Outrage in Rahway over park upgrade

Residents turn out in high numbers for public meeting on Rahway River Park renovations

By Peter Fiorilla
Staff Writer

RAHWAY — Not long into Rahway's public hearing on Tuesday, Sept. 15, when residents spent five minutes each objecting to proposed Rahway River Park renovations, speaker Thomas Mulvihill ran out of time reading his prepared statements. Mulvihill, a Clark resident, had used up his allotted five minutes, so he asked if anyone else in the room wanted to finish the statements during their five minutes.

When the moderator, a visibly frustrated Robert Barry who was there to represent the Union County Counsel, told Mulvihill that his time was up and no one else could read his statements, the overflowing crowd — which lined the walls in a Rahway Public Library board room — voiced their disapproval.

"We don't want to hear you, we want to hear him," someone yelled from the back.

That exchange set the tone for the heated, hours-long public hearing, held because proposed county renovations to Rahway River Park include a "change in recreational use," according to the Department of Environmental Protection. The track at the 40-year-old sports complex will increase in size, from six lanes to eight, and a concession building will be built, if the plan is approved by the DEP.

Those features and the rest of the proposed renovations, including adding 1,200-seat bleachers, turf, 70-foot tall floodlights and more, were condemned by local residents, including many from the townships of Rahway and Clark. The general consensus was that the $5 million project, which would be funded almost evenly by Rahway and the county, creates more problems than it solves.

The renovations would create a new home for Rahway High School athletics, many speakers admitted. But it would be at the cost of an historic public property, tax money that could be better spent elsewhere, and it would go against widespread public opinion, according to Gerry Capirao, a Clark resident.

"It's the owner of the property that's responsible for the Green Acres. It's the owner of the property for ensuring that they're in compliance with voluntary programming,

Here's hoping for a rainy day

State climatologist hopes for more rain following very dry summer season

By Patrick Bober
Regional Editor

The weather has been cooler as summer comes to a close and autumn begins to take hold. Families and friends have been out enjoying the cool and sunny weather for the past week, and currently the extended forecast calls for much of the same. But at least one person in New Jersey has been hoping for a few rainy days.

"I've been the state climatologist for 25 years, and I'm much happier when it rains," said Dr. David Robinson with a bit of a chuckle.

Robinson is one of the few hoping for more moisture in New Jersey because it has been too dry for too long, and northern New Jersey reservoirs are currently just over 50 percent capacity, which is about 25 points below the 75-percent average.

"I want timely rain," Robinson said with a laugh. "I don't want to be sitting out in Rutgers stadium on a Saturday afternoon in the pouring rain. But yea, we need rain."

Robinson is a professor in the geography department at Rutgers University and is the New Jersey state climatologist. He is also a member of the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection Internal Drought Task Force and is a member or contributor to several more committees on various aspects of climate science.

Senior Club of Clark to run bus trip

The Senior Citizens Club of Clark meets Wednesdays, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., at the Polish Cultural Foundation, 177 Broadway in Clark.

Residents and nonresidents, 55 years and older, are invited to join the club, which meets from September through June. Refreshments are served and Bingo is played after a short business meeting.

Members may also enjoy special luncheons and bus trips organized by the club.

On Wednesday, Oct. 7, the club will run a bus trip to "A Salute to Tony Bennett" at the Lakeside Manor in Hazlet. Vocalist Dan Yates will sing the music of Tony Bennett while club members enjoy a full lunch.

The bus leaves from the Polish center parking lot on Broadway at 10:15 a.m. The cost of trip is $70 per person. For more information, contact Dorothy at 732-381-8526.

Join the Friends of the Clark Library

The Friends of the Library aim to promote increased knowledge and understanding of the Clark Public Library's services and needs, and foster public support for the development of the library so it may adequately serve the needs of the community. The Friends plan to accomplish these goals by receiving and encouraging gifts, providing funding where possible for special projects, and providing community services, educational and entertainment programs for children and adults.

A major part of the Friends' mission is increasing its membership, a major source of funding. Membership fees are: $50 for a business or organization; $15 for a family; $10 for an individual, and $5 for seniors and students. The Friends also plans various fundraisers throughout the year, and actively seeks members to assist in planning fundraisers. More fundraisers mean more programs, materials and events for the library and its patrons. Meetings are held monthly from September through June.

New Clark radio station

Due to the construction of a new high powered commercial radio station in the New York City area, and which will be transmitting on the 1700 AM frequency, the local radio station presently utilized by the Clark township will no longer be heard on that frequency.

The township has obtained a new radio license from the FCC and will start to operate on the frequency of 590 AM in the next few months, and is in the process of obtaining the necessary equipment needed for this transition. The township is also upgrading the station capabilities to increasing the message-recording time from 15 minutes to three hours, which will allow much more township information to be broadcast on both the regular schedule and in emergency situations.

Linden cop pleads not guilty to manslaughter charges

By Peter Fiorilla
Staff Writer

LINDEN — The off-duty Linden police officer who allegedly killed two passengers in his car in Staten Island after apparently driving under the influence on the wrong side of a major highway, recently made bail and pleaded not guilty to a 43-count indictment, which charged him with aggravated vehicular homicide, vehicular manslaughter and more.

Linden Police Officer Pedro Abad, who was behind the wheel in an accident before 5 a.m. on Monday, March 30, was also charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, according to the indictment in "The People of the State of New York against Pedro Abad."

Officials have said that at the time of the accident, when the off-duty officer slammed his car head-first into a tractor trailer, Abad had a blood alcohol level of .24, or three times the legal limit in the state of New York.

According to the indictment, Abad was operating a motor vehicle "in a reckless manner in that the defendant did travel at a high rate of speed, and did travel northbound in the southbound lanes of the West Shore Expressway (Route 440)," thus "forcing other motorists to swerve away from the defendant's vehicle." This interfered with general use of the highway, the indictment stated, unreasonably endangering the lives of other motorists.

The indictment also charges that the actions of Abad, 28, led to the deaths of two of his passengers. Officials have previously confirmed that Abad was driving home following a night of drinking at a Staten Island-based strip club.

Two of the vehicle's three passengers, Linden Police officer

Frank Viggiano and Linden resident Joseph Rodriguez, died in the accident, and the third, Linden Police officer Patrick Kudlac, was critically injured, along with Abad himself.

Abad's lawyer, Mario Gallucci, said that Abad will have long-term injuries from the accident, — one of his arms is disabled, he may not have full use of his legs again, and "his speech is slightly impaired because of a diminished mental capacity," according to The Star-Ledger.

Leading up to the accident in March, Abad had been involved in eight separate accidents since 2005, and was charged with a DUI twice. In 2011, Abad crashed into a small supermarket in Roselle, and then in 2013 he crashed into a parked car in Rahway.

The first charge was dismissed by a local judge, as state police reportedly never submitted the required evidence requested by Abad's attorney. But the Rahway incident resulted in a conviction and a driving infraction. Abad's license was suspended for seven months, and when it was restored, he was court-ordered to have an interlocking device, or breathalyzer, installed on his vehicle for 180 days.

When Abad plead not guilty to the charges from the indictment, it was the first time he had appeared in public since the fatal crash that occurred in March.

Just after 11 a.m. on Monday, Sept 21, Abad was wheeled into the courtroom and gave "one word answers" in response to "a series of questions from Judge Mario Mattei about where he lives and how he was pleading," added the report by The Star-Ledger, and Mattei told Abad that "if I find out you are driving, I will have you brought back here, forcibly if necessary, and change your bail."

Linden High School students spend two weeks in Italian village teaching English

By Peter Fiorilla
Staff Writer

LINDEN — In a Service Learning Project that led them 4,500 miles away from Linden, and more than 1,000 meters above sea level, Linden High School students spent this past summer in remote, picturesque villages in Italy, where they taught English to local students while learning to appreciate a different way of life.

For many of the 15 students who made the trip, it was their first time outside of New Jersey, let alone the country. For others, it was a return to Europe, with the added opportunity of teaching others.

All of them, given the chance, wanted to return to Italy, they said.

