

Ask Mr. Palmer

How To Succeed Without, Etc. Etc.

State Highway Commissioner Dwight R.G. Palmer is still starting in that long running hit "How To Succeed in the Highway Department Without Really Trying."

Which Is Interesting !! Grassman Firm Does Surveying Job On Route 78

Some time ago the Newark News published a list of the out of state and New Jersey engineering firms serving Highway Commissioner Dwight R.G. Palmer and his Highway Department as consultants.

What makes this information interesting is that a great deal of property in Springfield and surrounding territory is owned by E.J. Grassman, head of the engineering firm.

Busy, Busy Mr. Palmer Is Again Selling 44 Tulip Rd.

In defense of State Highway Commissioner Dwight R.G. Palmer against charges that his department is doing nothing in Springfield, the Springfield Sun wants to announce that another attempt will be made to auction off Parcel No. 26, located at 44 Tulip Road, Springfield next Friday, July 20, at 11 a.m.

The Sun gives this information because the legal advertisement, announcing the sale of the building at 44 Tulip Road, appeared in the Elizabeth Journal last Saturday and, as happened once before, interested and prospective buyers may not have seen the publication of the advertisement.

The proposal by the Springfield Chamber of Commerce to Revitalize Morris Avenue through the Urban Renewal Development program received very little support from the landlords who met with Mayor Philip Del Vecchio in the Municipal Building Monday night.

Fasten all seat belts! Objectors to some of the wording in the proposed ordinance for licensing and regulating the operation of motion picture theaters in Springfield are gathering their forces for the public hearing to be held next Tuesday evening, July 24, at the Municipal Building.

Only a few of the property owners spoke in favor of the proposal. All the others said they "are perfectly satisfied with the retail business being done on Morris Avenue and everybody seems to be happy except that there should be some more improvement in the offstreet parking situation."

Plan New Sandmeier Parking

Plans expected to improve parking and traffic movement at the Teatna L. Sandmeier School, where there has been congestion on important days, were approved by the Springfield Board of Education at its regular meeting Tuesday night in Caldwell School.

Tentative drawings were submitted to the board for its approval by Board Member Joseph Bender, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee.

The proposal calls for the use of land on Diven Street, presently owned by the township, and needs the approval of Springfield Township Committee. Mr. Bender was authorized to write, requesting use of the property.

According to the present plan ingress and egress would be established at the Diven Street location in addition to egress and ingress from South Springfield Avenue.

Improvements would be made in the two pick-up areas to better facilitate the flow of traffic and parking. Re-location of the teachers' parking area, presently situated in the Diven area, is also visualized.

If township approval is given the plan, it was felt work could be expedited by prompt advertisement for bids and a special board meeting so that the job would be done early in September.

As part of a general modernization program at Caldwell School, approval was given to the initial architectural drawings for the improvement of the kindergarten at that school.

According to the drawings three classrooms will be converted and up-dated into two kindergartens with a playroom between them. The plan will now be forwarded to Trenton for state approval. This work is expected to be done during the summer of 1963.

The need for sidewalks along Meisel Avenue, was discussed and Board Secretary A. B. Anderson was directed to send a letter to Springfield Township Committee asking that it take action in this matter with the recommendation for a joint meeting of township officials and representatives of the Union County Park Commission and Springfield Board of Education.

The board is especially interested in having sidewalks installed in the vicinity of the Meisel Avenue football field, which is park commission property, and also wants any other unpaved areas along that street paved as a safety measure for youngsters walking to school.

A communication was received from Mrs. Fred Hall explaining that she would be willing to sell the acres at Baltusrol Top at $20,000 each acre.

The board agreed that it was not interested in the purchase of the land. About a year or so ago, it purchased from Baltusrol Golf Club 10 acres at Baltusrol Top for $25,000 with future school expansion in mind.

In connection with this matter, a report was made of a meeting held recently with property owners in that vicinity and municipal officials.

Under discussion was a new access to the school property there since definite plans for Route 78 have now been established. It was explained that the school board already has access to its property there but is desirous of a better approach to the land. Additional meetings on the subject will be held in the future, it was reported.

Contracts were awarded to two new teachers: Miss Margaret J. Heller of Maplewood for a kindergarten at Sandmeier at $4,900 and Miss Cary Anne Zumbren of Short Hills, who was designated as reserve teacher at the South Orange Country Day School last year and Miss Zumbren was a student.

A custodian contract was awarded to Frank D'Amato at $3,900.

Authorization was given for the expenditure of $10 as membership in the National School Board Association.

More Lighting Approved For Channel Store

Plans are underway for the installation of additional lighting at the curb opening to Channel Lumber Co. and at Broadway Stores in Route 22.

Springfield Township Committee at its regular meeting July 10 in the Municipal Building instructed Springfield Township Attorney James M. Cawley to prepare a contract with the Channel Lumber concern whereby that company will agree to assure the additional light bill.

