Committee Approves 32 Units

Springfield Township Committee Tuesday night at its regular meeting in Municipal Building accepted a recommendation of the Board of Adjustment approving the application of Robert F. Downs for the construction of 32 additional motel units on Route 22. The proposal is in conjunction with the Howard Johnson motel area.

Also approved was the recommendation of the Board of Adjustment for a variance to Carmen S. Catapano whereby the applicant will be permitted to alter a building at 27 Linden Avenue.

A recommendation of the Planning Board for the preliminary subdivision of 90 Caldwell at the request of Anthony Di Venuto was also approved.

A resolution was adopted for the establishment of a municipal tercentenary committee in connection with New Jersey's 300th anniversary celebration in 1964. No members were as yet named to the local committee.

Approval was given to the 1963 contract with the Visiting Nurse Association of Eastern Union County whereby public health nursing service is provided to the community. The contract fee for municipal services increased about $71 for the year and for service at St. James School about $100 more.

A request from the Fourth of July Committee for permission to hold the annual celebration on July 4 with the usual contribution of $300 from the township was granted.

February 11 was designated as the date of the next regular meeting instead of February 12, Lincoln's birthday.

A New Look, A New Policy For The Sun

This is your SPRINGFIELD SUN with the new 1963 look!

We have decided to publish your home newspaper in this format -- as a tabloid -- because it makes for easier reading, better layout and presentation, and because our surveys show that this size weekly is most acceptable to subscribers and advertisers.

The policy of the SPRINGFIELD SUN -- as it has been since the present ownership took over -- will reaffirm our credo to make the columns of this newspaper available as a sounding board for news, ideas, programs and plans for the future good of the Township of Springfield.

With this new format we hope to give our readers more feature articles, human interest stories, personal items and news about our people, our schools, our religious institutions, our cultural programs, our industries, our business men.

As a tabloid it will be possible for us to give greater prominence to articles on community activities, clubs, organizations, church suppers, library programs, recreation.

All these will be augmented and made more eye-appealing with pictures -- pages full of 'em. Our new offset printing plant in Morris Avenue has been doing an excellent production job with photographs and we have a very ambitious program of accentuating picture layouts in this new tabloid page size.

In order to achieve all this we need the help of our readers to furnish us with pictures of anything local -- photos of children, of groups, bowling clubs, anniversaries, engagements, weddings -- photos of anything and everything. These will be returned without damage after use in the paper.

There are but a few changes in our policy of handling news with this new format for the SPRINGFIELD SUN.

In the matter of politics -- we, no longer, intend to be the back-fence launching pad for gossip, charges and wild swinging counter charges.

The SPRINGFIELD SUN does not care to participate in any more mud-slinging political campaigns, and eager candidates will have to discover some other method of stimulating the voters.

We shall print only the news -- the facts during political campaigns or any other controversy.

And we shall always be alert, and we reserve the right to comment editorially on any matter affecting the growth and future of Springfield.

THERE IS NO CHARGE FOR PUBLISHING ANYTHING IN THE SPRINGFIELD SUN -- AND NO CHARGE FOR PRINTING PICTURES. So send us your news items -- suggestions for feature articles -- your best snapshots.

Rabbi Levine Will Speak

Rabbi Reuben R. Levine, spiritual leader of Temple Beth Ahm of Springfield, will address the Union County Chapter of the American Jewish Congress on Monday evening, January 28, 1963 at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Robert Starr, 18 Eton Place, Springfield. Mr. Starr, the president of the organization, will serve as Chairman of the proceedings. Rabbi Levine's subject will be, "Synagogue Art and Architecture". The public is invited to attend.

Chamber Elects New Officers

The Springfield Chamber of Commerce recently elected new officers and directors for 1963.

The newly elected officers and directors are, as follows: Mr. Jack Stifelman of Stifelman and Goldfinger C.P.A.'s; President, Mr. Will Salasky, Reinette Youth Center; Vice President, Mr. Joseph Dickie, General Electric Co., Treasurer; Mr. Harvey Schramm, Jersey Central Power & Light Company; Secretary, Mr. Henry Grabarz, Builder; Mr. James Camley, Attorney; Mr.

W. Lewandowski, Jewelers; Mr. Milton Keshon, Beacon Hill; Mr. Max Weiss, Lu-Max Manufacturing Co.; Mr. Vincent Bonadies, Bond Electronics; Mr. William Koorz, Doggett & Pfeil; Mr. G. Goldstein, Sax's Fifth Avenue. With Mr. Saul Freeman, Hyway Tailors, Executive Secretary and Mrs. Ann Ziegler as secretary to Mr. Freeman. If they can accomplish as much this year as they did last it looks like a good year for the Chamber and Springfield.

An outline of a few of the projects the Chamber of Commerce expects to tackle next year was set forth by Mr. Jack Stifelman, President. Mr. Stifelman will bring these to the board of directors for their deliberations at the next regular Board of Directors Meeting. Among the most important projects, is that the Chamber will survey the possibility of a United Fund for Springfield. There have been many complaints on the multiplicity of solicitations throughout town. One of the best methods for alleviating some of the unnecessary requests is through a United Fund. Other complaints are the uncovered trolley tracks on Morris Ave., the lack of lighting in the Industrial areas, and in general a better atmosphere for our Commercial enterprises through self-help, are to be set in motion.

Introduce Ordinance To Ban Handbill Littering

An ordinance to prohibit the distribution, throwing or depositing of handbills and litter on public or private premises in Springfield was introduced at the regular Township Committee meeting Tuesday night in Municipal Building. The measure also forbids the posting of notices, placards, or bills. In addition, it is stipulated in the ordinance that it is unlawful to place any handbill in or upon a motor vehicle and those receiving handbills are forbidden to discard them upon any public or private premises.

The ordinance lists as exemptions newspapers, U.S. mail and non-profit, public service, political, and religious non-commercial handbills. Existing ordinances relating to canvassers, hawkers, peddlers and transient merchants are not affected by the new law.

Violator of any provision of the ordinance shall be punished by a fine of not more than $200 or by imprisonment in the county jail for no more than 30 days.

A public hearing on the proposal will be held February 11 at 8:30 p.m. in Municipal Building.

Two ordinances, one repealing the Shade Tree Commission and the other repealing the Recreation Commission, were adopted on final reading Tuesday night. The ordinances stipulate that all powers, duties, and function of the commissions shall revert back to the Township Committee. The measures also provide that the chairman of the Township Committee under his appointive powers may appoint committees which would be known as the Shade Tree Committee and the Recreation Committee, to be used in an advisory capacity.

Merchant Of The Week

Reinette Youth Center; A Distinctive Operation

Saleskys "Love Living In Town"

By MARY ANN RUBAN

MR. AND MRS. Will Salesky, owners of Reinette Youth Center on Morris Avenue.

Although categorically speaking the Reinette Youth Center might be listed as a children's-wear Specialty Shop, the motif of its operation is somewhat distinct. While catering, in rather complete lines, to infant's-wear, girl's-wear, and boy's-wear to size 18, and selected teen-wear, its popularity is based more on the attitude and policy of its owner than on the image of the store itself. It is not a Saks Fifth Ave. in that it might be termed an exclusive shop. Nor is it a miniature Corvette where price is the outstanding ingredient. It is rather between the two, where predominantly name brand lines enjoy a rather fair price ticket; and just as often an exceptionally low priced ticket and where the range of selection in price and merchandise is outstandingly varied for what may be termed "a local store." Will Salesky for his 36 years has spent 16 of them in retailing (once owning, at the same time, four different stores; he now has two) is very proud of the fact that the outstanding features of his shop are attractive merchandise at the right price and complete acceptance within this area of the store's reliability and satisfaction. Also that the store, for the two years that he has now managed it, has been constantly upgraded in terms of selection and lines. A new feature this Spring, will be an expanded teenage department, catering to a growing Springfield.

The store has an excellent sales staff of friendly local residents, including: Marion Pinkava, who has been with the store since its opening almost eight years ago, Rose Caruso and Will's wife Terry.

If the store is unusual, Will Salesky's background is even more so. Like so many others, circumstance and fate brought an individual with a completely different background into a field alien to his earlier pursuits. Will's schooling and training were originally in the field of education and law. He has a B.A. from Brooklyn College where he was an outstanding debator and scholar, graduating Magna Cum Laude. He is still an honorary member of Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary debating society. He has done graduate work toward a Master's Degree in Education at Columbia University and has two years credits toward an LL.B. at Brooklyn Law School. He has a N.Y. State license to teach English and Government at the High School level.

He and his wife, Terry, a former resident of Valley Stream, L.I., and their son Richard, 7 1/2 years old, and a second grader at James Caldwell, moved to Springfield a little over two years ago, but they love it so, they tell they've been here forever.

Will is extremely active in community affairs. He is the newly elected Vice-President of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce for 1963 and director of its Merchant Division, an honor and responsibility given to one dedicated to and working hard for a strong Chamber of Commerce in Springfield, which he feels is essential to protect the business community of this township. He is confident that Merchant Leadership and co-operation is the only answer to rising competition surrounding Springfield. Will was Publicity Chairman for the 1962 Springfield Boy Scout Fund Drive. He is a member of the P.T.A., Springfield B'nai B'rith and will be installed January 31 as a member of the Springfield Elks.

His wife, Terry, a former student at New York University, studying Pre-Law, whose background includes professional singing and dancing, is also extremely active in various organizations. She is Guardianship Chairman for Springfield Women's American ORT. She is Publicity Chairman and Bulletin Editor for the Springfield Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women, and is active in the P.T.A.

As for the future of Reinette-Terry and Will agree— it is inexorably tied to the growth of Springfield—they wouldn't want it any other way.

To Hear From Candidates At Special Meeting

Residents of Springfield will have the opportunity to see and hear the candidates seeking election to the Board of Education on Monday, January 28, at 8:00 P.M., at the Florence M. Gaudineer School.

The combined Parents-Teacher Associations and the League of Women Voters of Springfield are co-operating in the presentation of this meeting.

Mrs. Russell Hillier, past President of the Springfield Board of Education will be moderator. The candidates for the Springfield Board will each be given the opportunity to make an address, and then answer questions from the audience.

Leadership on local boards of education is of vital interest to all citizens. Only those deeply concerned with educational standards and school needs should be elected to these boards. Membership should be made up of persons with professional and non-professional backgrounds.

The New Jersey Congress of P.T.A.'s suggests the following qualifications for members of local school boards:

1. They should be men and women who hold universal public education in the greatest esteem; who believe that America's future rests primarily on the superior development, physical, mental, moral and spiritual, of all our children and youth.

2. They should work to provide, defend, and support the highest degree of public education which their communities can be persuaded to demand.

3. They should recognize education as a broad, continuing process outside and beyond the generally accepted school curriculum.

4. They should represent the interests of the community at large, rather than any political, social, religious, economic or other special interest or geographical area.

5. They should understand and respect the executive functions of the professional administrator.

6. They should have high standards of personal integrity and maturity and successful accomplishments as American citizens.

7. They should be guided by a broad principle of unity of purpose and subordination of self-interest.

8. They should be sensitive to public opinion and have the moral stamina to take courageous action for the good of the school despite self-interest pressure groups and influence.

9. They should have skill in maintaining effective cooperation with professional staff, and public relations with citizens and community groups, with opportunity for exchange of views.

10. They should recognize that their responsibility is not to run the schools but to see that they are well run.

The P.T.A. and the League of Women Voters urge all Springfield voters to attend "Candidates Night."

