2 Regional Bd. Members File In Reelection Bid

William Melick, Bert Bertolamy Again Seek Seats

Two members of the Regional Board of Education have filed for reelection; a third has declined to seek another term and indications are that a fourth municipality will have a new representative.

Bertram J. Bertolamy, of Garwood, board president, announced last week that he will seek another three-year term. He has been a member of the board for the past six years. He also served as a member of the local school board in his home municipality until a year ago.

There has been no indication as to whether he will have opposition. However, in view of the constantly tumultuous political situation in Garwood it would not be surprising if he is involved in a contest.

The other board member who will seek reelection is Commissioner William J. Melick of this township. He is not expected to have opposition. There appears to be more interest among Springfield residents in seats on the local school board than in being the township representative on the Regional board.

Indications at press time were that Gordon Faulkner, of 294 McMane avenue, Berkeley Heights, also will file a petition. He will be seeking election to the seat currently held by Richard N. Southgate, board vice-president, who has resigned effectively with the February meeting. If elected Faulkner will be the third Berkeley Heights resident to serve on the board. Southgate was preceded by Joseph Mulholland, original president of the board, who served for a number of years.

There has been no certainty that Faulkner will not have opposition. However, residents of Berkeley Heights point out there has never been a Regional contest there in the history of the municipality. The unexpired term is for one year.

The third vacancy for a full term will be in Kenilworth where Commissioner Joseph M. Benintente has indicated he will not seek reelection. He has stressed the pressure of private business.

In view of the difficulty of getting men from Kenilworth to serve on the board it has been indicated in some quarters that consideration has been given to urging a woman to seek the post. However, nothing definite has been done along this line, it is understood.

The Regional election is scheduled for February 10, one week prior to other school elections.

Operating Costs In Cardinal Case

The increased costs of operation of the Regional High School will be reflected in an increase of $64,000 in the 1953-54 budget. This was revealed with announcement of the tentative budget presented last week at the monthly session of the Board of Education. The new budget is $617,301.

School board officials observed that costs to taxpayers of Springfield, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Berkeley Heights and Mountainside, however, will drop several cents on a $100 valuation.

This was explained by the fact that the amount to be raised by taxation shows an increase of only $31,765. It was pointed out that $25,500 in unexpected balances in the current budget is available.

Mrs. Helen Smith, district clerk, said a $5,000,000 increase in rates in the sending communities, will result in the tax rate for Regional dropping from $1.02 to $1.02.

One of the increases is listed in the salary bracket for teachers. Provisions here is made for five additional teachers. These will be absorbed in providing for increasing enrollments and for operation of a 21-room addition some time next year. There also is a proposed upward revision of the teachers' salary guide.

The hearing on the budget will be held in the school library on Tuesday, January 20 at 8 p.m. The board has accepted the resignation of Miss Margaret Overton, an English teacher. Miss Shirley Frechner, of Short Hills, was engaged as a replacement effective January 5. She will receive $27,000.

Bertram J. Bertolamy, of Garwood, board president, presided.

Dr. Kaufman Will Address Women

Dr. Jerome G. Kaufman, well-known internist and cardiologist and former president of the New Jersey Heart Association, will address members of the Springfield Woman's Club, on Wednesday evening, January 7, at the James Caldwell School.

Dr. Kaufman has been practicing in Newark since 1927, and is medical director at the UOHS Home for Cardiac Children. He is also assistant professor of radiology at the New York Medical College, attending physician at the Newark Beth Israel Hospital and attending physician at the Newark City Hospital. Doctor and Mrs. Kaufman are new residents of Springfield and reside at the Short Hills Village Apartments.

A film entitled "Guard Your Heart" will be shown, through the courtesy of the New Jersey Heart Association, followed by a question and answer period.

Happy New Year
May the New Year bring you every promise of good health and happiness... and leave you with each promise richly fulfilled.

May each day unfold new opportunities for warm friendship and solid achievement... and each month be a milestone in your steady forward march to better things.

