

Do You Know That Springfield Has Higher Family Income Than Maplewood, Plainfield, Montclair...and More!

To those residents of Springfield who hesitate to admit that they live in Springfield and usually answer "Short Hills Village" when they're asked for their address, here is some comforting news just released by the Bureau of Census in Washington with a 326-page book entitled "New Jersey - General Social and Economic Characteristics."

You will be able to adjust your status to learn that in the report on median incomes for families, SPRINGFIELD IS HIGHER THAN MAPLEWOOD, CRANFORD, EAST ORANGE, ELIZABETH, PLAINFIELD, ENGLEWOOD, MADISON, MONTCLAIR, RED BANK, SOMERVILLE, VERONA, HILLSIDE, IRVINGTON, NEW PROVIDENCE, ORANGE, ROSELLE, ROSELLE PARK, SCOTCH PLAINS, UNION AND A LONG LIST OF OTHERS.

According to the tables just issued from Washington, the median for New Jersey is $6,786, and Springfield's median family income is $9,321. Maplewood is $8,957. Millburn and Short Hills leads all with a median family income of $14,145. Teanahly comes next with $12,327 and then South Orange with $11,689.

These figures were procured by the Bureau of Census in 1960. Since then Troy Village and other local developments have attracted some families that should materially boost these income figures.

Summit's median family income is $10,768 as compared with Springfield's $9,321. "Lifted Pinky" Westfield is only $10,549, not too far above Springfield.

You won't have to hesitate now about giving Springfield as your home if you know that Springfield median family income, with $9,321, is higher than Plainfield's $7,422, Englewood's $8,470, Madison's $6,599, Montclair's $8,674, Red Bank's $7,080, Somerville's $6,703, Verona's $9,158, Cranford's $8,863, Elizabeth's $6,429, Hillside's

There's a great deal of interesting information in this report which will be published from time to time. It is interesting to note that the same figures for the New York-Northeastern New Jersey Standard Consolidated Area is $4,524 and that for the Newark Metropolitan Statistical Area is $4,758.

With all these figures, you will be happy to know that you have some pretty fine neighbors.

Also - did you know that this report says there are 126 families in Springfield with incomes over $25,000. The report goes on higher than $25,000 and over.

Millburn has 1157 families making over $25,000, South Orange has 748, Summit has 726, Westfield has 675, Scotch Plains 160, Union 167, New Providence 61, and Irvington 87.

Most of the Springfield incomes are in the $10,000 to $15,000 range with a total in the report of 1047. Summit has only 1399 in this income bracket, Maplewood 1489, Millburn only 1021, Scotch Plains 1208, and South Orange 783.

Springfield is shown having 667 families in the $15,000 to $25,000 category. Westfield has 1544 families in this bracket, Union has 1101, Summit 1256, Scotch Plains 596, and New Providence 468.

The Bureau of Census report covers data on such interesting subjects as ethnic origin, education, employment, ethnic origins and incomes broken down for men and women, even in age groups.

Mobilize To Protest Site of Swim Pool

Objectors to Evergreen Lodge as the "approved site for the proposed municipal swimming pool" are preparing to march on the Gaudinier School auditorium, Wednesday evening, June 27, when a public hearing is scheduled "to discuss the matter."

The Mayor's Citizens Pool Study Committee, after many months of surveying various sites in Springfield, submitted its report to the Township Committee last week recommending Evergreen Lodge as the best location for "a year round recreation center, including the swim pool."

The introduction of an ordinance authorizing Township Attorney James M. Cawley to prepare an ordinance leading to the proper legal steps for acquisition of the property set off a long discussion with taxpayers in the audience protesting against approval of the Evergreen Lodge site.

After hours of angry protests from the floor, it was decided to postpone any definite steps until after the public hearing June 27.

In the meantime the Township Committee has allocated $1,500 for swimming pool and recreation engineers to make a survey of all the proposed sites in Springfield and have a report ready for the June 27 meeting.

A new site was suggested at last week's meeting - the large property north of Morris Avenue, known as the Jenco land. The new federal highway No. 78 is to go through this land and the report has it that the Lester Robbins organization has purchased the remaining property from Jenco on condition that the State Highway Department will provide for a wider ingress and egress.

It is also understood that the Robbins organization is hoping to construct two-family houses on what remains of this large plot of land but resistance is already reported building up against granting a variance for such a building program. There is also talk of high-rise apartments for the Jenco land.

Following is a letter from residents in the Evergreen Lodge area calling for a large turnout at the June 27 hearing:

"I attended the Town Council meeting held on Tuesday, May 22nd, relative to the selection of a site for the Community Swimming Pool.

Those azeleas and new shrubs planted in front of the Post Office in Mountain Avenue are the gifts of Howard Clickenger, Jr., who wanted to improve the appearance of the new building "in memory of his father."

Palmer's Boys Still Ignore Springfield

State Highway Commissioner Dwight R.G. Palmer still regards Springfield as the "highway orphan" of New Jersey. News concerning immediate road construction jobs and completed resurfacing projects includes all communities in this area except Springfield.

The schedule of his engineers and the promises made to owners of property in the path of the proposed federal highway No. 78 are nowhere near the target.

