Parking problems persist at Kean

Students are no longer allowed to park for free at NJ Transit lot as school year begins

By Patrick Bober
Regional Editor

Parking at Kean University has been a longstanding issue, as every fall new and returning students and faculty contend with each other over a limited number of spots. And beginning this year, there were a few less free spaces available.

As of the last few weeks, Kean University students can no longer park at the Union NJ Transit train station parking lot for free. They can park, but they must pay along with the daily commuters who use the lot.

Previously, Kean students were allowed to park in the lot for free if they could find a space once peak travel hours ended. Due to a high volume of commuters, NJ Transit has ended this program.

"Because of the agreement between the Department of Transportation and NJ Transit, it said when the ridership was averaging 80 percent, the parking would no longer be available to Kean students for free," said Ron Manzella in an interview last week. Manzella is the business administrator for Union. "As of Sept. 1, Kean can still park there, but they can't park there for free."

The issue of charging students to park followed months of complaints from commuters, as LocalSource reported in November of 2014. At that time, the issue of parking at the train station was a hot topic on the Union, NJ Residents Forum online, with dozens of commuters complaining about a lack of spaces, and some mentioning Kean students.

"I feel really bad for the students who have to drive around for so long looking for a spot," posted one resident in the online forum last November.

According to Manzella, Union asked for help in looking into the problem.

"We asked the DOT to do the test needed for examining the parking lot," Manzel-la said, "because we were getting a lot of complaints from residents because they didn't have a place to park. And over the years, the station steadily grew to the second busiest on the line in terms of ridership."

The matter of parking has been a hotly debated issue at Kean University for a number of years. James Castiglione, president of the Kean Federation of Teachers, in the past shared his feelings on the issue with LocalSource, even calling the situation a "nightmare."

"Administrative mismanagement has

Union's Got Talent showcase debuts Sept. 26

By Peter Fiorilla

UNION — The final round is set for "Union's Got Talent," which will highlight the best and brightest aspiring artists in Union on Saturday, Sept. 26, according to event organizers with the Union High School Performing Arts Company.

Some of the remaining 16 performers have day jobs, including an engineer, while others are still attending elementary or middle school. There will be singers, musicians, a juggler and more, with the source material ranging from Frozen's "Let It Go" to the musings of a local comedian.

But onstage in the Union High School Theater, under the bright lights of the auditorium and positioned in front of local celebrity judges, only three of the performers will be honored by "Union's Got Talent." The first-place winner, a runner-up, and a People's Choice Award honoree.

The judges will be selecting the first-place and runner-up winners, who will leave the theater with prizes of $1,000 and $500, respectively, according to Jennifer Williams, the Choreographer with UHSPAC. And the judges making these decisions, added Williams, will be familiar faces to Union residents.

"We have great celebrity guest judges this year. The mayor of Union is one of our judges, Mayor Manuel Figueiredo, as well as a Union High School teacher who was voted People Magazine's 'Sexiest Teacher

County EMS service continues to grow

The Union County Emergency Medical Service is on track to experience its fourth straight year of growth by a wide margin. The Freeholder Board established the service permanently in January 2012, in response to increased calls for emergency assistance throughout the county.

Countywide EMS responded to 3,681 calls between January and August. The average of 460 calls per month puts the yearly total on track for approximately 5,500 calls. The total for 2014 was 4,223 calls, just under 352 calls monthly.

Countywide EMS was launched in June 2011 as a pilot project, after discussions with the 21 municipalities highlighted the need to increase emergency services in Union County, and began with two ambulances donated by the Rahway Emergency Squad. On its first day, Countywide EMS answered four requests for service, close to the anticipated startup number of up to five calls daily on average. All but one of the 21 municipalities in Union County used the service during the pilot phase.

The first full year of service for Countywide EMS was 2012, during which it answered a total of 1,449 calls. In 2013 it answered 1,887 calls.

Countywide EMS makes additional ambulance service available 24/7, and can be called into service when local officials are handling multiple calls at once, or calls involving multiple victims, to ensure that emergency services are delivered as quickly as possible. It can also be used as backup when local ambulances are out of commission for unexpected maintenance or repairs, and it can serve as a standby precaution at public events.

In 2014, Countywide EMS added a third ambulance and was given the annual award for Outstanding Public EMS Agency from the New Jersey Department of Health.

Free inspections available as child seat law changes

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders announces free child safety-seat inspection opportunities as new state law takes effect.

New Jersey's new child safety-seat regulation took effect Sept. 1 and requires parents to adhere to American Academy of Pediatrics recommendations for child passenger safety. The proper use of child safety seats is one of the most effective methods available for protecting the lives of young children in the event of a motor vehicle accident.

Union County's Child Safety Seat Inspection Program is open every Wednesday and Thursday from 7:30 until 11:00 a.m. at 401 2nd Ave. in Garwood.

On Saturday, Sept. 19, as part of "National Seat Check Saturday," trained technicians will conduct child seat inspections at the Babies 'R' Us on Rt. 22 in Union, sponsored in part by AAA Northeast - NJ Division.

Certified child passenger safety technicians will check the car seat for proper installation and educate parents and guardians on using the seat correctly.

Under the new child passenger safety law:

- Children under age 2 and weighing less than 30 pounds must be secured in a rear-facing child safety seat that is equipped with five-point harness.

- Children between ages 2 to 4 and weighing up to 40 pounds must be secured in a child safety seat equipped with a five-point harness, either rear-facing — up to the height and weight limits of the seat — or forward-facing.

- Children between ages 4 and 8 and less than 57 inches tall must be secured in a forward-facing seat equipped with a five-point harness — up to the height and weight limits of the seat — or in a booster seat.

- Children ages 8 and older must use the vehicle seat belt. The safest place for children under 13 years old is the back seat.

Union County first launched the Child Safety Seat Inspection Program in 1999, in response to surveys showing that the overwhelming majority of child safety seats are improperly installed. Since 1999, approximately 50,000 Union County residents and visitors have used the Seat Inspection Program. It is staffed by personnel from the county's Department of Public Safety, who are certified by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and by the organization SafeKids.

The program is credited with saving at least one life, when a toddler survived a 2008 vehicle rollover shortly after the seat was properly adjusted by county personnel.

The child seat-inspection program is provided as a public service by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County Police Department, New Jersey Division of Highway Traffic Safety, AAA Northeast - NJ Division, and the Garwood First Aid Squad.

The Union County Sept. 11 Memorial located in Echo Lake Park in Mountainside. The county will hold a day-long memorial event, and many towns around the county will be holding events as well.

All around Union County, residents will honor victims of Sept. 11, 2001

By Peter Fiorilla
Staff Writer

Exactly 14 years after the Sept. 11, 2001, attacks on the Pentagon, United Airlines Flight 93 and the World Trade Center in New York City, events which affected many local residents and their loved ones, many communities in Union County will be holding observances and memorials at train stations, town halls and other public buildings.

The county itself will be holding a day-long service in Mountainside's Echo Lake Park, where there is a Sept. 11 memorial with the names of the Union County residents who lost their lives etched into its side. Visitors will be welcome to pay their respects at the memorial from the morning hours through 9 p.m. and honor the memories of the 60 Union County residents who died in the Sept. 11 attacks.

The Echo Lake Park memorial, which was dedicated in September of 2003, was constructed through private donations, and the residents of Cranford, Elizabeth, Kenilworth, Linden, Mountainside, Rahway, Scotch Plains, Summit, Union and Westfield helped plan and build it. It includes two girders from the World Trade Center arranged within a five-sided area representing the Pentagon, as well as an Eternal Flame representing those who died in Pennsylvania.

The city of Elizabeth will be hosting another service, called a September 11 Remembrance Ceremony, which will begin at 8:46 a.m. on Friday, Sept. 11, the exact time of the attacks on the World Trade Center. It will be held at Elizabeth Train Station at West Grand Street.

In Scotch Plains, to honor the first responders who rescued thousands of lives, and in conjunction with the Scotch Plains Fanwood Ministerium, officials will be holding an evening memorial at the Sept. 11 Memorial Monument in the Alan Augustine Park Village Green. The memorial begins at 6:30 p.m.

In Summit, a small ceremony will be held at the Summit Fire Department in the morning hours, at the same time as the Sept. 11 attacks. City staffers attend, and members of the public are welcome to join them for proceedings. A bell is rung at the moment the first tower fell, and then comments are made by Mayor Ellen Dickson, the Summit Fire Chief and other city officials.

Roselle Park will conduct a Remembrance Service on Friday, Sept. 11, at 6 p.m., and it will be hosted at Kelly-Kaulfers Memorial Park. The ceremony will honor, remember and pay respect to the victims and heroes of the Sept. 11 attacks, as well as those serving in the military, both abroad and domestic.

Roselle Park also asks that on Friday, Sept. 11, an American flag is displayed outside every home, apartment, office and store in the township, in honor of those who lost their lives in the attacks, as well as the families, friends and loved ones who are still affected.

A September 11 Day of Remembrance is being hosted by Plainfield, where residents are invited to meet on the steps of Plainfield City Hall starting at 8:30 a.m.

Bells will ring at both 8:46 a.m. and 9:03 a.m., the times of the separate attacks on the World Trade Center. The Plainfield Police Color Guard, the Plainfield Academy for the Arts and Advanced Studies, clergy members, and Mayor Adrian O. Mapp will contribute to the service.

The Linden Fire Dept. will be having a Sept. 11 memorial ceremony honoring those who lost their lives at Firehouse 1, 302 South Wood Ave., in the tear Parking Lot at the Flag Pole at 9:30 a.m.

Also in Linden, Councilwoman Michele Yamakiatis, and 8th Ward residents will hold their annual Wanda A. Green Candlelight Vigil at 6:15 p.m. at Wanda Green Park on Mack Place in Linden. The mayor and other dignitaries will be speaking.

And in Linden from 7 to 10 p.m. at the PAL Field, Lower Road in Linden, the Linden Firefighters will face off against the Linden Police Officers in their annual "Battle of the Badges" flag football game. This is the 7th annual fundraiser game and is in memory of Wanda A. Green, the Linden flight attendant that lost her life on United Flight 93. Tickets are $5 and all proceeds go to the Linden PAL.

In Kenilworth, there will be a Sept. 11 ceremony hosted by Kenilworth Borough Hall at 6 p.m.

In Union, a moment of silence will be held in the municipal building on the morning of Friday, Sept. 11.

Dreamcatcher excited for night of improv

By Peter Fiorilla
Staff Writer

SUMMIT — Anyone crowding into Dreamcatcher Repertory Theatre on Saturday, Sept. 12, will be able to call out sketch ideas, which will be relayed onstage by a host moderator. And in the confines of the 120-seat theater, during an “anything goes” night of improv comedy, the members of the audience will be encouraged to let their imaginations run wild.

As a result, the actors have no idea what to expect going into the performance, said Laura Ekstrand, the Artistic Director at the Dreamcatcher Repertory Theatre. They may end up acting like birds, planes, or Superman, or perhaps all three at the same time, or any number of different things.

But the rule of thumb in improv comedy, added Ekstrand, is to expect the unexpected.

“The kids yell out whatever movie they’d just seen, or some toy they have at home, or something. So one of the jobs of the host is to listen to all of the suggestions, and really quickly choose the one they think works best for the game. The host’s job is to moderate the input,” said Ekstrand. “It’s 50-50 with the audience. A really good improv show needs a really good audience. So unlike a play, where we kind of do what we do and they watch it, if we have a really energetic, responsive audience that’s really involved, we’re much better.”

The upcoming show, which is also the opening act of the Summit-based theater’s fall season, will be starring members of local acting company Multiple Personality Disorder, as well as guest and full-time improviser Lulu French. The acting company has been a partner with Dreamcatcher for the past 13 years, and has been at the heart of improv comedy shows for more than 21 years.

But despite that lengthy tradition, every show is unique, according to Ekstrand. The only onstage tools the actors can use are everyday objects. Everything else comes from the actors’ talent and the imagination in the room.

“Improv is a great way for an actor to keep sharp. You stay on your toes, you don’t get to be too comfortable, ever. It helps hone your spontaneity and also your risk-taking,” said Ekstrand. “It’s so important for an actor to keep taking risks in their work, and with improv, there’s nothing but. Even for a person who does a lot of straight acting, improv is like a phenomenal workout for them.”

That’s why the name Multiple Personality Disorder is fitting, added Ekstrand, as it accurately represents the wild nature of improv comedy shows. During any given night, members of the audience will rapidly suggest a variety of characters for the actors, not all of them easy or conventional. During many shows, the improvisers will each act out 25 different personalities, said Ekstrand.

And even when something goes wrong amid all of the action, the laughs keep piling on.

“People can expect something really fast-moving. Some of these bits are a couple of minutes, some of them unfold a little longer than that, but it’s a really fast-paced night, a really energetic night,” said Ekstrand. “And even if things go wrong, they’re still funny. And how wrong can they go, really? It’s actually better if everything is not perfect, because it’s funnier.”

The potential for funny miscues is always there, added Ekstrand. During one moment of a show, an actor might be playing Superman, and in the next they’re pretending to be a cat. But Dreamcatcher, which typically hosts several improv comedy shows a year, always gets a good crowd for these performances, said Ekstrand.

The theater is also a particularly good fit for improv comedy shows, added Ekstrand, because the actors are so close to the audience, as if it they were onstage in a club. That’s part of the appeal for kids, who enjoy being able to engage with the scenes unfolding in front of their eyes.

“We do have a full, professional season at the theater, but the improv nights are a way for us to be really casual with the audience,” said Ekstrand. “It’s a really fun, informal night, and we get a lot of families to come. What I’m told is that it’s really hard for parents to find a thing that tweens want to go to with them, and this happens to be something that is perfect for that age group. So that age of 10 and up come with their family, and that’s a really nice thing.”

Tickets are $20, and $15 for students 15 and younger. The performance is at Oakes Center, located at 120 Morris Ave. in Summit.

Dreamcatcher Repertory Theatre will present a night of ‘anything goes’ improv featuring Multiple Personality Disorder, an acting company that has worked with Dreamcatcher for 13 years. The show is set for Saturday, Sept. 12 in Summit.

CONTACT We Care offers tips during suicide prevention week

Suicide Prevention Week is this week, Sept. 7 to 13, and CONTACT We Care is offering tips for coping with suicidal thoughts. In addition, the crisis hotline's listeners and texters are available 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. to provide a trained empathetic ear to those who call or text looking for help when in crisis.

The hotline also will be offering Mental Health First Aid Training to the public Saturday, Sept. 19, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the RWJ Fitness Wellness Center in Clark. The cost is $75; for more information or to enroll, call 908-301-1899 or visit www.contactwecare.org.

This eight-hour course that teaches participants how to help someone who is developing a mental health problem or experiencing a mental health crisis. The training helps participants identify, understand and respond to signs of mental illnesses and substance use disorders. This training is ideal for first responders, educators, clergy, leaders of community groups and business professionals, as well as for families with members suffering from mental illness or mental health issues.

than 15,000 calls and texts annually at CONTACT We Care. Just $15 pays to answer one call or text to the hotline from someone in crisis or contemplating suicide.

"Someone dies by suicide every 14.2 minutes and more than 40,000 Americans die by suicide each year," said Joanne Oppelt, CONTACT executive director. "In addition, one in four American adults experiences mental health illness in any given year. Our mission is to both help people cope with these feelings and to be here when they call for our help."

CONTACT offers these tips for coping with suicidal thoughts:

- Promise not to do anything now.
- Try problem-solving. You may have more control over the situation than you think. If it seems insurmountable, try baby steps.

- Make your environment safe. Remove items you might be tempted to use to hurt yourself.
 - Go through reasons for living.
 - Seek human contact, even if it is just by going shopping. Don't isolate yourself.
 - Avoid alcohol and drugs.
 - Speak with someone your trust or seek professional help.
 - Call CONTACT We Care or another suicide hotline.
- CONTACT has listeners and texters are trained in helping those in crisis to find a solution and can also refer them to additional professional help.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer listener or text consultant at CONTACT We Care should contact the agency at 908-301-1899.

Alive,' Nick Ferroni," said Williams. "And then we have Lisa Cooney, who is the director of education at the Papermill Playhouse, as well as Ilene Greenbaum, who runs this great non-profit orchestra called the the Encore Orchestra of New Jersey. And there's exposure for everyone involved, as well, you never know who's in the audience."

And although the judges won't speak in-between events, "Union's Got Talent" is otherwise based on the ideas of similarly titled T.V. shows, like NBC's "America's Got Talent." The goal of the event, which conducted auditions earlier in the summer, is to find talented residents pursuing a career in the performing arts, and then help showcase their abilities to a wider audience.

"This year, we had our auditions at the end of May," said Williams. "It's a great way to kind of expose students, and other people in Union, to the different sorts of talent and art forms that we have out there."

There will be a wide variety of performances on display, added Williams, in the upcoming final round, when the performers' months of hard work will be put to the test.

