Leonard E. Best Is Chosen For Lions Achievement Award; Is President Of Pencil Company

Springfield Lions Club awarded its Achievement Award for 1939 to Leonard E. Best of the club's regular weekly supper meeting Friday evening, Feb. 26.

"In the course of a lifetime, all of us are called upon sometimes to do things we don't cherish, and to a greater or lesser extent, all of us are called upon to do things from time to time which are a distinct pleasure.

"Tonight, as I stand here, it is in an assignment of the greatest privilege and one that I delight in, that I would not willingly surrender.

"I might preface these few remarks with the reminder that periodically, but not necessarily as often as once a year, your Citizenship Committee will single out from those around us one who stands out and worth to our community merits the highest recognition we in Lionism can bestow.

"No longer is it a secret that this evening we are to extend this honor to our very good friend and neighbor, Leonard E. Best, president of Richard E. Best Pencil Company, which for the past decade and a half has contributed much to the growing strength of our community not to mention its being an important tax payer.

"Leonard E. Best, whose youthful contentment and bounding energy belie his age, was born in Brooklyn in 1894, one of two sons of Frederick and Helen Best. He lived in New York City, where his father and uncle, Richard E. Best, had in 1895 established the pencil company bearing his uncle's name.

"In 1917, when young Leonard was proving his mental capabilities at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the pencil company moved its plant to New York in Irvington, where it remained until 1945, when the present plant was constructed in Springfield.

"Upon his being graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology with a chemical engineering degree, Leonard E. Best sailed away from the family pencil business and set out to work on production development assignments in the rubber industry. His first position in this field was with the Good Rubber Company. By 1925 he thought he would try his luck in the pencil business and joined his uncle's company but remained there only until 1929, the year when, as history tells us, everything broke loose in Wall Street.

"With Rubber Company taking a position with U.S. Rubber Company, he helped this great corporation through the early depression years until 1935, when he returned to the pencil company in Irvington.

"When the war broke out in 1940, the year when, as history tells us, everything broke loose in Wall Street.

"When the war broke out in 1940, he was called back to the U.S. Rubber to handle important production work vital to the World War II effort at the time. After V. E. Day, when one part of World War I was over, he again came home to rest, this time as treasurer of Richard E. Best Pencil Company (continued on page 2)

Realistic Test Proves Value of Temple's Alarm

In the wake of the recent discussion revolving around the centrally-connected fire alarm system, Temple Beth Ahm in Springfield had a demonstration Wednesday evening, Feb. 24, that convinced its leadership that such a system is worth all the money it costs.

As the result of an accidental tripping of the alarm, the fire department responded to the temple signal, and was at the site ready to go to work only seconds after the alarm was given.

Bernard Sanders, chairman of the grounds committee, in commenting on the quick work of the fire department, said: "We are happy indeed to know that our fire alarm brought such prompt response from the fire department without our having to call them.

"Our system is connected with the fire house and when the alarm went off here, it also went off down there, and the fire apparatus was on the street and on its way before we could even call them back by telephone."

"It is comforting to know," Sanders went on, "that if this alarm goes off when our Hebrew School is in session, the fire department will respond as promptly as it did last week."

Seymour Wortzel, vice-president of the Temple, who happened to be on the grounds at the time the alarm went off, said, "I certainly want to thank the fire department and to congratulate the chief and his men for the quick, efficient and courteous manner in which they responded to the alarm. They inspected the building to be sure we were safe, even though we knew it was a false alarm. We know that if our children are safe in this building, they will be doubly safe in our new building."

A Magnificent Vision

It was good to read about the Brotherhood Week meeting arranged by Temple Shalom of Springfield with the Paxton, Mass., Congregational Church, which elicited commendatory letters from Gov. Robert E. Meyer and Mayor Vincent J. Bonadies of Springfield.

It was good to read of the Brotherhood Week meetings of Temple B'nai Israel in Millburn. Yes, it was good to read of these inter-faith minglings during the month of Lincoln and Washington—nationally recognized as the period for promoting brotherhood in feeling and action among folks of all races, colors and creeds.