Last Orbit Shot Thrills Ceithaml; Sees School Chum

The voice of Lt. Col. John A. (Shorty) Powers booming throughout the world from Project Mercury's control center at Cape Canaveral, Florida, has special significance to Louis Ceithaml, 41, of 3 Surrey Lane, Springfield.

LOUIS F. CEITHAML, Springfield resident, who went to school with Lt. Col. John A. (Shorty) Powers, chief of the projects at the control center in Canaveral, Florida, where Carpenter Glenn, Shepard and Grissom were launched into orbit.

The Springfield resident remembers the project's spokesman for the astronaut program when they were both students at Downers Grove Community High School, Downers Grove, Ill.

Mr. Ceithaml, recalling the first time he saw Powers on television, said that he almost fainted.

The local resident said that he and his wife, Madalyn, were watching the television screen. He said that he ran for his high school year book, found a picture of the cheerleaders and there Powers was!

"He has as much hair now as I have," Ceithaml said. He remembers Powers as "a real ham for one thing" and an extrovert.

Because of his small size, Powers could never quite make it on the first teams, Ceithaml recalls.

The 1939 year book, called the "Cauldron," which Ceithaml possesses, shows that Powers was a member of the Dramatic Club, was number "11" on the lightweight intramural basketball team, was a cheerleader, and played tenor saxophone in the high school band. It also shows

Splinters From The Board

By RICHARD E. WERNER

Chairman, Springfield Board of Education

Public Relations Committee

(Nothing that follows is to be considered an official opinion of the Springfield Board of Education.)

The SPRINGFIELD BOARD NEWS, (a quarterly publication you receive in the mails), has been awarded a "Certificate of Excellence" by the School Board Publication Association of Rutgers University, Graduate School of Education, Division. This publication is edited for the Springfield Board by the Public Relations Committee, but a great deal of credit for any success enjoyed must go to Ben News-wanger, Superintendent of Schools, who obtains most of the content.

The "Certificate of Excellence" is the top award presented by the Association. The paper is now entered in a nationwide contest, and we will keep you abreast of any news. The next issue will be in your homes soon.

John J. Alt, our instrumental music teacher, will once again conduct the instrumental music summer program. This project has been designed for the students of the Springfield Public Schools, grades 4 through 8, inclusive. Applications will be accepted up to the number that can be accommodated.

Instruction will be offered on all instruments which are taught during the regular school term. Classes will be held in the Raymond Chisholm and James Caldwell Schools, starting June 25 continuing through August 3.

During the six week session, each student will receive two periods of instruction per week -- one class being a class or private lesson -- the other devoted to ensemble training. Students not having instruments may rent them for use during the course.

The Board welcomes the following new teachers to our system: Miss Frances Trotter, Mrs. Susan Accardi, Miss Marcia Kilger, Mrs. Gloria Fry, Joseph Blanda, Robert Dey, Robert Pace, and Nicholas Delmaco. They will all join us in September.

The Springfield School System enjoys an excellent advanced enrichment program consisting of children from grades 3 through 6 (inclusive) covering all five of our schools. We call your attention to a complete story on them in the current issue of the SPRINGFIELD BOARD NEWS.

This program attempts to introduce new ideas, new fields of study, and new methods of work. Through the medium of small groups, an individualistic approach to learning is possible. The children participating in this program are the citizens of the future, whom we hope to prepare for leadership in science, government, education, and life.

Our program was launched four years ago, with one group in each school. Before inaugurating the program, many years of intensive research was done, and systematic workshops were held.

We began with seventy-two children, and now there are 125 students in eleven groups. However, we are in great need for additional teaching help at this level in order to maintain our standards. Testing shows that many others in our schools should be able to enjoy the fruits of this advanced enrichment program. The School Government Committee is currently studying this problem.

"As a taxpayer who is in favor of a Community Swimming Pool but against the proposed site selection, I would like to state my views which are shared by a great many home owners in Springfield.

"A group of 12 citizens, laymen, unfamiliar with the technicalities of the pool-site selection surveyed 7 or 8 possible sites and recommended the Evergreen Lodge property as their choice, and promptly sent press releases to that effect to the Springfield Sun and other newspapers in the area extolling the virtues of this site without any mention of the pros and cons of the other sites and upon questioning a member of the Pool Committee as to the reason for this omission, no valid explanation was offered.

"The Evergreen tract is in the midst of some of the highest-usable properties in Springfield up to the $50,000 class, yet the Mayor, Town and Pool Committee seem bent on literally forcing this site selection down the throats of reluctant residents.

"In an obvious attempt to indicate the acceptance of residents toward the Evergreen site, the Pool Committee brought to the attention of the Town Council (as well as in their press release) the fact that 600 signatures were obtained which indicated that pledges were made and intimated that these signatures were an indication of approval of the Evergreen site selection.

"A motion was made and passed by the Township Committee to spend up to $1,500 for the services of a landscape architect to corroborate the Pool Committee's recommendation by making a survey of, to quote Mayor Del Vecchio's words "2 or 3 of the proposed sites".

