39th YEAR NO. 39 DREXEL 9-5000 SPRINGFIELD, N.J., THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1960

Local Church Cited for Contribution

Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 639 Mountain Avenue, Springfield, was commended last week for its fine giving record at the annual Atlantic District convention of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod held in Brantville, New York, by the Stewardship Director of the District, the Rev. Louis Meyer.

Contributions for all purposes—local, missions, charities, and building program amounted to $233 per communicant at the local congregation in 1959—a communicant in the Lutheran Church is any member who has been confirmed, roughly all those over the age of 13. Total contributions at Holy Cross were almost $21,000 last year. The parish ranked third in 1959 among all Lutheran congregations in New Jersey in contributions per communicant. Only two other Lutheran congregations in New Jersey ranked higher. They were Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Ridgewood whose contributions for all purposes amounted to $288 per communicant and Somerset Hills Lutheran Church in Basking Ridge with per-communicant offerings of $243.

"We are highly pleased with this excellent stewardship record," Pastor Lester Wesserschmidt stated. "The motivations for all Christian giving is love for Christ. Such a generous outpouring of financial gifts in the past year evidences a deep concern for the cause of Christ on the part of our membership."

The Atlantic District of the Missouri Synod—Lutheran Church—consists of 253 congregations in New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and New England.

Reverend Evans Captains New Float at Culver Lake 48th "Floating Services"

The beauty and majesty of Culver Lake has proved to be a boon for the summer pastors at Christ-Union Chapel.

The pastors have utilized this 550-acre lake, one of Sussex County's greatest natural assets, to imbue in their flock an unusual—community religious spirit. What have these pastors been doing? They have been conducting "floating services" for the past forty-eight years.

The traditional service was launched in 1912 by Grant C. Tullar, George Caruthers and Dr. Wallace B. Fleming, former professor at Drew Theological Seminary and former president of Baker University who guided the chapel in the early days after its founding in 1910. Tullar was a member of the New York music publishing firm of Tullar, Meredith & Co.

Dr. Fleming provided a large flat-bottomed boat to carry a portable organ supplied by Caruthers and Dr. Fleming's wife played the organ while Tullar led the singing. Of the first service, Dr. Fleming wrote:

"Fifteen minutes before time set for the service, eight or 10 boats, grouped as near to the organ as safety would permit, set forth. When all were under way, the music began. As these boats moved toward the center of the lake, the singing attracted the attention of people in other boats and on shore.

"When the little flotilla reached its destination, a rock was lowered as an anchor for the larger boat. The nearest boats were made fast to the larger boat and others tied to them. Then the service began. It was very informal. Curiosity led some people to row out to see what was happening. Some who had been fishing joined the group of gospel singers. Thus began an expression of the religious life at Culver Lake that at once proved popular and very helpful and that has never lost its charm or effectiveness."

Dr. Fleming was right. The service has been a unique attraction for the lake for the last 48 years and has been expanded with larger craft and space for other musicians and helpers.

What's more, its success has been a model to other waterfront communities, which have adopted the idea and gained an equally impressive mood.

UNICO To Help Curb Juvenile Delinquency States Frank Defino

Because of the "alarming increase in juvenile delinquency," a grass roots campaign to keep youngsters out of trouble will be launched at the four-day convention of UNICO National, a service club, at the Hotel Statler, New York City, July 20-23.

Mr. Frank Defino, president of the Springfield Chapter, said part of the drive would be a $100,000 scholarship program for talented, needy high school graduates. He said the 94 chapters of UNICO would participate.

Mr. Defino added that UNICO believes that education is a strong deterrent to delinquency. He declared that he and other members of his delegation were shocked at the recent U.S. Senate report which showed an increase of 175% in juvenile delinquency between 1948 and 1958. This jump covered 700,000 referrals to juvenile courts involving 6,000,000 different children between ten and seventeen years of age.

"We recognize that there is no sure-fire, over-all cure for curbing delinquency," Mr. Defino said. "The causes for delinquency vary from state to state, but we will coordinate our efforts."

The scholarship-fundings will help a diverse group of youngsters throughout the United States in such diverse fields as science, art, nursing, education, liberal arts, engineering and business administration, according to Mr. Defino.

Role of Religion In Civil War

Twenty-five thousand copies of a booklet designed to organize the churches of America behind the five-year Civil War Centennial program soon will be placed in the mails from the National Headquarters in Washington, D.C.

They will go to all parts of the nation, to addresses chosen without regard to locality or to faith.

