Regional Superintendent Advises on Elementary School Curricular Change Report Deals With FLES Proposal

Curricular changes on the elementary school level was discussed by Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of the Union County Regional High School District No. 1, in a special report to the Berkeley Heights Board of Education. The report was a reply to the Board on questions raised concerning the possibility of adding foreign language study in the elementary grades.

Mr. Davis explained the inter-relationship of the Regional District, saying that "any major change in one affects all of the others." An effort is made to secure uniform preparation by all students entering the Regional High School system from any of the six sending districts.

The text of Dr. Davis's statement follows:

CURRICULAR THINKING

The six constituent districts of the Regional High School District, together with the Regional High Schools, are inter-related to the extent that any major change in one affects all of the others to a greater or lesser degree. When curricular changes are made in one constituent district, they must be taken into account in all of the others, and doubly in the high schools.

The schools have made note of this fact in two ways, (1) by the standard testing program given at eighth grade level by high school personnel, and (2) by the program of cooperative development of courses of study in which all districts including the high school have participated.

Before a radical curricular departure is made in one district, or before such changes are considered in all districts, certain questions should be answered satisfactorily. Among these questions are the following:

- (1) If this is an addition to the curriculum, what will be omitted to make room for it?
- (2) If this is an elective addition, what other curricular additions must be made for those who do not elect this particular program?
- (3) If this addition is one which has possible carry-over value for high school, what changes must the high school make, and are they feasible in the event that other districts do not make the same change?

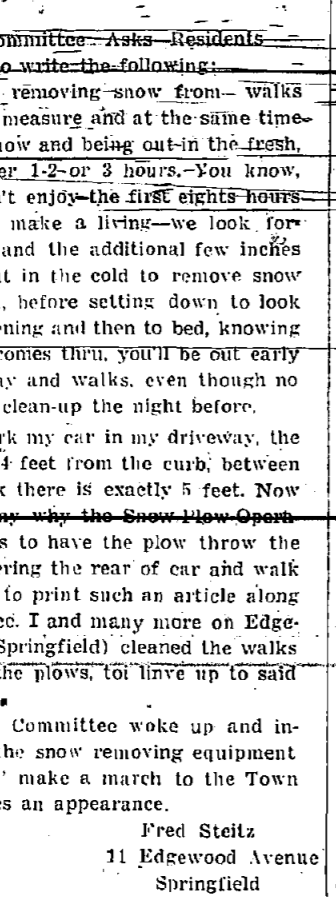

(4) What changes must be made at high school level to accommodate the additions made in the second area—necessitated by the elective nature of the first?

(5) What have been the experiences of a considerable number of other schools in various areas with regard to the goals which the achieve?

SPOTTY PREPARATION

Prior to the development of a standard program of testing, there had been considerable complaint in the Regional High

Conditional License Given To Happy Day

The Springfield Township Committee issued a conditional license to the Happy Day Nursery School, 102 Salter Street, at its Tuesday evening meeting.

The license was issued pending an investigation and thorough study to be performed by the Committee in the next three months. The school is limited to 24 children.

Magistrate Henry C. McMullen sent his letter of resignation to the Committee. It is effective December 30. In order to be eligible for the Public Employer-Pension System, he must resign before his term expires. His term officially ends December 31.

Magistrate McMullen has stated he will make provisions for the town to be covered on December 31 by one of the neighboring judges.

The Committee authorized the construction of a traffic light on Shunpike Road near the Community Free Church by the Jersey Central Power and Light Company.

This construction will increase the town's billing by approximately $45.

Mrs. Eleanor Worthington, Township Clerk, read a communication from the Reverend Bruce Evans of the First Presbyterian Church in which he gave his reasons for refusing payment for the use of the Parish House as a polling place.

He stated he felt it was his civic duty to allow the Parish to be used in the last general election. He wished only that the janitorial duties be paid.

Poschner Named To UC Regional Education Board

KARL G. POSCHNER

Karl G. Poschner, 37, was appointed last Tuesday evening to the Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District No. 1, Springfield, which operates three high schools in Springfield, Berkeley Heights and Clark.

Poschner takes the place vacated by William G. Broderick of Kenilworth, who resigned due to the press of other business, after almost seven years on the board. The new appointee, who resides in Kenilworth, will represent that community on the Regional Board. His appointment continues until after the February school election.

