Freeholders and Assembly Join Alignment Protests

All three Democratic Assembly representatives from Union County declared today they would support "with all appropriate means at their disposal as legislators the efforts of communities in the path of proposed highways FIA 78 and Route 24 to preserve their integrity."

In a statement prepared for publication, Assemblywoman Mildred Barry Hughes and Assemblymen John J. Wilson and James McGowan, said:

"In our efforts to build the new, we must not be overly hasty in destroying the old. We fear the need for speed and efficiency in transport has been, in some cases that have been brought to our attention, over-indulged at the expense of the values of home and community life in cities and towns in the path of certain proposed highways, particularly FIA 78 and Route 24.

"Legislation may be needed immediately to prevent any possibility that municipalities may be irreparably harmed by the plans of the Highway Department, however well-intentioned these plans might be."

In particular the legislators favored the establishment by law of an arbitration procedure whereby equal numbers of municipal and highway department representatives could iron out any conflicts with the deciding votes in the hands of neutral parties selected by the disputants.

Assemblywoman Hughes and Assemblymen Wilson and McGowan indicated that they strongly favor early passage by Congress of a bill introduced by New Jersey Senators Case and Williams, providing that federal funds for highways be withheld could have the opportunity to see in the path of such highways from states until municipalities elect alternate routes.

The three Union County representatives view their proposal as a complementary state measure to parallel that under consideration in Congress.

Cooperation in helping Mayor Vincent J. Bonadies and the Springfield Township Committee in their fight against the alignment of both federal highways, No. 78 and 24, was offered in the resolution, below, by the Union County Board of Freeholders.

"WHEREAS, the contemplated location of Routes 78 and 24 will adversely affect many areas within Union County, both economically and otherwise, and

"WHEREAS, the present location of Routes 78 and 24 will bring about a sharp decrease in the rateables, not only affecting the municipalities but the County as well, and

"WHEREAS, the Union County Board of Chosen-Freeholders are fully aware of the damaging effects the highway juggernaut will cause to many of our communities, and

"WHEREAS, the services of this Board of Chosen-Freeholders will always be available to our twenty-one communities, and

"WHEREAS, Mayor Vincent J. Bonadies of Springfield and other officials have carried on a courageous fight for their communities against the State Highway Department's plan for the construction of Routes 78 and 24 in their present location, and

"WHEREAS, this present Board of Freeholders have exerted efforts to change the locations of Routes 78 and 24, and

"WHEREAS, it is the feeling of the Board of Freeholders that the

Bi-Partisan Support Needed On Hwy Fight

Mayor Vincent J. Bonadies declared today that the united bi-partisan support of Springfield's fight against the proposed Federal Highway route through this community will help spur even greater efforts in the battle for approval of the township's position.

Junior C of C Being Planned In Township

The possibility of organizing a Junior Chamber of Commerce in Springfield will be aired at an open meeting which has been scheduled by the Fanwood-Scotch Plains Jaycees for 8 p.m., Wednesday, September 14, at the Cannonball House, 120 Morris Avenue, Springfield.

According to Fanwood-Scotch Plains Jaycees members, the meeting was set at the request of Hank Wright and many other township young men who have expressed an interest in forming a Junior Chamber unit here.

Melvin Teets, extension chairman of the Fanwood-Scotch Plains chapter has reported that many young men, already contacted, will be present for the meeting. One of them, Mr. Wright, will provide free transportation and may be contacted at Drexel 9-2582.

Discussion Period

At the briefing meeting, Fanwood-Scotch Plains Jaycees will explain various phases of their own operation, community and membership benefits resulting from Junior Chamber operation.

At the same time, Bonadies lashed out at political candidate, Paul Murphy, for ignoring joint Republican and Democratic efforts to fight the highway threat and accused Murphy of irresponsible political exploitation that offered only lip service but no assistance.

Bonadies declared it was heartening to all residents of Springfield to receive the enthusiastic support of Republicans and Democrats on a county, state and federal level who have rallied behind the municipality's fight against the highway threat.

Among those joining in Springfield's bi-partisan fight against the highway have been the Union County Board of Freeholders, Republican Assemblyman Nelson F. Stamler, and Representative Florence Dwyer and the Democratic Assembly delegation from Union County. Stamler praised the Springfield governing body members for their fight to preserve the community's status against the highway and called for a continuation of such efforts.

Bonadies declared that Springfield will fight "mile by mile a inch by inch" if necessary to prevent the Federal route from slicing the community apart. A mayor's citizen's advisory committee will form another phase of the municipality's bi-partisan battle.

LOCAL CITIZEN CONTRIBUTES TO FUND — John Scarfone, 39 Crescent Road, Springfield, turns over a coin card to First Aider Spencer Cannon, who along with many other members of the Springfield First Aid Squad, was calling on town residents last week-end when the squad "kicked-off" its annual fund drive. An excellent reception was reported by all squad members. The drive will continue this week-end and every day through September.

School Sidewalk Ordinance Introduced at Town Meeting

"No Smoking" Talk Brings Humor to Hall

The Springfield Township Committee answered a request of the Board of Education at its August 23 meeting and introduced an ordinance providing for the installation of a sidewalk on the east side of Springfield Avenue near the new Thelma L. Sandmeyer School.

The walk will run from Brook Lane 475 feet to the existing sidewalk in S. Springfield Ave. A hearing on the measure was scheduled for Sept. 13.

The committee also asked the Bureau of Traffic Safety in Trenton to provide the township with a written proposal for a traffic light at Hillside and S. Springfield Aves.

The request was made by Committeeman William H. Ballentine who noted that the department had suggested an earlier plan "which did not make much sense."

The committee also appointed three special policemen. They are Robert Gwathney, 652 South Springfield Road; John C. Ganley, 281 North View Terrace; and Paul J. Maxwell, 204 Livingston Street, Westfield.

Also on the agenda at the meeting was an amendment to the ordinance, which will permit the posting of "no smoking" signs in public places. The hearing is scheduled for September 13.

Some humor was interjected during the discussion of this amendment. It was a hot night, and between sips of cool water and puffs on cigarettes, the Township members were trying to forget the humid evening.