The audience can come see conventional acts, such as a classical musician performing Beethoven, or the duo singing the mega pop hit "Uptown Funk" by Mark Ronson and Bruno Mars. There will also be novelty acts, said Williams, including a juggler, and other unexpected performers, such as a young jazz quartet playing a Louis Armstrong cover.

All of the members of the jazz quartet are just entering middle school, added Williams, which shows a "different art to kids their age," in the spirit of "Union's Got Talent."

And if the jazz quartet, or any other performer or group, is unable to capture first place or runner-up, they can always be rewarded for a job well done through the People's Choice Award.

"In the audience, you can vote for the contestant that you like best, or that you want to win. So in the front lobby we have bags with each contestant's photo on the front, and every dollar that you donate counts as a vote toward that contestant," said Williams. "If you vote $20, that counts as 20 votes toward that contestant, and the winner will win $250 and be crowned the 'People's Choice Winner' of 'Union's Got Talent.'"

All of the proceeds, added Williams, serve another purpose of the event, which is to raise funds that support local art programs. There are three separate groups that benefit: UHSPAC, which is "one of the top training programs for arts students in the state of New Jersey," said Williams; the Township of Union Education Foundation, which has given $150,000 in grants to Union teachers; and the Douglas Michael Krueger Scholarship fund, which has provided $25,000 in scholarships to Union High School seniors.

Each of the groups are active members in the community, said Williams, who aim to provide students with a superior arts education. And they will all have a presence at "Union's Got Talent," which will showcase the end result of that kind of creative learning.

"When we put the show together, we have packages of each contestant, so you can learn a little bit more about them before they perform. We have elementary school kids singing, and the adults that we have are great," said Williams. "We have a lot of singers this year, and there so many amazing voices that we have in our town. It's so great to be able to showcase all the different things we have to offer, in terms of the performing arts."

Mayor's Day 5K will be Sept. 20

The fifth annual Mayor's Day 5K Run is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 20, rain or shine, at Union High School on Cooke Drive. Registration begins at 7:46 a.m. with the race commencing at 9 a.m. Participants will traverse a newly-designed, USATF-certified course beginning and ending at the high school.

Eugene Mitchell of Spencer Savings Bank and Hayley O'Connor of Electro America, Inc., both of Union, have been named co-chairs of this year's 5K. Prizes will be awarded for various categories, and T-shirts and gift bags will be distributed to participants.

Masterson added that a portion of the proceeds will go to benefit a local resident, 10-year-old Benjamin Duvelson of Union, who was diagnosed with sickle cell anemia, and has endured multiple hospitalizations and treatments.

The day will also feature a Kid's Run for grades K through 5 at the high school's Cooke Memorial Football Field.

This event will begin at 10 a.m., with registration from 8 to 8:45 a.m. The cost to participate is $5, payable at the gate. There will be no preregistration — all participants must register that morning. The Kid's Run is sponsored and coordinated by the Gateway Family YMCA.

To register, visit www.runsignup.com, and enter Mayor's Day 5K. Further information is available by contacting the Chamber directly at 908-688-2777, visiting www.unionchamber.com or emailing the Chamber at executivedirector@unionchamber.com.

Grace Lutheran Church, 2222 Vauxhall Road, Union, will hold a flea market Saturday, Sept. 26, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the church grounds. The rain date is Saturday, Oct. 3. Vendor spaces are $25. Reservation forms for spaces may be picked up at the church, downloaded at www.grace-lutherannj.org, mailed or emailed. Call the church office at 908-686-3965 or email the church office at gracelu4u@yahoo.com

In addition to individual spaces, the congregation will hold a rummage sale inside Fellowship Hall, along with a bake sale. Refreshments will also be available.

Learn about Baron von Steuben at the Caldwell Parsonage, Sept. 20

Hans Arndt will recount Baron von Steuben's technical training of Washington's troops and how he helped them to defeat British forces during the American Revolution, in a presentation at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 20, at the Caldwell Parsonage, 909 Caldwell Avenue, Union.

Arndt is chairman of the Peter Muehlenberg Unit of the Steuben Society of America, a patriotic, educational association of American citizens of German descent. The Muehlenberg Unit has completed a number of projects, including annually awarding Steuben Prizes to outstanding students at New Jersey high schools, Rutgers University, the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, and the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

This event is open to the public and refreshments will be served.

Admission is free. For more information, visit www.uniontwp-historical-society.webs.com or call Barbara La Mort at 908-687-0048.

The Les Malamut Art Gallery presents "Close to Home," an exhibit of nature photographs by professional photographer Sharon Curia, through Sept. 30.

The Gallery is located on the lower level of the Union Public Library, 1980 Morris Ave., Union. The exhibit is free and open to the public during regular library hours. It is handicapped accessible. For further information visit les-malamutartgallery.wordpress.com/ or call 908-851-5450.

Police receive accreditation

The Union Police Department has received its initial law enforcement accreditation and is now an accredited agency, after a two year process.

Administered by the state Association of Chiefs of Police, the accreditation program requires agencies to comply with best practice standards in five basic areas: administrative function, personnel function, operations function, investigative function, the arrestee/detainee function.

The department must comply with more than 100 standards in order to achieve accredited status. Accreditation results in greater accountability within the agency, reduced risk and liability exposure, stronger defense against civil lawsuits, increased community advocacy, and more confidence in the agency's ability to operate efficiently and respond to community needs.

Verification by the team that the township of Union Police Department meets the commission's best practice standards is part of a voluntary process to achieve accreditation.

Accreditation is valid for a three year period during which time the agency must submit annual reports attesting to their continued compliance with those standards under which it was initially accredited.

County reminds residents to prepare for storm season

With the impact of Superstorm Sandy still lingering almost three years later, the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders reminds residents to prepare ahead as the next winter storm season approaches.

Widespread power outages, blocked roads and fuel shortages complicated recovery efforts in the immediate aftermath of Sandy, which made landfall in New Jersey on Oct. 29, 2012.

Emergency experts recommend that every household and business be prepared to spend at least three days without power or access to local grocery stores and other services.

That includes keeping a first aid kit and a supply of nonperishable food and bottled water on hand. Flashlights and other emergency equipment should also be stored in an easily accessible area, and should be checked regularly to make sure they are working properly.

For vehicle owners, preparedness also includes responding to emergency guidance such as topping off gas tanks ahead of a storm and avoiding nonessential travel during recovery.

This September marks the 11th annual National Preparedness Month, part of the Ready public service announcement campaign. The Ready campaign aims to involve individuals and entire communities in emergency preparedness and resiliency efforts. Basic steps include:

1. Identify helpful sources of information before, during and after an emergency. In addition to tuning into radio, television and online media, sign up online for free emergency alerts in Union County at ucfirstalert.org. Union County's website, ucnj.org, and social media are also updated on an emergency basis.

2. Make a plan for what to do in an emergency, including contact information for family and emergency services.

3. Build an emergency supply kit. For households with pets, carriers and other equipment should be kept handy in addition to a supply of pet food and water.

4. Get involved — the volunteer Union County Medical Reserve Corps includes residents from all walks of life who want to pitch in during and after a disaster. A wide variety of skills are welcome. For more information, contact Union County Coordinator Ella Shaykevich at 908-518-5620 or mrc@ucnj.org.

For more details about National Preparedness Month and the Ready Campaign, visit ready.gov/september or call the Union County Office of Health Management at 908-518-5620.

New record!

With school just starting, it is noteworthy that Union County College's Class of 2015 is the most successful graduating class in the College's 82-year history. The total number of graduates this year hit 1,505. That's 200 more than the prior year's record. Union County College President Margaret M. McMenamin announced the milestone achievement during the College's annual Convocation on Tuesday, Sept. 1. She said, "That's another 1,505 college-educated people to enrich our community. That's not just good for our workforce, it's good for America." This year's graduation total is nearly three times higher than it was five years ago. In addition, the three-year graduation rate for full-time students surpassed 15 percent—which is 5 percent higher than last year and the highest percentage in more than 20 years.

SPRINGFIELD NEWS

Indoor flea market scheduled for Oct. 24

Springfield Presbyterian Church, 37 Church Mall in Springfield, will host its seventh annual Indoor Flea Market on Saturday, Oct. 24, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Vendors are sought for the event. An 8-foot table will be provided for the cost of $25, which is payable at the time of reservation. First paid, first reserved. There is on-site parking.

The Presbyterian Women's Group will offer refreshments for sale. Tables have "sold out" quickly in the past, so don't delay. Vendors will not be permitted to sell food. The church reserves the right to prohibit the sale of "inappropriate" or manufacturer's recalled items. Call the church office at 973-379-4320 for reservations before Oct. 9. The reservation form can be found at www.springfieldpresbyterian.com.

Pantozzi painting to be on display at library

Paintings of the late Salvatore Pantozzi will be exhibited in the Donald B. Palmer Museum of the Springfield Free Public Library from Sept. 8 to 30, with an opening reception Wednesday, Sept. 9, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

A World War II Army veteran, Pantozzi studied art by mail with the International Correspondence School. The trauma of war restricted him to painting what he could see from the windows of his apartment in Jersey City, and he worked mostly in pastels, crayon, oils and corrugated cardboard. He died in 2000 and is interred at Arlington National Cemetery.

The Donald B. Palmer Museum and the Springfield Free Public Library are located at 66 Mountain Ave. For more information, visit www.springfieldpubliclibrary.com.

Babe Ruth documentary to premiere Sept. 21

A screening of "I'll Knock a Homer for You," a documentary film about Babe Ruth, will take place at the Springfield Free Public Library at 7 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 21, in the library's Donald B. Palmer Museum. The film shines a spotlight on one of baseball's most enduring legends, the promise made by Babe Ruth to hit a home run for an ailing boy during the fourth game of the 1926 World Series. Although the boy in question, one Johnny Sylvester, was not expected to survive his illness, he regained his health and lived to a ripe old age, able to share his remembrances of that time with his great nephew, Andrew Lilley, who created the film. Lille will be on hand at the screening to answer audience questions about this true story.

"I'll Knock a Homer for You" was the winner of the 2013 Garden State Film Festival Best Home-Grown Documentary Award and was screened at the 2013 Baseball Film Festival at the National Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. A two-minute trailer for the film can be viewed at <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1xkOCdq5Qc>.

The Springfield Free Public Library is located at 66 Mountain Avenue. More information about the library can be found at www.springfieldpubliclibrary.com or by visiting the library on Facebook.

Highlands documentary to be screened Sept. 10

The Springfield Free Public Library will present a screening of the documentary film, "The Highlands Rediscovered," at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 10, in the library's Donald B. Palmer Museum. This 30-minute documentary, filmed in 2004, provides a history of the Highlands region and explains why it became the source of clean drinking water for more than half of the population of New Jersey. The film details how the ecological functions of the Highlands forests cleanse rain as it percolates into aquifers and ultimately into surface reservoirs. It also presents the challenges the Highlands region is faced with in retaining its important forests under ongoing pressures to develop the land.

Staff members of the New Jersey Highlands Coalition will be available following the film to answer questions and to discuss the importance of Highlands to the water supply, outdoor recreation, tourist economies, and quality of life issues for all of New Jersey. Current threats to the Highlands will also be discussed.

A Word From Your Pharmacist

Presented by Michael Hertz, R.Ph.

WARNING OF ABUSE OF POWER

The term "opioid" refers to a group of pain-relieving drugs that are derived from opium and synthetic versions that work in a similar manner. Drugs such as hydrocodone (Vicodin) and oxycodone (Oxycontin, Percocet, Percodan) are the most widely used of these drugs, which are prescribed to treat severe, acute pain that follows surgery or serious injury. These drugs, which also exert a powerful psychological effect, are among the most abused opioids. As a result of taking oral opioids beyond the period of acute pain, patients can develop physical or psychological dependence and addiction that can lead to overdosing. With this in mind, patients are strongly urged to follow their prescribing physicians' guidance in gradually tapering off their dosages.

HINT: The American Academy of Pain Medicine's guidelines for opioid therapy provide recommendations for using long-term opioid therapy safely without developing tolerance or addiction.

SUMMIT NEWS

Farmers Market Cookbook to go on sale

In celebration of 20 years of market excellence, Summit Downtown Inc. has created the "Summit Farmers Market 20th Anniversary Cookbook," a collection of simple recipes from its market participants and local friends. The cookbook will be available for sale on Sunday, Sept. 13, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Summit Farmers Market, located on the corner of DeForest Avenue and Maple Street in Summit.

Beginning at 11 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 13, Chef Jesse Jones will prepare several dishes from the cookbook, including roasted corn salad and tomato-watermelon salad, with samples available for market visitors. Cookbooks will be sold for $10 each, and a portion of the proceeds will be donated to Saint Ann's Soup Kitchen in Newark.

The Summit Farmers Market is at the forefront of a national trend toward cooking with local and seasonal ingredients. For 20 years, SDI has hosted the Summit Farmers Market, curating a vibrant mix of the best local farmers and purveyors. To preorder a copy of the Summit Farmers Market cookbook, visit summitfarmersmarket.com or call SDI at 908-277-6100.

Old Guard to learn about health records

Pat Stelmach, Manager, Sage Eldercare in Summit, will speak to the Old Guard of Summit at its Tuesday, Sept. 15, meeting at the New Providence Municipal Center, 360 Elkwood Ave., New Providence. A coffee hour starts at 9:15 a.m., followed by a 10 a.m. business meeting brightened by singing and humor. The speaker begins at 10:30 a.m.

Stelmach, a registered nurse, She will speak on "Personal Health Records: What You Need to Know." She will describe what is meant by a PHR. The PHR is an important tool which collects and tracks current information about your health. It can be shared among all those providing medical services and avoids the need to repeat routine medical tests, saving time, money and personal inconvenience. Associated with Sage Eldercare for a number of years, Stelmach will also update listeners on the current activities of Sage.

All age 50-plus active men are invited to attend the Tuesday morning meetings of the Summit Area Old Guard. Old Guard members participate in sports, bridge, hikes, trips, plays, concerts and other cultural events. Call Jim Hewitt at 908-233-5507 for more information, or visit www.summitoldguard.org.

Summits replacing curbs, wheelchair ramps

The Summit Department of Community Services has contracted with Cifelli & Sons General Contracting to replace wheelchair ramps and repair deteriorated sections of sidewalk and curbs in the downtown beginning Aug. 31.

Work will take place throughout the downtown over the next few months. Repairs will begin on the section of Springfield Avenue between Kent Place Boulevard and Woodland Avenue, and take approximately seven days to complete, weather permitting. Repairs will continue on Springfield Avenue between Woodland Avenue and Maple Street.

Additional information on this project and a timeline of repairs by block is available on the city website, or contact the Engineering Department at 908-273-6404.

Pebble Players hold auditions

Pebble Players, the youth division of Stony Hill Players, announces auditions for "Curtains, the Musical" on Friday, Sept. 11, from 4 to 8 p.m., and Saturday, Sept. 12, from 10 to 3 p.m. Call-backs will be held Sunday, Sept. 13.

Performance dates are Nov. 6, 7, 8, 13, 14 and 15. Actors must be between ages 12 and 18, and should prepare one Broadway song and wear appropriate attire for a dance audition. All auditions are by appointment, to schedule an audition time, email pebbleplayers@verizon.net. A pianist will be provided for auditions.

Stony Hill Players is located at The Oakes Center, 120 Morris Ave., Summit. For more information, visit <http://www.stony-hillplayers.org>.

Library card offers more than just books

A library card from the Summit Free Public Library provides free access to best-selling books, recent DVDs, magazines, audio-books, e-books, and more. In September, Library Card Sign-Up Month, the library is partnering with 13 local businesses to offer card-holders a variety of special offers and discounts.

Show your card at the following local businesses for great deals: The Connection, The DeBary Inn, Edible Arrangements of Summit, Junior League of Summit Thrift Shop, Momentum Cycling & Fitness, New Jersey Dance Theatre Ensemble, Summit Video Productions, The Sweat Factory, Sweet Nothings, The Teapot, The UPS Store of Summit, Verizon Wireless and The Woodhouse Day Spa. For details of the offers, pick up a flier at the library, visit the website at www.summitlibrary.org, or stop by one of the participating businesses.

The Summit Free Public Library is located at 75 Maple St., Summit. Regular library hours are Monday through Thursday, from 9 am - 9 p.m., Friday and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday, 1 to 5 p.m. For more information, call the library at 908-273-0350.

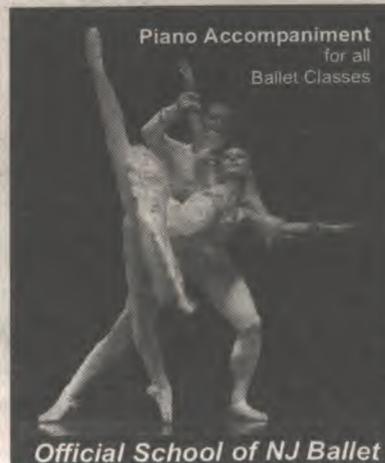

Safety beacon installed in Summit

Summit announces a safety improvement at the corner of Elm and Broad streets with the installation of a solar-powered, Rectangular Rapid Flash Beacon in the high traffic area directly across from the Summit Train Station.