Born in Germany, Mr. Poschner was educated in Newark, being a graduate of the Essex County Vocational Schools and of the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts. He is plant manager of Mold Duplicating Company of 750 Fairfield Avenue, Kenilworth. A veteran of two and one-half years in the

Regional Budget Hearing To Be Held January 17

A tentative budget of $3,105,329.25 will be presented by the Union County Regional High School Board of Education at a public hearing to be held at the board's next regular meeting January 17, in the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

The tentative figure is $396,989.43 over the present budget of $2,711,348.25. The tentative amount to be raised by taxes will be $2,711,115.88, slightly under the total present budget. This figure is $396,089.43 over the present amount being raised by taxes. Increase Is Lower

Superintendent of schools Dr. Warren M. Davis remarked the overall budget increases of 14.5 per cent for lower than the projected pupil increase of 20.5 per cent for the next budget year. He said 650 additional pupils were expected in this single year's time.

A major reason why the budget increase has been curbed, board members said, is the lack of a major expenditure in 1961-62 similar to the opening of the Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights in September.

Our Springfield Shows 'Em How To Get Out The Voters

Our own Springfield has been declared the second place winner of a nationwide "Good Citizenship and Get-Out the Vote" contest held in the various "Springfields" of the country during the last general elections.

In an effort to stimulate voting a challenge was issued by Mayor David C. Scott of Missouri, Springfield to all other Springfields in the nation to see which municipality could get out the greatest number of voters for the general election.

A letter was received by Township Clerk Eleanor H. Worthington showing that Union County's Springfield brought out 95.3 per cent of the eligible voters, the highest of all the Springfields competing. In 1936 New Jersey's Springfield voters turned out 90.9 percent of the qualified voters.

The Georgia Springfield had the greatest increase percentage with 71.14 percent of the registered voters going to the ballot booths. In 1936 the Georgia showed only 67.74 of the qualified voters asking for ballots.

Mayor Scott's letter from the Missouri Springfield marvels at the "turn-out in New Jersey's Springfield which in this area" is "almost unheard of in this area."

Following is the letter:

Dear Mrs. Worthington:

The following information has been received by this office from the various Springfields who accepted our challenge to "Get Out the Vote":

Springfield, Georgia—1935, 57.14 per cent; 1960, 71.14 per cent; Increase, 14.0 per cent.

Springfield, New Jersey—1935 90.9 per cent; 1960, 95.3 per cent; Increase, 4.4 per cent.

Springfield, Vermont—77.6 per cent; 1966, 1960, 81.26 per cent; Increase 3.66 per cent.

Springfield, Illinois—1955, 85.2 per cent; 1960, 88.9 per cent; Increase, 1.7 per cent.

Springfield, Missouri—1968, 72.2 per cent; 1960, 71. per cent; Increase, -1.2 (dec).

In view of the above statistics, Springfield, Georgia, has made the greatest improvement in its voting record this November (1960) against that of November

Referendum Will Provide Sprinklers For Older Schools; Detection System In Newer

Fire protection and fire detection systems for Springfield schools will go before the voters at the February 14 election. The local Board of Education approved a resolution by a special fire study committee at last Tuesday's meeting to present the referendum to the people.

Basically, the referendum will include automatic sprinkler systems for the Caldwell and Chisholm schools and fire detection systems in the Walton, Sandmeier and Gaudinier Schools. Total cost estimates are about $38,000.00.

An extensive survey was made by the special committee headed up by Board Member Joseph Bender. Committee members include Fire Chief Ormond Mesher, Azeglio Pancani, Howard Kiesel, Robert Planer, Lorán Skousen, Dr. Benjamin Josephson and William Wagner. R. T. Bunnell of Bunnell Brothers Insurance assisted in the compilation of insurance data pertinent to the problem.

More specifically, the resolution covers the Protective and Detective Systems thusly:

- The James Caldwell School and the Raymond Chisholm School to be equipped with complete automatic sprinkler systems including all attic and basement areas.
- The Florence M. Gaudinier School, the Edward V. Walton School and the Thelma L. Sandmeier School to be equipped with Fire Detection Equipment in all unsupervised areas. This shall include all storage areas, boiler rooms, teacher's rooms, back stage, understage, kitchens, etc.