On a request for increased lighting from the Channel Lumber Co., Jersey Central Power and Light Company conducted a survey at the location and made a recommendation for the installation of standard street lighting equipment on Route 22 at several curb openings to Broadway Stores and Channel Lumber Co.

The beautiful pieces of fruit were a rarity in that country and at the end of the evening the party-goers dismantled and looted the fruit. "Let them tell us about us," she said. "They know far more about us than we know about them," she said, adding, "If you can go as an innocent abroad, you will be greeted with open arms. If you go with a feeling

Newark State Site Of African Exhibit

An educational exhibition entitled "Tropical Africa: An Expedition into the Future," is currently on display at Newark State College, Union.

Interested members of the public are invited to view the exhibition in the Sloan Lounge of the College Center, anytime during regular college hours, from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. The exhibit will continue through August 3.

The exhibition is based on a comprehensive survey, seven years in the making, by the Twentieth Century Fund, New York City, and is being circulated throughout the United States by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service.

Designed by Charles Forberg Associates, New York, the exhibition is comprised of photographs and text taken from "Tropical Africa," recently published by the fund in two volumes. The author, George H. T. Kime, formerly director of the American Geographical Society and now chairman of the Department of Geography at Indiana University, drew upon contributions from 46 specialists and scholars, and himself visited Africa many times during the course of the project.

The viewer of the exhibition becomes sharply aware of the 600 different groups of people living in Africa, the diversity of the land and the richness of natural resources, as well as the economic, political, and social revolution taking place.

The exhibition was brought to the college through the efforts of Dr. Hugh G. Brooks, director of the African Institute at St. John's University. Dr. Brooks, a former member of the Newark State Faculty, conducted an African Workshop at the college this summer.

Serves With Polaris Sub

Richard D. Bock, commissaryman first class, USN, son of Charles E. Bock of 93 Caldwell pl., Springfield, N.J., is serving with the Gold Crew of the USS Ethan Allen, one of the Navy's modern, nuclear-powered Polaris missile submarines.

The Ethan Allen currently is operating in the Atlantic on its first patrol deployment.

The Gold Crew is one of two crews assigned to the submarine. The crews alternate duty aboard the ship, enabling it to remain on station the majority of the time.

The submarines are equipped with the solid-fuel Polaris missile. The ballistic missile can be fired from beneath the surface of the ocean, giving mobility and surprise to the nation's defense network. The Polaris has a range of about 1,500 miles.

The Ethan Allen is capable of operating submerged for long periods of time, since the ship is not dependent upon constant replenishment.

Miss Slifer With Senator

Miss Judy Lynn Slifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Slifer, of 1085 Mt. Vernon Rd., Union, is spending eight weeks in the Washington office of Senator Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.), helping with the administrative work and learning about the political life on the Hill.

Miss Slifer feels that the experience is invaluable, one which no text book could ever offer. "One has such a different idea about how a Senator's office is run if he has only read about it. From working here, I have been so much more aware of what is involved in everything ranging from the secretarial to the legislative operations."

"Since the Senator can not possibly have personal contact with everyone, his only contact with many of the constituents comes from seeing the many letters received each day. It is so important that each letter is answered personally and quickly. The many different points of view expressed in each letter allows the Senator to take into account different and varied views before voting on a bill. "Living in Washington has afforded many opportunities, of which I have taken full advantage; concerts, museums, interesting historical places, and shows. My appreciation that I have been able to work in Washington has been surpassed only by my enthusiasm. The Senator and his staff are so willing to help me in any way; it is this willingness that has made my job as enjoyable, as educational, and as exciting as I find it."

The first woman ever to receive the summer internship awarded by Rutgers, the State University, Miss Slifer graduated from Union High School in 1959 and will be entering her senior year at Douglass College, where she is an honors major in Political Science. Beginning in September, she will be serving her fourth year as a representative of her class to the Government Association. In this capacity, she will be investigating the possibilities of instituting a Junior Semester in Washington program. In the past, she was appointed a Chapel Usher and a Junior Guide. She has also served on the Hillel Executive Board, been a member of the Hillel Dance group for the past three years, of which she was co-chairman last year, and the French club. Miss Slifer has been on Deans List through out her college years, and has received both State and College scholarships.

Peep Peep Show To Be Featured

Theodore W. Stamen, 4-H Club Agent for Union County, is in charge of the arrangements for the Union County 4-H Fair. One of his duties will be to "Race The Stock". This race will start at Forsgate Farms, Jamesburg, N.J. where 100 chick eggs were put in an incubator on July 1st. (It requires 21 days for a chick to develop from a fertile egg.) The eggs will be transported by Mr. Stamen from Forsgate Farms to the 4-H Fair grounds in Scotch Plains. While enroute the eggs will be wrapped in a heavy woolen blanket to keep the eggs warm. On arrival at the fair ground they will be transferred to the plastic bubble incubator which previously had the temperature standardized. If Mr. Stamen's timing is correct, people visiting the fair will see chicks breaking out of their shell in a warm cozy atmosphere. Will Mr. Stamen be able to beat the stock and get the eggs to the fair grounds before they hatch? Will he find some chicks that hatched in his car? Will all the eggs hatch out? Come to the fair on July 21st to see who won the race. Yes, it will be close.

