More About That Map

Publication, in last week's SUN, of the map showing the proposed route of the relocated Highway 22 through Springfield, hit right on the target.

It was intended to build a fire and sound a few sirens along the shady glens, the swim pools and the air-conditioned television rooms of the Township with the sinister warning that "the British are coming!"

In this case it may be the bulldozers! And there's nothing to stop them. A lot of scoffers and those who would have you believe that they are in possession of inside information concerning the actual pinpointing of the realignment through Springfield shout "that the map in last week's Springfield Sun didn't give the actual route—it was only a preliminary plan for the estimating purposes."

Perhaps. It could be that radical changes will be made—that it will be 500 feet this way or 500 feet thataway. But the fact remains that a 6 and 8 lane highway is coming through Springfield. If it won't go through the Smith home, as the map showed last week, then it will take away the Jones residence.

That is why the plan—taken from a Highway Department map—was published last week. Even though there are some who maintain that the "publishing" of the map served no good purpose, we insist that property owners are entitled to prepare themselves against the impact of such a project as an 8 lane highway.

Mayor Albert G. Binder and members of the Township Committee realize the problems and the threatening loss of ratables because of this new highway. The governing body is aware of the almost arbitrary approach by the highway department but this has not deterred the local authorities from setting up conferences with the highway department and a series of public hearings long before the bulldozers come to town.

Mayor Binder already has assurances from New Jersey Highway Commissioner, Dwight R. G. Palmer, that the state engineers plan conferences with Springfield's official family at which time several radical changes will be suggested in the route of the new highway.

The map, appearing in last week's issue of the SUN, leaves room for many changes since it is apparent that the highway department topographical experts merely drew a series of lines without any regard for residential development.

For a layman, it is difficult to understand why engineers would plan a highway that must underpass the Rahway Valley Railroad 3 times and then clobber through some of Springfield's finest residential sections. The suggested alternate route, published last week in the SUN, appears to be more logical since it will move the highway along the Millburn border where condemnation costs would not be so prohibitive.

Springfield officials will not stand still and permit any plan that might wipe out so many desirable properties and send a lot of ratables down the drain. Local officials expect to get a lot of mileage out of the coming conferences and public hearings before they begin to assemble properties and call for the steam shovels.

Publication of the map wasn't meant to sound a warning that everybody should plan immediate evacuation of Springfield. There will be changes—many changes—in the final route of the highway.

Even though there has been no official announcements, Mayor Binder and the entire official family of the Township have been in close touch with the situation and some definite date is expected soon for a conference with the State Highway Department.

Of the many letters received by the SUN we cannot resist publishing the restrained note below:

Editor, Springfield SUN:
Unlike my neighbors, I'm not against progress. I think the federal government is perfectly right in running an eight lane highway through my house and dozens more of the best homes in Springfield.

It would have been absurd to avoid the expensive homes in Springfield and run the new Highway No. 22 through the vacant lots and slum dwellings along Millburn's Mechanic Street. This would have provided a tiny curve in the road—a great inconvenience to drivers who don't have power steering.

It won't cost the government much to buy up all the $30,000 to $40,000 homes in Springfield. Fortunately, the courts are prepared to protect the nation's taxpayers by giving Springfield home owners only a portion of the value of their property for highway right-of-way.

Too many out-of-state drivers have complained in the past about the dreary factory scenery along New Jersey's highways. I'm glad that, in the future, these drivers will have an unobstructed view of the many nice homes that will border the new highway.

I also approve of the siletes that has radiated about the new highway. I see where other towns have been whining and complaining to the State with the result that they may lose the privilege of having the road in their town.

Our town fathers may want to put Springfield on the map by letting the State run its major interchanges here. The whole nation will enjoy using the Springfield cloverleaf.

Lastly, I have a suggestion that will further aid the welfare of the nation. Why not use Springfield for nuclear weapon tests? After the new Route 22 is constructed, our town may be called the Yucca Flats of the East, anyway.

Cordially yours,
A Friend of Progress.

