Letters to Editor

Editor, Sun:
At this time, now that my Art Exhibition is over, I, Lillian E. Lindeman, want to take the time to thank the staff of the Springfield Sun for the very nice write-up that your paper gave to me.
I find it is customary on the close of any kind of an affair to offer a word of appreciation when something nice has been done like your paper has been done for me. May I say you did an excellent article and I thank you from the bottom of my heart.
Your articles in the Sun are interesting and I wish you luck in always nicely done and very in the future in all your paper does.
Sincerely,
Lillian E. Lindeman

When printing was introduced, it was associated with black magic because of the uniformity of printed words as compared with manuscripts. This mystery caused printers to call their helpers, blackened with ink, evil spirits or devils, hence the term of "printer's devil."

"You Don't Get The Truth." Pen Pal Writes Student About Trouble In Japan

Jan Forster, 18, a sophomore at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, from Springfield, has been exchanging letters, ideas and hopes with a Japanese pen pal, a student at Hokkaido University.
For more than 2½ years Jan and her pen pal have been writing regularly about freedom, rock'n roll, cherry blossoms, loquats and the lotus.
Jan's letters overburied with comments on liberty, Gen. MacArthur, history, boy-meets-girl, ice cream sodas, lip-stick, and President Eisenhower.
"None of the letters left any area for controversy; they were interesting thought exchanges between two youngsters about peace and life in their countries, their schools, in their communities and with their families."
That is not until the most recent letter received by Jan. It arrived, after a long pause, since the riots and massive student demonstrations against Premier Kishi which resulted in the cancellation of President Eisenhower's trip to Japan.
"I'm afraid you do not understand the true situation," writes the agitated Hokkaido University student.
"For I hear the truth is not informed in your country," Yakiko's letter, written very well by hand in excellent English, describes the students' opposition to the security treaty, the Kishi government and the fight for peace which the Japanese girl student tells Jan "is most precious to all of Japan."
WHI Write Herself
"I understand how Yakiko feels," said Jan, "but before I send off a reply to this letter, I want to make sure I can convince her that the truth on matters of this kind is available to all of us—that we do get the right news."
Jan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Forster, 4 Craig Road, Springfield. She is a camp counselor at the Spring Garden Country Club for the summer.
Kakiko, Jan's pen pal, is a resident of Otaru, Hokkaido, one of the small islands in Japan.
"I am eager to get some help from my parents, my teachers and others in responding to this next letter," said Jan, "but I want to write it myself in the same style Yakiko and I have been chatting by mail these 2½ years."
Following is the letter from Japan with no deletions or changes, as requested by Jan:
"Dear Jan: I am very sorry for not having written to you earlier. I have been very busy in these days.
I think you have your opinion about the present situation of our country. But I am afraid that you do not understand the true situation, for I hear the truth is not informed in your country. So I would like to tell you what I think true.
The security treaty in which we all have been interested has passed. Last week we in Hokkaido University had continuous strike and more than a half joined in the demonstration meaning they were against the security treaty.
Every day we discuss only about the treaty and the disturbed assembly of Japan. I never exaggerate my words. All Japanese are interested in the present situation.
We cannot believe that the treaty passed under right means. Is it right to briefly recognize the treaty which will confine the concern between U.S.A. and Japan for ten years? What do you think of it?

I think the government had to have more time in the discussion of the treaty and perhaps those who are against it, like Mr. Kishi and his party, man did not try to do so. So, wonder they themselves don't know about it very well.
Many people have doubts and think more careful discussion had to be held. Wishing the discussion about the security treaty will be made a new start, people roused themselves to action. They want to know what will become of Japan after the conclusion of the treaty. I hear in your country it is announced that they are extreme communists and their action is violence.
But they are all not Japanese wish peace more than any other nations, for they experienced the horror of war and atomic bombs.
Why do they like violence? In the streets almost people walk in good order, singing the songs in which the desire of peace is included. But Mr. Kishi and his party do not try to understand it. So the other day some impatient people of Zen-gaku-ren (Do you know it?) used violence. All the people did not like violence. Though Mr. Kishi says he wants to listen to silent voices, why does he not try to listen to real voices? Why does he, who was elected by nation, pay no heed to nation's voices? We are all angry with him. I want you to understand why are we against the security treaty.
At first, I believe it swims against the current that many people all over the world try to make the world go the most peaceful way and wish no war.
On the one side peace is talked, and military treaties are concluded on the other. Don't you feel inconsistent?
In World War II the world was divided to two groups. One group included U.S.A. Soviet Union, British and France and the other Japan, Italy and Germany. Now the world is divided to the two: Socialism of Soviet Union and Liberalism of U.S.A.
That Japan grasps American hand is that Japan joins in the military opposition between U.S.A. and Soviet Union.
This is why we look upon the security treaty as the military one. Of course, I do not want, either, that Japan joins in the Socialism of Soviet Union. We hope the world in which there is no opposition. I hope you understand this.
Secondly, our constitution declares that we shall not war again. It is not right to have

No Bug Bites For July 4th Mosquitos Take It Easy

Residents in Union County could easily enjoy the past July 4th week-end without interference from the well known Jersey mosquito.

