Stifelman Named Head Of Mental Health Fund

Jack H. Stifelman, 49 Mountain Avenue, Springfield, one of the outstanding community leaders, has been appointed chairman of the Better Mental Health Fund Drive in Springfield. It was announced today by the Honorable Mildred Barry Hughes, Chairman of the County Committee of the Union County Association for Mental Health.

Stifelman, in his appointment, has pointed out that acceptance of this important assignment by Stifelman, is a real sign of his devotion to important civic activities. Stifelman is a past President of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce and is a present member of its Board of Directors. He is also a Director of the Springfield Lions Club as well as its Vice President. He served as chairman of the Boy Scout Fund Drive in Springfield for 1961 and 1962.

In accepting this appointment, Stifelman stated that he is aware of the importance of developing new programs to meet the serious challenge of mental illness. Stifelman also indicated his interest in the new Bridgeway House which is attempting to help patients adjust to normal living in the community.

Thomas P. Prout, Jr., President of the Union County Association for Mental Health stated that he is hopeful that under the leadership of Stifelman the Township of Springfield will meet its share of the goal for the funds necessary to help the mentally ill.

Homeowners Fear Somerset Bus Hikes Town Zone Laws N.Y. Fare Monday

The Springfield Homeowner's Association held an emergency mass meeting Monday night at Temple Beth Ahm 60 Battisford Way.

Fear over alleged weak zoning laws in Springfield caused the formation of the group, stated the homeowner's association.

"Protection of the rights of homeowners' and the retention of the residential character of the community are the major aims of the organization, the group announced.

The immediate issues include: The granted variances and exceptions which are under litigation, a pending variance for a parking lot in a residential zone, a proposed rezoning of a large tract of residential property for commercial and apartment use.

The Somerset Bus Co., with offices and terminal in Mountainside, will subject passengers on seven of their routes going into the Port Authority Terminal in New York to a five-cent fare increase, effective June 1.

The increase will not affect commuters holding ten-trip tickets.

The new fares will be effective unless the Interstate Commerce Commission decides to conduct a public hearing on any protests. Company spokesmen commented that only two written protests have been filed.

Frank A. Noll, Somerset president, said the company lost $62,000 in the 12-month period ending last February.

The company recently filed a damage suit in Superior Court in Elizabeth charging that nine of the company's drivers had deliberately caused a slowdown of the operation since May 6, reportedly creating revenue losses for the company.

A spokesman for the drivers denied the charge, claiming that drivers "only agreed to maintain posted speed limits on their routes. Somerset schedules, he said, have not changed in 15 years, noting that traffic was considerably lighter then.

The company charged that the nine drivers by "malicious and unlawful" acts caused it to lose $300 a day in revenues and $6800 in unfilled charter trips. The nine men belong to Local 1478, Amalgamated Transport Union.

Listed as defendants are Raymond Bohler, Carl J. Bertram, Paul K. Van Iderstine, George W. Wilson, Eugene W. Kowitz, Marvin L. Daniels, Vincent De Caro, John J. Demko and Hubert A. Stanaland.

The drivers reportedly agreed to work a 40 hour week because overtime was given only to drivers with seniority. The driver's spokesman claimed the bus company farmed out charter trips to small companies, resulting in less work for regular drivers.

The Somerset Company, which started in 1925, runs buses between Somerville, Newark and New York for approximately 14,000 passengers. The company owns over 90 buses, has 140 drivers.

Noll said the fare increase would affect only routes from Somerville eastward to the New York terminal on 42nd St. Top fare now is $1.25 from Somerville. The local Mountainside rate is 95 cents.

Dr. Gilbert Retires As Method. Pastor

Dr. Benjamin V. Gilbert, pastor of the Springfield Methodist Church, will retire after June 7, having served 46 years in the ministry.

Most of this period has been spent in churches in the Newark Conference. These include the churches in Bound-Brook, High Bridge, Phillipsburg, Perth Amboy, Staten Island, Bloomfield, Ridgefield Park and Newark. He has been in the Springfield Church since 1960.

A graduate of Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, he also holds a M.A. Degree and a Doctor of Divinity Degree from Webster University.

Dr. Gilbert has been active in the Newark Conference for several years as chairman of the conference commission on Evangelism, as a trustee of the conference and as a member of the conference relations committee.

He is also past master of Hobart Lodge, No. 175 F. and A.M., High Bridge, and past grand chaplain of the N.J. State F. and A.M.

The pastor is married to the former Ella May Hopkins. The couple have two children and five grandchildren. They plan to retire to their new home in Delmar, N.Y., a suburb of Albany.

A farewell reception will be given to Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert at the church Sunday afternoon 3:30. Members and friends of the church are welcome to attend.