Postal Workers Deserve Increase

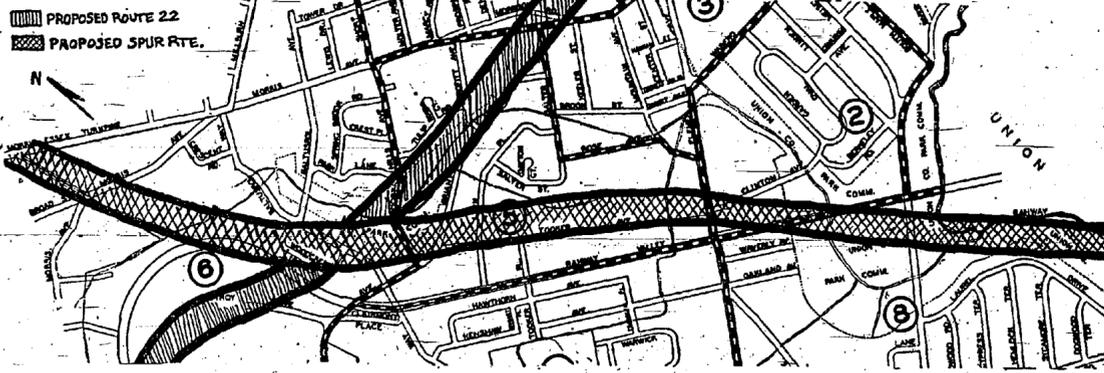

Last week's issue of the SUN published a review of the fiscal growth of the Springfield post office for 1956. It showed that the 30% increase in the work load was accomplished with an increase of only 4% man hours, compared with 1955.

The employees of the local office who have increased their efficiency to this extent are happy to have learned this week that the House gave overwhelming approval on the $320,000,000 postal pay raise. Post office workers have received but one increase in pay in 6 years and, this period of prosperity, the employees deserve a pay raise.

The measure, which would provide basic increases of $646 a year for the nation's 518,000 postal employees, was passed by a roll-call vote of 379 to 38 which confirmed tentative approval of the bill.

The action was a setback for President Eisenhower and his fiscal advisers, who had warned that a postal raise would have to be followed by increases for the government's other 950,000 white-collar workers. They said this would add to the present inflationary danger and postpone the day of general tax relief.

HERE'S ANOTHER MAP: Above map has been drawn from plan of the New Jersey State Highway Department, showing the proposed spur which will lead from the realigned Route 22 in Springfield and connect with the present Highway 22 and Goethal's Bridge. While the spur project is still many years away it is shown on the most recent Highway Department plan with the interchange in Springfield. It will follow a course along the Rahway Valley Railroad, crossing Mountain and Meisel avenues. The map also indicates markings that will continue the spur in the opposite direction, joining Morris Turnpike somewhere near the Springfield, Summit, Short Hills line. The relocation of the new highway is first on the road program here but the construction of the spur is far off, according to highway officials. However, it is on the State Highway plan because it is understood acquisition of needed rights of ways will be started soon. The above shows where the proposed spur intersects the new highway. Readers of the map are asked to ignore "numbers" and "boundary lines" since the SUN used a Springfield voting district map in outlining the proposed Highway Department plan.

Ask Ballot for Charter Study This November

Proponents of the Charter Study program in Springfield moved for quick action by asking the Township Committee last night to permit the question to go on the ballot in the coming November general elections.

This was done by letter to the Township Committee which pointed out that the local group has been circulating petitions for months with gratifying results and that an ordinance by the governing body would enable the Charter Study group to have the voters pass on such a referendum this year.

The Township Committee voted unanimously against adopting an ordinance—the charter study stating that a study should be the mandate of the people and not the responsibility of governing body.

Following is the letter in full Mayor Albert G. Binder and the Township Committee:

The Springfield Organization for Charter Study has been actively engaged in a program of public information concerning the benefits to the public of a Charter Study for the last four months. In connection with this program, petitions have been circulated and the response has been gratifying. It is anticipated that the statutory number of signers will soon be obtained. This result would not have been possible without the wholehearted support of the various civic organizations and individual public spirited citizens who have been circulating the petitions.

49 Calls Set 1st Aid Squad 30-Day Record

A record number of calls were reported for the month of June by the Springfield First Aid Squad at its regular business meeting held this week at the Squad House, North Triquet Street.

The first-aiders were called upon 49 times during the month to render service for either an emergency of transportation. This is six more than the previous month high of 43 and eleven more than for the same month last year.

Also reported was the total for the first six months in 1957 which showed a rise of almost 20% over the corresponding period last year. Two Hundred and Forty-Seven calls were made by the squad so far this year as compared to 192 for 1956.