Before entering the crosswalk, pedestrians activate the beacon by pushing a button. Once the button is pushed, voice prompts provide instruction. If the button is held for more than two seconds, Spanish translation is provided.

"A flashing beacon is a powerful tool for reducing crashes between vehicles and pedestrians at mid-block pedestrian crossings by increasing driver awareness of potential pedestrian conflicts," said Summit Police Lieutenant David Richel. "It is an excellent safety enhancement for Summit at an extremely busy crossing near the train station."

Motorists in New Jersey are required by state law to stop for pedestrians in a marked crosswalk.

Union works with Bed Bath and Beyond on traffic flow problems

By Patrick Bober
Regional Editor

UNION — When Bed Bath and Beyond moved their corporate headquarters to Union in recent years, the company brought along much needed jobs. But it also brought with it too much traffic, and now the town has worked with the company to come up with a solution.

The company's headquarters are located on Liberty Avenue, just before it turns into Springfield Road, not far from Route 22. And according to Township Administrator Ron Manzella, the traffic has been a sore spot in an otherwise great relationship with the company, but no one is letting the traffic ruffle any feathers. Instead, the town and Bed Bath and Beyond are working together to solve the problem.

"There has been an increase in traffic and in a partnership with Bed Bath and Beyond, there has been the addition of a second traffic signal," said Manzella in an interview last week. "And we are widening the street on Springfield Avenue for a dedicated right turn lane."

The traffic and the solutions, Manzella said, is "really primarily for rush hours," as much of the traffic is in the early morning and evening, but added "the traffic models have shown a significant increase in traffic flow."

According to Manzella, Bed Bath and Beyond recently sought a variance to buy the property at the corner of Liberty and Rahway avenues, knock the building down and build a parking lot. But part of the agreement with the town included an agreement to help with the traffic problems.

Manzella said when the traffic leaves the corporate headquarters, it stops in the street and has effects on all drivers. The new traffic light, he said, would see employees having a long queue time, but the traffic getting away from the area faster.

The agreement between Union and Bed Bath and Beyond, which has been called a "fair share agreement," sees the corporation paying slightly more for the traffic improvement, which is slated to cost around $1.1 million.

According to information provided to LocalSource, the responsibilities of Bed Bath and Beyond include a new traffic signal at the 650 Liberty Avenue driveway with a pedestrian crossing; changes to the traffic signal on Rahway Avenue; center lane striping improvement; and various other driveway improvements.

The township's portion of the "fair share agreement" includes traffic signal improvements at Springfield and Milltown roads and the widening of Springfield Road to fit a dedicated right turn at Milltown Road.

Manzella did not have the exact figures readily available when he spoke to LocalSource, but estimated the split in costs was about 60 percent for Bed Bath and Beyond and 40 percent for the township.

Mayor Manuel Figueredo has praised Bed Bath and Beyond for being a "good tenant and neighbor to our residents," and the work is scheduled to be completed before 2016.

PSORIASIS RUNS MORE THAN SKIN DEEP

Most people are aware that psoriasis, which affects about 7.5 million people in this country, is a chronic inflammatory skin condition that causes itchy red plaques on the skin. Severe cases, in which large areas of the body are affected, have been linked with the development of arthritis, depression, and other problems.

Recently, evidence has come forth to show that women with psoriasis also run a higher risk of developing diabetes and high blood pressure. These new findings may be related to the inflammation that causes the skin condition. Some dermatologists, therefore, are suggesting that psoriasis should perhaps be considered more of a systemic disorder than merely a skin disease. In any case, women suffering from psoriasis should take heed.

When you have any dermatological problem, please call 908-925-8877 to schedule an appointment. Our office is located at 515 North Wood Ave., Linden. New patients of all ages are welcomed.

P.S. Because the new findings mentioned above were restricted solely to Caucasian women, they cannot be more generally applied to men or other races.

Parking 'a problem for the students'

resulted in parking at Kean becoming a nightmare, even under the current conditions of low enrollment at Kean's Union campus," Castiglione told LocalSource in September of 2014. "Parking, always a challenge, has now become an academic crisis, preventing faculty and students alike from getting to class on time and thereby undermining teaching and learning at Kean."

Castiglione, while more muted when reached earlier this week, said this issue is still very likely a problem.

"It certainly seems to be a problem for the students," he said in an interview on Tuesday. "In fact, I had a student arrive 30 minutes late to class this morning because she couldn't find parking."

Castiglione said he knows of many professors that give students some leeway during the first week or so of the school year, but he ultimately pointed out that the issue is not a new one.

"If you go back to the bonding that the university did a decade ago," he said, "that bonding was going to be explicitly for a student parking deck. And that money got redirected to other building projects, that have had the effect of decreasing the amount of surface lot parking available. So it's a double whammy. The amount of parking spaces have gone down for various factors, and they didn't build a parking deck like they should have."

In a statement provided Tuesday to LocalSource, Kean admitted parking can be a "challenge," but also talked about the multitude of options available to students.

"Parking on the main campus at Kean University can be a challenge at certain times during the day," said a statement provided by Margaret McCorry, director of media relations for Kean University. Parking currently is available to all students on the Main Campus and East Campus, and at the Green Lane Building and STEM Building. A convenient shuttle service helps students and staff navigate the campus when parking is not immediately available adjacent to academic buildings. All parking is free to students, a benefit that is not offered universally at New Jersey college and universities. While we continue to seek additional parking facilities, we encourage the Kean community to take public transportation, with incentives such as the Quik-Tik partnership with New Jersey Transit that gives students a 25-percent discount on monthly bus, train or light rail passes."

And while the university says they are trying their best, it might not be enough for some as the 2015-16 school year gets underway.

On Tuesday morning on Twitter, on the page of one user who calls his or herself "Not Dawood Farahi," — a page usually critical of the university — one follower shared the following remark.

"Kean could at least buy some property for more parking spaces bruh. Not no ... table," a reference to the $220,000 conference table purchased by Kean last year.

Another user on Tuesday morning tweeted "Parking here at Kean is bananas in pajamas b. I'm bout to go home," on the same page.

In fact, a quick search of popular social media sites displays a large amount of anger directed at the school from alleged students for failing to provide ample parking going back to 2012.

Last year, for instance, students were able to park on the soccer field behind the campus and given a free shuttle to get them closer to their classrooms. But this action only caused someone to create an online petition on the website change.org, asking for President Dawood Farahi to fix the problem.

The petition received 340 online supporters, many of them posting anger-filled comments before petering out almost a year ago. Another petition on the website received nearly 1,000 supporters and asked for the firing of Farahi, but that, too, petered out about nine months ago.

The school year at Kean University has only just begun, and only time will tell if parking issues at the school will have a profound effect or simply be a nuisance.

File Photos

Above: A photo of cars parked on a soccer field at Kean University was used as the cover photo for an online petition at www.change.org asking Kean University to install more parking spots. The petition is from 2014, and has not been added to in almost a year. Below: Some faculty have noted that new buildings, like the Green Lane Building recently constructed, have actually taken away parking space, and a parking deck that was talked about a decade ago was never built.

THE HIGH HOLIDAY ROSH HASHANAH

Sunday, Sept. 13th thru Tuesday, Sept. 15th

Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year, is one of Judaism's holiest days. Meaning "head of the year" or "first of the year," the festival begins on the first day of Tishrei, the seventh month of the Hebrew calendar, which falls during September or October. Rosh Hashanah commemorates the creation of the world and marks the beginning of the Days of Awe, a 10-day period of introspection and repentance that culminates in the Yom Kippur holiday, also known as the Day of Atonement. Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur are the two "High Holy Days" in the Jewish religion.

Unlike modern New Year's celebrations, which are often raucous parties, Rosh Hashanah is a subdued and contemplative holiday. Because Jewish texts differ on the festival's length, Rosh Hashanah is observed for a single day by some denominations and for two days by others. Work is prohibited, and religious Jews spend much of the holiday attending synagogue. Because the High Holy Day prayer services include distinct liturgical texts, songs and customs, rabbis and their congregations read from a special prayer book known as the machzor during both Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.

The sounding of the shofar—a trumpet made from a ram's horn—is an essential and emblematic part of both Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. The ancient instrument's plaintive cry serves as a call to repentance and a reminder to Jews that God is their king.

Tradition requires the shofar blower to play four sets of notes on Rosh Hashanah: tekiah, a long blast; shevarim, three short blasts; teruah, nine staccato blasts; and tekiah gedolah, a very long blast. Because of this ritual's close association with Rosh Hashanah, the holiday is also known as Yom Teruah—the day of the sounding of the shofar.

Job Search Work Team now has evening meetings

The Job Search Work Team has expanded its services to include evening meetings with Tony Calabrese as facilitator at Willow Grove Presbyterian Church in Scotch Plains at 9:30 a.m. The nonsectarian help group is free and open to the public, and now includes quarterly evening meetings to help network people in the job market who are transitioning or those who are in daytime schooling or job training. To date, the Job Search Work Team has benefitted more than 400 individuals since 2009.

The Job Search Work Team was developed several years ago to aid in the career-transitions process. Calabrese, Five O'Clock Club certified career coach, has facilitated the group since January 2013. He is trained to walk members through a five-step process of transition, spanning from assessing one's employment needs to following up and feedback from the employer.

For information about the Job Search Work Team quarterly evening meetings, call the Willow Grove Presbyterian Church office at 908-232-5678 or email the group facilitator directly at tony@absolutetransitions.com. Meetings are free and open to all. Willow Grove Church is wheelchair accessible with ample on-site parking. Calabrese is president of Absolute Transitions LLC, a career-development and coaching-services company.

Movie night in Cranford, Sept. 12

Grab your lawn chairs and blankets on Saturday, Sept. 12, and come spend a summer evening out under the stars with family and friends. Spencer Savings Bank and The Hanson Park Conservancy invite residents to a free family movie night with "Movies Under the Stars", at Hanson Park. In the feature film, a loveable misfit from another planet, Boov, lands on Earth and finds himself on the run from his own people. He forms an unlikely friendship with an adventurous girl named Tip who is on a quest of her own. Through a series of comic adventures they come to understand that being different and making mistakes is all part of being human.

Door prizes will be raffled off and freshly popped popcorn/refreshments will be served. So gather your family and friends and head over to Hanson Park on Springfield Avenue. The movie will begin at dusk (around 7:00 pm) so arrive early for a good spot. The rain date is scheduled for Sunday, September 13th.

Due to licensing regulations, the name of the movie cannot be mentioned. If you have any questions regarding this event email Janel Bazih, Marketing Manager atjbazih@spencersavings.com.

Harpist to play at library, Sept. 28

The Friends of the Cranford Public Library will welcome acclaimed harpist and multi-instrumentalist William Jackson on Monday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the Cranford Community Center, 220 Walnut Ave. Jackson hails from Glasgow, where he has been at the forefront of Scottish traditional music for more than 30 years.

In addition to his stature as one of the Scotland's leading harpist, he is an internationally renowned composer. Jackson was a founding member of Ossian in 1976, which became one of Scotland's best-loved traditional bands.

The band, which influenced a generation of musicians, toured the U.S. and Europe extensively. Admission to the program is free and all are welcome. For information about other upcoming programs, go to cranford.com/library and click on the "Events & Programs" tab near the top of the page.

Register for fall programs in Cranford

The Cranford Recreation and Parks Department reminds residents that registration for fall programs begins Saturday, Sept. 19, at 9 a.m. at the Community Center. Register in person or online at <http://register.community-pass.net/cranford>.

A brochure was mailed to all Cranford residents and can also be found online at www.cranford.com/rec. Select "information" for registration information and the online brochure. For more information, call 709-7283.

Learn about Medicare, Sept. 17

Douglas and Justin Lubenow of Senior Advisors will present a program entitled "What Baby Boomers Need to Know about Medicare" on Thursday, Sept. 17, from 3 to 4:30 p.m. and again from 6 to 7:30 p.m. in the Cranford Community Center, 220 Walnut Ave. Learn the five biggest mistakes made by Medicare beneficiaries, the difference between original Medicare and Medicare Advantage plans, how Medicare supplement policies work, how Medicare prescription drug programs work, when to sign up for Medicare, what Medicare does and does not cover, what to expect to pay in health care costs, and why most people pay too much for Medicare coverage. Both sessions cover the same material. Admission is free and all are welcome.

Staged reading set for Sept. 19

Members of the Theater Project will present a staged reading of "Between a Princess and a Witch," a new play by Luigi Jannuzzi, on Saturday, Sept. 19, at 2 p.m. in the Cranford Community Center, 220 Walnut Ave. Jannuzzi describes the play as "the life of an actress told through the eyes of 23 women, 11 comedic one-acts, and four monologues. Are you the stuff that dreams are made of?"

The Theater Project is an acclaimed, New Jersey-based professional theater group and the winner of two New Jersey Tony Awards. Following the reading, the audience will have the opportunity to discuss the play with the author. Admission is free and all are welcome. The program is sponsored by the Friends of the Cranford Public Library. For more information about upcoming programs sponsored by the Friends of the Library, go to cranford.com/library and click on the "Events & Programs" tab at the top of the page.

OPINION

On Patriot Day, remember those who died

EDITORIAL

Fourteen years ago, everything changed. Fourteen years isn't really that much time, barely a tick on the clock, geologically speaking, but when the four airplanes were hijacked on the morning of Sept. 11, 2001, the United States was thrust into an entirely different arena than we had been in before that fateful day.

We had almost been forced into the world of international terrorism when, on Feb. 26, 1993, a truck bomb detonated at the base of the North Tower of the World Trade Center, with the intent of causing that tower to fall into the South Tower, killing thousands. That didn't happen though, although it did kill six people and injure more than a thousand.

It also proved to be an audition for eight years later, when two hijacked passenger airliners crashed, one into each of the towers, bringing them both to the ground less than two hours later. When the number who died at what would become known as "Ground Zero" was added to those who died when a third hijacked passenger flight was crashed into the Pentagon and a fourth hijacked passenger flight heading for either the Capitol Building or the White House was retaken by passengers before it crashed into a field near Shanksville, Pa., the death toll was a staggering 2996 people, including the 19 hijackers.

Today is a much different world. In the wake of what became known as simply "9/11," the United States Department of Homeland Security was created with a primary responsibility of protecting our nation from and responding to terrorist attacks, man-made accidents and natural disasters. Signed into law in 2002, the Homeland Security Act combined a large number of services previously conducted by the Customs Service, Coast Guard and U.S. Secret Service to prevent terrorist attacks in the United States with regard to preparedness and response to serious incidents.

The USA Patriot Act was also passed by Congress to help detect and prosecute terrorism and other crimes. The incidents of terror, be they bombings, hijacking or snipers, that we had once only read about occurring in other seemingly far-off countries, had come home to roost, but we would turn a blind eye no longer.

As can be expected when a country assumes greater responsibility for the safety of its citizens, there has been a sometimes justified cry of concern regarding the threat to our civil liberties, particularly that of privacy, especially with the far-reaching powers granted these protective arms of government. Recent attacks on information on Google and the iCloud, allegedly by foreign nations, as well as the urging of more body cameras in the wake of incidents of violence with the police, have only highlighted the fine line we walk between protection by government and protection from it.

Ours is a nation whose very freedoms make it a target of criticism and hatred, but it is something well worth fighting to protect. We should celebrate our freedoms by not taking them for granted. We are always trying to build a better United States; on Patriot Day, remember those who died while living the American dream.

Letting the bad news pass

Last week an email arrived from a family friend in Boston inquiring over the news report that went nationwide about a so called "fight club" at a Cranford day care center. The vast majority of locals never heard of the Lightbridge Academy, but for a few days the primed law enforcement public relations crew and the news stations delivered some unwelcomed notoriety to the township.

It raises the question what to do when bad news pops up for which the community had nothing whatsoever to do with its happening.

Take the example of the survey from NJ Monthly of its "Top to Bottom" of the best and worst municipalities to live in the state. In the past, the good ratings resulted in banners in the downtown, plugs on the local cable station, and a delight for real estate agents selling houses.

The other side of the coin results when the ratings are lousy. In a stunner, Linden was ranked 37th from the bottom. To give some comparison, Plainfield at 44 from the bottom, Roselle at 48th and Rahway at 84 were given better ratings. While the leaders of these towns sure won't be trumpeting the results, the Linden numbers are baffling.

The basis for the survey includes "home values, property tax rates, school performance and some undefined "life style factor." Linden has a pretty vibrant central business area, great access to a train service, fun places like Big Stash's and the Carvel store which from this corner deserves landmark status. Sections like Sunnyside provide well-built tailored lawns, and the local tax rate is better than that of many. The new school year program "Rise up to the Challenge" is also impressive.

From the city's perspective, a public relations pro who has been involved in past political campaigns in the city, advises to just let the bad news pass.

"In the 24-7 news cycle raising the bad news item can have the result of reinforcing its impact," he said. Translated it means don't counter attack, a.k.a. Donald Trump style, but consider the impact on the community.