"I liked teaching the kids English. They know a lot, and they began to improve, by the end I feel like they knew a lot more English than they did when we came there," said Maryjo Riscinti, a junior at Linden High School. "I learned that the world is so big and beautiful, and there's way more than Linden out there. They all know each other. In Linden, it's a city, not everyone knows each other, but there everyone knows each other, and they were very humble and welcoming."

The students left with Alphonsina Paternostro, the high school's Supervisor of World Language and ESL, and several other Linden staff members on Thursday, July 23. They would stay in the small, historic Italian towns of Vallata, Vallesaccarda and Treviso for three weeks, teaching Italian students during the day — they held lessons in a museum, the house of famous playwright Ettore Scola — and rooming with local families at night.

"I wanted them to experience life in a smaller town. The authenticity of the Italian life, in a small town, not from a big city, where it's basically like here. And I wanted to give them the opportunity to give their time," said Paternostro. "The towns put together a program for us. This was not done through the school system there, but it was done through the three municipalities."

Some of the Linden students, they said, were nervous about staying someplace new

After dry summer, a wet winter is a must

"If you go by the standard nomenclature of the national drought monitor, northern New Jersey is in a moderate drought classification," he said. "Call it a minor drought. Call it a moderate drought. It doesn't matter. The fact is we have not had an abundance of precipitation for quite some time. And with that there are concerns, for everything from brush fires to water resources to agricultural business."

According to Robinson, the latest numbers available as of press time show Union County has had 7.7 inches of rainfall in the past 90 days, which is 6 inches less than what is considered "normal."

"Put another way, we have missed almost a month and a half of normal rain" during that 90-day span, Robinson said.

The problem began in earnest last April and May, according to Robinson.

"May of this year was the third driest statewide in 121 years of record keeping," he said, noting the records go back to 1895. "We were really getting concerned. The saving grace of all of this was that June was the fourth wettest June in 121 years. Thank goodness for that, because come July, August and September, we have been below average. Without that wet June, we would have been talking weeks ago, and we definitely would have been talking about restrictions by now."

It takes a lot for forced restrictions to be put in place, Robinson noted, saying a "drought watch" comes before restrictions.

"A drought watch is just a heads up," he said. "Things got dry. At times I'm involved in helping make those recommendations. But when it gets to a warning or an emergency, when restrictions are put in place, often times that's done by the governor. We are just kind of behind the scenes right now, just keeping an eye on things."

Robinson said the state is not even currently in a watch, but that one is not all that far off if it continues to stay dry.

"The DEP divides the state into six regions so they can declare a watch for one and not all," he said. "Another week or two, when we have limited rain, and it would not surprise me if that becomes part of the discussion. And right now, the outlook for the next week or two is not looking great for abundant precipitation."

With the exception of reservoirs in northern New Jersey, Robinson says the state is in pretty good shape, but the dry weather has kept him vigilant.

"The reservoirs for United Water are about half full. Average is around 77.5 percent full for this time of the year. They are running about 25 percent below average. The rest of the state is 5 to 10 percent low," he said.

But just how bad could it get?

"Just talk to the folks in California right now," Robinson said. "This summer they have done a pretty good job of increasing their conservation, but at the same time it comes with an enormous impact. When a drought comes upon you, it's an everyday thing. Every time you're not able to turn on your sprinklers, which frankly is the least of our worries but it's not to be dismissed, there is a problem. You also have to think of the economic drains of a drought. I would not diminish the economic impact on any horticulture business. Every industry can be affected by a drought if there is no water."

The current big concern is the coming winter, because if we "enter next spring in a deficit," Robinson said, "than I start getting nervous."

"In a normal winter, about 20 to 25 percent of our precipitation falls as snow. What we really care about in the winter is rainfall, because most of the moisture is delivered to us in the form of rain," he said, noting that about ten inches of snowfall is equal to about one inch of rain.

But these things can turn around very quickly, Robinson said.

"In a matter of weeks you can go from famine to feast. We did it with Floyd in 1999. We are multiple inches under where we should be, and if we could just return to the normal pattern, an inch a week is the average, and if we could knock out four inches of rain in the next four weeks, that would be a good, good start. And if we maintain that through the winter we are in great shape."

The good news, Robinson said, is that the high water consumption months are coming to an end, as the demand for water by both plants and consumers declines as the weather cools, allowing reservoirs to not decline as rapidly.

"And it provides a better chance to start replenishing once rain returns," he said. "Rain goes a longer way during the cool season to filling up the groundwater, rivers and streams and ultimately filling up our reservoirs."

There is other good news, Robinson said.

"The beach communities probably had a great summer," he said with a chuckle. "It did not rain on a weekend this summer except the last weekend in June. And I was at the beach that weekend. I did not want it to rain then."

An ironic "act of God" rained down on Robinson that weekend in June, and another is just around the corner.

"In 1995, it took the pope coming to New Jersey to make it rain. When the pope delivered his mass at Giants Stadium, it was in a rainstorm. I remember because my wife was there, and that was a very dry year. And with that rain and a few other storms we got out of the negative. But I am not wishing rain upon the pope or anybody hoping to see him later this week."

Residents rally against new park

such as historic preservation. If you look around, you're looking at the owners. People who work for the county have a hard job balancing all of the interests of the people they're representing," said Capriao. "But when you consistently see a number of people coming out in force, I think the comments that echo in every person is that 'this is not the will of the true owners of the property.'"

Many of the speakers, including Capriao, argued that Union County doesn't need another major stadium, and that Rahway residents are getting "a raw deal, paying for this twice," when they don't necessarily want or need it. In the proposed plan, Union County is committing $2.4 million on top of Rahway's $2.3 million, in part because county officials believe that surrounding towns would benefit from a nearby athletic venue.

But at the public hearing, speakers questioned why more Union County officials — or anyone from the DEP — were not at the public hearing, which made the event seem like it was just procedural, said Capriao. Rob Zuber, the Director of Union County Parks and Recreation, Barry, and Neglia engineer David Atkinson were among those at the hearing, listening to public comments.

Local residents were also concerned that the proposed renovations to Rahway River Park, which was designed by the Olmsted Brothers in 1925, would not be an upgrade for people who already use and love the park. The tax money that would be spent on the stadium changes, local residents argued, would be better spent elsewhere, including on Rahway Public Schools' academic programs.

"As far as a mere improvement or an upgrade, there has never been a large spectator facility. You've bandied about the words 'active recreation,' and this is only more active recreation. There will be 22 guys on the field doing active recreation, and 1,200 — possibly 5,000, as was originally proposed, and there is nothing stopping you from making another so-called upgrade — never has anything like that been right in the center," said Rahway resident James Freeman, who is part of a grassroots group of residents trying to stop the project. "This is an historic Olmsted park, it is quite deliberate in the plan that when you look across the park you see all the way across it, there's nothing in the middle."

FASTER DEPRESSION RELIEF FOR SENIORS

Because depression affects more than 6.5 million of the 35 million Americans aged 65 years or older, it is crucial that they avail themselves of the most effective treatment possible. According to recent research, the best way for seniors to manage their depression with medication is to take Ritalin (methylphenidate) in combination with Celexa (citalopram). While Celexa is a standard antidepressant, it can take 8-16 weeks to show improvements. Ritalin is a stimulant that is known to act quickly against depression (within 72 hours).

Researchers found that taking the two drugs in combination works faster to treat the symptoms of depression in seniors than taking either of the two drugs alone. Interested seniors should consult with their doctors.

HINT: According to the study mentioned above, the best results came from a daily dosage that ranged from 40-60 milligrams (mg.) of Celexa and 10-15 mg. of Ritalin.

There was a high turnout for a public meeting on park improvements from Rahway and Clark residents who live in the area of Rahway River Park

'I've lived in Clark for 42 years. One of the amazing things I see about that park is that tranquility, no matter how many people are in it. Many times on a Sunday I'd just drive through the park, because of the amount of people who are there, the picnics, the older people, one generation with the other generation, children playing, people playing sports on the fields. As I drive around, it's amazing.'

