THIS WEEK

No "Bed of Roses"

Being a member of the Springfield Board of Adjustment is never a "bed of roses", and last week's regular meeting was no exception. They rejected several applications for variances in the present zoning ordinance for which they will be "applauded" or "booed"—all depending, of course, on which side you're on.

Refusing to grant a variance for the proposed shopping center on the Frank Colatruccio property was, no doubt, in the best interests of the Township since it is an area with three crowded schools. There is every reason to believe that such a shopping center on this property would increase traffic considerably—but so will new homes bring more cars and more traffic.

The Springfield Sun has been beating the drums and ringing bells to do more about bringing new ratables to the Township and talk down, where possible, the construction of more homes. There are now plans on the drawing board or under consideration by the Building Inspector here for enough homes to actually frighten those who want to provide school and municipal services for these new taxpayers.

The only thought we had concerning the plot of land bounded by Mountain Avenue, Sumpke Road and South Springfield Avenue was that it might add to the ratables. But opposition developed to such an extent that the members of the Board could hardly decide against such a well presented case against granting the variance.

There Must Be An Answer

However, we cannot agree with the members of the Board of Adjustment in turning down the application for a variance for Davega Stores on Route 22.

Of course, all of this is a matter of opinion—and the Adjustment Board members, probably, had their reasons for rejecting this matter. But we cannot see where Davega is asking for any more than was granted to the Saks Fifth Avenue organization in changing the zoning from residential to business in that area.

Davega requested a variance that would permit the Route 22 store to provide more parking facilities for an expansion of their store facilities. Objections were presented but they were more articulate than those shouted by the outraged residents in the neighborhood of the Saks Fifth Avenue project.

So—we are asking—what is the difference? Saks was given a variance, changing the zoning to business in a very highly residential section. Davega, on Route 22, which has been accepted as business area by Springfield, extending back towards Hillside, wants more space for parking—but the request was rejected.

Also—we don't believe the impact of any traffic on Route 22 will affect Springfield and the additional parking space—ON THEIR OWN PROPERTY—would mean additional ratables for the Township tax collector . . .

Or, is it the idea of Springfield to keep all the unoccupied acreage as is—bringing in "peanuts" where it should drop dollars in the town's treasury. We believe business should be encouraged to expand and there doesn't appear to be enough—from this vantage point—to have rejected the Davega request.

"A Rose By Any Other Name, etc."

An array of legal talent, business men and about 40 residents of Springfield perspired through a three hour session in Municipal Court Monday night to hear charges against G. Norman Becker, well known grower of pansies on Mountain Avenue.

The complaints against him were that he uses fertilizer on his farm and "that he is doing nothing about taking the odor out!"

Mr. Becker who has been operating the pansy farm for nine years says he doesn't know how pansies can be grown, as he grows them, without the use of fertilizer. And most of the people who came to the stand to testify in this municipal opera agreed that "it was not difficult to detect the presence of fertilizer—when the wind was in the right direction—but that it was not that offensive and obnoxious to haul Mr. Becker into court."

The neighbors who did find the fertilizer offensive impressed the court and Mr. Becker was fined $30 for the violation of the town sanitary code.

Perhaps, Mr. Becker could enlist the cooperation of the Stop-ette people or some other deodorant manufacturer to treat the fertilizer so that it would not offend even the most sensitive and allergic nostrils.

But, everybody agrees there is no substitute for fertilizer and Mr. Becker might distribute Aerosol Deodorant Bombs to the neighbors while the laboratories are busy trying to mute the sound of a fresh load of fertilizer at the pansy farm.

Patting the Sun on the Back

We don't usually print the "pat on the back" letters we receive but the one below, which we are taking the liberty of publishing without a signature, is very warm, and we can't resist passing it along. Here it is without even a comma changed:

Editor, Sun:
I have delayed too long in complimenting you on your Springfield Sun.

I look forward each week to Thursday when the "Sun" arrives at our home. Your editorials always hit the nail on the head. I give you so much credit in really voicing your honest opinion on all subjects. You know as I do that most of us hesitate to give vent to our feelings, always holding back, biting our tongue for fear we will create the impression we are never satisfied. But you are honest, telling the truth and facts as they are. Further, your paper is never biased.

When I hear the Sarokins are planning a vacation I know that when they return I will read all about it. Your personal experiences are such fun to read. I always get a good laugh.

Please accept my sincerest best wishes for your continued success, you deserve all of it.

New Bake Shop To Open Wednesday

Springfield's newest bakery, the Mountain Spring Bake Shop, 721 Mountain Ave., is scheduled to open its doors for the first time Wednesday, September 5. The new shop will specialize in quality breads, pastries, and cakes, exclusively on a retail basis. Orders for custom baked cakes to mark special events will be accepted.

The owners of the Mountain Spring Bake Shop are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gehrlach, who formerly owned and operated the very popular Gehrlach's Bakery at 559 So. Broad St., Elizabeth. With the exodus of many families to suburban Union County, Mr. Gehrlach decided to build a new shop in Springfield, where he has many friends. The results are the ultra-modern shopping facilities at 721 Mountain Ave. The baking equipment embodies the very latest in baking techniques, and the store itself is decorated in a modern vein. There are private parking facilities for customers.

The Gehrlachs have invited all their neighbors and friends for coffee and cake on their opening day.

Registration Offices To Be Open To 9 p. m.

Voters will be able to register in Springfield's Township Clerk's office, Municipal Building, every day, except Saturday and Sunday, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. starting September 13 until September 27. The Union County Board of Elections made that announcement yesterday and all municipal clerks will observe the same hours.

The League of Women Voters of Springfield again urged all residents of the Township to register. "You cannot vote on November 6," their statement said, "unless you are a registered voter. It doesn't matter whether you're a Kentucky Colonel or a tired housewife—you've just got to be registered from your present address before September 27. If your name is not yet in the 'book,' the statement continued, register now before the last minute rush. The qualifications are that you must have lived in New Jersey one year and in the county five months by November 6. Register now and vote November 6. Then, if you don't like the candidates who get in, you'll be entitled to gripe to your heart's content."

Local Garden Apartment Is Sold To Wiss

The 48 unit Baltosrol garden apartment at 545 Morris Avenue has been sold to the Wiss Realty Co. of Newark, through Leslie Blau, Newark realtor, it was announced this week.

The Leslie Blau organization also announced the sale to Wiss Realty of the 21-unit Wythe House garden apartment at 495 Main Street, Chatham, both to be managed by the Blau organization.

Sellers of the two projects were Louis Jeffrey of Bernardsville and Ned Kaslow of South Orange. Both apartment projects were built about 3 years ago by Kaslow and Jeffrey.

These two transactions, involving all cash for stock transfer above existing mortgages, were arranged for Wiss Realty Co., Inc. by J. Frank Brooks, acting for the Blau agency.

Arthur Wenz of Englewood appeared as attorney for the sellers. Attorneys for the Wiss Realty interests were Osborne, Cornish and Scheck, of Newark.

Congratulations, Grandpa!

If Township Committeeman Raymond W. Forbes hands you a cigar and even tries to force another and a third one on you, it's because he learned early Tuesday morning that he is a grandpa. Mr. and Mrs. Forbes were notified that their daughter, Lynne C., who is now Marine Lieut. Richard Schoenhardt, had given birth to a boy at the Quantico Marine Hospital.

