Regional Paper Gets News Award

ON THE SUNNY SIDE

BATTEN DOWN THE HATCHES! MAN THE LIFE BOATS!

There's an old wives' tale where the question is asked, "Does your roof leak?" and the accepted Joe Miller's Joke book retort is, "Only when it rains!"

Which leads us right into our topic—the important part "rain" may again play in the coming Township elections. Of course, it appears like stretching the idea a bit that "rain" could have any bearing on the outcome of a Township Committee contest but if the flooded conditions, as experienced by a great number of residents after last week-end rains, continue, it wouldn't surprise anybody that things may happen in the sheltered confines of the voting booth.

An aroused group pounded their wet and muddied feet into the Township meeting room just before last year's elections to protest against the apparent indifference and neglect on the part of somebody in eliminating a deplorable condition which has not improved even after a year of engineering conferences and proposals.

Last Sunday's heavy rains, racing and cascading over the spillways of water swollen back yards into the cellars, has again stirred up home-owners especially in the Hawthorn and Henshaw avenue sections. They are organizing to march on to the Town-Hall and demand some relief. Their plight should get immediate action from somebody—whether it be the township committee or the county.

We have no way of knowing the answers—but the developer, the contractor who had to deal with Springfield authorities in building those homes in the Henshaw and Hawthorn avenue section might even, at this late date have some responsibility in the matter and should be compelled to cure these conditions if it is caused by improper draining or some faulty construction.

There is one case where the home is built below the street or sewer grading—we don't know which except that the developer blames the Springfield engineer and the town engineer says it is the contractor's mistake. Anyway—this particular house has an indoor swimming pool throughout most of the year with 'drainage' greenish covered water filling the low part of the cellar. It becomes so serious at one time that the owner sent in a frantic call to the Township authorities and a pump was employed to keep the rising waters from spreading to other parts of the home.

Flood conditions aren't limited just for the Henshaw and Hawthorn avenue sections. Residents of other parts of Springfield—those in the Battle Hill and Washington avenue area—have some warped pieces of furniture to show for last Sunday's heavy rain.

We will admit that it was a very heavy rain and this month may go on the record as the wettest March in history. In the first fifteen days, there was 6.06 inches of rainfall which was only .34 of an inch below the record high for the month—7.9 inches in 1876. And it seemed as though most of this record rainfall could be found in the backyards and cellars of those aroused citizens in the Hawthorn avenue area.

If we have sunny weather right before election—then, just like the chap with the leaky roof, everything will be quiet. But, if it happens to rain and the back yards begin to look like Jones Beach, they had better come rushing with their pumps and buckets. There's no fury like a home owner with wet and muddied galoshes.

THAT'S HOW POLITICAL PARTIES ARE BORN

William S. Quinlan who wields a very articulate typewriter and knows whereof he speaks gives us another lesson in political history in the very interesting letter printed below. The first paragraph starts off with the promise of some atom bombing but it cools off in the second and then levels off into a very fine dissertation on how political parties are born. We would like to see Mr. Quinlan really aroused in front of a typewriter; that would make some real reading.

Here's Mr. Quinlan's letter:

Your issue of March 12 carried, on page one, two news articles referring to "splinter parties" in a derogatory way. It is safe to infer that the motive in each case is to induce voter opposition to any aspirant for office who does not choose to use the regular party machinery.

Without "splinter parties" the political history of the United States would not be the thrilling story that it is. Let us first examine the origins of the two important parties of our time.

The "Republican Party" was the name applied to the group organized by Thomas Jefferson, patron saint of present day Democrats. Later it was called the "Democratic Republican" party and then the "Democratic Party."

The Republican party we know today originated in the 1850's, being composed of splinters of the Democratic and Whig Parties, supported by groups from the Free Soil Party, the Abolitionists and the Know-Nothing Party.

Serious cleavages have occurred throughout its century of history, the most important perhaps being that of 1912 when Theodore Roosevelt became the leader of the Progressive or "Bull Moose" party.

The Democratic Party was not thus officially labeled until two years after Jefferson's death. It, too, has a long history of dissension, cleavage, and factional disputes that have, on many occasions, produced parties within the party.

One great display of Democratic dissension came in the 1928 presidential election. History repeats with instances of splinter movements in other fields of human endeavor; the cause is always the same—the unquenchable spirit of man driving him to seek change and progress.

WE MUST NOT assume that OUR great political parties cannot disappear. In England the Liberal Party was formed in 1832, and in its one hundred years of service to Britain and the Empire produced great leaders, among them being Palmerston, William Ewart Gladstone ("The Grand Old Man" of English politics) and David Lloyd George. For many reasons, chief among which was the advent of the Labour Party, the Liberal Party began a steady decline and was gasping for breath in the 1945 elections. In 1951 this once great organization won only six of six hundred twenty-four seats in Parliament. For good or evil a similar fate probably awaits one of our large political groups if and when the powerful labor aggregations unite their efforts in the field of government.

