What Do YOU Think?

Beverly Rappaport

Question asked by your inquiring reporter of merchants on Morris avenue: "As a merchant, what do you think of the garbage disposal system in town?"

Max Rappaport, Rappaport's Spring Pharmacy, 278 Morris avenue:

"We merchants are hit harder than anyone else since we have more garbage than the average resident and are therefore charged more. I feel that the township should budget money for garbage disposal as it is done in many other communities."

Milton Billet, Milton's Liquor Store,

446 Morris avenue:

"The situation is deplorable. The payment for garbage should be included in the tax bill."

H. Marcel, Marcel's Luncheonette, 271 Morris avenue:

"Being that I pay $3.00 a month you should know the answer to that question. No one likes to pay money when they're not getting much for it."

"Actually it has no effect on me, good, bad or indifferent. My property has an outside burner and I can dispose of all my garbage in it."

Springfield Paint and Hardware, 260 Morris avenue:

"I think it's terrible. We're paying such a high tax and getting nothing. We won't pay the extra charge for garbage and many times have taken the boxes home to burn."

Milton Koshen, Beacon Hill Co., 225 Morris avenue:

"Most communities do charge for collection. Out of fairness to the collector and the amount of garbage that is collected I don't think that he is out of line as compared with other communities. My only complaint is that not enough care is taken during the collection and often trash is left out on the street."

1st Aid Squad Sees Success In Fund Drive

The first week of the annual drive for funds for the Springfield First Aid Squad resulted in such enthusiastic response that Harold Jensen, chairman of this year's campaign, feels confident that the very ambitious goal for 1953 will be reached.

"Our goal for this year," said Jensen last night, "is $10,000 which is to be used not only for the maintenance of our services but we need and hope to be able to build a new garage and squad house. Our workers, have just started but we hope to ring the door bell of every resident and every business before the end of our campaign. The total amount we need seems to be high but the demand for the squad's services is increasing and only through the generous support of every one in the Township can this high standard be maintained."

Squads work various sections of Springfield during the week ends and individual volunteers, who can find time during the evening, solicit every home on some specific street. The entire township has been mapped out and, before the end of the current drive, it is hoped that every place in Springfield will be visited.

Tax Receipts for August Shows Gain

Collector of Taxes Charles H. Huff reports a total of $101,337.47 received for the month of August as compared to $98,215.93 for the same month in 1952. The total to date is $767,332.64, as compared with $685,176.60 for the same period last year.

The month of August also brought in a total of $820.70 for delinquent taxes, $724.44 of which was due for 1952. A total of $34,000.64 in delinquent taxes, going back to 1947 for 1947, is shown on the August report.

Disabled Veteran Must Move From Gen'l Greene Village

Residents of General Greene Village are up in arms because one of their tenants—a permanently disabled veteran—has been ordered to move by the end of this month. Friends of the veteran maintain that he was denied extension of his lease because this couple has become parents of a third child.

Legal advice has been sought in behalf of the veteran but there seems to be very little comfort as the operators of General Greene Village appear to be within their legal rights to demand possession of the two bedroom apartment.

Members of the General Greene Tenants' Association have been protesting because of the several increases in rent since the project was opened and, now that rent controls are off, many insist that the two raises already imposed are a hardship to many of those who moved in, attracted by the low amount they need to pay.

One very disgruntled tenant insists that "people with children are never shown any of the available apartments—and this kind of housing lends itself to young couples with kids. We like it because our kids can play out of doors—there are no elevators—and the mother can keep an eye on the children while she goes ahead with her household duties."

The disabled veteran who has been given his notice that the lease will not be renewed and that he must get out by September 30, has been frantically searching for a new apartment—or a small home he might be able to buy with his limited capital. He hopes that the owners of General Greene Village will relent and permit him to stay in the apartment with his wife and three kids until he has had a chance to locate a new place to live.

Following is the letter which was signed by the writer but who asked that his name be deleted for obvious reasons:

Editor, Sun
Dear Sir:

There is a move afoot by the owner of General Greene Village to rent to only persons with no children and to eject present tenants, where possible, who have children or more children than the owner deems suitable for the quarters occupied.

The latest recipient of the "undesirable" notice is a permanently disabled World War II veteran whose wife had the temerity to give birth to a third child although these people occupy a two bedroom apartment. This project was built through the backing of the Federal government under an act that intended easing the housing shortage and giving preference to veterans. The only preference we veterans now living here can expect is order of exit.