Sometimes the bad news comes when you are not mentioned at all. Take the annual survey last week of Politicker NJ which serves the daily needs of the political "junkies" in the state. They listed the "30 Most Influential Women of the State". Some were obvious like Lt. Gov. Kim Guadagno, the first lady, Camden Mayor

Dana Redd and outspoken State Sen. Loretta Weinberg. There was also included a bevy of lobbyists, labor reps and attorney's known in the inside world of Trenton politics. From both the list and the honorable mentions, however, there was not one Union County female included.

Sometimes the people in charge of the lists can hurt us all even though they have no notoriety.

Last week U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Robert Drain developed his own list. Here's betting that the overwhelming majority of county lawyers, let alone citizens who never heard of Judge Drain. Some may speculate he is aptly named. Still for the unions of A&P workers, he ruled that the $300 entitled to each worker for every year of severance was being cut to $156.

Come next week the local school boards throughout the county will start meeting. Most will have the benefit of coverage by the local cable station.

Last week there was an announcement that state wide the college senior SAT scores were 10 points less than in the past.

Maybe there will be debating over the value of the test how the individual towns scored. Or maybe they will follow the consultants' advice and just let the bad news pass.

Our towers, our 'Windows of the World'

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

BY DANIEL JACKOVINO

Editor's Note: This column originally appeared in Worrall Community Newspapers in September of 2011.

The only time I went to the top of a Twin Tower was July 30, 1974. This roof was never opened to the public.

Eight days later, Philippe Petit, another non-tourist, made his only walk across the towers. Imagine if I had bumped into him.

Petit, an aerialist, and his crew of helpers, disguised as construction workers, snuck up to the tops of both towers on Aug. 8 of that year. They strung a wire between the roofs and Petit spent about an hour walking back and forth a quarter mile above the street.

Fortunately, I got there before he did. It must have been difficult afterwards to get to either roof unless you actually belonged there. There must have been more security after his tightrope performance, which at the time was the only unthinkable thing that could happen to the towers.

But on the day I went to the roof of the North Tower, the one which would have the antenna, getting there was not a problem. I was with two friends and I parked my car right against the base of that tower. I really mean it. The area was a packed dirt construction site off West Street and I just pulled in and parked a foot from the building. As I said, things were different then.

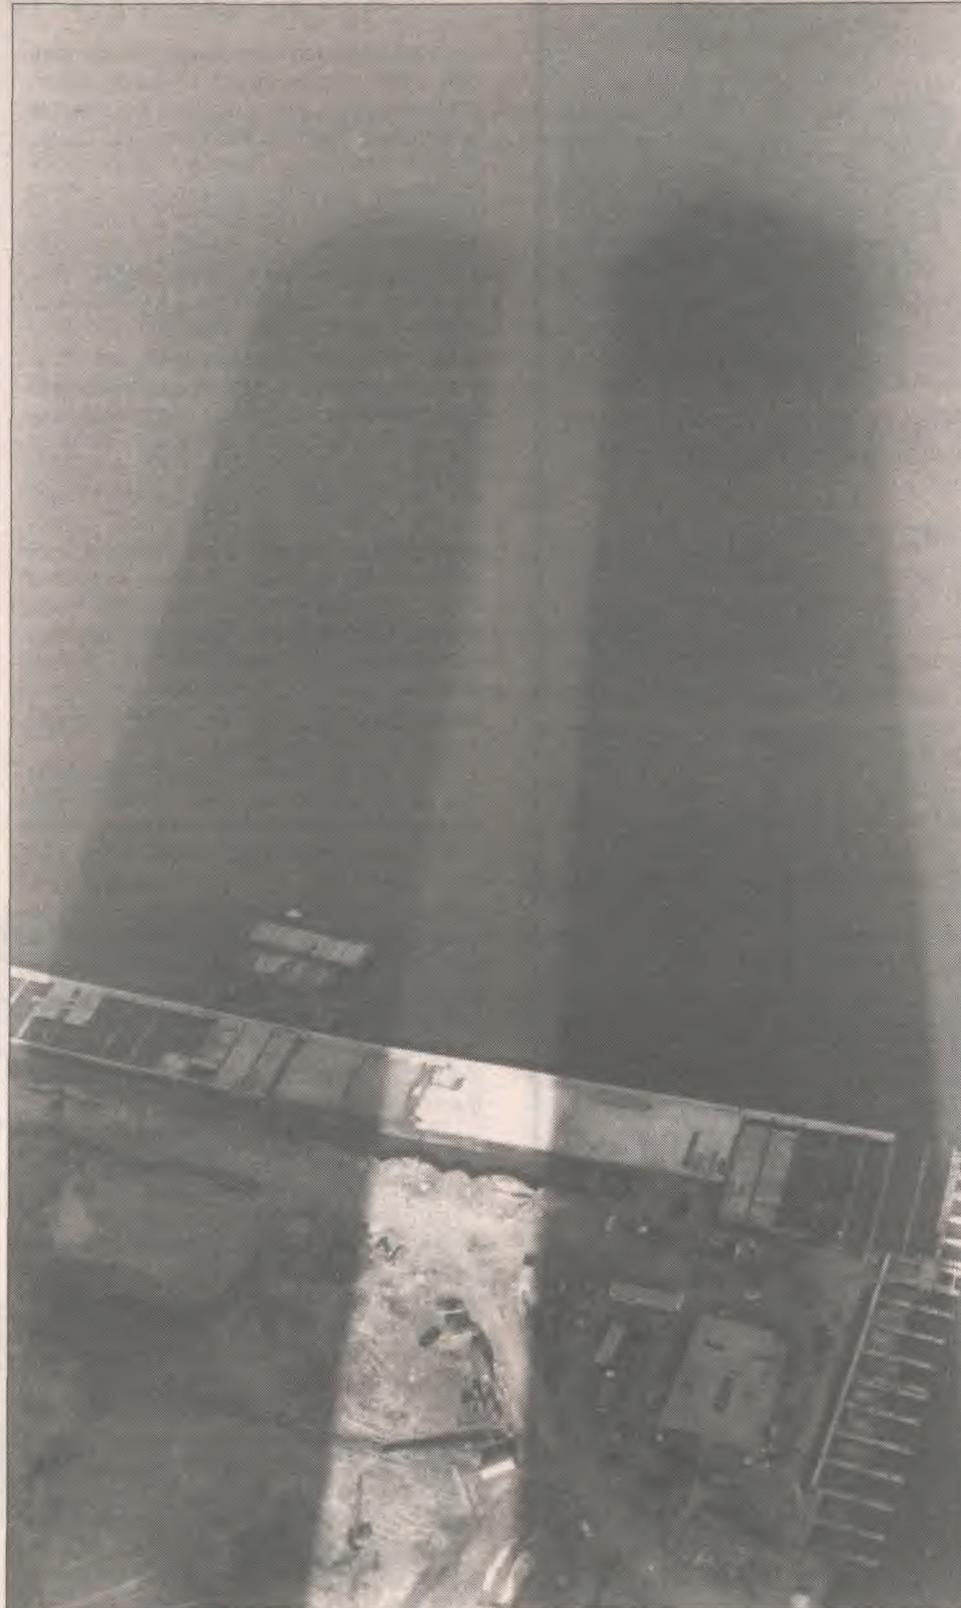

We were told the elevators only went to the 40th floor. I remember that because we understood as we boarded the elevator we would need to walk up 70 floors to reach the top.

There were only people in business attire in the elevator when its doors closed. I don't recall any suspicion from our fellow riders, but maybe there was some. I mean, we looked so different from them. We were in our early 20s, were dressed in jeans and I was holding a camera.

But when the doors opened, we found the stairway and without a second thought, up we went. While climbing those stairs we'd occasionally open a door just to see if there was anything going on. The rooms and hallways were always empty.

I forget how long it took us, or what we talked about or what songs we sang — the improbable human sounds we gave to that tower's early life. That's how I like to think of it now. Nor do I recall if we ever stopped to rest long enough to laugh, but we probably did. I wish I could remember all those things because I don't see those guys anymore; we went our separate ways. But I remember some joyous times we had together.

And because the three of us didn't know what to expect as we got closer to the top, I wonder now how we acted as we counted off the last floors.

The shadows of the Twin Towers over the Hudson River in July of 1974, taken from the roof of the north tower before construction was completed.

But finally there were no more stairs and only a last door. We opened it to the 110th floor and looked into the room where Windows on the World would someday be. I recall there being a large rectangular opening in the floor somewhere on the 110th floor. I don't remember exactly where, but there was this gaping hole. We thought it must be an elevator shaft. Yet there wasn't a tape or a cone or warning sign near it.

We walked outside to a corridor which was about four feet above our heads on both sides and opened to the sky. I wish I could remember more here. But to the right, above our heads, was the top edge of the tower and above us to the left was the edge of the roof.

We wondered how we'd get to the roof. But turning a corner, we discovered a ladder. It was a wooden ladder, leaning against the roof's edge and it was hand-made from irregular lengths of two by fours. My friends and I were amused because it seemed out of place considering the way it was made and where it led to. But it worked, and we climbed up and stepped onto a roof of the world.

It was flat. In fact, it was the flattest surface on which I had ever stepped my feet. It must have been that way because there was only roof and edges and looking past those edges was frightening for me. Everything else was a distance away and far below. The only thing "out there" was the remote and unattainable presence of the South Tower. But that perception would change in eight days because of Monsieur Petit.

But there was another man on the roof with us; a construction worker. He was near the edge of the tower, working on something and he greeted us. It wasn't "Hey, what are you doing here?" He talked instead about the weather and said we should have come the day before when the sky was clearer.

We asked him about the hole in the floor and he confirmed our suspicions. It was an elevator shaft, 70 stories down. There was also a bracket in the middle of the roof. He said it would hold an antenna.

I took a picture of him. I also took a picture of my friends with their arms around each other's shoulders with the Empire State Building in the distance — between their embrace. Then I went down the ladder, and into the future Windows on the World.

The windows went from ceiling to floor. I took a picture from here of the shadows of the Twin Towers falling onto the Hudson River with the construction site below. I took two shots from the same spot, the only difference being the movement of a barge on the river.

Then my friends and I left. We descended the 70 floors to the 40th floor, took the elevator to the lobby and walked around downtown for awhile, leaving the car parked at the site until we went home.

Eight days later, Petit did his thing. My friends and I laughed because we never thought we'd have to sneak up the morning we went to the World Trade Center. We only knew they were our towers and we were free.

We are deep into tomato season and I am looking for ways to use up my tomatoes other than raw tomato salads. Using flavorful chicken sausages is a great way to add flavor and texture to your tomatoes. Enjoy!

Chicken Sausage with Stewed Tomatoes

Ingredients

2 Chicken sausages, chopped; I like Aidell's brand
1 Tbs. olive oil
1 very large tomato, chopped and seeded
3 large cloves garlic, minced or through a press
1/4 tsp. smoked paprika
pinch salt

Method

In a medium-sized frying pan over a low flame, heat up the oil.

Add in chopped sausage and saute until browned. Remove from pan and place on a plate nearby.

Add in the prepared garlic to the pan and saute a few minutes, cautious not to let it get too brown.

Add in the chopped tomato and saute a few minutes.

Add the sausage back in and stir so all the ingredients are combined.

Add in the smoked paprika and salt and stir.

Serve hot with rice.

Preserving the great gardens of America

THE GARDENER'S APPRENTICE

BY ELISABETH GINSBURG

Great gardens have much in common with other works of art — form, color, structure, light, space and an indefinable “something” that draws viewers in. Unlike other masterpieces, however, gardens are ephemeral. Any gardener can tell you what happens when you leave a landscape untended for even a month. Lines blur, thuggish plants grow large, while less robust species languish. Left long enough, a garden can disappear all together.

In 1988, octogenarian gardener Ruth Bancroft feared that her magnificent California desert garden would suffer that fate. Salvation arrived in the form of a visit from financier and horticulturist Frank Cabot, who was so taken with the Bancroft landscape that he began pondering ways to preserve it. His wife suggested a conservancy and that idea took flight the following year when the Garden Conservancy was launched. The group's large mission was defined by a short statement: “The Garden Conservancy saves and shares outstanding American gardens for the education and inspiration of the public.”

That inspiration now spills forth from the pages of a new book, “Outstanding American Gardens: A Celebration — 25 Years of the Garden Conservancy.” Timed to coincide with the organization's 25th anniversary, the gorgeously illustrated volume highlights two kinds of gardens. The first are those that the conservancy has helped preserve and transform from private Edens to public gardens. The second are private gardens whose owners share them as part of the conservancy's annual Garden Open Days program.

The text is by author and horticulturist Page Dickey, whose own garden, Duck Hill, in North Salem, N.Y., is featured in the book. The sumptuous illustrations are by Marion Brenner. Fittingly, the first pages of the book are devoted to pictures of the Bancroft garden, now open to the public, thanks to the work of the conservancy. Backlit by the western sun, various cacti and succulents glow, making it easy to understand why the landscape took Cabot's breath away over a quarter century ago.

The featured “Preservation Gardens” show the breadth of the conservancy's reach, including notable landscapes from Orting, Wash., to Washington, Conn. Among the most unusual are the gardens on Alcatraz Island, a rocky outcropping in San Francisco Bay, which has been, at various times, a military base, a military prison and a civilian prison.

Over the life of the institution, military families, as well as prisoners, have tended colorful, productive gardens, which fell into neglect when Alcatraz Prison was closed in 1963. The conservancy helped restore the gardens, which are now open to the public.

Pearl Fryar's Topiary Garden in Bishopville, S.C., is a living reminder of what can be accomplished by an “ordinary” individual blessed with extraordinary vision and imagination. The Fryar Topiary Garden, a residential property and former cornfield, is a joyful showcase of shrubs sculpted into all manner of traditional and whimsical topiary forms. Many of those shrubs were “throw aways” from local retailers that Pearl Fryar, a former factory worker, clipped, sculpted and transformed into living works of art. The Garden Conservancy, in turn, has worked since 2006 to help transform Fryar's masterpiece into a living public institution.

My own home state of New Jersey is represented by two gardens in the “Private Gardens, Open Days” section of the book: the garden of Andrea Filippone, and Bird Haven, the garden of Janet Mavec and Wayne Nordberg. Both are located in the rolling hills of Hunterdon County.

The organically grown Filippone garden rises out of a former farm property. It is a mix of elements and styles defined by many varieties of boxwood, one of the owner's favorite plants. The plethora of garden rooms includes a potager, or ornamental kitchen garden, bordered in catmint — Nepeta — and allium cultivars.

Bird Haven is another former agricultural property where a disparate mix of buildings has been united by a garden designed by Spanish landscape architect Fernando Caruncho.

Like Filippone, Bird Haven's owners define spaces with boxwood and prize their walled potager. The birds that inspired the property's name most likely compete to harvest the spoils of the orchard, which contains antique apple and peach varieties. The property is also home to an unusual Monastery Garden, where soft pink and lavender-hued plants predominate, along with frothy lady's mantle.

“Outstanding American Gardens — A Celebration” is a beautifully written and produced book, but it is more than that. The forward by Frank Cabot's son, Colin, and the introduction by Dickey make clear that the “celebration” is also a call to arms. The conservancy, which is the only organization dedicated solely to garden preservation, is much like a garden itself and requires constant tending. Already rooted in Cabot's vision, it also needs to be borne aloft on the strong “wings” of ongoing financial and public support.

The book is a visual feast. To find out more about the Garden Conservancy and its work in the United States, go to www.gardenconservancy.org.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mental health system needs major fixes

To the Editor:

The recent shooting in Roanoke, VA of a journalist and a cameraman was tragic and sad. However, what got me so upset was the fact that the mainstream press along with a bunch of opportunistic politicians put their focus on the issue of gun control and not where it rightfully belongs: on untreated mental illness. This person who committed this savage act of murder was known by colleagues and co-workers to have behaved erratically as well as have issues with anger. Had his superiors offered him help early on, maybe this horrific act would not have occurred. Sure, the individual would have gotten angry and upset at it all. He would have been very annoyed at the prospect of being told he had a problem, but then again help should have been offered.

Furthermore, there is no question in my mind that the mental health care system is broken. Those whom have serious mental health problems are not sent to facilities where they can obtain treatment. They are even sent to prison, and even there they receive no treatment at all. I believe that this should be changed. I believe that there should be new laws designed to help those with mental health problems so they can get treatment immediately.

Over the past twenty years, there have been many stories of shootings by those whom were mentally ill. In all the cases, the warning signs were apparent, and nothing was done. I believe that tragedies like these could have been avoided or minimized. I believe, with proper help, we hold the key to averting more tragedies.

Fed Ex? Guess again

To the Editor:

Gov. Chris Christie recently remarked on a CNN interview, concerning utilizing the good services of Fed Ex, on tracking immigrants living in the Country on visas. "We should be able to track people with their fingerprints. They overstay their visas, we can tell them; 'You overstayed your visa, it's time to go.'"

Now for generations in America, we have originated the creation of perhaps the most renowned, the most acclaimed police organization in the world, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the FBI. Countless, innumerable, foreign agents, enemy spies, criminals who committed the most ghastly of crimes, those wanted by various stages of local, State and Federal agencies, over the decades, have all been summarily dispatched to justice through the exemplary, formidable fingerprint investigative services of the FBI.

