Worthington and Brown Win; Firehouse Proposal Defeated

Wild Cheers Greet News of Worthington Victory

Madame Clerk (January 1 vintage) and her backers celebrate Mrs. Eleonore Worthington's Election Day victory over former Mayor Wilbur M. Selander, independent, and Gerald Bryson, Democrat. The impromptu celebration took place in the campaign headquarters, Morris and Mountain avenues after election results were announced. In the foreground Mrs. Worthington, her daughter, Mrs. Amy Bandemer, Mrs. Kay Schnell, Police Commissioner Albert G. Binder, Max Sherman, Mrs. Georgia McMullen and other supporters of the winning candidate. (Photo by Swan Studio.)

LISTEN
FRIENDS!

The hoots and howls are all over but the repercussions are still to come... all the flattery that you hear about this having been a very clean campaign is just a load of malarky... If the truth would be known, it was one of the hardest fought local election battles, with no holds barred, in Springfield's history... not only did the Republicans have an internal fight on their hands, but the difference in total votes between the Democratic candidates also proves everything in that party isn't very smooth either... he that is it may, the preliminaries are over and the big battle is yet to come... less than an hour after Tuesday's results were made known talk centered on next year's primary with emphasis being given the phrase, "watch the fur fly then."

We've seen joy expressed by successful candidates for public office many times before, but never in the past have we witnessed the likes of the unrestrained happiness exhibited by Mrs. Eleonore Worthington, successful GOP aspirant for township clerk when she was told of the final count... mother and daughter locked in a fearful embrace and for a moment or so more than a score of well-wishers at Republican campaign headquarters appeared as though they were all ready to break down and cry... two of Mrs. Worthington's most ardent backers, Amy Bandemer and Kay Schnell, seemed to be stricken by the victory in almost the same fashion as the candidate herself... No one will dispute the fact that no pair of women anywhere worked harder to put "their gal" across.

Police Commissioner Al Binder himself was so overjoyed by the outcome that this writer had all he could do to prevent the official from kissing him... and we're glad to have to have to prevent it.

Getting to be a pro in the pudding that our first paragraph doesn't come out of this air, brings to mind the "fey" reception given Plumbing Inspector Arthur Marshall when he walked into Legion Hall, GOP singing headquarters, after it was all over... he, together with son, Bob, mayor of town, and Commissioner Fred Brown, successful again in reelection, were known to have been supporters of Wilbur M. Selander for township clerk... Brown never showed up at the reception and Mrs. Marshall hadn't until the time this reporter left... no, there's no split in GOP ranks in Springfield, just one GOP cavity, that's all!

We do understand that Selander made it his business to congratulate Mrs. Worthington soon after the polls closed.

Now let's look at how Commissioner Walt Baldwin shapes up with the powers that be... there's no doubt in our minds that his firehouse referendum went down to a three-to-one defeat with the help of his "constituents" in the Springfield Republican Club... Baldwin also backed Selander and never showed up at the GOP party which prompts the prediction.

Selander Trails Victor In Bitter Vote Battle

Baldwin Plea Ignored By Town Voters

Township voters Tuesday decisively rejected three referenda, the most emphatic setback being that administered to the project for construction of a $125,000 centralized firehouse. Also beaten in the local taxpayers' apparent fury over the barrage of referenda which have been presented to them in the past year, were the $15,000,000 State bond issue for improvement of state's teachers colleges and the additional appropriation for the county park system. Both projects were approved in county totals.

Springfield was the only municipality to reject the teachers college bond issue. It shared the distinction with Plainfield of being one of the two to fail to give approval to the park system appropriation.

The firehouse was lost despite a plea made by Fire Commissioner Walter W. Baldwin who said a centralized building was needed to give better fire protection and to house equipment which now is stationed in private garages. Fire department members issued a comprehensive analysis backing his program.

The township's answer was to defeat the project by an overwhelming margin in every district. The final vote was 1,364 opposed and 446 in favor. The margin of defeat was nearly three to one in each district and in the fourth was more than four to one.