Buses To Take Leaguers To Felton Show

Details of Springfield's Little Leaguers television night on the Happy Felton Show at Ebbets Field, Friday night, September 28, are being worked out by Davega Stores, Joseph L. Focht, president of the Township's Youth League, and "Ike" Freedman, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Invitation to participate has been made by Davega Stores of Route 22 who are sponsors of this program.

Arrangements are being made for transportation to and from Ebbets Field with the Somerset Bus Company and the plan of those in charge is to have all those in Springfield's party make the trip to the home of the Dodgers together. Members of the winning Rotary team in Springfield will be the guests of honor with three (Continued on page 2)

Husbandry, that ancient art of applying matter to the soil which is either organic or inorganic but very rich in nitrogenous compounds—known in the trade as (hush) manure but to the more allergic souls as fertilizer—was the subject of a heated three-hour session in Springfield's Municipal Court Monday night.

At the end of the long, perspiring session Magistrate Henry C. McWhorter fined G. Norman Becker of 425 Mountain Avenue $25 and $5 costs for "violation of the Township's sanitary and health codes."

Office Building On Mountain Ave.

William Matyssek of 251 Hillside Avenue announces plans to construct an office building on his property located on Mountain Avenue next to Baldwin's Shell Station. The building will be a two story building with 2 stores on the ground floor and 6 offices on the second floor.

The building will be of all masonry construction with Colonial design. Plans have been drawn and approved. The building will be fully air conditioned with ample off street parking. Completion will be about the fall of 1957.

Planning Board Hearing Moved To October 4

Another municipal hurricane is brewing, and was scheduled to strike in full fury at a meeting of Springfield's Planning Board scheduled for next Wednesday, Sept. 5.

This notice of a hearing had to do with an application made by Joseph Tabatchnick for a Land Subdivision permit which is said to ask for the opening of a "paper street" in the rear of his four stores on Mountain Avenue.

The hearing, scheduled for next Wednesday, has been continued until Thursday, October 4, and the threatening storm has veered out to sea—for the time being.

Some residents in the immediate area who planned to attend the hearing were up in arms because the date set was the start of the Jewish High Holy Days and some of those who wanted to know more about the plan could not attend.

Regular meetings of the Planning Board are usually scheduled for the first Thursday of each month but this meeting was set for Wednesday instead of Thursday.

Meeting Night Changed

Township officials were informed that next Wednesday evening's date conflicted with one of the most important of Jewish holidays, and announcement that the hearing was continued for a month was made yesterday morning.

The explanation for a Wednesday meeting of the Planning Board instead of the usual first Thursday night of each month was that a very important member of the Board could not attend on Thursday night.

According to information received at the Municipal Building the application before the Planning Board asks that permit be granted for completing the paper street, which makes part of the circle of North and South Derby streets, so as to afford access to the Tabatchnick property on Mountain Avenue. The four stores are now completed and extend to the extremes of the property lines on both sides on Mountain Avenue with a set back for parking purposes.

The Land Subdivision application is said to include making the street available for delivery to the rear of these stores and the possibility of more homes being built on the property in the lots 45 to 50 of Block 77.

The other notice of a continued hearing, scheduled for next Wednesday night, will go on as scheduled. It has to do with the application of Harry Knowles for a Land Subdivision permit on the property along Springfield Avenue.

This land is part of property extending into Millburn and the story has it that the owners plan to construct a night club and dining room in the Millburn section but the parking lot for customers will be in the Springfield portion.

Postal Authorities Ask Help Against Vandalism

The Springfield rock'n'roll boys, with the Elvis Presley sideburns, had better watch their steps if they think it's fun to tamper with the United States mail boxes in the Township.

The local postal authorities report that there are several instances of vandalism in connection with the street collection boxes and Postmaster A. V. Del Vecchio has asked for the cooperation of the residents to eliminate these conditions.

Within the past two weeks several of the collection schedule cards on the boxes have been removed. The prime target for removal of these cards is the mail box at the corner of Mountain and Hillside Avenues from which box 4-time cards have been taken in the past two weeks.

These schedule cards are important to the public in the neighborhood inasmuch as the scheduled times of collection that are posted coincide with dispatches of mail from the Springfield post office. Besides the inconvenience caused to patrons of the post office, the time being used to prepare replacements has continually increased at the taxpayer's expense.

Of an equally serious nature is the finding of broken milk and soda bottles and miscellaneous trash in the mail boxes. The hazard to the mailmen who use these boxes for storage of mail and to those collecting mail from the boxes is quite apparent and could result in serious injuries. The collection boxes have been placed throughout the town for the deposit of mail only. Postmaster Del Vecchio reminds that the penalty for tampering with any mail box is a fine of $1000 or three years imprisonment.

Only Three Tax Appeals Filed From Township

Only three appeals have been made by Springfield property owners with the Union County Tax Board, asking for a reduction in their assessments for 1956, according to information received yesterday.

A hearing for Springfield's appeals will be held in the Union County Court House on October 23.

Only one of the three appeals from Springfield is in the higher assessment brackets. Terrin Holding Company, owners of the building now occupied by Channel Lumber Company on Route 22, asks that the assessment on the building be reduced from its present figure of $49,150 to $33,425.

The other appeals are Saul Luber of 46 Battle Hill Avenue which wants the assessed valuation on his building reduced from $2600 to $2100. The third appeal is by Joseph P. Robinson of 70 Meckes street, who says his building should be assessed at only $500. The local tax assessors say the valuation is $1,000.

Oels Home Is Hit By Lightning Bolt

The sudden storm of Tuesday night had the Springfield Fire Department on the job when lightning struck the power lines in front of the home of Edward H. Oels of 52 Mapes Avenue.

According to Deputy Fire Chief Mesker, the cause of the fire was the lightning striking the power lines and directed to the crawl space of the Oels home where the fire broke out.

All but one piece of apparatus was dispatched to the scene and the fire was brought under control in approximately one hour.

Damage by smoke was considerable. None of the occupants of the house were injured, but one fireman was treated for burn, and five who were overcome by smoke, were given oxygen by the Springfield First Aid Squad.

Asks Business Builders To Consider Morris Ave.

The Chamber of Commerce, through its president "Ike" Freedman, is planning a campaign to induce developers and prospective builders of shopping centers to thoroughly explore the possibilities on Morris avenue before going to the outskirts or open spaces of Springfield.

"Morris avenue is the logical and geographical center of shipping," said Freedman, "and we can't understand why these enterprising men should look only to the wide open spaces of Springfield for their business development."

"There are many properties available in Morris avenue and while rumors are that the owners are holding them for high prices, it is our chief belief that many such plots of ground can be bought; everything in business can be purchased for a price."

"The Chamber of Commerce plans a meeting very soon with the idea of going to the Township Committee and requesting that some action be taken immediately to make enough off street parking available to attract some of these builders."

"Right now there are several vacant pieces of property and residences on Morris avenue that would make excellent sites for any type business. Once the governing body evolves a plan to open up the big amount of land in the rear of the north side of Morris avenue, there can be no more desirable business property."

Morris avenue is the natural thoroughfare for all and, if we can attract some more business buildings, more stores—with all the parking we need, there will be no more need of squabbling with variances, zoning changes and what not. Morris avenue is Springfield's business street and should be developed."