According to the Union County Extermination Commission, mosquitos must have celebrated Independence Day much farther south. The Commission's mosquito control index shows at most 3.5 mosquitos in the Watchung Weekly district. When the index goes up to 14, residents will need their sprays, lotions and DDT bombs. Bug control crews have covered all the towns in the county, oiling down temporary pools, swampy areas, drain ditches and breeding areas. The index at 3.5 must be in-

Investors S&L Ups Assets 12%

Despite competition for savings and the tightest mortgage money market in years, Investors Savings and Loan Association of Millburn, Union, East Orange and Hillside boosted its assets by $2,769,700 or 12% for the first half of 1960 and looks forward to even greater gains during the balance of 1960. Roland Lewan, President, said today.

Revolutionary!... EVEREADY Dust Spray GARDEN GUN

The board of directors declared an increased dividend of 34%, payable to all savings members as of June 26, 1960. The dividend was paid to 68,983 members amounting to $751,945. In addition to this dividend $185,638 was added to reserves, bringing the total reserves up to $2,927,637 as of June 30, 1960.

In reviewing business prospects for the balance of 1960, Mr. Lewan said that the outlook for savings and the availability of home mortgage credit are more favorable than during 1959.

He predicted the housing industry would catch up in the last half of 1960 with the production of about 1,200,000 units. This rise will be due, he said, to a greater supply of mortgage money, the desire of families for larger homes, a continued high rate of family migration and a slight rise in new family formations.

SPLINTERS FROM THE BOARD

BY RICHARD E. WERNER
Member, Springfield Board of Education
(The following is not to be considered as official opinion of the Springfield Board of Education)
The Board certainly has been impressed with the zeal and interest displayed by the Wood side parents in their efforts concerning the zoning and lunch-room situations. It is most encouraging to know that Springfielders are indeed interested in our school problems. We can assure you that many man-hours were spent on these feels that in years to come the true value of this man will be appreciated. He has been a tireless worker, showing great insight into the many problems he has been asked to solve. Good luck, Bob!

Starting next September, you will notice a new report card system in our schools. Your principal and teachers have coordinated their thinking, and have developed what could be the start of a new reporting method on a nationwide basis. They have tried to be more specific in telling parents exactly the area in which their child needs help. The child's strong points will be pointed out, as well as his weaknesses. We think you will like the change.

If you happen to notice a lot of activity around James Caldwell School this summer, it is the new fire escape being added. This will complete the recommendations made in a recent survey to give our James Caldwell children maximum safety.
Mr. Robert Miceli, who has been appointed School Psychologist, comes to us with a wealth of background. A graduate of Temple University, he is presently seeking his Doctorate from Rutgers. He has served in the Elizabeth (N. J.) Schools for nine years. Prior to this he was on the staff of Battin High (Elizabeth, N. J.), Newark State College, Pingry School, and Roosevelt Junior High School (West Orange). You'll be hearing more about Mr. Miceli in future editions.

You forget you own a Water Heater

...if it's ELECTRIC!

Don't give it a thought. Just turn the tap for all the hot water you want, whenever you want it. An electric water heater is completely automatic. Nothing to light or turn off, even if you go away on a vacation. And because it's fully insulated all around, top and bottom, the water stays constantly hot without costly reheating. This, plus your electric company's special, low-cost water heating rate makes electric water heating a number one bargain.

"Mock" Disaster Staged By Area Rescue Squads

Should disaster strike the Summit area, Overlook Hospital is ready to handle it. That was the consensus of opinion this week after "Operation Overlook" swung into smooth-running action at 5 p.m. last Wednesday as a "mock" disaster was staged involving a "supposed" chemical explosion at CIBA which supplied "victims" from its over-time personnel.

Praising the teamwork of the First Aid Association, the Red Cross, Civil Defense and Overlook Staff, Dr. Robert Buchanan, Summit chairman of Overlook's disaster program, reported the rehearsal as highly successful.