The election dates this year have been set for Tuesday, February 5, for the Regional Board of Education, and Wednesday, February 13 for the local Board of Education. There is no vacancy on the Regional Board this year, but the school budgets are included on both board ballots.

History Is At Every Corner In Traveling Through Springfield

THE LAST TEAM of oxen in Springfield - about 1899. They belonged to Claudius L. Baker, who owned a farm on the south-east corner of Westfield (now Mountain) Avenue and Shunpike Road and conducted a milk and cream business. Mr. Baker used the oxen for plowing his fields and occasionally hitched them up to his milk wagon as a publicity stunt. (picture presented to the Springfield Library collection by Mr. Baker)

THE PRESENT QUINZEL BUILDING, as it looked on August 25th, 1907. It was built about 1903 by William Flemer and Albert P. Cain; the latter conducted a real estate and insurance business, as indicated by his name on the sign and windows, and was the predecessor of Bunnell Brothers Inc. The Jeakens and Neumann store was a grocery. Garabrant was followed by Charles Rutkin in the drug business and he, in turn, by Morris Lichtenstein, who later purchased George Merwin Building, the side of which appears to the left of this building, and moved into it. A few years after this picture was made, another section was added to the east end of this building, extending it to Walnut Court, and is now occupied by Ernie Nagel's Park Store. Mr. Cain moved into the new section and his old office was taken over by the Springfield Post Office, which remained at this location until about 1926. In the early 1930's, an extensive alteration job was done on the entire building by a certain Jacob Heinachowitz; the steps up from the sidewalk were eliminated, the store fronts were extended a few feet toward the street, the apartment entrances were changed and an addition to the west end partially closed a driveway which had existed between this and the Lichtenstein Building. The first tenant in the enlarged section at that end was a food market of American Stores, followed by the Taft Cleaners, the present occupant. A one story addition to the rear of the building was occupied for a time by the Springfield Dress Co., and is now part of Ernie Nagel's establishment. (photo by Erwin F. Chamber of Commerce Has Had Progressive Men As Leaders

Henry McMullen

Milton Keshen

Dr. Henry Mulhauser

Morris Lichtenstein

Robert S. Bunnell

Frank Cardinal

By MILTON KESHEN

EDITOR'S NOTE: At the request of the SUN, its former editor and publisher, Milton Keshen has been asked to prepare the following article on the early history of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce to the present day Mr. Keshen, who owns the Beacon Hill Co., local stationers, is still an active member and director of the Chamber.

Since the inception of the Springfield Sun back in 1929, the problems of Morris Avenue traffic, not particularly parking, but the ever moving vehicular flow of thousands of cars through the center of the township during the early morning and late afternoon hours, constantly occupied the minds of local merchants and civic leaders.

In one of its early issues appears a news article that the Springfield Business Men's Association, forerunner of the present Chamber of Commerce, under direction of the late Dr. Watson B. Morris, was discussing the situation with the State Highway Dept. to alleviate the condition.

That year, Route 22 was opened for the first time from the Springfield-Mountainside line to Somerville, although not yet opened to Hillside. The widening of Morris Avenue, from a narrow "turtle back road" to a 4-lane concrete highway, to North Avenue, Elizabeth also prompted some relief.

Traffic volume in 1963 is at least six to seven times heavier than it was 34 years ago, but such local leaders as Dr. Morris, the late "Doc" Morris Lichtenstein and Robert S. Bunnell were active members of the Business Men's Association. They were among the organizers of the National State Bank of Springfield in 1925 with the late Dr. Henry P. Dengler.

"Bob" Bunnell is still actively engaged in business here, as president of Bunnell Brothers, realtors and insurers, and Mr. Lichtenstein was the beloved pharmacist-owner of the Springfield Pharmacy, Morris Avenue, for over 40 years.

During the days of the early 30s came the depression and the Business Men's group quietly faded into inactivity. Not until the late 30s was it reorganized as the Springfield Chamber of Commerce.

The business area of Springfield was contained entirely along Morris Avenue, with a few stores on the outskirts since most of the substantial building development didn't get off the ground until 1939 when the area of Short Hills Avenue near the county Park known as the Behnfield and Kemp tract was opened. In rapid succession, other real estate developments flourished and local merchants and professional men united to revive the Chamber.

Some of the early former Chamber presidents included: Dr. Henry Mulhauser, dentist; James Funcheon, grocer; and Valfred Palmer, builder. In 1943, Frank Cardinal, a long time native resident, became president and served two years until his appointment to the Board of Tax Assessors.

In later years, Mr. Cardinal played a key role in the industrial development of the Brown tract off Route 22, the industrial park on the far side of the same highway, and also in Seven Bridge Road, where such plants exist in Edison Place as A. R. Meeker Company and Fravessi-Lamont Co.

During the Cardinal regime, the Chamber sponsored a meeting at the Legion Hall, in which Robert Poppendieck, head of the English department at Regional High School, acted as moderator. About 150 residents attended at the Chamber's invitation, to "let their hair down" in explaining their shopping habits, favorable or otherwise to local Chamber members. And they did, in a constructive manner, one of the year's highlights which was prompted by its secretary that year, Mrs. Milton Keshen.

Mr. Cardinal was followed by the late George Turk, who took over the presidency and was an active leader. Later Mr. Turk became a member of the Township Committee and was acting postmaster, succeeding the late Otto F. Heinz.

In 1955, Ike Friedman, local hardware operator, became president of the Chamber of Commerce and under his regime were accomplished some of its most successful deeds. Street lighting at Christmas consisted of a few strands of lights widely spread which was improved to somewhat of the variety used today. In 1956, Friedman got the unanimous co-operation of the Township Committee to cover Morris Avenue and other parking meters annually late in December, which won the praises of local and out-of-town shoppers.

Through the action taken in Springfield and still continued, such communities as Verona and South Orange have followed suit. This practice is the envy of many surrounding communities for the co-operation between the Chamber and the Governing Body.

Mr. Friedman, whose brother, Saul Freeman is executive secretary of the Chamber at present (names spelled differently) was able to convince local officials to acquire municipal parking on Morris Avenue and through the efforts of the Chamber, the present Lot No. 1 in Morris Avenue adjacent to Gibson's Diner was realized.

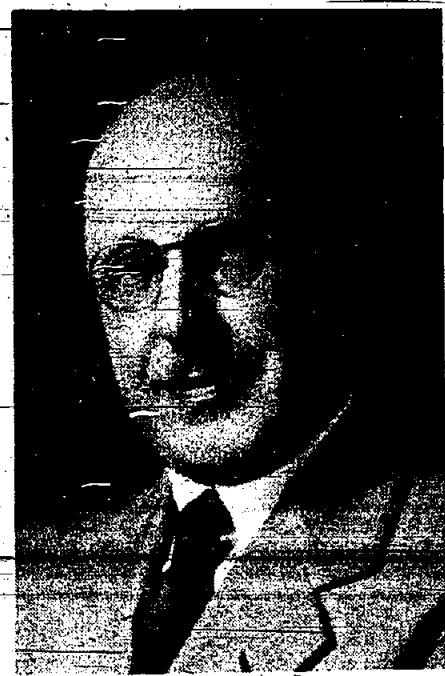

John Grausam, aluminum window distributor, became the next president of the Chamber and played an important part in its further development. After his business moved to Kenilworth, he was obliged to resign.

Soon after, Don Lenny, manager of the Channel Lumber Co., took the presidency and secured the co-operation of industrial membership for the first time on a large scale. He was an energetic leader, and under his regime, the by-laws were amended to increase its trustees from 6 to 12 members which increased the strength of the Board of Directors. The committee which revised the by-laws consisted of: Carl Jehlen, manager of the Baltusrol Golf Club, Judge Felix Forlenza and Mr. Grausam. They were soundly praised by the Chamber for an effective by-laws and constitution which has guided the group well since its adoption.

General meetings to attract wider membership were held at Baltusrol Golf Club and Saks Fifth Avenue store, when such issues as the Route 78 highway occupied top interest. Santa Claus plane trips to the General Greene shopping center and a party for kiddies at the high school were instituted. Through the efforts of Jack Stifelman, publicity chairman, a contest was held to create a slogan for the Chamber's membership plaques, creating wide interest.

Mr. Stifelman, a certified public accountant, became president of the Chamber after Don Lenny transferred from Channel Lumber Co. to their Neptune store. He has been one of the Chamber's most active presi-idents. For many years he favored an annual dinner-dance which will become a reality next month, Friday, February 15 at the Chanticleer, Millburn, open to members and their friends.

For two years after, Drew Morrison of Andrew Wilson, Inc., manufacturers of insecticides, served as president, being one of the first industrial members to occupy the presidency. A long time resident of Springfield he laid the ground work for starting a plan to engage an executive secretary, the post now held by Saul Freeman, and the latter's assistant, Mrs. Ann Ziegler, who also attends meetings of the Board of Directors.

Last year, Henry Grabarz, builder, became president of the Chamber and during his 12-month tenure which ended just a month ago, the increased activity of a paid staff and his untiring efforts sounded sharply in its progress.

Mr. Grabarz was responsible for creating an extensive program of urban renewal to improve the business property on the north side of Morris Avenue, a project which was greeted later unfavorably by the landowners. The plan was endorsed by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, and the Township Committee is carefully studying its plans for future study.

Together with Mr. Stifelman, Max Weiss and Harvey Schramm, Mr. Grabarz served on the Industrial Committee of the Township Committee, coordinating efforts of the Chamber with that body. Its purpose is to promote industrial growth in Springfield.

Such questions in the future as to the industrial trends, effects of Route 78 upon Morris Avenue traffic, parking, urban renewal and many other problems will be matters of study for future Chambers of Commerce regimes, as the community continues to develop at a fast pace.

Traffic Has Always Been Sore Spot With Merchants

Pool Progress

Work towards the establishment of the municipal swimming pool is progressing according to indications at the Springfield Township Committee meeting Tuesday night in Municipal Building.

In conjunction with this effort, a motion was made authorizing Spars Inc. of Livingston to proceed with plans for the work. It was explained that the Livingston concern, to be engaged for a flat fee of $15,000, would develop plans and specifications for the pool, train personnel to staff the pool, and write up operating procedures for the pool. It was pointed out that Spars Inc. consists of an architect, Fred Cook; a professional engineer, Melville Lyman, and a recreation consultant, Robert Sisco. The Livingston concern was chosen from the five architects interviewed for the proposal because it was offering the additional services of personnel training and operational procedures, which the other architects did not offer.

A motion was also made giving approval for the signing of a contract for the purchase of the property from the Robbins concern of Union for $280,000 with five per cent down on the signing of the contract.

Presbyterian Church Has Proud Past; Looks Ahead On 217th Anniversary

The 217th annual congregational and corporation meeting of First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, scheduled for tonight, January 24th, in the parish house re-emphasizes the proud history of the church and the entire township.

In recognition of the observance, the Springfield SUN devoted time to delving into some of the cherished mementos on hand in Springfield Free Public Library and came up with some fine booklets embracing the event. With the co-operation of Miss Helen C. Reyner, library director, it presents here some of the recorded past. Many other historical items are painstakingly preserved by the library curator, Donald Palmer. A visit to the room at the library he maintains can be rewarding.

The early beginning of Springfield and some of the church's history are gleaned from a booklet commemorating the bicentennial of the church organization celebrated in 1945. The Bicentennial Committee acknowledged the services of Warren H. Halsey, James M. Duguid, Henry C. Mc Mullen, George R. Esterly, Clinton Drinkuth, and Irene Lamb in the research for and preparation of material for the brochure. Photographs in the booklet were used through the courtesy of the Newark Sunday Call and taken by H. C. Dorfer, staff photographer.