Buses to Take

members of the team participating in pitching and fielding with Dodger stars before the television cameras.

The players will make the trip in their baseball uniforms to be accompanied by coaches, managers and other adults to make up a full load of the bus. Seats, directly in the range of the television cameras, have been reserved for members of the Township Committee and indications are that Mayor Albert G. Binder will have his full team of town officials to honor the local youth league champions.

In case of rain, the Springfield committee has been informed that the whole show is off. September 28 is the last night game for the Brooklyn Club and inclement weather would mean that Springfield youth league champions would have to wait until next season. However, plans are proceeding for the big Springfield night on television on September 28.

Last week some forty boys and managers, officials, etc. of the Springfield Youth League were guests at the annual "All Star Sandlot Game" sponsored by the New York Journal American at the Polo Grounds in New York.

Tickets for this interesting game together with other highlights participated in by T.V. and screen celebrities such as Jackie Gleason and Frank Sinatra were thoroughly enjoyed by the boys and others.

These tickets were made available through the very fine efforts of Township Committeeman Ray Forbes who has shown a very sincere interest in this program.

The boys were driven over to New York by league officials and other parents.

Registration

Elections decided to keep the registration places open at night during those two weeks after hearing pleas by representatives of the Union County Chapter, League of Women Voters and the Union County Industrial Union Council, CIO.

Pleas by the two groups for additional offices for registration of voters were denied.

Appeal to Meyner

Meanwhile, an appeal brought the suggestion from Gov. Robert B. Meyner that the state chairman of the Democratic and Republican parties get together to work out a uniform system with county election boards for better registration facilities.

The new hours will mark the first time voters have been able to register any evening during the two weeks before the deadline. In previous years registration offices were open only two nights a week except during the last four days when they remained open until 9 p. m.

In Taxes?

Suppose your estate is worth $300,000. Suppose you want your wife to have regular income as long as she lives, the property eventually going to the children. Which way would you do it?

Should you leave your estate by Program 1st, taking advantage of an early tax saving? Or is Program 2nd advisable, saving taxes later? Program 3rd might be best, combining both early and late economies. And shouldn't you consider Program 4th, which might enable you to leave the maximum sum for the children?

Our estate planning officers and your attorney can help you find the practical and legal answers to such questions in terms of your family goals and estates situation. Why not visit our office, in Millburn, for a review of your estate affairs.

News of Local Troops

Training Date Lists were given to Troop Leaders at the joint Council and Leaders' Meeting in June by Mrs. Joseph Zidonik, Training Program Chairman. However, as a reminder or with the possibility that some leaders are without lists, please make note of the dates in the following schedule and try to attend as many sessions as possible.

Basic Training Sessions for all new leaders, regardless of troop position and for all first year Brownie leaders will be held September 5, 12, 26, October 3, 10, 17, 24, and 30 at the Florence Gaudineer Cafeteria, 8 P.M. to 10.

There will be a Transition Session for second year Brownie leaders to prepare them for "fly-up" at the home of Mrs. Charles Mink, 67 Bryant Ave. September 19 from 1 P.M. to 3.

On September 11 and 25 there will be sessions for second Class Rank Troop Leaders in one of the Florence Gaudineer Classrooms from 8 P.M. to 10 and on October 9 and 16 for First Class Rank Troop Leaders at the same place and hour.

At a Council Workshop on October 23, there will be an opportunity for all leaders to become acquainted with and have a better understanding of the functions of the various board chairmen and to ask any questions they might have concerning them.

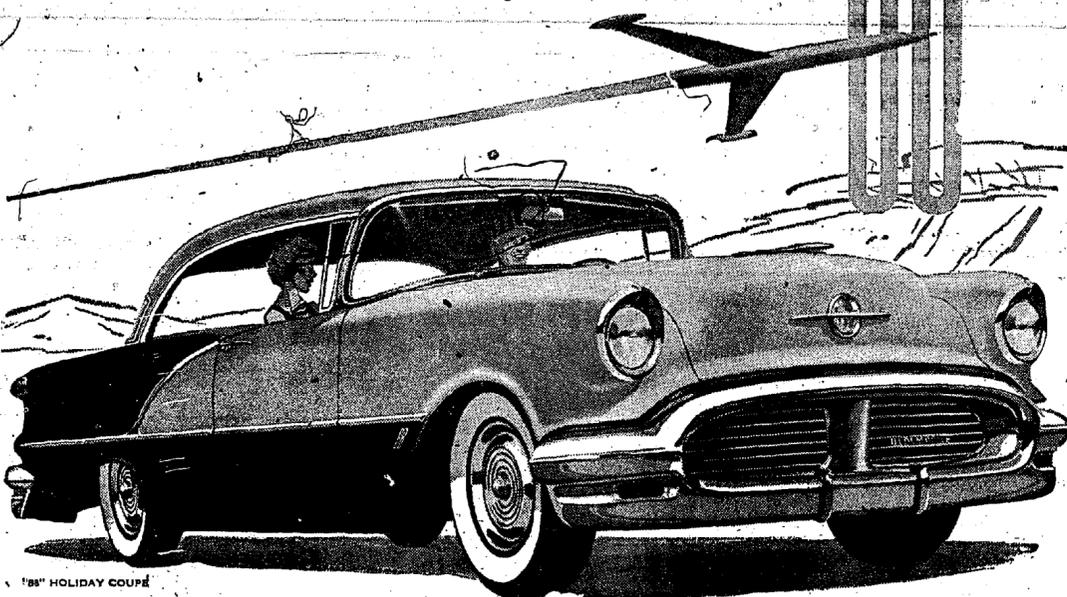

Instruction in firebuilding, lashing, and knot tying will be given at an Outdoor Session on Saturday, October 6 from 10 A.M. to 12. This is important to all leaders but particularly to those having second and first Class Rank Troops. The place for this session will be announced in September.

Of equal value and interest is the Craft Workshop on November 1 and 14 in the Florence Gaudineer Art Room from 8 P.M. to 10. The crafts include Basketry, weaving, leather, wood-carving, soap-carving, pottery, raffia, and metal (copper-aluminum). There will be an instructor for each craft in order that leaders may take advantage of as many as they desire.

Please contact Mrs. Zidonik, Drexel 6-1668 if you have any questions regarding the Training Program.

Automatic Bowling At Local Alleys

Progress, as typified in push button automobiles, push button radios and push button television, has come of age. The latest new addition to this modern world is the introduction of the latest in the new innovation.

The Springfield Bowling Alleys on 34 Center street, under the joint ownership of Mario and Pat Latella, announce that with the opening of the fall season, the local alleys will be operated by the new, modern, efficient A.M.F. Automatic Pin Spotters.

The idea of automatic bowling has been in operation here and there around the country, but Springfield Bowling is the first in this immediate area to adopt the new innovation.

Latella also announced that there are still some openings for some women's leagues and factory leagues and open bowling on afternoons and week-ends.

Falcon Fire Alarm Installed By Squad

Announcement was made this week by John Baier, President of the Springfield First Aid Squad and head of the building committee, of the installation of 10 Falcon Fire Alarm units in the nearly-completed squad house.

The alarm system will activate a siren when degree of temperature at ceiling level in any part of the 1-story building changes to a high enough degree to indicate the presence of fire or a fire condition.