Louis W. Pignolet, secretary and director of the Citizens League, reported today that unauthorized posters had been sent to voters stating the organization was urging a "no" vote on the measure. The card said: "The firehouse if and when erected, can be constructed at a lower cost on township-owned property at a town-ship cost to the home owners of Springfield, Guard your tax dollar—vote 'No' on the firehouse referendum."

How important this card was in the final decision is a question. However, it is obvious the unsigned communication was read by many voters. Pignolet said that he will demand a full investigation of "this most regrettable occurrence."

Apparently Commissioner Baldwin was not supported by his Republican organization which scored triumphs for Mrs. Eleonore Worthington and Fred A. Brown. The decisive vote indicated that all factions, Republican and Democratic, rejected his plea for the firehouse.

The county park appropriation was given similar treatment. It, too, was beaten in every district and the total found 1,009 negative votes to 624 for the measure.

Only the State measure for teachers' colleges improvements came close to winning approval. The margin of defeat was seventy-five votes. The final tally was 884 to 809. The referendum was approved in the second district and carried in the fourth by two votes. It was beaten in the other four districts.

G.O.P. Incumbent Defeats H.S. Glenn

Road Commissioner Fred A. Brown swept to an easy victory in Tuesday's election to gain reelection to the Township Committee over his Democratic opponent, H. Stanley Glenn. The contest was featured by the absence of a familiar name, George M. Turk, a perennial Democratic candidate, who has been both successful and unsuccessful at the polls. Turk did not seek office this year since he now holds the post of acting postmaster.

Glenn, receiving the nominal minority vote registered by the Democrats in an off-year election, failed to take a single district. His total was 638 as Brown, with 1,624 votes, defeated him by a margin of 2 1/2 to one.

The final result was not surprising. Brown, as usual, virtually wages his own campaign and the party worked more in Mrs. Worthington's behalf than for him. But with his personal organization functioning in good shape the veteran governing board member had no trouble.

He even found the organization had failed to secure challenger's badges for him. As a result he had to go to the Courthouse to get them. The organization apparently was not pleased with Brown's open support of former Mayor Wilbur M. Selander in his campaign for township clerk. However, as is his custom, Brown paid little attention to the group and openly campaigned with Selander.

Brown had more than 300 votes in the fifth district and Glenn was beaten decisively in every district. The victor has been a member of the governing board for more than two decades.

Ex-Mayor Loses By 105 Ballots

Mrs. Eleonore Worthington will be inducted January 1 as the township's first elected municipal clerk following her victory by 105 votes in Tuesday's election over Selander Mayor Wilbur M. Selander. In the battle between the G. O. P. feminine candidate and the former chief executive the contest swept beyond party lines with Gerald Bryson, Democratic candidate, apparently losing some of his party votes to Republicans.

Observers who predicted a close contest between Mrs. Worthington and Selander obviously had the right dope. A change in fifty-three votes would have given victory to the former mayor. However, that close vote was no surprise to a municipality which has even seen a tie vote in recent years.

Apparently Mrs. Worthington's designation by the Republican Municipal Committee was the deciding factor. Selander, campaigning as an independent, came closer to victory than any independent nominee in the township's history. But his bid for the clerk's job, despite the hard work of a smooth-functioning organization, fell short.

One of the peculiar features of the election found both Mrs. Worthington and Selander losing in their home districts. The former mayor received only 114 votes in the third, where he lives, while Mrs. Worthington had 180. In the first, home of the winning candidate, Mrs. Worthington had 142 to Selander's 173. Selander also carried the fifth with Mrs. Worthington winning in the other four.

One fact is apparent. So potent were the campaigns waged by Mrs. Worthington and Selander that they apparently garnered approximately 150 Democratic votes. Bryson received approximately 150 fewer votes than did his Stanley Glenn, Democratic township committee candidate.

The total of Mrs. Worthington's was 1,008 as compared with 903 for Selander and 488 for Bryson.

If Mrs. Carolyn Harmon, acting township clerk, makes good her promise, she will vacate the clerk's office on December 31. That means a new clerk will be functioning at the new election meeting in Town Hall.