It was pointed out by squad officials that on many occasions both ambulances have been pressed into service making it necessary to call on neighboring towns for temporary coverage.

A further breakdown of the June report showed that the ambulances travelled a combined total of 663 miles, that seven tanks of oxygen were consumed and 174 hours were logged by squad members.

Springfield's First Aid Squad maintains a 24-hour service available to all residents, free of charge, whether for emergency use or hospital transportation. If you need the squad, phone Police Headquarters at DRexel 6-0400 and they'll be dispatched immediately.

Conferences Planned To Discuss New Rte. 22 With Highway Department

Springfield's officials are digging in for a series of conferences with the State Highway engineers to discuss the new proposed Route 22—now being aimed at the Township.

The most recent plan, shown in Springfield Sun last week, tears through many of the Township's most desirable residential sections, but Mayor Albert G. Binder and his colleagues believe that there are enough logical reasons to divert and materially change the direction of the highway.

Several alternate proposals are being worked out by the local officials to be presented to the Highway Department when the conferences are held. Soon after these conferences, public hearings will be arranged so that property owners may be heard.

"The engineers who prepared this map," said one Township official, "evidently used an old plan of Springfield which does not show the residential development here. We will be less costly to turn the new highway just a trifle and avoid wiping out so many of our fine properties with such a terrific loss of ratables."

"If it is the intention of the engineers to set up a very high estimate by preparing this latest map, they have done an excellent job. Overpassing the Rahway Valley railroad tracks 3 times is very costly and then going overhead in crossing Morris avenue, Main Street and Springfield avenue will wreck many of the estimates."

"Springfield will defend itself against any unnecessary invasion by the new highway. We have been studying the plans and, when these conferences are held with the highway people, we shall be armed with enough information to protect the individual home owner and our own ratable structure."

Merchant Escapes Injury in Crash

Milton Billet, proprietor of Milton's Liquor Store in the General Greene Shopping Center, has reason to believe in miracles after escaping serious injury in a two-car crash at the intersection of Valley Street and Springfield avenue, in Union, recently.

Billet was driving his two daughters, Carol who is 11 and Andrea, 8, to Springfield from their swim club when the accident occurred at that dangerous intersection with his car practically demolished.

According to Billet, he had passed the Valley street intersection when a car, coming from Springfield, "sped into" the turn and crashed into the Springfield car, crashing it into a pole.

A passing motorist rushed Billet and his two daughters, the elder one, Carol, being unconscious, to Overlook Hospital where 10 stitches were taken in her face. She was detained overnight but Billet and the younger daughter were permitted to return to Springfield after medical examination.

Highways Vs. Property Owners

WHAT THE RELOCATION OF ROUTE 22 MAY MEAN TO YOU Below is first of a series of articles on the procedure and principles which govern condemnation proceedings of the New Jersey Highway Department and the rights and powers of the individual property owners...

Prepared and written by H. Lee Sarokin of the Newark law firm of Lasser and Lasser.

Those persons—who may find their properties in the direct path of the proposed Route 102 (relocated Route 22) through Springfield, are concerned with whether they are entitled to compensation; how much they are entitled to, if any; how they go about obtaining it; and how the machinery of condemnation starts turning.

For those who think that the highway should go through someone else's living room—it is important to realize that the state has the power to take private property for a proposed highway. This right is known as "eminent domain."

Contrary to popular belief, this right is not created by the Constitution, but is inherent in the governing body. The Constitution, however, requires the payment of "just compensation" whenever the power is exercised. Condemnation is the legal process by which the state exercises its power.

STATE PAYS "JUST COMPENSATION"
The courts have held that basically "just compensation" is given when the state has paid the fair market value of the land taken and any damage to the remaining property.

The principle which most home owners find difficult to accept is that the special value the property may have to the state for highway purposes, or the special value to the owner, is not relevant. The sole guide is: What price will the property bring in the open market—just as though the owner were selling it himself on the open market.

If the state plans to acquire an entire piece of property, the owner is entitled to its whole fair market value. When only a piece is taken, other factors are considered.

In arriving at the value of the part taken, the portion acquired is appraised in reference to the whole and not separately. Landscaping, trees, lawn, etc. are worth that amount which they add to the market value of the property. Each tree is not viewed separately as a nursery item. Damage to remaining property is determined by the reduction in the market value of the part remaining. Therefore, when a part is taken, the damage is the difference in the market value before and after the taking.