Township Board Will Re-Elect Mayor Marshall

Set Early Hearing For Cardinal Case

A hearing of charges preferred against Tax Assessor Frank Cardinal who was suspended from his post late in October has been scheduled for Wednesday, January 7 in Town Hall. It was learned today prior to the reorganization session of the governing board.

Cardinal was removed from his post pending a hearing by the governing board after a Route 29 resident had made charges against him. The exact nature of the charges never was made public.

The suspension was ordered a short period before Election Day. As a result Cardinal insisted that the action was a political maneuver. If his charge was true, it apparently backfired for the two Republican candidates, Finance Commissioner Fred A. Handville and Charles Remlinger, defeated their two principal adversaries, running as independent candidates, by only 200 votes in this heavily G. O. P. community.

Cardinal's counsel, former Township Attorney Robert F. Darby, following the suspension, asserted the governing board legally was not empowered to suspend the tax assessor.

It is understood that Cardinal will be given the choice of a public or private hearing.

Reports are to the effect that Cardinal may launch a suit against the person who filed charges or possibly against governing board members.

In the event he is exonerated, he will receive retroactive pay.

It is understood the township committee has received no report on the case by the Union County prosecutor. His office investigated all phases of the complaint, it was reported.

Chas. Remlinger To Be Named Fire Chairman

Mayor Robert W. Marshall is scheduled to be re-elected chief executive when the township committee reorganizes at 11 A.M. today, it has been learned. It will be his sixth year as Mayor.

The post of fire commissioner, formerly held by Walter W. Baldwin, will be assigned to Charles Remlinger, who will be inducted for a three-year term.

Other committee assignments are scheduled to be retained by the three remaining commissioners, Fred A. Brown will retain the road chairmanship; Albert G.

Mayor Robert Marshall

Finley, the police commissioner, and Fred A. Handville will keep the finance commissioner's post.

Handville also is scheduled to be elected president of the Board of Health, replacing Baldwin, it was learned.

Others who are scheduled for reappointment are Township Attorney Max Sherman; Plumbing Inspector and Sanitarian Arthur L. Marshall; Building Inspector Rouben Marsh and Township Treasurer Norris Alton.

The only likely changes, it was learned, will be in the make-up of the Recreation Commission, the Planning Board and the Zoning Board of Adjustment. Currently all three of these boards have hold-over members. Indications are, it was said, that some of them will not be retained.

No radical changes are anticipated either at the reorganization session of the governing board nor at the Board of Health session. Mrs. Eleonora Worthington, who will be replacing her second year as township clerk, again will be named secretary of the Board of Health.

Today's meeting will be in marked contrast to that of January 1, 1952. On that occasion three job-holders, Township Treasurer Floyd W. Mellette Jr., Welfare Director Harry Burt and Township Attorney Robert F. Darby, were ousted and replaced by the present occupants of those posts.

And most assuredly the organization session will not be like that of January 2, 1947 when two Democrats and two Republicans wrangled for six hours and failed to elect a fifth member, and also failed to reorganize the governing board. None of the newsmen who received paid overtime pay checks for that session are not expected to be present today.

Blue and Gray Soldiers Buried In Cemetery Here

By JUDY FEINS

A confederate flag waves over one grave in Springfield's Presbyterian Cemetery. The rebel banner marks the final resting place of Elias Bryant Poole, who fought against his brother and the North during the Civil War.

Elias was a Springfield boy and he moved to the South. There he became an example of the frenzy of the War Between the States; that of turning one's own family into an enemy. Evidently Elias further exemplified his adopted land, because he honestly believed in their cause, attaining the rank of Lieutenant in the Virginia Light Artillery.

The other brother was not as spectacular. William Clinton was recruited into Company H, Third Regiment of the New Jersey Volunteers during 1864. He was transferred to the Fifteenth Volunteer Regiment on May 20 of that same year.

The highest rating he earned was that of private before being mustered out on June 4, 1865, in camp near Washington, D.C., by the General Orders of the Army of the Potomac.