Commendable as they were, these gestures were not sufficiently impressive in a field where there is so much to be done.

We should like to see, for one thing, Brotherhood Week or Month efforts spread throughout all twelve months in the year.

We should like to see more churches, more synagogues, more organizations concerned with the principles of brotherhood taking part in such programs.

We should like to see other phases of good relations among human beings included in whatever is done, so that the good work is not confined to promoting religious tolerance.

We should like to see the all-year-around efforts climaxed with a huge gathering during Brotherhood Month under the auspices of as many religious and racial groups as can be interested, and with a program of music, dramatics and talks which would fascinate a mixed audience of all age groups.

This may sound like an ambitious project. So it is, but it is possible and it is happening elsewhere. We know of no reason why it could not be a rousing and stimulating success in this part of Union County.

What are needed, of course, are wide co-operation and an immediate start by a broadly representative, hard-working committee.

But what a splendid vision all this engenders: an announcement issued shortly after the first of next year by a group representing all Protestant and Catholic churches, all Jewish synagogues and temples, the Negro organizations, in this area, that on a certain date in February there will be a brotherhood program presented in the largest hall in the entire locality!

Leonard Best

portant extracurricular role he has played in the field of education. For more than 20 years he has been devoted to the cause of improving the education system at both the public and private level. His first assignment in this field was when he served on the Irvington League of Municipal Economy, a group of local manufacturers. He tells me that it was then that he learned that education consumed the lion's share of the local tax dollar.

Later he organized support which convinced the Summit School board that the public was willing to improve the pay scale of Summit school teachers. This effort led him naturally into the position on the Board of Education, where he served in that district with dynamic leadership from 1943 to 1957, two years as board president.

"Not willing to rest with the problems of his own Board, Leonard E. Best took the time to serve in many positions of honor and responsibility, and hard work I might add, at the state and county level. These posts included:

"President, Union County School Boards Association; Chairman, Educational Jersey Education Association; Planning Committee for New Jersey State School Aid Commission, 1950-51.

"Chairman, New Jersey Citizens Committee for State School Aid, 1953-54; Chairman, New Jersey Citizens Committee of Public Schools, 1957-58.

"When called upon, he willingly accepted the chairmanship of the Citizens Committee formed at the request of Springfield Board of Education at the time of the planning of the Edward V. Walton School. Again last year he organized the Citizens Committee of the Citizens Committee of the Citizens Committee, which you may have observed is now under construction on South Springfield Avenue in our township. He has been active on the staff of government and education committees of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce.

Often Honored
"For these efforts, and others, he has received many well-deserved honors. In 1953 the New Jersey Education Association cited him for outstanding service to education. Newark State College hailed him for distinguished service to elementary education in 1956.

"Summit Y.M.C.A. presented him with its annual Stuart Reed Memorial Award for distinguished community service to youth in 1955 and for outstanding service to Summit schools in 1957.

"The Teachers Association of Summit singled him out for honors in 1957.

"Last Spring he accepted the first copy of the yearbook of Newark State College on behalf of the citizens of New Jersey, to whom the book was dedicated.

"With all this experience to his credit, it was no wonder that he was chosen as chairman of the Citizens Committee for College Opportunities in New Jersey which did so much to arouse the voters to overwhelmingly approve the $50,000,000 College Bond Issue.

"Leonard E. Best and his wife, Ruth, have lived in Summit since 1938 and for the past two years at 231 Oak Ridge Avenue.

This young-looking man has two daughters: by his first wife whose names are Lorraine, age 42, and Barbara, age 39, both of whom live in California—a third daughter, Joan, the child of his second wife by her first marriage, who resides in Pittsburgh, and two children by his present wife, Ruth, a son, Richard Best, now with United Automotive Register Company in Paterson, and a daughter, Beverly, age 21, a Junior at Gaucher College in Maryland.

He is ever so pleased, he tells me, that Beverly, the youngest, is majoring in education, with a view toward entering the teaching profession. She and she alone in the family has chosen the field to which her father has given so much of himself and of the prime of his life.