College Reception Given For Artists

The Madison campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University gave a reception on Sunday, July 8th, in honor of the resident artists participating in the International Artists Summer Seminar now in session on the campus. The reception also featured an exhibition representative of the work of each artist. Some of the paintings and sculpture exhibited were works created on the campus during the past two weeks. The resident artists represent eight foreign countries as well as the United States. They are Afrozoul, Yvaral and Helene Bokowski of France; Marc-Aleu of Spain; Danilo Bergamo of Italy; Pierre Manoli of Egypt; Mordechai Avniet of Israel; Kazuo Nakamura and Tom Gibson of Canada; Jochen Seidel of Germany; Mireille Wunderly of Switzerland; Fal Streeter, Ed Johnson, Alan Goldstein, and Bill Stewart of the United States. The artists are all well-known internationally as well as in their own countries, and represent a wide variety of techniques, schools of thought, and individual interpretation. There are four sculptors—Mammi, Tal Streeter, Alan Goldstein, and Ed Johnson—all of whom work in metal ranging from lead and tin to scrap iron and steel. The reception exhibition was held in the Gallery Lounge and was attended by over 150 art patrons and artists such as Henry Niese, James Kearns, Adolf Konrad, Barow-Underhill, and Elain DeKooning. The exhibition will continue to be open to the public every day free of charge. The Virgin Islands formerly were known as the Danish West Indies. The United States bought them from Denmark in 1917 for $25 million.

Comedy Makes Radio Comeback; Phil Foster Joins Jersey Station

A New Jersey radio station has found out that the comedy shortage in this country is a serious matter.

WJYZ, Newark, has been broadcasting recordings of well-known comedians in a regular program presented about a dozen times a day and for 7 1/2 hours on Saturday afternoon. The station is only slightly over three months old, and already its disc-jockeys have had to repeat comedy records.

To remedy the situation, Phil Foster, a straight out of New Utrecht High School in Brooklyn (also the alma mater of Buddy Hackett, Phil Silvers, Robert Merrill and Jack Carter) has been named WJYZ "Dean of Comedy," and will conduct a weekly showcase for new comedians and comedy writers. Called "Phil Foster's Comedy Workshop," the half-hour program will be broadcast weekly beginning in August. Starting July 17, when the station will open its second broadcasting studio in Paramus, comedians will be invited to send in tapes, and comedy writers to submit scripts, to the station. Foster will audition all tapes and scripts, and will select comedians and writers to participate in weekly performances at a New Jersey nightspot. Tapes of these shows will be broadcast as the first part of "Comedy Workshop," and will be followed by Foster's commentary on the comedians and the comedy material. Listeners will vote for the best performers and writers each week. Winners will participate in a Comedy Workshop Revue, to be held in the late fall at theaters in New York and New Jersey. Proceeds of this will be used for fellowships to comedy writers or to fund a comedy chair at a New Jersey university. In the attempt to further their careers, Foster will also introduce winners to other established comedians.

A resident of Englewood, Foster is an integral part of the clique of successful comedians who reside in Northern New Jersey. Others, including Buddy Hackett, Corbett Monica, Dick Shawn, and Joey Bishop, will be invited to appear on the radio program.

Foster, who happens to sound like a college professor when he gets on the subject, hailed the return of comedy to radio, and expressed the hope that it would discover and help develop many much-needed new comics.

Mamie On Meadowbrook Stage Beginning July 24

From July 24th through August 26th—at the Meadowbrook Dinner Theatre will be "Where the Boys Are". You see that's where Mamie Van Doren will be during that period, starring in "WILDCAT" at the famous bistro.

While the distaff portion of the press—have been the only ones asking for personal interviews with Lovejoy, current star at the Brook—through July 22, strangely enough the requests to date—have all been from the male members desiring to contact Miss Van Doren.

Born in Rowena, South Dakota, of Swedish descent, Mamie stands 5'4" and weighs 110. She has dark brown eyes, platinum blond hair and the balance of her statistics have been permanently censored.

While it is customary at this stage to go into detail on the merits of the show, we will limit our comments on "Wildcat" to the fact that Lucille Ball was the original star on Broadway and it concerns oil wells and let's get back to Mamie.