According to the May 31, 2015, Fed Ex Corporate fact sheet, they successfully deliver approximately 20 million packages per day for their customer base, with a loss rate of less than one per cent. However such lost packages do not independently and willfully cast off their bar codes to become "lost". Such packages lack the human intelligence, the financial means, the web of personal connections, of such illegal immigrants; who will utilize every resource, every recourse, every expedient strategy, to avoid apprehension and capture. Anybody ever see a Fed Ex package on the FBI ten most wanted list?

flags that are displayed every day. The lack of flags on other streets and adjacent communities is disappointing, as I remember after the tragedy on Sept. 11, 2001, flags were displayed at many residences and practically all vehicles. Goodbye summer!

Clark pool members flocked to the pool this holiday weekend, getting their last licks in of summer. "We had a great season - membership way up," said Rec. Director Ralph Bernardo. The great weather this summer really brought out the crowd. The pool closed its gates for the season at 6 p.m. on Labor Day. The weekend was celebrated with an inflatable obstacle course, free Italian ice and music. For information on the 2016 season, contact the recreation department at 732-428-8400.

Kean announces schedule of shows for theater department

With construction now complete on its state-of-the-art scene shop and several new design and technology classrooms, Kean University's theater department has announced its season for the coming academic year.

Slated to begin Oct. 16, the season will include the Greek tragedy "Elektra," "Children of Eden," a musical based on the first nine chapters of the "Book of Genesis," "Julius Caesar," by Shakespeare and John J. Wooten's riotous farce, "Kiss the Bride."

Sophocles' "Elektra" will play from Oct. 16 to 24, directed by faculty member E. Teresa Choate, in Kean's Zella Fry Theatre. The tragedy, first performed in the ancient city of Athens, charts an escalation of unreasoning hatred that erupts into matricidal frenzy.

"Children of Eden" will follow from Nov. 13 to 21. This joyous musical about parents, children and faith draws on the Old Testament as its primary source material, and retells the human story from the moment of creation until just after the flood.

The Department will hold an open call for children ages 9 to 12 for the roles of young Cain and Abel in the production; auditions will take place Saturday, Sept. 12 at 11 a.m. in Vaughn Eames Hall, Room 212. Interested children should prepare one verse of any Broadway song. To schedule an audition appointment, call 908-737-4420.

The spring semester begins with Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," running from Feb. 19 to 27, 2016, directed by faculty member Ernest Wiggins in the Wilkins Theatre. Julius Caesar, a celebrated military leader, has just been publicly announced as a permanent dictator with absolute political control. As with all granted political power, envy quickly ensues.

The 2015-2016 season concludes with John J. Wooten's "Kiss the Bride," from April 1 - 9, 2016, in the Zella Fry Theatre, directed by Wes Grantom, a founding member of New York's Slant Theatre Project. In this madcap comedy, a groom schemes to murder his frequently married and very wealthy bride on their wedding night.

Standard tickets to all performances are $15, with $12 tickets available for Kean faculty, staff, and alumni, and $10 tickets available for students.

To purchase tickets or request a season brochure, call the box office at 908-737-7469, email ticket@kean.edu, or visit www.keanstage.com.

BACK TO SCHOOL — Meghan Paul, a fourth grade teacher, welcomes Mariel Woodson back to school. Roosevelt School in Rahway is extremely excited to be starting a new school year. On Thursday, Sept. 3, the school bell rang signaling the end of the summer break for the children of Rahway. Teachers welcomed students back to school, and students are looking forward to the year ahead.

KENILWORTH NEWS

Historical Society holds bus trip to Mohegan Sun

The Kenilworth Historical Society will host a bus trip to Mohegan Sun Casino in Uncasville, Conn. on Sat., Oct. 24. The bus will depart from St. Theresa's School Parking Lot at 8 a.m. and return to Kenilworth at approximately 9 p.m. The $52 fee includes motor coach transportation, a six-hour visit to the casino, which additionally houses a wide range of distinctive shops and popular restaurants, a $15 coupon for the casino's buffet or another type of meal, and a $10 free bet coupon.

There will be complimentary door prizes on the bus. For further information and reservations, please call 908-709-0434. Reservations early to ensure availability. Gift certificates for the trip are available for purchase.

The Kenilworth Historical Society is an independent, volunteer-based, non-profit, tax-exempt, 501(c)(3) organization dedicated to the research, preservation and interpretation of the Oswald J. Nitschke House, local history and culture.

Oktoberfest event set for Oct. 25 in Kenilworth

On Sunday, Oct. 25, the Kenilworth Historical Society will present an Oktoberfest celebration featuring live German music, folk dancing and a feast at the Kenilworth Veterans Center, 33 South 21st St., from 4 to 8 p.m.

The event will feature a dance performance by Bayern Verein Newark, a club dedicated to the preservation of traditional German and Bavarian folk dances; live music by Bernie's Orchestra, a four-piece German-American band led by Bernie Bunger; and a catered buffet-style Oktoberfest feast.

Admission is $35, and advance reservations are required by Oct. 16. Eight to 10 people may be accommodated per table. Early reservations are encouraged; call 908-709-0434 or visit Especially Yours

Florist at 13 North 20th St. in Kenilworth for tickets. Proceeds will benefit the Kenilworth Historical Society's Oswald J. Nitschke House "living history" museum and cultural arts center.

Other upcoming events include "Paint Nite" on Oct. 1; the Kenilworth Communitywide Garage Sale on Oct. 10 to 11; "Four Centuries in a Weekend" on Oct. 17 and 18; a bus trip to Mohegan Sun Casino on Oct. 24; a wine tasting Nov. 6; and an "Old-Fashioned Christmas at the Nitschke House" on Dec. 6. For further information, call 908-709-0434.

Community-wide garage sale to be Oct. 10 and 11

The Kenilworth Historical Society will sponsor a Communitywide Garage Sale in Kenilworth on Oct. 10 and 11, rain or shine, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. both days. Nearly 200 residences participated in Kenilworth's Communitywide Garage Sale last fall, and this year's participation is expected to equal or exceed that number.

Residents who register and pay a $12 fee to hold garage sales at their homes anytime during the weekend will receive a certificate representing the borough's permission to proceed, and will benefit from the Kenilworth Historical Society's statewide advertising of the event. The addresses of registered participating residences will be included in a listing and map that will be available, free of charge, at the Kenilworth A&P Customer Service desk, the Kenilworth Borough Clerk's Office, Public Library and Especially Yours Florist after Oct. 7. The listing also will be posted at www.kenilworthborough.com.

Communitywide Garage Sale registration forms with instructions may be obtained at the Kenilworth Borough Clerk's Office/Borough Hall, Public Library, Especially Yours Florist and on the Borough of Kenilworth Web site. The registration deadline is Oct. 1. For further information, call 908-709-0434.

Blasting off the school year

On Friday, Sept. 4, Roosevelt School in Rahway, kicked off the Positive Behavior Support in Schools year with an assembly program on their playground. Students and staff recited their alma mater, sang their PBSIS chant, and ended by dancing the Cuban Shuffle. The Roosevelt School mascot, Tracker the Bear, welcomed students back to school. An extra special event this year was the ticket blaster. Each grade level chose a teacher to represent that grade level and had a chance to win an ice pop party for that grade level. Chris Delloiacono won for the third grade by entering the ticket blaster and collecting the most tickets. The mission of Roosevelt School PBSIS is to promote positive, inclusive school community. Students make responsible choices, empowering them to reach their fullest social, emotional and academic potential.

Registration has begun Sunday Church School at The Linden Presbyterian Church, 1506 Orchard Terrace in Linden; classes begin Sunday, Sept. 13, at 9:30 a.m. Classes are Sunday mornings at 9:30 a.m. for students in preschool through 12th grade. All children are invited to enjoy bible lessons, music, discussions and activities.

A lively group worship service begins the Sunday School, and then students meet in small groups for grade-level lessons. At 10:30 a.m. the children join the adults in our sanctuary for a special children's message, followed by fellowship time at 11 a.m. A nursery is available for infants and toddlers. Register by calling The Linden Presbyterian Church at 908-486-3073. All are welcome.

Ongoing programs at the library

The Linden Library hosts a number of programs for children. Groups will not meet during the first two weeks of September.

- The Terrific Toddlers group meets Tuesdays and Wednesdays, from 10:30 to 11:10 a.m., beginning Sept. 15, on the third floor of the library. The group reads two books, and plays music. The sessions are for children 6 months to four years old and intended for those at home during the day, not organized camps, schools, or day care centers

- Book Bingo will meet on the third floor from 3:30 to 4:15 p.m. Everyone who plays wins a prize. Seating is limited, sign up for free tickets at the Linden Library Circulation desk.

For additional information, pick up the August program flier at the library, 31 East Henry St., or email Karen Gray at kgray@lindenpl.org.

Bus trip to AC set for Sept. 12

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

HOROSCOPE

ARIES, March 21 to April 20

Aries, explore a new way of thinking and keep an open mind. Maintain energy and enthusiasm about a new project. Your energy will inspire others to get moving.

TAURUS, April 21 to May 21

You may need to get a little pushy to get what you need, Taurus. Don't overdo it, but don't hesitate to insert yourself into certain situations this week.

GEMINI, May 22 to June 21

This is a good week to share your positive thoughts and hopes with others. It's advantageous to have as many people on your side as you can.

CANCER, June 22 to July 22

Cancer, you have many things to do in the coming days, but you can still manage to have fun along the way. Schedule some rest and rejuvenation once the week has passed.

LEO, July 23 to Aug. 23

If you learn something new this week, it very well may be something important, Leo. Stay attuned to the things going on around you, so you know when to act.

VIRGO, Aug. 24 to Sept. 22

Getting your point across will be difficult this week, Virgo. Take a patient approach and give others the time to explain their points of view before sharing your own.

LIBRA, Sept. 23 to Oct. 23

You are still in love with that special someone after all these years, Libra. Share your good fortune with others and you may inspire some new relationships in the process.

SCORPIO, Oct. 24 to Nov. 22

Scorpio, it may be difficult to avoid conflict this week, but do your best to smooth over the situation. Try not to escalate any encounters and add fuel to the fire.

SAGITTARIUS, Nov. 23 to Dec. 21

Sagittarius, give something frivolous a try this week. You may find it takes your mind off other things and restores some of your natural joviality.

CAPRICORN, Dec. 22 to Jan. 20

Capricorn, someone is proud of all you have accomplished. Don't feel badly about bragging a little about the things you have done. It's good to also be proud of yourself.

AQUARIUS, Jan. 21 to Feb. 18

Aquarius, your generosity knows no bounds this week. All that you do unselfishly will come back in spades. Keep up your charitable efforts.

PISCES, Feb. 19 to March 20

Pisces, if things seem a little bit confusing this week, take some time to sit and reflect. The answers will come to you eventually.

Kean kicks off season with historical drama

By Ruth Ross
Correspondent

Losing one's home to a natural disaster is terrible, but losing a home you've lived in for over 20 years, a home you bought and paid for, merely because the city fathers want to build a park on it, well, that's tragic. The former was addressed in Premiere Stages' previous production "On the Water;" the latter is the focus of "The People Before the Park," the play by Keith Josef Atkins that won the company's 2015 Play Festival. Selected from 440 submissions, the play received some reworking before its full-blown production on the stage of the Zella Fry Theatre on the campus of Kean University in Union.

Set in 1856, "The People Before the Park," is set in Seneca Village, a small community of free African-Americans located in what is now Central Park. Despite the fact that these folks purchased their land from a family of farmers about 30 years before, corrupt New York City government officials have already co-opted part of the property to build a reservoir to provide water to the city and currently have their eye on the remainder for the grand park we have come to know so well.

While many of the settlers have accepted the paltry payout offered by the city fathers to "legally" purchase the land, oysterman Stephen Van Cleef continues to resist despite the reasoned pleas of his neighbors, shoemaker Marion Lewis and his moralistic wife Phoebe, who recognize a quixotic quest when they see one. Stephen's reasons for holding on in the face of possible violence are nebulous and overly optimistic, for they rely on preserving the memory of a loved one long gone. Matters are complicated by Stephen's talented son Jonas, a budding artist who yearns to leave Seneca Village to learn more about his craft, his friendship with German immigrant (and New York City policeman) Mathius Frackenhinger and his son's romantic involvement with Bridget Donnelly, a young Irish immigrant who lives in a shanty near the local cemetery.

For close to two hours (with an intermission), Stephen fights his friends, his son and the powers that be as they urge him to leave his home of 20 years. But while "The People Before the Park" provides a fascinating glimpse into a past most people know nothing about, it is strangely unafecting, emotionally. Because Stephen holds fast to his decision set forth in the first scene, he remains a static character; there is no dramatic arc to his character development.

The most interesting character is Jonas, his son, whose yearnings for a different life are palpable; when he cuts his ties to Seneca Village, we have hope that he will make something of himself. Because not much happens during the course of the play, the final scene lacks surprise and its impact is blunted.

This is not to say that the script is faulted by the acting. John Wooten directs skillfully and fluidly, and the cast he has chosen performs very well. Billy Eugene Jones is a crusty, stubborn Stephen, hard on everyone, even himself. He is clearly tormented by something in his past, and it affects his relationship with his son. Would that playwright Atkins had given him a softer side that would have made him more sympathetic; when we learn what's driving his obstinacy, it's a bit too late to change our opinion of the man.

W. Tré Davis is exceptional as Jonas, a youth on the cusp of adulthood and all that entails. We root for him to make his way in the world, for he is unencumbered with memories that chain him to the place.

As the Lewises, Shane Taylor is an overbearing Marion, sure he is right and pompous to the core. Michelle Wilson's Phoebe is a stiff-necked moralist, prone to breaking into Creole (Haitian) French for what I can discern is no reason at all. Atkins could have left out that piece of business. Nevertheless, the couple represents a more pragmatic approach to the city's offer, in contrast to Stephen's resistance.

Andy Truschinski is fine as Mathius, albeit his German accent was a tad thick at the beginning. Perhaps he softened it a bit as the evening wore on, or I may have gotten used to the cadence of his speech. Ditto Bridget Gabbe's Bridget. These two characters remind us of the melting pot aspect of mid-19th century urban society and the fact that German and Irish immigrants were as maligned then as are Hispanic immigrants today (take note, Donald Trump—formerly Drumpf).

Kudos to Patrick Rizzotti's scenic design; his use of burlap and trees to line the walls of the entire little black box theater transport us to another world, the world of Seneca Village. Brant Thomas Murray's lighting is atmospheric; Karen Lee Hart's costumes telegraph each character's place in life; and Janie Bullard's sound enhances the entire production. Despite its being strangely unafecting in a dramatic sense, the subject of "The People Before the Park" will not fail to move you to the plight of a people who have played by the rules only to find them changed by a corrupt government.

Although Central Park plays an important role in the quality of life for the city's citizens, those who see this play will never regard that great green space in the same way ever again. That's not a bad thing, for the good of the majority often comes at the expense of the few. And that's an important point to remember.

"The People Before the Park" will be performed at the Zella Fry Theatre in the Vaughn Eames Building, Kean University, 1000 Morris Avenue, Union, through Sept. 20. After the 3 p.m. matinee performance on Sunday, Sept. 19, a docent for The New-York Historical Society will discuss the history of Seneca Village.

For performance information and tickets, call 908-737-SHOW or visit www.kean.edu/premierestages online.

Tickets now on sale for hayrides, campfire

Tickets are now on sale for this year's Autumn Hayrides and Family Fun Around the Campfire. No tickets will be sold at the hayrides; seating for the hayrides is limited, and group sales are limited to 15 tickets. The cost is $6 for Union County residents and $12 for others.

The first event will take place on Friday, Sept. 18, at Warinanco Park in the Boat House area. Hayrides begin at 6:30 pm and run until 9:30 p.m., and include folks songs around the campfire, hot chocolate, and marshmallows toasted over the fire. Tickets must be purchased in advance; there will be no tickets available at the event.

Hayride tickets are available at three locations: Weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Union County Administration Building, Department of Parks and Recreation, 2nd Floor, 10 Elizabethtown Plaza in Elizabeth; Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday at the Colleen Fraser Building, 300 North Ave. East, in Westfield from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and noon to 7 p.m. on Thursday; and at Trailside Nature and Science Center, 452 New Providence Road in Mountainside, daily from noon to 5 p.m.

Hayrides and Campfires will also be held at Trailside Nature & Science Center in Mountainside Friday, Oct. 2, 9, and 16, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.; and Sunday, Oct. 4 at 3:30 p.m. For further information you can call the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation at 908-527-4900; or Trailside Nature and Science Center at 908-789-3670; or visit www.ucnj.org.

Police respond to many incidents throughout Union County

Hillside

• Sept. 3: At 12:35 a.m. a Hillside Police unit was monitoring traffic on Route 22 West when a blue 2009 GMC Sierra Pickup truck passed at a high rate of speed. The officers then pulled over the driver and exited their vehicle.