Entitled "The Role of Religion in the Civil War Centennial," the booklet offers a list of suggested Centennial activities for religious organizations, including both the clergy and lay groups. It also offers a bibliography to aid in preparing such programs.

The booklet was prepared under the supervision of the National Civil War Centennial Commission's Religious Co-operative Council, a group of distinguished church leaders serving in an advisory capacity. Members include the Rev. Edwin T. Dahberg, president, National Council of Churches of Christ; Rabbi Max D. Davidson, president, Synagogue Council of America; Dr. Oswald C. J. Hoffman, director of public relations, Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod; Monsignor Peter Leo Johnson, St. Francis Seminary; Dr. Charles W. Lowry, chairman, Foundation for Religious Action in the Social and Civil Order; Dr. Ramsey Pollard, president, Southern Baptist Convention; Dr. Thomas F. Zimmerman, National Association of Evangelicals; the Rev. Billy Graham, Montreat, N.C.; Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin, Los Angeles, Calif.; and the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre, Jr., dean, Washington Cathedral, Washington, D. C.

In a letter accompanying the booklet, Major General U. S. Grant, 3rd, chairman of the National Commission, has invited the churches to cooperate "in an undertaking which cannot fail to provide inspiration to all Americans."

"Far beyond the educational historical features planned in many localities," he explained, "the National Commission desires to impress upon our own people and upon those in other lands the tremendous significance of the spiritual aspects of the great struggle, as well as what were our losses and our gains. The important thing for us to remember is that all these men who fought were fighting for principles."

Karl S. Betts, executive director of the National Commission, said the churches will be encouraged to focus their attention on special programs to be arranged as a part of services planned for next January 8, the Sunday on which the Centennial will formally begin.

"At that time," he announced, "the story of the chaplains in the armed services, the humanitarian and religious activities of religious bodies, and the spiritual legacy of the Civil War will be given special attention." As other features of the opening ceremony, the White House is expected to issue a special message to all Americans to cooperate in the Centennial, and the service academies of the nation will stage special programs recalling their part in the war of a century ago.

Help Children Pick Books But Don't Pick for Them

How often have we heard, "Give him a classic." "I want him to read something to help him with his geography." "I would like to have him read a book that would teach him something." or "He is a poor reader and needs help in vocabulary."

With the wealth of children's books at its very peak in excellence, attractiveness, and variety, it seems unnecessary to force the child to read any one particular book. Let us give him time to browse and let us give him time to choose his own book within reason. What a rewarding experience it is for him to find all by himself a book which fascinates him!

Librarians can learn to know children between the ages of six and twelve quite quickly because they are at that curious and enthusiastic age. Everything is interesting and wonderful, and they are not afraid to show it. For those who have mastered the mechanics of reading and can find fun in reading, books are "not really a substitute for experience, they are a real experience."

What kind of direction is then necessary? Perhaps, the more subtle approach is best. The librarian is trained in some of the methods in which this is done. One method is to take the child on a little tour, choosing several books here and there and giving pleasant casual talk about these books en route. But in the end the child still feels he has made his own selection from that larger group of carefully selected books made by the librarian. Another method is by book lists. The library has always several of these available.

It is necessary for a children's librarian not only to know children, but to know books, not only popular, but also those that have special meaning for the minority group. All children are not alike. Reader-type books, i.e., "Beginning to Read" series or "Easy-to-Read Series" or

Recent Graduate Enlists in Navy
John Gaff, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gaff of 64 Forrest Drive, Springfield, has enlisted in the Navy according to Chief Sonarman, Joseph R. Tomasso, recruiting officer at the courthouse recruiting station.

The new recruit was transferred to the Navy's Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Training Center for basic training. After about nine weeks of training he will return to his home for a brief leave before reporting to his new assignment.

Mr. Gaff enlisted in the Navy's short minority enlistment, being released on his 21st birthday anniversary. He is a June graduate of Jonathan Jayce Regional High School.

the Childhood of Famous Americans series are good. Lives of famous historical heroes, scientists, baseball players, musicians, and saints are greatly in demand.

However, in this space age let us by no means overlook our budding scientist. There is a natural and highly enthusiastic interest in the scientific discoveries in aviation, medicine, biology, prehistoric animals, and wild life. This is good! This is necessary! Your child will not have the same reading interest as his next door neighbor. There are over 100 different reading interests. The Children's Department of the Springfield Public Library has all of them in its 12,000 book collection.