The booklet includes the historical sermon of the Rev. John C. Hart, given in the church on July 4th, 1840. According to the brochure, the Rev. Henry W. Teller in his famous sermon of July 4th, 1876, drew on the Hart sermon for a large part of his early material. The Teller sermon was published in 1941 in connection with the 150th anniversary of the present building, the brochure states, and the Hart sermon had not heretofore been published until its publication in the bicentennial booklet. It was said to have been copied from the original 44-page manuscript. In the Hart paper a number of locations are identified by the names of nearby residents. The sermon read as follows:

"And ye shall teach them your children, speaking of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up." (Deut. 11:19)

Such was the oft repeated direction given by command of God to the Israelites concerning their institutions and the events of their history. We have a history full of interest and instruction, not lost in the dimness of ages past, but prominently set forth to the light. We have an ancestry of whose origin and deeds we have a right to be proud, and institutions which we are bound to understand, to cherish and to transmit to posterity. It is our duty also to teach them the things that have befallen us and our fathers and the good hand of our God toward us.

It is for this purpose we are assembled in this house of God to tell our children the tales of other days. The time, the anniversary of our nation's birth, is more fitting to this purpose.

It is my design to tell you briefly as I can the local history of this place - and region so far as is necessary to understand it. Most of the facts which I shall relate have been collected from some of our aged inhabitants. You cannot expect anything like a connected history. All I can do is to save from oblivion some facts and anecdotes not elsewhere recorded, and possessing little interest except to ourselves.

The continent of North America was discovered by Cabot, an Italian navigator in the service of England in the year 1497. It was then inhabited only by a few tribes of Indians who roved over the almost interminable forest cultivating a few broken pastures with Indian corn and subsisting by hunting and fishing. No use was made of this discovery till 1584 when a grant of the whole land from Maine to Georgia not inhabited by a Christian people or governed by a Christian prince was made to Sir Walter Raleigh who came over and located at Jamestown in Virginia, a name which he gave to the whole country. Captain Henry Hudson discovered the Hudson River in 1609, soon after which the Dutch made a settlement at the mouth of the river now New York, then called New Amsterdam.

In 1664 the Duke of York, to whom New York and New Jersey had previously been granted by the King of England, granted a title to all the lands between the Hudson and the Delaware rivers to Lord John Berkley and Sir George Carteret for 20 pounds lawful money to be paid in London.

Under this grant, Philip Carteret came out in 1665 with 36 immigrants and arrived at the place now called Elizabethtown, which he named from his brother's wife, Lady Elizabeth Carteret. The whole territory he called Jersey in honor of his brother who defended the island of Jersey very heavily against the long parliament.

At this time there were about 3 houses built in Elizabethtown, the first town settled in the state. These houses were built by another company who claimed title in virtue of a charter granted by an agent of the Duke of York. They had extinguished the Indian claims, having purchased the lands lying between the Passaic and Raritan rivers and extending back twice the length of the breadth, including a large part of Somerset County. This association existed for a long time and more numerous and populous than the other company, and the fact that lands were claimed from titles granted by both gave rise to much litigation and were legally settled. The lawsuits only ceased by time and weariness of parties.

In this company which came from Connecticut and Long Island I notice the names, Crane, Meeker, Whitehead, Woodruff, Bailey and other which are familiar to us. The Township of Elizabeth extended originally as far back as the Passaic and included Rahway, Westfield, Union, the greater part of Springfield and New Providence. Newark was settled in the following year, 1666, by immigrants from New Haven, Guilford, Branford and Milford in Connecticut. It extended back as far as the great mountain called by the Indians Watchung, which is the one back of the Mr. Hand's, so that it included part of the Township of Springfield. Most of the early settlers of this part of New Jersey were from New England, Long Island and Scotland. Bergen County was settled by the Dutch.

The Hackensack Indians opposed the settlers at Newark until they purchased the land from them, but appear generally to have molested them very little. I believe this part of New Jersey was never afflicted with an Indian War. Parties of them were occasionally seen even within the memory of one of our oldest inhabitants and the tradition of his family, but they came in peace. The Indian Missionary Brainerd is said to have preached here on the high ground back of Mr. D. Mulford's and the paper mills in that direction.

At what time the earliest white inhabitants established themselves in Springfield is not certainly known. The earliest accurate date is the year 1717 when the family of the Briants came from Hackensack.

The next authentic date is from a tombstone of Mr. Wm. Stites, an ancestor of the families of that name at present residing here, in the old burying ground dated 1727. Tradition says that in 1717 when Mr. Briant's family came here there were only three houses between Morristown and Elizabethtown. It would seem that the first settlement of this township must be dated somewhere between 1700 and 1717. Among the first settlers - besides those already mentioned - were a family named Whitehead, another of the name Van Winkle and Denham. It would seem that the Northern part of the town was first settled from the fact that the first meeting house and burying ground were situated about half a mile north of the present one near the residence of Mr. Aaron Dean.

Springfield not only belonged to the town but to the parish of Elizabeth and the people used, it is said, to walk from Union, Westfield and Springfield to Elizabethtown to church. From Chatham and New Providence they used sometimes to ride. The church in Westfield was formed 1730 or before and Rahway, Connecticut Farms and New Providence must have been organized about the same time as appears from a by-law of Elizabethtown appointing stray sheep to be sold on the green near the churches in those places.

From a Manuscript found among the papers of Rev. Jacob Vanarsdalen dated May 7, 1763, it appears that the First Congregation of the Presbyterian Church in Springfield was organized by the Presbytery of New York in the year 1745 from the church of Connecticut Farms of which it was a part. In the year 1746 Rev. Timothy Symmes became pastor of this Church in connection with the church at New Providence and continued such until 1750. It may be interesting to some present to know that this Mr. Symmes was grandfather or great-grandfather to the Capt. Symmes whose novel theory of the earth was much celebrated among the curious a few years since. After this the congregation was vacant about 13 years to 1763 when Rev. Nathan Ker a native of Baskingridge was settled who remained 2 years. Mr. Ker was succeeded by the Rev. Jacob Vanarsdalen in 1774, who continued to be pastor of this church till 1801, when he was dismissed. He died in this place in 1803.

The first house of worship was about half a mile north of this built about the year 1746. The second which was built during the revolution was built upon this ground in 1761 or 1762.

But what is the war of the Revolution and why was the church burnt, some of the children may ask.

A revolution is a change of the constitution of government. If the people of the United States should choose a king who should be king for life and his children after him instead of a president that would be a revolution. Or if the people of New Jersey should think themselves ill-treated and refuse to obey the laws of the union and undertake to make all their own laws that would be a revolution and if the people of the United States and Congress should be unwilling to have them make their own laws and refuse to obey the laws of the Union and should undertake to compel them and should send an army to fight them this would be a revolutionary war.

The King of Great Britain claimed all this country as his because it was found by ships sent out by him. Of the people who came over to this country, most of them came from Great Britain and the King and Parliament claimed the right to govern them after they came to this country. They made many laws which the people did not like and said they had no right to make.

One of the Governors of New Jersey sent out by the King of England prohibited any minister from preaching the gospel except by his special permission except the Episcopalians. They laid taxes without the consent of the people, laid a duty on tea, under a law that no one should write any deed, will or any other instrument of business except on stamped paper, which stamps they were compelled to pay for. The paper was no better for it was only a way of getting money from the people and many other such laws were made (to get money from the people) without their consent. The Americans said they had no right to make any such laws or take any money from them or lay any taxes on them without their own consent. They refused to pay and the people of Boston threw some tea into the sea. The King then sent over an army of men to compel them to pay...they continued for a while, the king and parliament striving to lay taxes on the Americans and the Americans resisting them till they became very much exasperated on both sides. The soldiers sent out by the King began to kill the people and the people to fight and kill them and in this way the war began. The King sent out more soldiers and the people enlisted and formed an army on the other side.

The people sent representatives (to) consult what was to be done in the emergency. They met at Philadelphia and this was called Congress. The King and government of England seemed more and more determined to subdue them and to make no accommodation. The congress then determined that they never would submit to Great Britain, that they would not any

Board Adopts School Budget

Springfield Board of Education Tuesday, January 15, in Caldwell School adopted the 1963-64 school budget of $1,547,550, which represents an increase of $110,554.40 over last year.

The amount to be raised by taxation is $1,309,281.28 or approximately $134,000 more than last year's figure. It is estimated that the budget will cause an approximate 16 point tax increase over last year.

State Aid for the 1963-64 budget is estimated at $143,645. Total average daily enrollment is set at 2,300 as compared to 2,250 in the 1962-63 budget.

The budget provides for increased number in personnel, an improvement in the salary guide, and the natural progression of the teachers in the guide. The employment of about four extra teachers is contemplated for the additional 50 pupils anticipated in the next school year. Provision of $32,000 in a special recognition award fund for retired teachers has also been made. In addition $33,000 is also included for the renovation program at Caldwell School and the expansion of the parking area planned at Sandmeier School. A sum has also been established for the improvement of the libraries in the school system.

The budget expenditure to be considered by the voters in the February 13 school election will be $1,081,757 for current expense and $49,846 for capital outlay.

At the meeting, the budget was presented by Board Member Joseph Bender in the absence of Frank Haydu, chairman of the finance committee.

A maternity leave of absence was granted to Mrs. Frances Welch, a teacher, effective January 31, and approval was given to the employment of Mrs. Marie Olivieri of Madison as a new teacher, effective January 21. Miss May Gibson Smith of 70 Troy Drive, Springfield, was added to the substitute list.

Board Members John Gacos, Frank Haydu, and Mrs. Sonya Dorsky were named to a committee to plan for the annual dinner to welcome the new board members after the election.

Mayor Arthur Falkin attended the meeting and conferred with the board on various matters under consideration including additional sidewalk installations, crossing guards, obscene literature, and traffic improvement.

Local Girl Scouts Will Take Orders For Sale

On January 26, Girl Scouts of this community and throughout the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council area will begin taking orders for Girl Scout cookies. The order-taking will continue through February 2 and deliveries will be made between March 6 and March 18.

Chairmen, leaders and girls have received the information and materials; however, all girls are on "their honor" not to start taking orders until 9:00 the morning of the 26th.

Priced at 50¢ per box, on sale will be four-flavored sandwich cremes, chocolate and vanilla, Scot-teas, Chocolate Mints and Savannahs. The profits derived from the sale enable troops to expand their program as they earn 5¢ on each box. The balance of the profits are used by the council for operating expenses and camp development.

With the council now in the process of a $141,000 initial re-development program at Girl Scout Camp Lou Henry Hoover, an extended effort is being made by all Scouts to go over their 300,000 box record of 1962.

A highlight of the 1963 Cookie

Sale will be the service offered by the Senior Girl Scouts. On Saturday, January 26, 113 Seniors will represent the Council at six retail establishments in the area. These stores include Teppers of Plainfield, Goerkes of Elizabeth and Plainfield, Clara Louise of Westfield, Levy Bros. of Elizabeth and Bambergers of Plainfield. The Seniors will assist clerks in the stores, answering questions about Girl Scouting and the Council. There will be booths at each of the stores where girls will sell cookies directly to the customer. The Annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale is the only Council-wide product sale held during the year. Upon its success is dependent expanded camping facilities for the Girl Scouts of this area. It is an opportunity for troops to help their own treasuries, to help defray the operating expenses of the Council and to aid in developing and maintaining camping.

The Washington Rock Girl Scout Council is a member agency of the United Fund.