Soapbox Derby Won By Ronald Pooro

Ronald M. Pooro of Troop 73, sponsored by St. James Church, won the Pine-Wood Derby, a miniature soapbox race, which was the highlight of events Saturday at Camp Winnebago, Union Council's Boy Scout camp at Marcella.

Pooro's car finished first in all of the races down an inclined board. The cars were raced two at a time. Among the losers was a car built by Allan Wyckoff, also of Troop 73, last year's winner. The winner set a new derby speed record.

In addition to the derby prize, awards were given owner of the best carved and best decorated car. The award went to Arthur Vitale of Troop 82, sponsored by the Community Methodist Church, Kentworth.

New Route 22 May Result in Rezoning Here

No matter where the new proposed relocation of Route 22 cuts through Springfield—it may result in a rezoning of much of the Township, according to a town official.

It makes very little difference whether the highway will cut a swath through the northwest section of Springfield—or some other part—the loss in ratables will have a serious impact on the financial structure of the Township. Only if the highway misses Springfield entirely, this man continued, and there's little likelihood that the Township can escape it, only then will there be little or no change in the assessment figures.

Springfield, the continued, is committed to paying for new schools and recent enlargement of the municipal building facilities based on the present ratables. If the new highway is to take away a good chunk of these ratables, the Township authorities will have to replace them with some other source of taxes.

One alternative is to rezone portions of the Township to permit more industry or, perhaps, eliminate the present prohibition on the size of apartment houses. This would enable the builder of an apartment house to pay greater taxes even though he needs no more ground for his venture. At the present time the building code here permits only garden apartments, two stories.

There is also the possibility of getting some aid from Federal funds to make up part of the loss of ratables because of the building of the highways. Township officials will also explore federal aid to pay the costs of a rezoning study.

VFW Auxiliary Picnic Planned

At the V. F. W. Auxiliary July 26 meeting, plans were made for a picnic on August 25 at the S. S. P. Camp in Dover, N. J.

Members of the Auxiliary discussed the Square Dance which is in the making for December 13 at Evergreen Lodge in Springfield. Tickets will be available shortly.

President Marie Summerer wishes to remind all members that there will be no social in August.

Larger Play Area Sought on Henshaw Ave.

Residents in the vicinity of the Henshaw avenue playground have asked the Township Committee to enlarge the present facilities by extending this play area.

This appeal was made through a letter sent to the governing body with a petition bearing 319 signatures requesting that "additional land adjacent to the existing Henshaw Playground be obtained."

Following is the letter: Township Committee:
"The residents of the area surrounding the Henshaw Playground hereby submit the enclosed petitions asking for an extension of land to the present playground. Two hundred ten (210) signatures are listed on these petitions representing the majority of the residents of upper Tooker Ave. Henshaw Ave., Hawthorn Ave. and Kew Drive.

"The playground is mainly used by the children of the immediate neighborhood; however, children from other sections do use the extra facilities (such as the tennis court) available at the Henshaw Playground.

"At the present time this playground has the largest enrollment of any in town and, at the same time, it is one of the smallest play areas in town. It is, therefore, a matter of concern to us realizing that an additional 60 homes are to be erected on the tract immediately adjoining the Henshaw Playground. On the basis of 1 1/2 children per home, this will mean an additional 90 children using the already overcrowded facilities of the playground.

"In the belief that the members of the Township Committee are vitally interested in the welfare of our children, we hereby submit these petitions in the hope that everything possible will be done to obtain additional land adjacent to the existing playground.

"We would appreciate receiving a written reply outlining the feelings and the plans of the Township Committee on this matter.

"Thank you for your consideration."

Very truly yours,
Murray Mitterhoff,
Thomas Geddes.

Pinkavas Fight Back for Gas Sta.

Springfield has been served with papers in a suit to force the granting of a variance for a gas station at Mountain and Morris Avenue by Mrs. Bertha M. Pinkava of 289 Morris Avenue.

The suit names Wilbert Binder, Springfield building inspector, the Township of Springfield and the Township Committee. Mrs. Pinkava is represented by Carl Fenstermaker of Elizabeth. The Township case is being prepared by Township Attorney Max Sherman.