The Fire Detection Systems and Automatic Sprinkler Systems are to be interconnected with the existing Fire Alarm Systems and the Fire Alarm Systems are to be connected via lines to an Annunciator Alarm in the Springfield Fire Department to notify the department automatically of a manual alarm or action of any of the Fire Detection or Automatic Sprinkler Systems.

Cost Estimates

For the purpose of budget the following estimates of cost are provided:

- 1—Automatic Sprinkler System for the James Caldwell School $18,200.
- 2—Automatic Sprinkler

Fulfillment

The committee which investigated this problem has based its recommendations as to the nature of these installations on fulfilling the following criteria:

- To protect the investment of the taxpayers against a serious loss which can not be adequately covered by insurance for its realistic replacement value.
- To provide for a minimum of loss of continuity of school operation.

New Schools

In evaluating the extent of the fire hazards and risks, the committee studied the problem in each building separately. It was

FLES To Be Discussed By Six Regional Sending Districts

State Department Consultant Talks To Berkeley Heights Board of Education

The possibility of incorporating a foreign language program into the elementary schools will be discussed January 4 by the combined Boards of Education of the six sending districts of the Regional High School system: Berkeley Heights, Springfield, Mountainside, Clark, Kenilworth and Garwood. The Regional High School Board of Education and Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of the Regional High School district, will also participate. It is felt that a curricular change in any of the sending districts to the Regional High Schools should be system-wide.

STATE CONSULTANT

In anticipation of this meeting, the Berkeley Heights Board of Education heard State Department of Education Consultant on Foreign Languages Archie LaPoint describe P. L. E. S. at a conference December 19. The conference was a follow-up to recent P. T. A. and faculty foreign language surveys. Mr. LaPoint will be present at the January 4 meeting.

Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of the Union Co. Regional High School District, also spoke to the Berkeley Heights Board. Participates in the language discussion included Board of Education members Dr. Albert I. Goldberg, Edwin C. Little, Robert Lynch and Dietrich Alsberg; Kenneth H. Bothwell, local superintendent of schools; Mrs. W. A. Lutz, Mt. Park School P. T. A. president, Donald C. Savoy, president of the Berkeley School P. T. A. and Robert Chamberlain, Columbia School P. T. A. Education Committee Chairman.

THOROUGH PLANNING

In a talk which outlined how existing foreign language programs are conducted in grade schools, LaPoint cautioned against rushing into a program. The consultant noted that several school districts which launched a F.L.E.S. program without thorough pre-planning abandoned the project within a year

After the Snow Storm

The snow storm which this area experienced a few weeks ago brought an unexpected vacation to the school children—school closed for three days. Not everyone enjoyed the snow as much as the kids, though. Many residents grumbled while shoveling the snow and many more grumbled after they had shoveled their walks. Snow plows just pushed the snow right back into the driveways.

Fred Steitz, 11 Edgewood Avenue, Springfield, was prompted to write the following letter to the SUN after an article appeared in the paper.

EDITOR, SUN:

Your article "Town Committee Asks Residents 'Clean Sidewalks'" prompts me to write the following:

I am a strong believer of removing snow from walks after a snow storm as a safety measure and at the same time enjoying the job of shoveling snow and being out in the fresh, snappy cold air for just another 1-2 or 3 hours. You know, we in the construction line, don't enjoy the first eight hours of working out in the cold to make a living—we look forward to snow, like last week's and the additional few inches that fell on Monday to stay out in the cold to remove snow from the walks, driveways, etc., before setting down to look at TV for the balance of the evening and then to bed, knowing that by morning, if the plows comes thru, you'll be out early again digging out your driveway and walks, even though no new snow had fallen since the clean-up the night before.

I, for reason, must must park my car in my driveway, the rear of said car being exactly 24 feet from the curb, between curb and street side of sidewalk there is exactly 5 feet. Now can the Town Committee tell me why the Snow Plow Operators must go at such a speed as to have the plow throw the snow back 24 feet or more covering the rear of car and walk again, and then have the nerve to print such an article along with a 12 hour cleanup ordinance. I and many more on Edgewood Avenue (and no doubt in Springfield) cleaned the walks four times in two days due to the plows, to live up to said Ordinance.