Furnished by the State under the call of the President of the United States for 3000 men, issued on July 1, 1862, the Fifteenth saw action throughout the war. It entered the conflict on August 29, 1862, numbering 928. The Fifteenth fought in the Battle of Proctor's Creek on December 13, and in its initial year in the service.

Two Firefighters Hurt at Blaze

Two firemen are recovering from injuries suffered Friday while fighting a fire which damaged the living room in the two-story home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hahn, 23 Marion avenue.

The injured fire fighters are Ormond Mesker, 43, who suffered a laceration of the left hand and Frank Bolger who was overcome by smoke. Mesker was treated at Overlook Hospital, Summit, and Bolger was treated by the Springfield-Rescue Squad.

Damage to the living room was estimated at $3,000. A defective lamp cord under a rug was listed as the cause. A booster line was used to extinguish the blaze. Fire Chief Charles Schilling said that firemen found one end of the living room blazing with a sofa, rug and the floor in flames.

HS Dept. Gives Food To Needy

Pioneer Chapter of the Future Farmers of America at Regional High School last week completed its annual Christmas collection of food for needy families.

Under supervision of Adam LaSota, agriculture director, and John Cummings, instructor, thirty members of the group collected more than 500 pounds of canned food and fresh vegetables. The food was contributed by the school students.

Police and welfare officials aided in distribution of the collection in the form of six large food baskets to families in Springfield, Garwood, Clark, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Berkeley Heights. The project has been essayed each year by the group.

Newark Man Held On Assault Charge

Harold Slink, 49 years old, of 606 Springfield avenue, Newark, was held in $500 bail Friday by Magistrate Henry C. McMullen in a special session of Municipal Court on a charge of atrocious assault and battery.

Slink, who police say is a kitchen helper at the Baltusrol Golf Club, was arrested Wednesday night in a Morris Avenue tavern by Patrolmen Ivy Haberle and John Ehlers.

Police said Slink used a chair and a table to attack Walter and Justina Pasch, proprietors of the tavern. They said both of them suffered multiple abrasions and lacerations.

Township Observes Quiet Christmas

Christmas was observed last week in traditional fashion in the township with thousands of persons remaining at home and with scores of others attending church services. Many watched special services on their television screens.

Midnight mass was celebrated at St. James R. C. Church. Several hundred were present. More than 400 young persons attended the special candlelight services at the Methodist Church.

Christmas Day also was observed quietly here with most of the residents, apparently remaining at home to enjoy the day with their children. Vehicular traffic was at a minimum indicating that people in other municipalities also stayed home.

Numerous sections of the municipality were attractively decorated with Christmas lights, electrical Santa Claus and other holiday designs. Among the most attractive were those of Short Hills Village.

Also a matter of pride with the community were the decorations of Town Hall. These were paid for by the Volunteer Firemen who decorated the building. The group also decorated the Municipal Christmas Tree on the lawn of Town Hall.

Newark Woman Injured in Crash

Miss Ann Blunno, 44 years old, of 43 Finlay place, Newark, suffered lacerations and abrasions Saturday when the car in which she was riding was in collision with another vehicle at Maple and Morris avenues.

The Newark woman was treated at East Orange General Hospital. Police said she was riding in a car operated by a neighbor, John T. Mason, 72, of 85 Finlay place. Mrs. Blunno, E. Fox, 48, of Astoria, L. I., was the driver of the other car.

Clayton R. Test Navy Specialist

NEWPORT, R. I.—Among the 114 enlisted men receiving Supply Corps, Civil Engineer Corps or specialist commissions here today after a two-month indoctrination course at the Navy's only Officer Candidate School was Clayton R. Test, son of Clayton Test, of 26 Oakland avenue, Springfield.

After a brief leave, the newly commissioned officers will undergo further training in their specialty before being assigned permanent duty stations.

Graduates of the indoctrination course received their diplomas in a dual ceremony along with 777 graduates of the school's four-month training program for candidates for line officers commissions.