"This bears out our contention that 12 laymen with the best possible intentions are not qualified to select a site since an expenditure will now be made for someone who is qualified and if this be the case, why should 2 or 3 sites be surveyed professionally and not ALL the proposed sites that are under consideration.

"On what basis will the "2 or 3" sites be selected and by whom?

"Mayor Del Vecchio did a complete about-face on the referendum question. He claims he now feels no referendum is necessary and further adds that by holding a referendum in November it would delay construction of the pool.

"There has been no public swimming pool in Springfield since revolutionary days and I fail to see where it is so urgent now that the Mayor is willing to bypass the peoples will, by forcing immediate action.

"We appreciate the Mayor's spirit of democracy in permitting a public hearing to be held in June to examine both sides of the question as related to the Evergreen site selection. However, since the landscape architect will have had, by then, COMPLETED his survey of the "2 or 3" sites, the choice will, of necessity be made from one of these 2 or 3 instead of a public hearing on ALL the sites available.

"The storm of protest that broke out at the Township meeting against the selection of the Evergreen site should be a fair indication to that the will of the people is not being served, and that the will of the majority as evidenced by a referendum in November is the only equitable way to resolve this question under our democratic processes.

"Henry Grabarz, President of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce offered a solution that had considerable merit in recommending that serious consideration be given to the Jenco tract which is admirably suited for a pool and recreation area, not only because of easy access but more important it does not infringe upon the rights and peaceful pursuits of citizens and has incidentally ample acreage that the Evergreen tract has not.

"As well as others opposed to the Evergreen site are vigorously opposing any attempts to foist this site on people of Springfield and are prepared to use every legal means available to defeat this proposal.

"We are not confining our fight to residents of the immediate area since literally NO street will be spared the inconvenience, the noise, the litter produced by hundreds of cars converging toward one inaccessible area with no adequate parking facilities thereby clogging our streets with parked cars and endangering the lives of our children.

"In answer to an inquiry, a town council member, Township Committeeman Russel Sibole, admitted that this site is zoned as a residential area.

"Those people in Springfield who are apathetic toward this site selection want to say that if the Town Council is permitted to change the zoning to suit their purposes in this instance, NO residential area will be exempt and you may someday find a factory going up in your backyard.

"We urge all citizens of Springfield, regardless of where they reside to join us in our fight to have the majority of the PEOPLE make decisions that affect the community by referendum, rather than a handful of people making such decisions.

"We have a great deal of work to do before the public hearing on June 21st."

Very truly yours,
 I, Lemmerman

The publicity release on the resurfacing of Springfield Avenue through Maplewood and Irvington said that Commissioner Palmer noted that the project was made possible by agreement with Maplewood officials to ban parking along the northern side of the heavily traveled highway, in order to make four lanes available to traffic at all times.

The Commissioner also commended the police departments of Millburn, Union, Maplewood, and Irvington for their assistance in controlling and directing traffic through and around the project while construction was underway. He said this cooperation held traffic delays and inconvenience to a minimum and helped the Highway Department complete the project on schedule.

The highway was resurfaced with bituminous concrete across its full 50-foot width from Millburn Avenue, at the Union-Maplewood line, easterly to North 43rd Street in Irvington under a $93,000 contract. The State paid the entire cost.

 Appointment of the three new probationary firemen to the Springfield Fire Department is not the result of three residents just making applications for the job. They had to take written examinations and then pass a physical test before they were acceptable for appointment.

Examinations were held in the Municipal Building, Springfield, during the week of April 23, with the oral and written tests being conducted under the direction of Martin Burke, Chief of the Westfield Fire Department; and Fire Chief F. Donovan of the Plainfield Department.

This examination if conducted by the Fire Chiefs Association to municipalities that do not have Civil Service.

Speech Therapy Available At Newark State College

Intensive speech therapy will be available to area residents this summer at Newark State College, Union.

The Speech Clinic of the college has extended its services to the public to include the period between June 26 to August 9. In the past the clinic has operated only during fall and spring college semesters.

The services of the clinic are available to both children and adults on an individual basis at a nominal fee. Due to limited facilities, applications for admission should be submitted without delay. For further information contact the Speech Clinic at the college.

"We instituted the summer session as a community service," Dr. George W. Gens, director of the clinic, says. "There is no comparable service available in the area for school children."

Dr. Gens, professor of special education at the college, also is chairman of the curriculum for the education of teachers of handicapped children.

The clinic provides diagnostic and speech therapy services for persons with the following problems: Faulty articulation, delayed speech and language development, voice disorders, stuttering, aphasia, and disorders associated with cerebral palsy, cleft lip and palate, and hearing impairments.

"There are distinct benefits for a speech-handicapped child in making therapy available during the summer," according to Mrs. Joyce Heller, supervisor of the speech clinic. The child then is not subject to the sometimes formidable tensions generated by his school work, Mrs. Heller pointed out.

Mrs. Heller was director of the speech department at St. Barnabas Hospital, Newark, for four years before coming to Newark State three years ago.

Pool Noodles!