"Before I surrender the floor to President Lion Dave, so that he may present this honored guest, I almost forgot to mention that his one great mistake in life was to become affiliated with a certain other service organization in the City of Summit, the name of which escapes me for the moment, of which he was president during the year just passed."

February was a big month for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reiberg, of 80 Remer Avenue. This month Harold was promoted to the rank of major in the United States Army Reserves and on the 21st the Reibergs celebrated their 17th wedding anniversary. Our heartiest congratulations on both events.

Mr. and Mrs. David Katz, of 29 Cypress Terrace, entertained a group of friends and neighbors last Saturday night, and Claire made quite a hit with an Italian repast. The entertaining was a most enjoyable affair, and the guests were looking for "something a little different" to serve on such occasions might try her menu of lasagna, green salad and garlic bread, topped off with cheese cake and coffee. And don't count the calories.

Happy news was received this week by Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel W. Morris, of 5 Evergreen Avenue, of the coming marriage of Mrs. Morris' niece, Miss Dorothy Hudek, to John Wakefield of Kenton, Harrow, England. The wedding, which is scheduled for May 7, will take place in England. On Jan. 6 the Morrises attended a champagne bon voyage party for Miss Hudek when she sailed on the Dutch Liner Maasdam. The prospective bride was formerly secretary to Governor Rockefeller, worked for Lowell Thomas and was secretary to the former vice resident of Panagra Airlines. The couple ran to honeymoon on the French Riviera, motoring down the cote d'Azur.

Mr. and Mrs. Morfon A. Weiss, of 130 Irwin Avenue, are back in Springfield after a trip to Chicago, Ill. Mrs. W. flew there on Saturday to join her husband for the week end, and then returned with him on Monday.

There was a double celebration at the Jules-Wassermans, at 38 Hemlock Terrace, on the evening of the 28th when twin sons Eric and Evan celebrated their eighth birthday with a dinner party. Their guests included cousins Gary and Philip Wasserman (who are the sons of Jules' twin brother Sam), Michael, Lee, Robert, Marc, Marc, Lee, Lee, Peter and David May, Steven Dorsky.

Steven Dorsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dorsky, of 247 Milltown Road, had his own

Presidential Politics, 1960

By SAUL ORKIN
Asst. Prof. of Political Science
UNION JUNIOR COLLEGE
Cranford, New Jersey

In the approaching Springtime of this year, voters in 15 states including New Jersey and the District of Columbia will go to the polls to express preference for the presidential candidate of their choice. With no contest in the offing...

or the GOP nomination, attention will be focused on the Democrats, who will be pitting Senators Kennedy and Humphrey against each other in several selected states. A defeat in any single primary may destroy either a candidate's chances of gaining the nomination, and even if one were to accomplish the impossible of sweeping all 16 primaries, he could not have accumulated enough delegate strength to win the nomination, nor would he have any assurance that the convention would choose him as the result of his good showing. Kennedy has the great paradox of presidential preference primaries. No candidate will enter all of the primaries, and three of the most potent contenders, Senators Symington and Johnson and Adlai Stevenson, will enter none at all. The Republicans, for their part, have no involvement whatsoever. If such is the case, why all the hubbub about presidential preference primaries and, if they are not decisive, why hold them to begin with?

It all goes back to the politics and boss-control of conventions led to the hope that the people could take a hand in the selection of candidates through the primary.

that it should be. Why should those who have contributed most in time and effort have the paramount voice in naming the man to carry the party standard? And who knows better than the party leaders the qualifications and attributes of the contenders, based as their evaluations may be on intimate knowledge and observations of the prospective candidates?

Second, the primaries are not representative and because the laws governing them differ from state to state, no uniformity exists. Thus the impact upon party leaders is dissipated for lack of a clear mandate, emphasized by the fact most states give them no cognizance at all.

strate their abilities for better or worse. A candidate who runs poorly in the primaries, have no claim on the Convention. One who proves to have vote-getting ability in the primaries, on the other hand, cannot miss gaining the notice of the Convention.

In this way, indirect though it is, the people may influence the decision of the party leaders. And as popularity contests the primaries satisfy the American peoples' desire for spectacle and political rough-and-tumble.