Mrs. Pinkava, who owns a gas station on the site, said Binder denied her an application for permission to demolish the present garage and replace it with a modern station with a colonial type building. The suit contends that the plaintiff went before the Board of Adjustment May 23 and was granted permission to rebuild. On June 12, committee denied permission despite the adjustment board's recommendation. The suit said.

"The suit alleges that the committee's action was illegal, arbitrary and unreasonable.

When Mrs. Pinkava appeared before the committee June 12, she said the new structure would replace one whose pumps are at the curb. In denying the application, the committee termed that section of Morris Ave. "gasoline alley" and said that there are already too many stations there.

FAST FLIGHT—Lieutenant (junior grade) Richard P. Sherry of Springfield was a navigator bombardier on a flight that cracked the Mainland-Honolulu speed record recently. Sherry, second from right, flew in a carrier-based jet aircraft from Hawaii to Moffett Field, California in 4 hours and 45 minutes. This broke the Air Force's record of 4 hours and 52 minutes set in 1952. His crew mates are: (left to right) Lieutenant Commander James P. Pruitt, of Rule, Texas; Ensign Robert S. Hughes, of Boston, Mass.; Aviation Machinist's Mate First Class Dominick A. Spinelli, of Oak Harbor, Wash.; Sherry and Lieutenant Commander Horace Little, of New Orleans, La.

faces an uncertain future in the Senate, now in the third week of its civil-rights debate.

The Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee has approved a $270,000,000 raise for the postal workers along with a $341,000,000 raise for other government white-collar workers. But there was no indication when—or if—the measure will come before the Senate.

Even if it should pass the Senate, it faces a certain Presidential veto. They noted that Mr. Eisenhower repeatedly has opposed the legislation.

White House press Secretary James C. Hagerty said later that President Eisenhower was still opposed to it. Asked if this meant the President would veto the bill if it reached his desk, Mr. Hagerty replied: "I'm not saying what the President will or will not do, but he has made his position quite clear on the bill. He is opposed to it."

Although the margin by which the House approved the legislation was far more than the two-thirds required to override a veto, some members who voted for the bill have said they also would vote to sustain a veto.

Hopping Up a Step

John A. Hopping, Chairman of the Board of Adjustment, has been named Assistant Vice President of the Carteret Savings and Loan Association.

Hopping, who is also on the Springfield Planning Board, came to the one hundred sixty-million dollar association in 1956. He was a former director of the Clarion Building and Loan Association.

Elmer Sickley, Fire Dept. Founder, Is 90

Springfield will honor an outstanding pioneer tomorrow, Friday, July 26, when Elmer Sickley, of 333 Morris Avenue, observes his 90th birthday.

An open house is planned for the founder of the Springfield Fire Department, former tax collector, township committee member, and chief of police. Friends and neighbors have been invited to call on Mr. Sickley between the hours of 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

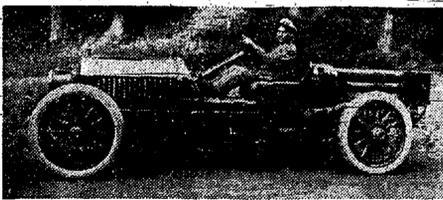

Mr. Sickley, who looks to be in his later 80's, is unusually spry for his age and has lost none of his sense of humor. His memory for figures is astounding—he remembers the details of all the big business transactions he's ever made—and he keeps up on local politics to the point where he can embarrass present township officials.

"Springfield," in his words, "isn't worth a damn compared to the old days."

His reason for this blanket condemnation is that he feels there isn't enough regard for taxpayers anymore. He cites the salaries drawn by full time officials and compares them to the top salary he drew during his 27 years of service to the town—$325 a year.

Elmer Sickley joined with the elder William Flemer to found the Springfield Fire Department 80 years ago. The two put up $1,000 to buy equipment. They housed the horses and wagons in the original Fire House next to the present Dr. Vogel's house on Morris Avenue. Mr. Sickley and Mr. Flemer ran the Fire Department as a private operation for three years before the town took on the responsibility. The alarm in those days was a ring of steel in front of the Fire House which Mr. Sickley often pounded with a bar to alert the town.

BORN IN SPRINGFIELD—Mr. Sickley, whose mother and father came to Springfield from Connecticut, was born here in 1867. He remembers attending school in the two room red school house located on what is now Black's Lane behind the Methodist Church. He learned two things exceptionally well—penmanship and arithmetic.