The great leaders who brought forth this nation were men of faith, of vision, men great in mind and spirit, and above all they were INDEPENDENT men. The Springfield candidates who are seeking office independently are to be congratulated; let them take courage in re-reading our history. They will discover that they are in good company.

Yours truly, William S. Quinlan, 174 S. Springfield Ave.

WHY EVERYBODY'S VOTE IS IMPORTANT

Here is something printed in a Catholic paper from Huntington, Ind., called "Our Sunday Visitor."

One of the favorite excuses advanced by many citizens just before an election for not exercising their wonderful privilege of the free and unfettered ballot is, "My one little vote won't matter, so why should I bother?"

The only "bother" connected with voting in this country is the occasional necessity of standing in line for a brief period or making a short journey from home to the voting place.

However, the important point to bear in mind is that your "one little vote" really does matter. Coupled with those of other citizens, it can provide the numerical means of cleansing local, state or national government of incompetent, corrupt and other undesirable officeholders. And just as important to remember is the fact that one little vote does count—sometimes it has changed the course of American history. To illustrate:

It was a single vote which gave statehood to California, Oregon, Texas, Idaho and the state of Washington. It was a single vote in House of Representatives that made it possible for Selective Service Act of World War 2 to become a law. Three Presidents of the United States: Rutherford B. Hayes, John Quincy Adams and Thomas Jefferson were elected to the highest office in the land by the margin of one electoral vote.

When it comes time to vote in your community, whether the issues be national, state or local in nature, here are some thoughts to keep in mind: Freedom is everybody's job and you do yours when you vote. Unless we all exercise our right to vote, democracy will get flabby. Bad officials are elected by good citizens who do not vote. Your vote is the mainspring of democracy—Use it to keep this land ticking.

EASTER SEALS AND YOU

When you receive in the mail, sometimes before Easter, those postage stamp sized little seals of deep blue, imprinted with a pure white lily and a bright yellow bow, you will no doubt, say to yourself: "These are good—because they help crippled children and handicapped adults." And you probably will put your dollars

Chamber Seeks Bid to Parley

The Springfield Chamber of Commerce has asked Mayor Robert W. Marshall that it be permitted to send representatives to the meeting of eight municipalities scheduled to discuss traffic and parking along Route 24. The chamber also asked that a date be set for the proposed meeting between its board of directors and the township committee.

The Chamber also has pointed out that a survey of seven municipalities reveals the township committee was the largest municipal donor towards Christmas decorations sponsored by various Chambers of Commerce. The township paid approximately 19 per cent of the total cost. Of the seven municipalities polled, four made no payments.

Plans are being made for a chamber dinner to take place after Easter. Dr. Henry Mulhauser and Joseph Focht head the arrangements committee.

Rigby Blasts

I wonder why an attempt was made to create an Industrial Survey Committee. Do you think maybe it was to create jobs for political hacks?

I wonder why the political boss found it necessary to try to crank down the throats of the Republicans of this county a candidate for governor when he knew full well there were better qualified candidates for this position right here in Union County.

The record accomplished by the Board of Freeholders while I was a member, reflected to the best interests of the county, and if you are interested in returning that sort of administration, you will go to the polls on April 21 and vote for Lee S. Rigby.

A number of other county candidates addressed the group. Local candidates who spoke included Mayor Robert W. Marshall, Police Commissioner Albert G. Binder and Eugene F. Donnelly, the third candidate for G.O.P. nomination for the township committee.

New Measure Rules School Aid Problem Faces Legislators

Additional State School Aid will be a major problem facing New Jersey lawmakers when the State Legislature reconvenes in Trenton next Monday after a long vacation. Bearing the endorsement of numerous statewide organizations, including farm, labor, professional, and lay groups, bills already introduced would increase substantially the state's contribution to education.

State School Aid legislation now before the legislators comes as the result of the study and recommendations made by the State School Aid Commission. In its final report, released in the spring of 1952, the Commission recommended $80 million in additional state school aid.

The main State School Aid bill, S-128, sponsored by Senator Anthony J. Cafiero, Wildwood, would revise the present Peace Act by increasing foundation programs which allot state aid on a per-pupil arrangement. Increased state school aid could be used by the state's districts to provide greatly needed new facilities, meet other increased school costs, or in some instances, to reduce property taxes. Overall net effect of the increased aid would be to hold property taxes at present levels.

Companion measures introduced by Senator Cafiero deal with additional school aid as a "bonus" for contributions, funds for special citizenship classes, and repealers to cancel certain existing provisions which would be replaced by the proposed main School Aid measure.

Senate Bill S-196, sponsored by Senator David S. Van Alstyne, Jr., Bergen County, would set up an Emergency School Building Aid Commission to provide State grants to districts unable to finance their own school building needs.