"I hope people in the community realize the time and effort that have gone toward their protection in case of an emergency," Dr. Buchanan commented.

"The volunteers who man the Rescue Squads, Civil Defense stations and Red Cross services deserve a vote of thanks from each one of us. Their skill and organization may mean life or death to any member of the community," Dr. Buchanan added. "I would like to thank CIBA, too, for its fine cooperation."

Overlook's staff heard the surprise alert over the hospital's loudspeaker at exactly 5 p.m. By 5:06 personnel in the hospital had reported to disaster stations, the main lobby was stripped of furniture and stretchers lined up in wait for casualties.

At 5:14 p.m. the first Rescue Squad arrived. Callmen's Unit, from Union, with victims from CIBA wrapped in blankets and tagged as to type of injury. The Cranford Rescue Squad was close behind, with Callmen's second Union unit arriving third. In quick succession Rescue from Chatham, New Providence, Overlook's own ambulance, Hanover, Berkeley Heights and Mountainside arrived on the scene with victims of the explosion.

24 Round Trips
In total, the rescue squads made 24 round trips. The disaster involved a supposed 42 casualties, of whom five were supposed deaths.

Overlook's interns and residents were on duty to receive casualties in the triage area, while staff doctor Dr. Stanford Ross of Westfield, in charge. Dr. G. W. Clarke, Jr. of Summit was in over-all charge of activities at Overlook.

The settlement, approved by County Judge Vito A. Concio, was against Herbert Melin and his father, Herbert Sr., of 1078 Mountain Ave., Berkeley Heights.

According to the damage suit, Miss Shaffer was sitting next to young Ben in a school bus returning from a high school football game when chemicals in Ben's pocket exploded.

How About a Library Job It Isn't Dullsville Work

ELIZABETH CURRAN

June graduates are now looking around for jobs; the main question in their minds is what job is the best job for them.

Josephine Bonomo of the Newark News has started a series of stories on careers for young people. The first article in the series appeared on Sunday, July 3. The career discussed was library work featuring Springfield's Elizabeth Curran.

There's more to being a librarian than just stamping a card, says Elizabeth Curran of 236 Short Hills Ave., Springfield, and she should know. Betty is an assistant librarian in charge of technical processes at the Schering Corp., Bloomfield.

This rather forbidding title means that Betty is one of five librarians who preside over the pharmaceutical company's library of some 5,000 volumes on chemistry, medicine, drugs, biological research and business material. Her specific job includes supervising a staff of five clerical workers, doing all the cataloging, issuing a weekly bulletin of reprints of technical articles and helping company employees.

"We look up all kinds of things," she explained with a smile. "—someone wants to know how many people were measles last year, we find out and let him know. Somebody else may want to know a boiling point or what. Sjogren's syndrome is—it's a rheumatic disease, and we tell him!"

Reads A Lot

In addition to answering questions, the friendly, green-eyed brunette scans at least 25 technical journals each day for the weekly reprint bulletin. These are screened by other librarians first and Betty makes the final selection of about 50 articles to be reprinted each week and distributed within the company and to some of the company's associates.

"She comes up with titles like 'The Use of Chlorothiazide in Hypertension' or 'Control of Fungus Diseases.'"

"It all seems so easy, now that I know what it means," she said, laughing.

Miss Curran credits the placement office at her alma mater, the College of St. Elizabeth, with steering her into library work. Although she helped to pay her college expenses by working in the college library for 4 years, she majored in biology and minored in English with the idea of becoming a nature writer.

Studying For Master's

But the placement office persuaded her to apply for a job then open at Schering. She did was hired and started to work a few days after graduation in June, 1956. Now she is so enthusiastic about the work that she is studying at Rutgers for her master's degree in library science.

"There are great opportunities in library work," she said. "Any interest you have can be put to work in a library because there are so many specialized types—school libraries, business, medicine, food, almost anything."

"And they're crying for librarians. There just aren't enough trained people to give would like to give."

Likes Variety of Job

Since Betty's own interests are scientific, the pharmaceutical company's library proved to be a perfect spot for her. What she likes particularly about her job is the variety it offers.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. graduate of St. Aloysius Academy, Jersey City. She has an older brother, Thomas Jr., who is married, and a sister, Sister Mary Rosalie, of the Sisters of Charity—a teacher who is studying zoology this summer at St. Elizabeth's.

Betty's own plans for the summer include learning to swim.

"We've already picked the date," Betty said happily. "June 24, 1961!"