After determining the location of the stop was unsafe, they asked the driver to pull into a nearby parking lot. He appeared to comply, but as the officers were returning to their vehicle, the driver sped away West on Route 22 forcing the officers to pursue the pickup, which was stolen out of Hazlet. The driver led police down Route 22 West, onto Vauxhall Road in Union, onto the Garden State Parkway northbound, and then onto Route 78 East. On Route 78, the driver attempted to take the Exit 54, but failed to negotiate the turn due to the vehicle's high speed. The pickup crashed into the embankment between the Hillside and Irvington sub-exits and the driver was ejected from the vehicle. The sole passenger, Tiereka Barr, 26, of Trenton was wearing his seatbelt and uninjured; he was arrested for receiving stolen property and is being held on a warrant from Doylestown, Pa. at Hillside Police Headquarters.

The driver was transported to University Hospital in Newark where he immediately underwent surgery and was later pronounced dead. His information is being withheld pending positive identification and next of kin notification.

Linden

• Sept. 2: At 12:30 a.m. officers on patrol observed a suspicious white Acura with tinted windows parked on the 1300 block of Middlesex Street, approached the vehicle on foot and found it occupied by two men and two women.

The occupants allegedly told the officers that they had been smoking marijuana. A search of the vehicle reportedly turned up a plastic baggie with 44 smaller bags of the suspected drug as well as a Glock 9 mm handgun and a 30-round loaded magazine clip.

Grady C. Jilus, 23, of Linden was charged with unlawful possession of a handgun and possession of a high capacity magazine clip; Brian R. Previlon, 22, of Elizabeth was charged with hindering apprehension by giving a false name to the officers; both men and the two 18-year-old females, Janea J. Jarvis and Tyra A. Watkins, of Rahway, were charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. Jilus and Previlon were transported to the Union County Jail on bail amounts of $85,000, and $1,500, respectively. The two women were released on summonses.

Clark

• Aug. 25: In the vicinity of Westfield Avenue, police arrested Maria Sinoradzki, 25, of Oceangate for possession of a controlled dangerous substance and drug paraphernalia. She was subsequently released pending a court date.

• Aug. 26: In the vicinity of 45 Central Avenue, police arrested Travis Sickles, 32, of Matawan; and Michael Furlong, 35, of Holmdel for shoplifting from the Rite Aid store on Central Avenue. Sickles was subsequently released pending a court date, and Furlong was released pending a court date on the Clark charges and subsequently turned over to the Monmouth County Sheriff's Department on their active warrant.

• Aug. 31: Police took a report of a burglary to a motor vehicle that was parked at a residence at 115 Gibson Boulevard. The incident is under investigation.

Roselle Park

• Sept. 1: At approximately 10:25 p.m. two juvenile male victims, 16 and 17 years old, told Roselle Park Police that they were shot at with BB pellets from a moving car. The victims stated that a black BMW with tinted windows pulled up alongside them as they walked West on W. Webster Ave near the Roselle Park High School, and five shots were fired by the front seat passenger from the passenger-side window. The vehicle appeared to be occupied by two males, according to police reports. The gun was described as being black with no visible red tip.

A search of the area was negative. The victims suffered moderate pain and swelling, and were released to responsible adults. No medical attention was sought. Surrounding jurisdictions were notified of the incident.

Anyone with information on this or any other incident is requested to contact the Roselle Park Police at 908-245-2300

Union

• Aug. 28: At 7:59 a.m. police responded to the CVS on Morris Avenue on a report of shoplifting. According to reports, a white male in his late 20s and approximately 6 feet tall and 230 pounds took four packs of Red Bull and fled the store.

• Aug. 28: At 9:38 a.m. police responded to a bank on Chestnut Street on a report of a robbery. According to police, a black man in his late 30s, less than 5 feet tall and thin, passed a note to a teller demanding $5,000 in cash. No weapon was shown, but the perpetrator said there was one outside. He fled toward Kenilworth in a cream-colored four-door sedan driven by another person.

• Aug. 28: At 10:12 a.m. police responded to a business on Route 22 on a report of shoplifting. According to police reports, a white female ran out of the store with cigarettes valued at $80.34 and fled east in a blue Honda Civic.

• Aug. 28: At 4:10 p.m. Johnny Trinh was arrested during a motor vehicle stop on Stuyvesant Avenue for warrants.

• Aug. 29: At 11:07 a.m. police responded to a Burns Place on a report of a motor vehicle theft.

A blue 2013 Yamaha motorcycle was taken during the overnight hours.

• Aug. 29: At 2:02 p.m. police responded to a gas station on Route 22 on a report of a dispute. A male victim stated that he was slapped in the face by the passenger of another vehicle while he was getting gas. The perpetrator drove a white 1999 Dodge van with N.J. plates, according to police reports.

• Aug. 29: At 2:43 p.m. police took a report of shoplifting at QuickChek on Morris Avenue, where a black male reportedly took two cases of Red Bull valued at $96 and fled in an older model Nissan.

• Aug. 29: At 7:32 p.m. Emerson Colon was arrested during a motor vehicle stop on North Avenue for outstanding warrants.

• Aug. 30: At 10:30 a.m. police responded to Springfield Avenue on a report of a burglary to a red Ford F150. Entry was made through the driver-side window; cash, credit cards and a leaf blower were taken, according to reports.

• Aug. 30: At 4:53 p.m. Hunter Frye was arrested at Walmart for shoplifting.

• Aug. 30: At 5:15 p.m. Jose Gutierrez was arrested at a business on Route 22 East for shoplifting.

• Aug. 31: At 1:24 a.m. Thomas Carmona was arrested on Chestnut Street for driving under the influence.

• Aug. 31: At 2:39 p.m. Aleese Jeter was arrested on Chestnut Street for warrants.

• Aug. 31: At 8:09 p.m. police took a report of criminal mischief at a residence on Spruce Street, where there was damage to two vehicles that were parked in a driveway.

• Sept. 1: At 1:58 p.m. Laila Rana was arrested on Walton Avenue for criminal mischief for spray painting on a sidewalk, according to police.

• Sept. 1: At 4:46 p.m. police responded to West Chestnut Street on a report of a burglary to a motor vehicle. A tablet computer was taken from an unlocked car that had its windows down, according to police reports.

NOTICE TO ABSENT DEFENDANTS

Docket No. F-008150-15
Superior Court of New Jersey
Chancery Division
Union County

(L.S.) STATE OF NEW JERSEY TO: Ola Lanier, her unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives and her, their or any of their successors in right, title and interest

Ch'ien Hart

Eli Hart

Diane Lanier Caldwell

Thalia Caldwell

YOU ARE HEREBY SUMMONED AND REQUIRED to serve upon Buckley Madole, P.C., counsel for the plaintiff, with an address of 99 Wood Avenue South, Suite 803, Iselin, NJ 08830, with a telephone number of 732-902-5399, an Answer to the Complaint filed in a civil action where Nationstar Mortgage LLC d/b/a Champion Mortgage Company is the plaintiff and Ola Lanier, her unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives and her, their or any of their successors in right, title and interest, are the defendants. The action is pending in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Chancery Division, Union County, and bears Docket No. F-008150-15. Your Answer must be filed within thirty-five (35) days after September 10, 2015, excluding that date, or if this publication runs after September 10, 2015, within thirty-five (35) days after the actual date of publication, excluding that date. If you fail to file an Answer, judgment by default may be entered against you for the relief demanded in the Complaint. You shall file your Answer and Proof of Service in duplicate with the Clerk of the Superior Court, Hughes Justice Complex - CN 971, Trenton, NJ 08625, with a copy to Buckley Madole, P.C., in accordance with the NJ Rules of Court.

This action has been instituted for the purpose of (1) foreclosing a mortgage dated November 12, 2009 made by Ola Lanier as mortgagor to Home Equity Conversion Mortgage (commonly referred to as a "Reverse Mortgage") in favor of Genworth Financial Home Equity Access, Inc., formerly known as Liberty Reverse Mortgage, Inc., recorded in the Union County Clerk's Office on January 20, 2010, in Book M12851, Page 0214, which mortgage was assigned to the above named Plaintiff, which has the right to enforce the note secured by the mortgage; and (2) to recover possession of the land and premises commonly known as 269-71 Netherwood Avenue, Plainfield, NJ 07062, Lot 15, Block 407. If you are unable to obtain an attorney, you may communicate with the New Jersey Bar Association by calling 732-249-5000. You may also contact the Lawyer Referral Service of the County of venue by calling 908-353-4715. If you cannot afford an attorney, you may contact the Legal Services office of the County of venue by calling 908-354-4340.

YOU, Ola Lanier, her unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives and her, their or any of their successors in right, title and interest, are made a party defendant to this foreclosure action because Ola Lanier executed the note and mortgage. YOU, unknown heirs, may be liable for any deficiency, and for any right, title and interest you may have in, to or against the subject property.

YOU, Diane Lanier Caldwell is joined for any lien, claim or interest she may have in, to or against the Mortgaged Premises as a result of the death of her mother Ola Lanier.

YOU, Thalia Caldwell is joined for any lien, claim or interest she may have in, to or against the Mortgaged Premises as a result of the death of her grandmother Ola Lanier.

YOU, Ch'ien Hart is joined for any lien, claim or interest he may have in, to or against the Mortgaged Premises as a result of the death of his grandmother Ola Lanier.

YOU, Eli Hart is joined for any lien, claim or interest he may have in, to or against the Mortgaged Premises as a result of the death of his grandmother Ola Lanier.

SHERIFF'S SALE

Sheriff's File Number: CH-15003652
Division: CHANCERY
Docket Number: F03387313
County: Union
Plaintiff: NATIONSTAR MORTGAGE LLC
VS
Defendant: ROBERT J. HEALEY
Sale Date: 09/30/2015
Writ of Execution: 03/19/2015

By virtue of the above-stated writ of execution to me directed I shall expose for sale by public venue, at the UNION COUNTY ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, 1ST FLOOR, 10 ELIZABETH-TOWN PLAZA, Elizabeth, N.J., on WEDNESDAY, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day. All successful bidders must have 20% of their bid available in cash or certified check at the conclusion of the sales.

The property to be sold is located in: The TOWNSHIP OF CRANFORD, County of Union, and State of NJ.

It is commonly known as 32 GROVE STREET, CRANFORD, NJ 07016
It is known and designated as Block 487, Lot 23.
The dimensions are approximately 50 feet wide by 217.6 feet long.
Nearest cross street: Lincoln Avenue East
Prior lien(s): Sewer account past due in amount of $383.47, subject to tax sale 7-23-15.

*Subject to any unpaid taxes, municipal liens or other charges, and any such taxes, charges, liens, insurance premiums or other advances made by plaintiff prior to this sale. All interested parties are to conduct and rely upon their own independent investigation to ascertain whether or not any outstanding interest remain of record and/or have priority over the lien being foreclosed and, if so the current amount due thereon.

Surplus Money: If after the sale and satisfaction of the mortgage debt, including costs and expenses, there remains any surplus money, the money will be deposited into the Superior Court Trust Fund and any person claiming the surplus, or any part thereof, may file a motion pursuant to Court Rules 4:64-3 and 4:57-2 stating the nature and extent of that person's claim and asking for an order directing payment of the surplus money. The Sheriff or other person conducting the sale will have information regarding the surplus, if any.

Note: The sheriff reserves the right to adjourn this sale for any length of time without further advertisement.

Union bolstered by veteran line, versatile receivers, experience

By JR Parachini
 Sports Editor

UNION - After reaching its first North 2, Group 5 championship game two years ago Union had to sort of re-invent itself last year.

The Farmers were without a single returning starter on offense and just one on defense.

While growing pains were sustained against such formidable league foes as Phillipsburg, Bridgewater-Raritan, Elizabeth, Hunterdon Central and Hillsborough, Union did show vast improvement in its final four games.

Victories were achieved in three of them, including a 26-19 season-ending home win over eventual first-time N2, G5 champion Linden.

Union is much more experienced this year, especially on the line, and is ready to prove itself for an entire season and against every opponent it goes up against.

"We're good up front, very big; have versatility with our receivers and are much more experienced," third-year head coach Lou Grasso, Jr. said.

Union's entire offensive line returns in the form of seniors Charles James, Jaquan Diggs, Shaheed Cook and David Brown and junior Darrell Davis. The line averages 270 pounds.

They will do their best to protect first-year quarterback, junior Justin Beckett.

Grasso said Beckett took some reps last year during an injury-plagued sophomore season. Beckett began the season listed on offense as a wide receiver.

"He played the position (QB) as a freshman," Grasso said. "He's smart enough to handle the position."

Union's other returning starter on offense is senior wide receiver Caleb Holden.

"We improved at the end of last year," Grasso said.

Returning starters on defense include Diggs and Brown on the line along with junior lineman Mike Tverdov, who has already been seriously looked at by big-time Division 1-A programs, including the one his older brother Peter played at - Rutgers.

Union's other three returning starters on defense include senior middle linebacker Francis Okemezie and senior backs Chris Ortiz, the free safety, and Holden, one of two cornerbacks.

"We have good team speed," Grasso said. "We have depth at defensive back, with Ortiz and Holden. Ortiz was our defensive MVP last year."

Grasso's initial goal is to see his team get off to better starts.

"We're optimistic and the kids have put a lot of hard work into this," Grasso said. "Last year we came out kind of flat in some instances, so we want to be a tough out for everyone we play."

Union has a huge challenge right from the start when it hosts two-time defending North 2, Group 4 champion Phillipsburg in its season-opener.

Since the teams have played each other in Mid-State 38 Conference competition the last three seasons, Phillipsburg has won two of the three meetings, including the last two.

"You know what you get with Phillipsburg," Grasso said. "They just change the numbers on their uniforms."

2015 HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL PREVIEW

Union, shown here in a home scrimmage vs. Randolph, will open its 2015 season at home tomorrow night at 7 vs. Mid-State 38 Conference-Delaware Division rival Phillipsburg.

Farmers ready to get out to a better start

Phillipsburg has the most wins of any team in New Jersey with 661. Union has 509.

"We want to be able to match their intensity," Grasso said.

Since 2005, including two playoff losses at Phillipsburg, Union is 1-4 against the Stateliners.

Phillipsburg repeated as North 2, Group 4 champs for the first time last year, beating a 11-0 Colonia squad 24-21 in overtime in the final at Rutgers.

Phillipsburg also finished 11-1 last year, losing only at home to Hillsborough 14-13 in the middle of the season.

As a result, Hillsborough - with a league record of 7-0 - captured the Delaware Division championship.

Phillipsburg finished second at 6-1 after winning the crown in 2013 for the only time, finishing 7-0 in league play that season.

Phillipsburg has captured seven state championships in the playoff era, with two in North 2, Group 3 - 1977 and 2008 - and five in North 2, Group 4 - 2001, 2005, 2009, 2013 and 2014.

Union vs. Phillipsburg in Mid-State 38 Conference-Delaware Division play:

2014: Phillipsburg 48, Union 6 - at Phillipsburg

2013: Phillipsburg 24, Union 14 - at Union

2012: Union 24, Phillipsburg 21 - at Phillipsburg

Union vs. Phillipsburg in North 2, Group 4 playoffs:

2006: Phillipsburg 42, Union 20 - at Phillipsburg, semifinals

2005: Phillipsburg 56, Union 14 - at Phillipsburg, semifinals

Summit Hilltoppers are prepared to continue their winning ways

By JR Parachini
 Sports Editor

SUMMIT — One of the most successful programs in the state since 2009 - as evidenced by a 65-4 (.942) mark since then - is prepared to continue its winning ways in 2015.

When you get Summit you know that the quarterback is ready to go right away, leading a no-huddle offense designed to prevent opposing defenses to keep up.

Back to lead Summit's Wing-T, spread attack is junior quarterback Jake Froschauer, who had a solid sophomore season after taking over for Ryan Richson after Richson went down with a concussion injury.

"Jake had a great summer," third-year head coach Kevin Kostibos said. "He put on 30 pounds, got himself in our weight room and now has a great command of our offense.

Froschauer completed 45-of-93 passes (48 percent) last year for 688 yards, seven touchdowns and seven interceptions.

"He can run and throw, he's a great leader and the kids respect him," Kostibos said.

"He's a game-changer."

Rest of Summit's defense:

CB Wayne Johnson, senior, (5-11, 170)
 CB Brendan McGinn, junior, (5-8, 155)
 S Matt Murdock, junior, (5-5, 150)
 S Christian Fusco, junior, (5-9, 160)
 S Robby Faris, senior, (5-6, 160)
 S David Medina, junior, (5-8, 155)
 P Jake Froschauer, junior, (6-3, 175)

Returning starters (2): Dougherty, Faris.

Froschauer is joined by senior linemen Matteo diMayorca and Donovan Cahill as Summit's lone returning offensive starters. diMayorca, a tackle, has given Harvard a verbal commitment. Cahill, Summit's center, is one of three Cahill brothers on the varsity roster, the others being twin Garrett, a senior wide receiver, and younger brother Kevin, a sophomore lineman.