The Kodak company has introduced a new, compact, motorized drum processor for processing 8 x 10 and 11 x 14 enlargements. Called the Kodak Rapid Color Processor, Model II, the 18-pound unit can produce a color print in less than eight minutes.

According to the manufacturer, the Model II utilizes high agitation and elevated temperatures to speed up home or studio color print-making which normally takes about a half hour or more for conventional processing.

The processor should be of interest to advanced amateurs who want to make their own color enlargements. To this end, the steps involved have been minimized and an attempt has been made to keep costs down.

For example, the drum uses only four ounces of each of five processing solutions needed to make a print on Ektacolor Professional Paper. Only one tray is needed to pre-wet the print before processing.

The biggest obstacle to hurdle is the initial cost of the unit, about $200. But when one considers that many advanced amateurs pay considerably more for a camera that utilizes interchangeable lenses, plus an assortment of lenses, the price appears to be in line with other photographic equipment.

The unit itself measures 27 inches in length, 11 1/2 in width and 12 in height. The drum and frame are made of corrosion resistant stainless steel; the motor housing is polypropylene and both the housing and switch are splashproofed.

A 1/70 horsepower electric motor is geared to provide a drum surface speed of 200 feet per minute. The unit operates on standard 105-125 volt, 60-cycle AC current.

According to the manufacturer, the hollow drum, which measures 8 1/2 inches in diameter and 12 inches long, rotates at a constant speed. The specially textured surface of the drum "dip-contacts" the solution in the tray and is wetted uniformly by the rotation of the drum.

This rotation, in turn, ensures that fresh solution is continuously applied to the print surface while at the same time providing a high degree of agitation.

By tilting the processing tray, one solution is dumped and, after rinsing, the tray is ready for refilling from a premeasured supply.

The processing solutions are said to maintain proper temperature by the reservoir of water in the drum.

Photographer Mark Shaw's famous photographs of the late president John F. Kennedy and his family are being prepared for publication in book form. The book, entitled "The John F. Kennedys: A Family Album," is scheduled to appear this spring. The publisher is Farrar, Straus.

Norman C. Lipton of Camera Industries of West Germany reports that about 33,000 schools in West Germany now are equipped with darkrooms for their photographic curricula.

Birdland Decides Jazz Is Strictly For the Birds

By GARY R. GATES

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Birdland is dead—Long live Birdland.

The time-honored British toast signifying the passing of the old order and the ushering in of the new not only applies to Birdland—the world's most celebrated jazz club. It also reflects the steadily widening rift between jazz musicians and night club owners.

From coast to coast, jazz has been in sharp decline as a night club attraction ever since the ultra-cool school of musicians whose general attitude toward the audience ranges from indifference to downright contempt, began to dominate the art form a few years ago.

So much so, in fact, that the closing of a well-known jazz club, scarcely arouses a comment—one way or the other—any more.

"But Birdland! Well, when Birdland decides to desert the old cause, that's something else again. Named for one of jazz's most exalted heroes, the late and great saxophonist, Charlie 'Bird' Parker, the Broadway bistro has been known for the past 15 years as the Jazz Capital of the World.

The proprietors of Birdland, it must be explained, have not exactly slammed shut the doors and abandoned the premises. But the dark cellar is no longer a haven for jazz buffs who dig the newest and most progressive sounds.

What finally brought the witches into the open—after centuries of secrecy because of the torture and execution of hundreds of them in the 16th

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's recent death of Dr. Gerald Gardner, 80, a witch who took part in the "great curse" on Adolf Hitler.

As Dr. Gardner once told it to UPI, he and all the other witches in Britain linked their "life force" to raise a "cone of power" which prevented Nazi Germany from invading Britain in World War II. He said similar cooperation by witches had wrecked the Spanish Armada in 1588 and thwarted Napoleon's plans to capture London.

Gardner was curator of "The Witches' Mill" museum on the Isle of Man, off the coast of Britain—the only witches museum in the world—and when his will was probated, it set the cauldron bubbling by actually naming the two witches who inherited his estate.

High Priestesses One of them is Mrs. Monique Wilson, high priestess of the covens of Scotland and the other is Mrs. Patricia Crowther, high priestess of the witches of the cities of Sheffield and Manchester.

Neither of these two ladies pelished the publicity at first, but openly revealing their identities was part of Dr. Gardner's plan to bring witchcraft out of the furtive necessities of the age of persecution.

Mrs. Wilson said somewhat sadly that the fact she would be named as official guide to the Witches' Museum had evidently been guessed by some other witches—who were jealous enough to resort to evil charms and incantations. She said offices all over the country would be staffed by witches and she hoped to run bus tours of Britain for witches from other countries.

In the unprecedented discussion the British public-learned there are white witches who try to promote "love and tolerance" and black witches who are not above trafficking with the devil way means it goes back to the sender, threefold. So witches to spend their time desecrating churches and church-yards.