The Squad wishes to thank Mr. Graham Reeves, president of Falcon Alarm Co., Summit, for the donation of the units and special thanks to Bill Rankin of Meisel Ave., Springfield for giving of his time to install these units.

Baier also reported that progress on completion of the squad house has been steady with all the trim work almost completed. The outside painting has been finished and the tile work will be started this week. He stated the ambulance would be housed in its new location along about October when all work on the squad house should be completed and ready for use.

Denims Lose To Bermuda Shorts For Campus Wear

Long a traditional part of campus wardrobes — the blue denim jean ensemble — at last is losing its status! From a shy beginning on

Eastern college campuses to a steady push westward, Bermuda shorts now come into importance on the school scene. In classrooms, round the ground, after-class get-togethers and other school activities, boys and girls alike wear a neat, smart look in knee-length shorts and in calf-length or to-the-knee socks. Fabrics, colors and combinations may vary in each part of the country — one school may favor khaki, others flannels, solid wools, tweeds or plaids. The mid-calf or tapered-to-the-ankle slack styles seem to be most popular in the Middle West and West coast areas, while schools in the Northwest continue to cast jeans.

Good timing for Fall—a slender-looking grey dress offset with pearl-white buttons and bright white collar.

Collegiate Takes Varied Wardrobe Back-To-School

As the college man has a well-deserved reputation for being a pace-setter in men's fashions, it's a sure-fire bet that Joe College's "what to take back to school" list will be heavy on clothing.

His list will of course include a couple of Ivy League suits in light tone medium weight worsted or flannel, but the main emphasis will fall on sports clothes and new items of outerwear.

The trend toward lighter and brighter colors, which gained big momentum throughout spring and summer, is carrying over into the fall and winter seasons. Charcoals are well on the way out to make room for the newly favored shades of Cambridge and banker's gray, tan, olive gray, green and blue.

Two of the most important colors, especially in sport jackets and outerwear, will be brown and blue. Combinations of both shades in lightweight herringbone tweed designs, plaids, checks and stripes promise to hold the spotlight as a major fashion innovation during the cold weather months.

It is important to note that while the college man's wardrobe will feature a predominance of sportswear, his fall 1958 sportswear has none of its old "sloppy" appearance. Instead, the over-casual look has been replaced by a stylish, tailored feeling, despite its dressed-up appearance still gives a maximum of comfort.

Youngsters' Shoes Are Dressier

Children's shoes for fall are "well-mannered"—they're dressier, neater and more suited to each occasion.

For school, boys and girls alike continue to wear the basic leather oxford, now in lighter leather and of lighter construction throughout, with low-stung, continental-type styling.

Durability has not been neglected, for the lighter leather is just as strong as the older, heavier type, and more careful workmanship goes into construction of the lighter oxfords.

Grainy and shag leathers are in the school-shoe spotlight, and baseball-glove leathers are popular among the smooth leathers.

Two- and three-eyelet ties are most popular for girls, while boys prefer three- and four-eyelets. Many have moc-like toes. Slimmer lasts prevail in all types of shoes.

The casual shoe, so important for adults, is new for children. Since it is between a dress and a play shoe, it fits well with the new casual clothes which have replaced jeans.

Slip-ons with fringed collars and straps in brushed leathers, for boys and girls, and one-strap in textured leathers for girls are a version of the casual shoe. All are light in weight; some are unlined and many feature soft toe construction.

Warmer and brighter browns have first place in school shoes, with grays coming up strong and reds well liked by girls.

The pump and one-strap lead in little girls' dress shoes. While the shell, the "V" and the square throat are still important, the A-line or broad-throat silhouette is newer in both types.

Elasticized toplines appear more and more in pumps, and many have detachable straps. Some straps are convertible, to be worn across the instep or caught behind the counter, changing the shoe from a Mary Jane into a flat.

MONOGRAMS MAKE NEWS
Monograms are making a big comeback as a fashion-fad among college girls. Large-size initial letters are added to skirts, sweaters or jackets. To give the fad a practical twist, the girls use matching monograms to identify towels and other personal property.

The first adding machine to employ depressible keys was patented by D. D. Parmelee in February, 1850.

Blazer Jackets Really Rate

Ivy League type blazer-stripes are a major fashion highlight in their vote for "those old blue fall sportsjackets. Men are no longer saddling themselves with the burden of heavyweight clothing throughout fall and winter, and lightweight fabrics are becoming strongly favored for comfort and reasons of practical appeal.

Some of the most popular choices in sportsjackets will be those featuring a vertical stripe in color combinations of deep red and Cambridge gray, gray and olive green, or medium tan and smoke blue. Most important fabrics will include medium weight wool worsted and soft, lightweight tweed.

A new fabric which is destined for high fashion significance in sport jackets, is a knitted wool worsted jersey which has a soft, tweed appearance, is light in weight and which steadfastly refuses to wrinkle despite all kinds of rough treatment.

FAVORED FOR COLLEGE
Popular fashion for college girls is the knit skirt, in authentic clan plaids. Classic version has pleats stitched down over the hipline and fastens with leather side buckles and a large safety pin.

Junior Fashions Favor Grown-Up Styles—Modified to Suit Needs

Getting into a romantic mood for fall, trend-setting junior fashions borrow design inspiration from the styles of the 1910's. The result is seen in softened sheath dresses with a high-waisted look and attractively-detailed bodices.

The same influences carry over into junior separates, costumes that do double duty, suits and coats.

Slim but relaxed is the rule in daytime wearables, but as the day turns toward evening, more juniors turn to bell-skirted dresses. Straight skirts for late day "take on fluid lines" by the addition of full overskirts, sometimes with harem hems.

Going along with over-all trends, the slender silhouette for juniors gets new treatments. Most outstanding is blousing at the top of both one and two piece dresses and in costume jackets.

One such approach to the two-piece dress employs a blouse top, called a "blouson," with attached hood and a separate skirt of the same checked wool fabric.

Makes Conversation Hoods top off many a junior dress, coat, suit or jacket, especially when the fabric is wool. And when the fabric is silk chiffon, as in one dress with a "jeweled" hood, the junior who wears it can be sure her outfit will be a conversation piece.

In addition to blousing and bustline seaming or draping, top interest details include real and mock boleros, cowl necklines, bow and button treatments.

Derived from the high waisted look are dresses cut without a waistline. Easy fullness falls from a fitted bustline and can be controlled by a belt. One major change from last season's fashions is the prevalence of leather belts on most junior dresses.

In costumes, double-breasted button treatments for jackets stand out. Waist-length and shorter jackets, caracos that button in back, longer semi-fitted jackets, weskits and stoles form partnerships with easy sheaths.

Casuals, Go Romantic Newly important are casual dresses with feminine, romantic styling. Contrasting fabrics, used to create a shirt-skirt effect, provide another approach to styling for the one-piece casual.

Juniors like the knit look, too. Bulky knits appear on their own in coats, jackets, dresses, and are used as trims. A favored trim-treatment is the use of knitted yoke and long fitted sleeves for wool dresses.

From dark to light is the color story for juniors. Reds, greens, grays, black, beige to brown, pale and vivid blues and bold, brightly colored plaids are included.

Jersey in many textures, sheer wool and broadcloth and flannel make fabric news.

Gay Handbag Accessories Are New Co-ed Fad

A survey made of current co-ed fads, shows that wallets and billfolds are leading fashion accessories.