Mrs. Worthington's term is for three years. If she is reelected she will have tenure.

The clerk's vacancy was caused by the resignation of Robert D. Trent who held the post twenty-five years. Mrs. Harmon was named acting clerk until the end of the year.

The township committee split in the contest. Mayor Robert W. Marshall, Road Commissioner Fred A. Brown and Fire Commissioner Walter W. Baldwin supported Selander and Finance Commissioner Fred A. Hancock and Police Commissioner Albert G. Binder were behind Mrs. Worthington.

Halsey Blasts School Critics

Labeled by Supervising Principal Warren W. Halsey as a "vicious and misleading report replete with errors," a compendium criticizing the expansion program of the Regional Board of Education was distributed this week by the Steering Committee for Regional High School Development.

The group urges a negative vote on the Springfield school extension project and on the condemnation of land for the agricultural building and requests an affirmative vote on acquisition of the Mountain side tract.

The steering committee claimed that the present Regional Board plans are inadequate for immediate development of the second school should be pushed for 1953 or sooner and stated it will remain active after the voting to insure voter education of any new plans and assist the board in their development.

The claim is made that present student enrollment is 448—4 per cent more than the board's figures when plotted into future Regional classes. Asserting that the population increased 70 per cent in the 1940-50 decade as compared with a Regional enrollment increase of 4 per cent, the report claims that most of the people are young families and that there will be more children.

The contention of the group is that a second school is needed as (Continued on page 4)

Regional District to Vote On Big Expansion Program

Hundreds of voters in the six municipalities of the Regional School District will go to the polls Tuesday to vote on a $1,450,000 expansion program. The project includes an addition to the present building located off Plover avenue for $1,400,000 and purchase of a site for a new school in Mountainside for $50,000.

Indications are that ultimately, if the school enrollment increases sufficiently, a school will be built in Mountainside. It probably would accommodate students in Berkeley by Clark Township.

This week a statement was issued by the trustees of the Regional Board of Education, a board presided by a group consisting of Commissioner Richard N. Southgate of Berkeley Heights, chairman of the planning committee, Supervising Principal Warren W. Halsey and Fred A. Bissener, board architect, defending the program.

It was pointed out that the plans were set up after consultation with State educational officials and following eight months of study of population trends. Several possibilities of constructing new buildings were discarded in favor of the Springfield addition, it was said.

The statement pointed out that the building here originally was designed by the architect to be expanded for increased enrollment as needed. This factor is important in the face of the current scarcity of materials; it was said.

Facilities which would have to be duplicated in a new building and their costs are: cafeteria, $75,000; auditorium, $125,000; health office, $30,000; teachers' rooms, library, $30,000; development of twenty acres of the forty-acre tract including utilities, grading, athletic field, paving of roads, walks and parking area, $100,000.

Two Local Firms Win State Awards

Two Springfield firms were among 83 commercial and industrial establishments located throughout the New Jersey Highway System to be declared winners in the State Garden Club's annual Highway Beautification survey, according to an announcement by Mrs. Chester Schomp, president of the club. They were Doggett-Pfeil Co., located on Morris turnpike, near the Summit line, and Smith & Smith, Suburban, funeral establishment, Morris avenue opposite Marjorie avenue. The former firm has won the award five consecutive years, while this is Smith & Smith's third consecutive win.

Representatives of each establishment received citation awards at reception and presentation ceremonies held at the Johnson & Johnson Research Center, North Brunswick, last week.

All commercial and business establishments were eligible to participate in the survey included in the survey included.

Highway Traffic Jammed by Crash

An automobile proceeding against oncoming traffic on the eastbound lane of Route 29, caused traffic to jam on Hillside avenue Tuesday afternoon. Traffic was tied up for almost an hour. The wrong-way driver stopped, but left before he could be identified.

A gasoline spill on the highway, but fire was averted, police said. No one was injured, although two cars were towed from the scene.

Police listed the drivers of the damaged vehicles as Florence D. Nordoff of 421 West Seventh street, Plainfield, and George Westcott of 27 Church street, High Bridge.