Mrs. Leek and the other respectable witches deny there is any sexual element at all in real witchcraft. Orgies, they say, are a comparatively recent development in British witchcraft and one in which the conservative majority frowns. Although the rites of covens are secret, knowledgeable informants claim that outside the nudist lodge meetings anywhere with sandwiches and wine or coffee winding-up the night, bonded to regular shade cloth.

Campers Want Some Comforts

URBANA, Ill. (UPI)—Family campers on short excursions willingly tend to forego many comforts of home. Yet they want some simple facilities at campsites, a University of Illinois study shows.

Some 158 families who camped at two Shawnee National Forest campgrounds were asked what they thought about the physical setup of campgrounds.

The first thing they looked for was clear drinking water. Hot showers, electricity and indoor toilets ranked low on the list.

Most of the families voted for shady and private campsite locations close to water. Those who did not like the locations gave these reasons: too far from the lake, insects, uneven ground, and too sunny.

Families made extensive use of swimming, boat launching, and dock facilities convenient and mumble-jumbo they might be lodge meetings anywhere.

A laminated window shade is made of a decorative fabric bonded to regular shade cloth.

Library Receives Copies Of Book From B'nai B'rith

The Watchung Mountain Lodge of B'nai B'rith has recently presented the library two copies of a new book by John E. Roche, "THE QUEST FOR THE DREAM," the 50th anniversary book of the Anti-Defamation League.

This is an objective account of the development during the past half century of the civil rights and human relations movement in the United States, concerning itself not only with anti-Semitism, but with all minority groups, the debasement of their human rights and the fight to achieve those rights—a fight which is still going on at this moment. It is a timely book, indeed.

The author, Dr. Roche, is chairman of the Department of Politics at Brandeis University and has served as visiting professor of political science at the University of Chicago.

In recent months the library has received books from the American Association of University Women in memory of two of its members, Mrs. Elizabeth Pope and Mrs. Ruth Merz. Books on music and gardens were selected as a memorial to Mrs. Pope and books on home economics reflect the interest of Mrs. Merz.

Memorial Day A Day To Live

Memorial Day is this Saturday. In reality, Memorial Day is meant as a reminder for all those members of the Armed Forces who gave their lives in battle for our country. That is what Memorial Day really means, and the idea is effectively expressed by all the veterans and civic groups and associations in the country. But tragically, Memorial Day has come to mean something else... death on the highways.

Why is it that whenever this country enters a national holiday weekend, the one thing heard over and over on the radio and television broadcasts is a tabulation of how many of us have been or are going to be killed in automobile accidents? Why should a holiday, such as Memorial Day or New Year's Eve or Thanksgiving, bring on such a rampant run of deaths and disabling accidents? Why cannot the theme of such a day be the meaning of the holiday, rather than the deaths which are sure to come from such a holiday being given to the people of the United States?

We are presently at the brink of several "police actions" such as we went through in the early 1950's in Korea. Our trouble spots today are Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia, Cuba and perhaps two or three other hot spots throughout the world. Men have been killed this year, this week, yesterday... and those men, some of them, have been Americans. They gave their lives just as those in the World Wars did, to preserve Democracy and the American way of life. They gave their lives usefully, they did not get killed on the highways or on a road.

IT WOULD SEEM THAT WE ARE in a frantic rush to kill ourselves, what with all the careless and reckless driving, the driving under the intoxication of an alcoholic beverage, the stupid little mistake which may result in not only one death, but several. Last weekend in Connecticut a woman driving a car with three small girls in it careened her automobile over the dividing island on the Connecticut Turnpike into the path of another auto, containing an elderly couple. All six were killed. The state police at the scene reported that the cause of this accident was the fact that the woman took her eyes off the road... perhaps to scold a playful child... and let the wheels ride up on the island. The car spun out of control, went across the highway, and resulted in horrible tragedy. These lives were lost not in the battle for democracy, not in the attempt to keep our country and our world safe and peaceful, but because of a careless driver.

What better way is there to honor our war dead than to live? What better way is there for us to preserve the memories of all our casualties than to stay alive and enjoy the freedom they fought for us, paying the most supreme price any man can pay? Why get killed on a holiday because you are so full of the joy of celebration that you cannot drive safely? What sense does that make?

THERE ARE WAYS TO PAY TRIBUTE to this most important national holiday... and there is no need to do so publicly. You might pause for a moment, and consider every thing you do and are entitled to do in the normal course of any day... and you might thank those countless thousands who gave their lives so that you might be able to own a car, hold a job of your choice, send your children to school and buy a home. You might say a silent prayer for those who died so that you would be able to say that prayer without fear of committing a "state" violation.

You might do many things... you probably won't. You might say thanks, or you might pray for a moment, or you might simply realize that you are here today because our war dead are not... but you probably won't.