On campus and between classes, the girls are carrying in purse or pocket — their mad money, glasses and lipstick in chunky billfolds which also accommodate a collection of photos, notes and what-have-you.

Much favored are clutch bags which are actually over-grown billfolds; some of these resemble a passport case, others an elongated "french purse." Other styles copy the envelopes flap of a handbag.

In bright leathers and fabrics, these are perfect for school or sports; glitter treatments turn the safe designs into high fashion for teens or evening affairs.

Coordinated sets in purse accessories include — billfolds, wallets or french purses, key and spectacle cases, compacts, lipstick con-

Parents of overweight children should not begin any reducing plans without a doctor's guidance. Many children cannot go on severe diets without injuring their health.

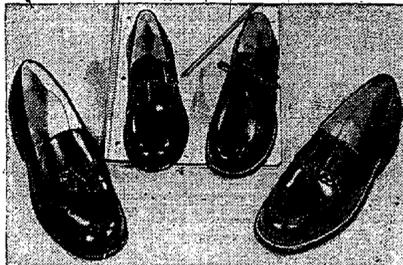

Here's a spanking new school bag for the modern miss to carry her lunch. Fashioned in brightly colored leather, it features a briefcase type lock and gussets to accommodate extra books, papers, sandwiches and other goodies.

"Watch" Out—As Gay New Plaids Come In

Plaids are in — for the new school term, but they are very new looking, and last season's Black Watch — is out!

Fashion points to plaid again and accents shadow plaids, Glens, and other highland plaids in such color combos as black or brown with white; brown or beige sparked with color; or black or grey and white striped with red.

The schoolboy's feet will be shod in a variety of leathers in styles that copy big brother's and father's this fall. ### Youngsters' Back-To-School Shoes Step Forth Comfortably And Smartly In Fall Collections

A quick look at the shop windows—now brimming over with back-to-school footwear — shows that children's leather shoes are more highly styled, lighter not only in weight but also in line, color and trim, and more grown-up than ever.

The young girls chooses from a multitude of styles in leathers in every color in the rainbow. For tailored wear, straps again predominate, with twin straps the most popular. Contrasts of leather in combinations of textures such as calf and suede, buckskin and calf, suede and glove-soft pigskin, as well as contrasting shades of the same leathers, look well with sweaters and skirts.

The popularity of the "easy on-and-off" shoe is growing in leaps and bounds for both boys and girls, focusing new attention on tassel mocs in supple glove leathers and gored pull-ons in creamy tones of elk.

Most of the new flatties for Fall are light as a feather and soft as down. Soft-leather slip-ons are anchored with elasticized throats or sides. High throat lines and high counters give many a truly Oriental look.

Stacked leather heels will be clattering down school corridors, since you'll find them on most of the new flats.

Saddle stitching and leather lacing adds interesting surface treatment to the simple lines of most flats.

For dressy occasions, teen shoes in both suede and smooth leathers come in new intense colors—ag a rosy rust; a new dark avocado; scarlet and cherry reds; deep blues and charcoal greys. Most of these have medium heels.

Sling backs, and open toes are still popular among teenagers, although their older sisters are wearing more closed shoes this Fall.

Pansy Grower

Township authorities "about the bad odors." He couldn't say that the offensive odors came from the Becker farm since, he admitted, he did not know, having just moved in.

The testimony brought out that there was no substitute for the use of fertilizer in the operation of Becker's pansy farm—that he had been using the same matter to help the growth—and that the odor, if any, could not last for any length of time.

Mr. Becker stated that he has been using fertilizer for his farm since coming to the Mountain Avenue property and that he has been trying to use it so as not to give any of the neighbors cause for complaints.

"The fact that all the owners of homes surrounding my farm came to the Municipal Court Monday night to say they had no complaints," said Mr. Becker, "is evidence that there is something else concerning these charges against my use of fertilizer which haven't yet been brought to light."

Rhode Island originally had almost as many capitals as it had towns, finally narrowed down to Newport and Providence and then Providence only.

Wins 20 Games For Class-D Ball Club

Joe Schaffernoth, son of Mrs. Anna Schaffernoth, 904 Schaffernoth Place, pitcher for the Paris Lakers baseball team in Paris, Illinois, has won twenty games. His record now is 18-20-6, and his earned run average, 2.69. The Paris Lakers is a Class D ball of the Chicago Cubs farm system.
Joe earned his twenty-wins the hard way, for he was out of the regular line-up for about ten days in May, due to an injury received on his ankle while playing a regular game.
On August 21st, he pitched a double-header, and lost the first game after pitching nine innings, score 1-0, and pitched six innings of the second game and was credited with the win, score 10-5. This was his 19th win.
On August 22nd Joe played in another double-header. He pitched hit in the first game and was again put in to pitch hit in the second game and pitched the top of the ninth inning and when it was his turn to get up at bat, he hit the ball that gave the club the winning run, score 12-11 and Joe was credited with that win, his 20th.

On August 21st, the Paris Laker baseball club was the topic of discussion at the regular Kiwanis meeting. Mr. Raymond Massey, program chairman, gave a talk on the history and development of the ball club. Guest speakers of the club were Two Laker players, Tex Gholson, who has broken the home run record and Joe Schaffernoth leading pitcher in the league for earned run averages. A discussion period was conducted and the two Lakers answered questions.

What do you think of when you see a Church?

Have you looked at a church lately? To almost everyone, the sight of a slender steeple raised to the sky evokes certain emotions—awe; perhaps, nostalgia, maybe—the sense that by not going to church lately, you've been missing something!

Next time you see a church, take a good look... and let yourself really feel what you see. If that makes you decide not only to look at the outside but also to go inside, that will be all to the good. For no matter how lovely a home you may live in, it can't compare with God's House. If you open the door, you'll find that, no matter how long you've been away, the welcome is warmer and more wonderful than you'll find anywhere else.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Jewish People In Observance Of Holy Days

Rabbi Reuben R. Levine

On the evening of Wednesday, September 5th the Jewish residents of Springfield will begin the observance of their High Holy Days. This series of observances opens with the Jewish New Year (Rosh Hashana) on September 6th and 7th, followed by the Solemn Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur) on Friday evening, September 14th and all day Saturday, September 15th.

Rabbi Reuben R. Levine, spiritual leader of Temple Beth Ahm, explains that "these holidays have always been considered the most spiritually significant on the Jewish religious calendar. Their observance is a very personal thing, because each individual is called upon to give serious thought to his behavior during the past year, and to make a sincere resolve to better himself morally in the year ahead. The theme of Rosh Hashana proclaims that in the life of every person there is room for moral improvement, and that striving for such improvement is one of the chief demands of religion."

"There are three areas or relationships that are given consideration: the relationship between man and God, man and his fellow-man, and between man and himself. All of human activity falls within these categories, and each must be considered as the New Year begins."

"These are the thoughts encouraged during the ten 'Days of Penitence' which comprise the High Holy Days. They reach their climax on Yom Kippur, when atonement is made for past shortcomings. The prayers express the fallibility of man, while strongly asserting his ability to improve himself and his world. One of the central themes of this day is that each person has turned to a new page in his 'Book of Life', and that he must strive to keep his record a good one. Thus, too, faith is expressed that all people, working together for their individual and collective moral improvement, can bring about a better society."

