Shopping Center Construction Is Well Under Way

When the new owner of the General Greene Shopping Center—Max J. Levine—took over the Springfield development, he announced that "speed" would be the word in the construction program.

This word turned out to be the understatement of the month because since Mr. Levine took charge, everything has been humming at this center with bulldozers, steam shovels, cranes, and other heavy equipment turning the former unsightly area into a bustling, bustling building project, ready for actual construction work.

Last week all the trees on the site were taken out and the entire property leveled off. This week the shovels started work on the foundations and cellars for the proposed shopping center and from now on, says Mr. Levine, things will move along with even greater speed.

Yesterday a great deal of the excavation work was completed and setting of the forms started. Today, according to the schedule, the actual pouring of concrete will be begun. All the steel and other material has been ordered but when that is to be delivered depends a great deal on how soon the foundation work is completed.

Mr. Levine doesn't want to be too optimistic about the finished job but the target for opening of the entire shopping center will be some time after the first of the year—in the early spring. Grand Union Stores and the J. J. Newberry organizations are planning elaborate ceremonies for the opening of the shopping center and all the tenants may join in making it a united grand opening. Mr. Levine feels confident that a steady schedule will be maintained by the contractors and there's no doubt in his mind that the center will be open for business in the early spring.

There are no changes in the tenants originally announced for the General Greene Shopping Center although Mr. Levine states that a nationally known shoe store has practically closed to take one of the two remaining spaces in the new building.

Truck Crash Puts Man In Hospital

John Tassinaro, who lives at 54 Fourteenth avenue, Newark, and drives an Essex County News truck, is at the Overlook Hospital with several broken ribs, according to the police report, as the result of a crash yesterday morning when his vehicle came to a sudden stop against an electric pole at the corner of Morris and Short Hills avenue.

Not only is Mr. Tassinaro in the hospital but, for several hours after the crash, electric service (Continued on page 5)

Night Hours Start Sept. 9 For New Registrations

With an unusual number of newcomers to Springfield since last registration, both political parties in the Township are preparing an all out campaign to have every eligible voter qualified to cast a ballot in the important November elections. Mrs. Eleonore H. Worthington, Township Clerk, announced yesterday that all those who have not yet registered to vote here can do so any day, except Saturday, at the Township Hall between nine and five o'clock.

Youngsters Help In Polio Drive

Springfield youngsters continue to show the "way" in the battle against polio, an all star cast of six children, headed by Joanne Taylor of 250 Bryant avenue, staging a 2 day circus and musical show with the entire proceeds being donated to the emergency March of Dimes fund drive.

"The entire proceeds" in this case amount to $5.22 which was turned over to the Springfield drive committee and represents the work of the six kids, ranging in ages from 6 to 12 years—in staging a two day show on Friday and Saturday of last week.

The cast of the show was made up of Lois Schneider, 240 Bryant (Continued on page 5)

Report 197 New Buildings Here So Far In 1954

Building permits granted during the month of July in Springfield amounted to a total value of $165,300.00, according to a report submitted by Building Inspector Reuben H. Marsh to the Township Committee. The report further states that permits were issued this year up to July for 197 new buildings in Springfield which is an indication how rapidly the Township is growing.

Of the building construction permits granted in July the largest in value were to the Lyons Holding Company, the Union County Coal and Lumber Co. and the Sip and Sup Restaurant.

The Union County Coal and Lumber Company scored some kind of a construction speed record in the new executive and sales offices across the way from their present location on Mountain avenue. H. B. Wilmerding, president of the building material organization, announces that the new headquarters may be ready for them by the middle of September. No construction job has ever shown the speed of this one and (Continued on page 5)

Local Marine Is Injured In Korea

Congressman Harrison A. Williams has alerted his Washington staff to inquire, through the Navy Department, the extent of the injuries suffered by Pfc. Gordon Benkert of Springfield who is reported in serious condition in a Korean hospital. Cong. Williams' office has asked for complete information so that it may be relayed to Mrs. Carl Wozniak of 43 Battle Hill avenue, mother of the injured boy.

Mrs. Wozniak received a telegram on Monday, August 16, from the War Department informing her that her son, Private First Class Gordon Benkert, U.S. Marine Corps, is in a field hospital in Korea suffering from second and third degree burns of the arms, face, trunk and right leg. Pfc. Benkert enlisted in the Marines during his senior year at Regional High School and entered the service last December. He was sent to Korea with a mortar division in May.