Summer Stud Is Popular At Regional

The fourth summer session of the Union County Regional High School is most successful with 1,058 students enrolled. Students making up work constitute 45% of the enrollment; 40% of the students are taking courses for enrichment; 15% are students who have never been in high school before. Those pre-high school students are taking such courses as "How to Study," "Developmental Reading," "Introduction to High School Composition," and "Introduction to High School Algebra." Taking these courses will help facilitate the pre-high school student's adjustment once he enters the high school. Some of these students might have had difficulty with high school subjects if they did not take advantage of the summer session, according to Assistant Principal George King.

Six college students are also attending the summer session; they are taking typing, creative writing and composition courses.

Areas represented include Westfield, Millburn, Watchung, Short Hills, Chatham, Wellesley, Massachusetts, and San Diego, California. The student from Massachusetts has just moved to Westfield and the student from California is visiting relatives in Springfield.

This summer session is approved which means once a student receives permission from his particular high school to take a summer course, the school must accept the credit the student receives.

Completes IBM Course

Robert W. Braun of 16 Walden Road, Fanwood, has been awarded a certificate for completing an IBM Principles course during the fall semester in the new UJC Institute of Union Junior College, Cranford.

Olympic Qualifier

Greg Sebort, 12 years old, took second place in the N.J. Junior Olympic Qualifying swimming event, boys 11-12, 30 meters breaststroke on Friday night, July 8, at the Drifftwood Beach Club, Seabright, N.J.

This qualifies Greg to compete with five other finalists in the Junior Olympic Individual Championships to be held August 27 at Lake Mohawk Marine Pool, Sparta, N.J. Greg represented the Westfield YMCA and is also a member of the Highland Swim Club, Martine Ave., Scotch Plains. Greg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sebort of 168 Marian Avenue, Fanwood.

Letters
Editor, Sun,
I want to publicly thank all the people who helped make being Baby Parade Chairman of the 4th of July, the pleasant experience it was.
My warmest thanks go to Julian Sarokin and the Springfield Sun, for the wonderful cooperation and the coverage they gave us for this affair.
To Mrs. Andrews for her never-failing assistance to all of us. Mr. Andrews for always being ready and willing to take us anywhere in his car — and most of all — for opening the doors to their home and welcoming the Committee at any hour — day or night.
Thanks go to all the guests. His Honor, Mayor Vincent Bonadies, for giving so graciously of their time.
To my co-chairman Mrs. Thomas Smith, to the Chamber of Commerce and their Pres. Drew Morrison, to Mende's for donating beautiful corsages for the "Royalty's" mothers.
My thanks go to the people of Springfield for taking such an active part and participating so wholeheartedly in the Baby Parade.
Special thanks are for the past Baby Parade Chairman of many years, Mrs. Anne Schaffernoth, for the vote of confidence and the sincere interest in a very scared and worried Chairman; and for the whole Committee for their kind encouragement in most of all to Mr. Al Bowman for doing a beautiful job as master of ceremonies.
Last — but not least, I want

DEATHS

Roy Abram

Roy Abram, 146 Linden Avenue, Springfield, died last Friday, July 8, when he apparently suffered a heart attack while driving. He was 56.

His car crashed at White Oak Ridge Road and Dryden Terrace, Short Hills.

Police said Abram's car, traveling north in White Oak Ridge Rd., veered across the center line, narrowly missing one oncoming car and then colliding with one driven by Herbert Gatsch, 53, of 303 Hillside Ave., Livingston.

Abram's car then jumped the curb, ran over a lawn at the White Oak Ridge Rd. and came to rest against a tree.

Gatsch escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Patrolmen Donald Bray and Fred Pieper administered oxygen in an attempt to revive Abram. Police said the accident occurred about 7:30 a.m.

Dr. Henry Arons of Millburn said it was possible that Abram suffered a heart attack at the wheel before the car went out of control. He was pronounced dead at the scene. An autopsy was scheduled at Kaehler's Morgue, Orange, later today.

Abram was born in Newark and had lived in Springfield for 20 years. He was employed as a tool maker at the Gebauer Die & Tool Co., Livingston, and was a member of Cosmos Lodge, F&AM, of Newark.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Emma Kimmeler Abram; three sons, George of New Providence and Roy Jr. and Ronald, at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Abram of Springfield, and three grandchildren.

The funeral was held Monday, July 11, from the Haerberle & Barth Funeral Home, 1100 Pine Avenue, Union, with a Mass at 9 a.m. in St. Joseph's Church, Maplewood.