HALF DAY, III (UPI) — Now they're giving the air — hot — to poodle noodles. Itching for something better than towel drying on a scorching day. The doggies wanting their mops dried the advanced human way just scamper onto a chair and sit still for a spell after a hair dryer's lowered over their noggins. A champion poodle called "Snowdrift" pre-tested the human-type appliance for his fellow canines. It was plugged into a clothes dryer.

The test occurred when Mrs. Evelyn Tischer, owner of Coliar and Lesh Kennels, Half Day, Ill., converted her own dryer (Noige) as a time-saving device in bathing the snow-white Snowdrift. She saved an hour's time and Snowdrift seemed pleased.

County Committee Questions Chief

The Traffic Safety Committee of the Union County Safety Council at a meeting held at Hitchin' Post in Union, took issue with the reply made by Chief or Traffic Safety Service Gerald J. Driscoll of the State Motor Vehicle Division to the committee's recent recommendation that Attorney General Sills appoint a special committee to study state-wide procedures currently used by police departments in investigating and presenting evidence in drunken driver cases and that the proposed committee also be responsible for developing uniform procedures to be followed by the police in the state handling such cases. Chief Driscoll in his reply stated, "As to uniform methods of investigating and handling of such cases involving drivers under the influence of intoxicating liquors, we have such a procedure contained in the New Jersey State Police booklet, 'A Guide in the Investigation of Drunk and Driving Cases'..." and that "this uniform procedure has been made available to local municipalities over a period of years."

The local county traffic safety committee maintains that the act of making the booklet available falls short of the objectives that could be attained through a study of the problem by a special committee appointed by Attorney General Sills and that it fails to impress upon police their individual responsibility in the investigating and preparing of evidence to support the charge of drunken driving.

Following the discussion the local sub-committee on drinking and driving was directed to study the recommendations in the Report of Findings of the New Jersey Alcohol Determination Program of 1961 and draw up suggestions for strengthening them. The acting chairman, Raymond Eggers of Rahway, co-chairman of the Accident Prevention Committee of New Jersey Insurance Agents Association, will bring the sentiments of the committee to the attention of Attorney General Sills.

WEEKLY EDITORIAL COMMENT

Mr. Palmer--The Target.

We are just as tired writing about Highway Commissioner Dwight R. C. Palmer and his bureaucratic, snobbish state department as many of our readers are in seeing any more space wasted trying to get him to "just answer a letter from municipal officials."

There isn't a single community through which any part of the road building program was to go that hasn't found fault with Mr. Palmer. He has been criticized EVERYWHERE -- except perhaps in Middlesex County where everything has always been apple pie.

Mr. Palmer will not be the target of any further criticism in that one community in Bergen County where he approved the famous "hair-pin route" for one of the highway plans.

This highway came into that particular municipality, was turned like a hairpin to the outer edges of the town and then turned again to meet the straightline route of the original engineering plans. Thus none of the ratables in that municipality were lost and no residential area was bulldozed.

If that same "hair-pin route" were approved by Mr. Palmer for Springfield, all those more than 100 of Springfield's finest residences, with their beautiful landscaped properties, would have been spared the coming of Highway No. 78.

If Mr. Palmer did the same thing for Springfield as he did for former State Senator Walter H. Jones' County of Bergen the Route 78 line would have turned at about Shunpike Road, run along the edge of Springfield and Millburn, through the border line of Millburn and turning like the Bergen County hair-pin, come out just where it now joins Union County without cutting Springfield with a Chinese Wall.

Right now -- officials are finding considerable fault with Mr. Palmer's handling of the highway program. Newspaper articles and editorials are criticizing the Commissioner and the Highway Department.

An editorial in the Elizabeth Journal reads partly as follows:

"Officials in Union and Hillside are irritated by the tactics of the State Highway Department in failing to 'finalize' Route 78 through these townships. Commitments have been made, but the state administration is trying to appease dissidents in Newark. . . In the county (Union) uncertainty and confusion, particularly in Springfield, Union and Hillside, have plagued property owners and officials."

Mr. Palmer wouldn't have been selected as the "Citizen of the Year" if all the property owners, who have had any dealings with the Highway Commissioner on the new alignments, had a chance to vote.

In Millburn (Short Hills) Mr. Palmer would, no doubt be given an enormous vote of approval. Millburn is the community where Mr. Palmer resides and where one of the municipal officials made the much publicized statement, "We, in Millburn, don't care where the new highway No. 78 goes, so long as it doesn't touch any part of Millburn." Mr. Palmer "got the message."

The Right To Know

A refreshing story came out of last week's annual state meeting of the New Jersey Associated Press held at the shore.

The published report was that "New Jersey newsmen have adopted a resolution calling for police chiefs to set up better liaison between the press and police departments."

"Fred Hess, President of the New Jersey Chiefs of Police," the story continued, "told the annual meeting of newspaper men that he would advise police chiefs of their obligations to make information available to the press."

"He said the matter would be brought up at the annual state meeting of Police chiefs next month."

"Hess, who is chief of the Bloomfield Police Department, said he believed in giving newsmen a maximum amount of information concerning any crime. 'I want the public to know,' he said, 'because the public may help in spotting a suspect.'"