"Our offensive line is strong," Kostibos said. "diMayorca is a scholarship player and Cahill is the leader of 7-8 guys who fit a nice rotation."

Senior Robby Faris is one of the slots, with juniors Sam Zanelli and Michael Flanagan the fullbacks.

They will be among the backs to pick up the slack left behind by 2015 graduate Chris Zanelli, who last year set Summit's single-season rushing record of 1,579 yards. The previous best was Torrie Fogg's 1,374 in 1994.

"The younger kids have fit in nicely," Kostibos said. "The seniors have also meshed well with the juniors."

On defense, Summit switched from a 4-3 to a 3-4, the latter scheme designed to get to the quarterback a bit more.

Former Hanover Park head coach Dan Gregory is the coordinator, succeeding Chet Parlavecchio, who is now the defensive coordinator at his high school alma mater, Delbarton.

"Dan has done a fantastic job with the kids," Kostibos said. "It's a learning process."

"I'm interested to see how it comes together as the season progresses."

Roselle Park Panthers have momentum going into new year

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

ROSELLE PARK — Although last season was not a playoff year like the previous two were for the Panthers, they did finish strong, winning their last three games to avoid a sub-.500 season and finish even at 5-5.

While there are not a whole lot of returning players back, when you have the kid behind center returning, that's a good thing.

Back at QB for Roselle Park is senior Joe Woods.

"Joe is a versatile player for us, he can throw and he can run and he has experience," fourth-year head coach Terry Hanratty said.

Other returning starters on offense include senior linemen Sebastian Leo and Will Ferdinando and senior back Joe Picarelli. All four are also returning starters on defense.

Roselle Park was one of three Union County teams to close 2014 with three-game winning streaks, the other two being Governor Livingston, which also finished 5-5, and Dayton, which concluded at 4-6.

Roselle Park won four of its last five games in 2014, beginning with a 38-20 win at Dayton.

"We have a group of hard-working players," Hanratty said. "We won our last three to finish .500 last year and the kids gained some confidence with that. That gave them something to strive for."

On offense it all starts with Woods.

"He has a lot of potential," Hanratty said. "A lot of it will fall on his shoulders. He's going to be the guy on third down to keep on giving us the ball."

Back to block for Woods are Leo and Ferdinando, the latter moving from tight end to guard.

"Will is a hard-worker and very intelligent," Hanratty said. "He's impressed in the weight room and also has excellent grades."

Leo is Roselle Park's center and a tackle on defense.

"Leo works his butt off and is the leader of our offensive line," Hanratty said. "He's a vocal guy and a player we're expecting to step up for us."

The lead runners are Picarelli at wingback and first-year starter Carry Mimy at halfback. Hanratty reports that another first-year starter, junior back David Forstenhausler, has excelled at running the ball in Roselle Park's scrimmages.

With special teams being just as important as offense and defense, Roselle Park's kicking game is in good hands with returning sophomore Valentino Ambrosio.

"We think we have the best sophomore kicker in the state in Valentino," Hanratty said.

Ambrosio's first varsity field goal - a 25-yarder - extended Roselle Park's lead to 24-14 in the second quarter of an eventual 34-24 loss at Brearley last October.

"He's good from the 40 and inside and his kickoffs have been consistently inside the five," Hanratty said.

"He can be a lethal weapon for us. He could be one of the best kickers in the state by the time he's a senior."

The Panthers open their 2015 season at home tomorrow night vs. league rival Pingry.

Roselle Park has defeated Pingry three years in a row, all season-openers. The Panthers won at Pingry 21-20 in overtime to set the tone for a 2012 season that saw them reach the North 2, Group 1 final for the first time since 1993.

Roselle Park then blanked Pingry 21-0 at home in 2013 and 33-0 on the road in 2014.

Brearley Bears need to tackle better, hold on to the football

By JR Parachini
 Sports Editor

KENILWORTH - Scott Miller, now in his 14th season at the helm of his high school alma mater, gets right to the point when discussing what needs to be done.

"We need to tackle better, as simple as that sounds, and we need to hold on to the ball," Miller said. "If we do those two things we have a chance to be real good."

Brearley, which has its quarterback returning in the name of three-year starter Sebastian Montesdeoca, is coming off a season in which it scored at least 41 points in three games - two wins and a tie - gave up at least 41 points in three games - two losses and the same tie - and in between opened and closed the season playing smash-mouth Warren County school Belvidere.

Brearley opened its 2014 season with an impressive 27-22 Mid-State 38 Conference-Valley Division home win over Belvidere.

More than two months later the Bears were upended at Belvidere 19-8 in a North 2, Group 1 quarterfinal that saw Brearley turn the ball over several times.

Rest of Brearley defense:

S Evan Collier, senior, (6-1, 180)
 S Christian Burns, junior, (5-9, 160)
 S Richard Eremus, junior, (5-10, 165)
 P Nick Arcieri, junior, (6-1, 205)

Returning starters (4): Moscicki, Loneker, DaCosta, Palumbo.

"We have the ability to put points on the board," said Miller, who is 10 wins shy of 100. "We just have to do a better job of limiting turnovers."

Montesdeoca is the man on offense this year.

"He can do a lot of things," Miller said. "He can trigger the run and throw. We need him to run option and misdirection and make good decisions in the passing game."

"Like I said, the biggest thing we need to do is take better care of the football."

For a change, as opposed to the recent past, Brearley had a player transfer in and a good one at that. Former Metuchen player Evan Collier, a 6-1, 180-pound senior wide receiver, makes Brearley's offense that much stronger according to Miller.

"He was in our middle school before going to Metuchen," Miller said. "He's had a good couple of years there."

Collier played at Metuchen his first three high school years, with last year's team finishing 6-4 and reaching the Central Jersey, Group 1 playoffs.

"He has the ability to be a game-changer in Group 1 football," Miller said.

Miller also praised his backs, which include senior Anthony Primavera, junior Dillon Murphy and sophomore Khalid Bonnet.

"We have effective runners that give us a chance to open the game," Miller said.

Brearley also has some size up front in the form of returning senior linemen Erik Loneker (6-5, 245) and Tyler DaCosta (6-3, 250).

Dayton Bulldogs return many starters, seek to remain healthy

By JR Parachini
 Sports Editor

SPRINGFIELD - Not many teams in Union County have as many returning starters as the Bulldogs do, with Dayton having seven back on offense and eight on defense.

However, since the total number for the program this year is 34, the number of total returning starters - 15 combined for offense and defense - is 11 kids.

The 34-player breakdown according to second-year head coach Dominic Cuniglio is 13 seniors, three juniors, six sophomores and 12 freshmen.

"Our biggest issue is depth," Cuniglio said. "We lack depth. That's what we're trying to build here in our second year."

Cuniglio also reported that he finished with only 22 players last year. It wasn't because kids were quitting, rather it was because of injuries, some as serious as concussions.

However, the Bulldogs were one of three Union County teams that closed with a three-game winning streak last year - Governor Livingston and Roselle Park were the others - as Dayton will seek to continue that success providing most of their players remain healthy.

Dayton finished 4-6 last year, which was a two-game improvement from the year before.

"We were two plays away (in close losses to Hillside and New Providence) from being 6-4 and a playoff team," Cuniglio said.

"However, winning our last three games showed the heart of our players, who sustained injuries and a tough start."

Taking over at quarterback is junior Joe Kastner, who has big shoes to fill, replacing since-graduated John Apicella, who passed for over 2,000 yards and then represented Dayton in this July's Snapple Bowl at Kean University.

"Joe was hurt last year with a broken thumb and was away from the game for awhile," Cuniglio said. "He did well to finish the season as the starting junior varsity quarterback."

"He throws the ball well and is a true leader on the field. I think he will do a very good job for us."

Dayton's entire line is back, an all-senior unit that includes Andrew Martin, Mike Evans, Billy Kastner, Saverio Salcfas and Andrew Leibowitz.

"Our offensive line looks good," Cuniglio said. "We didn't get sacked very often last year."

A solid wide receivers corp is sparked by senior Noah Goldberg, who caught some 40 passes last year, with 10 of them going for touchdowns.

"Noah is a big target who is being looked at by some nice-sized schools," Cuniglio said.

Cuniglio feels that experience is a key factor when discussing the defense. "We return a lot," Cuniglio said.

"Last year we gave up too many big plays and that's something we need to do a better job of, preventing them."

Senior linebacker Saverio Salcfas, a two-year starter, leads the experienced unit with his constant communication and motivation.

"Saverio is the heartbeat of our defense," Cuniglio said. "He's a vocal leader who motivates players around him."

Gov. Livingston Highlanders are out to extend 2 positive streaks

By JR Parachini
 Sports Editor

BERKELEY HEIGHTS - The Highlanders hope to continue two trends immediately, one of extending last year's season-ending three-game winning streak and the other of continued success on the road.

GL won its final three games last year to finish at 5-5 for the first time since 2009. On the road the Highlanders concluded at 5-1, tying Elizabeth for the most victories away from home of any team in Union County.

"We lost our quarterback (John Wills) for the season in our first game last year and got out to a tough start," third-year head coach Dan Guyton said. "I give last year's seniors a lot of credit. They kept on competing and we won our last three games.

"Hopefully we can carry that momentum with us."

Catching the eyes of the coaches enough to make him the quarterback in GL's Single-Wing offense was sophomore Pat DeAngelis.

"Pat came in early in the summer and worked real hard," Guyton said. "With our offense we could put two running backs back there, but Pat worked hard, impressed the coaching staff and really stepped up in 7-on-7 sessions."

Guyton said that DeAngelis played multiple positions last year on the freshman team, including quarterback, wide receiver and running back.

"He's more of an athlete type of quarterback," Guyton said. "Lately he's been throwing the ball really well."

Guyton feels his offensive line is a strength, bolstered by returning juniors Ben Collins, Brian Biskaduros and Dan Tomlinson. Senior Matt Bruno moved from center to tight end.

"We feel like we're experienced, but still young there," Guyton said.

Guyton reported that in the pre-season senior Anthony Wong has done a great job running the ball and that senior Evan Lerch had a bunch of carries and for someone his size (5-5, 130) he's shown a lot of explosiveness.

Guyton has also been impressed with the play of his defensive line, with Tomlinson and Bruno leading the way.

"The line has looked great," Guyton said. "Bruno has really stepped up. He's played guard, center and tackle for us and now he's at tight end on offense and end on defense.

"Matt's an old school, three-sport (football, basketball, baseball) athlete that goes all out."

Guyton also said that senior Manoli Kanellos is one of the leaders at linebacker.

While relatively healthy, GL is dealing with a couple of concussion injuries sustained by placekicker Doug Anderson and defensive tackle Carlton Edwards.

Those players may not be available for service in GL's first game.

Also, in GL's first scrimmage vs. Chatham and Montclair-Kimberley Academy - which was at GL - junior Jon Wong broke his ankle and will miss the season. Another three-sport standout, Wong also wrestles and plays lacrosse.

"He scored two touchdowns in that scrimmage," Guyton said.

Hillside Comets will be seeking to stretch the field in their favor

By JR Parachini
 Sports Editor

HILLSIDE — With five wide receivers and a tight end in their spread offense mix, the Comets will seek to, “stretch the field with any one of their receivers,” according to first-year head coach Halim McNeil.

“We have a lot of running back type of kids, kids who can get out and catch the ball and then run with it,” McNeil said. “We’re not afraid to throw the long toss.”

Throwing the ball to those many targets will be first-year starting quarterback Kevin Miller.

“Kevin is very smart and athletic,” McNeil said. “He’s trying to make the right reads now and the right throws. He’s proven to be a team leader so far and he has a tremendous work ethic. He never stops working.”

Miller, along with several of his teammates, competed in a Prospect Camp held at Syracuse this July.

“He has all the tools,” McNeil said. “He just has to fine-tune them now.”

The lead running back is junior Siraj Abdul-Malik, with sophomore Chris Branch back in the fold as well after playing as a freshman last season.

“Siraj is a nice fit for us,” McNeil said.

Senior wide receiver John Mays is a player McNeil said, “can take the ball to the house any time.”

Returning starters include linemen Natez Winston, a senior tackle, and Alex Joseph, a junior tackle.

Back as starters in Hillside’s 4-2-5 defense include senior tackle Osa Omokaro, cornerbacks Bernie Nerestant, a junior, and Abdul-Malik and safety Joe Stuckey.

McNeil said that senior tackle Eugene Johnson anchors the middle and Omokaro anchors the edge up front.

“Osa, coming off the end, is a great pass rusher,” McNeil said. “Stuckey is a playmaker.”

McNeil also praised the talents of Branch at middle linebacker and senior Donnell Amaker, Hillside’s tight end on offense, at outside linebacker.

“Chris reads the run well and Amaker is a fire plug,” McNeil said.

A match teacher at Speedway Elementary School in Newark, McNeil comes over from Newark West Side where he was the head coach there the past four seasons (2011-2014). His record was 10-28 (.263), including a 7-3 record and playoff season in 2013.

McNeil, with this being his second head coaching stint, was approved as Hillside’s new head coach in May.

Kendall Ashford, the head coach at Hillside the previous three seasons, is now an assistant coach at Newark Central. Ashford’s record at Hillside was 7-23 (.233), including 2-8 in 2014, 4-6 in 2013 and 1-9 in 2012.

McNeil, a 1999 Union graduate who played for John Johnston in 1996 and for Gary Zakovic in 1997 and 1998, was previously an assistant coach for two seasons (2001 and 2002) at Union, six seasons (2003-2008) at Irvington, one season (2009) at Belleville and one season at Shabazz (2010).

McNeil coached under Marc Crisafi at Union and under Darnell Grant at Irvington and Shabazz. The year he was at Belleville he was the defensive coordinator for the Buccaneers, who were coached that season by Chris Strumolo.

Roselle Rams ready to show that they have ability to impress again

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

ROSELLE - What a breakout year it was for the Rams last season, beginning with a win over neighborhood rival Rahway for the first time since 2001.

Then the following was achieved:

* Roselle won its first playoff game and reached a sectional semifinal both for the first time since 1998.

* The Rams won their first playoff game at home since 1998.

* Roselle was also a top playoff seed for the first time and also hosted two playoff games for the first time.

* In addition, the Rams won their first division title of any kind in a long time and first division crown within the Mid-State 38 Conference, capturing the Mountain Division championship with a perfect 5-0 league mark.

Returning quarterback Gerald Hairston III, a 6-3, 230-pound southpaw junior, beat a 7-0 Bernards team at Roselle's Arminio Field by scoring the game-winning touchdown with 11 seconds remaining, lifting the Rams to the Mountain Division title and the top seed in Central Jersey, Group 2.

Hairston had a sensational sophomore season and looks to lead the Rams to plenty of more big wins in 2015.

"We return our starting quarterback, a couple of dynamite receivers and a couple of real run-stopper and penetrators on the edges on defense," third-year head coach James Williams said.

Behind Hairston leading Roselle's multiple offense, the Rams scored 287 points in 11 games last year, which was fifth best among all 17 Union County teams.

"Our kids are determined to be better football players each and every day and their hard work is paying off," Williams said.

In the Bernards victory, Hairston completed 17 of 29 passes for 258 yards, a TD and an interception.

His favorite receiver is rising senior Rashad Pendleton (6-1, 190), who runs a 4.5 in the 40 and doubles as a very capable cornerback on defense. Pendleton had 10 receptions and one for a TD in that important win over Bernards last fall.

The two studs on the edges at defensive end are veteran linemen Eddie Accinot, a 6-0, 250-pound senior; and Shaquil Jones, a 6-2, 225-pound junior. They double on offense at left guard and left tackle, respectively.

"Accinot and Jones are powerful, persistent and very important to what we do on both sides of the line," Williams said. "I love having big and athletic linemen and those two guys are capable of having outstanding seasons for us."

The biggest loss to graduation is 2015 North-South All-Star player Darryn Canady, who is now playing at Lackawanna Junior College.

"We will miss Darryn, no doubt," Williams said.

Roselle came oh so close to advancing to its first state championship game last year since 1990 before falling at home to Delaware Valley 28-12 in a CJ, G2 semifinal.

Roselle won at Delaware Valley 34-29 in league play earlier in the year. The Terriers advanced to their first-ever state title contest in program history.

Roselle opens its 2015 season at home vs. Rahway, seeking to produce yet another special season.

Rahway Indians still young, but hopeful to show improvement

By JR Parachini
 Sports Editor

RAHWAY - For the first time in over a decade the Indians did not challenge for a division crown or playoff berth last year, mostly due to the fact that the squad was very young as evidenced by seven sophomores in the mix.

After the team's only win of the year against Hillside, the Indians played Summit, Governor Livingston and Ewing tough toward the end.

There are still several sophomores and even a freshman in the fold this season, but first-year head coach Brian Russo is optimistic that Rahway will show continued improvement.

"We're young, but hungry," Russo said. "We're not small up front, but small elsewhere."

Leading the Multiple-I offense is returning quarterback Zahir Wilder.

"Zahir is our playmaker," Russo said.