Local Temple To Hold Open House

Regional Grads Wed In Summit

Mrs. Ralph Henry Bastian - Onell Franzen

At the Central Presbyterian Church in Summit, Ralph Henry Bastian of 69 South Maple Avenue, took as his bride, Miss June Stumm of Berkeley Heights, on August 29th at 3:30 P. M. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stumm and the late Mr. Stumm. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bastian. Reverend Muir officiated.

A reception was held at the Hitchin Post Inn in Union.

Both the bride and groom attended Regional High. Mr. Bastian also had two years at Stevens Institute of Technology. They will live in Berkeley Heights.

The bride wore an embroidered nylon tulle gown with fingertip length sleeves and a full skirt. Her veil was two-tiered, attached to a cap of orange blossoms. She carried roses, orchids and stephanotis.

A reception was held at the Hitchin Post Inn in Union. Both the bride and groom attended Regional High. Mr. Bastian also had two years at Stevens Institute of Technology. They will live in Berkeley Heights.

Ormond Mesker To Wed Heights Girl

Announcement has been made of the forthcoming marriage of Miss Liesel Fuchs of Berkeley Heights and Ormond Roy Mesker of 53 Mountain ave. The wedding will take place on Saturday, September 1 at 4 p.m. in the Union Village Methodist Church in Union.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Fuchs of Free Acres, N. J. She is a graduate of Regional High and an alumna of the Berkeley Secretarial School, presently employed with the CIBA Pharmaceutical Co., Summit.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ormond W. Mesker, whose father is Deputy Chief of the Fire Company, served with the Marine Corps in the Korean War. He is now with the Township of Springfield in the Engineering Department.

Dore-Ann Carries Town and Country

According to Dorothy Bernstein of the Dore-Ann Shop, 330 Morris Ave., Springfield women know "fashion" when they see it. They must have seen it in Mademoiselle, Vogue, or Harpers, because last year there was a flurry of requests for Town-and-Country sportswear. The result was that Dore-Ann now has the exclusive franchise in the Springfield area for the highly touted styles.

This marks one of several steps in Dore-Ann's expansion. This year the newly-decorated store will also feature a half-size department, and a wider variety of merchandise.

With a few days of each other, two Springfield families visited the same spot. According to publicity releases received, Mr. and Mrs. George Ward and sons of 166 Ballusrol way and Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Yablonsky of 315 Hillside avenue recently visited Ausable Chasm, historic natural site in New York State.

The modern auto does just about everything but think. The same can be said for the modern driver.

IT'S A SMALL WORLD!

During vacations weather becomes an important topic. "Is it going to rain and spoil the picnic?" or "Will it be warm enough to make swimming pleasant?" Then, too, we like to know if hurricanes are coming. At such times we resolve to learn more about weather signs so that we can make better plans.

Books on the weather come at all levels of difficulty. For those prepared to take a scientific interest, "Wind, Storm and Rain" by Denning Miller, and "Sun Sea and Sky" by Krick and Flemming are useful.

R. N. Fisher's "How to Know and Predict the Weather", a 55c pocket book published by the Mentor Book Co., is intended for laymen. It bears the slogan "Be your own weather prophet." It contains such a clear explanation of the daily weather maps that in spite of its frail binding, it is a worthwhile addition to a public library collection.

The artist, Eric Sloane has two books on the weather. His "Almanac and Weather Forecaster", written in the chatty style of the familiar essay, takes the weather week by week through the year, and includes comments on country life. The book entitled "Eric Sloane's Weather Book" has a more systematic arrangement, but his artist's eye has helped him to select excellent photographs and to make splendid line drawings to illustrate the text.

For young people and older ones who are interested in setting up a weather station at home, there are three books to tell "how to do it": "Weathercasting" by Charles and Ruth Laird is the most difficult. Of the other two, "Weathercraft, How to Make and Operate Your Own Weather Station" by A. F. Spillhaus and "Everyday Weather and How It Works" by Herman Schneider are easy enough for the seventh grade student to use to make simple instruments.

All of these books may be borrowed from the Free Public Library of Springfield.

TAKING CARE OF YOUR GARDEN

By Edward A. Cardinal
Chairman, Springfield Shade Tree Commission

Last week I answered many questions on control of crabgrass. There is still time to tackle the crabgrass before it goes to seed, so I shall continue to answer your questions. If you have any problems, address your questions to this column in care of Springfield Sun.

QUESTION: Does crabgrass come up every year?
ANSWER: Crabgrass is an annual, germinating as early as April and dies in the Fall when frost occurs. Each plant produces as many as 10,000 seeds to start a new crop the following year.

QUESTION: If crabgrass dies in the Fall why bother killing it?
ANSWER: By killing the crabgrass before it goes to seed you eliminate millions of new seeds that will plague you for many years to come.

QUESTION: I killed the crabgrass patches in my lawn, sowed the best seed money can buy and still have loads of crabgrass. Could there have been crabgrass in the seed I purchased?
ANSWER: No. In scratching up the soil surface you undoubtedly uncovered lots of buried crabgrass seed. Next time, do your reseeding in the late summer months so that a good heavy topsoil will prevent germination of crabgrass the following summer.

QUESTION: I plan on turning under my old lawn, shall I still kill off the crabgrass?
ANSWER: Yes, I would still eliminate the possibility of seed by spraying with Sodium Arsenite which kills all vegetation. Other crabgrass killers can be used by increasing the dosage enough to completely burn off the crabgrass, but Sodium Arsenite is far cheaper to use.

QUESTION: Will crabgrass killer also eliminate other weeds?
ANSWER: Not as a rule. Use a hormone weed killer such as 2, 4-D, or 2, 4, 5-T for control of broad leaf weeds. This material can be had in a liquid form for spraying, or a dry powder for application with a fertilizer spreader. Some brands of crabgrass and weed killers can be mixed and applied in one operation, although I am inclined to believe there is less possibility of damage when separate applications are made.

QUESTION: Are weed killers poisonous?
ANSWER: Some are very poisonous. Purchase your materials from some one who is familiar with these materials and can give the proper advice as to their use.

FUND DRIVE REMINDER: To assist the Springfield First Aid Squad in their drive for funds you are asked to fill the coin card in the space dated September 1 marked STRETCHER. Cards will be picked up by the squad in September. Make it a habit to fill the coin card regularly each week.

Named District Representative For Autoware

Ralph Nemerson of 204 Hawthorn Avenue, has been named District Representative for the Premier Autoware Company of Cleveland, Ohio, manufacturer and distributor of automotive replacement parts.

The Premier Autoware post here makes Nemerson an important cog in an organization that almost completely covers the globe in rendering service to auto dealers. Nemerson is thirty-seven years old, married and has two children. He was previously employed by the Seaboard Company.

In accepting his new position with The Premier Autoware Company, Nemerson said, "I hope I can be of service in keeping the wheels rolling in this amazing automobile age and help to serve better the tremendous number of car owners in our area."

Record-players in the new cars may help. Maybe drivers will now listen to a record instead of trying to break one.

CATHOLIC INFORMATION

IS OUR LORD STILL ON EARTH?

When Saul was knocked off his horse, before he became St. Paul, he heard a voice saying to him: "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?" And he said, "Who art thou, Lord?" And He said, "I am Jesus who thou persecutest" (Acts 9:4-5).