Committeeman William H. Ballentine was putting on a cigarette when the ordinance concerning the posting of no-smoking signs in public places was introduced by Mayor Vincent Bonadies.

Mr. Ballentine exhaled a cloud of smoke into the air of the Town Hall municipal chambers and suggested, "Maybe I should disqualify myself from the vote."

"The fact that you're now smoking," Mayor Bonadies replied with a moment of reflection, "indicates no conflict of interest. After all, the ordinance only is being introduced to night." Mr. Ballentine nodded in agreement and joined the committee in a favorable vote as he continued puffing.

The proposed ordinance is aimed primarily at retail establishments and would provide penalties for anyone smoking in a public place where the "no smoking" signs were posted.

The equipment is very compact yet provides facilities for up to 80 telephones and 10 outside lines. Available side feature is that it frees the telephone attendant to a great extent for other work.

Business is being conducted as usual at Crestmont's main office during construction.

Mayor Brands Police Incident "Weak Coverup"

Mayor Vincent J. Bonadies today attacked the effort of political candidate, Paul Murphy, to inject politics into the Springfield police department and branded the move as a weak coverup by a candidate who has nothing to offer the people but empty promises.

Bonadies declared that Springfield's police personnel are reservedly one of the highest paid in Union County and declared that the police themselves have earned the highest regard of all citizens for their dedication and devotion to duty.

The mayor declared: "Murphy's attempt to use the police department for politicking reflects upon an inability to produce any genuine issues in an all out drive for public office plus a clear reflection of Murphy's inability to face the basic issue — namely, he is completely uninformed and lacks experience to serve the people in public office."

Bonadies added that while he could not personally prevent Murphy from injecting politics into the police department, the voters themselves can, and will, as they have done in the past, in turning out of office the previous rejected administration which Murphy represents.

The mayor also challenged Murphy to explain his coverup of the real issues as thoroughly reported in the Springfield-Sun and which Murphy has deliberately avoided. It is a sad commentary, Bonadies said, that a candidate for public office in Springfield must at election time learn the motions and legislative affairs of municipal government by thumbing through back issues of our community newspapers.

No Decision Yet on King Replacement

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School, District I, has reached no decision on a replacement assistant principal for Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

The Board met in an executive session for nearly two hours on August 23, but a majority of the six members present could not agree.

The Board seeks a replacement for George King whose resignation the board accepted two weeks ago. Superintendent of Schools Warren M. Davis told the board that night that approximately 10 persons in the school district were eligible to succeed Mr. King.

The Board then spent about an hour with Dr. Davis and Principal Randolph T. Jacobson, but came to no decision.

Dr. Davis and Mr. Jacobson were absent at last week's meeting.

Lost! 1 Black and White Rabbit Answers to Nipper

"Nipper" Last Seen on August 25 on Park Lane

Have you seen "Nipper"? A black and white Holland rabbit, age about 4 1/2 years old? It was last seen in the vicinity of 15 Park Lane, Springfield, last Thursday afternoon.

Nipper has been the pet of James Beebe, of the Park Lane address since Christmas, 1955. The rabbit was a gift from his mother, Mrs. Frank J. Beebe. Since the first day that Nipper moved into the Beebe home, everyone had grown quite attached to the little fellow. So naturally, the home is in an uproar over Nipper's disappearance.

James said that Nipper has always had free run of the back yard. He has left the cage door open for a month and though Nipper runs around and might be gone for a day or two, he always comes home when he is hungry.

Mrs. T. Herman, 14 Park Lane, a neighbor of the Beebe's, told James that last Thursday afternoon she saw "Nipper" sitting in the middle of the Paul T. Murphy's lawn, 11 Park Lane. A fairly new station wagon with a young boy and a man in it slowed up as it came to the house and finally stopped.

The man in the car said, "Go ahead!" The young boy answered, "But he's tame." This all that Mrs. Herman could hear and see. From that moment until now, Nipper has not been seen.

James did not know of Nipper's disappearance until last Sunday when he returned from a camping trip with Explorer Post 73. They camped near Dillwyn, Virginia for a week. When James returned home, his 19-year-old brother, Dennis, told him that, no one had seen or heard from Nipper for three days.

So if you happen to see a black and white piece of fluff hopping down the road and it answers to the name of "Nipper," pick it up and bring over to the Beebe home, 15 Park Lane, Springfield. James will enter his senior year at Seton Hall Preparatory School this September.

Township Offered Help in Fighting Federal Highways

The Union County Board of Freeholders will throw its full strength behind Springfield authorities in fighting New Jersey Highway Department's highway plans as it now slashes through the town's finest residential area.

A resolution, passed by the Freeholders, asks to join forces with Mayor Vincent J. Bonadies and members of the Township Committee in the almost hopeless fight against the present alignment of Routes 24 and 78.

The resolution introduced by Freeholder William Dzieliz of Linden, chairman of the roads and bridges committee, called for a meeting between the committee and Springfield Mayor Vincent J. Bonadies and other municipal officials to form a solid front to protect the interests of affected communities.

The resolution charged the highway department's plans would create a "juggernaut" that would be damaging to the township.

Springfield's major decision is against the department's plan to locate the interchange at the concentrated Hartshorne area. Mayor Bonadies said this would affect 150 homes and cost the township $5,000,000 in tax rates.

Federal road authorities, according to Rep. Florence P. Dwyer, support the state alignment plans for economy reasons.

Federal officials, who must approve alignment plans because federal aid will underwrite the cost have rejected Springfield's proposal to construct the interchange at the Springfield Summit change in the less developed line.

Scavenger Contract Won't Be Awarded Until Sept. 13

The awarding of the five-year scavenger contract by the Springfield Township Committee was postponed until the next meeting on September 13.

The Committee received two bids at its August 23 meeting. They were from LaFera Contracting Company of Newark and the James Petrezello Company of East Orange. C. Eagan and Sons of East Orange, although eligible for the bidding, did not appear.

The Allied Disposal Inc. and the Miele Brothers, both of Caldwell, were disqualified from the bidding because they do not own dump leases for a five-year period.

Mayor Vincent J. Bonadies said although the Petrezello company was the lower bidder, the committee preferred to delay action until further study of the bids.

