken bones into deeper structures or through the skin or by crushing the spinal cord between the fragments of shattered vertebrae. Likewise, it is very dangerous to force fluid down the throat of an unconscious person; he may breathe it into his lungs. It is wise, too, to regard every injury to the head as a serious injury, and every condition which produces unconsciousness as a serious condition. The best that you can do under these circumstances is to keep the patient quiet and comfortable until the doctor comes.

When severe bleeding is present, you must check the flow as quickly as possible. If the blood is flowing in quick spurts, an artery has been cut; if in a steady stream, a vein. Arteries carry blood away from the heart and veins return it to the heart. Therefore bleeding from an artery can usually be stopped by pressure applied between the bleeding spot and the heart. Bleeding from a vein is dealt with by pressure applied near the margin of the wound that is farther from the heart. Where simple thumb pressure upon the vessel as it crosses a bone is not possible or does not avail, a tourniquet is necessary. Any belt, strap, or strip of cloth will do. It should be made only tight enough to stop the flow of blood. It should be loosened every fifteen minutes for a brief period. In areas of the body where a tourniquet cannot be applied, direct pressure on the wound should be used, with as much regard for sterile technique as the situation permits.

First aid requires initiative and competence. Get the procedure clearly in mind; don't hesitate in an emergency to take charge. It is frequently a matter of life and death.
