Ratings Protest Hold Up Naming Of Postmaster

Springfield's new postmaster will be announced very shortly according to information received by the Springfield Sun from United States Senator Robert C. Hendrickson. This information came from Senator Hendrickson in a telegram in response to a letter addressed to him at his offices in Washington requesting "a list of those who took the examination for postmaster and, if possible, the results."

Senator Hendrickson replied immediately and the list printed below as "applicants who took the examination for postmaster" is exactly as they appear in the telegram and is no indication that the applicants finished in that order.

Here are the names:

- Abel V. DeVecchio
- William H. Corby
- Edward C. Tidabach
- Wilbert J. Binder
- Ralph G. Swanson
- George M. Turk
- David C. Roe
- Herbert R. Day
- Myrtle V. Post
- Thomas A. Demarini
- Harvey A. Schramm
- Jack Fisher

Senator Hendrickson's telegram further contains: "Certified results received by me last week: Number one, Del Vecchio; number two, William H. Corby; number three, Edward C. Tidabach. But, inasmuch as a protest was made in connection with an appeal by two of the other competitors, I must await re-certification before a decision can be made by my colleague, Senator H. Alexander Smith and myself."

There has been considerable hush-hush in Springfield regarding the identity of these "two other competitors" who protested the certification of the first three applicants. These examinations, it is understood, are divided into two very important tests: the written part and the experience ratings. It is understood that the protests come as the result of mistakes in the experience tests which placed the applicant lower on the list.

Appointment of a Springfield postmaster, it is further understood, can be made from any one of the first three on the certified list. All three men on top of the list have had considerable post office experience and any one of

Over Million Of 1953 Taxes Now Collected

Collection of taxes, according to Tax Collector Charles H. Huff, for the last month of 1953 was $13,280.69 as compared to $23,360.44 for the same month in 1952. However, the total of the 1953 taxes, amounting to $1,000,469.90, was higher than the 1952 total, the figures then being $951,422.72.

Mr. Huff's report also shows 1954 taxes already received amounting to $6,621.35. It also shows delinquent taxes collected last month, $936.20 for a total of $2,717.50 in 1954 taxes received. There was also received $490.36 for 1951 and $268.88 for 1950.

Other receipts reported by Collector Huff brought the complete total of money received last month to $38,573.51 and the total for 1953 of $1,124,514.72. This is greater than the total of money received for the same period of time in 1952 which was $1,048,150.15.

Terrific Storm Fails To Stop Local Traffic

Springfield rode through the worst snow storm in years with very little trouble except the expected traffic snarls and the usual hardships that accompany icy wind whipped near blizzard early this week.

The snow plows and other removal equipment went out early and some traffic moved even at the height of the storm—but all schools were closed on Monday. High absenteeism curtailed production in many of the local industries but all of them were in full operation on Tuesday.

The Springfield First Aid Squad was called out only twice during the height of the storm, once to Meisel avenue and Milltown road where several cars piled up because of the slippery condition of the road and the second time, on Monday night to deliver oxygen for a very ambitious resident who tried to do some snow shoveling himself.

The storm created delays in traffic although many persons who normally drive to work, left their automobiles in the garages which increased the burden of carrying more passengers for the bus lines. The buses fought their way through the slippery and dangerous roads at the height of the storm.

There were no power failures and both the police and fire departments were alerted and ready for any emergency but there were no serious incidents.

Icy Roads Cause of Many Car Crashes

The slick, icy pavements of last Saturday night resulted in a series of skidding crashes, none of which resulted in any serious injuries.

The first of these reports received by the Springfield police department was at 5:35 p.m. when a car driven by Alex Bilidoyko of Newark, going west on Rt. 22, near the Lido Diner, tangled with another auto, driven by Kingsley Lawrence of Cranford, where were some dented fenders but no one was hurt.

Teaching Art In Springfield Is No Longer 'Just Drawing'

What did "art class" mean when you went to school? Did you just draw a house or a daisy or an apple? Did it mean an easy period—time off from arithmetic or grammar? That kind of attitude toward the teaching of art was all too common in the schools in past years. But modern programs, such as we have in the Springfield schools, recognize the value of an understanding of art and the increasingly important part it plays in our everyday lives.