We do not believe that all the information in the police blotters should be made available to newspapers and we believe the Chief of Police has and should have the final word on which item in what blotter should be given to the newspapers.

This newspaper is not eager to publish the facts on some domestic spat where the husband tried to smash down the door of his own home, and we shy away from the usual stories of violence and tragedy.

Nor are we especially anxious to put headlines on blown-up stories of juvenile delinquency -- even though we're not naive enough to believe that a community as large as ours do not have some problems with our exuberant youngsters.

However, we're of that school of journalism that sees a good human interest story in the frantic telephone call to police headquarters, "Please, come and get my cat off the roof!" Or, the hysterical voice on the phone telling the police "to hurry! I can hear burglars in the living room!" Only to discover, when the police cars arrived, that it was the husband who returned much earlier from his important business meeting in Newark.

"The right to know" has always been the shout of the newspapers but police chiefs also have the right to keep some of the items -- some of the facts away from the reporters until part of their won police work has been completed. Especially -- in burglaries.

But -- if there is what they like to call a rash of burglaries -- and we understand there were three very close together in one residential area -- the stories in the newspaper would alert the residents in that section not to make too easy for the intruders. Wives would, at least, lock their doors while taking the dog out for his daily walk to the school playground.

We have kept many stories out of our newspaper. We have eliminated some of the facts in "sensational headline" stories. And, if the Police Chief, in his good judgment, believes some story would not be used "at this time" or kept out entirely, that can be done.

WORTH A 1000 WORDS--The above car was driven by Stephen Goldberg of East Orange, and a passenger, Joseph Centori died as a result of injuries. The accident occurred on Raritan Road near Terrill in Scotch Plains shortly after midnight last Wednesday (Fred Keesling)

This is not in the nature of criticism because we believe the members and officers of the Police Department have been doing a wonderful job. But, we are happy, because the State Police Chiefs may now set up a definite rule on what information is and is not available to the newspapers.

Letters On Pool Site

I enclose a copy of a letter I have addressed to the Township Committee concerning a topic vital to our community. I should appreciate your printing this communication as "A Letter to the Editor" as well. Cordially, Hugh Lefkowitz

Dear Mrs. Worthington: I was shocked to read in the Springfield Sun that Attorney Cowley had been authorized to "prepare an ordinance that would give Springfield regulatory powers as well as some power of review and control over the type of entertainment to be shown at the new local theater."

Obviously some form of regulatory power over the operation of the theater are both necessary and proper by the matter of review and control over the type of entertainment to be shown are in my view potential curtailments of civil and cultural liberties inseparable to our way of life.

The establishment of any municipal agency or official as an arbiter of cultural tastes smacks of the cultural totalitarian approach characteristic of dictatorships such as Communist Russia and Franco Spain.

The next step might reasonably be the setting up of a committee to screen another phase of our culture -- our library. It is only a hop, skip and a jump from this to book-burning.

Who are the demigods possessed of the supreme wisdom which will enable them to dictate what we normal mortals should or should not see? No human being, whether he be a layman or a man of the cloth, has this right.

No one is forced to see a movie; presumably he attends because he is interested in the content -- he does not attend to merely fritter away time. If a segment of the population considers something potentially objectionable they need not subject themselves to it. It is difficult to envision how a movie once has not seen can adversely affect one's morals.

In regard to the art used but recently in a public argument of "what about our children" I submit that parents who do not control their children sufficiently to "protect" them from the "corruption" of films plainly designated "Not recommended for children" or "adults only" are not parents in the real sense of the word.

Furthermore those who ignore the potentially divisive religious aspects of this proposed ordinance in a town noted for its interfaith harmony are either naive or completely insensitive. I am consulting legal counsel and should this ordinance be passed containing any stipulations regarding censorship I will feel compelled to seek relief in the courts.

Respectfully, Hugh W. Lefkowitz

Names Of Others In Art Colony

Several other Springfield residents interested in various forms of art were inadvertently omitted when the article appeared in the Springfield Sun. The remainder of the article which was set for publication but was omitted because of space also include the names of Julia Tuck, of 17 Davton Court, William Benkert of 54 Warner Avenue, Mrs. Leslie Amanda Williams of 143 Linden Avenue, Leonard Scharffenberger of 86 Edgewood Avenue, Mrs. Ralph (Sandra) Mond of 131 Bryant Avenue, who is interested in an studying sculpture.

Residents active in art circles who have recently moved from Springfield are: Mrs. Gloria Hilliard, formerly of 105 Troy Drive, now in Massachusetts; both Melvin Klapholz and his wife Jacqueline, formerly of 112 South Maple Avenue, who left last summer to live in Bucks County, Pa.; Andrew (Andy) Nelson, an art director with a New York agency, living in Short Hills; Mrs. Glenn (Harriet) Oyley, formerly of Pitt Road, who was active in the Woman's Club art department and is now in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Robert (Merrill) Multhaup, who moved about a year ago to Connecticut; Dr. Louis Schimoler, a veterinarian interested in painting and sculpture, who left last summer for Long Island, where he has his own animal hospital; Mrs. Dorothy Weiss, now of Millburn; Mrs. Helen Cavanaugh, reported to be living in the shore area; and Mrs. David Ryal, who is the former Patricia Prince of Hillside Avenue, Springfield, presently traveling with her husband, a lieutenant in the Army.