It is the main school aid measure, however, which will be debated at greatest length. Legislative report that mall concerning school aid has been unusually heavy since release of the Commission's report last spring. ### County Park Commission Issues Report

More applications for employment with the Union County Park Commission were received during 1952 than in any previous year since 1941. However, trained and experienced help particularly for summer employment in the recreational field remained critically short, the 1952 annual report of Personnel and Safety Director J. K. Coleman, shows.

Applications for work with the Park Commission last year totaled 545 for an increase of 156 over the previous year. Of the total applicants, 252 received employment of from one day to several months while nine others were retained on a permanent basis to replace 21 park workers, who by retirement,

Foreign military personnel from Sweden, Yugoslavia, China, Korea, Brazil, Portugal, Iran, Iraq, England, Norway, and Formosa gather to hear about American home building at the March 12 meeting of the Home Builders Association.

Foreign Military Leaders Meet Members of Home Builders Assn.

Military men from 11 foreign countries were the guests of the Home Builders Association of Metropolitan New Jersey at their last monthly dinner meeting held March 12 at the Echo-Lanes in Mountainside.

These officers, representatives of all the free countries of the world are, in this country, to study, absorb and to bring back to their respective countries, the story of American democracy and the American way of life.

Henry Grabarz, Springfield builder of 231 Balfour avenue and Chairman of the Program Committee, arranged for the visitors, now stationed at Fort Monmouth, to attend this meeting.

In contrast to recent years, the average age of park employees increased in 1952 from 47 to 45 years of age. At the same time more than half of the park workers have been with the Commission 10 or more years and one out of every three have 20 or more years of service.

The number of occupational injuries among park employees decreased in 1952 as did the cost and days lost from accidents. Most notable is the decrease in the number of accidents resulting in time lost from work which totaled three as compared to 12 for the previous year. Actual work days lost from these accidents amounted to a mere 14 as compared to the five year average of 170. There were no injuries resulting in Workers Compensation benefits during 1952.

Only two automobile accidents were recorded against equipment used on park work during the year which traveled 553,000 miles for a frequency rate of 0.36 per 100,000 miles.

Also covered in the report are employee benefits including paid sick leave, group insurance, paid vacations and holidays, participation in the Hospital Service Plan of New Jersey and membership in the State Employees' Retirement System. In addition, employee relations, education, the work stoppage in May and actions taken during the year by the Commission to raise the standard of living of park employees is also outlined.

Last year was a challenging year, reports Mr. Coleman, a year of greatly increased activity, a year that saw new changes in park policy as the 40 hour work week, more paid holidays and greater employee participation.

Koret's Spring Look is the American Look

The functional approach... an unstudied casualness... these are the prerequisites of the latest spring-in-summer fashions now being shown throughout the nation.

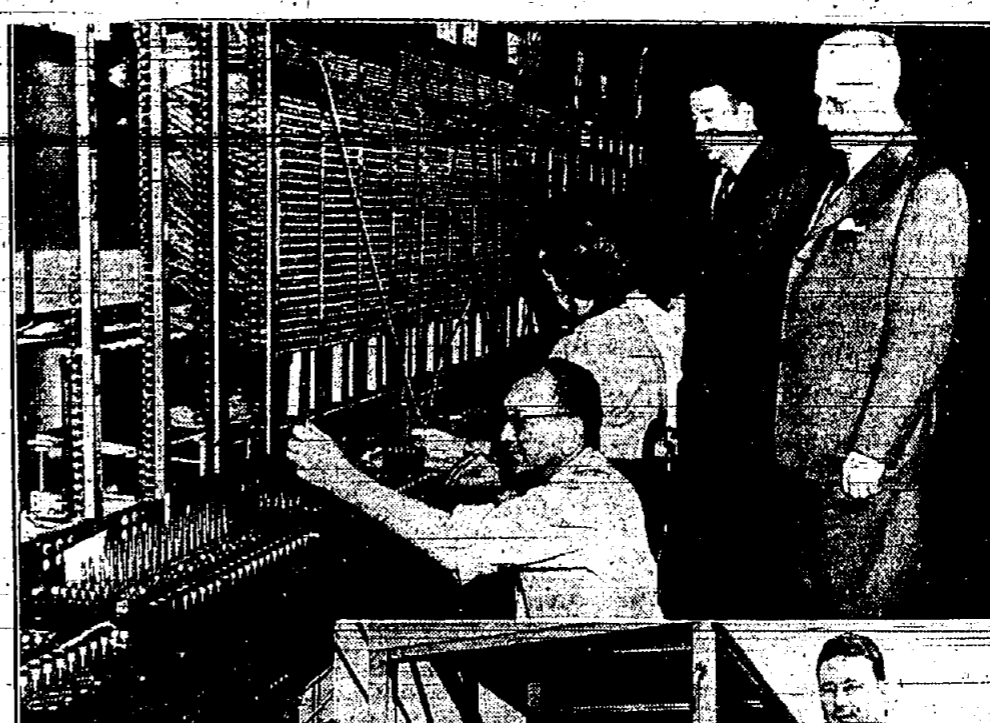

Fabrics run the gamut from sheer to suiting-weight, interestingly textured cottons... "miracle" fibers woven into various weights and the perennials, ever-popular wool suitings. Colors are clear and bright from sky-toned pastels to vibrant hues of persimmon, yellows and always classic navy.