Educated at Los Angeles High School she emerged a full fledged secretary in a law firm taking singing lessons on the side. She shortly quit the former to become a Vaudeville singer and appeared on many of his calendars. This landed her in "Million Dollar Baby" as one of the show girls chosen by the star Jackie Gleason. Following this she became band vocalist for Ted Fio Rito for a prolonged Las Vegas stint where she was noticed by Jimmy McHugh who steered her into acting lessons at Elms Hayden and Ben Ard schools of drama.

Enacting the sexy role of the young college girl in "Come Back, Little Sheba" she was spotted by U-I casting director Benjamin and auditioned and obtained a role in "Forbidden".

That did the trick. Before the picture's release she was cast in "The All American", "Yankee Pasha", and "Francis Joins the Wacs".

Better roles and pictures followed "Ain't Misbehavin'" and starring parts in "The Second Greatest Sex", "Running Wild" and "Star in the Dust".

While continuing her singing lesson with her original vocal coach, Paul Thomson of Copenhagen, Mamie has forsaken movies for the present to branch into other medias of the entertainment field. She has just completed a lengthy night club tour and so it comes about that Frank Lovejoy, brilliant dramatic man Hollywood star forsakes the Dinner theatre on July 22nd to be followed by one of the cinema's outstanding symbols of the female sex, Mamie Van Doren in the hit-musical "Wildcat" on Tuesday, July 24th.

Estimate 782 TB Cases

The total number of known tuberculosis cases in Union County is now 782, according to the quarterly report of the Tuberculosis Case Register, published today by the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League.
Reported deaths from tuberculosis during the quarter totaled three, and eight tuberculosis patients died from other causes.
Sixty-five new cases of tuberculosis were reported during the three month period, a 50 percent increase over new cases reported in the preceding quarter. The 65 cases include five primary tuberculosis, 11 minimal, 19 moderately advanced, 27 far advanced and one non-pulmonary. Forty-five were reported as active TB. Elizabeth had 29 of the new cases, and the remaining 36 were divided among 15 municipalities in the county.
According to the Case Register report, 170 or 22 percent of the total cases are hospitalized. Of the 612 non-hospitalized cases, 107 are active, 12 are probably active, 31 probably inactive, 460 are inactive, and two had no activity status reported.
The 782 tuberculosis cases in the Register are from all municipalities in Union County.

Playground News

The Arts and Crafts Program for the 1962 season at the Scotch Plains Recreation Commission Playgrounds has been announced by Miss Barbara Bishop, Arts and Crafts Director, and Miss Carol Johnston—Assistant to the Arts and Crafts Director.

An arts and crafts program is held twice each week at each of the four playgrounds, including Greenside, Evergreen, Brookside, and Farley Ave.

To start off the season the older children (ages 8-13) made napkin holders out of woodcraft sticks while the younger ones (ages 3-7) made mail holders out of paper napkins.

Attendance at all the playgrounds has been far superior to last years' records and all indications are that it will continue to improve.

In the coming weeks such projects as Plaster of Paris molds, Leathercraft articles, hot plate tiles and planters have been planned.

378 children from all parks went swimming Thursday July 12 at Rahway River pool - next swim trip will be held on July 24.

Money Matters

By Donald H. Shafarman

Notwithstanding the temptation to buy and sell stocks on a short-term basis in order to make a "fast dollar," we have always felt that the long-term investor has a much better chance of achieving his goals than the trader. Recently compiled figures lend considerable support to this belief.

Very frequently a person of 30 may contemplate holding securities for a period of 40 or more years. Retirement needs, education of children, etc., all reflect long-range investment objectives. At age 50, an anticipated investment period of 25 or 30 years is not unusual. Even the person of 65 can look forward to 15 years or more as an investor according to life expectancy figures.

There are all extended periods of time. Because they cover many years, the day-to-day or even the year-to-year fluctuations should not cause the shareholder any great concern. Although a close look at the nature of a common stock investment reveals many interim periods of downward trends, temporary arrested movements, and continuous fluctuation, the movement of common-stock prices and dividends over an extended period of time shows a dominant under-tone of growth. It reveals the movement of a free and expanding economy which can by its nature never more without interruptions and fluctuations.

For example, during the period from 1900 to 1961, yearly dividends have shown an increase of more than 1,000% as measured by a well known index. During the same period, common stock prices advanced even more to increase over 1,900%. Growth like this has been one of the strong motivating factors that has caused millions of Americans to invest in diversified American industry.

It is perhaps more enlightening to see how prices and dividends have advanced during varying periods of time. Thus, during the 60-one year periods from 1900 to 1961, stock prices advanced 60% of the time, and dividends advanced 65% of the time.

The short-term trader, therefore, had a fair chance of coming out ahead of the game. However, as we lengthen the period of time, we see that the odds in favor of the investor increase tremendously.