Legion Endorses Regional Plan

Continental Post 228, American Legion, has unanimously endorsed the expansion program of the Regional Board of Education.

The action was taken at a recent post meeting after Regional School Commissioner William Melick presented facts concerning the needs of the school. Supervising Principal Warren W. Halsey, a member of the post, urged legionnaires to assist in getting out voters to support the program.

The action was taken on motion of Magistrate Henry C. McMullen, another post member. Commander Herbert Quinton presided.

TRUCK CO. FINED FOR OVERLOADING

The Villa Construction Company of Westfield was fined $200 by Magistrate Henry C. McMullen in Municipal Court Monday night on a charge of operating an overloaded truck.

Other fines imposed were: Blaine E. Babcock, 586 Selma street, fined $10 for failure to keep right; Mrs. Mettilda A. De Gennaro, 2100 Algonquin avenue, Union, stop street violation, $5; Francis McCormick, 37 Birchfield avenue, Cranford, passing school bus, $13; John H. Norwalk, North Plainfield, speeding, $10.

N. Y. MAN BREAKS TRAFFIC SIGNAL

Eric Doring, 38 years old, of 17 Erving street, Sayville, N. Y., was fined $13 for careless driving by Magistrate Henry C. McMullen in a special session of Municipal Court Sunday. Police said his car launched over the traffic light station in the late at Morris and Plover avenues.

Doring told Patrolman Daniel Madding that he was blinded by the sun. Damage was estimated at approximately $300 for replacement of the traffic light and repair of the car.

Local Man Struck At PO Crossing

Howard M. Crowell, 45 years old, of 32 Salter street, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg Friday night when he was struck by a car at Morris avenue and Salter street. Authorities today at Overlook Hospital, Summit, where he was taken, said his condition is good.

Police said Crowell was struck by a car operated west on Morris avenue by William H. Hall, 44, of Sussex avenue, Morristown. He had been attempting to cross Morris avenue when the accident occurred, they reported.

The local man was taken to the hospital in the First Aid Squad ambulance.

Rotary Favors Expansion Plan

Approval of the expansion program of the Regional Board of Education at its recent meeting was signified by the Springfield Rotary Club Tuesday afternoon when the club adopted a resolution in favor of the project.

Club members witnessed a film on the regional school plan and its advantages in consolidation, and then voted on the question.

It was announced by Kenneth E. Bandauer, president, that the local club finished first in attendance during October among all clubs in the district, with a percentage of 98.67, losing out only by less than a percentage point.

Next week's meeting will be combined with the Millburn Rotary at its luncheon session in the Chanticleer.

Overlook Hospital Prepares for Free Diabetes Tests

The third annual diabetes detection drive will be held the week of November 11-17. As in previous years, the Overlook Hospital staff heartily endorses this drive which is sponsored also by the Union County Medical Society and the New Jersey State Medical Society.

Free testing of urine specimens for sugar has again been arranged at Overlook Hospital with the cooperation of Arthur W. Smith, director, and Dr. George Erdman, in charge of the hospital laboratory. Specimens will be accepted from any resident of the communities served by Overlook at the laboratory between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, and between 9 a.m. and 12 noon on Saturday during the week-of-the-drive.

Each resident must put his name, address and the name of his doctor on a label pasted to the bottle. One or two canines is sufficient and, for best results, the specimen should be passed one to three hours after a full meal which includes a generous amount of starch and sweets.

Negative tests will not be reported, and tests showing sugar will be reported only to the doctor. A positive test does not necessarily mean diabetes, but does indicate the need of additional tests for proper evaluation.

Other Methods Suggested

If other methods for testing specimens are preferred, an inexpensive testing kit with simple instructions can be bought at the drug store, or specimens may be sent to the family doctor or to the medical department of the resident's employer.

Diabetes still ranks eighth in the list of causes of death. The American Diabetes Association, however, encouragingly reports that it is the only major chronic disease for which there is a sure means of control. Serious complications of the disease are more likely to be avoided when it is detected early and kept under proper control.