But in any case, don't kill yourself on the roads. Ever those of our men who died in the wars wouldn't want that; for they went into battle not asking or expecting our thanks, just doing what they felt was the right thing. They are to be revered, and you are to live. Perhaps soon we will be forced to enter open violence in one of those aforementioned trouble spots, and if that should come to pass we will, again tragically, have more names to add to the lists, more names to honor on a future Memorial Day.

But how many holidays are there to honor those killed in automobile accidents? None. Please... stay around; to honor those who honorably died.

FOR NEW JERSEY

Case Proposes Economic Study

Sen. Clifford P. Case has proposed a federal study in New Jersey of the economic impact of changes in defense expenditures.

The New Jersey Senator proposed the study in a letter released recently... and Senator Ackley, chairman of the President's committee on the economic impact of defense and disarmament.

Senator Case wrote Ackley, who also serves as a member of the President's council of economic advisors, "I was much interested to read President Johnson's memorandum of December 21, 1963, concerning the formation of the committee on the economic impact of defense and disarmament. I understand that this committee, under your chairmanship, has been exploring the various federal programs which have a bearing on the economic impact of defense expenditures and of changes in their composition and their total level."

SENATOR CASE'S letter continued, "I am informed that your committee is considering studies of the actual situation in various parts of the country, and I would like to propose Camden, N.J., as a most appropriate site for such a field survey."

"The Camden area is heavily affected by the ups and downs of defense contracting with private firms, particularly in the fields of electronic equipment and shipbuilding.

"Moreover, many persons in the Camden area are employed at government military installations, such as the Philadelphia Naval Yard, across the Delaware River."

"At the present time," Senator Case wrote, "the Camden area has been hard hit by changes in defense expenditures. Since the beginning of 1963, the Radio Corporation of America, with electronics facilities in Camden and nearby Moorestown, has laid off a reported 3,700 production and maintenance workers, as well as some 800 engineers and 450 technicians."

"New defense contracts at RCA in Camden announced in the first quarter of this year dropped to $5.6 million from a level of $18 million in the previous quarter."

"THE SENATOR'S letter concluded, 'I believe that an on-the-spot study in the Camden area would shed a great deal of light on the most effective way the federal government might lessen the adverse impact of changes in defense expenditures.'"

In answering question about proposal, Senator Case said, "Our State has an important role in the nation's defense effort, in research and development, in industrial production for defense, and in actual military installations."

"Certainly any substantial change in our defense economy would have an impact on the employment and economy of our state."

LET'S KEEP THEM PLAYING

TERCENTENARY TALES

First New Jersey Governor Was 4-Year State Resident

BY JOHN T. CUNNINGHAM

When New Jersey legislators convened at Princeton late in August, 1776, to elect "some fit person" as the first Governor under the new state constitution, the choice clearly lay between native son Richard Stockton of Princeton and Albany-born William Livingston, only four years a resident of New Jersey.

Votes split evenly on the first ballot. Legislators gathered in secret session, and next morning John Stevens walked over to Morven for a private talk with Stockton. Although Stockton denied giving up his aspirations, the legislators and afternoon selected Livingston as Governor.

Success and William Livingston had always walked hand in hand after his birth in Albany on November 30, 1723. When he graduated from Yale in 1741, he ranked first in his class... not necessarily because of genius but because in those days Yale graduates were ranked by family prestige rather than academic standing.

Livingston might well have topped the list on sheer intellect. His sharp, witty writings won him a wide fame that far surpassed his family ties. John Adams of Massachusetts called one of Livingston's addresses "the most elegant and masterful speech ever made in America."

The proudest of war found Livingston using his pen and his political skills to advance the cause of rebellion. He served three times in the Continental Congress, but missed signing the Declaration of Independence when he was made Brigadier General in command of the New Jersey Militia, despite his complete ignorance of military affairs. Still, he had been in congress, he might not have become Governor.

New Jersey's continuous involvement in the Revolution caused the Legislature and Governor Livingston to be always on the run. The British mocked him as the "Itinerant Dey of New Jersey" for his many addresses. The Governor's letters were dated from Haddonfield, Morristown, Burlington, Princeton, Pittstown, Trenton, Ringoes, Elizabethtown, Hillsburgh, Kingston, Raritan and Mount Holly. The Livingston family spent one winter in Basking Ridge and lived more than three years in Parsippany.

British officials eagerly sought Livingston. In February, 1779, a prize of 2,000 guineas was offered for "that demand old rascal" Governor Livingston, "delivered dead or alive." Another offered a cash reward for Livingston delivered alive or half the cash for "his ears and nose, which are too well known and too remarkable to be mistaken."

Livingston survived all enemy attempts to capture him. The Legislature re-elected him year after year, 13 times in all (like his children, one re-election for each of the states). He turned down an appointment as United States Minister to Holland in 1785 to continue as New Jersey's Governor.