There were 56 five year periods from 1900 to 1961, and stock prices and dividends increased during 82% and 73% respectively of these periods. Of the ten year periods, they advanced 88% and 84% of the time. During the 41 twenty year periods, stock prices went up 95% of the time, and dividends went up 98% of the time. Finally, in the 35 twenty-five year periods from 1900 to 1961, we see that stock prices increased in all of them, and dividends advanced in 35 of them.

From the above statistics, we can draw the conclusion that the long-term investor stands in much less danger of loss from the natural consequences of price and dividend fluctuations than does the short-term investor. While there is no absolute way to eliminate the inherent risk in securities investment, buying and holding soundly selected common stocks and mutual funds for the long term would seem to moderate the risk.

CY JAMES

As the major league pennant races roared past the midway point there was an outside possibility of a "Subway Series" come early October.

Now there are subways in New York City, but there won't be any subway World Series there. Not with the Mets rapidly playing their way towards oblivion.

And there are subways in Chicago, but there won't be any subway World Series there either. The Cubs are almost of the same ilk as the Mets and even Phil Wrigley doesn't have any illusions about pouring World Series gold into his chewing gum empire.

There also are subways in Los Angeles, and there just might be a subway World Series in the City of Angels. It's still a long shot, but not nearly as long a shot as it was before the start of the season.

One Los Angeles entry, the transplanted Brooklyn Dodgers, has been a highly regarded pennant contender right from the start of the season. The Dodgers have been battling the San Francisco Giants for first place since last April, and must be regarded at worst as a co-favorite to win the National League flag.

It's the other Los Angeles representative, the Angels, who have raised unexpected speculation about a "Subway Series." The Angels' play to this point of the season has been nothing short of amazing. The Angels have been as amazingly good as the Mets, have been amazingly bad.

Organized only last year from a squad of castoffs, has-beens and rookies culled from other American League teams and the top minors, the Angels hardly figured to be a pennant contender for many years. They finished well down in the second division last year but earned playoffs for not finishing in the league cellar.

But the Angels have been an inspired club this season. They have been taking on the top contenders in no-holds barred competition and have been more than holding their own. A big factor in their success has been the play of Leon Wagner, a journeyman outfielder who had failed to make the grade in a number of trials with other major league teams.

Leon currently is battling for the home run leadership in the American League and was selected for the American League All-Star team by the league's players. That's quite an honor for a player nobody wanted a little more than a year ago.

Equally important to the Angels have been second baseman Billy Moran, Manager Bill Rigney and a couple of fine young pitchers—Bo Belinsky and Dean Chance. Moran was another Angel selected for the American League All-Stars with his fine hitting and fielding.

Rigney, making a spectacular comeback after his trials and tribulations as manager of the San Francisco Giants two years ago, certainly must be considered a top-notch candidate for "manager of the year" honors.

If Rigney succeeds in putting the Angels to a first division finish—a distinct possibility—he should be voted the American League's "manager of the year" without any difficulty.

Belinsky, the Trenton youth who hurled a no-hitter earlier this season, and Chance have bolstered an Angel pitching staff that already boasted a couple of fine flingers in Ken McBride and Eli Grba, the transplanted Yankee.

The Angels face a dog-fight in their bid for the American League flag. As this column is written, the New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians, Minnesota Twins, Detroit Tigers and Baltimore Orioles all are contending with the Angels for first place.

Of the contenders, all except Minnesota would seem to have more talent on paper than the Angels. Pennants aren't won on paper, however, and that's why the Angels must be accorded an outside chance. The Angels won't lose out for lack of trying. In that respect, they have shown more spirit than any of the contenders. If esprit d' corps can win the American League pennant, look out for the Angels!

The National League race seems to be settling down to a two-team fight between the Dodgers and Giants. The Dodgers have two overpowering pitchers in Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale. Both are certain 20-game winners, with each a possibility for 25 victories, maybe even 30.

The Dodger's big two need help though. If Johnny Podres and Stan Williams start winning as they have in past seasons, the Dodgers should win the flag easily. The Dodgers have adequate power and speed that no other team in the majors can match.

Whereas the Dodgers rely on pitching and speed, the Giants are bidding for the flag with a power-packed lineup that brings back memories of the "Murderer's Row" lineup that was a Yankee trademark in years gone by.

Sluggers like Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou, Jim Davenport and Ed Bailey present a real problem for any pitcher. The Giants' weakness is a reliance on older pitchers. If they can't hold up in the July and August heat, the Giant pennant hopes will wilt with them. The cool San Francisco air may be a lifesaver for the Giants.

St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Milwaukee still must be considered contenders, although all have played erratically so far this season. The Cardinals, Pirates and Reds, particularly, have been streak-prone this season.

The Cardinals have had three eight-game streaks, but one of them was a losing streak. The Pirates won their first 10 games, sagged badly, then started another streak. Cincinnati put on a tremendous surge to threaten the Dodgers and Giants, but then suffered through a disastrous trip to San Francisco.