THE FORWARD LOOK IN 1907—Elmer Sickley, who celebrates his 90th birthday tomorrow, built this snappy sports car himself for about $350 in 1907. The stack of spare tires on the back testifies to the state of Springfield roads in those days and may explain why Mr. Sickley felt compelled to run for Township Committee member whereupon he became Commissioner of Roads and built a good portion of the town's present roads.

His handwriting is still in the grand elaborate manner that he was taught over 80 years ago. He signs his name in a big bold circular script that is steady and beautiful.

His arithmetic has stood him in good stead from the time he went to work for his father at age 13, delivering coal. At 15 he quit school and by the age of 30 was sole owner of his own lumber and coal company (which was known most recently as the Union County Coal and Lumber Co.) His arithmetic was evident when he started his business on $160 and sold it when he was 52-years-old for more money than it seemed possible to make at the time.

"I love to double my money," Mr. Sickley said recently and gave examples of how he had made money both for himself and the town.

"When I was a member of the township committee," he explained, "I was in charge of road building. I was able to get many good buys of second hand equipment—like water wagons—when everyone else wanted to spend 10 times the amount for new equipment."

He revealed that he had sold his $350 car for $850 to a man he met on the street in Newark (and then rode the trolley home). He bought a house on Morris Avenue for $1,200 and promptly sold it for $2,500.

"I'd have been a fool to take $1,300," he observed.

His business acumen enabled him to retire at age 52 and become a fancier of guns and fishing rods. It also enabled him to run for township committee as a Democrat in a town where the Republicans held a 5 to 1 majority, and win two elections.

"I skinned them all," he said recently. "They knew I'd run the town like I did my business."

SOLD LYONS PROPERTY

His biggest real estate deal was the sale of the old Sickley home on Morris Avenue to the elder Tom Lyons. Located where Russell's Men's Shop is now, Mr. Sickley estimates that the building was worth $8,000 when he sold it for $25,000.

It was while he was on the Township Committee that he became chief of police for a while before he could fill the vacancy; "Yes, siree, I was the man then," said Mr. Sickley last week "And believe me, I allowed no monkey

Anthony Rosamilia Dies at Overlook

Anthony T. Rosamilia of 7 Prospect Pl. died Monday in Overlook Hospital, Summit, of a brief illness. He was 61. Born in Newark, Mr. Rosamilia lived in Millburn before moving here in 1942. He was a retired plumber.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Frances Catullo Rosamilia; a daughter, Miss Anna Marie Rosamilia at home, and three brothers, Daniel of Maplewood and Michael and Thomas, both of Newark.

The funeral is this morning at 8:15 from Smith & Smith Suburban, 415 Morris Avenue. A High Requiem Mass will be offered at 9 in St. Rose of Lima Church, Short Hills. Burial will be in the Cemetery of the Holy Sepulcher, East Orange.

To Enter Seton Hall Med School

Guy Thomas Selander of 102 Tooker Avenue has enrolled in the second class of the Seton Hall College of Medicine and Dentistry to begin Sept. 11 in the Jersey City Medical Center.

Selander is a graduate of Maryville College and one of forty four dental and eighty medical students who have been accepted for admission to the school.

"business in town in those days." Mr. Sickley, who today has such modern gadgets in his home as air conditioning and television, still sees the humorous side of things.

His favorite television program is "Amos and Andy," though it hurts his eyes to watch through the full half hour.

"Thinking back to his working on a coal wagon at age 13 he says, "They say you must not work when you're young, it'll kill you. Well, I'll be 90 Friday."

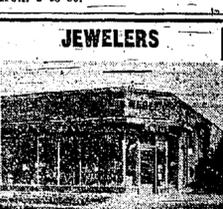

"When told that the newspaper would be interested in seeing him again on his 100th birthday, he shot back, "Do you think you'll be around then?"

Mr. Sickley, who is living with a private nurse, has had two wives. Jenny was his first and Lila his second, died two years ago. He has no children—but plenty of memories and many friends.

Apples Taste Great.

FROM THE GARDEN STATE

Now is the time—during July—for those wonderful new crops of cooking apples from New Jersey, the Garden State.