Do you know of any action that can be taken to forestall his perversion of the Federal Housing Act's intentions?

Your's truly,
A General Greene Villager

Independents Open Fire On Township Committee

With all talk of fusion and coalition tickets ended, Thomas A. Argyris and Francis J. Keane, independent candidates for Township Committee in the November elections, got their campaign machine rolling very early and they promise to keep firing until every resident in Springfield knows "what all the shouting's about."

They have mapped out a very aggressive campaign, but their chief target will be the present administration, the following statement being the first of a series to be issued by Argyris and Keane:

"Why hasn't business developed in Springfield?"
"Why hasn't the Township Committee cooperated to encourage a prosperous and growing business community to serve the needs of our citizens?"
"Why must our business people always be confronted with the need to defend their investment in our community against Township Committee bungling?"
"Why is it that their carefully prepared conclusions are not given proper weight in the deliberations of the Township Committee in problems primarily concerning business?"
"Why are the recommendations of the Chamber of Commerce ignored?"
"The answers to these questions lie in the arbitrary attitude of our township government, which is able to see only its point in a matter and is determined to see it through."

Added Voting Districts Are Being Planned

Political reports this week have it that there is a plan—already well worked out—to do a "little gerrymandering" which means redistricting Springfield, adding a district or two but dividing it so that it will add strength to some of the weaker sections for vote getting.

With the increase of voters in Springfield, there is no doubt that additional districts are needed since the law permits only a limited number of eligible voters. And new districts are usually added by redistricting other districts especially those where opposition strength has been increasing.

How many new districts are to be added and how they will be located, no one in authority would say. However, there is considerable talk of such action and the changes and new polling places will, no doubt, be announced as soon as the Township Committee and Township Attorney complete the job.

Completes 25 Years With Telephone Co.

Kenneth S. Southard of 81 Henshaw avenue has completed his 25th year of service with the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company.

Presently on the staff at the company's general plant supervisor, Southard's background includes service with the installation and plant school forces. He has also served as chief switchman.

The meeting will be presided over by the Chapter President, Mrs. Martin Berger. Refreshments will be served.

Attend Meeting of State C.A.R. Group

Eight Springfield members attended the annual fall meeting of the State Society of the Children of the American Revolution which was held on Saturday, September 12, at the First Baptist Church in New Brunswick. They were: Stephen Weiss, Charles Stevens, Jeffrey Manuel, Nancy Anderson, Robert Keith, Dana Lindauer, Mrs. John "Gojack" advisor to the younger group, and Mrs. J. M. Manuel, organizing president.

The meeting was followed by a luncheon and a tour to places of historical interest, the most fascinating being Buccleuch Park and Mansion.

Has License Revoked

Harold O'Neal, 37, of 20 Ruby street had his license revoked for 30 days for three speeding convictions.

Springfield Navy Man Helps In Attempt to Save Sailor

A Springfield resident, Quartermaster First Class Harvey J. Conley of 56 Mountain avenue, now attached to the USS Greenwich Bay, flagship of Commander Middle East Force, was one of the heroes of a dramatic effort to save a man's life recently according to a news story released by the United States Navy.

While steaming in the Red Sea bound for the Persian Gulf, the story continued, the seaplane tender USS Greenwich Bay received a blinker signal from the Liberian tanker SS World Enterprise reporting a man in critical condition and requesting medical assistance.

A boat was lowered from the Greenwich Bay to transfer doctors, medical corpsmen and Conley who was sent to the World Enterprise in order that messages regarding necessary medical supplies be relayed.

Merchants Seek Better Garbage Collection Plan

Garbage collection which has become quite a problem and an official headache for the Township fathers was the chief topic at a regular meeting of the Board of Health held in the town hall last night. But everybody saw eye to eye and there was a general agreement that there should be an immediate remedy.

Committee member Arthur Handville, as head of the Board of Health, appointed a committee to make an exhaustive study of the problem and work out some immediate solution to the ever increasing problem. Members of that committee are Mayor Robert W. Marshall, Dr. H. P. Dengler, Felix G. Forlenza, President of the Chamber of Commerce, and Crescent Roselle, a member of the firm of Peter Roselle Co., contractors for the removal of garbage in Springfield.