Milwaukee still is trying to untrack itself. Lew Burdette has recovered from an atrocious start to win seven straight games but Warren Spahn has a below .500 record and the Braves still are flitting around for a spot at the top-of the second division.

From here on in, the Philadelphia Phillies figure to battle it out with the surprisingly strong Houston Colts for seventh place. Keep an eye on the Colts' Harry Craft for the National League's "manager of the year" honors.

The erratic Cubs appear destined for a ninth-place finish, with the Mets, despite the frantic exhortations and fabulous support of "The New Breed", apparently destined to wind up their maiden season in the National League's cellar. Wait 'til next year! Or the year after! Or the year after that!

Taking Care Of The Garden

Monday was the fourth Annual Turf Field Day of the North Jersey Landscape Association. It was held at our Garden Center this year, where we have 19 fine turf plots under cultivation. These test plots are operated by us, in cooperation with your County Agricultural agent. Research in "Turf Management With Popular Brand Materials" is carried on constantly to aid the home owner in maintaining better lawns.

Among those attending were Eric Peterson, County Agent, Warren Monroe, Assistant County Agent, Robert O'Keefe and George Runge of the O.M. Scott Company, Marysville, Ohio and William Martin, president of the North Jersey Landscape Association.

After reviewing our own plots several of the group toured this area and visited some of the best lawns -- and some of the worst, to learn as much as possible what the home owner is doing. We did discover that every lawn we visited was loaded with chinch bugs except the ones that had recently been treated with diazinon, or ethion. Sod webworm was also prevalent in Merion and Kentucky blue grass lawns, except where treated for chinch bugs.

There are pros and cons of watering, but there is no doubt in our minds that heavy, periodic watering, coupled with light applications of high nitrogen fertilizer, will help keep the lawns fresh and green. Relatively few of the lawns visited showed any soil moisture, although some people professed huge water bills. Heavy thatching (build-up of grass clippings) undoubtedly prevented much of the water from penetrating to the roots.

Many patches of dead grass, reported as diseased turf, were found to be large areas of poa annua (wild, annual bluegrass) that had died off naturally in the hot weather. Some of the dried seed heads - those low tufts of white seeds found in abundance late in the spring - could be found all through the dead patches, and will germinate during August to once more make you think you have a nice bluegrass lawn.

For anyone interested, we will leave the turf plots marked out with string, and identified with cards, so that you may personally inspect the plots at any hour from dawn to dark until Monday, July 23rd. The plots are located at Cardinal's Garden Center, 272 Milltown Road, Springfield.

SCIENCE NOTEBOOK

UNION-COUNTY REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOLS

In America, perhaps nothing, except sex, is more over-estimated and more over-estimated than education. Every one feels qualified to make "valuable" contributions to its improvement—yet nothing is more evasive of general comprehension, or is riddled with more subtle variations and complexities than the processes of teaching and learning.

Encouraged by Educators

It does, pupils are fiercely sensitive to affection. No theory of teaching can be of much value previous to actual practice. But teacher education, in general, always has been vague, and the battle-of-personalities can only be learned in action. Supervision of the new teacher is more harmful than good when the supervisor, charmed with his own personality traits, attempts to recreate everyone in his own

Some years back Education professors seriously taught that when the scientific technique of teaching was acquired, the master teacher could teach any subject. Indeed the superstition still exists in schools of education. Unfortunately, those who teach teachers have acquired the re-

Judge 4-H Items

The members of the Union County 4-H Clothing Clubs had over 600 items judged on July 13th at the Agricultural Extension Building, 7 Bridge St., Elizabeth. The judging was done by various women who are 4-H agents from neighboring counties.

The items varied from the simple pot holders, which were made by the younger members in the first year 4-H project to two-piece dresses and suits which were made in the more advanced units.

Items in Unit #11 and up are judged 50% on construction and 50% on modeling. Modeling means - does the garment complement the figure of the young seamstress; is the item the proper shade for her complexion, etc.

All these items will be on display at the Fair, Mrs. Carolyn Yuknus, Associated Home Agent for Union County will judge the modeling part of the clothing project.

Yes, all the girls will have the opportunity of displaying their items in the Fashion Show which will start at 7:00 p.m.

The theme of the Fashion Show will be "Strolling Through The Park." Goerke's Department Store at Elizabeth and Plainfield has been kind enough to supply the 4-H program with the items needed to set up an artificial park on the stage of the Park Ave. Junior High School.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The S.S. France, a new luxury liner, is the most recent of five foreign ships to carry a certificate of sanitary construction from the Public Health Service (PHS).

To insure that the ship would get the PHS approval, the owners paid for translation of a PHS handbook for use by the shipbuilding firm; for a PHS sanitary engineer to travel to France for consultations during construction and for a final check at the shipyard after the liner's shakedown cruise!