The purpose of the detection drive is to discover the estimated one million unknown cases of diabetes, of which about 33,000 such cases are believed to be in New Jersey. The doctors of the Overlook Hospital staff recommend that every resident of the area take advantage of the free test offer this year and every year, especially if he is not feeling "up to par," is over forty, overweight, or if there is a history of diabetes in his family.

Talent Night for "Follies" Slated for November 14

Selection of a cast of 200 for the annual Overlook Hospital Women's Auxiliary "Follies" will be made at a talent night party at the Hotel Suburban on Wednesday, November 14 at 8:15 p.m.

Mrs. John M. Blackmar and Mrs. C. Boyson Keeney, Jr., of Summit are talent co-chairmen with assisting committees. They stated yesterday that more than 300 amateur performers from the areas served by the Hospital have expressed a desire for parts in the show.

William Latta, a staff director of the Jerome R. Cargill Productions of New York, will stage and produce the revue. He will be present on "talent night" to audition persons for the singing, dancing and skit numbers. Rehearsals will start shortly.

"Amateur show business can be fun for all," was the comment Mr. Latta made this week.

Mr. Latta, who for the past 15 years has directed nonprofessional productions in almost every state in the country, is particularly known for his song writing which he began during his college years.

Before joining Cargill Productions, he was under option to Warner Brothers in Hollywood for any music he might write.

Director of last year's "Follies," Mr. Latta will be remembered for the show's hit tune "Paris Is Paris" which, with many others, he contributed to the fun-filled revue.

Questions & Answers on Civil Defense

By LEONARD DREYFUSS
State Civil Defense Director
(No. 10 in a Series)

Q—How does a person know if he harbor under water. The most likely means of attack, however, is by air.

Q—Will enemy bombers be able to get past our fighter defenses? A—If the enemy presses a skillful attack with vigor and determination, it is almost certain that some aircraft will get to their targets to release their atomic bombs.

Q—Won't radar be able to let us know if enemy aircraft are attacking? A—Not always. Radar has blind spots. Since it can only operate in a straight line, a low-flying aircraft can sometimes escape detection. That's why aircraft spotter are vitally needed to supplement the radar warning network.

Q—Shouldn't we turn off our pilot lights in stores to minimize the danger of fire? A—No. Leave your pilot light alone. If necessary, your local utility company will turn off gas through a master valve.

Q—What do I do if I'm driving and hear the Red Alert? A—Stop your car quickly at the curb. Don't block intersections or emergency driveways, though. Leave your keys in the car and get to a shelter fast.

Q—What if a sneak attack occurs when I'm driving? A—You'll have to act fast and coordinate your movements. It means diving for the seat or floorboards, while yanking the emergency brake at the same time.

Q—What do I do if I am in a bus or trolley when the alert sounds? A—The driver will stop at the nearest corner and let the passengers out. Get to the nearest shelter.

Q—What if I am nowhere near a shelter when the alert sounds? A—Look around you. Many buildings will be designated as shelters.

Q—How does a person know if there is no immediate way of telling. The first signs are usually shock and nausea, taking place in a few hours. If a very severe dose of radiation is absorbed, these symptoms may occur within an hour. However, these same symptoms can be caused by shock, unpleasant sights and fears; and do not necessarily indicate radiation sickness. If an individual has reason to believe he has been exposed to dangerous radiation, he should get to a medical aid post or hospital for an immediate check.

Q—I have heard that eye cataracts developed among Japanese survivors of the atomic bombings. Is this true? A—Yes. These cases were the first evidence of delayed effects of the atomic bombings. Examination of about 1,000 persons, most of whom were within a half-mile of ground zero when the bomb exploded, led to the discovery of 40 certain cases of radiation cataract, and an additional 40 suspected cases.

Q—What about the disgusting scars we have seen in pictures? Are they a result of radiation? A—No. There has been a high incidence of keloids, or overgrowths in the scars from thermal burns. Japanese exposed to the fire bombings at Tokyo and other cities also showed a high incidence of these keloids, which are apparently a racial trait in all cases of severe burns.