— Thomas Smith

The installation of the 1,200-seat bleachers, residents argued, would inevitably lead to traffic and congestion problems during athletic events, which would keep regular park-goers away and exclude them. There are currently 400 parking spots at Rahway River Park, according to Mulvihill, and while a satellite parking solution has been hinted at by the county, the current situation is untenable.

"It's like going to the mall at Christmas. Everyone's going to want to get a spot that's as close as possible to the stadium. The stadium has a capacity of 1,200 people. If two people come in a car, there will be 600 cars looking for a parking spot in the park. They will fill the park," said Mulvihill. "If only 600 people come, there will be 300 cars, and they'll again, between them and the usual visitors, fill the park."

If the parking lot at the park is full, it will be closed to all other users, added Mulvihill, and there is "no way the stadium is going to compensate for that." For other users of the park, including bird watchers, hikers, nature enthusiasts, scientists and more, that would be a major loss for the community, residents said.

"I've lived in Clark for 42 years. One of the amazing things I see about that park is that tranquility, no matter how many people are in it. Many times on a Sunday I'd just drive through the park, because of the amount of people who are there, the picnics, the older people, one generation with the other generation, children playing, people playing sports on the fields," said Thomas Smith. "As I drive around, it's amazing."

Helping others

At the Linden city council meeting on Sept. 15, a resolution was given to the Friends of Linden Library. The City recognized the non-profit organization for their advocacy, volunteerism, and support of the Linden Public Library. The city also declared the week of Oct. 18 through 24 as Friends of Library week. 'Through our fundraising efforts and advocacy for the library, we are able to provide some great programs for the patrons. Libraries are changing with the times, it's no longer just about the books,' said Friends President Dawn Beviano. Councilman Armando Medina, the library liaison to the city, commented 'This is a great group of volunteers that are really doing a great job for our library.' Every month the following programs are provided by the Friends: Movies, Lego Club, Children's Yoga, Wags to Read therapy dog program, and Children's Arts and Crafts. Museum passes can also be checked out for members of the Friends group. To learn more about the Friends of Linden Library, visit the circulation desk or email friends@lindenpl.org.

Voting continues for Art Outside the Box program

Voting is set to continue this week for Union County's first-ever Art Outside the Box program at www.ucnj.org/artoutsidethebox/vote. The selections available for this round of voting will cover traffic control boxes in Elizabeth at the intersections of South Broad Street and South Street, Rahway Avenue and Elizabeth Avenue, and Broad Street and Caldwell Place.

Art Outside the Box is a new countywide project created to support Union County visual artists by offering a nontraditional exhibition opportunity that broadens and diversifies public exposure to art murals.

The theme for the 2015 Art Outside The Box program was diversity, and art was sought that represents the community at large, while being uplifting, colorful, and appropriate for people of all ages.

Offered as part of the Building A Community of the Arts initiative, a total of 13 original artworks will be selected to cover traffic control boxes in Elizabeth, Linden, Rahway, and Plainfield. Each artwork will be reproduced on a special vinyl adhesive film and professionally applied to the exterior of the pre-selected traffic control boxes.

Funded by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, details about the project are available online at www.ucnj.org/artoutsidethebox. For additional information, contact the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs at 908-558-2550.

Seasonal flu immunizations offered in Springfield

Seasonal flu immunizations will be administered to Springfield residents aged 18 years and older at the following dates at times:

- Thursday, Oct. 15, from 10 to 11 a.m. at Springfield Senior Housing, 350 Independence Way;
- Thursday, Oct. 15, from 12:30 to 2 p.m.; and
- Monday, Oct. 19, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. at the Chisholm Community Center, 100 S. Springfield Ave.

The flu causes an average of 36,000 deaths each year in the U.S., mostly among the elderly. No appointments are necessary for any of the clinics. The immunizations are free to seniors with a Medicare Part B card; there will be a $10 charge for all others.

Seasonal flu vaccine is recommended by Centers for Disease Control and Prevention for everyone older than 6 months. According to the CDC, vaccination is especially important for people at higher risk of severe influenza and their close contacts, including health care personnel and those in contact with children younger than 6 months old.

The 2015-16 flu vaccine offers protection against H1N1, H3N2, B/Phuket, and B/Brisbane, this year's expected strains of seasonal flu. It takes up to two weeks for protection to develop after the shot, and protection may last for up to one year.

Since most influenza occurs from November through May, peaking between December and February, now is the best time to get a flu shot to insure full protection for the whole season.

Protect yourself, your family and those in your community by getting your flu vaccine at this year's clinic. Any questions may be directed to the Madison Health Department at 973-593-3079, ext.9.

The Presbyterian Women's Group will offer refreshments for sale. Tables have "sold out" quickly in the past, so don't delay. Vendors will not be permitted to sell food. The church reserves the right to prohibit the sale of "inappropriate" or manufacturer's recalled items. Call the church office at 973-379-4320 for reservations before Oct. 9. The reservation form can be found at www.springfieldpresbyterian.com.

Pantozzi paintings on display at library

Paintings of the late Salvatore Pantozzi will be exhibited in the Donald B. Palmer Museum of the Springfield Free Public Library through Sept. 30.

A World War II Army veteran, Pantozzi studied art by mail with the International Correspondence School. The trauma of war restricted him to painting what he could see from the windows of his apartment in Jersey City, and he worked mostly in pastels, crayon, oils and corrugated cardboard. He died in 2000 and is interred at Arlington National Cemetery.

The Donald B. Palmer Museum and the Springfield Free Public Library are located at 66 Mountain Ave. For more information, visit www.springfieldpubliclibrary.com.

Do you know that you can eat raw beets and that they are even healthier than cooked beets? I love that because beets take forever to cook which is a deterrent to making them for many people. Try this recipe for raw beets and play around with different spices for the marinade. Great as a side dish to tuna salad too. Just make sure to wear an apron, as beets really do stain. Enjoy!

Get involved in your children's education

Now that the school year has begun, many parents relish those hours when their children are in classrooms, not underfoot, allowing them time to get things done at home, such as cooking, cleaning, working from home or just relaxing. Sometimes, after 10 weeks of summer that felt as though it was 10 months long, a break is needed. But being a good parent means more than just passing the responsibility of the children off to teachers; if you want them to succeed, you have to get involved.

Children today learn at an accelerated rate, so much so that it seems as though they are learning in middle or even grammar school what we were taught in high school. And once they're in grades nine through 12, our children are in advanced-placement classes that fill college requirements, all to stay globally competitive. How is a parent who grew up in the '60s, '70s or even the '80s expected to pass on learning when they don't even understand themselves?

First, don't panic. The basics for young children are still the basics and most people can handle at least that much. There are plenty of sites online where parents can get refreshers and suggested routes to proceed. And speak to the teachers. They only want their students to succeed, and if you, as a parent, can reinforce what they are teaching, it can only help, not hurt. They will be glad to offer suggestions and may even have exercises or programs you can follow. You're not doing their job for them; you're just doing your job as a parent.

Be the cheering squad. When your child succeeds, praise them. When they don't, set goals and work with them to reach those goals. Give positive feedback and show appreciation for the teachers and principal; you're all in this together. Share your child's strengths, talents and interests with your child's teachers and attend parent-teacher conferences with specific questions to ask. Visit the web page of your child's school, know school staff extensions and office hours, contact the school for information on family programs and resources, visit your local library regularly and either get involved in a network of concerned parents or create one yourself. This is an investment in your child, perhaps the greatest investment you'll ever make.

Don't pass the responsibility to someone else and hope for the best; get involved.

Research has shown that, when parents are more involved in the education of their children, they do much better in school, regardless of racial or ethnic background, socioeconomic status or parents' education level. These same children generally achieve better grades and test scores and have better attendance; consistently complete their homework; have better self-esteem; are more self-disciplined; and show greater aspirations and motivation toward school; as well as having a positive mental attitude that results in improved behavior in school and fewer suspensions for disciplinary reasons. Yes, all children want a certain amount of freedom and independence, but these same children appreciate the amount of time their parents are willing to devote to them to help ensure they succeed. It may require sacrificing some of your rare, coveted free time, but the rewards are priceless.