The Petrezello company offered $387,777.77 for the contract in addition to $2,000 for every 100 new residences in the town after the contract becomes effective.

The LaFera Contracting Company bid $409,000 with an additional $2,400 for every 100 new residences.

The Petrezello company holds the present contract, which will expire in December 31, for $26,000 with $975 for every 100 new residences.

The scavenging companies were offered seven different proposals, that covered periods from one to five years, including alternates for Clean Up Week. The comparisons made by Bonadies were for the five-year contracts only.

Pre-School Story Hour Starts Soon At Town Library

Program Will Instill Love For Books, Reading In Youngsters

In the Children's Department at the Springfield Public Library, preparations are now under way for the fall series of the pre-school story hours.

The first series will begin on Friday, September 23, and end on Friday, October 21. The people who have indicated their preference for Friday have already received their tickets (pink tickets) for the five meetings.

The second or Wednesday series will begin on October 19 and end on November 16. They will also be receiving their blue tickets well in advance. There is room for about forty more children to be scheduled either on Wednesday or Friday in the two later November and December series. Children may be registered by telephone (DR. 6-4284) or in person. The information needed includes the child's name, address, age, telephone number, and choice of either Wednesday or Friday. Schedules will be posted for November and December later.

The library's objective in conducting this pre-school story hour program is to introduce the child at a very formative age love for books and reading; to represent the children's room as a place where relaxed happy hours may be spent; to teach the routines of borrowing and selecting books; and to teach library manners.

The library does not claim any responsibility in the field of social or psychological adjustment to group behavior. If the child to the library; to give him a children's Librarian feels the child is not developed enough to derive benefit from listening to stories, the right is reserved to ask the child to be withdrawn to wait until he is more mature. He can then be considered for a later series when he is ready to enjoy the program.

The program consists of several stories, short in length, some old, some new, a game, a singing game, and an introduction to poetry with the help of the stereophonic record player. At the close each child is permitted to charge-out two picture books on his story hour number.

The program begins promptly at 10:30 A.M. Parents are asked to be on the main floor to receive their children on time.

Experience has taught us that once parents are admitted to the second-floor, the child looks toward the story teller. Furthermore, a timid child will often cling to his mother and want to go home as long as she is in sight. For these reasons all parents are asked to remain on the first floor. Care in all these details makes the program run smoothly, and adds to every child's pleasure.

The starting dates for the series are: (1) Friday, September 23, (2) Wednesday, October 19, (3) Friday, November 16, (4) Wednesday, November 23.

Million Alloted For New Route 24 Funds Set Aside For Proposed Morristown-Springfield Section

The New Jersey State Highway Department has announced that $1,000,000 has been allocated of highway funds for the acquisition of the right of way from Morristown to Springfield for the proposed new Route 24 freeway.

This apparently dooms any hope the Springfield officials might have had to change the path of Route 24 and its joining with Route 78 in the heart of the Township's residential section.

Springfield officials have had no word either from the State Highway Department or the Bureau of Roads in Washington, this part of the fund allocation coming in a general story on the road construction program in this area.

Although specific details of the alignment were not announced, the state has given no indication that it will agree to Springfield's urging to relocate the freeway's interchange with the proposed Route 78 further from the center of town.

It has been reported that the freeway will approximately parallel the Morris-Essex Turnpike. Springfield officials, who want the interchange moved to the Summit-Springfield line, say the present alignment will cost the township 150 homes and 45 million in fatalities.

Local Youth, Cousin Lost In Fog-Covered Mass. Bay

Rented Boat for Fishing

A Springfield youth and his cousin, missing in their rented boat, were found early last Tuesday, August 23, exhausted and asleep on the lawn of an island in Buzzard's Bay, Massachusetts.

The boys were reported missing August 22 in the afternoon when they failed to return from a fishing trip.

The pair, Frank C. Fenner, Jr., 19, of 80 Hillside Avenue, Springfield, and Robert Barboza, 12, of Fairhaven, Massachusetts, had rented a small boat for almost daily trips in the bay. When they failed to return on Monday, Robert's mother, Mrs. Alice Barboza, notified police.

"Two Bodies" Afloat

A search by Coast Guard boats, police and neighbors, began after dark in the fog-shrouded bay. It ended when a woman on Bryant's Island called police to report "two bodies" on her lawn. They were the missing boys, asleep from exhaustion.

The boys said they had rented the boat at noon from West Island and planned to return when fog suddenly closed in. They cruised in the fog, looking for shore, but ran out of gas and took to their oars. When darkness fell, they said, they were completely lost.

Rowed in the Dark

They rowed for hours in the dark until a light guided them to the island where they beached the boat near an unoccupied summer cottage. They collapsed exhausted on the lawn and fell asleep. When the resident returned at 1 a.m., she telephoned police.

Frank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Fenner, Sr. His father is a director of recreation at Morton Street School in Newark. The boy has completed three years of premedical studies at Central State College in Ohio and plans to enter Rutgers University next month. His parents who were here last Sunday and kept track of the search yesterday by telephoning returned on Thursday, August 28. The boy is staying with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Timm.

Ruby Announces Start of Junior Football in Town

Youngsters Will Learn Football Fundamentals Under Supervision of Recreation Commission

Because of the great demand and interest in football for youngsters, Ed Rudy, Recreation Director of the Township of Springfield, announces that commencing September 17th a supervised program for youngsters who have passed their eighth birthday and have not reached their 15th birthday will be able to take part in a football program.

The program will provide the youngsters with a properly supervised and safe outlet that has been tested and proved in other surrounding communities. The purpose of the program is to give children an opportunity to be exposed to football under supervision.

The boys are to be divided into four divisions according to weight and age so that no player will be over matched. It will run for ten consecutive Saturdays for a period of two hours, the first hour being devoted to callisthenics and individual individual instructions on the basics of football: blocking, tackling, and rules; the second hour consisting of actual play.

Every youngster will participate regardless of ability. There will be no set teams since the coaches will make up different teams every week. Therefore, no leagues will operate as such nor will records be kept. This is strictly a clinic and is meant to be enjoyed by the youngsters.

Free scoring games will be encouraged so that the boys will have ample opportunity to release excess energies in a healthy atmosphere.