In his team's scrimmages, Russo said the Indians displayed an ability to run the ball on the outside.

"We need to improve stretching the field," Russo said.

Being able to coach four-year starting lineman Edrice Patterson (6-3, 245) is everything Russo expected it would be.

"He's really polished," Russo said. "He has great wing span. We would like him to play with a little more of an angry streak."

Patterson is the left tackle on offense and an end on defense.

"He has great technique and knowledge of the game," Russo said. "He has hands and talent. He's a great kid."

A big loss on both lines is junior Marvin Pierre transferring to Mater Dei. Pierre was a two-way starter last year.

Other returning starters on offense in addition to Wilder and Patterson are junior left guard Marquise Muschett and junior wide receiver Justin Lacefield.

Defensively, Russo liked the way his team ran to the ball during the pre-season.

"We have a lot of team speed and can pressure the quarterback," Russo said. "If our kids understand leverage and gap integrity, if they do that, they can be pretty efficient on defense."

Rahway's defense will be greatly challenged immediately when it opens at Roselle and has to find a way to limit returning southpaw junior quarterback Gerald Hairston III.

Roselle also returns several of his favorite receivers for him to throw to.

"He's a big kid and has great poise," Russo said of Hairston. "He has good height (the size of his receivers) on the outside and he throws a real, nice ball. They have a lot of skill position players back. Our kids are really fired up."

Russo said that junior Jordan West did not come out for football in order to concentrate on track.

Last year was the first year since 2009 that Rahway did not make the playoffs and it was only the second year since 2002 that the Indians failed to qualify.

The 2014 season was Rahway's first under .500 since 2002, which was the year before Gary Mobley was promoted to head coach. Mobley and former Rahway assistant Jimmy Young are now assistants on John Power's staff at Columbia.

Johnson Crusaders preach the value of being a team player

By JR Parachini
 Sports Editor

CLARK - What second-year head coach Anthony DelConte is preaching is: "the value of being a team player and watching out for your brother."

Those traits are just as important as making a tackle or scoring a touchdown as far as being a Johnson High School football player goes.

"We are one as a team here, a family," DelConte said. "This year we want to have that kind of team unity right from the start."

Last year Johnson began 0-3, but the losses to Bernards, Voorhees and Delaware Valley were by a combined total of just 14 points. Bernards finished 8-2, Voorhees 6-4 and Delaware Valley 7-4, with the Terriers reaching the Central Jersey, Group 2 final for their first-ever appearance in a state championship game.

Johnson hung in there despite the rough start and turned an eventual 1-4 season into a playoff berth in CJ, G2 by putting together three straight wins. After falling to eventual and repeat CJ, G2 champion Rumson-Fair Haven in the quarterfinals, Johnson rebounded by downing Rahway 35-16 at home on Thanksgiving for a 5-5 finish.

Needless to say, Johnson seeks to get out of the gate a bit quicker in 2015.

"We still have a lot of work to do," DelConte said.

Leading the triple-option offense is senior quarterback Anthony Rizzuto, who was behind center when last season concluded.

"Anthony is much better, he's a die-hard kid," DelConte said.

"He's more mature, bigger, stronger, faster and knows the offense, which is half the battle.

"Whatever we can do to win is how we run the offense we run."

Johnson gave up 180 points in 10 games last year, which isn't that bad.

This year's defense includes the following returning starters: senior end Justin Falke, junior tackle Brett Roessele, senior middle linebacker Wes Giannobile, junior cornerback Jon Duffy and Rizzuto at strong safety.

"Our defense was okay (in the pre-season)," DelConte said. "We have to improve on being together. We struggled a bit in the beginning last year."

Johnson blanked Somerville 43-0 at home last November to earn its playoff spot.

The first win of the season was a 28-21 overtime triumph at Governor Livingston, which also finished 5-5 after concluding with a three-game winning streak.

CENTRAL JERSEY, GROUP 2 FOR 2015 SEASON (15 schools):

Linden Tigers sport a new cast ready to make their own mark

By JR Parachini
 Sports Editor

LINDEN - You are going to need a program to find out who is who and who is playing where for the Tigers this season.

Just one year after Linden captured its first state championship - and only second overall - in the playoff era since 1985, the Tigers were hit about as hard as a team could be by graduation.

Despite having only two returning starters on offense and defense - the same players by the names of Guirvenson Guillaume and Samad Starling - first-year and first-time head coach Albert Chiola is anxious to see how his new cast performs.

"I want the kids to compete hard each and every day," said the 41-year-old Chiola, who was promoted from offensive coordinator to succeed 1991 Linden graduate Deon Candia as head coach. "Last year's seniors left something special behind.

"Now it's time for this group to come together."

The new quarterback is junior Joey Krempa, who is making an athletic comeback after an injury he sustained playing basketball the summer before high school began for him two years ago. This is his first year playing football.

"Joey's a great leader on the field," Chiola said. "He's like a coach on the field. He has a great arm and he's smart."

Guillaume has breakaway ability at running back and there were times last season where he was just as tough to bring down as seniors Juwan Dolbrice and Kyle Phipps were.

"We have a lot of inexperience, but also a lot of talent," Chiola said. "There have been some mental mistakes, but the kids are learning every day.

They understand their capabilities and realize that they have a long road ahead."

The same inexperience is there on defense, but Chiola is not alarmed.

"Guillaume and Samad are our leaders there," Chiola said. "Fritz Moncion (senior end) has come into his own and we would like to see him use his technique a little more.

"Our defense has been very aggressive so far, which is good."

Chiola also reported that junior cornerback Davon Williamson had two interceptions in Linden's game-scrimmage against Old Bridge and four total during all of Linden's scrimmages.

Linden opens at home against Immaculata, with the Somerville parochial school also under the leadership of a first-year head coach, that person being former Ridge mentor Tom Falato, 67.

Linden opened last year's 10-2 season with a 19-6 win at Immaculata.

The Tigers then went on to win their first division title since the early 1990s, capturing the Mid-State 38 Conference's Watchung Division perfect at 7-0.

Linden was also undefeated at home last year, going 6-0, with four regular season wins and two playoff victories.

Linden also defeated Immaculata 26-6 at home in 2013 and has a two-game winning streak vs. the Spartans.

Linden went a combined 17-6 the last two years.

Cranford Cougars want a good feeling at the end of this season

By JR Parachini
 Sports Editor

CRANFORD — For 11 weekends in a row last year Cranford came out victorious.

After getting a week off, the Cougars fell just short of a first-ever 12-0 mark.

Cranford, with a first-time 11-0 record, fell to first-time state champion Parsippany Hills 20-13 in last December's North 2, Group 3 final at MetLife Stadium in East Rutherford.

The Cougars reached the Parsippany Hills 3-yard line on the game's final possession, but fell just short of a game-tying touchdown and extra point that would have most likely sent the game to overtime.

So a program-record 11 wins and a first-ever 9-0 regular season could not be fully embraced. That's because Cranford finished 11-1 and did not win its second state championship in four seasons.

"We went 11-0 and had a bad feeling," said head coach Erik Rosenmeier, now in his 11th season at the helm of the Cougars.

"We'll use it as motivation. The kids understand that's in the past and this is a new year."

Returning quarterback Jack Schetelich, who has given a verbal commitment to continue playing in college at Villanova, dwelled on the game for a bit before putting it in perspective.

Rest of Cranford's defense:

CB Brian Oblachinski, junior, (5-9, 165)

P Joe Norton, senior, (5-10, 175)

Returning starters (7): Fries, Doran, Tom, Cappello, Szekeres, Leonard, Bakie, Schetelich scored Cranford's second touchdown on a 91-yard run in the third quarter and at the game's end threw three incomplete passes from inside the five.

"For two months that's all I thought about," Schetelich said. "Our game before against West Essex we had our best start ever. Parsippany Hills was very physical, the kind of team we had not seen before."

Cranford won 10 of its 11 games last year by at least 17 points and won a division title inside the Mid-State 38 Conference for the first time, capturing the Raritan perfect at 6-0. Included was a first-time Mid-State 38 Conference win over Summit in six tries.

Penn State-bound senior two-way lineman Will Fries has moved on from the Parsippany Hills loss and is ready to get Cranford going again.

"We got so close and that is motivation to drive us this year," the 6-6, 285-pound Fries said. "We have to put that stuff in the past."

Schetelich continued, "the Parsippany Hills game taught us that we have to come out and play everyone tough. If we remember our assignments we have the potential again. We just have to focus on trying to go 1-0 every week."

While Cranford is completely healthy and has seven players back in the mix on both offense and defense, Rosenmeier was not too pleased with what he saw in the pre-season, which concluded with Cranford's game-scrimmage at home against Caldwell.

"In each of our scrimmages it took us a few series to get going," Rosenmeier said. "I'm a little tired of it."

Now what shows up on the scoreboard counts.

All 17 Union County teams open this weekend, with most of the games on tap for tomorrow night.

Among the biggest openers in the county is Phillipsburg at Union.

Phillipsburg has won North 2, Group 4 the past two seasons and during those campaigns defeated Union in Mid-State-38 Conference-Raritan Division play.

Union opened last year's 4-6 campaign with a 48-6 loss at P-Burg, so the Farmers are anxious to return the favor tomorrow night at Cooke Memorial Field.

Union won three of its final four games last year and has a much more experienced cast this time around.

Dayton hosts Hillside tomorrow night, with the visiting Comets now guided by first-year head coach Halim McNeil, who is a 1999 Union graduate.

Dayton won its last three games last year to finish 4-6, while Hillside lost its final six to conclude at 2-8.

Hillside won at home against Dayton 12-7 in the season-opener for both a year ago.

Roselle hosts Rahway on Saturday, with Rahway led by first-year head coach Brian Russo.

Two of the top returning senior football players in Union County hope to lead Cranford to a third state championship game in five seasons. They are, from left, two-way lineman Will Fries and quarterback Jack Schetelich. Fries has given a verbal commitment to continue playing in college at Penn State and Schetelich at Villanova.

Cranford football no longer is little engine that could

Team's recent success based on top talent

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

Remember when Cranford football would struggle just to get to .500 in an attempt to avoid another losing season?

Well, those days are over.

Not only is Cranford winning, but the Cougars are doing so with top talent, sending players like Reggie Green - who led the 2011 state championship team - to Pitt and present 6-6, 285-pound senior behemoth Will Fries to Penn State.

Fries and fellow senior quarterback Jack Schetelich are ranked among the top players in Union County. Schetelich will continue playing at Villanova.

Cranford's 1-2 Penn State-Villanova punch hopes to lead the Cougars to a third state championship game in five seasons.

The two standouts helped lead Cranford to its first-ever 9-0 regular season, first-ever 11-0 start, first Mid-State 38 Conference division title and the team's second state championship game in four seasons.

However, the No. 1 goal - that of winning a state championship - was not attained as Cranford fell to Parsippany Hills 20-13 in last December's North 2, Group 3 final at MetLife Stadium in East Rutherford.

"We have to put that behind us and focus on what's ahead," Fries said.

Cougars on quite a run last 4 years

"I thought about that loss constantly for two months," said Schetelich, who scored Cranford's second touchdown on a 91-yard run and then threw three incomplete passes at the game's end when Cranford reached the Parsippany Hills three-yard line. "That game taught us that we have to go out and play everyone tough."

Starting in 2002, then Cranford head coach Chris Hull, who was a standout player at Cranford and played in the 1984 North-South All-Star Game, turned the fortunes of the Cougars around by leading them to only their second playoff season and first since 1975.

After Hull's first three teams in 1999, 2000 and 2001 all finished 2-8, the 2002 squad posted a winning season of 6-4 and qualified for the North 2, Group 3 playoffs, falling at Shabazz in the quarterfinals.

Then his 2003 team reached the North 2, Group 2 semifinals, narrowly falling at Rutherford 27-24 to finish 8-3..

The 2004 squad, Hull's last of his six seasons at the helm, earned the No. 2 seed in Central Jersey, Group 2 and finished 8-2, losing only in the regular season at Linden 12-10 and at home in the CJ, G2 quarterfinals 20-13 to Rahway.

Present head coach Erik Rosenmeier's first six Cranford teams - 2005-2010 - did not make the playoffs, but progress was made. The 2010 team finished 6-4 and showed promise that better things were to come.

In the last four seasons Cranford set a program record by making the playoffs all four years and winning at least one playoff game all four years.

The Cougars won their first-ever state championship in the playoff era in 2011, capturing North 2, Group 3 and finishing 10-1. The 2012 and 2013 squads fell in the N2, G3 semifinals, with the 2012 team finishing 7-3 (one game was not played because of Hurricane Sandy) and the 2013 squad 7-4.

Including last year's 11-1 finish, Cranford has gone 35-9 (.796) the past four seasons, which is among the best records in Union County.

This year's team, led by Fries and Schetelich, might be the favorite to capture North 2, Group 3 for the first time since 2011.

Here's Fries on his decision to give Penn State - which lost at Temple 27-10 Saturday for its first loss to Temple since 1941 - a verbal commitment over other Big 10 schools Michigan and Northwestern: "I felt the most comfortable there and I'm excited the way the program is going. I found coach (James) Franklin very energetic."

Here's Schetelich on his decision to give Villanova a verbal commitment: "The coaches were great. Some others (schools) reached out, but I liked it there and they have a good program for what I want to study, which is engineering."

The signing period is the first week in February.

Summit Football Fundraiser is Saturday

The 2015 Summit Hilltopper Football Annual Fundraiser is Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Grand Summit Hotel on 570 Springfield Ave. in Summit. It will be a casual night of food, drinks and entertainment.

The Summit coaches will be there and the entertainment will be provided by jazz musician Scott Greenblatt & Summit Soundz.

Tickets are $75 per person.

Checks are to be made payable to: City of Summit Hilltopper Football and mailed to Stefanie fris at 17 Lenox road, summit, NJ 07901.

Summit opens its 2015 season tomorrow night at 7 at North Plainfield.

The Hilltoppers finished second in the Mid-State 38 Conference's Raritan Division last year with a league mark of 5-1 and concluded 9-2 overall after reaching the North 2, Group 3 semifinals for the third year in a row.

Summit's home games this year are against Governor Livingston (on a Friday night), Cranford, Roselle, Voorhees and Hillside.

Summit has not lost a regular season game at home since the 2008 season, which was its final year as a member of the Hills Division of the Iron Hills Conference.

Roselle Catholic graduates presented with scholarships

Three Roselle Catholic graduates were recently presented with scholarships from the Elizabeth Chapter of UNICO, an Italian heritage service organization, at its annual End of the Year Celebratory Dinner at Costa's Restaurant in Roselle Park.

The Roselle Catholic honorees, a trio of student-athletes, were Anthony Milano, Christina Truncale and Ashley Skrec.

Anthony Milano, a Linden resident, is going to Rutgers University to study mechanical engineering. He was the starting goalie for the varsity boys' soccer team, put the shot during the indoor track season and threw the javelin in the spring.

A National Honor Society member, Milano was also involved in Marist Youth, Peer Leadership and the Environmental Club at Roselle Catholic.

Christina Truncale, President of the Roselle Catholic (Anthony LaPolla) chapter of the National Honor Society, graduated third in the RC Class of 2015. She will study civil engineering and architecture at the New Jersey Institute of Technology (NJIT).

An Elizabeth resident, Truncale played sports (volleyball, basketball and softball) in 11 of 12 possible seasons at RC. She was tabbed MVP of the Lions' 2015 softball team and was co-winner of the Matthes Memorial Award at Roselle Catholic's annual Spring Athletics Convocation. Truncale was also a member of the Spanish Honor Society.

Ashley Skrec was the valedictorian of her Roselle Catholic graduating class. She was the recipient of the Arlene Fatigati Award given each year by UNICO member Chuck Fatigati to a student majoring in education.

Skrec is headed to Marist College, located on the Hudson in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., with a dual major in education and psychology. She played basketball at Roselle Catholic, helping the varsity team go a combined 50-5 during her junior and senior seasons.

President of the Senior Class, Skrec was a member of the National Honor Society and the Spanish Honor Society, Vice President of Student Council, a peer leader, tutor and volunteered for Bridges and RC's summer service days.

A total of six graduating high school seniors headed to college, three of whom were Elizabeth residents, were awarded UNIOIC scholarships at its annual End of the Year Celebratory Dinner at Costa's Restaurant.

In addition to the Roselle Catholic graduates, Elizabeth residents Abigail Iannelli and Brielle Riotte were scholarship recipients.

A graduate of Mother Seton High School, Iannelli is headed to F.I.T., where she will study toy design. Riotte, who could not attend due to Elizabeth High Prom Night, will attend Chestnut Hill College to study communications in the fall.

Jacquelyn Marie Keyasko, a granddaughter of a UNICO Elizabeth Chapter founder Mario DiBella, also received a scholarship. Keyasko, a senior at Watchung Hills, will be attending New York University where she will be majoring in nursing.

The June 3 UNICO event also included the swearing in of the new executive board, including the chapter's new president Nino Quaglia, who remarked about the scholarship recipients, "This is another step toward their futures."