Several of these people had been members of the former Springfield Art Center, which had a brief "fling" a few years ago.

Money Matters

By Donald H. Shafarman

This article is one in a series which will regularly appear in this newspaper dealing with investments and financial and estate planning. Periodically, Mr. Shafarman, who is President of Donan & Co., Inc., and a former practicing attorney, will devote a column to answering readers' questions. These may be sent to The Springfield Sun, Springfield, N.J.

With the stock market gyrating wildly, readership of the financial pages is at an all time high. It is interesting to notice, when on a train or bus how many papers are turned to the stock quotations. It is equally interesting to contemplate how many of these people are investors, and how many speculators.

Every day millions of people check the price of the stock they own. Whether a person owns one share of A, T, & T, or 1000 shares of General Motors, he has a natural compulsion to determine its value frequently. Invariably these people feel elated when the value of their holdings increase, and depressed when they decrease. Yet these people all have other important investments which they very seldom or never value.

For example, when did you have your wife's jewelry appraised last? What is the present value of your home? When did you last look up the figures on the Consumer Price Index to determine the value of the dollars in your pocket?

This last question perhaps most dramatically illustrates the point we are making. The investor in common stocks will become concerned when one of his stocks drops a few points over a period of time, and he will practically panic if it occurs very rapidly. The same person will be unconcerned over a five year slump in the real estate market or the long term erosion of his cash. Clearly this is a case where ignorance is bliss!

It is not difficult to ascertain the reason for this different attitude towards different types of investments. Basically, it is the difference between the "investor" and the "speculator". Unfortunately, most of those people you see perusing the stock pages on the bus are, at heart, speculators.

In the final analysis, unless you plan to sell your home shortly, the comfort, family happiness, and security you derive from it are far more important than its present cash value. In the same vein, a true investment should be regarded from the viewpoint of what it can do for you and your family over the years in terms of increased income and/or growth of capital. For this reason, we confidently believe that over the years more and more people will become "investors" in quality common stocks and mutual fund shares.

Others who contribute heavily to the success of this great show which will run through June 24 are: Mary-Alice Wunderle, Wallace Englehardt, Van Stevens, Walter Kelvin, whose rendition of "More I Cannot Wish You" is tremendous in the fashion of Walter Huston's "September Song"; Tom Snow, Marvin Sprague, Don Lawrence, Rita Dorton, Maria Thome, Molly Sterns and Colley Ballister, who has the physical attributes every show girl wishes she had.

'Moon Pilot' At Loew's

"MOON PILOT" one of Walt Disney's best productions starts Tuesday May 29th at Loew's Theatre Newark. In color by Technicolor. This is a charmingly hilarious romance, the wacky account of two astronauts, one a chimp and the other a chump, and a girl from water space who falls in love with the reluctant likes of the latter.

Worried senators, desperate generals, and frustrated security agents swarm through the plot and add hilariously to a general uproar that pervades the scene from take-off to grand finale.

Tom Tryon of John Slaughter fame, Brian Keith, another Disney veteran, and Edward O'Brien, enjoying his first Disney assignment, also star, with Tommy Kirk in a guest spot. James Nielson directed the funny Maurice Tombragel script, which was based on Robert Buckner's Saturday Evening Post serial. Bill Anderson co-produced the Buena Vista release with Disney. Associate feature is "Misty" with David Ladd and Anne Seymour.

Honor Sculptor

A reception in honor of Hugo Robus, sculptor, took place at the Gallery Lounge on the Madison campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University on Sunday, May 20. The champagne-reception was well attended by such notables as Bella Fishko, director of the Forum Gallery in New York, art collectors Saul Rosen and Martin Welner of Paterson, and the well-known sculptor Chaim Gross of New York and Provincetown.

Selected works of this famous American sculptor have been brought together by the American Federation of Arts into a Hugo Robus Retrospective travelling exhibit. This exhibition, which has travelled throughout the country for two years, is making its last appearance at the Gallery Lounge. It will be open to the public from 1-4:30 p.m. daily until June 4 when it will return to New York. This represents the last opportunity for the public to see these distinguished works gathered together.

Mr. Van Horn, a graduate of the University of Washington, Seattle, joined the system in 1941 serving in various capacities in the sales and advertising departments. He was appointed general sales manager in 1957. He served as an officer in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Mrs. Egolf Visits D.C.

Lillian Walsh Egolf Democratic candidate for Congress in the Sixth District, completed two days of briefing in Washington Saturday.

Her "tutors" included Cabinet Members, Democratic-Congressional incumbents from New Jersey, and President Kennedy himself. Thorn Lord, Democratic State Chairman, led the group.

"All in all," said Mrs. Egolf, "I would say that the briefings gave us the kind of facts and practical information we need to tell our constituents why President Kennedy needs an even more Democratic Congress. An adequate program of medical care for the aged has been in committee for more than a year and because of a coalition of Republicans voting with unconstructed Democrats, the President cannot get this Bill to a vote on the floor. We must continue to stimulate private enterprise, in order to provide a healthy expanding national economy. To do this we must enact the President's Trade Bill, which will generate additional experts and additional jobs. At the local level, we must unsmile the perpetual traffic jam that plagues our community. To do this we must put the Mass Transit Bill on the books, and let our commuters become people again."