Dedication

A service of dedication of pledges for offerings of services and monies will be incorporated in the Worship Service at 9:30 and 10:45 a.m. Jan. 27 at St. John's Lutheran Church in Summit.

Chamber Lists Year's Accomplishments

In a prepared article for this week's SUN the Springfield Chamber of Commerce gave the following report of the Chamber's progress over the year, 1962. The statement follows:

"Our revitalized Springfield Chamber of Commerce made outstanding progress this past year in all phases of its activities. The 1962 board of directors, Mr. Henry Grabarz, builder, president; Mr. Jack Stifelman, of Stifelman & Goldfinger C.P.A.'s, Vice President, Mr. Joseph Dickie, General Electric Co., Treasurer; Mr. Carl Becker, Crestmont Savings, Secretary; Mr. Henry McMullen, attorney; Mr. James Cawley, Attorney, Mr. W. Lewandowski, Jewelers; Mr. Milton Keshon, Beacon Hill; Mr. Drew Morrison, Andrew Wilson Co.; Mr. Harvey Schramm, Jersey-Central Power & Light Company; Mr. Max Weiss, Lu-Max Manufacturing; Will Salesky, Reinette Youth Center, are to be highly commended for a job well done. Now, just what did they do. Well, let's take a look. Since the Chamber of Commerce is divided into three divisions, let's take one at a time.

"First, the Industrial Division chaired by Max Weiss. Their year began on March 31, 1963 at the Springfield Steak House where the Industrial Division was host to all the industrialists in town. It turned out to be a most gratifying success owing to the large turn-out. The Industrial Committee is now planning another for February 7th, 1963 and they will have the exceptional good fortune to have the Honorable Nelson Stamler, State Senator, for their speaker. The Industrial Division in concert with the Mayor's Industrial Committee participated in the Union County Fair. Although it was felt this was a worthwhile experience, the consensus of opinion was, by those who manned the booth, the time and effort might have been better spent.

"The brightest star in the year was the brochure that was just printed and is now being distributed. The Chamber of Commerce with four Board of Directors on the Mayor's Industrial Committee, was instrumental in its inception and supplied

Deborah Meets

Mrs. Robert Feld, Membership VP reported 19 new members have joined the chapter since Sept. A membership tea is being planned for the spring.

Suburban Deborah's Donor Dinner will be held April 2 at Goldman's. Mrs. Jerry Blum is in charge of Donor. Theme for the evening is "Hats Off to Deborah."

Mother's Night will be held May 21 at the Chanticleer. Mrs. Sanford Resnick is Chairman of this affair. In charge of reservations are Mrs. Ira Rose and Mrs. George Bernstein.

Mrs. Morton Goldberg Ways and Means VP reported Suburban Deborah's Theatre Party was such a great financial and social success, another party is being planned for April. A children's movie will also be sponsored by the chapter, Feb. 22.

The regular meeting of Suburban Deborah is Jan. 22, 8:30 pm, Beth Ahm Temple, Springfield.

much in the theme and basic format. All the members of both bodies and the Town fathers are well pleased with the product and feel the printing by the Springfield Sun was an excellent job.

"The Commercial Division of the Chamber of Commerce under the chairmanship of Will Salesky had a bubbling and in most respects a very successful year. They have perhaps the most difficult path to follow, since it's strewn with the problems of organizing very busy merchants, men, who have a multitude of diverse and pressing problems. Further, the attitude, inactivity, and stagnation that can settle on an area when problems such as parking, modernization and customers who are lost to the encroachment of the new shopping centers, have to be borne. They are lifting their heads slowly but surely with programs like the two very successful, "Sales Day Shoppers" and the proposed parking facilities to the rear of Northern Morris Avenue. One part of their program, the Christmas lights, is now up for some basic revisions and although underwritten by the Chamber of Commerce was not fully successful due to the poor funding by those merchants that receive the most benefit. The Commercial Division has made some new years resolutions which as time goes by will have a great impact on our commercial community. There are going to be some changes made.

"The Professional Division intrinsically is perhaps the weakest division in the Chamber of Commerce. But, with the 1st Annual Dinner-Dance of the Chamber of Commerce coming up on Friday, February 15, 1963 chaired by Jack Stifelman, it's sure to be a giant.

"Throughout all of last year the chamber as a whole was busy in many ways that are not obvious or that will only come to bear the fruits of their labors in months or years to come. The chamber had for instance some hand in such projects, as the bypass road from Hillside Avenue into the Brown tract, which they are sure has prevented many accidents so far. They were instrumental in focusing attention and generating activity on the parking problem on Morris Avenue by their proposal for an Urban renewal project. This promulgated the present thinking for an access road through Fidler's old Dry Cleaning establishment into all the available but unused parking area to the rear of the stores on the northern side of Morris Avenue. Then with a possible exit somewhere near Caldwell Place, signs which will let people know they are entering Springfield, New Jersey are being prepared and they will be placed at all entrances to town. The chamber was very ably represented by Mr. Saul Freeman as executive secretary and Mrs. Ann Ziegler as secretary to Mr. Freeman. We were also fortunate to have Mr. Paul Steck of Paul C. Steck Inc. a new member of the chamber, give a talk at the last annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at Sax Fifth Avenue held on January 16, 1963 on "Telstar". His company was involved very deeply in the actual fabricating of the structural portion. We also saw a movie of the life of the "Telstar" while on earth; and it's amazing performance while in space.

"This sums up for the most part the activities of the Chamber of Commerce for 1962. Well, if you thought that was progress, just wait, because this year, 1963, the start that was made last year is going to blossom into an expanding, purposeful program, managed by dedicated people whose credo is doing all in it's power to foster the best for all of Springfield."

'March' Head Feels Much To Be Done

Jay Bloom, this year's Chairman of the Springfield March of Dimes had this statement to make to the SUN earlier in the week, concerning the 'March':

"It is very unfortunate that the greatest accomplishment of any modern charity should prove to be that charity's greatest handicap. A typical response to supplications for help or money on the behalf of the March of Dimes is, 'What for? Polio is licked.' Polio is not licked, much work remains to be done, but it is under control. But Polio is under control because, since 1942, your dollars, contributed to the March of Dimes, supported the work of Doctor Jonas Salk.

"The National Foundation has now turned its sights on different maladies and cripples of children: Birth Defects, which affect 250,000 infants each year, and Arthritis, the nation's number one crippler. In undertaking these areas of medical research and care, the National Foundation is assuming a task ten times larger and ten times more difficult than the one it assumed twenty five years ago. The March of Dimes desperately needs your help.

"I am pleased to acknowledge the eager assistance already given by the following people: Janet Lawit, chairwomen of the Mother's March, will take place on January 31, 1963. Howard Rosenbaum, a local chiropractor and Kenneth Lancaster, of Lancaster Electric, Co-chairmen of the Merchants and Industrial Committee and Franklin Schoner, Administrative Assistant of the Springfield Branch of the National State Bank of Elizabeth, as treasurer.

"The special need that now confronts the Springfield March of Dimes is for volunteer Mothers to give us one evening of their time -- the evening of January 31st. People are willing and eager to contribute providing we have the Mothers to March.

To volunteer please call Janet Lawit at DR 6-4526 or any of the following district leaders, Mrs. Ed Logan, Mrs. Willy Salesky, Mrs. Henry S. Wright, Mrs. Bernard Schwartz or Mrs. S.E. Bloom."