Registration forms will be distributed throughout the schools. These forms must be filled out, signed by the parents, and brought with the child at 9:00 A.M. Saturday morning, September 10 at Meisel Avenue field. There will be a registration fee of $1.50 which should accompany the registration form.

If anyone who is eligible does not receive a registration form he may nevertheless register on September 10, however, a parent must accompany him.

Boys are required to have the following equipment: Football helmet, shoulder guards, football pants and regular sneakers. Arrangements have been made so that anyone who so desires may purchase any of the above items at the field on registration day from an authorized dealer at competitive prices.

Anyone desiring additional information, T. King, DR 9-3665 or C. S. Catania, DR 6-6080.

Turnout For Free Exhibit

To Demonstrate Carnegie Course

A free demonstration session of the world-famous Dale Carnegie Course is scheduled to be held in Springfield at the American Legion, North-Trivitt Street, on Tuesday, September 20, at 8:15 p.m. The following week, on Monday, September 26, at 8:15 p.m., a demonstration of the course will be held in Plainfield at the Park Hotel, West 7th Street.

The Dale Carnegie Course is being sponsored locally by the Leadership and Sales Training Institute of New Jersey, whose offices are located at Box 320, Millington, New Jersey. According to Wesley E. Westrom, Director of the Institute, "more than 7,200 men and women in New Jersey have completed the Dale Carnegie Course since 1947. During the past 46 years, these courses have helped over 750,000 men and women in every civilized nation this side of the Iron Curtain to learn the art of effective speaking, human relation skills, and memory improvement."

Mr. Westrom also pointed out that many top men in New Jersey industry, business, education and the professions, attribute much of their success to Dale Carnegie Training. Housewives and career women, as well as salesmen and office workers testify that the training they received in "getting along with people" and being able to "make themselves understood in conversation and getting" has helped them achieve greater success at home and in their business life.

The Dale Carnegie Course consists of 14 lively evening sessions. Each session is designed to bring out the hidden talents of every student, from college graduate to those who never got beyond grade school. There are no written tests. Students have fun while they improve their effectiveness in public speaking, human relations skills and memory training.

The Free Demonstration Session is completely without obligation to all men and women. A cordial welcome is assured.

Leadership and Sales Training Institute of New Jersey also announces that anyone who misses the free demonstration will be welcome at the free first session of the course, which will be held at the Park Hotel, West 7th Street, Plainfield, on Monday, October 3rd, at 7:00 P.M.

Freeholders Ask New Water Supply Bids at Runnells

The well planned program of the Democratic controlled Board of Freeholders to improve conditions at the John E. Runnells Hospital for Chest Diseases in Berkeley Heights has been slightly delayed by the rejection of bids for a better water distribution for fire protection. The Democratic members voted to ask for new bids following the advice of its consulting engineers, Alan L. Rubin of Rahway and Robert C. Grady of Teaneck, who said in a letter there would be "savings" if its new water supply plans would cover Rose Hall and the proposed hotel-type quarters to be erected on the county hospital's grounds. The engineers said an overall plan could include the installation of water mains for domestic and fire protection uses for the new nursing quarters and the installation of steam lines to the boiler plant. It would also provide a water line connection at Rose Hall with the hospital's water supply system for fire protection and the installation of water hose cabinets at the nurses' quarters. The board, split 6-3 along party lines, approved a resolution rejecting the five bids it had received - ranging from $51,775 to $76,603 - and authorized Mr. Rubin to draw up the comprehensive plans. The resolution stated that "an all-inclusive bid would cost less than the sum total of the smaller, separate contracts." County Purchasing Agent Frederick G. Sigler estimated the total project would cost between $130,000 to $150,000.

Picnic Draws County School 2,000 GOP'ers Entrance Test

In the first republican affair of the summer, the Union County Republican drew about 2,000 GOP stalwarts to their picnic at the Evergreen Lodge. Republicans really enjoyed themselves at the Frank-and-beanstand short speeches affair. The estimated attendance was made today by Mrs. Gloria Rocca of Garwood, chairman of the event. Rep. Florence P. Dwyer, seeking re-election in the 6th District, told the group that ability and performance will be what the people of Union County seek when they vote in November. "It is the quiet but firm confidence of leaders widely experienced and thoroughly trained to which our people will turn, not to platitudes, promises and excuses," she said. She praised Vice President Nixon and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge as "men who know what they are doing." In New Jersey's Sen. Clifford P. TAKING CARE OF YOUR GARDEN

By Edward A. Cardinal

A few months ago I mentioned the Henderson Lawn Renovator in this column. It stirred up quite an interest, and it was demonstrated to 30 members of the North Jersey Landscape Association at the Field Day meeting held at our Garden Center.

This is the time of the year that it has its best use in cleaning out crabgrass, weeds and thatch which has built up over the years. In one hour this machine will do the work of 10 men with rakes, so you can readily see it's a time saver. The machine sells for about $155.00, so most homeowners are not apt to buy one. With this in mind I contacted a few gardeners who have purchased the machines, and requested that they furnish a renovating service, based on an hourly or per 100 square foot cost. Their ad will appear elsewhere on this page.

Q: My lawn has considerable crabgrass in it. Does it have to be killed before the lawn renovator can be used?

A: If the crabgrass has not yet gone to seed the machine can be used without killing the crabgrass, for it pulverizes it to shreds. If it has gone to seed it is best to burn off with weed killer a double dose of crabgrass killer. This will temporarily brown off the desirable grass, but will kill the crabgrass seed.

Q: Does this machine get rid of chick-weed?

A: Yes. In fact it cleans out all horizontal weeds and grasses, but leaves vertical grasses, such as bluegrass and fescue practically untouched.

Q: If I use this renovating service how will I go about rebuilding the lawn?

A: The Henderson renovator will pulverize the weeds, it will also pulverize the soil to a depth of one-half to 1 inch. The next operation will be to rake away any surplus debris. Fertilize, lime and reseed, as usual, then finish off by a light raking to cover the seed. No topsoil or top dressing is required with this method of renovation, so the cost of the renovation service will be offset by the savings in material.

Q: Will this service also do the additional work required if I find I haven't the time?

A: Yes. They will do the entire job, or any part of the operation, if you wish. They will also use the materials of your choice.