The garbage problem affects Morris avenue merchants because most of the stores do not have the facilities or room in the rear of their places of business to keep the garbage until the regular collections are made twice a week. Forlenza and a committee of merchants appeared before the Board of Health members and requested that some plan be evolved to help them keep the street from being littered. Several plans were suggested, one of which was a change in an ordinance which would permit the merchants to burn a great deal of the garbage such as cartons and card board boxes which must now be piled up and await the garbage collectors on Tuesdays and Fridays. The supermarkets are especially confronted with this problem since a single day's empty cartons and other packing debris would tax all their storage facilities. The merchants want to keep the garbage off the streets until the very last minute before closing time, but it gets out of hand and some other method is needed to cure the problem.

Another suggestion was the possibility of a roadway being built in the rear of the stores on the north side of Morris avenue so that the day's garbage could be piled up there to wait for the Roselle collectors to come and cart it away.

Several of the merchants are said to have special deals with the garbage collectors to dispose of unusual amounts of cartons and card board boxes which Roselle, explained last night, was necessary since one day's carton from a single store might make up the entire load of the truck.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1953

ON THE SUNNY SIDE

Those "smoke filled room" conferences and the "hush-hush political deals" have fizzled and blown themselves out to sea along with the last threatening hurricane. Which leaves Springfield with six candidates for the two jobs to be filled on the Township Committee instead of a slambang battle between the organization selections and the much discussed coalition ticket.

While the political scrap is right back where it started—the coalition proposal was given serious consideration by the independent and Democratic candidates—and, for a time, looked as if there might be a formal announcement that the four men had agreed to pool their voting strength in behalf of just two. But, yesterday, everybody was ready to admit that there will be no deals and that it will be a free for all.

Just what strings were pulled—what off the record understandings there are—no one appears to be willing or ready to volunteer any information. But it is crystal clear today that Police Commissioner Albert G. Binder, president incumbent, and Eugene Donnelly, who won in the primary contest, will find the going a little easier now that this threat of fusion has been removed.

The last statement isn't based on any prejudiced appraisal of the individual candidates—but it's an old political trick to unite the forces of those opposed to the strong ticket, in order to bring victory. Despite the optimism of the independents or the backers of the Democratic candidates, the signs right now point to victory for the organization's fair haired boys. Of course, if the independent candidates, "Tom" Argyris and Francis J. Keatie, really put on a good show, ring door bells, shake hands with all the newcomers to Springfield, and do a lot of old fashioned campaigning, it may still be an extra inning battle.

Somewhere in this political picture, is the quiet hand of Mayor "Bob" Marshall. The story is that the pipe of peace has been passed around which means, no doubt, that there will be none of the election fireworks some people might have expected from that quarter.

During the hot spell only recently ended—political rumors have a way of being repeated so often that, even some of the most ridiculous situations appear to be plausible and one soon begins to find some truth in everything he hears.

Among the juiciest and choicest bits of news whispers had it that there was an undated but signed resignation ready to be submitted—that a fifth independent candidate was toying with the idea of getting on the ballot in November—that one of the present Township Committeemen has already been given the nod to take over the office of Mayor.

Representatives of several big corporations have been visiting Springfield in the past few weeks, making an exhaustive survey of the township facilities in anticipation of taking space in the General-Greene Shopping Center. One report they took back to their home office which may help them decide, came from the Grand Union people who are more enthusiastic about Springfield, according to one of these representatives, than they have been about any location for one of their supermarkets. Grand Union likes Springfield so much, said this one informant, that they have increased their space in the new shopping center by more than 25 per cent.

The operators of the shopping center have promised to make public the names of several new firms that have signed leases in the next few days.

With the coming of frost the concentration of pollens in the air will diminish. Sufferers from pollen allergy will thus be freed from the effects of air-borne irritants. Unfortunately, they then become subject to attack on another front. It has been estimated that no less than fifteen million persons in the United States suffer from some forms of asthma, rhinitis, sinusitis, and several types of allergic distress which originate in the atmosphere within the house itself. They are the victims of house-dust allergy.

House-dust is derived from decaying animal and vegetable materials used to make the interior of our homes more comfortable and attractive. Bedclothes, pillows, mattresses, rugs, and draperies are potential contributors to the discomfort of sensitive individuals. When the heat is turned on, the increased circulation of the warmed air through the house guarantees a wider distribution of the offending dust elements. Allergic persons then develop nose-block, sneezing, watery nasal discharge, cough, and—in some cases—certain types of skin involvements and headache.