House Plans By Chirgotis Printed In National Book

A number of attractive designs for modern homes, including ranch houses and split level homes are listed in a nationally circulated book, "New Homes," published by Know-How Books. The book features a number of house plans, all by William Chirgotis, of 188 Short Hills avenue, an architect who designed Short Hills Village, General Greene Village and a number of other well known developments. Currently he is considered one of the country's leading architects.

The magazine shows plans for ranch houses, ranches, new split-level homes, Cape Cod bungalows and a number of other attractive styles from Chirgotis' drawing book.

This magazine contains information on blueprints, data on specifications, costs and adjustments to meet the potential home owner's individual tastes.

Among the foremost architects, Chirgotis has had plans appear in national-wide publications through newsmagazine services such as the Associated Press.

A graduate of Newark College of Engineering and Pratt Institute, Chirgotis is a member of the American Institute of Architects, as well as of the National Council of Architectural Registration and the New Jersey Society of Architects. He is also a member of the New Jersey Real Estate Board for whom he designed their "House of the Year."

William Chirgotis

pictured has been built in states ranging from Ohio to California. The book contains a wealth of interesting and attractive ideas for home building, with blueprints immediately available for everyone.

School Reopening Set For Jan. 7

It was announced today by Benjamin F. Newswanger, Superintendent of Schools, that approximately 400 students will enter the new Florence M. Gaudinier School when it opens its doors for the first time for school purposes next Wednesday, January 7.

The original date for reopening the Springfield schools after the holidays was Monday, January 5. The change in date was by action of the Board of Education to make certain that the many changes necessary in each school building could be effectively be made. The entire staff in all schools will be working to this end on Monday and Tuesday, January 5 and 6.

All children are already familiar with their new locations. They have visited their new rooms. The students of the Gaudinier School have toured the new building and have been assigned lockers. Their books and materials have been deposited in the lockers preparatory to the opening day.

Regional Concert Draws Big Crowd

Nearly 700 parents from the six municipalities, including Springfield, which support the Regional High School, attended the students' Christmas program held in the school auditorium last week. The presentation featured vocal groups under the direction of Mrs. Lenore Kogan, music teacher. She received a gift from the students in appreciation of her work in preparing the program.

A choir of ninety-five voices sang carols. Solo parts were sung by Miss Dawn Gullford, Miss Henrietta Bollenhoff, Miss Eleanor Drechsler, Miss Sally Turveon, Miss Avis Nenninger and Miss Michel Doherty.

Boys who had solo parts were Bruce Hyldahl, Carl Honecker, Jack Kopp and John Kraus. Piano solos were by Miss Betty Heselmann and Miss Pauline Kubowitz. The organ—Giannatasio and Miss Paul Wagner—also had special roles.

PAY COURT FINES

Twenty-eight motorists paid fines totaling $141 imposed last week by Magistrate Henry C. McMullen in Municipal Court. The group included: David E. Ober, 1116 Boulevard, Westfield, no driver's license, $4; Linar W. Nielson, 12 Pine Ridge drive, Summit, speeding, $7 and Lawrence E. Zempel, no muffler, $8.

There's An Extra Turkey Leg But No One Is Getting It!!

There's good tidings for all lovers of drumsticks. Yep, it's a three-legged turkey.

This creature, certain to be a greater attraction than the newly developed full breasted type of bird, currently is in the possession of Camio Casajo, 24 years old, of 128 Springfield avenue, a former student at Regional High School and a graduate of the College of Agriculture, Rutgers University.

Casajo started with eighteen turkeys eight years ago while he was a student at Regional. Now he raises about 2,500 each year but this is his first experience with the three legged variety.

Casajo bought the special turkey from a hatchery last Spring and since then has watched with interest as the gobbler developed. The third leg, the non-functioning one, grows out of the normal right leg. It has only two toes.

The turkey developer pointed out that a third wing tip also is beginning to grow out of the left wing.

Adam La Sota, agriculture director at Regional, said he never has seen a turkey like it. He said it is the result of a genetic mixup similar to such an oddity as a two-headed calf.