Q: We have several bare spots in our lawn. Should I use Merion Bluegrass?

A: No. Seed with the same mixture used previously or your lawn will develop patches of different types of grass. If you wish Merion give the entire area a light seeding after the patches are seeded.

Q: The bent in my lawn is the tip. What should I do? It's brown looking, but is alive.

A: Bent is best cut at about one-half inch, but at this height the bluegrass and fescue will likely die out. If cut at two inches the bent does not thrive. The best course now is to cut at about 1 inch, then raise the mower back to the original setting. This will cause the bent to put out fresh growth and cover the brown sheath now showing.

A highlight of the trip will be a gala Championship Awards Banquet at Disneyland on Saturday night, September 3. The principal speaker will be Dr. Shane MacCarthy, Executive Director of President Eisenhower's Council on Youth Fitness. Dr. MacCarthy is flying to the Coast from Washington, D.C. for the occasion. The young bowling stars (48 boys and 48 girls—all under 18), are the elite of the more than 15,000 youngsters from all parts of the country who began their quest for titles, trophies, and bowling glory back on July 4th. They have triumphed during exciting neighborhood competition, Area-wide tournaments, and Regional tournaments against many of the best young bowlers in the land. All of the 16 teams going to Los Angeles were victors in the four Regional tournaments held on Wednesday, August 24.

Now, after bowling through eight week of competition, the youngsters come to the moment of truth. The National Finals begin at 11:00 a.m. Thursday, September 1 at Rosemead Bowl, El Monte, Calif. Age Proof Available From Census Bureau

Last year, 2,629 residents of New Jersey turned to the U.S. Bureau of the Census for help in proving they were born. These persons were among an estimated 30 million United States residents who are without proof of age or birth. The historical records of the Census Bureau provide the only source of this information for most of these 30 million people.

Proof of age or birth is needed today to collect social security and other retirement benefits. It is needed to obtain passports. It is needed to qualify for jobs carrying certain age or citizenship requirements. It is needed for some forms of insurance.

Since 1920, the Census Bureau or purpose, a legal representative such as guardian or administrator of an estate. Information regarding a child who has provided more than three and one-half million persons with copies of their Census records on age, place of birth, citizenship, or kinship. Persons seeking such records of facts about themselves should write to the Personal Census Service Branch, Bureau of the Census, Pittsburgh, Kansas, for a Census Records Search Application Form. A fee of $3.00 is charged for a search of not more than two censuses for one person and for one copy of the information found. Additional copies cost $1.00 each. An expedited search costs $4.00. Expedited searches are usually completed within a few days while the routine $3.00 search may take up to 30 days, depending upon the backlog of requests and the ease or difficulty in locating the information.

The personal information in the records of the 1900 and later Censuses is confidential by law and may be furnished only upon the written request of the person to whom it relates or, for a person not reached legal age, may be obtained upon the written request of either parent.

Fourth Large Class Due NEW BRUNSWICK, Aug. 26

The largest undergraduate student body since 1949 is expected to be on hand when classes resume at the State University on Thursday, Sept. 15.

Rutgers Registrar Wherry E. Zingg today estimated that nearly 8,000 undergraduates would enroll at the State University's day colleges in this city, Newark and Camden.

This is the fourth-highest total in Rutgers' history and represents an increase of more than 1,000 students over the enrollment at the close of school last June. Only the post-war years, when veterans flocked to college classrooms, brought more students to the State University.

Some 4,000 students, third highest total in history, are expected at the Men's Colleges here. A freshman class of 1,550, which exceeds the 1959 first year group by almost 200 students, will arrive for an orientation period on Sept. 11.

Douglas College plans to enroll 1,730 young women, the highest total in its history. The previous high of 1,650 was reached last year.

An enrollment of 1,665 students is forecast for the colleges in Newark and some 770 young men and women will attend the College of South Jersey in Camden. Both figures represent substantial increases over last fall.

Close to 3,900 advanced scholars are expected to enroll in the State University's graduate and professional schools, while some 5,470 men and women will attend evening classes.

During the coming academic year at the State University, many additional thousands will attend workshops, institutes and conferences fulfilling a variety of educational purposes.

MYSTERIES OF GRANADA

There are lots of things about Spain I don't understand. Why, for instance, do the guide books paint such an unattractive picture of the South of Spain in summer? It is hot, to be sure, but not the inferno they lead you to expect. And why do some hotels advertise things they just do not have? More than once, we were drawn in by the promise of a piscina (swimming pool) only to find that it was just being built or renovated or cleaned or painted. One time, the piscina was just a faint hope in the manager's mind. Perhaps he figured if the piscina sign drew enough customers, he could

In Granada, we saw a piscina sign and followed it to a "motel-camping-site." The motel had earned enough pesetas to put one two rooms; the camping site had several dozen tents. We asked the manager about his piscina. Was it really there? In working order? Could we swim right now at eleven at night? "Si, si, si," he assured us. We were so transported by the vision of a swim on this sultry night that we got carried away and took the motel-room instead of camping. A few minutes later, we set forth in our suits, to see our first Spanish swimming pool. We found a kidney-shaped little job around 6'x10' filled to capacity with 12 inches of water. I was enraged, but Donald had the bright hopeful idea that this might just be a wading pool, for kids, maybe? Just an annex to a big, proper pool?

And oh, joy, he was right. Up a flight of stairs, we found a huge, gorgeous swimming pool, rippling and shimmering under the stars. There were a few couples sipping drinks at tables around the outside. The high, feathery trees behind them were strung with colored lights that were reflected in the pool. We parked Claire's stroller and gave her a toy. (I must insert here that kids stay up late in Spain. It's the Done thing.) We tried to slyly inconspicuously into that delicious pool and not whoop around too much. For one thing, I was afraid my two-piece bathing suit might raise an issue. A few days before, at a beach-attendant had accosted me as I left the bathhouse. She poked me a sharp jab in the Frohbitido! What to do? This 2-resort on the coast, a woman midriff and blessed, "Erohibido! piece is my only suit. It is no bikini, believe me, but there is a definite panel of me between its top and its bottom. The attendant jerked a towel from my arm and tied it around my middle. Did she expect me to wear this in the water? Or flip it off just before I went in? Another Spanish mystery. Anyhow, I was too chicken to try it, and covered on the beach all afternoon, uncomfortably aware of amused glances.