West Coast designer Stephanie Koret, long aware of the great popularity of sportswear separates, is spotlighting crisp, washable cottons, luxurious "miracle" fabrics as well as year-round plain and plain wool suitings. Erzie groups, fashion-wise and style-wise, are adapted to these individual fabrics.

Completely avoiding the exaggerated influences of the French, Italian and Spanish couturiers, Stylist Koret is presenting what she likes to call the "American look." Timeless styling, smart detailing, an adaptability to our American way of life is interpreted in wonderful, washable "pair-offs" of "Koradain," "Tublin," "Bouclin" and "Tubiny." In every style there is a new, relaxed appearance... neither sloppy or starched. Waists are well-defined... skirts are moderately full with below-the-hips emphasis, permanent pleats, as well as stride-ease slim... shoulders and bodies are soft and natural.

Details line up chalk white piping, embroidered eyelets or subtle stitching... all keyed to strategic points. Necklines are extremely varied from the high frame to the halter, deep "V," off-shoulder and, low, scoop-cut.

All-in-all, the latest California collections are geared to a pretty practicality plus an endless adaptability to our American way of life. This is the forecast for spring 1953... mark it well... you'll be wearing it soon!

Marshall Watches Ground-Breaking

William B. Gero, vice-chairman of the Millburn Township Committee, last week manned the controls of a steam shovel as he broke ground for the new addition to the Millburn telephone exchange while Mayor Robert W. Marshall of this municipality looked on.

The two officials toured the present Millburn manual telephone exchange and saw workmen installing additional switchboards to care for telephone growth between the dial and dial cover scheduled for the spring of 1955.

The Millburn exchange handles all Springfield telephone calls. Its history goes back to the past century. It was pointed out in a story in last week's Springfield Sun that there were four telephones listed for Springfield during the era of the Spanish-American war. Today there are many hundreds of subscribers to the service.

New Responsibility Law To Get Prompt Enforcement

The Director of Motor Vehicles moved swiftly this week toward prompt enforcement of the state's new Motor Vehicle Security Responsibility Law, beginning April 1, with announcement of the following steps:

1. An official leaflet, explaining in five minutes' reading time all the essential facts about the law that the average motorist will need to know, has been provided for every registered motorist in New Jersey and can be obtained for the asking at any Motor Vehicle License Agency during the license renewal period.
2. Between now and April 1, the Division of Motor Vehicles will take the unusual step of explaining vital features of the law in frequent announcements through the state's newspapers and radio stations.
3. Director Dearden will summarize the law in an address to be delivered to the people of New Jersey over a state-wide radio network during the closing week of the campaign in March at a date and time to be announced.

"I suppose some people are wondering why we are taking the unusual step of explaining this law to the public before it becomes effective," Director Dearden said. "There is a brief and simple answer. This is no ordinary law. It affects every person who owns or operates a motor vehicle.

It will whisk owner and operator off the road within 60 days, regardless of fault, if they are involved in an accident resulting in death or injury or property damage exceeding $100 and are unable to furnish unqualified proof of their ability to meet damage claims up to $11,000, either through insurance or deposit of collateral with the Division of Motor Vehicles.

The real purpose of this law is to afford all of the people of the greatest possible protection against economic losses resulting from motor vehicle accidents. Let everyone be sure that we shall administer it to achieve that long-needed result. When properly administered in advance, I am sure most motorists will make themselves financially responsible. If they do, the public will gain. The public will be afforded the fullest measure of protection. Motorists will be put to less inconvenience. And administrative expenses will be held to a minimum.

"I hope, therefore, that every motorist will make it a point to understand our Motor Vehicle Security Responsibility Law between now and April 1. Certainly we shall make it easy for them to do so. No sympathy will be wasted on those who do not, because as a rule they are the ones who get involved in accidents and fail to pay for the damage they have done. The quicker we get them off the road, the sooner the streets and highways will be safer for all of us, including the careful motorists who are in the majority."

Inland Manufacturing Division of General Motors won first place in the "methods improvement" competition at the 16th Annual Time and Motion Study Clinic sponsored by the International Management Society.

On a weight comparison basis, Rochester Products Division of General Motors uses enough zinc in a year to cast carburetors, fuel pumps and automobile lock bodies to make 20 full size castings of the Statue of Liberty.

Mrs. Betty Webster
Mrs. Janet Wronsky

We played numerous songs by egg shells and put them in the sand box. We hope that they will grow before Easter.

We played our rhythm instruments in assembly this week. Some of the boys and girls in the Fourth and Fifth grades did the Irish jig for us. We enjoyed it very much.

We have some pussywillows, daffodils and forsythia in our room. It makes us think of spring.