Pfc. Benkert was the second son of Mrs. Wozniak to be injured within a month's time. Six year old Barry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wozniak was hit by a hit and run driver while the family was vacationing in Pottsville, Pa., on July 29. Barry received a fractured leg, broken wrist and finger. After spending a few days in a hospital in Pottsville, Barry was brought home, where he is convalescing with his leg in a cast.

Girl Scouts Thank All Who Tried To Help Them

The work of the demolition crew, dismantling the large house on the corner of Morris and Springfield avenues to make way for the new Sip and Sup Restaurant, signaled the last hope of the Springfield Girl Scouts to have this building removed to some other site for their own headquarters.

The following letter was received by the Sun which is self explanatory:

Aug. 17, 1954
J. Sarokin, Editor
Springfield Sun

There is many a Girl Scout who looks with sadness upon the dismantling of the house on Morris avenue, which Mr. Bullock so kindly offered us for a meeting place. Even with your extended and conscientious efforts to help us, we weren't able to swing the project. Our committee made many telephone calls and contacted people who might be of help to us but without the land to place the house we weren't able to proceed.

Mr. Bullock is to be commended for his fine civic spirit and his interest in the Springfield Girl Scouts and we wish him every success in his undertaking in bringing to Springfield an up to date restaurant. He can be sure the Girl Scouts of town will always regard him as a friend. It is unfortunate that we were not able to take advantage of his generous offer of the house and perhaps it may inspire some other Springfield resident to do the same for our scouts.

Mr. Henry C. McMullen and Mr. C. H. Casperson went "all out" for us and we deeply appreciated their interest and help. We are not dismayed and with this experience behind us, we look forward to another chance to make our dream of a Girl Scout Little House come true.

These were several men from town, fathers of the Scouts and other business men, who were kind enough to work along with us on the project and offer suggestions and help of free labor to get the building moved and grounded, and the publicity you gave us in your paper was a tremendous lift. To all committee members who worked conscientiously, the Girl Scouts are indeed grateful. It is inspiring to know that people are so willing to help and work with us.

We hope that any news of a building and the land to place it will find its way to the Girl Scout Council. For over six years we have worked to build up the fund and we trust it will not be in the distant future before we are able to use it to the betterment of Scouting in our town.

Sincerely,
Yours in Scouting,
MARJORIE FREY,
(Mrs. Charles J.)
Chairman Bldg. Com.

No Registrations - Fined $8 Each

Magistrate Henry C. McMullen handed out fines of $8 each to two men accused of driving non-registered vehicles at Monday night's session in Municipal Court. Those fined were John W. Orins of 23 Cornell Drive, Clark Township; and Dominick R. Martini of 33 Battle Hill avenue. A $5 fine was imposed on Carmine LePore of 101 Park Drive, Kentworth, for a stop street violation.

Ask For Removal Of Trolley Tracks

The accident on Morris avenue, caused, according to the news story in the Newark News, when a taxi "skidded on the rain slippery trolley tracks on the road" has brought several letters demanding that something be done to remove the rails on Springfield's busiest thoroughfare.

Writer of one letter, dated August 17, who asks that his name not be used, writes:

Editor, Sun:
"I see your town fathers are still waiting for George to return before they remove the buggy days trolley tracks. It is just impossible to drive over those tracks or control your car after a rain storm. I happen to know.

"A note in your paper may wake up the party, or is it too late."
The Springfield Township Committee has been advocating removing the treacherous trolley tracks for some time and this recent incident may bring a more determined renewal of that request to the New Jersey State Highway Department or other responsible authorities.

St. James Festival Plans Progressing

The forthcoming St. James' C.Y.O. Harvest Festival, to be held at St. James Church Grounds on Saturday, September 25, from 1 to 7 p.m., is creating a great deal of enthusiasm and interest. Word of this event has spread rapidly and many are anticipating the fun and frolic that will be part of this Festival.

The committee requests that any usable items such as glass, lamps, dishes, books, toys, pictures, etc., be given to Mrs. Margaret Brody of 1048 Nicholas Avenue, Union, Chairman of the White Elephant Booth.

If anyone would like to contribute a twenty-five cent wrapped gift to the Post Office Mystery Booth, please mark the package: B-boy, G-girl, H-man, W-woman, H-household, and give to Mrs. John Cain, 133 Meisel Avenue.

Civil Air Patrol Seeks Cadets In Springfield

Ralph G. Swanson, who puts in a hard day's work at his regular job in the Springfield post office and doubles, in his spare time, as Acting Commander of the Summit Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol, is launching an ambitious recruiting campaign, especially aimed at Springfield young men, to join his squadron "and prepare for a better future."