More than 1,000 square miles are included in the Piedmont Region of Burlington and Warren Counties. The area is larger than the entire State of Rhode Island.

In 1954, only 50 communities within New Jersey actively conducted recreation departments. Today more than 300 municipalities have officially established recreation agencies. If you give some drivers enough rope they'll tie up traffic.

through his home, he displayed a hot-water tank in the basement, and told him: "I had the plumber leave the old tank, and now all I have to do is to change the water in it from time to time. Then my shelter supply is set."

The friend was mystified. He didn't get it. "Why do you need a water supply in a bomb shelter?" he asked.

"Because we wouldn't live long without it," he was told. Saul Freeman, Civil Defense chief for Springfield, says this is a true story. He says it is not unusual for people to ask "dumb" questions about the complicated business of defense against atomic weapons.

Next to the existence of the shelter itself, Freeman says, the most important consideration of the Springfield family is to provide that shelter with adequate supplies.

After a thermonuclear attack, a most difficult task will be to obtain food and water without over-exposure to fallout radiation. Freeman says it will be more than difficult; it will be almost impossible.

Therefore, he says, the Springfield family, living in a prime target area for A-bomb attack, should have on hand at least a two-week supply of food and water.

"It can mean the difference between life and death," says

Freeman. A battery-powered radio will be invaluable in the event of commercial power failure.

Radio will be the source of instructions via "conelrad," on wave lengths 640 and 1240. Next to food and water, information will be an essential to survival.

A list of suggested food and fluid items for the two-week supply can be obtained from Civil Defense headquarters, Freeman says.

Water should be stored in clean containers, preferably earthen jugs or dark colored bottles. The containers should have tight-fitting covers and ought to be stored in a dark place to retard the growth of algae.

The containers should be emptied, rinsed and refilled at least every three months, Freeman says. This will insure that water remains fresh and palatable. Longer periods without changing will impart a bitter taste, although the water may be safe to use for many months.

Additional water may be obtained from hot-water heaters, toilet tanks, refrigerator ice or similar sources. Water purification tablets should be included in the list of emergency supplies.

Freeman suggests that the family arrive at this stage of preparation might well give thought to preparations to pass the time as pleasantly as possible; by stocking such items as games, toys, books and the like. A family Bible and other religious items may be of inestimable aid to spirit and family morale, he said.

He also suggested stocking, to the degree feasible, such tools as shovel, crowbar, hammer, saw, wrench, screwdriver and cutting pliers and candles; flashlight with batteries; clock, work gloves and other helpful articles.

"But or the Grace of God" will be presented by the Hat Box Players at the March 10 meeting of Springfield Chapter of Women's American ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training) at Temple Beth Ahm-Balustr-Way Springfield. The meeting will be combined with an ORT Day membership tea under the chairmanship of Mrs. Martin Fishbein. Mrs. Leon Katz is program chairman.

The 30-minute drama depicts the realization that comes to a woman who is indifferent to the need and misfortune of others until she is suddenly and forcefully made to realize that but for God's grace, the things that happened to others could very easily happen to her. The one-act play was written by Jack Zircisky, director of interpretation and promotion of the Jewish Community Council of Essex County.

TRIM AND FIT CLASSES MEET TUESDAYS

The Springfield Recreation Commission trim and fit classes for women, now meeting Tuesday evenings at 8, in the James Caldwell School gym, are open to new members. These classes are free to all residents of Springfield and are designed to help keep those who attend physically fit.

Miss Lois Pappas has devoted considerable time to this phase of physical fitness and gives personal attention to individual posture and figure needs.

Wear soft sole shoes and clothing that is comfortable.

CLOSE GAMES IN "SMALL-FRY" CAC LEAGUE

The "Small-Fry" playoffs start Saturday afternoon, Mar. 5, at the James Caldwell and Raymond Chisholm Schools, with large crowds expected for the all-important games. Parents of boys participating are welcome to attend to root their favorites home to victory.

The regular season schedule concluded Saturday, Feb. 27, at both schools, with several teams showing improved scoring ability which promises several upsets in the making during the playoffs.