As one of New Jersey's delegates to the Constitutional Convention, Livingston was judged "a man of the first rate talents." He worked strenuously to gain New Jersey's ratification; the Governor was gratified when the state became the third to ratify.

Never a man to avoid controversy, Livingston perturbed the Legislature in 1778 by recommending against the practice of kissing the Bible when taking oaths. On taxation, he wrote of "the absurdity of making the man of little or no property contribute equally to the public charge with the most opulent possessor." He called slavery "utterly inconsistent with the principles of Christianity and humanity."

Livingston died on July 25, 1790, in Liberty Hall. He was buried beside his wife in Elizabethtown but the remains were taken to New York for re-burial the following winter. The best of Governor Livingston stayed in New Jersey; the remembrance of his wit and his solid support of Liberty. He was a "fit person," indeed.

Sabin Day Gets 321,324 Total Residents In County

Sabin Oral Sunday, May 24, saw 321,324 residents of Union County flock to 52 Clinics to receive their vaccine on a sugar cube for Type II paralytic polio.

"Our Union County anti-polio program has been a success," said Dr. Bernard Ehrenberg, program chairman. "The big turnout last Sunday was only slightly smaller than for the second polio Sunday, April 12. The Union County Medical Society, which sponsored the S.O.S. program is deeply gratified by the tremendous support given by all 21 municipalities in Union County."

Dr. Ehrenberg said the number would have been greater if it were not for the fact that many persons were away from home, or ill. He announced that those who missed their vaccine on a sugar cube last Sunday would have an opportunity to get it on make-up Sunday, June 7.

A number of clinics in the county will be reopened on June 7 from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M. to administer the vaccine against Type II polio. The locations of the make-up sites will be as follows: Cranford-Municipal Building, Springfield Avenue.

Elizabeth - Thomas Jefferson High School, 37 East Scott Place; St. Patrick's Parochial School, 227 Court St.

Hillside - Hillside High School, 1085 Liberty Avenue.

Linden - McManus Junior High School, 300 Edgewood Road.

Plainfield - Cedarbrook School, 1049 Central Ave.

Summit - Summit Senior High School, 25 Kent Place.

Union - Union High School, Morris Avenue.

Westfield - Senior High School, 550 Dorian Road. The municipalities in Union County and the number of residents in each who received the Type polio vaccine is as follows: Fanwood, 6857; Garwood, 4106; Windfield, 1746; Mountainside, 4404; New Providence, 8118; Berkeley Heights, 7602; Clark, 12,116; Cranford, 17,996; Elizabeth, 60,074; Hillside, 14,397; Roselle Park, 8326; Linden, 24,995; Plainfield, 26,309; Rahway, 13,752; Roselle, 13,439; Summit, 11,782; Union, 29,933; Westfield, 14,958; Kenilworth, 5,966; Springfield, 8,820 and Scotch Plains, 12,568.

POLITICAL CHATTER

Narrowing Of The Field Taking Place Among GOP

BY DAVID S. KLEIN
Executive Editor

How goes it with the presidential candidates... from the Republican party? Funny you should mention, because there seems to be a narrowing of the field, and those left are Nelson Rockefeller, New York Governor, Barry Goldwater, Senator from Arizona, and Richard Nixon, former vice president for two terms and currently engaged in semi-private law practice. Rockefeller and Goldwater are official, self-announced candidates, while Nixon still hasn't said yes and he hasn't said no, but odds are that if the draft was offered, he would accept.

What, you might ask, has happened to the wild throngs cheering insanely for Henry Cabot Lodge, unsuccessful vice-presidential candidate in 1960? He has, as the saying goes, deposited his supporters in the Rockefeller camp and fled the scene. He and his backers, of course, will deny such a charge, saying quite emphatically that they will summarily withdraw such support when the primary in the sunny state is through.

This seems to many political observers to be baldheaded. Henry never really did say he was going to run, nor did he say he would accept an offered nomination. What he did say was that it was truly nice of so many people to want him; even after he won the New Hampshire Primary on March 10.

But Henry's not going to run. Take that as a fact. He will not win the nomination because he will not accept it, and he has already made that clear to those who matter. He showed as much when he gave support to Rocky. Rocky, you see, is the more desirable to many of the two, meaning he and Goldwater. If that is true, Lodge would have thrown support to Goldwater, to get Rocky out of the way and make possible a battle between only two factions, Lodge and Goldwater. But Lodge isn't running, Rocky is, and so is Barry.

This boils down to who will win the party's blessings... Rocky or Goldwater... or Nixon, who may have decided that playing coy is now ill-advised. We would expect a statement from Nixon sometime this month, so as to give the delegates ample time until the July convention to think about his chances.