EDITORIAL

More About School Prayer

The Supreme Court decision on "school prayers" has churned up an unusual degree of emotional letters to the editor -- but Springfield is fortunate in not having such bitter denunciations as published in our neighboring communities.

A letter in the Summit Herald, signed by Jeanette L. Hood, who is evidently disturbed that amendments to the constitution even protect the hateful minorities.

She writes, "THOSE WHO DO NOT LIKE THAT WORD 'CHRISTIAN' IN THIS COUNTRY CAN FIND PLENTY OF OTHER COUNTRIES IN WHICH TO LIVE, WHERE THEY WILL NOT BE TROUBLED WITH PRAYERS OR ANYTHING CHRISTIAN."

A resident of Millburn, writing to the editor of the Newark News, says "My family and I belong to the wonderful society -- the Sons and Daughters of the Pilgrims. We are proud what our ancestors endured for their freedom, and what they did for America -- a noble heritage. . . . To suppress prayers in public schools is to suppress religious freedom."

Despite the Sons and Daughters of the Pilgrims, the Supreme Court, by its recent decision on school prayers, ordained that the First Amendment means what it says when it bars governmental interference in religion. It was no accident that the amendment prohibiting government meddling in religion, freedom of press, speech and the right of assembly, and the privilege of petition for redress of grievances was given first place in the group of ten making up the Bill of Rights.

Just what inspired the ancestors of the Sons and Daughters of the Pilgrims to come to America, and how important is the Bill of Rights in protecting those who need it, is not reflected in a letter by an Essex County official, County Freeholder Albert Saldutti, of Short Hills, who makes the following "who-me?" observation: "I WOULD SUGGEST A CRUSADE BY THOSE OF US IN FAVOR OF PUBLIC PRAYER, TO DROWN OUT THE LOUD CHORUS OF THE MINORITIES. . . . THE U.S. SUPREME COURT SEEMS TO HEAR ONLY THE MUTTERINGS OF NOISY, MILITANT MINORITIES."

Using that Bill of Rights, these letter writers have a perfect right to think, say and print what they please.

Also, the First Amendment gives us the right to insist that our school teachers primarily show our children how to put A, B and C together in their proper order and how to add 1, 2 and 3 so that the total will agree with other totals.

Let us not ask someone else to explain God to our children and how to respect God and Law. Try more prayer at home. (Correction) Try SOME prayer at home.

Check All Calls For Charity

There is no formula, no yard-stick on how to measure one's response to a call for charity.

However, telephone solicitations for charity should be considered with great care. The reputable charity drives have nothing to hide, and will readily give a telephone number or an address where the organization can be reached.

Checking with the police department is good advice if you're not certain about the work being done by the group.

This is inspired by the much abused telephone solicitation "for any old clothes" with the name of some reputable charity being used as the beneficiary in this drive.

Very few causes are using the "old clothes" gimmick and residents are warned to investigate thoroughly before consenting to having "a representative pick up a carton of old clothes."

One resident telephoned this newspaper and asked "What she could do about the following situation?"

A dulcet but convincing voice had telephoned her one evening -- rather late -- and asked the lady of the house for "some old clothes, the sale of which would go towards. . . ." mentioning the name of a well known charity.

The lady of the house explained to the persistent phone caller that "she was too busy, she and her family were planning to leave on vacation the following morning and she had no time right now, and. . ."

The telephone solicitor continued the "pitch" about such a worthy cause and then asked the lady of the house to look around for some old clothes while they are packing for the vacation trip.

And would she, please, leave it on the front porch for the charity's collection truck.

In desperation and eagerness to get rid of the solicitor, and complete her packing, the lady of the house said, "yes, we will try to find something."

Bright and early the next morning the lady of the house and the family completed packing all their vacation clothes, cameras and other items in several cartons. They were placed on the front porch as each carton was filled and the husband was then instructed to "get the car" and begin loading for the vacation trip.

You guessed it -- when husband had backed the car out the garage and drove to the front for the loading job -- all the cartons were gone.

Mrs. Lady of the House had evidently not realized that she had, in desperation, told the "old clothes" solicitor her pick-up truck could drive by the next morning.

Now, the "old clothes" organization has several cartons of good clothes, cameras, tennis racquets, and other items. We doubt very much that any worthwhile charity will benefit by this unusual response.

School's Out...Drive Carefully

New Jersey's Attorney General Sills has issued this timely advice to motorists. "School's out for the summer. Many of these youngsters do not know or have forgotten safety rules. It is up to the adult behind the wheel to do the children's thinking for them."

This is excellent advice but some responsibility must be assumed by both the youngsters and the parents. Too many youngsters on bicycles still violate traffic rules and dart from one side of the roadway to the other without any regard for the usual flow of cars.