Back to Granada and our late swim. People were looking at us curiously, but nobody said anything until Claire began to cry. Then, to our astonishment, a young man appeared from somewhere and comforted her. He amused her for nearly half an hour, walking her around the edge, and teaching her Spanish words, even now, she still thinks her name is Nina (meaning little girl). It's only reasonable. Everybody called her that! That kind deed was our introduction to Juan. What a wonderful guy and what a good friend to us. He showed us things we'd never have found alone, advised us, guided us, translated for us, told us tales of the Alhambra, and fascinated us in the days that followed. He spoke English quite well — he'd taught himself. He warned us not to drink cheap wine and, when we disregarded that sterling advice, bought us icy-cold beers as a morning-after antidote.

Let me tell you more about that evening. One morning, we suggested to Juan that we visit the gypsy caves that night. Could he bring the fiance he'd told us about and make a four-some? He seemed half-enthusiastic, half-reluctant. Finally he said that, no offense to me meant, nice Spanish girls didn't go to that sort of thing. Something taken back, we asked if he's like to come along, then. Another hesitation. Then he said he was afraid his fiance would get the wrong idea if he went near the place. Then he brightened up and said he'd ask her for permission. He said he'd tell her he was going with an American and his wife, and she wouldn't object.

With the tidings that she had given him permission, he would come with us; all was resolved. Now to set the meeting place and time. At the post office at seven? At the bar he's taken us at eight? Here at nine? We agreed to meet by the pool at nine. Repeating the agreement several times, we parted. But until 9:30, 10, 10:30. No Juan. Finally we went alone.

It was an intriguing evening. These gypsies live in caves on the dark hill above the Alhambra. The caves are wired for electricity and bear street numbers; but they are still cages — high tunnels dug out of the clay and white-washed. The mothers cough every night; the father plays his Spanish (naturally) guitar; the sons and daughters and cousins and friends dance turn her living room into a night and sing and sell terrible wine. That afternoon, he boomed up Juan didn't show up. We waited. As the evening progressed, the windowless cave gets smokier; the castanets click faster; the dances get wilder and gayer. The seniors in their skinny black pants look fiercer and prouder; the seniors stamp their feet, away backwards to the clay floor, toss their long hair, swish their wide, brilliantly-colored skirts.

We watched and drank and clapped and oled-d, and finally, with reluctant backward glances, stepped out into the cool night air. A gypsy girl came up to me and held out a tiny baby, wrapped in rags. I beamed and smiled and began to pantomime. (I had no inhibitions that night. I told you we were in our cups.) "How old? How darling! I have one at home, too, etc. etc." But Donald plucked me away. "She's begging," he said in my ear. And of course she was. As we walked to the car, and began to back down the steep hill, she followed us, whining, "Mon-ye, Mon-ye for baby," and holding out the baby entreatingly. Our last view of the caves was of her, shaking her fist at us.

Only then did we stop to think that the dancers we'd seen had, in fact, been disgustingly sloppy and dirty. One of the dancers couldn't have been 14 years old there she was, putting and swaying and thrusting out her bony chest while her father clapped. They had charged us plenty too — more than day's worth of room and board at the hotel.

Next morning Juan appeared. "Where were you?" he asked. He'd waited for us for an hour and a half at the bar downtown or at the post office (I forget which) and decided we must have changed our minds. "I was there at seven as you said," he remarked reproachfully.

I was really confused. Surely we'd all agreed on nine at the pool? Could he have misunderstood? If he hadn't wanted to go with us, why hadn't he said so? Why had he gone to all the trouble of getting his fiance's permission? I'll never understand that particular mystery. That day, and the ones after them, Juan kept us good company, being as wonderful and useful as ever. Every now and then I'd wonder what really happened that night. But, as I say, there are lots of mysteries in Spain. We tried not to bat our heads against them, but just to relax and enjoy a wonderful country.

How To Curb and Control Boro Ragweed Problem

The Mountainside Board of Health has adopted the New Jersey State Board Weed Control Ordinance by reference and announced that it would enforce it in an effort to rid Mountainside of this nuisance. They adopted this ordinance last year.

"As a public service, the Board has released a comprehensive report on the control of ragweed. Henry W. Langheinz, member of the Health Board, states 'It is hoped that property owners will voluntarily clear their properties of noxious weeds and make unnecessary the enforcement of the law by applying penalties to violators.'"

Two species of ragweed are found in New Jersey: common ragweed (Ambrosia artemisiifolia L.) and giant ragweed (Ambrosia trifida L.).

Common ragweed reaches a height of 1 to 5 feet. The stem is hairy and much branched. The leaves are only slightly hairy, strongly indented or parted, and mostly opposite on the stem and branches.

Giant ragweed often grows 5 to more than 15 feet tall. The stems are erect, rank and coarse, hairy, and have many branches. The lower leaves are usually three-lobed; the upper ones may be three-lobed or simple, that is, one piece. All the leaves are very hairy.

The pollen is produced in the green, inconspicuous flower parts at the tips of the branches. Since the pollen is very light, it may be carried easily by air currents for many miles.

The common and giant ragweeds reproduce only from seed. Both are annuals and are readily destroyed by heavy frost. Unfortunately, one plant can produce thousands of seeds that will reinfest the area year after year. The seeds drop to the ground and may be transported for considerable distances by water. They may also be carried for short distances by strong winds.

Found in Abandoned Fields and Vacant Lots

Though common ragweed is adapted to dry soils, it is widely distributed throughout the state under many conditions. It is often found in vacant lots, along roadsides, on abandoned farmlands, and in out-of-the-way places. It also appears late in the season in cultivated crops such as corn, tomatoes, potatoes, and grains.

The giant ragweed appears to grow best on moist soils, but it is found under many conditions and in many places where the common ragweed flourishes.

Control With 2,4-D Spray

Because these ragweeds are annuals, any method of control that prevents the seed from maturing will be effective.

Mechanical methods such as cutting, mowing, pulling or hoeing are good on small areas if they are used at an early date.