Better your community and nation; make the effort and get involved in your children's education.

The other part of the senator's job

Call it the other part of the job. Last week State Sen. Nicholas Scutari put the press on the State Department of Transportation officials for an access road off the Turnpike to Lower Road and the Trembley Point section of Linden. City officials have named it the "Linden Industrial Exit."

The city has been fighting for the exit for more than 20 years. Merely a blip in the timeline of bureaucrats in Trenton who control the studies and ultimately any recommendation for the funding.

It highlights the other portion of the job of a state senator. For Scutari, as Chairman of the State Judiciary Committee, he has been dedicating a whole lot of time to reviewing the group of state officials who must pass through and gain confirmation for their positions from his committee.

Another duty is the advocacy for projects and needs in the local district. This project would mean easy access to the industrial area of the city and be an economic plus for the city. Scutari, in his lobbying effort, cautioned state officials that a number of the permits have time limits which require faster action on the project.

After his meeting with DOT Commissioner Jamie Fox, Scutari scored an impressive victory in gaining a commitment to have the pre-requisite study completed by the transportation types. Kevin Israel, a spokesman for the Department said, "This connection road is a critical project both to Linden and Union County. The Turnpike Authority, at the direction of NJDOT Commissioner Jaime Fox, is engaging in a feasibility study. The scope of work is currently being developed and we expect the study to begin in October."

LEFT OUT

BY FRANK CAPECE

It's like moving the boulder up the hill. Scutari seized the momentum after the August dump truck accident on the Turnpike asserting the new exit would have significantly reduced the massive inconvenience experienced by the stalled rush hour drivers.

Call it the falling dominos effect, since the project would also impact the other end of Linden. Eighth Ward Councilperson Michele Yamakaitis has been fighting for the exit during her eight years on the city council and two years before that.

A chunk of her ward is South of U.S. 1. On the Linden and Elizabeth boarder. Between 3 and 6 p.m. her residents are often shut out of any direct route from Park Avenue to their homes. Between the lack of the new exit and the increased tolls on the Turnpike, that section of the highway hits saturation.

Yamakaitis also points to the traffic crunch severely impacting customers who would otherwise drive to the Wood Avenue shopping area and Aviation Plaza.

In one prior effort, she championed a "don't block the box" ordinance which tickets the drivers who think its ok to block an intersection for their own time convenience causing more back log of traffic.

With the massive improvements to the Goethals Bridge, Linden officials see the potential for even more truck traffic passing through the residential streets. The exit is needed.

Scutari was quoted as to his desire to see this project through to completion. It may require equal portions of advocacy and patience.

Both are prerequisites for his job.

Pairing tall sedums and blue mist shrubs

When I take my daily walks I breathe deeply, soak in the sunshine — when there is any — and snoop at other people's gardens and landscaping. In my suburb I see a lot of conventional good taste on display. There is nothing wrong with that and it beats trash-strewn lots any day. However, amid all the conventional good taste, there are occasional revelations — entire landscapes or even small beds that stand out because they are unique and artistic.

I saw such a layout the other day and it has stayed in my mind because it was perfect for the season and the setting. This piece of garden perfection was a medium-size border, probably about 15 feet long, dominated by two plants, blue mist shrub, or Caryopteris x clandonensis, and a pink-flowered variety of tall sedum, or Hylotelephium. The sedum clumps and the blue mist shrubs were approximately the same height, but the stiff, upright sedum contrasted nicely with the more relaxed, rounded habit of the blue mist. Both plants were at their seasonal best. The blue mist shrub was covered with puffs of tiny sky-blue flowers and the sedums adorned themselves with large, flat-topped cymes or flowerheads of dusty rose. Both attracted large numbers of bees and butterflies.

Sedums are ultra-fashionable right now and most gardeners are familiar with the old standard, Autumn Joy. Developed in

THE GARDENER'S APPRENTICE

BY ELISABETH GINSBURG

Germany, Autumn Joy stands between 14 and 18 inches tall, with thick, fleshy stems and leaves. Those leaves are roughly oval-shaped and slightly toothed. The flowerheads, which are made up of small individual flowers, start out pale green in the summer and darken gradually to pale pink, darker pink and finally brick red. When they reach that stage, you can also cut them to use for dried arrangements in the winter. I suspect that the sedum I saw on my walk was most likely Autumn Joy.

Its companion, the blue mist shrub, was probably an example of another garden favorite, Longwood Blue. Developed at the celebrated Longwood Gardens in Kennett Square, Pa., Longwood Blue grows between 2 and 3 feet tall and wide. Like many members of the mint, or Labiateae, family, blue mist shrub features pleasantly aromatic leaves. The aromatic quality of the foliage is probably what keeps the deer from eating it — a definite plus in deer-besieged suburbia.

Caryopteris is deciduous, so its toothed leaves provide a cooling touch of green in the summer, set off the flowers later on and depart the scene when frost rolls around. The only disadvantage to the blue mist/tall sedum combo is that both are slow to get started in the spring. However, this could be remedied by under planting the bed or border with lots of spring-flowering bulbs.

Tall sedum cultivars are numerous and a number of blue mist shrub varieties are also available, so if you like the idea of the caryopteris/sedum combination, you can choose among numerous variations that suit you.

For example, some caryopteris, like White Surprise, feature variegated foliage, edged in cream. For a bit of drama, pair it with Red Cauli sedum, adorned with dark red flowerheads. To lighten things up, combine Caryopteris Lisaura, which features golden-green leaves, with Hylotelephium Brilliant, a variety that sports extra large, bright pink blooms. For a blue and white combination, try Hab Gray sedum, with large white flowerheads and Beyond Midnight Blue, which has the darkest blue flowers of any caryopteris.

For those who grow their gardens in containers, the caryopteris/sedum combination is still possible. Most blue mist shrubs top out at between 2 and 3 feet tall. Plant the blue mist of your choice in a large pot and prune back hard in the spring. The plants, which bloom on new wood, will flower in late summer/early fall, as always, but will stay at about 2 feet tall. Pair with pots of shorter-stemmed sedum varieties, like good old Autumn Joy, at 14 to 18 inches tall, or Blade Runner, with red-purple flowers on red stems. It rises to between 12 and 18 inches tall.

Sedum and caryopteris varieties thrive in the same conditions — full sun and relatively lean, well-drained soil. I grow mine in clay soil amended with organic material and they do fine. They would be finer without the tender ministrations of Mr. Antlers, who enjoys sedum whenever he can. It's possible that interplanting sedum with the deer-repellent caryopteris might make the voracious Antlers clan less interested. It's worth the experiment. Lay in a supply of deer spray too, just to hedge your bets.

Tall sedums and blue mist shrub are an easy-care, extremely attractive combination. Local nurseries frequently offer both at this time of year. For a broad selection, go to ForestFarm, 14643 Watergap Road, Williams, OR 97544-9599; 541-846-7269; www.forestfarm.com. Free print catalog. Sedum varieties are abundant at Bluestone Perennials, 7211 Middle Ridge Road, Madison, OH 44057, 800-852-5243, catalog.

Coyotes, New Jersey's wild dogs

You're in bed when suddenly the nighttime quiet is broken by a clamor of howls and yips. Or maybe you spot what looks like a stray shepherd-mix dog in your yard.

They may be Eastern coyotes, wild relatives of domesticated dogs. Coyotes are now regularly seen even in New Jersey's not-so-wild places.

According to Andrew Burnett, a principal biologist for the state Division of Fish & Wildlife, there are an estimated 5,000 to 10,000 coyotes living in New Jersey.

"They're seen pretty much everywhere in the state," he says. "They're in all 21 counties and at least 430 municipalities." In fact, he said, the only places coyotes haven't been reported are in the area around Camden and in a cluster of small Bergen County towns.

Coyotes resemble small German shepherds, but with longer snouts and bushier tails. Their coloring can range from gray to black, brown, blond and red. One good way to identify them is by tail position: Unlike most domestic dogs, coyotes tend to hold their tails below a horizontal position while standing, walking and running.