In activity at the Caldwell gym, the Naves trimmed the Aggies 19-8 behind a 8-point scoring effort by Teddy Habeline. Willis Rutz had 4 points for the Aggies. In other games played, the Aggies nipped the Celtics 16-7 as Brian Sheehan provided the spark with 12 points.

Dave Hitchings scored 9 points for the losers.

The Pistons had an easy time as they defeated the Lakers 17-7, with Andy Besch scoring 9 points. Kenny Lynch was the standout for the Lakers with 5 markers.

In the finale, the Billikens and Bullets clashed in a real donnybrook, with the former stopping the Bullets 12-11. Gary Kurtz had 10 points for the winners, with Ronnie Azarewicz a stick-out for the Bullets.

In play at the Chisholm gym, Ronnie Hazelman scored 10 points to lead the Lions to a 22-21 win over the Generals. Bob Ferrigno had 6 points for the Generals.

The Pirates trimmed the Bulldogs 17-12 as Bob Catalano scored 9 points, with Joe Buecel scoring a like total for the losing Bulldogs. Bill Murphy played well for the Bulldogs, netting 4 points.

Red Fuzzaglio and Kenny Miniman were the standouts of the Brown-Raiders game as the Browns won 15-12. The Giants showed class in defeating the Indians 21-10, with Fred Yohurst losing home 11 markers for the winners. Danny Thompson and Howard Goldhammer were the best for the Indians.

MILBURN "ALL-STAR" TRIM-JR. MINUTEMEN

The Springfield Recreation Jr. Minutemen suffered their second straight loss Thursday night, Feb. 25, with the Milburn All-Stars trimming the locals 41-31.

A poor scoring first half cost the Springfield five a victory as they were definitely offstride, lacking the hustle and drive of previous games. Gary Faucher and little Jimmy Los were the best for the Minutemen, with Milburn's height controlling both backboards.

Gary Faucher was awarded a trophy as the best player for the Springfield team in this contest.

Springfield returns to action tomorrow night (Friday) at the Bernardville High School gym, facing an all-star five of the Recreation League. Game time, 7:15 p.m.

MICHIGAN, KENTUCKY, OKLAHOMA AND TEXAS WIN

The Springfield Recreation Commission "State League" playoffs started Saturday afternoon, Feb. 27, at the Florence Gaudineer School gym, with second-round games scheduled Saturday, March 5, at the same site.

In the opening game of a 4-game card, Michigan trimmed the hard-luck West Virginia dribblers 18-14, with Frank Haydu, Chip Argyris and Ben Chadwick the standouts for the winners. Gaillard and Rosenthal were the workhorses for the losers.

West Virginia came up with its best showing of the campaign, actually gaining a one-point advantage early in the third quarter, only to lose the lead later in the period.

The second game was a thriller as Kentucky eked out a slim one-point win over Illinois, the score being 23-22, as Warman and Roberts pumped home two crucial goals in the final period. Jimmy Belliveau's 8-point scoring effort was tops for Kentucky, with Jensen scoring 11 points for Illinois.

Texas showed good scoring power behind Robby Reis and Ted Max to defeat a good California five, 24-15. In the finale Oklahoma shove dark horse possibilities by stopping a good Minnesota five, 24-19. The scoring was well distributed by Coach "Del" Tompkins' hustling dribblers, with Ginter (6), Hill (8), Tompkins (5) and Silverman (5) providing the scoring punch. Bucek and Hitchings scored all of the Minnesota points, with 10 and 9 points respectively.

The playoffs will continue this week, with the winners clashing in preliminary games, the winners in the last half of the program. A team must lose two games to be eliminated.

Regional wrestling clinaxed and Parella were given outright excellent seasons with superlative exhibitions in the district Novice and Varsity Wrestling Tournaments. The Novice wrestlers, those who had no varsity experience, placed second behind Robbinson. The Varsity put up a brilliant effort but came in third behind Union and defending champ Rahway.