Logically, Nixon would be the man. He has had those eight-nine years executive experience working directly underneath former president Dwight David Eisenhower, and he in fact assumed the temporary presidential robes when Ike had that heart trouble in 1956. Nixon has kept abreast of foreign policies, domestic affairs, budget balancing, do's and don'ts and assorted other bits of information which are necessary only to those intending to seek public office... high public office, such as the presidency.

Nixon had declared himself already, would now have to be considered the No. 1 choice. But now, at best, he is No. 3, or No. 1 in case of a deadlock between the Rock of New York and the Mouth of Arizona.

There are those, naturally and justifiably who have their allegiances with Rocky or Barry. From the pinnacle, however, or the leading Republican figures in the country, Rocky appears to be too wispy-washy and Barry appears to be too impulsive. Barry would drop nuclear warheads on all our trouble spots, Rocky would not do anything constructive. Nixon, on the other hand, is believed to be the one to successfully dicker and negotiate, and is also felt to be the most level-headed (but not too level-headed) of the group. Nixon is also highly considered by many because of his previous experience, and that may be the key.

Experience is the requisite, above all else, in this game of politics, especially in the party currently out of power. This year, however, there is something extra added... the memory of the late John F. Kennedy. This is, in a large part, what Lyndon Johnson has been subsisting on, and this is, in a great part, what the Republicans have to compensate. If they can come up with a man both known and respected, they have a better chance of walking in to the presidency. Nixon has these qualities, and he may be the one. If not, it must be Rockefeller who, although less of a determined man than Goldwater, has the other qualities of name, reputation and less of an opportunity to make a bad reputation stick.

It would appear that Goldwater should be agreed to be an excellent vice-presidential choice, a man who has the drive, ambition and forthrightness to make the job go but one with none of the awful personal responsibility for decisions.

Could it be Rockefeller or Nixon with Goldwater? If could, it also would be the one ticket which could win, and beat Johnson plus whoever his vice-presidential choice is.

When possible, consideration is given to assigning the new Inspector to a duty station near his home.

Members of the Inspector Force are given the opportunity of improving their knowledge of motor vehicle laws and procedures by in-service training, as well as specialized training at National Universities.

Advancement in the Inspector Force through the ranks of Sergeant, Lieutenant, Captain and Major is by means of competitive examination.

This examination is open to males between the ages of 21 and 30. The applicant must be in good health and possess a high school diploma or a high school equivalency certificate from the Armed Forces Institute or the New Jersey Department of Education.

Salary range for Inspector is $4524 to $5880 annually. The salary range is supplemented by overtime compensation which may be as much as $1000 per year.

The applicant must be a resident of the State of New Jersey for 12 months prior to the closing date of this examination and must possess a valid New Jersey Driver License.

Case Urges Two Congress Principles

Statement by Senator Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) on floor of the United States Senate on Tuesday, May 19:

Mr. President, there are reports in the press today that the counsel of the Senate Rules Committee has made some strong recommendations for a corrective action as a result of its investigation of the Bobby Baker case, and that these recommendations encompass Senators. According to these reports, the recommendations embody two principles which I have repeatedly urged to be adopted in concrete form by this body.

First, that all members, officers, and employees of the Senate be required to disclose publicly their financial interests, and, secondly, that provision be made for members to respond to questions from committees of the Senate on matters of which they have knowledge.

Leaving aside for the moment the other aspects of the Bobby Baker investigation, I rise in support of these principles. My interest in these principles is not a partisan one, arising from these investigations. I have long been convinced that more than a code of ethics is needed. It is not enough, merely to adopt principles. For that matter, a code of ethics for government service was enacted by Congress in 1958, but, as the Bobby Baker case shows, it amounted to no more than a pious expression of sentiment.

What we need is assurance that the code will be observed. I am convinced that the only real assurance of this is through public disclosure.

I first introduced my own disclosure bill, S. 1261, as far back as 1958. My cosponsors of the bill sit on the other side of the aisle. Moreover, the 31 members of Congress who have already voluntarily disclosed their interests belong to both parties.

S. 1261 is now before the Senate Rules Committee. When the Committee meets tomorrow, to consider its report on the Baker case, I hope it will include a requirement for public disclosure in its recommendations.

Predictions: Rocky will stop campaigning and join the Lodge Team...RFK will be swept into the Veep spot by the memorial-service atmosphere of the Atlantic City convention...Aqueduct will adopt the twin double...like will refuse to campaign, regardless of whom is nominated...Willie Mays will go into a terrific hitting slump...Many of the World's Fair disco-ticket booklets will prove to be swindles...Tom Jones' will gross 20 times its investment of $1.5 million...Henry Cabot Lodge will resign his ambassadorship within six weeks...LBJ will drop the G. G. Sorey...Casius...Clay will not be drafted, despite pressures of a federal investigation...Peter Sellers will disregard medical and step up his acting schedule...LBJ will create the first woman general as a special assistant to the joint chiefs of staff, just like in Viet Nam. (So what else is new?)