"All of us are familiar with the Halloween window decorating in town, and the way it provides a creative rather than a destructive outlet. But are you familiar with the other work our children are doing under the guidance of the art program? From the very first grade they are encouraged to develop their creative abilities and original thinking. The art period is a time of real learning. Working together on school room decorations or murals, part of the program even in the first and second grades, is an excellent way of learning cooperation. Making posters not only teaches lettering and design but impresses upon the child the principles of safety or good nutrition or fire prevention. History becomes more interesting when combined with the art of the times being studied, from the cave man to the great masters of the Renaissance and the artists of England and America. The introduction to the world of science is reflected in imaginative drawings of the world of the future. Mathematics becomes more meaningful when a study of geometric shapes based on this subject is used in art application. Illustrations pertaining to stories that have been read give added stimulus to book reports and outside library reading.

And art is no longer just drawing. Block printing, modeling, paper sculpture, 3D pictures—all have their part in the program. The children are encouraged to plan houses, showing floor plans and elevations, to design and paint stage sets, and in general to apply a knowledge of line and color and good design to all phases of living.

If you are at all interested in today's art, why not come in and see what is being done in the Springfield schools?

Board Explains 1954-55 Budget

The 1954-55 annual budget of the Springfield Board of Education will be the subject for an interesting evening next Tuesday, January 10, when a public hearing will be held in the Florence M. Gaudin School. The hearing will open at 8 p.m.

Following is a statement issued by the Board of Education which fully explains the proposed budget for 1954-55:

"Every year at about this time all of us make plans for the coming year. We try to foresee what the year will bring to us in the way of income, what expenditures we will have to make, where we can save, and where it would be false economy to try to scrimp.

Just as we take stock of our personal finances, every thinking citizen should be concerned with the planning done by public agencies such as the Board of Education. Recognizing that good schools are of prime importance to a community, he is interested in seeing that good education is provided without extravagance but with adequate provision for school needs.

Check Every Item "The Board of Education makes every effort to keep expenditures at a minimum compatible with maintaining the high standards of the Springfield schools. Every item in the budget is carefully checked and discussed and kept to the lowest figure possible. The Board believes every citizen should know the reasons for the appropriations for the various budget items.

It should be remembered that in preparing a budget the Board must anticipate the needs of the school system for the ensuing year and a half, since the school year extends from July 1, 1954 to June 30, 1955. Increasing school population must be taken into consideration, with the consequent increase in the number of teachers needed and amount of supplies and equipment required. It should also be remembered that any budget must be adequate to provide for possible contingencies, but that the items listed do not represent definite commitments. In other words, expenditures are kept as much below the budget figures as possible, and any balance remaining at the end of the year is used to reduce the amount to be raised by taxation the succeeding year.

The budget for the year 1954-55 will have to make, where we

For the young wife with heart disease, the question almost always uppermost in her mind is, "Can I have a baby safely?"

The most important rule for such young women is to consult with their doctors. Only the doctor can tell whether or not pregnancy is likely to hold any danger for them...

The doctor, of course, will only advise. The final decision of whether or not to have a child is up to the woman and her husband.

Any young woman with heart disease who decides to have a baby should plan to see her doctor regularly throughout her pregnancy. Studies show that women with heart disease who get into serious trouble are usually those who postpone going to doctors or clinics until the pregnancy is nearly over.

If you do not have a family doctor, consult your local Heart Association, Medical Society, Health Department or

In general, most pregnant women with heart disease should follow the same rules for keeping well that apply to any pregnant woman...

Honor Grand Union Well Known Local For Good Business Resident Dies

The Grand Union Company—the organization that is to be the feature of the proposed shopping center in Springfield—was named by the American Institute of Management among the first twelve of 348 companies it certifies as "excellently managed" in 1953.

The Grand Union Company was actually seventh on the list made public with such firms as Procter & Gamble, American Telephone and Telegraph, E. I. du Pont, General Motors, National Cash Register and Eastman Kodak shown ahead of the New Jersey company. Others appearing on the list of twelve include E. F. Goodrich, Hotel Statler, Minnesota Mining, C.I.T. Financial Corp. and National City Bank of New York.

The finding was based on a continuing study of 3,000 leading concerns in this country and Canada. Each of the top twelve companies scored more than 9,000 points out of a possible 10,000 under the institute's evaluation system. A minimum of 7,500 points is required for qualification as "excellently managed."

According to Jackson Martindell, president of the institute, the purpose of the annual certification is "to focus attention upon those companies whose practices should be emulated by others, to increase efficiency and insure stability for employees, shareholders and the economy as a whole."