Mothers have watched with "considerable" pride as the youngsters catapult down their own driveways onto the roadway, getting an even greater thrill out of screeching brakes and angry motorists.

Warning to drivers has been given by the Daily Journal in Elizabeth in an editorial which stated that "current statistics, listing more traffic deaths to date this year in New Jersey than in the corresponding portion of last year, give grim emphasis to Mr. Sills' caution. The same figures show Union County is holding its own, in the venacular, with 10 deaths in each year. Middlesex has lowered the toll from 31 to 17, which is commendable."

The prudent motorist always heeds school signs and the stops and starts of the fleets of yellow buses, but these are a somewhat regulated hazard, somewhat predictable. Now with the summer recess the risks imposed by flying feet and heedless heads will be going in all directions.

With release from school, these children also escape from other safeguards that surround them much of the remainder of the year -- crossing guards, adult or safety patrol, special police attention, and escort to and from school by parents.

The boys turn to the streets, especially when playfields are not used for their games, and both boys and girls can be terrifying on their bicycles.

Streets are not playgrounds, but that does not foreclose playing, does not prevent cycling, it does not preclude mad dashes to the other side. The summer weeks are a time when reasonable precaution often is insufficient.

Letter To The Editor

Editor, Sun:

Your paper's account of the swimming pool public hearing in its July 5 issue is, in my opinion, seriously inaccurate and misleading.

Both the SUN's headlines and articles concerning the hearing assert that "....all these objections practically melted away with the clear explanations and responses to each question from the floor." There were a significant number of requests for a referendum on the entire pool issue. I seriously question that the response of the town officials satisfied anyone in Springfield who believes, as I do, that such a large municipal undertaking should be affirmed through the democratic process of referendum.

While I will admit that a majority of those present at the meeting favored a pool, there were too many reservations expressed to permit the glowing conclusions of the SUN. Furthermore, such a meeting by its very nature is more likely to attract those in favor rather than those opposed to an undertaking of this type.

THE SUN has done a great disservice to the residents of Springfield who did not attend the meeting and must rely upon your paper for an interpretation of the proceedings. In addition, it would appear that as the only newspaper primarily interested in Springfield affairs, community responsibility demanded further questions on your part. Among those areas you might have further explored:

- 1) Will the proximity of Route 78 to the proposed pool mean constant irritation from noise and exhaust fumes?
- 2) How will the future expansion of recreation facilities be treated -- as a strictly municipal project open to all residents with no special assessment or as a limited membership activity similar to the proposed pool?
- 3) How much present and future tax revenue will the town forfeit from the use of this property as a recreation development?
- 4) Doesn't the estimate of $20,000 per acre, the cost of land given at the meeting, appear low when compared with your paper's estimate of that same price for the recent sale of the Robbins Co.?
- 5) Why shouldn't the pool and parking facilities be placed further from the extremity of the development nearest the residential area along Denham Road -- this taken against the background of the rejection of the Evergreen Lodge site by the Township Committee on the basis of probable hardship to local residents.

Respectfully submitted,

John P. Hall, Jr.
63 Colfax Road

The success of our meetings and projects was due to the excellent publicity you gave us in your paper.

We are deeply appreciative of your interest and your help and suggestions for publishing our news and telling the P.T.A. story to your readers.

The article in the Sun giving publicity writing suggestions was very helpful and a copy was given to the Union County P.T.A. so other units could benefit from it.

Thank you for your help.

Sincerely,
Winifred D. Yuckman,
Publicity Chairman

Letter to Editor, Sun: I read with interest your news story on page 1 of your July 12th issue dealing with vandalism in Springfield.

Might I suggest to you that you regularly run a listing from the Police Blotter and the Fire Calls. News of this type, in my opinion, is as important (if not more so) than news of a lighter nature (e.g., parties, parades, baby parade winners, and so forth).

Weekly newspapers which keep their readers informed on matters concerning crime, fires, and so forth, do, I think, a real service of an enlightening and important nature.

Yours truly,
Louise Peterson

A Step Into the Future

Recently at the Saxton Generating Station of Pennsylvania Electric Company a new nuclear reactor was dedicated.

Partners in this project are Jersey Central Power & Light Company, New Jersey Power & Light Company, Metropolitan Edison Company and Pennsylvania Electric Company.

It is not a large reactor. It has an electric capacity of only 5,000 kilowatts. But its size is really unimportant. Its purpose is the reactor was not designed and built primarily to generate electric power although it does that too.

Prime purpose of the new plant is to serve as a laboratory, the center of a five-year test program aimed at the reduction of atomic power costs. Some of the most advanced experimental work in nuclear power generation will also be conducted here.

JCP&L-NJP&L are proud of the part they play in the program now underway at Saxton. We look to the future with hope and faith that the research conducted here will help lead the way to the atom's playing an even larger part in the generation of electricity to meet the growing demands of a growing America.