Regional Sees Low Tax Rate

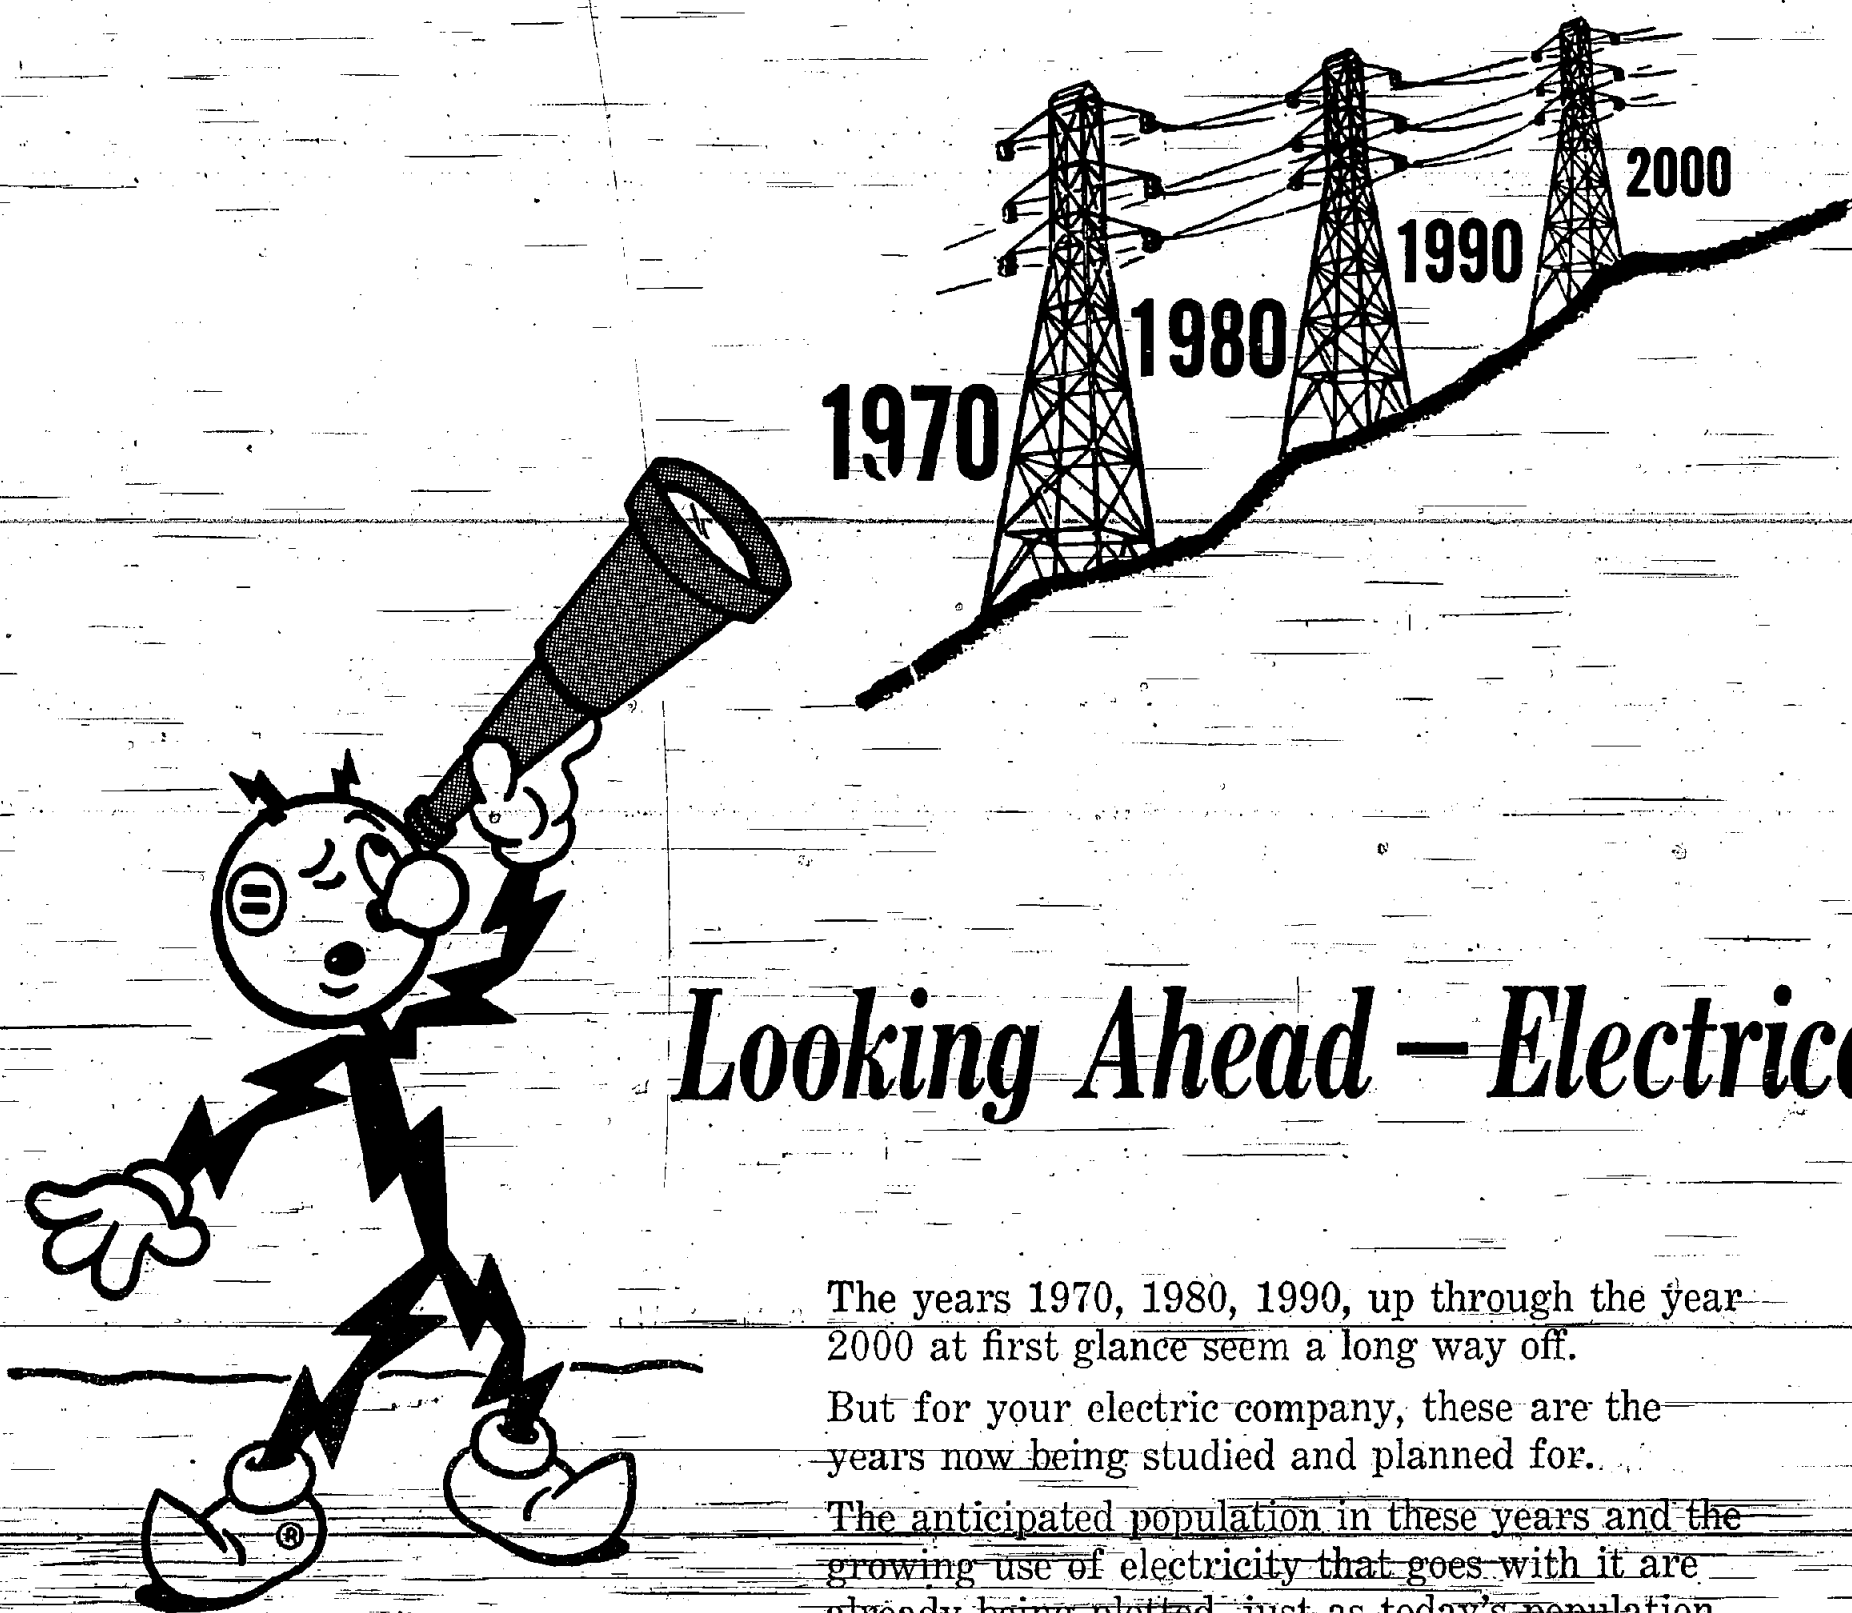

A lowered tax rate for Regional purposes in each of the six communities of which the Union County Regional district is composed was forecast for the fiscal 1963-1964 year by Mr. F. J. Stefany, auditor for the Board.

The budget, approved unanimously by the Board at a public hearing on January 15 reflects the increased enrollment, a figure which will grow by ten per cent next year. Present enrollment, a little over four thousand, will jump next year to at least 4475, and probably nearer to 4500.

The grand total budget stands at $3,705,751 as compared with the current year's figure of $3,536,331. This represents a little less than a five per cent increase as between years on the grand total. Omitting one non-recurring item from the 1962-63 grand total, namely the purchase of land in Kenilworth, the increase as between the years is somewhat less than nine per cent.

The total amount to be raised by taxation for the 1963-64 year is $3,147,296, a figure which is up only $45,613 from the current year. With this small increase, tax rates for Regional purposes will be decreased in the constituent districts, Mr. Stefany computes, by approximately the following number of points: Berkeley Heights - 6, Garwood - 29, Kenilworth - 7, Mountain-side - 1, Springfield - 10. It is not possible to compute Clark's millage rate at this time due to the complete reassessment program

Looking Ahead - Electrically

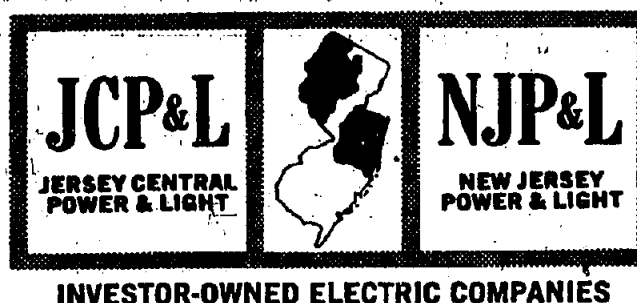

The years 1970, 1980, 1990, up through the year 2000 at first glance seem a long way off.

But for your electric company, these are the years now being studied and planned for.

The anticipated population in these years and the growing use of electricity that goes with it are already being plotted, just as today's population and the present use of electricity were being studied and planned 10, 15 and even 20 years ago.

The successful result of this farsighted planning by your electric company and the entire electric industry is evidenced by the fact that New Jersey and the nation has all the low-cost electric power it needs.

An adequate supply of electric power for tomorrow's needs will depend upon the planning which is being done today.

Annual Cookie Sales are important for the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council as well as for the troop budgeting program. The profit to the Council on each box of cookies is needed for operating expenses and for Camp Development. The development of Camp Lou Henry Hoover this year is possible because of successful Cookie Sales in the past. And plans for further development are dependent on the success of this and future cookie sales. With all our Springfield Residents, Scouts and Friends cooperating, our 1963 sale will be a great success!

The Brownies are looking forward to their trip to the Bury Biscuit Corporation on February 22, 1963. They will see the actual "making" of these Girl Scout cookies.

Dance Picks Up Steam

The Chamber of Commerce Dinner-Dance invitations have just gone out. Mr. Jack Stifelman, Chairman of this committee and newly elected President of the Chamber, remarked that great interest has already been generated just from the announcement of the Ball. So you folks who are in our Industrial, Commercial and Professional community, don't tarry when that very attractive invitation is dropped in the mail slot by the postman. A preview of the arrangements are as follows: All members of our business community will receive invitations, whether Chamber of Commerce members or not. The recipients are to make up a party of friends and neighbors. Upon returning the enclosed reservation card with their checks they will have a table set aside for their parties at the Chanticleer. There will be a very short program including a few remarks by our new Mayor, The Honorable Arthur Falkin. Then dinner is to be served with a choice of Roast Beef or Seafood-Newburg in the manner as only the Chanticleer can serve. As the evening proceeds the broad repertoire of an excellent band will have you dancing until midnight.

There, other than a few little surprises, is an idea of what to expect February 15, 1963, at the Springfield Chamber of Commerce 1st Annual Dinner Dance.

Red Cross Asks For Few Hours

"Can she bake a cherry pie" goes the songs refrain, and your Springfield Red Cross asks the same question. Can you bake a cake, fix a pot of coffee, or serve tea and cookies? Can you give a couple of hours of your time two or three times a year or once a month to help another?

The Canteen Committee of the Springfield Red Cross urgently needs volunteers to help in its important morale work. The Canteen bakes individual cakes to take to patients at the East Orange Veterans Administration hospital to celebrate their birthdays. It helps to make the patient's day a little more special and lifts their spirits in the knowledge that they are not forgotten. Many of these service men and women have been hospitalized for years and are far from home and their friends and relatives.

Two or three times a year the Springfield Canteen gives a tea at the hospital to add a divergence and some gaiety to the hospital routine. These services let the veterans know that their sacrifices have not been forgotten. Won't you volunteer to join those helping to spread this cheer, to bake a cake or serve tea?

The Canteen also stands by to have coffee and refreshment ready in emergencies for our firemen and police working at large fires and disasters. The Canteen further serves those who donate blood at the Springfield Bloodmobile visit each Spring and Fall. Mrs. Florence Nye is chairman of this aspect of the Canteen Work.

The Mass Feeding core of the Red Cross Canteen under Mrs. R. R. Couch is prepared for serious emergencies and disasters and participates in feeding all participants in the Civil Defense exercises.

Call Red Cross headquarters today at DR 6-1676 to volunteer to help the work of your Springfield Red Cross Canteen. Sign up to help with the birthday parties, teas, Bloodmobile, or Mass Feeding. Designate the hours you can give. Share a few hours from your schedule to bring cheer and old fashioned neighborly concern to others.

DO YOU KNOW...

NEW JERSEY has 15,000 farms with the highest gross income per acre in the United States!

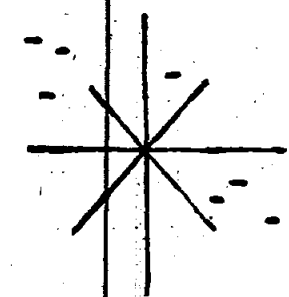

Agriculture is a 310-million-dollar-a-year industry in New Jersey and utilizes 29% of the State's land area. The poultry industry leads the way with nearly two billion eggs per year hatched on Jersey farms. There are 140,000 head of dairy cattle in the state producing about 540,000,000 quarts of milk each year. New Jersey farmers grow 50 different kinds of garden vegetables and about 50 establishments operate each season in processing fruits and vegetables. Several of these canning and food-freezing facilities are among the largest in the world.