Mrs. Lorraine Eldert
Mrs. Mary Edna Snider
Mrs. Ottilie Corby

We have a new sign in our room. It says "Stamp Day Today!" It tells us when to bring our money to school for saving stamps. We have our own books in which to put our stamps and we are trying to save our own money to buy them. We are saving money and learning about it, too. Many of us can recognize nickels, dimes and quarters and know their values, too. We also know how many of these coins make a dollar.

Mrs. Harriet E. Smith

Two of our reading sections are enjoying "More Friends and Neighbors" book which is the third book in the reading series. Everyone in the class had every word right in spelling last Friday.

Our writing shows great improvement. Each one of us has a paper or more on the bulletin board.

Mr. Post taught us how to make very pretty Easter eggs.

The second Graders eagerly look forward to March 20. In anticipation of spring arrival we have been looking for signs of its coming. Already the children have brought pussy willows and snowdrops into the room. We have seen the first crocuses and someone even reported a robin. This may have been wishful seeing. Nevertheless it will come and what more glorious promise could there be?

Mrs. Barbara Cross

Mrs. Le Pore has been teaching us to play the flutophone. We are enjoying it very much. A group of us played for our assembly program.

We have completed our social studies book "New Centerville." Now we have a new Science book "Science Story Day."

Our class made candy baskets for the hospital. The Red Cross will send us to the hospital.

We have learned a new kind of arithmetic division.

"The Trip to the Bakery"

Our class went to the bakery. When we arrived a lady showed us around. First we saw the dough being mixed and placed into tubs. Next she showed us how the dough would rise. Later we saw how it was baked in long, seventy foot, hot ovens. When our trip was over we were given a bag with a loaf of bread, doughnuts, and three pennies.

Donnelly Opens Fire in Campaign for Election

Eugene F. Donnelly—Gene to his many friends in Springfield—is very serious about his candidacy for Township Committee in the coming Republican primary and is mapping out a campaign which he and his friends are confident will put him on the ticket for the regular elections in November.

Donnelly believes all municipal problems—whether they be in Springfield or Freshwater, Ind.—can be solved by employing good business methods, making the same decisions under the same situation as one does in any successful transaction. Donnelly, in a statement released today, emphasizes the fact that he is not running against any candidate—he's running for himself, as he puts it.

Following is Donnelly's statement:

"I have been trying in my own mind to determine just what would be the best way to explain why I have gotten my neck away out by entering the primary contest for nomination for the Township Committee. It occurred to me that, possibly, the best way would be for me to outline just what my philosophy of government is—and, for that one should be able to see what has impelled me to make the race.

Not Against Anyone

"At the outset, let me make it abundantly clear that I am in the race not against anyone, but rather for myself. I believe in the two-party system. In my opinion the two-party system is what has made American great in the realm of government. Any splinter party system, whether you call it Independent, Fusion, or whatever you like, is generally composed of people who cannot get along with their own parties, and hope by the splintered method to get government by articulate minority. We need only look to some of the other governments in the world today to see just how that type of democracy works.

Accordingly, I believe that any differences of opinion among individuals within any party ought to be settled in the primary, so that when the general election comes around, the electorate need only decide between two major political philosophies.

"I believe that the running of the affairs of a township are not basically different from running the affairs of a successful business.

"There are, of course, those who hold divergent views on this, preferring to adhere to the carefully nurtured belief that there is something unique about the way an ordinary business transaction must be handled the moment it becomes a municipal transaction.

"I believe that the voters are the employer-owners of the Township of Springfield. They have invested their money in homes and in some cases in businesses which they expect are permanent. They furnish the money through taxation for the operation of this, their business.

"These employer-owners are entitled to a management which recognizes the right of these people to a return of one hundred per cent on every dollar that they put into the business, and they are entitled to the kind of management that knows how to see that they get that return.

See Applicant's Record

"When, in the normal course of business, you think of hiring new employees—or continuing present employees, you must, of necessity, turn to the record of the past in the case of the present employees; with respect to the prospective new employees you must look to the interview and to the references furnished by such new applicants to determine what they are likely to be able to do for you."

"From the proven record in the job you can assess the performance and the potential of the man now in your employ. You seek yourself have they handled the jobs which have been entrusted to them with a sureness and correctness—born of adequate training, experience and maturity—or have they been tumbling around with them in such a manner as to impair your confidence, even though the final result, after a lot of trial and error has come out reasonably right? You know the answers to those questions better than I do, or, at least, as well."

"Again, let us assume that you expect your business to be a growing one, and we all hope that Springfield is such a growing business. Have your present employees shown by their actions that they have a capacity for growth with for four new teachers: Mrs. Edith Jakobsen, $3,600; Mrs. Kathleen Fallon, $3,800; Mrs. Ursula Potts, $3,800 and Miss Mary Weber, $3,800. The resignation of Miss Alice A. Hart as assistant school nurse was accepted.