I think it's about time the Committee woke up and instructed their drivers on using the snow removing equipment before a committee of "Cranks" make a march to the Town Hall when the next storm makes an appearance.

Helen Sabo

As 1960 draws to a close, I'd like to thank all of you who have called Drexel 6-4316 during the past year to let me know about family events and celebrations. I'd like to thank the proud fathers, and mothers, and grandmothers, who have called to announce the "blessed events"; the teens and pre-teens who have called to mention Mom and Dad anniversary; and the small fry who wanted their birthday parties mentioned in the newspaper. I'd like to thank Mrs. Harry Spelcher of Evergreen Avenue, and Mrs. Hyman Ginter of Gardep Oval, and a host of other ladies, who have kept me up-to-date on happenings in their parts of town.

Sifting through the material that we receive each week, I find that some parts of town are well represented, while there are others we seldom hear from. If you've wondered why your section, or your neighbors, or your social events aren't mentioned, it's simply because you and your neighbors haven't called to give me the information. Since we're unable to cover all the social events in town, we have to rely on you, to let us know what's happening on your street. When you take a trip, or have a party or celebrate a milestone, don't hesitate to call. We're all interested in knowing about you, as you are in reading about others. Writing the Springfield Party Line this past year has been a very pleasant chore. I've enjoyed hearing from so many of you, and letting your friends in town know what's going on at your house. I hope I'll be hearing from lots more of you in 1961, and in the meantime, my very best wishes to a happy and successful year to you all.

Bataille Serves Aboard USS Angler Submarine

Thomas B. Bataille, engineer third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred M. Bataille 297 South Springfield Avenue, Springfield, is serving aboard the submarine USS Angler, operating out of New London, Conn.

Before entering the service in June 1957, Bataille graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

few are able to go into an advanced first-year class. The rest begin with those who have not had any preparation in the language at all.

If one constituent district moves in one direction on such a matter and another moves in another (or does not move at all) the high school is hard put to develop programs which will meet all of the needs.

TEACHER PREPARATION
 Coincident with this problem is the matter of preparation of teachers for the work. If good preparation is to be given the pupils it requires a person with a language major and language fluency. The usual elementary school giving language instruction in earlier grades has not always found a person with this type of preparation available unless assured of a position in which he is teaching his major area solely. Interpreted practically, this means that the usual program is limited to one or two foreign languages, usually one.

Consideration should be given to the possible carry-over. In one case the attrition from third grade to ninth grade has been ninety per cent.

Since question (4) has been covered in the preceding discussion, it seems desirable to move to (5).

PROPOSES STUDY
 Here it would seem desirable that all seven of the school districts of the Regional system unite to engage in a complete study of the problem, under the direction of competent, professional personnel, perhaps starting with the study made by the Berkeley Heights Board of Education.

Such a study should be made in depth and should cover not only what occurs in the elementary school, but what occurs in the high school and beyond.

It is likely that such a study could be completed on a seven-district basis for a figure not in excess of $100,000 per district, and in a time span not to exceed one year. This should be a joint project since the decision of one board affects all of the others.

BUDGET

Year's Option
 The board approved entering into a year's option with A. Roselle & Sons of Cross St., Kenilworth, for the purchase of two acres of land at $20,000, an acre. The land is located next to the approximately 15 acres presently owned by the board. The site eventually will be used for the construction of a fourth regional high school some years in the future.

Kenilworth representative Avery W. Ward said that if and when the board decides to hold a referendum on the land purchase within the next year, further land still will have to be acquired as 17 acres is too small a site.

Dr. Randolph T. Jacobsen, principal of Jonathan Dayton, explained to the board the preparations being made by his staff for the forthcoming evaluation of the high school by the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges March 8-10. The purpose of the evaluation is to determine accreditation of the high school. This is done every 10 years. Dr. Jacobsen pointed out that residents sometimes think the purpose of the evaluation is to rate schools with other schools. "This is not so," he said.

The 18-member evaluation committee will also point out any failings—observed in the school. "We hope to be able to improve some of our offerings on the basis of their suggestions," the principal said.

Some Changes
 The board's architect, Fredrick A. Elsassser, of Union, explained some changes in the additions planned to the Governor Livingston Regional High School. The $1,500,000 bond issue for the additions was approved by voters Sept. 22.