The farming industry is an important part of New Jersey's economy and keeps our State "green". Buy New Jersey farm products when you go marketing and help our Garden State prosper and grow.

Library Figures Are Released

The total circulation of Springfield Free Public Library during 1962 amounted to 155,808 volumes according to figures just released by Miss Helen C. Reyner, Library Director.

1. A total of 4,202 books were added during last year, which is a boost over 1961 when the stock was increased by 3,940 books. Some 597 books were discarded during 1962.

2. A total of 33 story hours were conducted with an attendance of 731 pre-school children participating during the year.

The sum of $3,831.35 was collected during the year including $2,623.08 in the payment of fines.

Circulation was as follows: 3. Adult 50,624 as compared to 49,085 in 1961; juvenile, 41,980 as compared to 41,793; school circulation, 54,837 as compared to 53,915 in 1961; magazines, pamphlets, and clippings, 2,104 as compared to 2,670 in 1961.

Total applications during 1962 amounted to 1,660 distributed as follows: new adult, 567; new juvenile, 411; adult renewals, 469, and juvenile renewals, 213.

Books added during 1962 were in the following categories: adult, 2,602; juvenile and youth, 1,378, and reference, 222.

4. Gifts from forty-three were received during last year. The total number registered at the library is 6,034 persons. A decrease is shown in the number of books borrowed from Trenton with 140 books borrowed in 1962 as compared to 228 borrowed in 1961.

The library was open three additional days last year. Days open in 1961 amounted to 289 and days open in 1962 amounted to 292.

To encourage co-operation among the Free Public Libraries throughout the county, the Union county directors meet every two months. Miss Reyner, Mrs. Helen C. Francis, and Mrs. Ben Paul Yuckman attended such a meeting Thursday, January 17, in the Fanwood library. They represented the Springfield library at the meeting.

Dr. King Draws Crowd

The magic of Dr. Martin Luther King's name, and the interest in his cause, brought an overflow crowd to last Friday evening's regular services at the Temple Shalom in Springfield.

Dr. King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, is on a lecture tour on behalf of the organization, and his coming to Springfield attracted such a large audience that the doors had to be closed shortly after 8 o'clock and hundreds were turned away. The crowd lined the walls and the standing-room-only area in the rear of the auditorium was filled to capacity.

Dr. King's message delivered as the sermon for Friday evening's services traced the history of segregation and the part being played by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in the "attempt to eliminate the evil."

He emphasized the importance of the "non-violence in achieving results" and stated that "we will not fight to retaliate. We are against both black or white supremacy."

Dr. King, only 34, has been a national figure since 1955 when he became a leader of the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott as part of the well organized "massive resistance" program conducted by the Southern Leadership Conference against segregation.

Color Film At Museum

"The Magic of Sulphur," a color sound film will be shown at The Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, on Sunday, January 27, at 3:00 p.m.

The film shows the use of this element, first by primitive man as a mysterious powder for fending off evil spirits, next as a medicine by ancient Egyptians, later for use in the flaming weapons of the Romans, then in the manufacture of the first gunpowder by the Chinese, and finally in modern times, as an important element in industry.

Jr. Reviewers Plan Meeting

The Junior Reviewers of the Springfield Public Library will hold their fifth meeting in the library on Saturday, January 26, at 9:15 a.m. At that time this group of fifth grade youngsters will select books on either the lives of composers or stories of the operas. Then at the following meeting members will present reviews of the books they read, and record selections from the composers chosen will be played.

The following reviews chosen at the previous meeting and which were particularly outstanding were written by students attending Sandmeier, St. James, Walton and Caldwell schools.

Sandmeier School — Danny Weiss. "The name of the book I read was 'What Does a Secret Service Agent Do.' It was written by Wayne Hyde.

"This book tells about the tests and special training an agent must take in order to qualify for the job. In the book they show two pictures, these are examples of tests used to develop and test the agents memory. Each man who tries to become an agent must be an expert marksman. He must also be able to defend himself. Each agent takes a series of tests given by the government, if they pass the test, they must then go through special training. Those men who successfully finish this series of tests become Secret Service Agents. Their job is mainly to protect the president. They do other things like finding and arresting counterfeiters and other criminals.

"Wayne Hyde was able to write this book well because he worked closely with agents to prepare for the writing of this book."

St. James School — Kathleen Johnson. "Seeing Fingers. The Story of Louis Braille by Etta DeGering.

"Some people think it was a man who devised the system of reading and writing for the blind.

Well it really wasn't. It was a boy. He was a small French boy named Louis Braille. Here is the story.

"One day, three and a half year old Louis decided to make a harness of his own in his father's harness-making shop. He blinded himself with a sharp awl. He then created his problem of reading and writing. He was sent away to a school for the blind and granted his parents their greatest wish for him to be a Professor. His father died, but died happy, for his wish was granted. Then, at last, Louis created a new reading and writing system for the blind. It was the 'Six embossed dots' system. Later it would be called Braille in honor of its inventor. Now there could be many books for the blind if it was expected. He tried it on the blind children and they just loved it. They said they could learn it in a half hour.

"Criticism. This is a very heartwarming story. It tells all about Louis's life, his family, and friends. I like it very very much. I hope you will read it too. I am sure you will enjoy it as much as I did. It was illustrated by Emil Weiss."

Walton School — Robert Sternbach. "Lou Gehrig by Guernsey Van Riper Jr.

"This book starts off by telling about a Christmas when Lou received a catcher's mitt. Lou was too young to play ball but they let him play when they say his mitt. Later it tells about when Lou was in high school and he made the baseball team.

Industrial Group Is Sworn In

The Mayors Industrial Committee was sworn in by the Township Clerk Mrs. Eleanore H. Worthington on January 17, 1963. At this organizational meeting for the 1963 Committee Mr. Seymour Cohen was elected Chairman again this year. The Committee as one felt they should continue in the same progressive pattern as last year.

The Committee at this time takes pride in the announcement that the Industrial Brochure has been completed and is now being distributed to our interested industrial community. They are also being sent to Industrial Realtors within a one hundred mile radius. Copies of the brochure will be available for interested parties at the offices of the Industrial Committee at the Springfield Township Hall.

With all praise due the Industrial Committee, and the Chamber of Commerce for their assistance, in this project, let us not forget the work done in assembling and printing the brochure, the Springfield Sun.

The program for 1963 will include other types of advertisement of our Industrial areas, a meeting of all industrialists is to be arranged, and high on the list is an exposition of the products and services of our Industrial members of the Community.

A large portion of the Committee's time will be spent trying to solve some of the problems and complaints that have arisen and will arise. Some that have come up are excessive parking on both sides of Fadam Road just off Route #22 and some way to alleviate the traffic problem for entering and exiting from Fadam Road during rush hours.

It was decided that meetings other than those called specially would be held on the first Wednesday of each month at 8:30 P.M. This makes the next meeting on February 6th 1963.

There is no doubt that if as much progress can be shown in this coming year as was accomplished in the last, the industrial areas of Springfield will become a haven for an industrial complex that we can be proud of.

Dear Editor

Letter On "Dog House"

At Paper Mill

Robert J. Reed
38 Henshaw Avenue
Springfield, N.J.

Editor
Springfield Sun
Springfield, N.J.
Re: "Mr. Zucker's Dog House"
Dear Sir:

As a resident of Henshaw Avenue near Mountain Avenue I was happy to see that a luncheonette was going to open on the corner. This establishment should be welcomed by most of the residents of the area since it would take some of the people who gather at this corner daily at noon to eat their lunches, and put them indoors where they would not litter the area.

The establishment that provides the "lunches" for those people who litter the area, may not fit the legal definition of a luncheonette, but it serves the same function, and is allowed to function as such even though many of the residents of the area have complained about the litter on the streets. The owners of this establishment, which prepares lunches but is not a luncheonette, were recently granted a variance to the residential area zoning ordinance over the objections of residents of the area.

The owners of the "Dog House," however, will most likely find it difficult, if not impossible, to obtain the variance necessary to compete with this "non-luncheonette" even though it would be an asset to the area.

Our objective and impartial township committee, which seems to have granted variances so freely in the past, will, I'm sure, examine this case "Objectively" and then decide against Mr. Zucker.

Very truly yours,
Robert J. Reed

JACQUELINE KENNEDY'S Asian Journey

Mrs. Seymour Marder of Springfield, Anti-Defamation League chairman of B'nai Brith Women, Springfield Chapter, indicated that playwright Dore Schary has been named chairman of the 50th anniversary observance of B'nai Brith's Anti-Defamation League, popularly known as the ADL. And former Senator Herbert H. Lehman, an honorary vice-chairman of the league, was made honorary chairman, she added.

A major event of the observance year, which started this month, will be the presentation of the League's America's Democratic Legacy Award to President John F. Kennedy at a dinner to be held in Washington, D. C. next Thursday, January 31. The coveted League award, presented annually since 1948 in the form of a silver medallion, for "distinguished contributions to the enrichment of our democratic heritage," has previously been given to former President Truman and Eisenhower, Eleanor Roosevelt, Adlai Stevenson and Herbert Lehman.

Other events planned throughout this year under Mr. Schary's chairmanship are a variety of institutes and forums on problems of American democracy and anti-Semitism as well as an extensive book-publishing program; all this, in addition to the ADL's usual day-to-day activities carried on for the past 50 years: fighting bigotry, teaching democracy, serving as a "spokesman for equality and justice" throughout the United States.

Said B'nai Brith local ADL chairman, "Dinner with the President will not be a private affair. It will highlight the four-day annual ADL Commission meeting from Jan. 30 to Feb. 2. It will feature an address by President Kennedy and it will not be an event in which only a few high-echelon luminaries in the nation's capital will participate."

"Dining with Mr. Kennedy," she continued, "watching as he is presented with B'nai Brith's ADL award, and hearing him speak on a one-hour CBS network telecast (Jan. 31 at 10 p.m.) which will include American music on the themes of the nation's progress toward democracy, will be thousands of B'nai Brith Women members gathered for 'viewing parties' across the nation. Local Chapters are arranging for group viewing of the televised program to be followed by informal discussion periods in each of the homes. ADL plays an important role in B'nai Brith Women Chapter life. To watch the televised event will give each member an opportunity to share even more in ADL's progress toward worthy objectives."

Prospective B'nai Brith Women members will be invited to the group-viewing parties for "here is a marvelous way for them to see the broad and meaningful scope of our B'nai Brith Women program," the ADL chairman concluded. The gala dinner affair, at which prominent U.S. officials and top ranking B'nai Brith and B'nai Brith Women leaders will be present, will focus attention on ADL's plans for its observance year against the half-century background of achievement.

When the United States entered World War II, ADL was called on to provide extensive data on fascist-type activity in our country. Used by the FBI and other government agencies, the ADL material helped to curb subversive incidents and sabotage of American interests. With the war's end came ADL's decision to parallel its study of anti-democratic, extremist activity with programs to combat discrimination in employment, housing and education. At the same time, it pioneered in the field of intergroup and human relations education.

Concerning the work and service of B'nai Brith Anti-Defamation League, three U. S. Presidents have said:

"As a spokesman for equality and justice, and as a guardian of democratic rights, the Anti-Defamation League is making important contributions to the enhancement of our democracy." John F. Kennedy.