TO GRADUATE--On June 6th, Louise Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. James Peterson of 32 Lyons Place, Springfield, will be graduated from Rutgers, the State University, at ceremonies to be held in New Brunswick. Miss Peterson is to be granted a B.A. degree in English from the Rutgers-Newark College of Arts and Sciences. While at Rutgers, Miss Peterson served on the staff of the ENCORE, the college magazine; was literary editor of the 1961 ENCORE, the college yearbook; and served a one-year tenure as editor-in-chief of the OBSERVER, the college newspaper.

World's Fair

SEATTLE (UPI) - How does one start a world's fair? "It was quite simple," said Alfred R. Rochester, Commissioner of the Seattle World's Fair. "About five years ago someone was using a martini glass for a crystal ball and here we are."

Rochester, a former city councilman and all the unofficial "Grover Whalon-type" city grocer, smiled at his own joke, then added: "Come to think of it that's not far from the truth."

He explained that a group of Seattle businessmen were lunching one day when they began hashing over the idea of promoting an observance on the 50th anniversary of the Alaskan-Yukon-Pacific Exposition which did so much to put Seattle on the map in 1909. "Eventually, the idea evolved into a Space Age World's Fair,"

Hugh Downs, one of the busiest and most versatile personalities in TV, will be the new host of NBC-TV's early-morning Monday thru Friday "Today" program in September. He'll succeed John Chancellor, who'll be given a new assignment with NBC-TV News. Downs will give up his "Tonight" announcing chores but will continue to emcee the "Concentration" series.

Ozzie and Harriet Nelson, stars of ABC-TV's perennial family comedy series, "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet," will tour in summer stock this year for the first time as a team, co-starring in Leslie Stevens' comedy hit "Marriage-Go-Round." Mr. Stevens is also creator-producer of ABC-TV's new fall series, "Stoney Burke." They open at the Packard Music Hall, Warren, Ohio, July 10. Featured with the pair will be Lyle Talbot and Sally Kellerman.

Jack Jones, son of motion picture star Allan Jones, stars "You Make Me Feel So Young" and "Too Late Now" in his first guest appearance on "The Garry Moore Show" Tuesday, June 5, on CBS-TV.

Jerry Mathers and Tony Dow, stars of ABC-TV's "Leave It To Beaver," took time out last week to participate in a Freedom Bond drive rally held in Cleveland, Ohio, for the U.S. Treasury Dept.

LOOK/LISTEN: "The Judy Garland Show," hour-long musical special starring Judy Garland, Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin, will be re-broadcast Wednesday, Sept. 19, on CBS-TV.

Santa needs help... that jolly old gent, who spends his time at his year 'round home in Skyforest, California, is looking for bi-lingual college students to act as guides for the large number of foreign tourists that pay Santa a visit. Anyone with a background of French, German, Italian, Spanish, Japanese, Portuguese, looking for a Summer's work may apply. Just write Santa Claus, P.O. Box 100, Skyforest, Calif.

Sally Ann Howes will be the first performer to star in three major Lerner and Loewe theatrical productions when she opens in "Brigadoon" at the New York City Center this week. Miss Howes starred in England in "Palmyra Your Way" opposite her father, famed musical comedy star Bobby Howes, and then, of course, made her American debut in Broadway's "My Fair Lady"...

A new comedy dance, created especially for this engagement, is being added by Harrison and Fisher, dance stars at the Pierre Cotillion Room, in New York, to the current show there. The team has been designated "top comedy dance duo of '62" by Ballroom Dance Magazine.

LIVE WIRES: "The Gallant Men" an exciting new dramatic series about men in war, focusing on the 36th Infantry Division during World War II, will be presented on ABC-TV Friday evenings at 7:30 p.m., beginning Sept. 28. Show will star Robert McQueen and William Reynolds. Chet Huntley's wife is the former Tipton (Tippy) Stringer. Tippy Stringer is also the name of a horse that was racing recently at Rosecroft Park, Washington, D.C. NBC-News reporter Jack Perkins told Chet about the namesake, a 15-1 colt, and asked Chet if he wanted to put $2 on the filly's nose. Chet complied. In good form, Tippy Stringer won handily, paying $29.85. But the human Tippy Stringer was upset, as was her spouse. It seems Perkins never got out to the track to place the bet...

Special commendation and recognition were given by Mass. Congressman Edward P. Boland in the House of Representatives to the "Breck Golden Showcase" presentation of Igor Stravinsky's "Noah and the Flood" on CBS TV June 14. Mr. Boland noted that despite the characterization of TV by some as a vast wasteland, the premiere of this work by the world's greatest living composer - his first for TV - is an example of a show that ascends to the highest of cultural levels...