Now, as far he knew, Saul had never persecuted Christ. Our Lord had been put to death several months before, as everyone knew, and from the Bible we know that He had gone up to join His Father in Heaven. And yet Saul was accused of persecuting Jesus, when all he had done was to throw Christians into jail.

Saul later found out that Our Lord had once said, "As long as you did it to one of these, my least brethren, you did it to Me" (Matt. 25:40).

So, after careful thought, and directed by the Spirit of God Himself, he finally wrote: "Now you are the body of Christ" (1 Cor. 12:27). "Who now rejoice in my sufferings for you, in my flesh, for His body, which is the church" (Col. 1:24).

That's pretty plain. It means that the Church is the body of Jesus. What else can we take out of those words?

But if the Church is His body, it must act as He acted. It must forgive sins. It must make its home with the poor, rather than with the rich; it must cry out against oppression, wherever it is; it must speak as one having authority; it must refuse to be overruled by the people it would save; it must have a kind of ancient youth, an unlimited supply of energy, which must grow with maturity; it must have life in abundance to give away; it must have a permanence which resists persecution; it must be cordially hated by the powerful ones of this world; it must do and say, throughout the ages, everything that Jesus did and said.

We Catholics believe devoutly that our Church is the mystical body of Jesus. We believe that our Catholic Church is the abiding presence of the Savior in our midst. Each of us thrills at the knowledge that we are a part of the body, a cell, sharing our faith with the hundreds of millions of our brothers, living and dead, and enjoying the interplay of other-worldly energy between the Head and members of that body.

Foot Check-Up Is Vital To Good Health, Also

The National Foot Health Council is again sponsoring Child Foot Health Month during September to teach children the importance of better foot care, good posture, and how to walk. The slogan is "FOOT CARE SHOULD COME IN CHILDHOOD."

During Child Foot Health Month school physicians in many states will include the examination of the feet in the fall health check-up. Foot examinations are required by law in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and California, and many other states include foot health education for children.

During the summer months children's feet grow rapidly at play and the proper development of their feet requires new leather school shoes-fitted large enough to provide for the summer time foot growth. Children's feet should be re-measured every 1 to 3 months, and fitted with correct size shoes and hosiery at all times.

than passing interest to newspapers.

With the country on the eve of another presidential campaign, and the state and congressional races that are timed with it, the Florida court has ruled:

A newspaper cannot be held liable for damages when it reports a political speech which may be derogatory to others.

The court dismissed a one million dollar libel suit against the Florida Times Union, Jacksonville. The Florida morning daily had reported remarks made against a Jacksonville political poll made by Bralley Odham, 1954 candidate for governor.

It is interesting to note that the court refused to dismiss libel charges against Mr. Odham, ruling that a jury must decide if he was motivated by malice in making the statements, later printed by the Times Union.

Joe Abram, head of the "Florida Political Survey and Poll" brought the suit. Mr. Abram had published the statement that Mr. Odham was "slipping badly" in his race against Leroy Collins and Charley Johns.

In reply, Mr. Odham said that "Joe Abram is a phony." The Times Union quoted that statement.

In the Supreme Court decision, Justice B. K. Roberts ruled there was no question of malice on the part of the Times Union and the statement by Mr. Odham was "qualifiedly privileged."

This touches on a question that has bothered many a reporter covering a political speech. As the fortunes of politics change and the time for the voting comes near, many candidates, especially those who are facing defeat, have a tendency to press: It is then that sometimes fair minded men, prodded by partisanship and faced with public rejection by the voters, may go off the factual deep end and resort to personalities instead of issues.

The reporter hears the statement. He knows it may be untrue. He knows it may be libelous. But he knows it was said and it was said by a man whose name has news value in his community, and it was said in a public meeting.

Here is his lead. Here is his story. A direct and powerful charge has been made. If he doesn't use it, he might as well fall back on the handout from the candidate, a handout full of tired and stale statements.

With this decision of the Florida Supreme Court, the reporter has been given a legal encouragement to do his job without the danger of legal action being directed against him and his publication. The court has not removed the responsibility from the creator of the possible libel. It has just established the area of responsibility for the possible libel.

The reporter on a political assignment, where partisan feelings are a part of the situation, needs this protection and so does the press if it is to do a fair and complete job of reporting what the candidates say.

What Can We Tell Her?

We received a letter last week from the editor of a small weekly published in a midwestern state. He was an old friend and most of the letter was full of gossip about mutual friends.

But toward the end he remarked that he wasn't going to attend the annual meeting of his state press association this year.

His reason? They had nothing on the program to interest him. He said that the speakers would all be talking about problems that didn't touch his community or his paper.

"For once, I'd like to hear a speaker get down to the basic facts of small town publishing. Instead of talking about freedom of press, the impact of television, media research and a lot of other things that might be of burning interest in Chicago, New York and Los Angeles."

"I'd like to hear a speaker tell me how to handle the sweet little old lady who comes in every week with a news item and insists that I print it on Page One. This may not be a cosmic problem but these are the things I have to deal with every day of the week and I'd like to hear one of the whiz bangs who speak at our meetings get down to that level."

It's Always 'Book Time' For Alert Students

Book Week (November 25 through December 1st) comes but once a year, but good reading knows no season.

Winter and summer the doors of the children's room in the public library stand open. There the book fair never ends. There the year around, children may explore their interests and satisfy their many and everchanging needs.

From September until June the school library, a real treasure house—serves every school boy and girl, some of whom might not otherwise have become familiar with the world of books.

There the citizens of tomorrow learn to relate themselves more wholly to the world around them. In every library there is "treasure for the taking"—books to be read by one's self alone, books to be read aloud and shared with the whole family; books for a snug corner on a rainy day for the picnic basket when summer comes.

And there is the library in the home, where the shelves are open at all hours and seasons. All children have a right to a library of their own, no matter how small, and if they have made friends with books in their public and school libraries, they and their parents will know what to choose for their very own.

Book Week with special exhibits and fairs serves to remind us of the perennial pleasure and wealth of books now available to our children—remind us too that there are areas where this wealth is not available and where greater library facilities are sorely needed. "It's Always—Book Time!" for those whose community has helped them make friends with books when they were very young.

Knowledge is power—but only to the man who knows he doesn't know it all.

Every young man has to learn to paddle his own canoe, even if his father owns a yacht.

"Ivy League" Look Captivates Fancy Young School Gals

As the "Ivy Look" captures the fancies of both sexes going back to school this fall—how are you going to tell the girls from the boys?

The "boy look" which gained such impetus in girls' leisure fashions in the summertime now appears ready to sweep the girls' dress circles this fall. Pity the poor near-sighted teacher when she sees all her students decked out in man-tailored shirts, blazer jackets, Bermuda shorts, sportscar coats, knee-socks, and often in many cases—girls wearing "boy-look" haircuts. Yes, boy caps, boy-look coats and man-tailored storm coats are but a few of the borrowed-from-the-boys notes for fashion-wise girls... school term '56! College girls will be flat on their heels this Fall, as always. But the quality and variety of flat-heeled shoes have reached a new high.

Shoes For Boy Newly Stylish

The boys, too, have become footwear-style conscious. The longer, slimmer line and pointed toe that has been seen for many seasons now in sizes 12 1/2 to 3—that is, in older children's shoes—will be seen for the first time this fall in sizes 8 1/2 to 12 for the kindergarten set.