These facts indicate the need for a thorough fall cleaning similar to the customary spring cleaning. Authorities recommend the treatment of beds, bedding, and fabrics with chemicals specially compounded for the purpose. Other recommended precautions include dust-proof covers for mattresses, elimination of comforters and pillows filled with decaying feathers, and frequently thorough cleaning of walls and floor surfaces to keep all dust at a minimum. This all means more work but increased comfort.

That cold you have may not be the result of germs or viruses. Instead it may be a house-dust allergy.

September is the best month for starting a new lawn. Planting at this season and observing a few rules will give good results, according to Eric H. Peterson, Jr., Union County Agricultural Agent.

Most soils should be treated with 75 pounds of ground limestone per 1,000 square feet when preparing the seed-bed, he says. In addition, apply 35 to 50 pounds of a 5-10-5 or similar fertilizer per 1,000 square feet. Thoroughly mix the lime and fertilizer with the soil.

Choose a New Jersey lawn seed mixture or similar formula that is best adapted to the conditions of shade and soil fertility of the lawn area. Prepare a good seedbed and spread the seed uniformly at the rate of 3 to 4 pounds per 1,000 square feet.

After seeding, use a steel or wooden rake to cover the seed by stirring the soil very lightly. Usually, a good stand of grass can be obtained without watering. If you plan to water, use a fine mist to keep the surface of the soil moist at all times. After the grass seedlings emerge, discontinue watering unless prolonged drought should occur.

After the lawn has been established it is important to set the mower to cut no shorter than 1½ inches and to fertilize the lawn regularly in early spring and in September of each year. Without good maintenance the work at planting may be lost.

The increasing number of deaths from cancer in New Jersey, plus the recent death of Ohio Senator Robert A. Taft from the disease, has led to a greater interest in the fight against cancer by friends of those who have died. More than $500 has been received by the American Cancer Society, New Jersey Division, from friends of the late Senator and during the past 12 months a total of $6,428.55 has been received and acknowledgments sent to the families.

For several years now the New Jersey Division has been encouraging contributions as a memorial to those who died so that other lives might be saved. Each year the amount has been growing as more and more realize that the only hope of conquering cancer is to find the cause and in educating the people to the fact that cancer can be cured if caught in time.

Many, too, have been bequeathing funds for use in the crusade against cancer and in the fiscal year just completed, the New Jersey Division has received some $27,000 in this manner. Where specified the money will be used in the county designated, otherwise it will be a part of the overall national and state campaign. As an incorporated agency, the New Jersey Division has the right to accept such gifts.

Nielsen Family Thrilled by Big Celebration in Denmark

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Nielsen and children Diane, Eric and Ellen of 36 Clinton Avenue had the great privilege while in Denmark this summer of being present at the American Independence Day celebration which took place in the Danish American Rebild-National Park near Aalborg in Jutland and was attended by King Frederik IX and Queen Ingrid of Denmark.

The main American speaker was Paul G. Hoffman, former E. C. A. Administrator and President of the Ford Foundation, now Chairman of the Board of the Studenter Corporation. This is the first time that an American industrialist has addressed these celebrations which, except for the war years, have been held every 4th of July since the park was dedicated in 1912.

American Marines from Bremen, Germany, hoisted the Stars and Stripes and Danish Marines from the Frederikshavn Command hoisted the Danish Dannebrog whereupon the singing of the National anthems of the two nations preceded the holding of the 48 American State Flags which formed a colorful avenue leading to the speakers' platform around which the heather-clad hills of Rebild form a natural amphitheatre. The celebration closed with a dinner in nearby Aalborg and a festival in the evening.

The following article reprinted from the Danish Brotherhood Magazine vividly describes the origin of the Rebild National Park and the yearly festival:

"The Rebild National Park was dedicated in 1912 by the late King Christian X of Denmark in the presence of the then American Minister to Denmark, Dr. Maurice Francis Egan, and high Danish Government officials.

"In a desire to promote international understanding, friendship and cultural exchange, and in gratitude to the United States where hundreds of thousands of Danish immigrants found friendly hospitality and prosperity, Americans of Danish birth acquired several hundred acres of the beautiful heather covered Rebild hills in North Jutland. Led by the late Dr. Max Helms of Chicago and a committee of Danish-born men and women, including representatives of Danish churches and societies, this tract of land was deeded to Denmark and became known as the Rebild National Park. A provision was that it should be reserved for an American Independence Day celebration every 4th of July. And these festivals have been held ever since 1912, except for the war years. They are usually attended by upwards of some 30,000 to 40,000 people.