Coyotes are not native to New Jersey, and how they got here is somewhat of a mystery.

The state's first reported coyote sighting was in Lambertville in 1939. While it's possible coyotes naturally migrated to New Jersey from the west and north, some wildlife officials think private citizens may have smuggled some into the state prior to 1950. Contrary to rumor, said Burnett, New Jersey Fish & Wildlife has never "imported" coyotes from other states.

THE STATE WE'RE IN

BY MICHELE S. BYERS

Like white-tail deer and black bears, coyotes have proven very tolerant of living in close proximity to humans and development. Yet, they are generally shy and afraid of people. They primarily hunt rodents and rabbits, but they're omnivorous and opportunistic and will make a meal of just about anything, including garbage, pet food and roadside carrion.

Coyotes are mainly nocturnal, but parents raising a litter of pups may be seen hunting during the day. In late summer and fall they usually stay in small family groups, but by the time their February breeding season approaches they'll become more solitary.

Coyotes may not be native to this state we're in, but they've come to play an important role by keeping rodent populations down in urban areas in the absence of native predators like snakes and hawks.

They may also be helping to reduce New Jersey's over-abundant deer population, said Burnett, although there haven't been any scientific studies to confirm that impact.

One thing for certain, said Burnett, is that coyotes are here to stay: "They're extremely adaptable."

Fish & Wildlife offers the following tips:

- Never feed coyotes — it causes them to lose their natural fear of humans.

- Don't feed pet cats or feral cats outdoors; both the food and the cats could attract coyotes.

- Put garbage in tightly closed containers that can't be tipped over.

- Bring pets indoors at night.
- If you see coyotes in your yard, make loud noises, throw rocks or spray a garden hose to let them know they're not welcome.

- If you observe coyotes in the daytime that show no fear of humans or appear aggressive, contact your local police and the Division of Fish and Wildlife at 908-735-8793; outside of normal business hours call the DEP hot line at 877-927-6337.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Why not Linden?

To the Editor:

With the assimilation of multiple new additional housing units, potentially embracing hundreds of new residents, measures should be incorporated to mitigate a possible explosion of vehicular traffic that could strain the traffic patterns that embrace North Wood Avenue near the train station.

Although Jersey City has an estimated population of 257,000 residents compared to Linden's approximate 41,000 residents, it has demonstrated a practical means to secure alternate means of transportation to work or school by offering a bike sharing program.

Both Jersey City and Linden could realize a multiple benefit package program in devising such a change of transportation, including: Reduce vehicular traffic congestion; Enhance air quality; Generate revenue for Linden through sponsorship of bike program; Heighten physical self-awareness; Encounter consumer savings on automobile insurance; Reduce the need for repetitive road repairs; Curtail spats regarding potential parking areas.

The program is considered quite successful in New York City. Why not Linden?

LHS students teach English in Italy

for 21 days. But it didn't take long for them to get acclimated into the culture of rural, Italian life.

By the middle of the trip, many of the students were comfortable participating in the "Parade of Battaglia di Chianchione," an annual parade held in the town of Vallata. For the procession, students wore costumes that resembled traditional Italian clothing from 1496.

Other highlights of the trip included the spectacular food and gelato, historic sites dating back 1,000 years, trips to Rome and Naples, and the friendly nature of the townspeople. The local families treated the Linden students as their own daughters and sons, said the students, and teaching the younger Italian children quickly became a treat.

"They were so sweet. The first day, there was such a language barrier, so it was really hard talking to them. But once they were comfortable with us, it was like they were like our kids, our little brothers and sisters, we didn't want to part with them. And there was this one kid in particular, Antonio, and we used to see him around at fairs and stuff," said Brianna Armstead, a recent graduate of Linden High School who went on the trip. "We used to see him with his parents, and he'd tell them 'oh, those are my teachers!'"

The attitude of the Italian students, who were separated into class sizes of about six or seven per Linden student, made the transition into Italian life that much more exciting, Linden students said. And for a few, their experiences in Italy convinced them that teaching will be in their futures, one way or another.

"Teaching kids English, I never would have thought I wanted to teach English, but coming back to America I'm thinking about what I want to do when I grow up, because it changed my life," said Damien Allison, a junior at Linden High School.

Allison had been to Italy once before, on a scholarship, but the opportunity to work as a teacher made an impact on him, he said.

"I don't know what I'm going to do," he said. "Teaching English there was a lot of fun, I've made close bonds with the students. And if we teach them English, we have the opportunity to learn Italian, because of the dialogue."

There was a lot more to love about the trip, according to Linden students and staff members. It was a way for the students to gain valuable experience teaching, foster a greater cultural understanding of the world and experience a foreign way of life.

This trip wasn't the last that Italy had seen of Linden High School students, they said.

"I had the best experience. Everything from the food, the people, the culture, everything was just wonderful. I want to go back myself. In the beginning I was a little nervous to leave home, but it was wonderful," said Lizzy Ortiz, a Linden language teacher. "I learned a lot, something that I'm going to keep with me for the rest of my life that I didn't anticipate walking away with in the beginning."

While in Italy, Linden High School students taught English to their young counterparts, but also participated in local customs, like participating in the 'Parade of Battaglia di Chianchione,' an annual parade held in the town of Vallata. For the procession, students wore costumes that resembled traditional Italian clothing from 1496. Many of the students say they took home memories and experiences they will never forget.

Mystery solved!

The students of Nina Conner's and Carol Iden's third-grade classes at Frank K. Hehny Elementary School in Clark recently indulged in a sensory experience in the classroom. The co-teachers concealed pieces of watermelon and asked the students to attempt to guess what the hidden mystery item was, allowing them to use single senses at a time to aid them. Having successfully identified the fruit, the students were asked to reflect on the abilities which enabled them to properly recognize the pieces of watermelon. Conner's and Iden's students then wrote short descriptive pieces regarding how each of their five senses aided them in discovering the hidden identity of the mystery item. As an extension to this activity, students were asked to contemplate how each of the five senses combine to allow us to go about daily lives. Pictured is Conner and Kylie DiFulvio using their senses of touch to identify the mystery item.

'One stop' vote-by-mail available in two places

Union County Clerk Joanne Rajoppi announces that a "one-stop" election service is available for Union County voters at the Westfield and Elizabeth offices of the County Clerk.

"Eligible voters are able to apply for a vote-by-mail ballot for the New Jersey General Election and School Board Elections in person at either of my offices, receive their ballot and cast the ballot at the same time," Rajoppi said. "This one-stop voting service is available at my Westfield office as well as at the main office in Elizabeth. The deadline to apply for vote by mail for the Nov. 3 General Election is Oct. 27, by mail-in application. The deadline to apply in person is Monday, Nov. 2, by 3 p.m."

"The service in Westfield and Elizabeth makes voting more accessible, particularly at the Westfield office with its convenient Saturday office hours and evening hours during the week," Rajoppi added. "With the important Nov. 3 General Election for state Assembly, County and Municipal offices as well as the School Board Elections quickly approaching, my office is working to make the voting process as fast and convenient as we can for everyone who is registered to vote."

Last week, Rajoppi announced the redesign of the vote-by-mail ballot so that it more closely resembles the sample ballot and official ballot in the voting machines. The ballot will now be horizontally oriented and the School Board Election will have a blue heading, drawing the voter's attention to the bottom of the ballot so it is recognized that there are more votes to be cast.

Vote-by-mail is an easy, secure process that has replaced the absentee ballot. Voters may pick up an application at their local municipal building or download the form at ucnj.org/vote-by-mail, use the free, downloadable Union County NJ Votes app, or contact the Union County Clerk at 908-527-4996.