Every May we find ourselves lost in the lovelessness of the score from the Hill...especially "Heather on the Hill" (Kindly remember us in 1996 with a castle in Edinburgh)...The world's biggest swindle is still the Irish Sweepstake...Our Gov't has rightfully declared it illegal, since nearly half of the tickets sold here are phony...Even if the six are legit, top winners must surmount odds of a half-million to one...Add interesting odds: It's 15,000-1 that you'll never draw a perfect game, and 11,720-1 you'll never score a home run in one...For gin-rummy, a perfect hand on the draw is a 13,625-1 possibility...while bridge players can beat odds of 159 billion to one by being dealt all the cards of one suit...Our redheaded Betty Half witnessed this at a beauty salon...Enter a very bald woman, asking what the place could recommend for her...The hair stylist looked her over and said thoughtfully: "Dear lady, you're a beauty...but you're a little bald...I'd suggest the JFK corolla last November was short on the hair...in Virginia...Bob Hope, to an audience at Duke U...in undergrad school...You'll fall as getting into school just in time to build the machines that are gonna replace you."

Judy Garland and Freddie Fields tore up the contract...Our tennis spies out at Forest Hills tell us that the game is in for some revisions before September...Bobby Driscoll, who won an Academy Award at 12 and hocked it at 15 by drug, is returning to the screen...His horrible nightmare of addiction is a thing of the past, and he'll support long-time buddy Dean Stockwell in his comeback...Mr. John of Manhattan's Cafe Continental, linguist and maitre d' extraordinaire, says that if the Romans had had TV, they'd have heard the following commercial: Mater, gratias ago antero idcirco id meo ipso and Meus gens dediti 2 1/2 pauciorum covorum...Apprentice Journeyman Dennis Keenan, who rode up a storm at Bowie, Md., a few months back, will be paralyzed for life as a result of a tragic spill...Racing fans can write him at St. Anthony's Hospital in Chicago...Cinepatra producers who predicted a gross of 100 million, will now settle for 40...Playboy Sonny Stapleton is romancing a European princess...Frank Sinatra and Jack Warner are going the cat-and-dog bit...The oranges will exit his studio post after two more pictures...Think you had an unhappy childhood? In India, 80,000 kids a year are eaten by (or fed to) tigers.

"My Fair Lady" will join the ranks of the all-time box office champs even before it opens...A single movie house, our town's Criterion, had to ante up well over a million for exhibitor's rights...In last November's referendum, New Yorkers turned out 3-1 in favor of off-track betting...Here's a true story illustrating why it'll never happen: A and B were picked up for bookmaking...B was broke, so he was released...A was "holding" so they arrested him...A was told by the Precinct Capt. to use Bailbondman K (as in Kick-back) as well as Defense Lawyer C—whose fee was a grand, plus another grand to buy the judge...In court a week later, the two arresting officers agreed they could've been mistaken, and A was acquitted...If subpoenaed, we'll claim the right to be just gotten around to discovering "A Summer Place," the hauntingly beautiful movie theme by Max Steiner...Another Max, the inimitable Mr. Asnos of the Stage Delicatessen, is going symphonic on us...The lovable sage of Seventh Ave. guest-conducts at Carnegie next week, and a few of his composing customers are submitting melodies for the maestro's consideration...How about "Pavane for an Overbaked Bagel" or "Pastrami Appassionato"?

Bobby's Bouquets: To Walter Winchell, for his poignant story on the late Ben Hecht...To Dr. Erich Fromm, for blasting the tragedy of our data-memorizing educational system with the pithy analysis: "The things taught children are useless and quite alien to their personal reality..." To Johnny Sellers, for picking the Derby 1-2 in this column...To Roddy McDowall, for those expert photo studies of Sir Laurence Olivier in Life Magazine...To Claire Spearman, fashion consultant at Mark Cross, for herself making the list of 10 best-dressed women...Tip to talent scouts: best-looking model we've ever seen is Darrell Burnham of Centerreach, L.L. He'll be three in August...Dancer Mark Heron, Judy's latest lover, will accompany her on the Australian concert tour.

Good Old Days Were No Pipe

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The first real pipeline bringing pure water to Los Angeles was constructed in 1865 and extended to San Bernardino, about 60 miles away. It was made of pine logs with holes bored end to end through them. However, pine trees made poor pipes and, in the words of an historian, "there was daily excitement as the pipes split in the streets, under the sidewalks or in the houses they served."

A one trillion mark coin, issued during the German inflation in 1923, could buy only 20 pounds of potatoes, according to the Chase Manhattan Bank Money Museum in New York.