Elassser said the proposed new field house would be built under the new gymnasium, rather than under the new bleachers in the athletic field. This is primarily planned to save expenses, he said.

The present lunch room will be expanded too, he said. This had not been planned originally. The present library will be retained on the second floor of the school, rather than a new one built in one of the additions.

The library will be expanded, however. The former library space will be used for four classrooms. In the process, two additional classrooms will then be built in the school.

These changes, and other minor ones, all have been planned at the request or approval of the high school's administration and Dr. Davis. All in all, no additional square footage has been planned, Elsassser said.

Disappointed at Retention
 Dr. Minor C. K. Jones said he was disappointed at the retention of the library in its present room. He said it will now be much more difficult to open the library at night, as originally planned, as a supplementary-type public library.

Dr. Davis, however, said he approved of offering the library facilities only for student use and not have it incorporate the functions of public libraries. He also said he didn't want students around the school at night.

The new plans for the additions are preliminary and they were approved by the board for tentative submission to the state Board of Education. Final plans will then be submitted and, when approved, preparations for gathering of bids will begin.

The board heard a recommendation to the Council of Principals that students who fail a required subject not be allowed to take both the failed subject as a repeat and an additional required subject in the same area during the regular school year.

The recommendation was made because free Summer schools exist in the district, Dr. Davis said. Its effect would be to require a student to take the failed subject during Summer school or else, eventually, continued in high school an additional year to complete the study of the subject.

The major fields involved are English and United States history. Dr. Davis said. The board took no action on the recommendation, postponing decision to a future meeting.

ALL SCHOOLS

agreed that in the three modern school buildings the physical arrangement of corridors and exits and the character of the construction would allow for safe evacuation of the occupants.

The only exception to this is the possibility of a fire starting in an unsupervised area and continuing prior to discovery, to the point where it could affect safe evacuation. To cover this contingency the committee recommends the installation of fire detection equipment in those areas.

Older Schools
 In the James Caldwell and Raymond Chisholm Schools there is a completely different situation. In these buildings sizeable portions of the structure are of combustible materials, the boiler rooms are located below occupied areas without the benefit of fireproof construction surrounding them, and in addition, these buildings are largely covered with enclosed attic spaces which fire can propagate with virtually no means of checking it.

To satisfy the criteria in the face of these hazards the committee recommends the installation of complete automatic sprinkler systems in these buildings.

No loss of life has ever occurred in a school building equipped with automatic sprinklers. In addition the records indicate sprinklers have proven themselves to be 95 per cent effective in controlling fire in its incipency and thereby holding damage to a minimum. In every case where the sprinkler has failed to contain or check a fire, the failure was a result of human forgetfulness, mismanagement or a lack of water and not the inadequacy of the system.

Minimal Factor
 The effectiveness of the sprinkler system to hold damage to a minimum is a major point of consideration. The amount of insurance that is carried on these buildings is limited at the present to 80 per cent of their replacement value. If a major loss or a total loss was suffered, which is entirely conceivable in these cases, the Board of Education and the Taxpayers would be faced with the prospect of rebuilding on the old foundations to the standards of 1920 or raising the additional money to build to the standards of 1960.

Taking the James Caldwell School as an example, the current total building insurance is $200,000.00 and the estimated cost of replacement of this building to $60 standards is $700,000.00. The installation of the Automatic Sprinkler Systems will provide the best possible protection against ever having to face this problem. In addition, this installation will provide the maximum assurance of our being able to maintain continuity of school operation in so far as the effect of fire hazards are concerned.

Plan With Fire Dept.
 The committee also recommends the inter-connection of the existing manual fire alarm systems, the detective and protective systems with an annunciator in the Springfield Fire Department. The purpose of this is to eliminate the human factor in providing notification to the Fire Department and thereby assure prompt service.

Although your percentage of increase in voters was not great enough to win the award, I think you should be congratulated on turning out 85.3 per cent of your registered vote. This is a happy turn out almost unheard of in this area and I'm sure you are very happy with it. In looking at your vote percentage in both of your elections it seems your people do not have to be campaigned in order to get them to exercise their voting privileges. The decrease in our vote this year is just a little embarrassing after having issued the challenge, but the showing you other Springfields made should make us work harder towards getting our citizens out to vote in future elections.