For large infestations or when a community project is undertaken, use of the weed-killing chemical 2,4-D is more practical. This material is cheap, effective, and safe to use. An application of one-half pound of actual 2,4-D amine salt per acre will give excellent control of ragweed and will permit the growth of grasses growing in the sprayed area. Using the commercial product containing 4 pounds of the acid equivalent per gallon, this would mean using one pint of the liquid formulation for one acre.

Dilute 2,4-D in water and then apply it uniformly over the area to be treated. The volume of water used is not important. Where there is no danger of the materials drifting and injuring desirable plants, 5 to 10 gallons per acre is very practical. In city lots and near valuable plants, rates of 50 to 100 gallons an acre are safest. Low pressure application ranging from 30 to 40 pounds to the square inch will also reduce danger from drift of 2,4-D from sprayers. To be safe, use a separate sprayer for applying 2,4-D.

Spraying with 2,4-D is best done during July or early August. On a municipal basis it may be started in June and continued into August, giving more time to complete the job with limited equipment.

Take Extra Precautions

Properly used, 2,4-D will do a good job of killing ragweed. Unwisely applied, it may do considerable damage.

It will destroy many vegetables, flowers, and ornamental shrubs. Be extra careful in using it around such plants.

Do not spray on a windy day. The low pressure and high volumes with coarse droplet sprays. A hood over the boom may be used when operating near valuable plants.

Everyone Will Benefit

Weeds are generally unsightly and undesirable. Their elimination results in increased crop yields or adds to the attractiveness of any property. In many places in cities and near buildings, weeds are a hazard and should be removed. Because the ragweeds cause hay fever, their elimination is especially valuable.

243 Scouts Registered in Boro 12% Member Increase

The Watchung Area Council of the Boy Scout of America is another beneficiary of the Mountaintide Community Fund.

The Council has no other operating income than that secured from public support of Chests and United Funds. The Council is affiliated with eleven different Chests and two community campaigns.

In the Watchung Area Council there are 10,107 registered boys; 243 of these boys reside in Mountaintide.

In 1958-59 it was the growth of Scouting in Mountaintide which was so outstanding. During the past year, 1959-60, there has been a healthy increase in membership of 12% and with this has been proof of first-rate quality.

MOUNTAINSIDE SHINES IN SCOUTING
This was demonstrated when the Honor Unit awards were presented to outstanding Packs, Troops and Posts based upon their overall quality program. In the entire District Four (which also includes Fanwood, Scotch Plains, Garwood and Westfield) no less than three of Mountaintide's five Scouting units placed first among all District Boy Scout Troops, first among all District Explorer units, and third among all of the District's Cub Scout Packs.

CUB SCOUTS
Deerfield School PTA Pack 70 has 70 boys and 20 adult leaders. During the year 62 rank advancements were earned.

The Community Presbyterian Church of Mountaintide Pack 177 has 88 boys and 24 adult leaders. Here too is a fine advancement record with 99-over-the-twelve month period.

General interest in Cubbing remains high with over 80% of all available eight to ten year old Mountaintide boys registered in Cub Packs. The advancement, which averages better than one per boy, speaks well for the high quality of the program and the leadership.

To help the Cub leaders, a Pow Wow was held in November for Cubmasters, Den Mothers, Committeemen and parents of Cub Scouts. This one day training is most helpful. One more regular training feature is the Den Chief Conference held in January to prepare Boy Scouts to help Den Mothers in the operation of Cub Dens.

BOY SCOUTS
Mountaintide Kiwanis Troop 76 has 28 boys and 12 adult leaders. Advancement averages about one rank per boy.

The new Community Presbyterian Church Troop 177 which started in the fall of 1958 with 20 boys has grown to 52 and appears on the verge of organizing another troop; 43 rank advancements were earned in 1959.

In the classic Klondike Derby held in January in the Watchung Reservation, 31 Mountaintide Scouts munched their sledges over the frozen snow.

Ike Praise By Stalin Told In Secret Potsdam Papers

NEW YORK, N. Y. — The long secret Potsdam Papers will reveal that Premier Josef Stalin had high praise for Supreme Allied Commander Dwight Eisenhower. The Insider's Newsletter reported today.

The papers, not to be officially published until after the November elections, deal mostly with the conference in Potsdam during July 1945 involving Stalin, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Harry S. Truman.

Most of the material is based on reconstructed notes taken by Charles Bohlen, political advisor and translator for the State Department.

The Premier, pleased with the fact that Eisenhower had turned over to the Russians 85,000 German troops who tried to surrender to the American Army, called the American general "an honest man" and described his action as "an example of fair and honest behavior."

Stalin's observations, according to the Newsletter, were made in the Kremlin, May 27, 1945 in the presence of Bohlen, United States Ambassador Averell Harriman and special emissary, Harry Hopkins.

His remarks were particularly significant, the Newsletter said, because Stalin was then contrasting Eisenhower's decision with one made by Churchill not to turn over part of the Italian fleet to Russia.

Other highlights from the papers are: 1) Stalin with Truman's approval stalled a Japanese attempt to end the war three weeks before the first atomic bomb was dropped.

2) Stalin's opinion that the Communist Chinese leaders could not unify China nor were they as good as Chiang Kai-shek.

3) Use of the phrase "Iron Curtain" by Churchill 10 months before he made it public in his Fulton, Mo., speech.

4) Stalin's conviction that German propaganda chief, Joseph Goebbels had escaped, possibly in a submarine to Japan.

5) A disagreement between Churchill and Stalin over the German sub fleet in which the Prime Minister took the position that it should be sunk as there was little legal use for the U-Boats under international law. Stalin, however, replied: "Let's divide it. If Mr. Churchill wishes, he can sink his share."

Church Youth Program Gains In Popularity

Contrary to the opinion that "everybody leaves town" in the summer, the Presbyterian Church of Westfield this summer planned an extensive program of youth activities that has proved highly successful under the leadership of Mr. Ray Scott, a Midler from Princeton Theological Seminary.

The big new feature of this summer's program was the opening of a "Teen Age Canteen" once a week for Junior Highs. Dr. Christian, Senior Minister of the Church, says, "We first became aware of this need when a letter appeared in the Leader a year or so ago written by a mother of a family that had just moved here, desperate as to what to do with a Junior High in the summertime in Westfield."