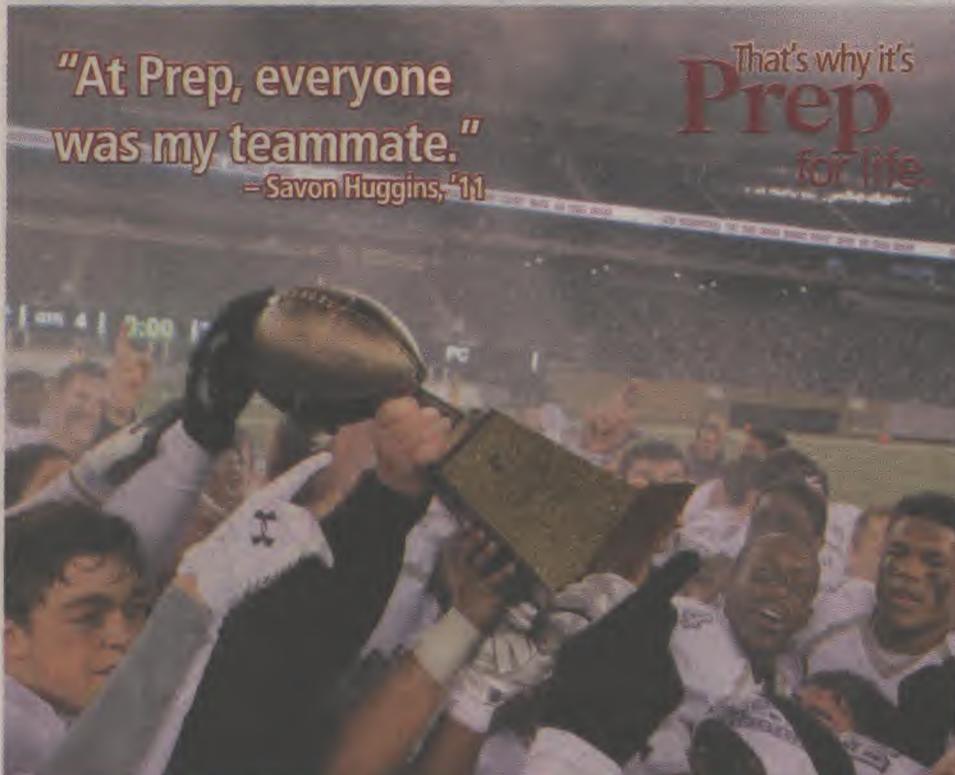

The County Clerk's Westfield Annex is located in the Colleen Fraser Building, 300 North Avenue East, Westfield. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

The Main Office of the County Clerk is located at the Union County Courthouse, 2 Broad Street, Room 113, Elizabeth. Regular office hours in Elizabeth are Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The County Clerk's Election Office in Elizabeth will be open on Saturday, Oct. 31, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. to assist voters wishing to vote by mail.

For all county clerk programs and services visit t.ucnj.org/county-clerk or call 908-527-4787.

Rock stars and food trucks satisfy Union County

Music fans and hardcore foodies who attended the very first Food Truck & Rock Carnival just couldn't get enough of Slash, at right, and his former Guns N' Roses bandmate Gilby Clarke, at far right. Bottom right, Zakk Wylde of Black Label Society feels the love from the cheering crowds. Popular food trucks and craft brew beer gardens from all over the state kept the masses filled. The concert was held last weekend at Oak Ridge Park in Clark and thousands turned out for loud music, great food, and a carnival complete with a variety of amusement rides and games.

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Rahway man charged in robbery, fatal shooting of taxi driver on Aug. 25

A Rahway resident has been charged in connection with the fatal shooting of a city taxi driver following a robbery attempt last month, acting Union County Prosecutor Grace H. Park announced Friday, Sept. 18.

Nathaniel Young Jr., 20, is charged with first-degree murder, first-degree felony murder, first-degree robbery, and a second-degree weapons offense.

Shortly before 11 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 25, patrol units were called to the 1400 block of Bedford Street in Rahway, according to Union County Assistant Prosecutor Albert Cernadas Jr., who is prosecuting the case.

At that location, arriving officers found the body of Imad Alasmar, 57, of Edison, inside his taxi.

Immediately following the shooting, Alasmar's vehicle had collided with a parked car, resulting in injuries to an adult male and an adult female, who was transported to a local hospital for treatment.

An intensive joint investigation involving the Prosecutor's Office's Homicide Task Force, the Rahway Police Department, and the Union County Sheriff's Office Crime Scene Unit resulted in Young being identified as a suspect in the case.

He was formally charged Friday morning and currently is lodged in an Essex County corrections center on an unrelated matter.

Bail for Young was set at $1 million by state Superior Court Judge William A. Daniel. Convictions on charges of murder and felony murder commonly result in sentences ranging from 30 years to life in state prison.

These criminal charges are mere accusations. Each defendant is presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

Put the Brakes on Fatalities

Motorists in New Jersey and throughout the nation are asked to join in Put the Brakes on Fatalities Day on Oct. 10, an effort to increase awareness about safe driving behaviors and keep the state's roadways fatality free for one day.

The national initiative was designed to unite the country in moving toward zero fatalities for one full day by encouraging motorists to obey all traffic laws, including buckling up for every ride; driving the posted speed limit; avoiding distractions while driving; and always being safe and sober behind the wheel. The goal is to experience a day when all roadway users are extra vigilant and there are no fatalities on our roadways.

Last year in New Jersey, 556 people lost their lives in motor vehicle-related crashes, up from 542 in 2013. Pedestrian fatalities increased from 129 in 2013 to 170 in 2014. Average pedestrian fatalities increased from 139 in 2010 to 170 in 2014. The 2014 numbers represent 31 percent of all crashes while, nationally, pedestrian fatalities are at 14 percent.

Statewide, law enforcement agencies will be utilizing their variable message boards and conducting educational activities to raise public awareness regarding this issue during the week of Oct. 4, ending with Put the Brakes on Fatalities Day on Oct. 10.

Additional information on the "Put the Brakes on Fatalities Day" is available by logging on to www.brakesonfatalities.org

What are the duties of a best man? Maid of honor?

Being asked to join a bridal party is both an honor and a responsibility. When asked to take on such significant and meaningful roles, men and women may recognize the honor but be unsure of what their responsibilities are as couples move forward with their wedding plans.

Bridal party roles can vary depending on certain circumstances, but many couples still want their bridesmaids and groomsmen to perform many of the more traditional tasks associated with their roles. The following are some of the tasks bridesmaids and groomsmen can expect to perform in the months leading up to the wedding and during the wedding itself.

- Maid of Honor: The maid of honor serves as the bride-to-be's right-hand woman as she plans her wedding and gets ready on her big day. Maids of honor typically go gown shopping with the bride and may even choose or offer suggestions about the color and style of the bridesmaids' dresses. Once a dress style and color has been chosen, the maid of honor will make sure everyone is fitted on time.

A maid of honor will also plan the bridal shower, sending invitations and arranging for lodging for out-of-town guests if necessary. Many brides want the details of their bridal showers to be a surprise, and maids of honor should honor those sentiments when possible. A maid of honor also plans the bachelorette party, though many brides do not mind being involved in the planning of such parties.

The maid of honor may be asked to help address save-the-date cards and envelopes as well.

Bridal parties play a big role leading up to and including the wedding day, and those roles are both an honor and a responsibility.

Come the day of the wedding, the maid of honor will ensure the bride's day is as stress-free as possible, helping to address any last-minute issues that may arise. Maids of honor may be asked to serve as the legal witness to the wedding and sign the wedding license before the reception. At the reception, the maid of honor will toast the bride.

- Best man: The best man is the maid of honor's counterpart, helping to plan the bachelor party and toasting the groom at the reception. The best man also tends to hold the rings during the wedding ceremony, and during the day of the wedding, he will coordinate the groomsmen to make sure everyone is ready to go on time. The best man may arrange transportation for the groom and groomsmen on the day of the wedding and may also return the groom and groomsmen's attire the following day if the newlyweds are departing on their honeymoons.

- Bridesmaids/Groomsmen: The bridesmaids and groomsmen serve similar functions, acting as sources of support as couples plan their weddings. Bridesmaids and groomsmen help to plan the bachelorette and bachelor parties and may also be asked their opinions as couples make decisions regarding their weddings. Bridesmaids and groomsmen must be prepared to take pictures once couples have officially tied the knot. They also must help the brides and grooms with any issues that may arise in the hours before couples become husband and wife.