At least it's a break for the turkey. His owner has decided to keep him as a pet rather than converting him into a holiday dinner.

Look as if no one is going to get that extra drumstick.

Governors Tackle $3 Billion "Handout"

The governors of New Jersey, South Carolina, Wisconsin, Connecticut, Arizona, Kentucky and Michigan, will meet in Washington January 21 for a session which may have significance for taxpayers throughout the United States.

The New Jersey Taxpayers Association, through its committee on Federal Affairs, reviewed the problem and recommended a comprehensive Congressional study of the 40 major grants programs.

New Jersey's Governor Driscoll, who called the Washington meeting as chairman of the Governors' Conference committee, frequently has warned of a basic problem involved in grants-in-aid at all levels of government.

Bruno Walter to Lead Symphony

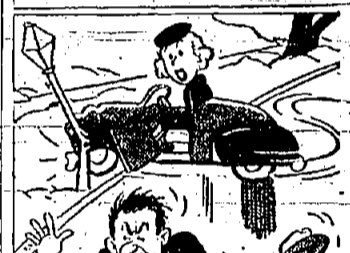

One of the outstanding contemporary conductors, Bruno Walter, will be on the podium when the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra plays at the Mosque Theater, Newark, on Tuesday night, January 6, in the second of this season's symphony concerts of the Griffith Music Foundation.

Long associated with that orchestra as guest conductor and as musical adviser, Dr. Walter has arranged a program which will open with Weber's "Der Freischutz" Overture and will be followed by Mozart's G minor Symphony, No. 40 (K. 550) and the Richard Strauss tone poem, "Don Juan," Opus 20. The last half of the program will be devoted to the Brahms D major Symphony, Opus 78.

The placid, sunnier moods of the Brahms second symphony will be found in sharp contrast to the Strauss work and should lend emphasis to the versatility of this program by the Philharmonic-Symphony under the baton of its eminent guest conductor.

Sports In The Sun

By DONALD ROSSELEY

In Retrospect

The Yuletide season annually brings a lull in the scholastic sports ranks and this year it caps daffy, interesting 365 days.

The upsets and surprises in the schoolboy world were a dime a dozen. Many teams, on the verge of a championship, found the carpet pulled from beneath them by a hitherto unknown, while other teams, on the verge of despair, rose up to become giant killers and walked away with titles.

Quite possibly, the triumph of Thomas Jefferson High of Elizabeth in the State Group IV basketball tournament was the top surprise. The Jeffs, who dropped regular-season games, came down the home stretch like a ball of fire and outclassed all comers in the State Jamboree, Union County's monopolists, incidentally, captured three of the six titles awarded by the New Jersey State Inter-scholastic Athletic Association. Besides Jefferson, St. Mary's (Elizabeth) and Roselle Park attained crowns in the Catholic Class-B and Group II divisions, respectively.

As usual, basketball provides the biggest sports news, locally, and the regular season and the Union County Conference cage tourney were no exception. St. Mary's, rated number two in the county, outplayed an unseeded Linden five, which had eliminated top-seeded Plainfield in an early round, in the final and won by 48-34.

Three undefeated teams marked a most successful football campaign, except for the financial situation, which saw most schools finish in the red. This matter is becoming grave, for the county schools depend on football to draw enough revenue to pay the cost of promoting the other sports. A drop in grid receipts will hurt the rest of the program proportionately.

Plainfield, Rahway, and Pingry (Elizabeth) finished the season with perfect pigskin standards and the first two named gained sectional titles with Cranford. The Queen City eleven won in Group 4, the Scarlets in Group 3, and the Blues in Group 2. Mill Campbell, Plainfield's ace ball-carrier, broke two UC records with his 23 touchdowns and 140-point total.

Rahway, capturing the Union County Conference and sectional Group 3 crowns, had the best success in the baseball world, but Roselle Park challenged with a sectional Group 2 title.