Most popular of this type will be 2- and 3-eyel models in smooth calf—although more and more suede is being seen. The calf ones will often have toes of woven or brushed leather. Polished calf will often contrast with grained or matte (dull, finished) calf in other treatments.

Slip-ons with mop-type toes will often have elasticized vamp or sides. They'll display all the style features of those of the head of the house, including high tongues or medium-length, squared-off ones, crossed-over stitched straps at the vamp, tuck detailing and purely decorative tassel ties on the instep. Monk straps are very popular, both stylishly and with the youngsters who hate to lace their shoes.

Young men will also have banker's style shoes. These will be 3-, 4- or 5-eyel bluchers with wing tip or U-tip, vamps and fine perforation detailing on the toe vamp. They will come in grained or smooth leathers and in winery colors as well as black or brown.

CORDUROY GAINING Corduroy jackets, with leather trim, leather buttons and fancy linings are gaining new popularity for campus wear.

It is said that until the age of 12, the average youngster's shoe size changes every four to eight weeks. After 12, the change varies from every 12 to 16 weeks.

Junior's Attire Picks-up "Big Brother Look" In Back-To-School Wardrobe

The keywords in Junior, back to school styles this year, are Ivy League—the magic words that have given the young man of the family his new "grown up" look. When the youngster heads back to the classroom, he'll be attired in a dress-up flannel suit, or an Ivy League sport jacket and slacks, probably topped by a scaled-down version of the adult duffer jacket. In every phase of the junior wardrobe, styles and ideas in design have been borrowed from adult fashions. In more and more sections of the country, the days of sloppy jeans and shirt are dead and departed—a happy state of affairs which has, probably, been helped by the theory of some school authorities who are tending to link juvenile misbehavior with untidy dress habits.

A favorite choice for junior back to school suits will be Cambridge gray wool flannel, Ivy League style of course, in many cases with matching eton cap. Other good colors in medium weight flannels and worsteds are light tan and gray-blue.

Grammar School Girls Prefer Full Skirts, Pretty Ways

A simple tale is unfolded in the grammar school set this fall: little girl styles for little girls. Fashion's slim lines give way to full skirts, and such favorites as the empire are modified with strictly small-girl styling.

Smocking, gathers, wide, sashes, bows and puff sleeves are typical young touches, as are aprons, and pinafores.

Girls' fashions resemble the adult picture in that the Empire has top importance, but it's handled in a way that makes it particularly appropriate to the grammar school age group. Combining the high-waisted empire look with full skirts or princess lines creates new-looking and likeable styles for girls.

See Tyrolean Touches

Young fashions are equally influenced by Tyrolean and Ivy League looks. Calico, figure prints, long sleeves, flared cuffs and rick-rack braid reflect the Tyrolean (also called Provincial or peasant) influence.

Costumes composed of separates that can be mixed or matched with other parts of a young lady's wardrobe are finding wide favor. Some examples are jumpers and dresses with haraco jackets and dresses with detachable aprons, pinafores or collars. A costume look, created by dresses with attached boleros, is also quite popular.

Car Coat a Pet

The car coat is fall's pet in the sports category, with the long coat reserved for dress wear. Fur fabrics and tweeds—usually double-breasted with a back belt—are outstanding in the latter field, and the car coat may be seen in everything from poplin to wool, with fur-like collars and hoods lined in alpaca, fleece or quilted fabric.

Washable synthetics are widely used in girl's fall clothes and offer a two-way appeal of fashion and utility. Cotton-knits, becoming and practical for the active child, are equally favored. Plaids and tweedy-look cottons make frequent appearances.

WHAT THE BIBLE TEACHES ABOUT THE TRINITY

The teaching about the Trinity is one of the deep mysteries to the human mind. The Scripture is clear in its teaching about the Unity of God. God is one and there is no other God. In Deuteronomy 6:4 we read: "Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord." God made it clear to the children of Israel through the commandments that He alone is to be worshipped. Whenever Israel committed the sin of worshipping gods of other nations they were punished.

Even though the Scripture is definite about the Unity of God it is also clear that there are three persons in the Godhead. There are then three persons in the Godhead but only one God. Some have accused Christians of teaching three Gods but this is not so since the persons of the Trinity are one, Matthew 28:19 explicitly mentions the three persons of the Trinity: "Baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." The Trinity is also mentioned in II Cor. 13:14: "The grace of our Lord Jesus . . . love of God . . . communion of the Holy Ghost." The Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit are equal and they are one.

Perhaps we shall never be able to fathom the mystery of this Trinitarian relationship. Let us remember that if we could understand all things we would be God. Throughout the ages God has been endeavoring to make Himself understood by man. Herein lies one of the reasons for the Trinity. Jesus, the Son, was manifest as a babe in Bethlehem nearly 2,000 years ago. He grew, lived and worked among men as the God-man. Christ was actually God in the form of man. Christ came to live the perfect life and to die for the sins of men even for your sins. When John the Baptist beheld Jesus he said: "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." (John 1:29) Has Christ forgiven your sin?

The all-wool sweater has risen to new heights of fashion prominence with the college man this fall. ### Girl's Wardrobe Needs Two Coats

There's a real need in every schoolgirl's wardrobe for two coats—a dressy-look coat for weekends and real-cold weather wear—and a jaunty sportcoat for every other day-by-day occasions.

New details in the long coat story include such as highlights military styling: double-breasted, back-belted and multi-buttoned—in colorful fleeces.

Empire lines stress high-placed belts, unpressed back pleats, gently nipped-in waists and often with velvet trims. Tweeds, fleeces, nubs and boucles as well as soft suede cloths give elegance to these lines.

Pile fabrics for great coats, rich tweeds in hooded coats and camels' hair blends in boy coats—all are 'importantly here' for the new term.

Michigan could provide the United States with salt at its present consumption for a million years, it is estimated.

Look Peasant! Please—Is New Fashion Tease

As endearing as an old fairy tale is the "peasant" look of girls' fashions.

Calico prints give a look of rural Americana to long-sleeved dresses . . . tucked modestly highlights dark background floral prints . . . Tyrolean prints spark quilted jumpers and skirts . . . laced-fronts on corduroy or velveteen vests and bodice fronts give a "Heidi" look-to-separates.

"I save lots of shopping time by checking the B. Altman ads in The New York Times"

Smart homemakers know where to look for smart fashions for family and home. In the New York Times, of course. You'll find more advertising in The Times of Manhattan's leading department stores, and their suburban branches, than anywhere else.

And naturally you'll find the advertising of B. Altman's new Short Hills store regularly in The New York Times.

Two Styles Draw Subteens' Interest

Two looks brighten the subteen scene this fall, as junior high-schoolers divide their favor 'between slim and full-skirted styles. Young interest in the slim look owes a lot to adult fashion trends, for the growing-up-girls love-to look grown-up, in such fashions as a slender empire-dress topped with a brief caraco jacket.

Generally, sheath styles for girls in this size range are tempered with details that flatter the adolescent figure.

Princess and petticoated fashions take on a Provincial look that's young and becoming to the subteen. Striped print dresses, bordered with rick-track, have attractively gathered, extra-full skirts.

The Provincial touch also applies to costumes—one example, a white blouse edged in black rick-track trim, coupled with a full-skirted, scoopneck jumper.