- Flower girl/Ring bearer: Flower girls and ring bearers are often young relatives of the couple, whether they are a young brother or sister or a niece or nephew. The responsibilities of the flower girl and ring bearer are typically limited to the ceremony, during which they will walk down the aisle, either together or individually.

- Father of the bride: The father of the bride walks his daughter down the aisle during the ceremony, and, along with his wife, may pay for the wedding, though many couples now finance their own nuptials. The father of the bride will dance with his daughter during the reception.

Many options available if you decide to video

A good videographer can capture the theme of a wedding and reception and then package it into a theater-quality keepsake.

A couple's wedding day is often a whirlwind for the bride and groom-to-be. Happy couples hope to remember every little detail, but that can be difficult when so much is going on.

That is why many brides and grooms hire videographers to preserve the memories of their weddings.

Couples who fail to capture their ceremony and reception on film may feel like they missed out once their big day has come and gone. As a result, a professional videographer can be a wise investment.

Today's wedding videos have come a long way from their poorly produced predecessors. Gone are the potentially cheesy soundbites and elevator music. Many of today's videos are artfully edited and highly cinematic productions that could have couples wishing they were viewing videos in theaters. The following are some wedding video trends popular among today's couples.

- Brief clips and highlights: Few people want to sit through their entire wedding day frame-by-frame. Montages of key elements of the day are much more popular than a chronological unfolding of the ceremony and reception. Some videographers like to show snippets of what's to come at the start of the wedding video, then go into more extensive segments later on.

- Special filters or film: Filters and lighting effects can give a wedding video an entirely different feel. For example, filming in 8mm can lend a grainy touch to the video and make it seem ethereal or even part of a home movie collection. However, few people want the stark reality of a high-definition camera that highlights every flaw.

- Film chapters: Dividing segments of the video into different chapters allows viewers to fast forward to the parts they want to see and pass those they can skip. This saves the hassle of having to watch the video in its entirety.

- Cinematic styling: Instead of a stationary camera on a tripod, this method of filming incorporates different angles and close-up shots to give the video a modern feel. It's shot more like a movie than a documentary, allowing viewers to feel as though they're really experiencing the event.

- Artistic, indy feel: Film buffs may want a wedding video that breaks the mold. Ask videographers to create something that would fit in at the Sundance or Tribeca film festivals.

- Same-day editing: Want to revisit the ceremony at your wedding reception? Some videographers will edit portions of the ceremony and preparations for the big day in the time between the ceremony and reception. This gives all guests, including those who may not have been able to make the ceremony, the chance to view the nuptials.

- Unobtrusive technology: This trend relates to the equipment used to capture wedding memories rather than the actual finished product. No one wants their view of the ceremony or reception to be marred by a big, bulky camera.

Smaller video cameras enable videographers to seamlessly blend in and perhaps capture shots that larger cameras could not.

Preserving wedding memories takes on new meaning when couples explore the growing trends in wedding videos.

Wedding superstitions persist

Couples on the verge of tying the knot spend lots of time hoping their wedding days go off without a hitch. The threat of rain drops or temporarily misplaced rings can make couples feel that the hands of fate are casting bad luck on the proceedings, but couples need not worry. Superstitions are not always negative, and there are many things thought to bestow good luck on couples about to become husband and wife. The following are some of the more popular harbingers of good luck couples can look for on their wedding days.

- Rain: Rain signifies various things in different cultures, and many of those amount to a dose of good fortune for a wedding. Rain can represent fertility, suggesting that couples will have many children. Rain also can signify cleansing and renewal or the washing away of past ills.

- Sugar: Many Greeks believe tucking a sugar cube into your glove will mean a sweet union between the newly betrothed.

- Coins: In Sweden, a bride puts a silver coin from her father and a gold coin from her mother in each shoe so she will never have to go without.

- Unpleasant things: Egyptian women may pinch the bride on her wedding day for good luck. The English believe finding a spider in your wedding dress means good luck.

- Bells: Bells may chime at Irish weddings to keep evil spirits away and ensure a harmonious family life. Some brides also will tuck small bells into their bouquets.

Finding a spider in the wedding dress is considered good luck in England.

- Day: Some cultures view certain days as luckier than others for getting married. English tradition suggested Wednesday was the best day for getting married, with Monday weddings bringing wealth and Tuesday events bringing good health. English folklore states that Saturday is the unluckiest day to tie the knot.

Many traditions are in place to keep bad spirits away from wedding proceedings and ensure good luck. Middle Eastern brides, for example, paint henna on their hands and feet to protect themselves. The tradition of the groom carrying his bride over the threshold is to protect her from evil spirits lurking below.

Good luck charms vary depending on culture and geography, and several superstitions have withstood the test of time.

The ins and outs of the traditional rehearsal dinner

Rehearsal dinners are a fun wedding tradition that typically take place the night before a couple walks down the aisle. The immediate families of the bride and groom as well as any additional members of the wedding party are on hand for the rehearsal dinner, which often follows a walk-through of the wedding ceremony.

The rehearsal dinner is usually a laid-back affair, but there are some things couples must navigate as they sit down to their last dinner together before becoming husband and wife.

Guest list

It is customary to invite anyone participating in the wedding, including bridesmaids, groomsmen, ushers, flower girls, and ring bearers, to the rehearsal dinner. In addition to those in the wedding, family members, such as parents of both the bride and groom and their respective siblings who are not in the wedding, also are invited to traditional rehearsal dinners.

Menu

If your rehearsal dinner will take place at a restaurant, then try to find a restaurant that can cater to various tastes. Rehearsal dinner parties tend to be large, and within your party you may have guests who are vegetarian or on gluten-free diets or those who need to avoid certain foods. The more versatile the menu, the more capable an establishment is likely to be with regard to meeting the various needs of your party.

The rehearsal dinner is traditionally a relaxed and fun occasion held the night before the big day.

While many rehearsal dinners are held at restaurants, it's not unheard of to host a dinner party at home or at the home of the bride's or groom's parents. If you plan to go this route, just be sure to provide a variety of food so no one goes home hungry.

Booking

If you are hosting a rehearsal dinner at a restaurant, booking a reservation should be near the top of your priority list once you have chosen a date for the wedding. It's not always easy to find restaurants that can accommodate especially large parties, nor is it easy to find restaurants that can accommodate the unique diets of potential party guests. So try to book a reservation three to six months in advance of the dinner. If you are getting married during an especially popular month to tie the knot, such as June or October, try to make the reservation even earlier, as the longer you wait the more likely other couples will have booked the restaurant for their rehearsal dinners.

Tab

Many wedding traditions have fallen by the wayside over the last several decades, and that includes who is picking up the tab. In the past, the brides' parents paid for the wedding while the grooms' parents were expected to pick up the tab for the rehearsal dinner.

But many couples now pay for their own weddings, and those that are footing the bill should include the rehearsal dinner in their wedding budgets. If parents offer to pay or split the tab, you can take them up on their generous offer. But it is still to a couple's advantage to expect to pay for their rehearsal dinners.

Rehearsal dinners are an enjoyable tradition that affords couples the chance to sit down with their closest friends and family members and enjoy a great meal together. Planning ahead can make the dinner even more enjoyable.

l. Supervision; conduct. A special law enforcement officer shall be under the supervision and direction of the Chief of Police or his/her designee and shall perform all duties solely with the Township of Clark, except when in fresh pursuit of any person, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:156-1 et seq. A special police officer shall comply with the rules and regulations applicable to the conduct and decorum of the permanent, regularly appointed police officers of the Township, as well as all rules and regulations applicable to the conduct and decorum of special law enforcement officers. While it's no surprise that Cranford and Summit are off to 2-0 starts - Summit, for example, is 2-0 for the seventh straight season - locals Brearley and Hillside are also enjoying 2-0 beginnings for the first time in awhile.

Brearley is 2-0 for the first time since 2011 and Hillside for the first time since 2008, which was the program's last winning and playoff season.

Westfield and New Providence are also off to fine 2-0 starts as is Elizabeth.