"We would like to get more Springfield young men to join," said Swanson, "and we'll guarantee them that there is no match for the thrill which comes from the actual flight in modern aircraft. Right now we have the Summit Squadron which includes Millburn, Short Hills, Summit and Springfield. We need Cadet candidates—young men from Springfield."

Swanson says that anyone interested in becoming part of this nationwide organization can get full information by contacting him at 446 Morris avenue, Springfield, or telephoning him at Millburn 6-0642.

The Summit Squadron, with Swanson in acting command, recently completed a two weeks' Summer encampment at Mitchell Air Force Base which is part of the training every year. Other local men who are active in the Squadron are First Lieutenant Ralph Tittle of 31 Bryant avenue who is a Communications Officer of the Squadron. First Lieutenant Stephen Schmidt whose title is Commandant of the Cadets; and Francis Bayles, member of the Ground Search and Rescue Team.

One of the attractive features of the organization is the opportunity for international exchange of cadets where a member of the local Squadron is sent to Switzerland for Summer instruction in Europe. Cadet John W. Oleott of Millburn was one of three New Jersey cadets who were sent to Europe this Summer on this exchange program.

"Air experience is made available to all cadets at various intervals throughout the entire Civil Air Patrol Cadet program in the latest military and civilian types of equipment," said Swanson in discussing the advantages of training with his Squadron.

"Flights are a part of CAP Cadet training, and are performed in light aircraft, USAF has on loan to CAP L's and L's for this purpose. Civilian aircraft of the Piper Cub, Aerona, Swift and Cessna types are also used.

"Good will and understanding between young people the world over is the aim of the CAP Exchange Program. Each summer a group of carefully selected cadets are exchanged with Canada, England, France, and other foreign countries. While American cadets are abroad, foreign exchange cadets are flown to points of interest in the U. S.

"Civil Air Patrol utilizes the value of radio communications, not only in aircraft operation, but also in case of emergency. Through the efforts of Civil Air Patrol National Headquarters, the United States Air Force has allotted radio equipment to the various CAP Wings.

"CAP stands ready for any emergency involving the use of aircraft during flood disaster searches for missing aircraft, searches over water areas for lost persons, message dropping practice, forest fire patrol and emergency courier service. Other activities have included mass flights to various airports and Air Force Bases.

For two full weeks each summer many of America's finest Air Force Bases are hosts to thousands of CAP cadets. During this period cadets put into practice many of the lessons they have learned in classrooms. They have an opportunity to become acquainted with the operation of the military establishment."

"CAP stands ready for any emergency involving the use of

State Facing Dust Bowl Era, Conservationist Says

The Garden State may become a "dust bowl state" unless long-range planning is developed and immediate action taken against water shortages and drought, Dr. Joseph E. McLean, Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development declared this week.
Commissioner McLean said many municipalities are already experiencing the pinch of water shortages, although the current dry spell is of relatively short duration compared to those that have occurred in New Jersey in the past.

Water reserves in most systems are insufficient to cope with long dry periods. "Every individual in the State needs to become water conscious," McLean said, "so that water will be used sparingly and not wasted."

The problem, as the Department of Conservation and Economic Development sees it, is that the development of additional water supplies in the State has barely kept pace with the expanding population and demand even when rainfall is normal. There is little reserve water to sustain the state when rainfall is below normal, and, of course, there is no way of forestalling the duration and severity of drought.

Floods, Droughts Linked
That floods and droughts go hand-in-hand is apparent from recent news stories and is confirmed by Dr. Thurlow C. Nelson, chairman of the State Water Policy and Supply Council. Dr. Nelson points to record floods in Paraguay, the State of Iowa, and on the Rio Grande and Danube Rivers. At the same time he says, new dust bowls are forming in Colorado, in parts of the Middle West and in our own Garden State.

60-Year Drought
Dr. Nelson recalls that in 1940, geophysicist Halbert P. Gillette predicted that the dry weather that began in 1930 would continue for 60 years with minimum rainfall due from 1954 to 1956. The year 1953 closed with a considerable deficiency in the last months, while 1954, to date, has been the driest in the New York-New Jersey area since weather records began. Nelson adds, "If Gillette's predictions for the period 1954-1956 continue to be realized in the months ahead as accurately as they have been during the first half of 1954, many areas of New Jersey will suffer the most severe water shortages in their history."

Recommendations for immediate measures include: a water consciousness on the part of all residents to use water sparingly and stop waste. In the most critical areas, the water conservation measures used in 1949 should be instituted again. Full use of existing interconnections between water supply systems should be made wherever possible so that any surplus waters can be made available to those systems in greatest need.