In adding a management he explained, "the institute rates such factors as economic function, corporate structure, health of earnings growth, fairness to stockholders, directorate analysis, research and development, fiscal policies, production efficiency, sales vigor and executive evaluation."

Parents, especially fathers are invited to attend all future workouts by the Saturday afternoon Youth Basketball League as we need men to coach or manage these boys' teams.

John Fredrick Anderson, a long time resident of Springfield and nationally known specialist in the raising of ferns, was buried yesterday in the St. Stephen's Cemetery in Millburn following his sudden death early this week.

Born in Skane, Sweden, 52 years ago, Mr. Anderson worked as a boy in greenhouses on extensive estates in Sweden, Denmark, Germany and England. He came to this country about 28 years ago and entered the employ of Pletcher & Manda, Short Hills, then the leading horticultural house in the East.

When this firm dissolved in 1897, Mr. Anderson purchased its orchid range and started fern raising as an exclusive operation. In 1904 he purchased the Millburn avenue, site.

Mr. Anderson was one of the few horticulturists in the East who specialized exclusively in the raising of ferns with particular attention to the cibotium type, known as the king of ferns. He was a member of the Florists' Club of New Jersey.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Hulda M. Conradson Anderson; four daughters, Miss Florence Anderson of Portland, Me.; Mrs. Herbert Scott of Westfield, Mrs. Dele Oechler of Springfield, and Mrs. Gordon Tegnell of Short Hills; a sister, Mrs. Sven Nelson of Irvington; two brothers, Gottfried of Gottenburg, Sweden, and Emmanuel of Green Cove Springs, Fla., and four grandchildren.

Services were held Wednesday at 1 p.m. at Smith & Smith Suburban, 415 Morris avenue. Rev. Bruce Evans of Springfield Presbyterian Church and Rev. Harry S. Carlson of the Swedish Lutheran Church of Summit officiating.

Regional High Still Unbeaten; Take Westfield, Union For Seven

Regional Tops Westfield 67-59

Undeclared Regional High passed a big test last Saturday night, coming from behind to trip Westfield, High 67-59 at the Blue Devil court. It was the sixth straight for Coach Lou DeRosa's high-flying crew.

After a slow start, in which the home team jumped to an 8-1 lead, Regional began to click and closed the gap to 21-17 at the quarter. The Bulldogs never led but Tom Luckie's long set shot just before the buzzer gave the Bulldogs a 34-33 halftime lead.

Fred Buchner and George MacKenzie, forwards, and center Joe Schaffernoth began to control the backboard and Regional moved ahead 37-41 after three sessions. Then Luckie and MacKenzie broke loose for six points each and the Westfielders could never close the margin. Westfield's record now stands (6-2). Both losses came at the hands of Regional. Luckie led the high scoring contest with six goals and six fouls for 18 markers. Buchner tallied four goals but his eight fouls gave him 16 points. Mac and Ray Reiff each scored 11. Joe Schaffernoth had nine.

Veterans' Queries

Q—I'm planning to train under the Korean GI Bill, and I want to claim my mother as a dependent. She earns a little money, but not enough to get along without my help. What are the requirements as to dependency of parents?

A—Dependency is held to exist if your mother does not have an income large enough to provide for her "reasonable maintenance." That term includes not only the bare necessities of life, but also a reasonable amount of the conveniences and comforts in keeping with her standard of living.

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran. In figuring out my yearly income for VA pension purposes, am I supposed to count the proceeds of my late husband's commercial insurance, which I receive each month?

A—Yes. Commercial insurance proceeds must be included as income, in determining whether you meet the income ceiling requirements of the law for a VA pension.

Regional Blasts Union High, 46-39

Regional High jumped into a temporary tie for the Big Five Conference lead Tuesday, by blasting its rival, Union 46-39 at the Bulldog camp. Tom Luckie, George MacKenzie, and Fred Buchner continued to pace the locals, who remain unbeaten with seven wins.

After a closely played first quarter, in which the lead changed hands four times, Union pulled ahead by five points, but Buchner's tap-in of Ray Reiff's "puppy" and MacKenzie's sensational drive, in which he was also fouled, put Regional back in the game 23-21 at the half.

The DeRosa men caught fire. Mac stole the ball and scored on a drive-in. Buchner hit for seven, and Luckie tallied eight to put the Bulldogs ahead 34-27. However, the Farmers, behind Gil Moeen, rallied back to 34-33 at the buzzer.