Again, let me congratulate you on your very fine voter turnout and wish you continued success. Sincerely,

 David C. Scott Mayor

SCHOOL CHANGE

School concerning the spotty preparation found in the graduates of the constituent schools. It was found, for example, that the preparation in mathematics was not uniformly good; the same thing was to be found in other areas of work. Some schools which were giving good preparation in one area were apparently not doing so to the same extent in other areas.

With the advent of the standard program of testing, weak areas have been strengthened, at least partially, by the development of standard, district-wide programs of curriculum revision.

Discussion of the various questions which were raised may be related to certain ideas as follows:

(1) If an addition is contemplated to a curriculum, what does it replace? This subject requires very careful consideration. In one program of seventh and eighth grade foreign languages which has been developed in New Jersey, room has been made by pushing music out of the school program (it still exists before and after school in limited fashion) and in the same program, those who take foreign language got considerably less time on English.

In case nothing is to be deleted, but an addition is to be made to the school day, the addition of forty five minutes per day of school time, plus study time for one more subject must be considered carefully. At high school level it is found that at the present time too many, rather than too few, pupils are attempting to carry excessive academic loads, thus causing frustration and poor work.

(2) Even at high school level, foreign languages are not required of all. The addition of foreign languages on elective rather than a required basis is thus the program most likely to be considered. This calls for very careful consideration of other areas to be added. What will be their effect?

(3) If foreign languages are to be added at elementary school level, will they be added on a broad base so that a pupil may have the opportunity to make a beginning in any of the languages offered in the high school? If not, the high school must be prepared to discontinue or drastically, to cut back such languages as are not offered in the elementary school program.

OTHER SYSTEMS
 In this respect it would be well to look at the experience of high schools in systems where such a program has been in effect for a considerable number of years. One school in New Jersey has found that of those who begin the work in third grade and carry it through eighth, a relatively small percentage are able to omit the first year of the language at high school level. Meisel Avenue, Springfield, is a member of the Union-Jewish College Glee Club, which made its first public appearance of the year Tuesday evening (December 27) at the college's annual alumni homecoming.

The Glee Club sang Christmas carols and other seasonal numbers.

Miss Kisch, a sophomore, is majoring in liberal arts in the Day Session.

comedy type show to be booked into the famous Meadowbrook since its conversion to a dinner theatre in April, 1959.

"The Henny Youngman Show" will be the special holiday treat Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at the Meadowbrook. The Thursday and Friday programs will start at 9:30 and the New Year's Eve show gets under way at 10:00.

Youngman is the gent whose parents wanted him to be another Hefetz, however, he gave up the bow to master the quip. A product of Brooklyn, Henny studied the violin for many years, but decided that serious music was not for him.

After fiddling around at numerous small clubs and hotels for a couple of years, Youngman the comedian emerged. He scored at the Yacht Club in New York and was "made" when Kate Smith featured him on her radio show. Henny remained on the Smith show for 18 months.

Since then he has played all of the major clubs, hotels, theatres and has had numerous TV and radio guest performances. In addition he has appeared in movies and made several highly successful records.

Appearing with Youngman at the Meadowbrook will be such famous acts as the Magid Triplets and Lorraine Wilson. The triplets are a stand-out song and dance group while Miss Wilson is a featured musical comedy-styled vocalist.

There will be dancing to the wee hours of the morning provided by Joe Rago and his Meadowbrook Orchestra.

Summit Art Center Exhibits Paintings In Colonnade Apart.

Oil paintings, water colors, gouaches, lithographs and serigraphs by professional and semi-professional members of The Summit Art Center, are now being exhibited in both lobbies of Pavilion West, largest of the three Colonnade Park apartment towers located at Seventh and Clifton Avenues, Newark.

Included in the show are works by nationally recognized artists Joe Jones and Alf J. Stromsted. Exhibits by The Summit Art Center will also be placed in the lobbies of Pavilion South before Christmas.

According to George C. Kuff, co-ordinator of the exhibitions, and Jane Crow, who hung the show in one Pavilion West lobby, and Stromsted, who hung the exhibit in the other, works on display will be changed from time to time and all are for sale, ranging in price from $15 to $500. No commission will be deducted.

Plans to exhibit works by the Summit Art Center at Colonnade Park were arranged by James Desdunes, operations manager for the project.