"In 1951 was dedicated a 'Lindholm Log Cabin,' built with logs from trees cut in American forests by Danish immigrants or their sons. It houses a pioneer museum.

"The Rebild National Park Board is an Illinois non-profit organization. The president is Holger Bladt of Aalborg; vice-president is Jean Hersholt of Beverly Hills, Calif., and secretary is Berge Rosing of Huntington, West Virginia. Of the remaining board members, two are in the United States and two in Denmark. An American Rebild Committee has 80 members and a Danish Committee 12 members. The Supreme President of the Danish Brotherhood and the Supreme President of the Danish Brotherhood are members of the American Rebild Committee.

"We join with thousands in U. S. A. in sending greetings and best wishes to this fine celebration."

Does your son find his homework difficult? Does he spend more time on it than you feel he should? Or does he neglect it partly or entirely? Is he at a loss how to approach it?

The new curriculum at Carteret School from 7th Grade through High School graduation is an answer to your problem. School periods are 60 minutes long instead of the usual 40. Students are given 40 minutes of class instruction and 20 minutes of supervised study. The solution to the homework problem is found in these 20 minutes during which the members of the class are given an overall picture of the assignment for the next day; guided in the proper approach to its mastery; assisted in completing the first portion of the homework; and helped in any major difficulties encountered.

Classes limited in size make this innovation possible. And not only does it simplify the work done at home, it also teaches boys how to study—an invaluable asset during their first year at college when out-of-class assignments become more difficult and more lengthy, and students are responsible, individually, for completing such work daily.

Might we suggest you telephone the Director of our Senior School, Thompson D. Grant, at Orange 2-3300, for more detailed information.

Industry of Springfield

The family is considered the most important in the American way of life. Martin G. Bender Sr., president of the Bender Tool and Die Co., his wife and his son, Martin Jr., are an outstanding example of this but not only by performing the usual family duties but also by successfully maintaining one of the youngest industries in Springfield.

Mr. Bender Sr. has been in this line since he finished high school. He learned his trade serving as an apprentice for four years to become a skilled tool and die maker. He is engineer and supervisor for Bender Tool and Die, working closely with Martin Jr., shop superintendent, and Mrs. Bender, bookkeeper and housekeeper.

The Benders are not less ambitious on the property in Springfield. The building was a sheet metal shop and took a great deal of converting. All new equipment was installed and the Benders made their own machinery. Having the engineering facilities at home saves a great deal of time, said Mr. Bender, who was comfortably situated on his own back porch.

"We wanted a residential location," explained Mr. Bender, "since our work is clean and doesn't give any smoke, noise or pollution." The Benders' tool and die company is located at 1000 North Main St. and Dover streets. They have many customers. Also, Regional High School is a good landmark for people who aren't familiar with the area. We have about 1,000 square feet and room in the back for expansion.

One would think of a quick glance that the building was a private home. The well-kept lawn and attractive flowers show a pride in their property, the same pride the Benders have in their industry.

Bender Tool and Die is engaged in the manufacture of dies and tools, experimental work and the development of patents. They are concerned with building a sample of the tool or die and submitting the perfected model to the customer to be produced.

As an engineer, Mr. Bender can design and develop any article of wood, metal, etc. and determine what the article should be made from and the probable cost of production. He will make a sample for people trying to develop a patent and determine the operation cost, from that on it is up to the customer to determine whether or not to produce the article developed further.

Bender Tool and Die has gone from making tools for eyeglasses to tools for power brakes and small power presses. For the past thirteen years they have been developing all sorts of all weather windows and aluminum windows.

They have done experimental work on controls for liberty ships and during World War I made tools for grenades, food boxes and dog lamps. They have designed and built tools for dehydrated windows of pullman trains and subway trains. During the second world war Bender Tool and Die made tools for radar equipment and rocket shells during the Korean War.

All the machines at Bender Tool and Die are fully automatic and run by first class tool and die makers. As Mr. Bender said, "We are able to handle all our work the way we are seen now. Perhaps in a year from now we may expand."

Whatever it may be, expansion or contraction, the team work of the Bender family is sure to continue along its lines of success.