The tasty apples at the markets today are special tart varieties developed for early season harvest and are exclusively for cooking. They are delicious for baking, and in pie, and as applesauce.

New Jerseyans can be happy that these fine apples are available now. That's why we suggest that, whenever you buy fruits and vegetables, you ask your favorite grocer, chain store or supermarket: "Are they from Jersey?"

Help yourself to the riches of the Garden State.

Sun Social Editor On Caribbean Duty

Daily newspapers the world over abound with correspondents in strategic places to cover political and economic affairs and the Haiti Herald, with main offices in Port-au-Prince, is no exception.

As one of the leading newspapers in the Caribbean area, the Herald lists in its masthead, the names of correspondents in New York and Florida and as of the June 20th issue the name of Lorrie Lewis as Springfield correspondent.

Springfield should feel a certain amount of pride to be considered one of the "hot spots for news" along with New York and Florida and evidently the Haiti Herald, looking for typical suburban grass roots comments, has sought out Mrs. Lewis to write them the latest flashes.

Mrs. Lewis has been social editor for the Springfield Sun for about two years and resides with her husband and two children at 385 Milltown Road.

The Thomas Jefferson Memorial in Washington, D. C., now has an air conditioning unit to heat and cool interior rooms.

to the browser's delight, a really good group of oil paintings. To the collector's joy, admirable works by old masters and contemporary artists. What's more, they're all handsomely framed. So browse or collect, but come on in and look around. It's fun and well worth your while. (P. S. the prices are inviting, too).

Binder Asked to Push UN Week

Mayor Albert G. Binder has been requested to set up a local committee for the observance of United Nations Week, October 20 to 27, by the Union County Chapter, American Association for the United Nations.

In a letter to the chief executive, the Rev. John R. Dexheimer of Kenilworth, Union County U. N. Week chairman, said: "Your Union County Chapter of the American Association for the United Nations is working to see United Nations Week extensively observed throughout Union County."

Under the direction of the Rev. Mr. Dexheimer, the chapter is planning several county-wide activities or projects marking the anniversary of the founding of the United Nations. In addition, the chapter will help local chairmen and committees in any way possible to set up their own programs.

"It would be extremely helpful," the Rev. Dexheimer told Mayor Binder, "if you would be willing to invite a concerned and alert citizen to head a United Nations Week Committee in your town. Our organization is ready to assist that person in planning your local observance. We have several valuable resources to put at his disposal—ideas, speakers, printed materials, films, publicity."

"If you would kindly give the matter serious thought, enlist the help of the right leader...you will be lifting the eyes of your community toward higher horizons of human understanding, a commodity that certainly seems to be in great demand today."

Your Library

Whether you have recently acquired a pet, plan to, or are an experienced animal handler, you will find the many books the library has available for you on pets of all varieties particularly valuable. For the owner or prospective owner of a puppy, Atkinson's book How to Raise Your Puppy will help your children understand the needs of your canine friend. How and what to feed Rover, how to make him a bed, housebreak, brush and comb, bathe, and get along with him are included in this children's book. Turtles can be fascinating animals as Turtles as Pets, written by Roberts, illustrates. He explains in detail how to care for and cure their illnesses, and the various types of turtles which inhabit the United States. Hogner has written a book concerning Frogs and Polliwogs which is a great aid to those who desire to care for their water and land friends. This book contains many unusual facts about frogs, for example, a frog is known to eat his own skin. The library has several bird books, including Zim's Parakeets which explains to the young and old how to select, raise, train and breed the beautiful bird of the home. The Beginners Guide to Attracting Birds will be more than useful for the outdoor bird watcher for it tells its reader how to attract birds in the winter, how to build shelters for them, identify different types and so forth.

In the broader field of animals as pets, Animal IQ: the Human Side of Animals by Packard, introduces and discusses the intelligence of the more familiar household and wild animals, including birds, elephants, dogs, cats, horses, penguins, monkeys, and cows in the discussion. It will be of particular interest to adult readers but is comprehensible for the child of ten to fourteen. Somewhat in the same category is Marini's My Zoo Family which gives a vivid account of her life as the wife of the keeper of the Lion House of the Bronx Zoo. She discusses with ease her experiences in raising such animals as lions, jaguars, leopards and deer in such a way that each has an individual personality. If you wish to have a zoo of your own, Sylvia Greenberg has an informative book.