The board received a communication from the Township Committee informing it the proposed sidewalk laying program as recommended by the school board.

Rules for use of school buildings by outside groups together with fees were established. The Parent-Teacher Association may use the building without charge. Other groups must pay fees of from $8 to $10 for the auditorium; $2 to $3 for classrooms and $5 to $10 for cafeteria facilities. Groups must be out of the buildings by 11:30 p.m. Organizations would be liable for any damaged equipment and applications must be signed by two local property owners.

Harold Blechoff, chairman of the recreation commission, asked cooperation in integrating the school and recreation programs. He will discuss details with the superintendent of schools.

Rahway River Flood

drive also had cellars filled with water.

Other sections of the township which constantly are faced with drainage problems found the situation after the heavy rain was worse than usual. The area near the Huffman-Boyle establishment was one of these.

Customarily after a flood of this type a delegation descends on Town Hall demanding that the situation be remedied. However, members of the governing board have pointed out that the solution is a program of flood control for the Rahway River. A system of detention basins has been suggested. However, the program has never advanced beyond the planning stage.

A similar situation took place in Rahway where the Rahway River there flooded several streets and Riverside Park.

One home owner here reported Monday his cellar was flooded for the first time. He said objects floated about like chips in the sea.

Other phases of the flood saw cars stalled and angry owners getting out in two feet of water to push them. Disgusted residents of the flooded areas became enraged when the rising waters of the river lapped at their front doors but there was no answer to their protests.

One resident summed it in a succinct observation: "We should stand in bed," he said.

Regional Bows In NJ Play as Fouls Mar Tilt

Hillside Gains 56-47 Triumph; 53 Fouls Called

It has been several months since the Elizabeth Armory has been the site of a public boxing or wrestling attraction, but a ring would have been more appropriate last Thursday night as Hillside and Regional mixed the two sports in 32 minutes and still had enough time to make an attempt at playing basketball, the sport for which they were scheduled by the NJSIAA.

A total of 53 personal fouls were called and two technicals were thrown in for good measure. Six players departed via the personal foul route and four others were ejected for fighting.

Incidentally, Hillside triumphed by 58-47, to enter the NJSIAA sectional final against Linden, which took the title.

Charley Sabatino, who left the game in the fourth period with five personals and 18 points along with teammate Mary Fishman, the Comet floor general, hit on two quick set shots to put underdog Hillside on top, 4-0. After that, the Comet margin was at least four points throughout, in spite of several Regional rallies.

Although seldom behind by a truly large count, the Bulldogs did not have the spark that would generate a sustained rally. Tom Luckie, whose passing usually irritates the Regional fire, sat out most of the second and third periods and was in danger of fouling out as early as the second quarter.

All told, the Bulldogs lost four—Judd Herman, George MacKenzie, Ray Reiff, and Luckie—on personals in the final stanza. When almost all of his top defenses were ousted, Coach Lou DeRosa began substituting freely and gave each of his 13 men an opportunity to play under pressure. Hillside Coach Joe Silver, however, chose to go with his key men all the way.

The prime Regional threat came in the four minutes after MacKenzie and Luckie, the Bulldog's journey scoring leader and passing ace, respectively, had fouled out of action. Herman started off with a jump shot with 3:44 to go to make the score 48-38 and his free throw cut the edge to nine.

In the 11 seconds following Herman's successful charity toss, Jack Keith rolled the Bulldog to within five, 48-43. Hillside roared away to a 42-point advantage and the issue had been decided.

Regional's ability to crack a light Comet zone was the main cause of its downfall and a bad night on shots did not help. The Bulldogs, conceding to have the best passing game in the district, found the middle bottled up all night and were forced to pop sets from the outside and they were ineffective in that department. The locals found the range only twice from the outside.

The loss marked the second tournament in which Regional was eradicated in its second appearance. And, again, it was a poor second period that thwarted the Bulldogs' efforts.

Thursday's battle also was the final performance of Herman, Luckie, Scott Donnington, and Guy Selander in the Orange and Blue of RBS. Coach DeRosa has quite an array coming back next year and it should mean a resurgence of the Bulldogs as a top count power.

The campaign is now history but it is history that will stand out for years to come.

They pointed out that he had been listed among those seeking the township clerk's job two years ago following the retirement of Robert D. Treat. A successful businessman, Handville probably would not give up his own expertise to hold the postmaster's job if it believed.

According to reports there still is a lack of unanimity on the appointment which probably means no immediate recommendation will be made to Charles E. Bonds, Republican county chairman.

In fact one Republican leader has expressed belief there will be no change in the post until after the November election.

If this prediction is correct Acting Postmaster George M. Turk probably is set for the remainder of the year. Which is considered something of an accomplishment in view of the current head-chopping of Democratic officeholders by the Eisenhower administration.

It is interesting to note that with the present day thinking relative to dual plants, Diesel-Equipment Division of General Motors has operated as such for the past six years, doing both commercial and military work in varying amounts at the same time.