The finale saw MacKenzie take points from Luckie and score, Buchner tap one in, and Mac again drive in for one before Moeen jumped one for Union. Joe Schaffernoth, 6-3 Bulldog center, dropped in a foul at the 1:29 mark for a 35-37 lead. Two fouls brought the Farmers back but Regional led the ball and the game to win.

High scorer was MacKenzie with 6 goals and four fouls for 36 points. Luckie had 15 white Buchner put in 33 markers.

SCHOOL NEWS

MINISTERS OF FAITH
 The teaching of reading is done by all students in the school. The reading program is a part of the curriculum and is given special attention. The reading program is a part of the curriculum and is given special attention.

MINISTERS OF FAITH
 There is keen competition in reading in the Special Class. Eugene Block has covered more of his reading than anyone else. Brenda Parker and Charles Collins are our best oral readers. Marlene Betz, Edward Bullock, and Anna Maria Rosamilla are making exceptionally fine progress in reading.

Board Explains

 55 appears in this paper. The following explanation is keyed to the budget headings.

"1. ADMINISTRATION. The moderate increases in this classification reflect increasing costs caused by an expanding school system.

"2. INSTRUCTION, SUPERVISORY. The increase in the appropriation for salaries is to take care of increments for school administrators and secretaries in accordance with the salary guide.

"3. INSTRUCTION, PROPER. This represents the actual cost of teaching the children, including teachers' salaries and necessary supplies. This is the keystone of our educational system, and, as one would expect, it is here that we find the greatest amount of our dollars being spent. Estimated requirements for teachers' salaries for regular increases under the salary guide and also contemplate the hiring of two or three additional teachers.

The Springfield salary guide is in line with those of neighboring communities. It is important that this policy be maintained so that the school system may be able to obtain and keep well-qualified teachers. Every effort is made to secure the best teachers available and at the same time keep a balance between new teachers and those of longer experience. Years of tenure are thus averaged, and this helps to keep down budget requirements for salaries. It is estimated that expenditures for textbooks and supplies can be kept to approximately the same figure as last year.

"4. OPERATION. Janitors' salaries show increases in accordance with the guide. Other expenses show only slight increases.

"5. COORDINATED ACTIVITIES. Money is provided in this section for the required medical and dental services which are part of the school program, including the salaries of two school nurses.

"6. AUXILIARY AGENCIES. The operation of the bus by the school system is effecting a very considerable saving in the cost of transportation. Other items in this classification have also been decreased, with the exception of that for athletics. The slight increase here represents an expanded program.

"7. FIXED CHARGES. In this section is included the estimated amount needed for tuition of handicapped children, and amounts to take care of charges already fixed for pensions and adequate insurance coverage.

3 Candidates File For School Board

Three candidates have already filed petitions for re-election to the Springfield Board of Education to be held on February 9, all three being present members of the Board. Nominating petitions can be filed with Board of Education Secretary A. B. Anderson up to January 20.

The three candidates who have already filed are: Robert G. Smith, vice president of the Board, of 14 Henshaw avenue, who is completing his second term; Clifford G. Hale of 112 South Maple who is finishing his first term; and S. Bryant Haas of 38 Edgewood avenue who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused when Mrs. Margaret Pfizinger moved out of the Township.

Ratings Protest

 The three would bring to the local post office the know-how needed to meet the ever increasing postal business here.

Del Vecchio has been with the Newark post office for 18 years and in the inspectors' department of that post office for twelve years. He was recalled to military service and served as chief of the post office at the Keeler Air Force field in Mississippi where there were over 30,000 personnel and the post office did over a quarter of a million in business. Del Vecchio served there from September in 1951 until April, 1953.

He is married; the father of two children, a boy and a girl, and resides at 50 Edgewood avenue. Del Vecchio would give no comment and refused to answer any questions regarding the appointment.

It is believed that the proposed new school budget is sufficient to take care of any contingencies that may arise. Funds must be available to provide for increasing enrollment and at the same time maintain a high standard of education for our children. The people of Springfield have shown that it is their desire to have a good school system. It is felt they will study the budget for the new school year, recognize the care that has been taken to effect economies wherever possible, and give it their support.

The Board of Education extends an invitation to attend the school budget hearing on Tuesday, January 19, at 8 p. m. in the Board Room (Library) of the Florence M. Gaudineer School.