Report to the People

By FLORENCE DWYER

WASHINGTON, D. C.—About 38 young men from Union County will take competitive Civil Service Commission examinations next Monday, July 11, as the first step toward appointments to the U. S. Service Academies from the Sixth Congressional District. Representative Florence P. Dwyer (R-6th Dist.) announced today...

...military service or temporarily away from home, will take the examination in such widely scattered places as Texas, Maine, and Okinawa. Mrs. Dwyer emphasized that her nominating procedure is based entirely on merit as determined by the competitive Civil Service examination and subsequent exams and evaluations conducted by the academies themselves, and is designed to select those young men best qualified for careers in the military services.

...Mrs. Dwyer said she will nominate four applicants for West Point, 11 applicants for the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colorado, and 10 applicants for the Merchant Marine Academy at King's Point, New York. Nominations will be made in the order of the grades applicants receive on the first examination, and with due regard to the choice of academies indicated by the applicants.

...In the haste and confusion of last Saturday's Congressional recess, you may have missed an extraordinary story—extraordinary in the extent to which it considered legislation can be passed. All too ordinary as an example of what can happen when the public business is subordinated to election-year politics.

...Under the House rules then in effect—designed to speed up passage of legislation—only one minute, 59 seconds, was allotted for consideration of the amendment. It was rammed through the House on a voice vote, without a single Member having an opportunity to study the amendment and see what it would do.

...the enormity of what it had done. That harmless-looking amendment—which the House leadership permitted to be debated for all of 60 seconds, not only eliminated 900,000 persons from the expanded coverage of the minimum wage bill, leaving only 500,000 in the bill, but it also wiped out the protection of the existing law for 14 MILLION WORKERS already covered.

...Legislating on faith. Under these circumstances, the Congress is forced to legislate on faith. And I am sceptical whether faith, in this kind of situation, is adequate protection for the public interest.

...Admittedly, this is a dismal report with which to interrupt my regular report to the people. Perhaps, somehow, when we resume the reports during the special session in August, there will be better news—news of a Congress courageously resisting election-year pressures and constructively debating the remaining issues. It is, at any rate, something to work for.

Self-Care Saves Overlook Fees

One patient in Overlook Hospital's new self-care unit saved more than $100 on his hospital bill on a 16-day stay, according to figures released today by Robert E. Heinelein, Overlook director.

The mark-down in the average patients' bill has been a substantial $40, the report continued, since the unit opened on May 2. The average length of stay has been four days.

Overlook's self-care unit is a half-price, "do-it-yourself" plan for patients who can walk around and attend to their personal needs. Since bedside nursing care is not required, the savings in nursing personnel is passed directly to the patient.

Do-it-yourself patients go to the cafeteria for their meals, where a special dietitian helps them select food if they are on a therapeutic diet. This represents another savings in dietary services and transportation of food. It also means companionship at meals, as well as instruction to the patient on the importance of diet therapy in his health program.

Other areas where the ambulatory patient economizes on his hospital dollar are by going to laboratory and X-ray appointments on his own, as well as by checking in at the nurse's station for his own medication.

Patients are recommended to the unit by their doctors, sometimes for initial observation or regulation, also for pre-operative check-ups, or recuperation from more serious phases of illness.

So far the patients have been almost evenly divided between medicine and surgery. Sixty percent have been transfers to or from the unit; 40 percent have been direct admissions.

The self-care unit has aroused much interest all over the country in view of the financial savings to the patient. Overlook has received requests for information from hospitals in many other states.

The program has also received national coverage through the Associated Press, with editorials in several leading newspapers and a televised newscast on NBC's Huntley-Brinkley Report.

Abandoning the Capitol. And now the leadership has abandoned the mess on Capitol Hill and fled to the convention in Los Angeles, leaving behind a small mountain of public business: the vital metropolitan-area commuter-bill, school construction assistance, health care for the elderly, minimum wage, aid for distressed areas, housing legislation, Social Security Act amendments, reinstatement of Veterans' life insurance, and a host of others. They propose to return in August to complete this work.

Almost everyone here at least privately is opposed to this decision. While no one would object to returning to Washington if the public business required it, there is almost universal agreement that returning under circumstances in which Congress and the public business will be treated as pawns in the game of Presidential politics. Once the party platforms have been written in Los Angeles and Chicago and the parties' candidates have been chosen, the campaign will be on and nothing will stand in the way.

Admittedly, this is a dismal report with which to interrupt my regular report to the people. Perhaps, somehow, when we resume the reports during the special session in August, there will be better news—news of a Congress courageously resisting election-year pressures and constructively debating the remaining issues. It is, at any rate, something to work for.