"By educating our citizens to overcome the evils of prejudice, nurturing the roots of freedom, you have helped to make our land a better place to live in." Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"Your definition of America's democratic legacy is admirable." - Harry S. Truman. - It all started in 1913 when a Bloomington, Indiana, lawyer named Sigmund Livingston persuaded B'nai Brith to establish an Anti-Defamation League. With Livingston as chairman and Leon S. Lewis as secretary, ADL opened headquarters at two desks in Livingston's Chicago law office. It was the first sectarian organization (in the words of its original charter) to devote itself "to secure justice and fair treatment to all citizens alike." Its very first job: to fight caricatures and stereotypes of Jews in vaudeville, the movies and newspapers.

Paul Van Ness Reports On Trip

more obey their laws. This was called the Declaration of Independence, they they would be free from their control and government and independent of their protection, that they had a right to choose for themselves and that they were and of fight pught to be free and independent. This was done on the 4th of July, 1776, just 64 years ago today.

The King and Parliament did not like this. They sent out troops hired from Hesse in Germany called Hessians to come and fight the Americans, kill some and subdue the rest. This was called the revolutionary war.

You will remember that the first object of an enemy when they come into a country is to get possession of the larger cities because they are most...goods and provisions and from thence they can overrun the country. Accordingly the British troops at different times took possession of Boston, New York and Philadelphia and other large cities. They could not do it now, but you must remember that then Great Britain was ancient and powerful empire. The United States but recently settled and poor. They had a regular and efficient government while ours was not organized. They had ships and other munitions of war while we had none except the old musket with which they used to shoot deer. Besides Americans were divided some were in favor of submitting to the English—many of them joined the enemy in time of the war. These were called Tories. So that we probably should have been subdued in France had not made a treaty of peace with us and sent over an army and fleet to assist us. Among those who came from France and the one who did most to procure aid for us in the time of need was the Marquis Lafayette. I said the first objects of attack by the enemy were the larger cities. Now the state of New Jersey lies between New York and Philadelphia and is naturally crossed by all who pass between the two and in the time of the war was passed by both armies. Being so near to both when the enemy was in this one or the other they sent out and plundered cattle, sheep, swine, hay, grain in short anything they could find and sometimes burnt the houses. Many battles and skirmishes were fought in this state.

The American Army sometimes lay in this state and owing to the poverty of the country and the deranged state of the finance, they could not always pay for their provisions, but were obliged to make forced requisitions of the inhabitants in order to keep from starvation and when they did pay, it was in money that was almost worthless. In these ways New Jersey suffered more probably than any state in the Union and our own town of Springfield had its full share.

There was a small body of troops kept here, who in winter were billeted upon the inhabitants. They were subject to continual alarms—the village was several times entered by the enemy (or Army)—and once the village was burnt together with the church which stood in the same place with the one in which we are at present assembled. A cannon was placed on the hill near the former residence of Bishop Hobart, which gave alarm to the surrounding country of the approach of the enemy, by firing a certain number of times, when the inhabitants would collect their cattle put their bedding and some of their valuables into a wagon and flee to a place of safety.

The affliction which the people suffered grieved them and more of them murmured, at one time to such an extent that the British Commander then in New York thought that the American soldiers were ready to desert their standards and the people of New Jersey to change their government.

To avail themselves of this discontent General Knyphausen was detached with a body of 500 men, who landed at Elizabethtown point on the 6th of June, 1780, with the intention of marching through the country and attacking General Washington then lying with his little army at Morristown. His army numbered 5,558 of whom only 3,000 were fit for duty.

On the 8th of June the British army commenced their march towards Morristown, but they soon found the temper of the people to be very different from their expectation. The Militia came out with great readiness and they together with small bodies of continental troops harassed them continually in their march and being perfectly acquainted with the country had greatly the advantage. The inhabitants fired upon them from behind every hedge and house and barn and the men who could take a deer on the bound or a partridge on the wing were not likely to miss a nimble object. The army could not turn against these small parties. Some few Americans were, however, killed by the British. Several from this place were killed and some wounded. Irritated by such opposition from the enemy which they could not meet, they wreaked their vengeance on their property, plundered and set fire to their houses opening their bedding and scattering their contents in the street to get the cloth burning the houses and such furniture as they could not carry away. They even burnt the church and wantonly shot Mrs. Caldwell the wife of the pastor of the church in Elizabethtown. This is believed to have been the work of a Tory.

From Union they proceeded towards Springfield but the Jersey brigade and the Militia who had assembled in great force - under General Maxwell had taken their station to dispute the passage of the Rahway River, and Knyphausen did not think best to attempt it. After exchanging a few shots therefore they separated and the British that night retired again to the point. During this time Washington with his little army was among the hills beyond us too weak to risk a general engagement upon the plains but preparing for a battle where he might choose his ground.

After Knyphausen had retired to Elizabethtown Point, Sir H. Clinton made some demonstrations of an attack on Westpoint in order to divide and weaken the American army. General Green was left in the neighborhood of Springfield with two brigades and the Jersey Militia, while Washington advanced towards the Hudson with the remainder. He had not proceeded more than 6 or 8 miles, before the intelligence arrived that the British army were moving towards Springfield, with all their force consisting of about 5,000 infantry, a large body of cavalry and from 40 to 20 field pieces. This was on the 23rd of June 60 years ago last week on Tuesday. Washington immediately detached a brigade to Gen. Green's assistance and himself returned to such a position that he could support him, with his whole force if necessary. The British army advanced in two columns the one taking Vauxhall road in the neighborhood of the Reeves, the other the main road.

Col. Ogden and Major Lee defended the bridge on the Vauxhall road until a party had crossed above them when they retired to avoid being surrounded. The bridge on the main road was defended by Cols. Dayton and Angel, while General Green was among the hills towards Chatham, waiting a general battle.

The cannon of the Americans were planted on the hill near Col. Wade's or a little in the field back of Mr. Halsey Burnet's. All accounts agree in stating that these posts were defended with great bravery by our troops, and when overpowered by superior numbers they retired in good order bringing off their wounded. When our troops had retreated the British came into the village and set fire to it burning all the houses except four together with the church. They were harassed during the day by the citizens, who were armed and advanced no farther than the hill near Mrs. Bonnells. The bravery of the Americans exhibited in their continued skirmishing and the strength of General Green's position among the hills deterred them from proceeding farther. They returned that afternoon to Elizabethtown harassed by our troops and in the night passed over to Staten Island. The inhabitants not engaged in the battle returned to the hills in the neighborhood when they had taken such things as they valued and could carry after concealing in the grain and grass and swamps and among the bushes what they could. From hence they looked down on their burning homes and the enemies who sought their life.

It must have been a fearful day. One, then 14 years old, who lived in the house now occupied by Mr. Daniel Smith, told me when the alarm was sounded upon the mountain they commenced putting away their goods, which they continued till our own troops were stationed and the enemy were so near that they dared not cross the river at the bridge with horses, so the mother gave her an infant child and told her which way to go. The father took the horses through the woods and across the river and the mother remained to take care of more household matters. The child having a younger brother or sister crossed the river between the two armies just before the firing commenced, came up the street near or among our soldiers who occupied the road from the top of the hill near Col. Wade's to Mr. William Stites. She came a little beyond the parsonage and sat down unable to proceed. Here her father and mother came with the horses. They proceeded as far as Mr. Eaglesfield's and there met our troops, who had been at Vauxhall retreating. When they proceeded as far as Mr. Braison's the enemy crossed the bridge below. In their company were men, women and children, horses, cattle, waggons and goods a confused rout, flying from death, crying, hallowing and the men fixing their guns or charging them. This was in our own quiet village where we now dwell in safety free from the fear of evil and worship God with none to terrify us? This was not the only time that the enemy came among us and plundered us, but did not burn. The time would fail me to recount the circumstances.

One fact more I will relate to show the skill of Washington. When the American Army marched South to take Cornwallis it passed through Springfield and in order to deceive the enemy and make them fear an attack on Staten Island, he first sent a detachment to the hills between this and Chatham. It is mentioned in the History that about this time some dispatches from Washington detailing another plan of operations fell into the hands of the enemy and increased the deception. It is supposed that he afterwards changed his plan but tradition make it probable that he did not, but intended those dispatches as a lure for the enemy. The man who bore them belonged in this place. His name was Cooper. He was directed to go by the lower road through Elizabethtown, Rahway, etc. But said he, "I shall certainly be taken prisoner." "Go by that road and no other and if you are taken so be it," was the only reply of the General. He was taken and the letters so completely deceived Sir H. Clinton that the American Army were gone too far to be disturbed before the line of their March was discovered.

After the American army had left us, the British were still in New York. The people were much alarmed. Some went and drove their cattle beyond the hills. Some talked of taking protection from the enemy, some whispered that Washington was about to turn traitor. So great was the panic but no enemy came. The army passed through this place beginning about 9 in the morning and continuing till sundown in small parties. Many of them took refreshments here. Some remember that their neighbors or their mothers cooled for them all day.

Such are some of the difficulties with which our fathers and mother had to contend. I have mentioned what occurred in one vicinity and other things only so far as was needful to understand them. But almost the whole of eastern and Central New Jersey suffered in like manner. Yet the people did not flinch in the gloomy and dark day, but poured out their blood and treasure like water. In this state was the greater portion of suffering and expense and a proportionate need of honor is justly on due. Had the people of Morris and Essex counties when Knyphausen landed at Elizabethtown Point and Washington lay at Morristown with his handful of troops half disabled, when the government was so poor that they had nothing to pay for provision, but worthless continental money and even for want of that Washington was compelled to make forced levies of provisions upon the inhabitants and they were galled by these, and suffering about themselves. If then they had proved traitors as the British expected, the consequences could not have been otherwise than disastrous and we might at this day have been British subjects doing far other work than celebrating our National independence. But they were true. The enemy retired never - more to set his feet on our shores. Wearied, exhausted and disgraced by their own barbarity they made peace with us, acknowledging our independence. The inheritance of freedom thus won by our fathers we inherit."

Raiders Overpower Bulldogs With Balanced, Fast Moving Attack

By ARNOLD MINIMAN

The high flying Raiders of Scotch Plains invaded the Springfield gym Friday night, and emerged with a 59-42 victory. The Bulldogs fell for the fifth time in a row, for a 3-7 record. Paced by a balanced, fast moving attack, the Raiders outscored the home team in every period in gaining the 17 point margin. For Springfield it was purely a case of poor shooting, as the team hit only 13 of 48 field goal attempts.

The Raiders scored first on a layup by Andy Mytinger, but jump shots by Bill Kretzer and

Frank Monticello gave Springfield a 4-2 lead. Mytinger tossed in two more buckets, and two foul shots by Dave Bonislawski tied the score at 6-6. A jumper by Bob Smith gave Plains an 8-6 advantage, and Jack Apgar's foul shot pulled Springfield within one point. Mytinger then came through with a three point play to give the Raiders an 11-7 margin, before a Bonislawski layup made it 11-9. Scotch Plains managed to keep this two point spread for most of the period, and led 18-16 going into the second quarter.

The Raiders pulled ahead 24-19 in the second period, before a Springfield surge tied the contest for the final time. A jumper by Frank Monticello, a foul shot by 'Bono', and a jumper by Kretzer tied the score, but Hank Reeder scored for Plains to gain a lead that was never relinquished. The Raider's outscored Regional 9-1, at this point, to gain a 33-25 margin at the half.

Springfield trailed by 11, 46-35, at the end of the third period, and managed to pull within seven during the final eight minutes, but Smith and Tom Rutishauser kept the game out of reach.