Two excellent motion pictures we can recommend include "The Miracle Worker," with Anne Bancroft, Patty Duke, Victor Jory and Inga Swenson, produced by Fred Coe and directed by Arthur Penn. The story of the early years in the life of Helen Keller, it will surely be in line for at least a half-dozen Academy Awards the next time around... The other is a light comedy, "That Touch of Mink," starring Cary Grant and Doris Day with Gig Young and Audrey Meadows. This laugh-a-minute was released by Universal-International...

LOCAL REPUBLICAN LEADERS and interested citizens participate in Republican political action program. Attending first of three training classes last week were, left to right, Larry Newcomb of Scotch Plains, a Republican Committee member; Mrs. Katherine K. Neuberger, N.J. Republican National Committee member and a speaker at the training session, Scotch Plains Mayor Edward Peterson, and Charles P. Talley, Union County Republican Chairman.

Prayer Reveals True Government, Reilly Says

True government begins with God, Charles Louis Reilly of Los Angeles told a large audience in Scotch Plains, on Saturday, May 26.

"What a need there is for all of us to seek prayerfully God's government in human affairs," Mr. Reilly declared in a public lecture on the subject "Christian Science: True Government Revealed Through Prayer."

Stressing the importance of individual responsibility in working for "secure and honest government," he said, "Government, of the people, by the people, and for the people, can never become an established fact on a secure basis, except as it arises from a people self-disciplined under God."

There is nothing impractical or outmoded in the application to everyday problems of prayer and spiritual understanding of the Bible, Mr. Reilly maintained.

"Christ Jesus," he said, "was equal to every problem of his times, and his works and teachings, when spiritually understood, make his followers equal to the demands of their times."

The answer to humanity's problems -- including the threats, destructions, and conflicts in the world -- is found through spirituality, he affirmed.

"Tested answers to human problems we all face," he said, "come gloriously to hand as we study the words and works of the prophets recorded in the Scriptures."

There is available today the Christianly scientific prayer for which humanity is crying," he stated.

"Here then is the nature of prayer -- to find in pure communion with the one God, the nature of God and His idea, man. In true prayer we are lifted into glimpses of the realities of being. As we pray, we are enabled to see the sins, the materiality, which clog our progress Spiritward, and to shed the sins, the materialism, in the glow of our real selfhood as God's child. The only way sin can be conquered is by uncovering the sin and overcoming it in the redeeming reality of the Christ, God's true idea."

All the real needs of mankind can be found in God, he maintained. He explained that man is the spiritual expression of God, of Spirit, Soul, Principle, the origin and source of all good.

"Knowing that Soul and its attributes were forever manifested through man, the Master healed the sick, gave sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, feet to the lame, thus bringing to light the scientific action of the divine Mind on human minds and bodies and giving a better understanding of Soul and salvation," he declared, quoting from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.

In describing the present-day application of scientific prayer, the lecturer told of the healing of a critical condition of pneumonia. He also told how a young man overcame fatigue and nearsightedness through wholly spir-

Mr. Reilly is a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship. An authorized Christian Science teacher and practitioner, he spoke in Scotch Plains - Fanwood High School under the auspices of First Church of Christ Scientist, Fanwood Scotch Plains.

"A rocket ride through space," the lecturer said, "may be exciting and show the excellence of modern invention, but what can compare to an individual orbiting on the wings of understanding prayer! The uplifting example of that individual brings inspiration to mankind and helps to save the world in these days of tribulation."

To illustrate the power of prayer, Mr. Reilly cited examples from the lives of Daniel, Paul, and the Master, Christ Jesus.

"Jesus prayed daily and hourly," he said, "regarding every circumstance of his life and work and urged and taught his disciples to pray. . . We can safely say that, through increasing prayer, Christ Jesus achieved a full salvation and revealed God's righteous government."

Today, as in Jesus' time, he said, prayer requires self-discipline and self-government under God.

"In a world crying for just, honest, and true government, recognizing and defending each individual's right of freedom,

"What today's world needs is understanding prayer," he declared. "The time must come when such prayer will make it impossible for anyone to wish to cause war and bring nuclear destruction to the world. But these things must be brought about through a great rise in the spiritual level of mankind, which in turn will bring about a rise in the moral, ethical, and humanitarian values of the world."

Emphasizing the spiritual nature of the challenge, he added, "If the world seems on the verge of destruction, and human politics seem at a discouraging and futile level, this is not as bad for you as you might think. It will force you and me to turn from mere human comfortableness and cause us to 'go all out' for the spiritual unfoldment you and I -- and the world -- need."

poison. The Wisconsin Alumni Research Laboratories developed Warfarin, a poison with a delayed action which the rats could not readily associate with the death of their fellow-rats. The poison was phenomenally successful and completely outsmarted whatever reasoning power rats were supposed to possess regarding man's trickery. Since about 1948 in parts of the country where Warfarin was used it reduced the rat population considerably, but by 1955, while it still killed many rats, approximately ten percent of the rats learned to avoid it, or were immune to it.

Rats are not the only animals which man has helped to create a super breed in a way that demonstrates Darwin's "survival of the fittest" principle. It is odd that undesirable species have a tenacity to survive, but innocuous species such as the passenger pigeon, the dodo, and the heath hen succumbed quite readily.