Most of the paintings and prints are of the abstract expressionist school. Sculpture by Adelaide Bar-Torn in epoxy, a new medium, will be added to future exhibitions.

"In urban renewal," says Kuff, "the building of modern structures is not enough. Grant renewal also requires a cultural stimulus. Art and by association noted that the clean lined open style of the lobbies is ideal for showing paintings and sculpture."

Works chosen for the current exhibition were selected by a committee consisting of Jones, Stromsted and Mrs. Crow, appointed by Mrs. James W. Mc Killers, president of the center.

Informal Sunday afternoon lectures are scheduled in conjunction with the exhibitions, and residents of Colonnade Park have been invited to join. The Summit Art Center which has been in existence for more than 35 years.

The public is cordially welcomed to each and all of these services, which will all be held in the new church building on Shunpike Road. Pastor Harold S. Lundin will be speaking at all services.

Sunday, New Year's Day will present a New Year challenge in each service. The sermon for the Morning Worship Hour at 11:00 o'clock will be "Back to," coupled with a dedication of church officers and the Communion Service. The Gospel Hour at 7:30 P.M. with a sermon entitled, "Go Work Today" will close the day.

The first week of the new year will be observed with Prayer Week services, Tues. through Fri., each night at 7:30 o'clock. A meditation will be given each night following these themes: "The Deeper Life", "The Higher Life", "The Inner Life," and "The Outer Life", all based on the Epistle of Colossians.

New Year Tots Bring Joy To 15 Childless Couples

The traditional designation of the New Year as a smiling infant will have added meaning for 15 childless New Jersey couples. For 30 lucky people hearts and homes will be brightened in 1961 by children placed with them for adoption. "It time to start the New Year right."

Implementing the desire of the 15 couples that their homes not lack the pitter of little feet will be the Children's Home Society of New Jersey. It is with the help of the state's oldest, privately financed, nonsectarian, nonracial, child care and adoption agency that a big difference will be made in the lives of these couples, all of whom, by a quirk of nature, were unable to have children of their very own.

Officials of the Society Maintaining their customary curtain of protective silence about children they placed for adoption, gave no further details regarding their New Year babies. Except to state that seven were boys and that eight were girl infants. The youngsters were placed in new homes located in 11 different counties of the state.

J. Stanley Teunon, president of the Society, said the New Year babies, like so many others placed by the Society throughout 1960, would not have been able to enjoy satisfactory family life with their natural mothers who were unable to support them, or to give them good homes. As part of the adoptive process, Teunon said, the backgrounds and personal qualifications of many applicant couples had been carefully evaluated by members of the Society's casework staff. Then, the best set of adoptive parents had been selected for each child. Although the Children's Home Society of New Jersey places children in adoptive homes as rapidly as they can be prepared for adoption, our caseworkers always make a special effort to speed up their work as we approach the New Year. In this way, as many children as possible are helped to "start the New Year right" with mothers and dads they can call their own," Teunon said.

Stating that 114 children had been placed for adoption by the Children's Home Society during 1960, Teunon pointed out that since its founding in 1894, more than 14,300 youngsters had received worthwhile assistance from the Society and its staff.

Sunday, New Year's Day will present a New Year challenge in each service. Board of Realtors Dedicate Building

Dedication ceremonies of the new quarters for the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood including Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield will be held at 11:00 A.M. today. The new building is located at 2101 Millburn Ave., Maplewood.

The land occupies an entire block between Mildred and May Terraces and has a frontage of 182 feet and a depth of 110 feet. The building is of colonial architecture, one story in height, constructed of brick, and is fully air conditioned, providing meeting room, conference room and office space. Construction was by C. S. Evans, Inc., East Orange.

builders, Arthur E. Ramhurst of Montclair was the architect. A host of notables will be in attendance including: George M. Walhausser, Congressman 12th District; Donald C. Fox, State Senator, Essex County; C. Arnel Nutter, Camden, N. J., Pres., National Assoc'n of Real Estate Boards; Daniel C. Hanrahan, Elizabeth, N. J., Pres., N. J. Assoc'n of Real Estate Boards; and William F. Bertschinger, Pres.-Elect 1961, N. J. Assoc'n of Real Estate Boards.

The primary organizer of the Board was Raymond Connolly, dean of N. J. Realtors who with ten other founding members incorporated the Board in 1911.