Pitching, said to be 90 per cent of baseball, played a dominating part in county circles. The outstanding district hurlers were Bob Thwaites of Roselle, Don Kern of Cranford, George Wermann of Union, Don Brogan of Hillside, and Christy Malo of Linden. The catching array once again was top-notch in UC. George Lewis of Rahway, Charlie Schaffernoth of Roselle, Ken Thomas of Roselle Park, and Bob Breidt of Linden were the stickouts in the receiving department.

For the first time in two years, a county team did not take the Greater Newark Tournament championship, property of Linden in 1951 and Rahway in 1950.

Three-county wrestlers were crowned-champs in the State wrestling tourney. They were Jack Heiss of Roselle Park in the 106-pound class, Harvey Kirby of Rahway in the 123-pound division and Tom Thompson of Rahway in the 141-pound ranks. In the county tournament, Tony Olivieri of Jefferson at 115-pounds and Baron Thompson of Union at 157-pounds were surprise winners. Roselle Park successfully defended its Union County grappling championship.

Mill Campbell, Plainfield's Olympic ace who finished second to Bob Mathias in the grueling 10-event decathlon at Helsinki, was the outstanding man in track. He won the low and high hurdles in the county and also holds the UC record in both those events. Jefferson won the county title.

And so the county sports scene goes... with its upsets and surprises, its winners and losers, its champs and chumps!... Happy New Year!

Summit Girl Set to Save College Winter Carnival

Miss Jean d'Este of 851 Springfield Avenue, heads the "No-Snow Committee" for the 22nd annual Middlebury College winter carnival, February 19-21.

Jean, a junior, is responsible for planning substitute activities should the weather fail to produce either ice or snow. An entire emergency program of games, songs, hikes, and dances is set up by this No-Snow Committee. Not since 1940 has old man weather failed to produce the necessary weather for skiing and skating events, but the alternate program is ready just in case.

The 1953 carnival will feature the Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Association championships, with Middlebury the defending champion. The leading women's ski teams in the East will compete for the carnival title, held by Middlebury's women for seven straight years. Other features of winter carnival include a hockey game, a basketball game, carnival play, formal ball and coronation of the queen, ice show, informal Klondike Rush dance, skiers' banquet, and numerous fraternal dances and buffet suppers.

Cool-growing plants such as primula, geranium, cyclamen, pansy, and others prefer a temperature between 60 and 70 degrees F and kept free from drafts. Christmas chery and pom-pom plants have gayly colored fruits which add a touch of beauty but do not stay that way very long in the average home. Christmas begonias are usually the most popular gift plants and tolerate a warmer temperature than the above. There will also be plenty of foliage plants find their way into the home as Christmas gifts. They should remain for a number of years with normal attention.

Plants that are not of a woody nature seldom should be saved, once they have ceased blooming, as they soon drop their leaves and become straggly looking. Folioles, cyclamen and others require conditions that are not found in the usual home and it seldom pays to keep them after their first period of usefulness is over.

Cagers Entertain Elizabeth Tech School 5 Tuesday

With Mike Fortuna and Justin Lukostus returning from the team which edged Regional last year by 54-52, Thomas Edison's (Elizabeth) basketball team will invade the Bulldog gym Tuesday afternoon, meeting the locals at 3:15 p.m.

Lukostus has been the standout of the Tech School's quintet, to date, but Charlie Savicki also has helped the Yellow Jackets with his scoring.

The Edison five has expressed tough luck to date in losing several ball games by close margins. The Bulldogs rate slight favorites, mainly on the strength of the impressive showing against Rahway last Tuesday evening. Regional clipped the Scarlets, 52-47.

The victory was Regional's first in Big Five Conference play. The Bulldogs had lost to Plainfield earlier in the year for their only BFC loss.

Judd Herman and George MacKenzie, a pair of Kenilworth lads who have done more than half of Regional's court-sooting to date, offset a 26-point performance by Rahway's Joe Cygler with a joint 30-point production, as the Bulldogs turned back the Scarlets at Rahway last Tuesday night. Herman earned 20 points, running his team-leading total to 66 points, and MacKenzie threw in 10.