President of the Commission on Press-Relations for the Vatican Council, will receive a doctorate of humane letters. The Most Rev. Thomas A. Boland, Archbishop of Newark and President of the Seton Hall Board of Trustees will preside at both ceremonies.

...ask not what your country can do for you...ask what you can do for your country.

You can help build a living memorial to John F. Kennedy

If you have been waiting there were some way you could pay a personal tribute to the memory of the late President, here is your opportunity. The American people are completing the project he was planning when he died: the John F. Kennedy Library in Boston, Massachusetts.

The goal is $10,000,000. Thousands of donations, large and small, have already brought in $5,000,000. A national magazine gave the $75,000 profit from their memorial issue. A gift in Cincinnati sent Caroline S. for her father's library which she had saved from her lunch money.

MORE THAN A LIBRARY. Presidential libraries were built by public or private subscription for Hoover, Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower. The priceless documents of each administration are collected there, and the libraries turned over to the American people for their use. John F. Kennedy wanted his library to be more than a museum, however. As he envisioned it, it will also be a place where young people, scholars and administrators, will be inspired and trained to bring to public service the highest ideals and practical skills.

If you want to help keep alive this dream for America that was John F. Kennedy's, you will want to give.

Contributions will be acknowledged by Mrs. Kennedy. Your name will be recorded in the Great Book of Contributions, which will be on permanent display in the Library.

Honorary Chairman: LYNDON B. JOHNSON
Chairman: EUGENE BLACK - President: ROBERT F. KENNEDY - Vice President: MRS. JOHN F. KENNEDY

HOW TO GIVE. If you wish to contribute to the memorial building fund for the John F. Kennedy Library, fill out the coupon below and mail it with your donation. All contributions are tax deductible.

IRENE STANTON NAMED

Miss Union County In Parade

Union Township Committee member Samuel Rabin will be grand marshal of the Tercentenary Parade next month in which Miss Union County, selected last weekend, will make one of her first public appearances in the county since being crowned.

Irene Stanton, of Linden, a singer and graduate of Julliard School of Music, prettiest and most talented miss in Union County, according to the Jaycees who selected her for the title, will ride in an open car in the township's Tercentenary Parade the morning of June 13. Several other prominent beauties will also pass in review. They include Miss New Jersey, Janet Adams of Hopatcong; the Queen of the Rutgers Military Ball, Constance Chant of Linden; and Miss Union County Republican Mary Noreen Kealy of Union.

The mile long parade, with at least six colorful marching units, will pass along Stuyvesant Avenue to Morris Avenue and then to Commerce Place. The reviewing stand will be set up in the parking lot of the Union Center National Bank.

First, second and third prizes will be awarded the best floats. Freeholder Matthew J. Rinaldo, chairman of the event, said, the judges would be: Magistrate Daniel J. Covines; Helen V. Imbleau, president of the Board of Health, and Agnes Tell, president of the Board of Education. The awards will be made directly after the parade ends about noon-time. It is scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m. at Stuyvesant Avenue and Morris Avenue.

Among the marching bands will be St. Lucy's Cadets of Newark, who recently appeared in Shea Stadium in New York; Argonne Post, American Legion of Elizabeth; St. Joseph's Five and Drum Corps, dressed in colonial costumes fitting the State's 300th birthday celebration; the Rough Riders Drum and Bugle Corps.

Sirloin steak - 30¢ a pound - back in 1929, that is. Prices have sure changed - including the price of electricity. But electricity has gone down more than 20% since 1929. □ Back then, the cost of broiling that steak electrically would have been 20% higher than the cost of doing it in 1964. □ Today, hardly anyone could afford modern electric cooking - and everything else from television to electric toothbrushes - if the cost of electricity had gone up the way almost everything else has. □ If your electric bill is higher today, there's only one reason - you're using so much more electricity. But you are paying far less per kilowatt hour than back in "the good old days..." when steak was 30¢ a pound.

GOP County Comm. Picks Planer For Unexpired Term

The Springfield Republican County Committee, at a meeting held last week, designated Robert G. Planer, as the Republican candidate for the one-year unexpired term on the Township Committee.

Planer was also appointed by the Township Committee to fill out the balance of 1964, due to a resignation from the township Committee.

A Screening Committee, composed of 65 Springfield Republicans recommended Planer to the Township Committee for their consideration in filling out the 1964 term. This committee was composed of members of the Republican Club, County Committee, Young Republicans, Republican-Elected Officials, Republican-Appointed Officials, and other active Republican workers.

Philip Del Vecchio, Chairman of the Republican County Committee, in announcing Planer's endorsement, brought out the fact that never in the history of the Republican Party in Springfield, has such a broad-based and diversified committee been convened for the selection of a candidate for the Township Committee.

"What is even more remarkable," Del Vecchio continued, "is that the attendance at these meetings was so great."

The interest that was demonstrated by the Screening Committee certainly bodes well for the coming election.