Q—Didn't the atomic bombing of Hiroshima destroy more city area than any other single attack? A—Surprisingly enough, no. Many conventional bombings of Japanese and German cities devastated much greater areas. The attack of May 23, 1945, on Tokyo "wiped out" some 16 square miles, while only some five square miles of Hiroshima were totally devastated, and some 13 square miles hit hard. The Tokyo raid of March 9-10, 1945, killed an estimated 110,000 people, destroyed 16 square miles of the city, injured millions and made them homeless.

Q—How many ways can the enemy deliver an atomic bomb? A—He has several means at his disposal. These include heavy bombers and bombs could be left by belly harbors by ship with timed fuses to set them off many hours after they have been left in the shelters. Get to these. Otherwise, make for the strongest-looking building near you. If possible, get to the basement, otherwise stay near the center of the structure—and keep out of line with the windows.

Q—What do I do if I'm in my apartment when the alert sounds? A—You should already know the designated shelters near your home. If there are none, make for the basement immediately. If that is filled, stay as close to the center of the building, as near the ground floor as possible.

Q—What do I do in my own home if the alert sounds? A—Quickly turn out all fires in your house — fireplaces, stoves, open gas ranges, etc. LEAVE YOUR MAIN ELECTRIC FUSE BOX AND GAS RANGE PILOT LIGHT ALONE. If you have an oil burner, turn it off. Turn off all water faucets. Close your doors and windows—but do not lock—and then get to your home or shelter area of your home. If there are several members of the family, they should already know how to do these things together so that they can be done in the shortest possible time.

Know Your Government

By N. J. Taxpayers Association

PRACTICAL AID FOR THE TAXPAYER

Taxpayers today are receiving more so than ever before. Feeling the brunt of rapidly increasing taxation, they want to know where the money's going. They recognize the national danger when government takes too much of the national income. They are watching "take home" pay.

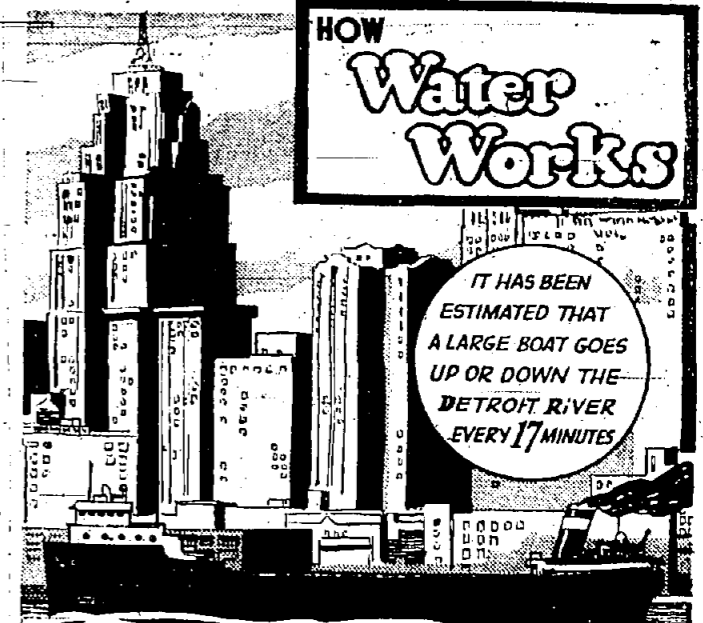

Where, says the taxpayer, is the limit? With controls being imposed upon wages and prices, why not a ceiling on spending by government?

Therefore, taxpayers want economy, and increasingly they are willing to work for it. They recognize too, that their efforts must be applied to every level of government. This includes the county, which while spending less per capita than municipalities and school districts, and the State or the Federal government, nevertheless is siphoning nearly $100 million yearly from the New Jersey taxpayer's pocketbook. Furthermore, county spending, like the spending of other governments, is increasing.

So that the taxpayer can exert his influence on this spending, the New Jersey Taxpayers Association has just issued "Understanding the County Budget," another of a series of practical aids toward better and less costly government.