The Bulldogs took a 9-1 first period advantage on the strength of free throws. Herman netted 10 points in the second quarter as the locals increased the margin to 19, 23-13.

Cygler tallied 14 markers as the home side improved in the second half, outscored Regional by five in the last two quarters.

Rahway had a 18-14 edge in floor shots, but the Bulldogs margin came at the free throw line where they plied up a 24-11 advantage.

The gift plants received for Christmas, especially the flowering types, do not last too long in the house after being brought to perfection by the grower. If one wants the plants to adjust themselves to the hot and dry environment of their new home such essential factors as watering, feeding, temperature and humidity must be given thought.

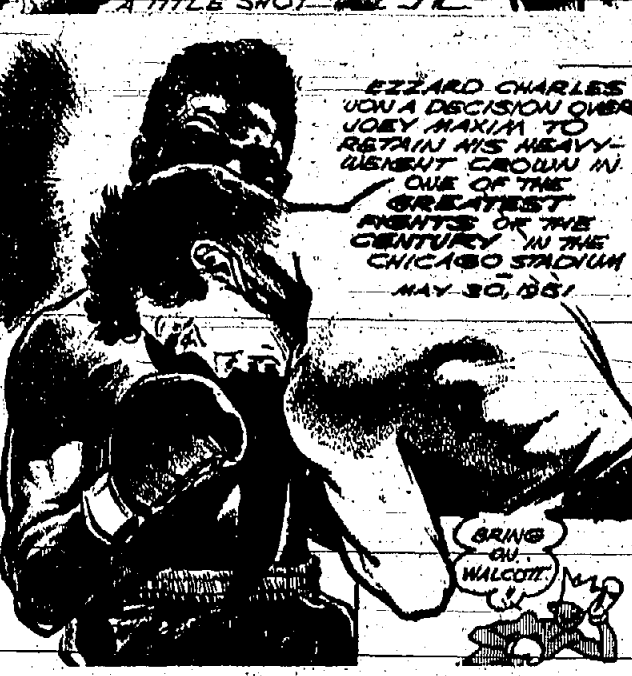

Flowering plants need a location where they get a lot of sunshine, except of course, Saint Paulia, African-violet. Christmas flowering plants have been grown in a greenhouse, where they have had exposure to light. To place the plants behind curtains and drapes or an mantle and tables, away from the sun causes a reduction in the light and has an adverse effect upon them. During the day one can pull or pin the curtains back. Then the light will allow the leaves to stay green and remain on the plant longer.

In the greenhouse, Christmas flowering plants have been growing and have been watered regularly. Besides seeing that the plants have sufficient moisture, put a layer of sphagnum or peat moss on a plate and set the pot on it. By keeping the moss wet, the humidity around the plants will be slightly higher. Greenhouses have a high humidity quite different from that in the average home.

Cool-growing plants such as primula, geranium, cyclamen, pansy, and others prefer a temperature between 60 and 70 degrees F and kept free from drafts. Christmas chery and pom-pom plants have gayly colored fruits which add a touch of beauty but do not stay that way very long in the average home. Grapplers Host To Queen City Crew Wednesday

Regional's wrestling team, with a 27-11 win over St. Benedict's Prep already under its belt, faces Plainfield here next Wednesday afternoon starting at 3:15 o'clock. The Bulldog grapplers, expecting to put together an excellent record this year under Coach Dave Pavlin, will be making their second appearance in a season

Bulldog Juniors Tackle Rahway

Tom Luckie and Petr Witkowski paced Regional's junior varsity basketball team to a 49-36 victory over Rahway last Tuesday night in Spantown. The Bulldog stars each picked up 13 points.

The triumph was the jayvees' third in four games. Bob Arthur with 12 points, Luckie with 12, and Ray Reiff with 10 paved the way for the Bulldogs in a 69-69 victory over Hillside on December 10.

Luckie posted 14 markers, Fred Buehner 11, and Arthur 10 as the locals rolled past Hillside, 49-41 on December 12.