While agreeing that there were still shortcomings in the ordinance, the Township Committee abstained from voting and was unable to vote their point to the audience, went on to pass the ordinance as originally written. All they could offer the local businessmen was questionable and expensive recourse to the Board of Adjustment to alleviate undesirable provisions contained in the ordinance which they admittedly recognized prior to passage.

"For years, the Township Committee has faced difficult or controversial problems with the impressive phrase, 'We are taking this matter under advisement for further study.' Actually, this has served too often as a device to shut off further questions or discussion or as a shield for total unpreparedness.

"This attitude is prevalent in dealings of the Township Committee, whether it concerns our businessmen or other taxpayers pleading individually or as a group.

"Springfield can no longer tolerate government by procrastination. Our town must have a township committee capable of intelligent study, careful preparation and decisive action."

Independents

 mined to have its own way regardless of the merit of the pleas of others vitally concerned.

The latest example of this was the manner in which the recent "Off Street Parking" ordinance was handled. After alleged years of study an ordinance was introduced that attempted to cure this very real problem. With all the merchants of town, through the voice of the Chamber of Commerce, taking exception to certain provisions of the ordinance, first passage was delayed to afford an opportunity to study the points in question. While a cursory meeting was held, nothing was accomplished when the final reading took place, not a word had been changed. Again, the businessmen in town were on hand, protesting their objections. Again, heads and busy government heads away.

Sailed for Europe

Miss Kay Tiley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Tiley of 31 Bryant avenue, and Miss Ann Crombie of the same address, daughter of Mrs. Eric Ambler of London, England, sailed September 9 aboard the Ile de France for two months in Europe.

They will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Eric Ambler in London and plan to visit France, Switzerland and Scotland.

Mr. Ambler is the noted English author and screenwriter. His latest book "The Schiomer Inheritance" was published in this country last month. He also wrote the screenplay for "The Cruel Sea" which recently opened in New York.

Miss Tiley and Miss Crombie will return at the end of October aboard the Liberté.

Navy Man

 plies could be rapidly transmitted to the Greenwich Bay.

The stricken man had been unconscious since the evening before with a temperature of 106 degrees. The doctor made a tentative diagnosis of spinal meningitis and a spinal tap was performed and the fluid sent to the dispensary of the Greenwich Bay for testing.

Following an exchange of blinker messages it was agreed to proceed in company in the port of Aden with the U. S. Navy personnel remaining aboard the World Enterprise. On arrival at Aden the patient was transferred to the Royal Air Force Hospital. In spite of every effort he died that evening.

The Greenwich Bay resumed her journey to the Persian Gulf.

The armadillo lives mainly on insects but sometimes damages crops.

To Conduct Solemn Rosary Pilgrimage

Rosary Shrine, at Summit New Jersey, will conduct the thirty-third solemn Rosary Pilgrimage for fasting grace through the Immaculate Heart of Mary on Sunday, October 14 at 2:30 p.m. The great novena preceding the pilgrimage will be marked by a Rosary Crusade of supplication to the Immaculate Heart of Mary so earnestly recommended by His Holiness in a recent encyclical in these words: "As the Doctor of Churches sought and obtained help for the troubles of his times, let us all through the same devotion and prayer so strive to move our divine Mother that she will obtain from God timely relief from those grave evils which have either already come upon us or may yet befall, and that she who is benign and most powerful with by the help of God grant that the sincere, solid, and fruitful peace of the church may at last dawn on all nations and peoples."

The pilgrimage devotions will begin at 3:30 p.m. with the Rosary procession through the grounds led by Reverend Pius A. McEvoy, O.P., of the Dominican Mission Band, Reverend Edward P. Farrell, O.P., of Sacred Heart Priory, Jersey City, N. J., will be the preacher for the occasion. Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament will climax the pilgrimage devotions. Reverend Edward P. Farrell, O.P., chaplain of the novena, will be celebrant, assisted by Father McEvoy and the Most Reverend John Bahr of the Ordinary School, Summit, as deacon and sub-deacon.

The Holy Father has granted a plenary indulgence to all who make a pilgrimage to Rosary Shrine, the usual conditions of confession, Communion having been observed. On Rosary Sunday there is also available the privilege of "Tobias Quotes" when a plenary indulgence applicable to the suffering souls may be gained for each visit to the chapel or Rosary grotto. Blessing of religious articles and distribution of blessed roses will follow. Several prizes will be at the disposition of those pilgrims.