This publication opens the door to an understanding of county operations, by outlining the county budget, where item by item, are listed all of the different types of expenditures that the county

Budget is prepared for the use of the taxpayer who wishes to give greater expression to his ability to control the cost of county government, and to the growing number of taxpayers and other citizens organizations that today are carrying on systematic study of county operations and finance.

Six Mayors Back Expansion Program

The Mayors of the six supporting Regional School District municipalities today endorsed the expansion plans of the Regional Board of Education.

Mayor Robert W. Marshall of this township said "I approve of the Regional Board's plan to add to the Springfield building. My opinion is based on the findings and recommendations of the Regional Board of Education who are best qualified to determine public needs and to serve the best interests of the taxpayer."

Mayor Joseph A. C. Komich, of Mountaineer, said "I endorse the expansion plan of the Regional Board of Education. It is the best plan under the circumstances to meet the needs at this time."

Mayor Charles M. Monie, of newly-named Berkeley Heights, said "As chairman of the township committee I wish to advise that I highly endorse the expansion plan of the Regional Board."

Mayor L. Thomas Durb, of Garwood, said he has no objection to the board's expansion plan. Mayor Leon E. Hubler, of Clark, has endorsed it. Mayor Fred P. Usher, president of that borough's Council, approved the plan but expressed objection to purchase of the Mountaineer site. They have no objection however. It was said, in a site in Fairbairn for future expansion.

Pledge $46,000 For New School

The total amount pledged to date in the fund-raising drive of St. James Catholic Church for construction of a $700,000 combination church and school building is $46,000, it was announced today by the Rev. John Mahon, assistant pastor.

Father Mahon said the figure showed the drive is slightly ahead of schedule. Tentatively the fund-raising campaign is slated to end November 18. The quota for the drive is $125,000. The diocese will finance the remainder through a mortgage, it was said.

A meeting of nearly 100 congregations will be held tonight (Thursday) in the basement of the rectory. At that time it is hoped reports may indicate that the total has reached as much as $50,000.

A large thermometer church has been erected on the church lawn. Each day it will be changed to apprise members of the parish of the progress the fund-raising drive is attaining.

Although the campaign is scheduled to be completed November 18 it was indicated the date may be extended if results are not as favorable as originally anticipated.

There's A Reason One reason why automobile company test drivers are more careful than average motorists is that they often are driving experimental vehicles worth more than $75,000.

ing for the first time motels and farm enterprises. Main purpose of the contest, which is completing its fifth year of awarding citations, is to promote and encourage civic interest in roadside beautification. The program has been noted for its effectiveness in the fact that each year more and more in the awards.

All candidates who received 85 per cent or more on the point basis were also checked for conformity to governmental regulations which included number, width and grade of driveways, absence of encroachments on highway right-of-way, absence of fire hazards and the observance of the State's Sanitary Code.

Assisting the Garden Club members, who conducted the survey throughout most of the summer, were the cooperating agencies of the State Highway Department, State Department of Agriculture, State Department of Conservation and Economic Development, State Department of Education, State Department of Health, State Motor Vehicle Department, State Chamber of Commerce, the New Jersey Roadside Council and the Citizens' Committee for the Relief of Traffic Congestion.

That Man's Here; Get Your Can Out

The garbage situation (like a lot of other things in Springfield) currently is strictly snafu! For the benefit of non-ex-Gis snafu is "situation normal—all fouled up."

Peter Rosello and Sons, the scavenger firm which services the township, has announced that collections are being made on Mondays and Thursdays for this area: "Everything east of Springfield avenue and Mountain avenue to Shunpike road, including South Springfield avenue, Cambridge terrace, Molsed avenue to Evergreen avenue east to Union Township line."

Collections on Wednesdays and Saturdays will be in this area, everything south of the Rahway Valley Railroad but not including Mountain avenue to Shunpike road; from Shunpike to the Mountaineer line; Springfield avenue to Evergreen avenue, including all side streets and State Highway 26. If you don't have your can out at the right time it will still be full! Figure that one out.