TAKING CARE OF YOUR GARDEN

By Edward A. Cardinal

Japanese beetles are plentiful this year. This will mean severe grub damage to untraced lawns during August, September and October, before the cold weather drives them deeply into the soil before winter. Chlordane, Dieldrin or Aldrin applied to the turf during July will keep them under control. If you have already applied chemicals in past years a buffer treatment will be good insurance.

After the bloom has faded cut them off as far down as the next branch which has five well formed leaves. This will help form strong buds for the next flower. You will find that the upper stems have only three leaves, and those immediately below three large leaves and two tiny leaves. The next lower stems will have five well developed leaves.

Presidential Politics, 1960

JEWELERS

This presidential year seems to mark a watershed in modern American politics. All the names, faces, and symbols familiar to Americans for two generations are passing and new ones are coming on rapidly.

Arthur departed earlier. An interesting footnote to American history is that only in the aftermath of war do military men gain sufficient stature and prestige to enable them to achieve high national office. America will probably not see a general as President again—least war return.

The new crop of political leaders is different from its immediate predecessors, reflecting as much as anything the changes that have occurred in the country since the 1890's. It is articulate, well educated, photogenic, schooled in the techniques of modern communications and groomed to take advantage of the new media. These men think, act, and approach politics differently. The next President will not be cast in the precinct-to-precinct mold of Harry Truman nor in the West Point-to-the-White House pattern of Dwight Eisenhower, because he did not start at the bottom. The lowest rung on the political ladder from which the "new" men were launched was a congressional seat, and that is quite high up, indeed.

Even the symbols of presidential politics have changed. The log cabin, the humble beginnings on which many of our past presidents capitalized hardly apply to such men of means as Senator Kennedy, Governor Rockefeller, or Adlai Stevenson. Only Vice-President Nixon may truthfully lay claim to a lower class start to success, and he will rarely mention that. In the days when the frontier was proudly hailed a log cabin in one's background was singularly appropriate. But today, in a society of affluence and polish, the candidates are affluent and polished, too.

It took decades to change the faces in American politics, but the turnover has finally taken place. When historians in the future look back on this era, they may note that the figures who illuminated the long chapter of our times—Eisenhower, Truman, Eleanor Roosevelt, Sam-Rayburn, and others—gave way to the succeeding generation in the year of 1960, in this year, a perceptible transfer of power took place.

In addition, there will be hikes, more reading, compass work, and close order drills. The 303d is a unit of specialists with public works, public health, public welfare, public information and other highly trained teams. Most of the men in the unit work in these fields in civilian life. Another phase of the 303d is the handling and processing of large numbers of refugees and displaced persons. The Group meets weekly on Thursday nights at the Kearny Shipyards.

Fanwood Church Sixth Largest

The office of the General Assembly has released statistics revealing that the Fanwood Presbyterian Church is the sixth largest in the Elizabeth Presbytery.

The church also boasts of the fact that it is only 31 years old, yet it is one of the youngest in the presbytery.

The Elizabeth Presbytery extends from Elizabeth westward to Clinton and from Perth Amboy northward to Basking Ridge. The communicant membership of the Fanwood church is 1,548. The church school membership of 1,265 is second now in the presbytery, with Westfield ranking first.

The current operation budget of $88,347 places Fanwood in third place, with Westfield and Cranford leading. Benevolence giving amounts to $23,388, which puts Fanwood in sixth place in this type of giving.

According to Rev. Harold A. Scott, pastor, "figures of this kind never tell the whole story, but they do indicate something of the faith and loyalty of a congregation—and the people who are its members. The church has furthered done many other things through One Great Hour of Sharing, sponsorship of refugee families, maintaining much better than average church school, with a high degree of skilled leadership and trained teachers."

Lt. Russell Named Aide to General

Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.—First Lieutenant Richard R. Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Russell, 78 Helen St., Fanwood (near Plainfield), N.J., was recently selected to be Aide to Camp to Brigadier General John H. Weber, Commanding General of Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

The 25-year-old 1957 graduate of the University of Oklahoma initially served for more than two years in the Infantry before transferring to the Army Ordnance Corps last October. He attended the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., and is also an Army Ranger and paratrooper.

Before coming to the Proving Ground last year he served as Commanding Officer of Company D, 2nd Battle Group, 14th Infantry, 1st Brigade at Fort Benning. His initial assignment at the Proving Ground was with the Army Ordnance Corps Development and Proof Services. Lieutenant Russell was graduated from Scotch Plains High School, Scotch Plains, N.J., in 1952. While at the University of Oklahoma he was a member of the swimming team.

He has a brother, James, who lives with his family at 711 Coolidge St., Plainfield.

The first friction match was made in 1827 by English druggist John Walker.