The first established quarters were in East Orange, as were all succeeding addresses, at the corner of Main and Arlington Avenue, and subsequently located at 533 Main Street near the corner of Halsted Street. For the past 49 years the Board operators were at 25 Halsted St. and Lacakawanna Plaza. The Board now consists of 85 members and their area includes all of the Oranges, Maplewood, Springfield, Millburn, Short Hills and Livingston.

Current officers of the Board include George F. Mack, Jr., President; Harriet L. Moore, Vice-President; Harry A. Taylor, Jr., Vice-President; Frederic L. Wolf, Jr., Vice-President; Eugene Flacre, Secretary, and Julian Bremner, Treasurer. George Mack, Current President of the Board, made this statement concerning the new Realtor Home: "In this first vital year of what I believe will be an exciting decade, Realtors will play a significant role in creating the patterns of residential and commercial development that will become the hallmark of the sixties. Few people know their communities better than Realtors. The real estate business brings a man into contact with just about every segment of community activity. A

Real Estate Firm Lists Home Preferred Features

Preliminary findings of a survey to determine which features homeowners would most like to find in middle-priced homes were released today by The Berg Agency, New Jersey's largest residential real estate firm. The continuing study was initiated six months ago, when salesmen from The Berg Agency's offices in Metuchen, Woodbury, Dunellen, Middletown and Pennsauken, N. J., began interviewing a representative sampling of 10,000 families throughout New Jersey.

According to Jerry Salomone, vice president of The Berg Agency, nine out of ten families interviewed to date placed at the top of the "preferred features" list a room where all the members of the family could spend their leisure hours together. This held true until the family matured — i.e., until the children in the family married. "At that point we found that only one out of ten homemakers wanted a home big enough to accommodate married children and their families," Salomone reported.

"We found personality to be more important in the selection of a home than is generally conceded," Salomone continued. "In general, homemakers fall into one of two personality types: extroverts or introverts. Extroverts want their homes to be practical and realistic, and are apt to place relatively little emphasis on privacy. Introverts, on the other hand, are idealistic and individualistic, and will bypass a home with comfort and convenience for one which appeals to their sense of beauty."

"Our study also disclosed the fact that the average American woman will not sacrifice traditional beauty for modern conveniences. She wants time-saving gadgets and labor-saving devices. But she will not accept them unless they are compatible to what she feels a home should be. Today's American homemakers would never have to cook or clean again if she was willing to have her home look like an electronics laboratory. The fact that she isn't willing to sacrifice beauty for convenience is a challenge which we feel will be accepted eagerly by builders. They already know how to build a practical home. Now their job is to find ways to make the homes of tomorrow as beautiful as they are practical."

Artists Exhibit Paintings At FD

The Florham-Madison campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University is currently exhibiting the work of Vincent Cavallaro and Sanford Goodman. The exhibition has been made possible through the courtesy of the Highgate Gallery and Sunken Meadow Life & Arts Center. It may be seen in the Main Hall of The Mansion from 3 - 5 p.m. up through January 8.

Vincent Cavallaro was born in Milano, Italy. He graduated from the Academy of Brera in Milano and exhibited there before coming to the United States in 1939. In this country he received an honorary award from the Museum of Modern Art, and has exhibited in Chicago as well as New York. Cavallaro is an outstanding stylized abstractionist with a superb feeling for color. His canvases project a powerful impact and give an impressive appearance.

The quiet strength of Sanford Goodman's welded steel structures stand in marked relief to the Cavallaro paintings. Goodman, who was born in Baltimore, studied at the Maryland Art Institute, St. John's College in Annapolis and the Art Students League.

"Moreover, our educational campaign will include the enlightenment of our residents to the tremendous influence of the multiple listing system in assuring faster and more beneficial home buying and selling, as well as participating fully with the 'Committee for Building America Better,' a federal government project conceived and developed by the National Association of Real Estate Boards."

Moreover, Realtor organizations have been at the forefront of efforts to promote legislation beneficial to the public. Real estate licensing laws — which protect the public — are now on the books in every state, in large part as a result of dedicated efforts by Realtors. State and local Realtor organizations are always seeking ways to strengthen and improve these laws.

The outlook for real estate business over the next few years, like the outlook for the country is (despite the current business slow-down) for tremendous growth. The population boom of