Land for watersheds and reservoirs should be acquired as quickly as possible. The Wharton Estate in South Jersey and the Round Valley Reservoir site in northern New Jersey are specifically recommended.

10-Year Build-Up
The long-range planning, which in many respects is even more urgent than the current measures, Commissioner McLean believes should be underway at once. "It takes at least 10 years before any water is available for a major reservoir," he explained. "At the Wanaque Reservoir, put into operation in 1931 and meeting a vital need, preliminary planning was underway in 1916 and construction started about 1920."

The Commissioner refers to State Water Policy reports in past years which stressed the great lack of storage in New Jersey reservoirs. "These point up another of the State's immediate problems: the necessity of increasing storage through retention of flood waters. During one flood in late 1950 and early 1951—and only a year after the extreme drought of 1942—records show that enough water passed the official State gaging station on the Raritan River at Manville to have filled Wanaque and all the reservoirs of Newark, even if each started as a completely dry basin. But instead of being able to conserve this water, it rushed uncontrolled to the sea. If such waste is allowed to continue, in the next few years, New Jersey may indeed fulfill the scientists' predictions and become another dust bowl."

PLEASE place your quarter in the slot marked August 21 on your card.
You are reminded that next week will end this drive and that a representative of the First Aid Squad will call for the cards during September.

In Time For Wedding
Mrs. B. L. Green of Deland, Florida, arrived this week to attend the wedding of her grandson, James E. Conner, Springfield postal clerk, to Miss Joan Roth of Jersey City to be held this coming Sunday. Conner and his future bride recently appeared on the Strike-It-Rich program in order to arrange for Conner's grandmother to be present.

Engagement Told
The engagement of Miss Eileen Wojtowicz to Pfc. Mariano Leo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Leo of South 13th street, Newark, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wojtowicz of 3rd avenue, Garwood.

Miss Wojtowicz is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Her fiance is a graduate of Rutgers University and is stationed with the Army in Washington.

Another construction job to enter the speed race in Springfield is the Sip and Sup Restaurant which is to be constructed on the corner of Morris and Springfield avenue. The actual work on building hasn't, as yet, started but judging by the speed in dismantling the large house on the property in the past two weeks, this company hopes to have the new restaurant ready before the cold weather sets in.

The large house was demolished down to the foundation last week and, this week, the wreckers are tearing down the small building next door on Springfield avenue. Grading and excavating work is expected to start next week and the actual construction work as soon as this has been completed.

The new home of the Crestmont Savings and Loan Association in Springfield—the former St. James Catholic Church on Morris avenue and Linden—is getting very close to completion. The outside brick is being finished this week and a great deal of the interior is already completed. Those who have watched its progress freely admit that it will be one of the show places of Springfield, one of the finest buildings in the Township.

and some telephone service was out for residents in Brook street and some portions of Spring Brook Gardens.
According to Patrolman Albert Taaffe who reported the accident, the truck was going east on Morris avenue and when it approached Short Hills avenue, the driver was forced to make a wide turn to avoid another car coming out of Short Hills avenue. The truck, crashed into a pole and Tassinaro was thrown out. The First Aid Squad responded to Patrolman Taaffe's emergency call and the driver was rushed to the hospital where he is reported resting well.

POSTMASTER AT CAMP
Springfield's recently named Postmaster Abel V. Del Vecchio is off for Macon, Georgia, for two weeks' summer encampment with the 88th Air Depot Wing at the Robin's Air Field. Del Vecchio is a captain in the reserves and was called for two weeks' active duty with his outfit.

Other featured performers were clowns, acrobats, twirlers and dancers. As the event which was attended by more than 20 people proved to be such a success, the children have made definite plans to stage this affair annually, solely for the purpose of aiding the March of Dimes campaign in its never-ending battle to erase polio everywhere.

Bond Elec. Take League Title; Beat P.B.A. 8-3

The Bond Electronics softball team whipped the P.B.A. in the play-off game to win the league championship in the Springfield Softball League by a score of 8-3.

Lou Cocione pitched 4 hit ball for the winning Bond team as Vedutis, Walton and Foley sparked the victory by driving in two runs each to lead the attack.

The P.B.A. using a fast-ball pitcher for the first time this season proved no match as he was tagged for four runs in the first inning. This was too much for the P.B.A.'s, as they never quite recovered from that first inning and Bond team were in complete control all the way.

A round robin playoff will start today with the P.B.A. playing Safeway and Bond Electronics playing D'Andreas. The teams will be awarded league trophies for the playoff series and the league championship. All games will be played at the Meisel avenue field.