Experiments by Fisher Body engineers reveal that if a car with a six-cylinder top and a car with a black top are parked side by side in the sun; the lighter topped car will remain 15 degrees cooler inside.

Local Quintets To Play District Foes Saturday

16 Top Rec Loop Players Will Meet Westfield, Union, Millburn Squads

The top sixteen players in the Recreation Basketball League, which ended its Saturday afternoon sessions at the James Caldwell last week, will divide into two teams this Saturday to play quintets from neighboring Union and Millburn in a double-header at the J. C. School.

The boys who will participate in the twin-bill from town are Curt Merz, Bob Bolles, Richie Walker, Karl Ford, Karl Utza, Tom Keane, Buckey Brown, "Buzzy" Bayning, Ed Coan, Walt O'Neill, Les Lawn, Richie Ernst, Bob Andrew, Joe Gallini, Al Parker, and Bob Schwartz.

The Union and Millburn teams are in the 14-year-old bracket, as are the local players. The first game will begin at 2 p.m. with the Union Blue Devils as the opponent, while the Millburn team will play at 3 p.m.

Arranged for Saturday evening for the same sixteen boys is a game against the Westfield YMCA 14-year-old team. This ball game will be played at the Westfield Y center.

The local boys will be coached by Bill Brown, Regional high athletic director, who sent them through a rigorous practice period last Tuesday evening.

The trio of games this weekend will mark the end of Saturday afternoon recreation basketball for this year, but as this year's efforts were called "extremely popular and successful" by the rec commission, plans are already under way for an increased program.

The Recreation Commission's Saturday afternoon basketball league closed its first season last week, with the Lakewood coming from behind for the second straight week to turn back the Knickerbockers and maintain their undefeated status and the Nationals putting the Olympians to rout, 65-10.

In the feature game, which saw the league champions lay an unblemished record on the line for the runnerup Knicks, the Lakewood fell behind by 13-11 at the first period and found themselves in a deeper hole at the half, 25-22. The score was still in the favor of the Knicks after three quarters, 35-34, and a last-period rush in which they outscored the Knicks by 11-6, brought victory to the Lakewood.

Bob Bolles gave the Lakewood several trying moments as he poured in 21 markers for the losers, while Joe Gallini hit for 11. Les Lawn, who won the individual scoring crown with 129 points for a 21.5 average, tallied 13, and teammates Al Parker and Bob Andrew had 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Minus their high-scoring center, Curt Merz, the Olympians were at the mercy of the Nationals, who played relentless basketball. The Nationals more than doubled the Olympians field goal total and outdid their opponents from the free throw line by 13-10.

"Little League" Baseball

The thud of horsehide in the leather of a padded glove is the annual sign which announces the coming of spring. (Baseball practice begins so early these days that the leather spheres even precede the traditional robin).

And the word baseball reminds one of more than bats and balls and homers and umpires. It has a deeper meaning; that of keen competition, sportsmanship, and scientific playing.

The participants get all these honors and more in "Little League" baseball, which is really "big league baseball adapted to the mental and physical capacities" of 12-year-olds. Organized in 1939 in Williamsport, Pennsylvania, the program has grown to a point where 115,000 boys played "Little League" ball last summer and the thing is still growing in leaps and bounds.

Along with American Legion youth baseball, which is open to youths of high school age, "Little League" baseball is the most well-organized baseball movement in the country. One of the objects of the local recreation commission is to plant the seed for the program this year, so that "Little League" can be run here early next summer.

So well is "Little League" ball organized, maintained, and run, that it would be impossible to explain the details of the movement here, but we will attempt to point out some of the plans of the local commission.

Recognizing the advantages of baseball tailored down to the capacities of the young boys of the community, the recreation commission has adopted "Little League" as one of its aims for next year. The intricate planning and huge financial backing involved will not permit the program to be organized this year.

We hope the service clubs, veteran's groups, local merchants and industries, and civic organizations will get behind the proposed program 100 per cent, for the benefits it brings the community certainly merit their support.

All residents have been invited to be present at the James Caldwell School on Friday, April 10, when the official "Little League" motion picture film will be screened for the first time in Springfield. It will be available to any local organization which would like to show it and the film will be shown in each of the township schools.