MENACE IN A PLAYSUIT

Burning down a house is child's play. Kids (from eight to eighty) manage it every day. A careless moment — and you're in the arson business. How about you? Check these "don'ts", and see how you and your house rate:

- DON'T leave matches within a child's reach. They're tempting, deadly playthings.
- DON'T smoke carelessly. A burning cigarette is a time fuse. Careless smoking is the single largest cause of fires.
- DON'T forget that cleaning clothes with gasoline is always dangerous. A flame across the room can cause an explosion, under the right conditions.
- DON'T let rubbish collect in the attic, basement, or anywhere else. It rarely starts a fire. But it will make a fire awfully hard to stop.

These "Don'ts" are all old saws. Just common sense, really. But lots of fires start because people do forget them. That's why we at JCP&L-NJP&L run a continuing employee safety program. At work and on the road, we put our employees' — and our neighbors' — safety first.

Register Now for Free Day Classes At County School

Applications Must Be in Prior To Taking Final Entrance Test

Union County men and women have only a short time in which to apply for free day-time post-high school courses in electronics technology and drafting and design technology at the new Union County Vocational and Technical Institute.

George H. Bazel, director of the Union County Vocational and Technical Schools, said the final entrance test for the first day-time classes of the new institute will be September 7. All applications must be received before then.

Similar courses will be given in an evening session of the institute, but candidates for this program will take the entrance examination at a later date. Registration for the session will be held September 19 and 20 at the institute's temporary headquarters, 2589 Morris Avenue, Union.

The fall semester for the day classes will begin Monday, September 12, while classes for the evening program starting Tuesday, September 27.

Mr. Bazel said applicants for the vocational and technical institutes must be high school graduates, have a background in mathematics and science and pass the technical aptitude test. Applicants should submit transcripts of previous education as well as brief resumes of working experience, Mr. Bazel said. The director pointed out that the technical institute is open to

Green Spends Busy Summer Preparing for Teaching

Will Teach & Coordinate Classes at Cty. School

John R. Green, who has joined the staff of the Union County Vocational and Technical Institute, is having a busy summer.

Mr. Green, who will be an instructor and part-time coordinator for the new institute, recently completed a six-week mathematics and physics program at Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, provided under a grant from the National Science Foundation. In addition, he set up and is teaching a training course for mechanics of the Port of New York Authority.

Mr. Green said the program at Stevens Tech was designed to instill teachers with the modern approach in teaching mathematics and physics.

"The course in mathematics had little to do with numbers," Mr. Green said. "Analysis and deduction were stressed. In physics, concepts were stressed."

The instructor for the new Union County Vocational and Technical Institute and two other New Jersey men were assigned by the Port Authority to organize and teach the program for about 100 employees—most of them mechanics. They are employed as maintenance men for the authority's tunnels, bridges and airports. They attend classes two nights a week. Mr. Green was responsible for ordering and setting up all the equipment for the program as well as outlining the course content.

Mr. Green will teach mathematics, physics, metallurgy, strength of materials, and applied mechanics at the new technical and vocational institute. He is coordinator for apprentice classes—and evening school courses.

A resident of Parsippany, Mr. Green earned a mechanical engineering degree at Newark College of Engineering and is working on a master's degree in education at Rutgers University. Prior to joining the staff of the Union County Vocational and Technical Schools, he was with the Essex County system for 14 years as teacher and evening school principal at the Bloomfield school.

Mosquitos On Rise; Report Commission

Mosquito panzer divisions moved into the Watchung area, and launched a full-scale biting attack against any and all they could find.

According to the mosquito control index, set up by the Union County Extermination Commission, while the full force of insect battalions have not hit, there were more than just "light" attacks in Berkeley Heights, Springfield, Scotch Plains, Fanwood and Mountaineer.

The Mosquito Commission had their control crews out in force spraying "catch" basins, oiling temporary pools, swampy areas and drain ditches, but the biting continues.

Robert Helm, Commission superintendent, indicated that the worst may yet come in the month of September. He urged that residents give an assist by making sure that portable swim pools, etc. are kept covered to prevent the mosquitoes from breeding.

ANOTHER GERTRUDE EDERLE—Diane Greenstein, 8½ years old, has won second place in the Wayne County, Pennsylvania Girls Camps—Swimming Championships. She competed in the 80 yard relay against girls 10 years and under. Diane is attending Camp W-a-c-h-i-l-e, Lakewood, Pennsylvania and in the fall will be in the fourth grade at the James Caldwell School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Greenstein, 11 Tulip Road, Springfield.

Druckman Resigns

Regional Board Hires Teachers

The Regional Board of Education accepted the resignation of Harry Druckman, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School English Teacher at its August 23 meeting. Mr. Druckman plans to enter law school this September.

To replace him, the Board approved a contract for Walter A. Garwacki of Elizabeth. He was graduated from St. John's University, Brooklyn, and taught in the Newark school system. His salary will be $4800.

Can-Can Coming to Bellevue Theater for Gala Premiere

The exclusive Northern New Jersey engagement of the 20th Century-Fox film production of Cole Porter's "Can-Can" will begin at the Bellevue Theatre in Upper Montclair Tuesday evening, Sept. 20, with a gala premiere that will benefit the children's Christmas Train project of the Business Association of Upper Montclair. Selection of the Bellevue by 20th-Fox as the showcase for "Can-Can" was based upon the theatre's successful engagements of "South Pacific" and its current "Cinacircle" attraction, "Windjammer" now in its record-breaking 34th consecutive week. Reserved seats for the premiere engagement may be obtained at any Upper Montclair business establishment. Reservations may also be made by phone by calling PILGRIM 4-1455 or via mail orders addressed to the Bellevue Theatre. For proper projection of "Can-Can" in Todd-AO, Technicolor and eight-channel stereophonic sound, new equipment has been installed in the theatre. "Can-Can", adapted from Broadway hit of the same name, stars Frank Sinatra, Maurice Chevalier, and Louis Jourdan, and introduces to American film audiences the Parisian-born ballerina, Juliet Prowse. Following the benefit premiere, "Can-Can" will be shown ten times a week, with nightly performances commencing on