BULLDOG BITS

The contest was nearly a rematch of the game these two teams played last year, as only two of the starters, Ted Schuss of Regional, and Bill Lott of Scotch Plains, graduated from their respective schools.

Kretzer and Bonislawski paced Springfield with 11 points each, while Mytinger (15)-Bob Smith (19) and Rutishauser (13) topped Scotch Plain's scorers. The Raider j.v., rated among the top in Union County, easily defeated Springfield in the preliminary contest. The Varsity loss was a crucial one for Springfield, as it all but eliminates the team from making the State tournament.

"Do Or Die" For Wrestlers

Friday afternoon is do or die for the Dayton Regional wrestling squad. At 3:30 undefeated and Watchung Conference undisputed leaders Scotch Plains will invade the Dayton Regional gym, and attempt to clinch the Watchung wrestling title. Springfield, which has rebounded from an 0-2 mark to a 3-2 record, must defeat the Raiders or concede the title, since Plains, which has defeated powerful Westfield among its five conference victims, has already clinched a tie for the top rung. The Regional team was scheduled to invade Caldwell yesterday for a match with the Essex County team.

Victories over Clark and Hillside this past week gives Springfield a 2-1 Conference mark, and Cranford, which came within two points of topping Scotch Plains, must still be reckoned with. The victories at Clark, by a 29-17 margin, and Hillside, 35-11, came quickly, as Springfield jumped to leads of 19-3 and 22-3 in the respective matches.

97 pounder Jeff Karlin has established himself as a fine lead-off man for Regional, and Jeff continued his fine work with a 3:00 minute pin over Mike Prisco of Clark. John Gardella won his 105 pound match, 4-2, and standout Rich Lucariello pinned George Roessele at 2:56, to give Regional a 13-0 lead. 122 pound Pete Puntigam lost

2-0, but Ronnie Puorro, at 129, and Tom Baker, at 135, rebounded with 4-2 and 8-1 victories.

140 pounder Bob Haas lost his first regular season match of the year, 4-2, and Larry Bellon was a third period pin victim. Richie Basta lost another heartbreaker, 2-0, but Tom Venice broke the skid with a 5:56 pin over Ron Anderson. Harvey Goldberg was defeated 5-1, and heavyweight Richie Bittle, wrestling for the first time on the varisty mats during the regular season, pinned Bob Desch at 5:14 to climax the match.

The victory over Hillside Friday afternoon was a strong offensive showing for Regional, with four grapplers claiming pins over the Comet twelve. Once again Karlin won on a fall, pinning Bob Deehan at 5:12. Gardella won his second consecutive 4-2 match, and Lucariello pinned Hank Davis in 1:55 seconds. Puntigam lost a 7-6 battle, and Puorro emerged with a 2-0 margin at 129. Tom Baker won easily at 135, 9-2, and 140 pounder Bob Haas claimed a 6-1 triumph. Bellon was pinned at 4:55, and Basta won his first match, 5-3 in the 156 pound class. Tom Venice claimed the fasted pin, 84 seconds, in the 167 class, and Goldberg was a 3-0 victim. Bittle pinned Steve Krevsky, for his second five pointer in two tries, to end the match.

Jack Of All Trades

By GARY FALKIN

Versatile, all-around, speedy. These are only three of the descriptions of Jonathan Dayton Regional High Senior Jack "Mr. Athlete" Apgar.

A three letterman in his Sophomore year, Jack has risen to be one of Regional's greatest athletes in the last decade. This year he piloted the Football team to a 5-3-1 record as its quarterback. At the conclusion of the season all-county honors were bestowed upon him by the Newark News and the Star Ledger. Presently he is a guard on the Basketball team averaging over thirteen points per game. A playmaker on the court, Jack has begun many fourthquarter rallies by reeling off as many as six baskets in a row. In the spring he takes to the Baseball diamond as a short-stop.

Jack Apgar.

Along with his excellence in the sports world, Jack was also president of his Sophomore Class and is a member in the Varsity Club, Key Club and former Student Council representative.

Jack is now taking a college preparatory course and plans to major in either Business Administration of Physical Education. At present he has not decided upon a college, but has his eye on either Springfield College in Massachusetts or Marietta College in Ohio.

Glancing at the record of the Basketball team, Jack commented that "the team is really better than the 3-7 record indicates. We have lost many tight decisions which we could have won."

An avid interest in food, Pat D., and in the pursuit of a good time also occupy his time.

Linden Victors

Final Seconds Decide

The Springfield Cagers lost another heartbreaker last Tuesday at Linden High, when they fell 47-44, in a game that wasn't decided until the final seconds of play. Led by the all around play of Steve Kupcho and Bob Dombrowski, the Linden Five ran its record to 8-2, while Springfield dropped to a 3-6 mark.

Bonislawski opened the final period with another layup, to bring Dayton within one point, but a layup by Bob Firestone regained the three point lead. 'Bono' converted a foul shot, and Mol-ski's layup made the count 38-34, Linden. Apgar and Dombrowski exchanged buckets, but scores by Apgar and Bonislawski tied the game at 40-40.

Kupcho hit a jumper, but once again Apgar hit to tie the score.

Molski sunk a foul shot, and a set shot by Denny Francis gave Regional its final lead, 44-43. Joe Daniels hit a layup for his only bucket of the day, to put the Tigers ahead, 45-44, and with time running out, Kupcho sunk two crucial fouls to ice the contest.

Bonislawski was high scorer in the contest with 14 points, Kupcho and Dombrowski chipped in 11 each for Linden.

DRUGTAX

A SERVICE TO TAXPAYERS

This may come as news to you, but aspirin is one of those drugs that may be of a deductible nature on your federal income tax return. But to claim it, you must be able to offer proof you bought it.

When you buy it from us, you get that proof. But when you buy it at the corner grocery, or in a department store, or in a restaurant, you are likely to forget about it.

That goes for a lot of other things, too—such as antiseptics, cough and cold preparations, laxatives, and so on.

Our customers like to buy all of their drug supplies from us, because they know they will get the benefit of a complete record of all purchases of a deductible nature.

Our customers get an annual statement (mailed in February) which tells them how much they spent on drugs of a deductible nature. It's called a DrugTax record, and we offer it to our customers free of charge.

Next time you buy aspirin (or any drug item), be sure you're in a store that gives you a DrugTax record. Come income tax time, it can save you money.

Dayton Cagers Getting Rough Breaks; Linden, Scotch Plains Down Quintet

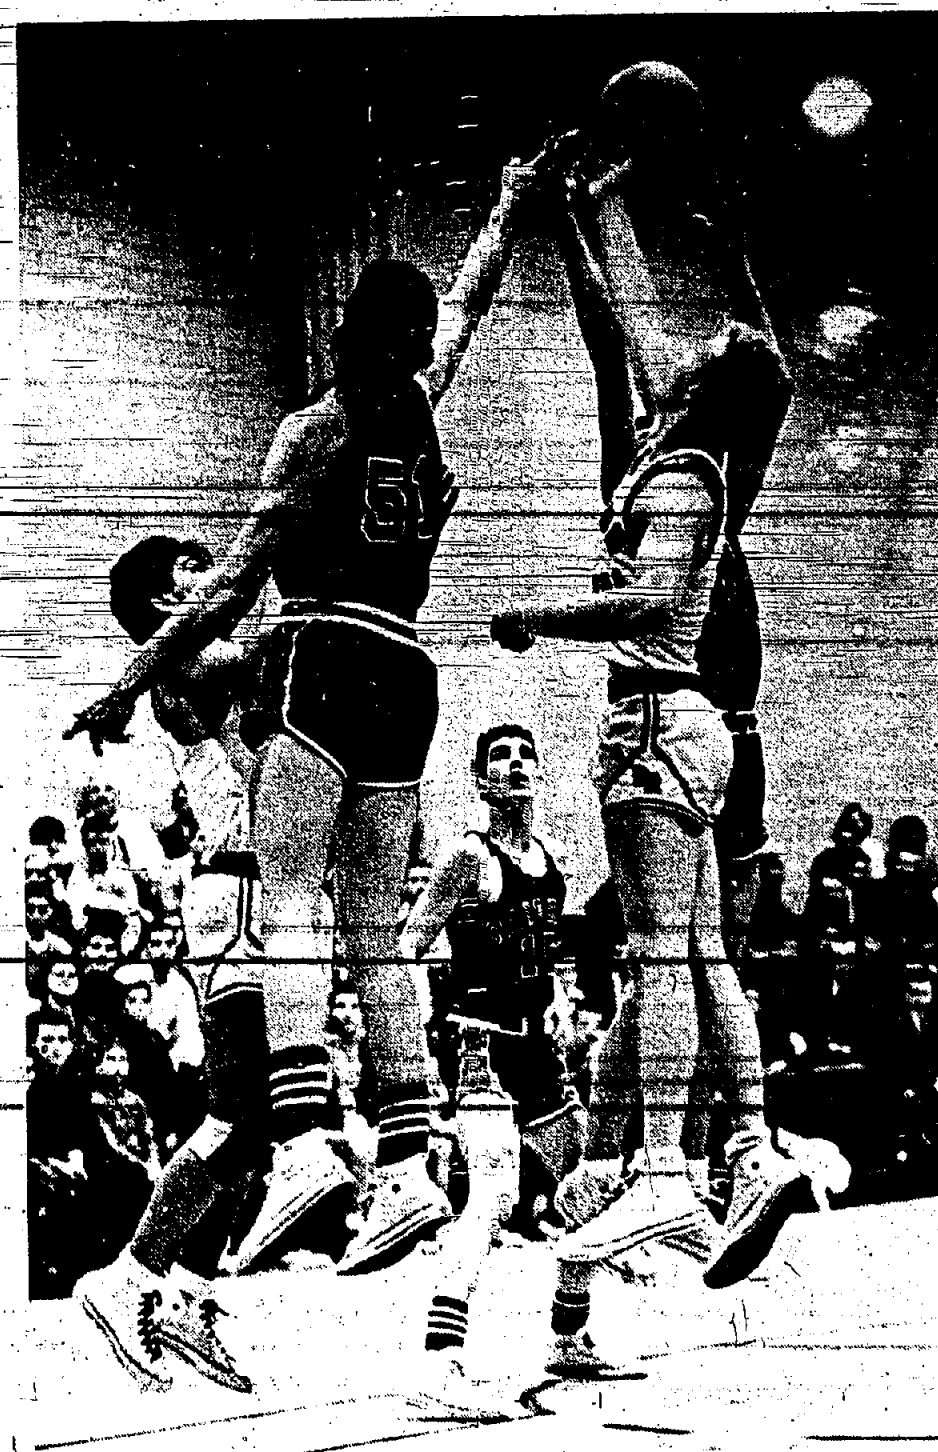

STORY IN SPORTS SECTION

GETTING A BOOST is Springfield's Bonislawski as he leaps for a score. The Smith boys from Scotch Plains look on, as Art Coon (11) appears to be helping Bonislawski's cause with a little lift.
(While Dayton's hoop hopes have been repeatedly thwarted thus far this season, a good deal of hardwood play remains. Quite a few of the contests have been real squeakers with the opposition usually eeking out victories in the last few seconds of play. If the tide of luck turns in the other direction, the Bulldog cagers still have an outside chance of winding up the campaign with a respectable record.)

BALANCING ACT is being performed by Dayton's Dave Bonislawski as Plainsmen Tom Rutishauser (3), Mitenger (15) and Bob Smith (21) look on.

ONE HAND STARS are Dayton's Dave Bonislawski, Dick Smith (51) of Scotch Plains, brother Bob, (21) and Mitenger (15). Partially hidden is Bulldog Frank Monticello.