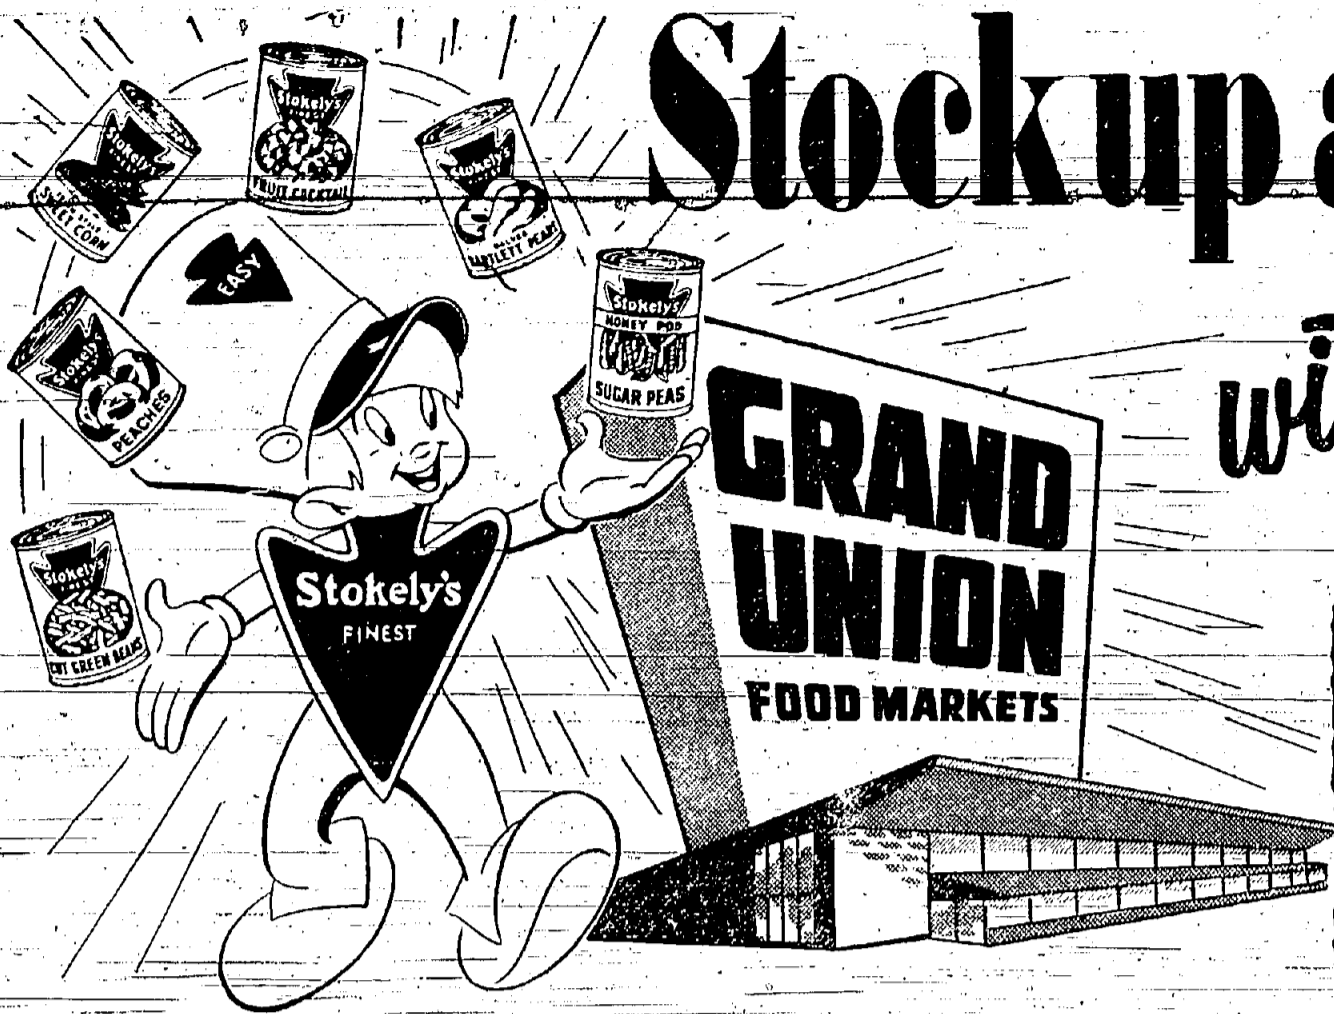

If you are interested in further details, the official "Little League" brochure is available from Edmund Hoffert, rec commissioner, at Town Hall.

Sadness Reigns Supreme The gloomy atmosphere outside, brought about by an all-day rain fall, invaded the inner-dungeons of the Elizabeth Armory last Thursday evening a little after nine o'clock. The scene was that of the Regional locker room after the Bulldogs had come from the drilled playing floor following their final appearance of the 1952-53 campaign—a losing effort against Hillside in a NJSIAA basketball tournament sectional semi-final.

The general sadness was evident in the players, the coach, and fans straining for a glimpse of the beaten warriors. Inside the room, the players were dressing hurriedly after their showers. For some it was their last performance as a Regional player, and it was hard for Coach Lou DeRosa, who was attempting to brighten the air to console them.

The seniors make their last appearance in the Orange and Blue of RBS under Judd Herman, leading scorer; Jack Keith; Guy Selander; and Scott Donnington. Joe Schaffernoth, a sophomore with a lot to learn and a lot of time in which to learn it, took the defeat rather hard, as did Tom Luckie, who was held scoreless for the first time as a member of Regional.