John Wadsworth finished out his year without a defeat as he easily swept to victory in his class of the Novice. He was joined by Bob Egan, Lucariello, and Bob Gardella. Lucariello, John Petrozello, Gene Becker, Ed Kasbarian, Bob Parella, and Leo Lospino, Petrozello, Kasbarian, a brilliant exhibition of wrestling ability. Then came the break that broke the backs of the Regionals and the heart of Kasbarian. Trailing 2 to 0, on a second period escape by Alvin Bragg, Rahway, Ed came back when an escape and a delayed reversal to gain a three to two advantage. For the remainder of his bout, he kept his man on the bottom, allowing time to run. Victory was within sight as Bragg slipped through the grasp of a valiant Regional matman and gained a reversal with three seconds left in the contest.

Following victories by Dennis Powers, Westfield; Tony Calasurdo, Union; Al Lilly, Union; and Harry Koeber, Union; Bob Parella came up against a taller opponent in Robert Mueller of Westfield. The height paid off as Bob was unable to score with enough frequency against the gangling "Blue Devil." Lospino followed in a bout which decided the team championship, but only because it was placed there according to the progressive weight order.

He wrestled the number one seeded matman at 165, Vieira. At that time, the "Bulldogs" were trailing 23 to 24 in the standings. If Lospino had won, the locals would have been district champs, beating Rahway and Union by one point. Lospino gave it an all-out try, but was on the bottom too long as Vieira took the victory both for himself and his team with a time advantage win. Two twins by Rahway in the concluding matches threw them into second one point ahead of the Regionals.

Larry Rouse and Howie Rudominer scored eleven each to lead the local scorers in a losing cause against a superior team from Cranford in the quarter finals of the Union County Tournament. The "Cougars" complete control of both backboards was the big factor in deciding the final score which was 69 to 50. The "Bulldogs" made one strong concerted surge in the second period, and brought the margin to 24 to 24 at halftime, and for all purposes, they were out of the game and Tournament.

How come telephone men all wear glasses, Mister?

Pretty observant young man! Yes, all telephone men who work with tools do wear glasses. The reason is safety—protection on the job. That's the reason, too, why telephone employees take special driving tests and are given comprehensive first-aid training. It has meant accidents avoided, and often lives saved, both on the job and off.

In everything telephone people do, safety is constantly emphasized. Wherever telephone people work, you'll see this sign: "No job is so important and no service is so urgent—that we cannot take time to perform our work safely."

Safety helps make the Telephone Company a good place to work. Protects telephone employees and the public. Increases our efficiency in serving you.

Last year—if you'll pardon a little pride—another safety record was set at New Jersey Bell. And lost time from accidents was reduced for the fourth straight year.

Envelopes have been distributed to all High School students to give to their parents, and have also been distributed at the regular, PTA meetings.

Each High School parent is asked to contribute $5.00 per student rather than being called upon to bake cake for a "Bake Sale", etc. Consequently it has been dubbed, "The Cakeless Bake Sale" and a very easy way to support various school activities through the PTA.

Mrs. B. M. Stafford, Budget Chairman hopes all parents will support this fund raising campaign so that the 1960 budget will be met.

The program began with a choral recitation of the poem "O Captain, My Captain" by Walt Whitman and honoring the great brother of mankind, Abe Lincoln.

A play entitled "Washington's Surprise Party" followed, depicting the sudden attack of Washington's troops on the merry-making Tories.

To add to the color of the program, a drill and minuet arranged and taught by Mrs. Arch Stephens was displayed by the students. The production, including the musical numbers, was directed by Sr. Carmela Melara, M.P.F., principal of the school, and the Eighth Grade teacher, Sr. Johanna Rado, M.P.F., and Sr. Joan-Barrett, M.P.F.

Mrs. Thomas Mosser, club president, announced that the pre-Lenten cake sale will take place Sunday, Feb. 28, following all Masses, and that on March 27 the club will hold its annual Communion Breakfast at the Arbor Inn, Chairford for the affair is Mrs. William Berner.

Results of the volleyball matches during the week of Feb. 2 in the second round of the Fanwood-Scotch Plains Y.M.C.A. house league were as follows:
