

Immediate Plans Set To Get Underway If Swim Pool Is Passed Next Tuesday

Tentative Family Membership $60 For First Year

Citizens Swimming Pool Committee has announced that if the swimming pool ordinance is adopted by Springfield Township Committee after the public hearing next Tuesday night, letters with membership applications will immediately be sent to all Springfield residents. Family membership for the first year has been tentatively set at $60.

Interested citizens will be urged to return to Municipal Building the application form with their checks as soon as possible so that plans can be quickly formulated.

The committee is aiming for a 1,000 membership the first year. If membership should exceed capacity, applications will be honored on a first come, first serve basis.

Membership Estimated

Estimated membership was established for the first six years of operation using Livingston's municipal pool experience. This was based on percentage of population who were members of the Livingston pool and applying this to Springfield's population. From this survey, a scale was established with estimated membership for the next few years as follows: first year, 860; second year, 1,161; third year, 1,161; fourth year, 1,333; fifth year, 1,462; and sixth year, 1,634.

Hope For January Sale

If the program meets approval, it is hoped the sale of the property will be consummated in January with construction underway in early Spring.

The initial project will concern the pool area with locker rooms and the parking space. Under consideration is a major pool of about 11,000 square feet, a 1,250 square-foot wading pool, and a parking lot for 200 cars. Expanded recreation facilities would be done in the future. Future developments under consideration include various courts and play areas and a pond for ice skating and possibly fishing, which could also be used for water retention purposes.

It was pointed out that Millburn, with a population comparable to Springfield, had received 1,389 members by November with $70,000 in fees collected. It is hoped a similar experience will result in Springfield. The committee is looking for a 1,000 membership, but the pool could readily function successfully with an 800 membership the first year, it was said. However, the greater the number who join, the greater the surplus, it was emphasized.

Monday night in Municipal Building, Springfield Township Committee and representatives of the Citizens Swimming Pool Committee — members of the publicity and financial arms of that group — thoroughly explored the financial aspect of the proposal. Purpose of the meeting was to review the figures in accordance with the ordinance and set up schedules for the next few years to show that the operation if properly supported will be a profitable venture.

Based on Livingston's experience and at $60 per family and with estimated expenses, at no time did the schedule show a deficit, it was reported. There should be a surplus at the end of the six years after payment of all expenses including interest and principal on bond of $140,360, a member of the pool committee said.

This accumulation could be applied towards the purchase of additional equipment, or another pool if necessary, or reduction of annual membership fees, or the retirement of the indebtedness sooner.

Other sources of income which serve as an additional "insurance factor" which were not considered in the figures were: concession income, contributions from industry, business, private citizens, and service organizations, possible guest fees, individual memberships such as a single person at a reduced rate, and interest income on pre-paid membership.

Help in the survey and study has been given by Robert D. Sisco, director of recreation and parks of Livingston. He is also an experienced consultant, having assisted many other communities such as Cedar Grove and New Providence with studies. He was assisted in his report by Melville H. Lyman Jr., professional engineer, and J. Frederick Cook Jr., architect. Mr. Sisco will be invited to the December 11th public hearing.

800 Town Families

In a survey last June, conducted by the pool committee, 800 families indicated that they would join a pool if the annual cost per family was approximately $50. These 800 signatures do not represent the potential because the entire population was not canvassed, it was stated. In addition to this support, about 60 to 70 per cent of these people indicated that they would "pledge" my credit in the amount of $300 or purchase an interest bearing bond in the amount of $300.

It is reported that the number of families in Springfield amounts to 4,300.

Discuss Application Flood Question At Plan Meeting

Springfield Planning Board at a regular meeting Tuesday night in Municipal Building held a public hearing on the application of Anthony Di Venuto, builder, for the subdivision of 90 Caldwell Place into five building lots.

Mr. Di Venuto told the board that he had appeared before the Board of Adjustment a few months ago petitioning for an apartment house and this was considered not feasible. He is now contemplating the erection of one-family homes at the location, he said. He advised the board that he would pipe the brook throughout the property according to township engineer stipulations.

About a dozen people living in the area of the proposal attended the hearing with Walter M. Schramm of 27 Brook Street, Thomas Webster of 28 Rose Avenue, and Robert L. Murphy of 13 Rose Avenue speaking up on the question. All three speakers were concerned with the flooding in the area. A 10-foot pipe or better would be needed according to Mr. Schramm, who also wanted to know who would maintain it when it became clogged. Mr. Webster said that he had no objection to the subdivision but suggested the pipe be large enough and kept clean. Noting that he was against an apartment house at the location, Mr. Murphy explained that he was for the subdivision and that houses would be a big improvement. He too was concerned about the water situation in the area.

Mayor Philip Del Vecchio pointed out to these speakers that this application only applies to the subdivision of the land, adding that the utilities such as piping would be dealt with in a later plan submitted to the board.

The board decided that Mr. Di Venuto should have his engineer revise the lot dimensions in the subdivision so that the plot plans conform with the zoning ordinance. Mr. Di Venuto was advised that two of the lots are not deep enough to comply with the minimum 100-foot depth requirement of the zoning ordinance. The public hearing on the possible appointment of Joel R. Jacobson, its first vice president, to the Port of New York Authority.

At the same time the group proposed Robert Murphy, secretary-treasurer of Local 24, Plumbers Union, Newark, as its candidate for the post.

Editorial

A Look At Our Schools

High on the best seller list this month is the new Springfield League of Women Voter's publication "A Look at Our Schools." As one of its many services to our community, the League has completed a year long study of our school system. The factual information gathered has been compiled into an attractive, easy to read booklet. The Boards of Education and school administrators cooperated fully in this project.

The booklet covers the historical background of our schools back to 1778, school buildings and grounds, administration, teachers, financing and curriculum. The League is subsidizing the sale of these booklets to keep the price low.

The fundamental elements of a good school system include a good staff, a dedicated Board of Education and adequate facilities but EQUALLY VITAL is community interest and support. It is the purpose of this booklet to stimulate that interest and support.

Flood

Springfield Board of Education concerning the installation of a telephone booth on the property of Raymond Chisholm School. It was explained that the installation would be made for the convenience of those who use the school building. The telephone would be useful for children who wanted to call parents for pickups in inclement weather, it was said. The board agreed it had no objection to an out-door telephone installation, preferring a walk-up, open-type cubicle known as a "walk-up" to a closed-type booth, described as "unsightly." The school board was to be so informed.

A communication was also received from Springfield Township Committee recommending that used car lots be classified as a prohibited use in the township. The board determined that such operations are listed as a "special exception use" and there are presently several stop-gaps for the establishment of used car lots in the community. An applicant would have to appear before three municipal bodies, it was pointed out. It was agreed that the letter would be filed with items pending for consideration when the entire zoning ordinance is reviewed for changes and a decision made at that time.

Red Cross Chief Recommends Show

"Hurricane Hannah" will roar onto television screens on the NBC-TV network on December 16th, when Walt Disney's "Wonderful World of Color" presents an exciting one-hour documentary about a hurricane, Mr. Robert Laurencelle, Disaster chairman for the Springfield Red Cross, highly recommends the viewing of this program by local residents. "Realism is rampant," he states, "and for those of us in hurricane prone New Jersey it clearly shows the need to be prepared and the steps to be taken in such a disaster."

"Although not produced by Red Cross," Mr. Laurencelle explained, "the show clearly shows the work of our Red Cross disaster services in the time of hurricane crisis. Disney's camera crews follow real hurricanes by land, air, and sea from Miami, Florida, to the Caribbean Islands, to Central American and into Galveston, Texas. Many of the scenes were shot during Hurricane Carla."

"A uniformed Red Cross volunteer is prominently shown in scenes filmed at a weather bureau briefing covered by WCKT-TV in Miami. As the storm builds, shelters are opened and a Red Cross volunteer is seen when the narration establishes that Red Cross is prepared. After the hurricane slashes into Texas, a Red Cross vehicle is seen splashing up a flooded street into a flooded street as the announcer reports another incident of Red Cross on the job. There are also close-ups of Red Cross volunteers manning a mobile canteen and the appealing faces of the young children they are feeding."

Mr. Laurencelle encourages all to view this highly exciting and informative tele-drama of the birth and death of a hurricane and to observe with pride the work of the Red Cross volunteer in action at the scene of disaster.

Your Library

The Holiday Season is here again, and the Free Public Library in Springfield is arranging exhibits in all of its departments to recognize the festive occasion.

In the Museum Mr. Donald Palmer, Curator has set up an exhibit of old-fashioned children's toys. As usual, Mr. Palmer has written delightful notes about the items that he is showing. These brief descriptions give date and country of origin. Among the most amusing toys are: puzzle tiles from Germany, an English Christmas card of 1880, boy's skates used in 1849, a carpet bag for dolls' clothes in 1870, a sawdust doll and a cast-iron mechanical bank from the 1890's.

To match Mr. Palmer's toy exhibit in the museum, some old-time books are displayed in the hallway on the main floor. Among the old traditional holiday books for children and young people which are still available and read today, are: "Dickens' Christmas Carol" written in 1843; Henry Van Dyke's "The Story of the Other Wise Man" 1896; "Nisby's Christmas" by Jacob A. Riis (dedicated to the Queen of Denmark in 1893); Booth Tarkington's "Beasley's Christmas Party" in 1909; Caldecott and Gaskin illustrated in an old style "A Christmas Book" in 1943, and Washington Irving wrote "Old Christmas" about 1819. Recently the public has taken so much interest in the older books, that many are being reprinted. For the Holidays this year "Mother Goose in Hieroglyphics" first published in 1849, has been republished and will be found with the books listed above.

COLLECTOR--Norman Woolley of Mountainside, owner of Woolley Fuel Company of Maplewood demonstrates how it was done "back when". Mr. Woolley is currently displaying a collection of old parlor stoves in his offices. (Dick Schwartz)

Fuel Company Displaying Collection Of Old Stoves

Approximately, forty years ago, many of the customers of the Woolley Fuel Company, Maplewood, then known as the Woolley Coal Company, used parlor stoves in their homes because of the lack of central heating. It was part of Woolley service in those days to show friends and customers how to derive the most satisfaction and comfort from their coal in these stoves.

These parlor stoves are practically non-existent. Woolley Coal thought having one on display would make an interesting conversation piece for their showroom, which now displays modern 1963 oil heating units. To their great surprise many customers expressed a great interest in this stove. This was a challenge and Norman Woolley, owner, travelled far and wide for these "treasures". His journeys have taken him from Virginia to Vermont. Mr. Woolley now has thirty stoves in his collection some dating back over 150 years.

The Woolley collection is composed of many different makes and designs. All have been repainted and restored to their original condition, and they are in "working order". The latch-string is out and

Art Museum To Give Radio Show

Mr. Woolley would welcome those interested to visit this unusual display at Woolley Fuel Company—office and showroom.

On Tuesday, December 11, at 8:00 p.m., the Montclair Art Museum will present over radio station WFMU 91.1FM—the program "Nineteenth Century American Primitives." Guest for the evening will be Raymond Dey, Curator of the Dey Mansion in Wayne Township.

The re-appraisal of 19th-century portraiture is one of the more recent developments in American art. Although there were, during this period, many artists highly skilled in the "fine art" sense, an even greater number of nineteenth century paintings, particularly portraits, fall into the class today called "American Primitives" and valued by collectors for their inventive linear patterns, their pure, simple colors, and their rich decorative qualities. The development of this genre and its place in the history of American art form the basis of Mr. Dey's remarks. Mr. Dey will be interviewed by Alicia Rahm.

Elegant Wits And Grand Horizontals, by Cornelia Otis Skinner, (Houghton Mifflin $57). A social portrait of Paris in the 1890s, brightly illuminated by some of the extravagant personages of the period. Playwrights, wits, courtisans, poets, sportsmen and lovers jockey for position among the dukes and grandes dames of Parisian society. If a few of the names have lost some of their meaning for the modern reader, the personalities to which they belong are all entertaining — from Robert de Montesquieu, who wore almond-green-tail coats and slept in "an Arabian nightmare of satin cushions," to the Duchess d'Uzes who rode to the hounds at the age of 70. Though the author occasionally strains to turn her phrases into epigrams, she often is very witty in a style appropriate to her extravagant subject matter.

The Kearns exhibit consists of drawings he did to illustrate Selden Rodman's new book BEETHOVEN. Mr. Kearns is a faculty member on the Madison campus of the university, where he teaches sculpture and life-drawing. He is one of the original supporters of the Morris County Art Association.

The Association will hold an opening reception for both exhibitions in the Gallery Lounge on Sunday, December 2, from 2:00 until 5:00 p.m. The exhibitions will remain open to the public until December 28, between the hours of 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. vention of the National Council of Catholic Women held in Detroit, Nov. 3-7. The Theme of the Convention was "The Christian in a Changing World." It was taken from the Bishop's Statement of 1961 "Unchanging Duty in a Changing World." It offered three challenges to Catholic Women groups of the Country. They are Public Morality, Personal Responsibility, and Human Dignity. The Convention compared to the Ecumenical Council where Pope John XXIII said that the Council aims to bring mankind to that "Heavenly city where truth reigns, charity is the law and whose extent is eternity." The Convention told women as public morality to bring Christ's truth in public affairs, Christ's charity in men's hearts brings human dignity and faith in Christ, which extends into eternity, is personal responsibility. They were told that THEY were the church and that all women have the moral obligation to meet these challenges. Mrs. Lamb explained further that the purpose of the District was to unite all Catholic Women's groups and stimulate a consciousness of the social teachings of the Church.

with the Alumni on December 28th. The nineteen game schedule which lists nine home games shows fourteen of them to be Conference affairs.

A new addition to Coach Swedish's strategy for '62-'63 will be the SLAM Offense, an innovation geared to take advantage of Springfield's talented scoring trio of Jack Appar, Dave Bonislawski and Bill Kretzer.

According to Swedish, the S-L-A-M stands for slow or speedy, lots of patience and actions, adjustable and adaptable against any defense, and movement.

Coach Swedish is optimistic and on paper at least it appears that he has every right to feel that way. Of his starting quintet, four are returning lettermen.

At 6'11" and 170 lbs., senior Dave Bonislawski was team high scorer last campaign with 344 markers. Swedish feels Dave will be a great force in determining the success of the club.

Dennis Francis, another upper-classman at 6' and 170 lbs., is another backcourt ace who has proved he has good hands via the soccer field. Dennele pumped in 76 points last year.

Bill Kretzer is only a junior, but must be considered a tried veteran. At 6'6" and 165 lbs., the 'Pole' improves daily and now shows a two hand dunk shot, and is stronger off the boards.

Rounding out the starting Bulldog five will be Keith Neigel, a sophomore who led last year's freshman team to a 10-3 record. Keith has tremendous potential. He stands 6'2" and weighs in at 180 lbs.

A strong bench is also at Swedish's command. Included in this list is Frank Monticello, 6', Bruce Ledig, 6', Jeff Anderson, 6', Steve Berger, 5'11", Gary Faucher, 5'11", Steve Arnold, 5'6", and Jim Lies, 5'7".

Last year the Bulldogs posted a 7 won 12 lost record.

Temple Leaders Continue To Win

The League leading teams of Gary Schuckman, Bob Bornstein, and Jack Zlatin maintained their winning pace to widen their lead in the spirited competition of the Springfield Sharey Shamou bowlers, taking two each last Sunday at the Hi Way Bowl.

Five Are Tied Among Keglers

Temple Beth Ahm Mens Club Bowling League, Springfield, this week found five teams tied for first place, and four teams tied for second position, in a hectic round of bowling at the Hi-Way Bowl Sunday.

Saylor Favors Cards

Picking Group Winner Difficult This Season

By CY JAMES

As this is being written the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association has not made any announcement concerning the selection of its Central Jersey Group 4 football champion.

Based on the Saylor Ratings, which are unofficial but pretty much reflect the current ratings on which the NJSIAA depends in awarding championships, four schools would appear to be in the running for at least a share of the title.

Plainfield (7-1-1) has a rating of 501 points, the highest of any Central Jersey Group 4 contender.

Westfield (7-1-1) has a rating of 481 points, just two more than Westfield (7-1-1). With such a narrow difference in ratings, a four-way co-championship would seem to be in order under ordinary circumstances.

Plainfield, which started the season slowly due to rash of injuries, defeated Jefferson, 19-0, and Westfield, 27-7, in key late season games. The victory over Jefferson helped the Cardinals win the Central Jersey Group 4 Conference championship.

Both teams were at their peak as the season came to a close on Thanksgiving Day and the following Saturday. Plainfield completely outclassed Westfield, running up a 27-0 lead before the Blue Devils, who had been undefeated in 22 games, managed to score.

But the Cardinals' show of strength hardly overshadowed Scotch Plains-Fanwood's performance in manhandling a Clark Regional team that was enjoying its greatest season, had lost only one game, and was led by the boy who was rated by Union County's coaches as the best quarterback in the area.

In a game that it had to win to share the Watching Conference title with Westfield, the Blue Raiders came up with their finest performance of the season in routing the Crusaders, 34-7, in a contest that had loomed close to being even when the teams took the field.

Solomon Undefeated In T. Tennis Loop

Last week's matches in the New Jersey Table Tennis League were very tightly contested and well played as reflected by the team scores. The biggest upset of the night was the decisive win by Ed Gutman of the Union, Sr.s, over state champion John Kilpatrick of Eatontown.

The Union, Jr.s. were held to a 5-5 tie by Jersey City. Raoul Kamel of Jersey City deserves the lions share of the credit for this. He won all three of his matches and made a sensational recovery to win his match with Harvey Gutman after trailing 11-19 in the final game.

14th Week For Church League

The Church Bowling League of Springfield is now entering its 14th week, 13 weeks having played thus far. The team competition is keener resulting in weekly position standings.

Table listing church league bowling standings with names like Mruk, Slaght, Bennett, and teams like Bowlers at 200 and over area.

Chorus At Hall

On Sunday evening, December 9, The Masterwork Chorus and Orchestra under the leadership of David Randolph will present their second New York performance of Handel's 'Messiah' at Carnegie Hall.

Handel's original orchestration will be used, and the entire presentation will be in the spirit and style of the Baroque period in which the music was composed. Soloists and featured performers will be Helen Boatwright, soprano; Marlena Kleiman, mezzo soprano; Walter Blazer, tenor; Andrew Frierion, bass-baritone; Albert Fuller, harpsichord; Matthew Raimondo, solo violin; and Joan E. Metzler, organ.

The next scheduled performance by The Masterwork Chorus and Orchestra is Bach's 'Passion According to St. John,' which will be presented Good Friday evening, April 12, at the new Philharmonic Hall in Lincoln Center.

Plans Underway For Driver Ed. In Kindergarten

Driver education should begin in kindergarten, according to a plan now under preliminary study by the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety, according to C. Stewart Mead, safety and education director of New Jersey Automobile Club (AAA).

The New Jersey Automobile Club pioneered driver education of grade-school children in 1957.

At that time Mead designed and produced, and the Club donated to 600 schools in Essex, Morris and Union counties, a film-strip called "Tommy Takes to Traffic."

Conceived by Charles J. Murphy, traffic safety director of the Auto Club of New York, the proposal was presented to the AAA Foundation trustees, who voted a grant of $10,000 for its further development, Mr. Mead reported.

"Traffic safety education should begin in the kindergarten and should be carried on throughout the child's entire school experience," Mr. Murphy said in his presentation to the AAA Foundation trustees. "Traffic safety education should have a two-fold objective: to make the child a safer child and to have the child become a safer adult."

Mr. Murphy said that in high school driver education courses, the subject of traffic safety has educational substance. However, he added: "In the primary and elementary grades, the subject is either not presented at all, or, if presented, is largely a matter of safety slogans, safety posters and operating programs such as the School Safety Patrols and so on.

"These activities, in many cases, have beneficial results, but it is questioned whether they influence and, therefore, whether they are truly educational in nature."

"The development of exactly the same traffic safety attitudes are essential to the child -- if the child is to be safer in traffic -- as are essential to the adult -- if the adult is to be safer in traffic. For example, if a fourth grade youngster has an understanding of the concept of reaction time, at his level of comprehension,

Dancing "Show-Stopper" State Symphony Feature

A dancer who literally stopped the show at the Bolshoi will be featured artist Saturday, December 15, when the New Jersey Symphony opens its 1962-63 Newark "Pops" Series at 8:30 P.M. at the Mosque Theater, Newark, New Jersey. Lupe Serrano, the American Ballet Theatre's prima ballerina and a sensation during the company's recent Russian tour, will perform the famous black swan and white swan pas de deux from "Swan Lake" as part of a festive Christmas program of ballet and orchestral music.

Miss Serrano's partner will be Scott Douglas of the American Ballet Theatre, and members of the New Jersey Ballet Company will be cygnes.

Kenneth Schermerhorn, the Symphony's new musical director and musical director of the American Ballet Theatre for the past five years, will conduct.

Orchestral music will include a fantasy on Christmas carols by Samuel Barber, the "Overture to Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdinck and other selections to be announced at a later date. The Chitean-born Miss Serrano began her professional dance career in Mexico City, coming to the United States eleven years ago. She has been a member of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and, since 1953, has been with the American Ballet Theatre, excelling in both classical and contemporary roles.

Her dazzling performances in Russia and South America, as well as in the United States, have brought her international acclaim and the personal praise of such ballet stars as Maya Plisetskaya and Galina Ulanova. It was during a recent tour behind the Iron Curtain that Miss Serrano's dancing in "Don Quixote" resulted in such tumultuous applause that she was forced to break a hitherto inflexible rule of her company and give the first encore in the 20-year history of the American Ballet Theatre.

Mr. Douglas is a Texan, who turned to a career in ballet and the modern dance following a tour of service with the U.S. Seabees. He has been premier danseur of the San Francisco Ballet and joined the American Ballet Theatre in 1950.

Two concerts in the New Jersey Symphony's Newark "Pops" series will follow the December 15 performance, with Frank Scocozza of Bloomfield occupying the conductor's podium. Pianist Seymour Bernstein of Millburn will be soloist in a Rachmaninoff Gershwain night on February 2.

Loews State To Show MM-Films

Loew's State Theatre in Newark opens Wednesday, December 5th with two re-issues from MGM.

"Edge of the City" starring John Cassavetes, Sidney Pottier and Kathleen McGuire heads the Bill.

Co-featured is "The World, Flesh and the Devil" with Harry Belafonte, Inger Stevens and Mel Ferrer. The story poses the situation of what could happen if the earth was given a death dealing dose of isotope poisoning, leaving only three survivors in New York City. How these three people react to their fantastic predicament, their attempts to bring order out of chaos, and the manner in which they work out their individual destinies is pictured in a story of spellbinding suspense.

Davis 'Bars' Crawford-In Shocker

Behind the ominously barred windows of their melancholy Hollywood mansion Bette Davis turns her back on Joan Crawford's anguished appeal for release from her macabre persecutions in this stark scene from "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" the surprise-filled Warner Bros. suspense drama at the Strand Theatre, Summit now playing thru Tuesday.

Milburn Features "Boccaccio 70"

Joseph E. Levine, a showman who has won almost as many awards for his enterprising film leadership as the numerous prize-winning motion pictures he has presented on these shores, again proves his dedication to movie-going audiences with an unusual and most provocative three-part film, appropriately entitled "Boccaccio 70." The Eastman Color and Wide Screen Embassy Pictures release now at the Millburn Theatre, Millburn and features the combined talents of stars Sophia Loren, Anita Ekberg and Romy Schneider, and directors Vittorio DeSica, Federico Fellini and Luciano Visconti.

Having been responsible for the highly praised "Two Women," a Carlo Ponti production, Levine conferred with Ponti (Miss Loren's husband) when he learned that the producer had gathered together the talents that now make up "Boccaccio 70." Levine felt that the entertainment packed into this one film would definitely meet with the public's wholehearted approval and enjoyment. Convinced of this, both gentlemen embarked on the co-production of the lavish undertaking.

IF YOU DON'T LIKE THE TASTE OF "HARD LIQUOR"...
TRY THESE PLEASANT-TASTING CORDIALS

OLD Mr. BOSTON
TRIPLE FRUIT
FLAVORED BRANDIES
70 PROOF
Brandy based cordials with the rich color and taste of natural fruit. Blackberry, Apple, Cherry, Peach and Ginger flavors.

To many people, the finest "hard liquors" in the world taste harsh and unpleasant. Some simply wine and bear it. Others drink Old Mr. Boston cordials instead. (We have no axe to grind, for we make all types of liquor.)

The cordials shown here appeal to a great many people because they are, in truth, delicious. You taste natural flavors - real berries, real fruits, real mint and seeds and spices. We prepare each flavor ourselves right from the moment the fresh fruits are picked. The results speak for themselves. Let others swallow their "hard liquor" - while you sip and savor the flavor of these pleasant-tasting cordials.

MR. BOSTON DISTILLER INC., BOSTON, MASS.

SO ENCHANTED THEY HAVE TO BE RESTRAINED. Children try to enter a display interpreting Clement C. Moore's "Night Before Christmas," at The Mall at Short Hills, on the Morris and Essex Turnpike. The display is one of six that show the Christmas classic through the eyes of a small deer.

Kids Enjoy Mall Display

A unique interpretation of Clement C. Moore's "Night Before Christmas" is attracting thrills of delight from children visiting The Mall at Short Hills, on the Morris and Essex Turnpike.

In animated displays placed throughout the "Fifth Avenue" shopping center, six scenes from the Christmas classic are interpreted through the eyes of a small deer, named Waldo, who roams the house to see what's going on.

In Waldo's imagination, all of the characters in the poem, with the exception of St. Nick, are members of the deer family. The displays, which represent two months' work by sculptors, artists, carpenters, and display specialists, are in full color and are weather proof.

Free coloring books with a page for each of the displays are available to children from the merchants on The Mall. Prizes will be awarded to the six children who do the best coloring job.

Sixty-Six Students Now Being Helped

Sixty-six Union Junior College students have some form of financial assistance this semester, Prof. Forrest P. Dexter, Jr., scholarship officer, announced today.

These students hold state or UJC scholarships, have loans under the state or federal programs, or have student employment at the college.

State scholarships are held by 18 students, including 10 sophomores and eight freshmen. Ten other students are recipients of scholarships offered by UJC under funds supplied by individuals, civic groups, and other organizations.

Eighteen students hold loans under the federal National Defense Education Act, while six have loans from area banks under the State program.

A major source of income to help defray tuition and other costs of going to college is part time employment, Prof. Dexter said. A recent survey indicated that more than 75 percent of all UJC students hold part time or fulltime employment, he pointed out.

"The fact that nearly all our students live at home is another important financial consideration. A study made recently by a West Coast educator determined that a two-year community college is worth a $1,000 scholarship to all its students," Prof. Dexter said.

Senator Stamler Asks Cops To Avoid Politics

"Stay out of politics!" That was the plea made by Union County's new state senator, Nelson F. Stamler, to the 49 graduates of the Police Training Academy, Garwood, of the Union County Police Chiefs Association at the 16th annual graduation exercises yesterday (Monday, November 26) at the Cranford.

"Treat all citizens equally regardless of political affiliation," Sen. Stamler said. The new state senator charged that politics is holding up passage of a mandatory police training law and legislation barring county prosecutors from participation in politics. Sen. Stamler also was critical of a high-county police enforcement officer who is president of a local political club. He did not identify the officer.

"This is basically wrong," Sen. Stamler said. Sheriff Ralph Oriscell of Elizabeth told the new policemen to know what is going on politically in their communities. He said this is the only way they can obtain salary increases and other benefits.

Leo A. Cullio, executive secretary of the State Police Training Commission, complimented the Union County Police Chiefs Association on its "good training program." He said the Union County program is among the oldest — if not the oldest — in New Jersey.

Mr. Cullio also called for the enactment of legislation making basic training mandatory for all new police officers in the state.

Jerome Rice of Mountainside, class president, presented a gift to Police Chief Lester W. Poell of Cranford, dean of the academy and chairman of the association's education and training committee.

Other speakers included: Ralph

Bachman, special agent in charge of the Newark Office of the F.B.I.; Prosecutor U. Douglas Sime of Plainfield; and Police Chief James Osnato of Scotch Plains, president of the Union County Police Chiefs Association.

Mayor I. George Casbona welcomed the new police officers and guests to Garwood, Chief Powell, who was toastmaster, presented certificates to the 49 graduates.

This year's program was the first launched under New Jersey's new police training act. The academy was expanded this year from eight to 11 weeks and from 120 to 190 hours of instruction to comply with the new state recommendations on basic Police training. Classes were conducted daily, Monday through Friday, from 1 to 4 p.m. in Union Junior College's Nomahegan Building in Cranford.

The graduates are:

Mountainside — Edward Roeder; and Rice; Roselle — William Grush, John Hopf, Robert Young, and Willie Saunders; Poselle Park — Joseph Roson, and — Paul Vivencio; Scotch Plains — Tomas Culp, and Royal Morelli; Springfield — Samuel Calabrese, Robert Kelleman, and Lowell Hardy; Union Henry Hopkins, Alfred Selmeier, Richard Verich, Paul Hagen, Robert Will, and — Vincent Landoli; Westfield — John McGowan, and Ronald McCracken.