From Jensen

Editor, Sun: Now that the campaign is over, it is right and proper that the congratulations and good wishes go to the victors. Though 23 votes would have meant a victory to Selander, Springfield voters decided to elect Mrs. Worthington and we congratulate her and wish her luck in her Township Clerk position beginning January 1st.

As campaign manager I really received lots of support and proved that the Republican Party need not be split when there are differences of opinion.

It is good to note that Fred "Springfield" Brown went over with the usual large support.

Keeping Posted

Editor, Sun: Thanks a million for sending me a copy of the Springfield Sun every week. I assure you it is greatly appreciated. Although I am never as current on the news as the folks in Springfield, it still is mighty fine to read the good old home town paper.

It has been more than interesting to read about the pre-election doings in Springfield, and judging by them the election should be rather warmly contested. My ballot arrived here in fine fashion some time ago, has been accomplished and should be in the County Clerk's office as I write this letter to you now. As you well know, I am not at liberty to voice any opinion but I am hoping that the outcome is in keeping with my restricted thoughts.

Thanks again for keeping me posted on the news of Springfield by means of the Sun.

Mrs. Mae Busch

The pupils of Mrs. Busch's class would like to thank Mrs. James, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Taylor and our class teacher, Mrs. Thurber, for the candy and cookies we enjoyed at our class Halloween party. The candy was supplied by Mrs. Taylor's mother and all we enjoyed, sang songs and a few skits and skits.

Mrs. Had and Mrs. Bonhard brought in Halloween surprise packages for each of us in Mrs. Thurber's class. Eddie and Helene had helped their mother with the packages and they for the P. M. session. A pretty dancing act, Ann Taylor, who played the most beautiful piano, Gretchen Forbes, an Indian Skit with her Popover on her back and the most beautiful original. We liked Elaine Bonhard's little B. P. and Billie Bore's B. P. very much.

Mrs. Alice Rieg, A. M.

Mrs. Claire, Hoopman, P. M.

We had a nice Halloween party. Party Bandoneer, Doris Klenzel, Carol Jensen, Joan Newman, Alice Roberts, Doreen Wiley, and Alice Gensowicz brought cup cakes, or cookies from home. We had tea cream, too. Everyone had nice costumes, and Mrs. Rieg had fun guessing who we were. We drew pictures of our friends in their costumes.

All last week during recess time our class had the best entertainment. Charlotte Gill, Barbara Smith, and Judy Grosswiesche each brought in a book and read it to the class. We then showed us the colored illustrations. "Angus and the Cat" was the name of Charlotte Gill's book. Barbara brought in "I Like White", and Judy's story was called "Susan's New Store".

Star speller in our weekly word race were: Anna Blomberg, Barbara Brown, Josephine Gensowicz, Doreen Wiley, Doreen Wiley, Judy Grosswiesche, Doreen Wiley, Richard Gensowicz, Martha Schwartz, Della Sperting, Leslie Woods, Nancy Worthman and Diane Yeager.

The members of Mrs. Parkhurst's class are glad to welcome Mrs. Kryger. She came to us from Bettsford, Holland, and is learning our language very rapidly. At our Halloween party she sang a song for us in Dutch.

When Mrs. Thurf showed us the flags of the United Nations which the Hobby Club had made, she asked them to point out her flag. She pointed out the flag of the United States, which made us all feel very happy.

Our vacation has been planned and is being up to our expectations. Billy Franklin and Edward Cardinal did the piece of work on it.

We are looking forward to more experiments performed by pupils of the class.

We think our Halloween party was one of the finest. Bruce Golden's mother, who is our classroom mother, was in charge of refreshments. Richard Niedermeyer's mother baked decorated cookies for all of us. Several parents contributed cider, candy and other things. We had a relay race picture contest with booklets. Nearly everyone in our class wore a costume.

During our Halloween party the members of our class put on an entertaining television program. Among the top performers were: Charlotte Bodner, tap dancer; Lance Taylor, soloist and comedian; Myrtle Franklin and Betty Jane Christmas, soloists. Refreshments were served, names were played and a good time was had by all.

Pat Blomberg, Carol Marano and Haroldine Schwartz have had a perfect record in spelling.