Elizabeth and Westfield lost to Linden in last year's North 2, Group 5 playoffs.

New Providence is situated in Central Jersey, Group 2 this season for the first time.

Last Friday night at Ward Field in Kenilworth, Brearley defeated South Hunterdon 30-6 in its home-opener. South Hunterdon was the only team that defeated the Bears last year in Brearley's 5-1 start.

Brearley seeks the program's first 3-0 start since 2008 tomorrow night at home against Dayton.

In last year's game in Springfield, a total of 91 points were scored, with Brearley coming out on top 50-41.

Hillside is off to a solid start after opening with road wins against Dayton and then Roselle in league play.

The Comets are presently tied with Bernards for the lead in the Mountain Division of the Mid-State 38 Conference, both teams with 1-0 league marks.

Hillside will honor former longtime assistant coach John Zappulla before this Saturday's home-opener vs. Rahway.

Zappulla, who coached and taught at Hillside for more than 50 years, passed away June 27 at the age of 76.

Cranford has won 13 straight regular season games dating back to the 2013 campaign.

Summit has now won 29 consecutive regular season home games, dating back to its 2008 schedule.

First-year Linden head football coach Albert Chiola, middle, tells his team after Saturday's 26-18 league win at Plainfield that he couldn't be prouder of a group of players for how they handled a tough week and remained focused. Chiola, who has been a coach at Linden since 2007 and this year was promoted after serving as offensive coordinator, earned his first victory as a varsity head coach.

'Discipline, assignments, trust' theme that got Linden through Guillaume's 2 TDs spark squad to 1st win

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

PLAINFIELD — "Discipline, assignments, trust."

That was the theme for Linden last week as the Tigers had to make sure they remained focused for a confident Plainfield team, despite all of the distractions around them.

"Discipline meaning how we have to act on the field, assignments meaning how we go about trying to win the game and trust meaning how each of us trusts are teammates and coaches," said Linden senior captain Guirvenson Guillaume, who rushed for 92 yards on 24 carries and single touchdowns in each half to help lead the Tigers to a 26-18 Mid-State 38 Conference-Watchung Division triumph last Saturday over Plainfield.

Asked after the game how his team improved performance-wise from last week's season-opening 26-6 home setback to Immaculata, first-year Linden head coach Albert Chiola echoed Guillaume's sentiments, "discipline, assignments, trust," Chiola said.

"Discipline is the football team, assignments are how you play and trust is trusting in your teammates, your family and your coaches," Chiola continued.

Before Saturday's game at Hub Stine Field — in the wake of Linden 18-year-old senior Fritz Moncion being dismissed from the team after his unsportsmanlike behavior in the team's season-opener — Chiola, who picked up his first win as a varsity head coach afterwards, was asked what steps Linden is taking to prevent such actions from happening again?

Tigers were inspired by their 'motivational leader'

"We're using the incident as a teachable moment," said Chiola, who has been a coach at Linden since 2007. "We need to educate the kids on the gravity of the situation and for them to beware, because there is always someone watching or filming."

Linden had just wrapped its pre-game warmup and went back into the lockerroom glad – and ready – for another opportunity to represent itself in a positive manner on the football field.

"We always preach self control on the field," Chiola said. "Frustration can lead to bad decisions sometimes. Our kids have to realize that everything (in terms of social media) is out there and what happened (last weekend) can not be tolerated."

Guillaume, also a key member of last year's North 2, Group 5 state championship team, took it up on himself as a team captain to get his team through what was a rough week.

"Guirvenson is our motivational leader," Chiola said. "This week his senior leadership was really important to this team."

Linden took Saturday's opening kickoff and marched to the Plainfield three-yard line before its initial drive stalled on a rush for a three-yard loss.

However, on the very next play, Linden sophomore Jayden Johnson recovered a Plainfield fumble at the Plainfield 8. After running the ball up the middle during its first possession, Linden decided to go outside on first down, with Guillaume sweeping right and scoring from eight yards out to give Linden the lead for good at 6-0.

Plainfield didn't waste any time getting back into the game. On the second play of its next possession, quarterback Jayson Bryant found receiver Jaleel Simmons open at the 40, with Simmons taking the ball the rest of the way for a 65-yard touchdown pass that brought Plainfield within 7-6 after a missed extra point.

After a few more running plays and a seven-yard pass from Joey Krempa to Elijah Harrison put the ball on the Plainfield 39 near the end of the first quarter, Linden struck again.

Krempa, a junior in his first year as Linden's starting quarterback, went back to Harrison and hit the receiver at the Plainfield 25. Harrison, a senior, then found room down the right sideline to haul the pass in for a 39-yard touchdown.

Linden extended its lead to two touchdowns early in the second quarter when Krempa completed a 62-yard touchdown pass to junior end Kyree Rogers, who went up on the right side of the field and made a nice catch against single coverage before taking the ball all the way into the end zone.

"After halftime we came out and knew that we couldn't let up," Guillaume said.

After holding the Cardinals to a three-and-out, Linden continued to move the ball into Plainfield territory and struck for what would be its final points. Guillaume closed a six-play, 49-yard drive by scoring from nine yards out on first and goal.

"Last week I had a bad game myself," Guillaume said. "This week I wanted to keep coming on strong."

To Plainfield's credit, with the Cardinals coming in at 1-0 for the first time since 2005, the home team did not let up at all after being down by three scores.

Plainfield got two of them back and nearly got the third.

On Plainfield's next possession the Cardinals came right back with another touchdown, this one a 31-yard pass from Bryant to Simmons. The drive began with consecutive completions of seven and 22 yards.

After Linden went three-and-out, Plainfield drove from the Linden 36 to the Linden six-yard line before a 10-play drive closed after an incomplete pass on fourth-and-five.

With Linden taking over on its own six, Guillaume took the handoff on first down and burst through the line. Unfortunately for Linden, the ball was knocked away from Guillaume, with Plainfield senior DJ Kennedy scooping it up and running into the end zone with a 15-yard fumble recovery.

Plainfield attempted another extra point kick, but it was wide left, keeping the score at 26-18, but still keeping the contest a one-possession game.

With 10:32 remaining, Linden continued to move the ball behind the running of Guillaume and Johnson before a 10-play drive halted at the Plainfield 32.

On Plainfield's final possession, the Cardinals marched into Linden territory again and reached the Tiger 30 before an incomplete pass over the middle on fourth down was batted away by Linden standout senior defensive back Samad Starling.

Linden's only other returning starter besides Guillaume, Starling produced a solid game on defense.

"The momentum was really shifting back and fourth in the second half," Chiola said. "We had a goal-line stand and then an unfortunate turnover."

"We were resilient and showed that all week long. I was proud of the way our kids remained focused. They could have made an excuse because of all the distractions and news cameras, but instead they had a great week of practice."

"We were just glad to be playing football again and very happy to get this victory against a tough Plainfield team."

Both teams are now 1-1 overall and 1-1 in the Watchung Division. Linden extended its winning streak over Plainfield to seven games. Plainfield last defeated Linden in 2008 and at home in 2007.

NOTES: Linden is now preparing for tomorrow night's home game against league rival Montgomery.

The Cougars are 0-2 for the first time since 2010 after suffering home losses to Westfield and North Hunterdon.

Westfield and Immaculata lead the Watchung Division at 2-0.

Linden will play at Westfield on Oct. 3. This weekend the Blue Devils have their bye.

Westfield has solid wins at Montgomery 35-6 and at home over Scotch Plains 42-10.

Last year Linden defeated Westfield twice, both times at home at Cooper Field. The regular season game was a 15-14 overtime decision and the North 2, Group 5 semifinal was a 14-6 triumph the Tigers had to hold on for.

After Montgomery, Linden has regular season home games remaining against Scotch Plains, Elizabeth and Union.

Elizabeth is 2-0 overall and in league play and is at the top of the Delaware Division standings along with Bridgewater-Raritan.

GL football gives Summit all the Hilltoppers can handle

By JR Parachini

SUMMIT – For much of the first half it was a battle of the defenses at Tatlock Field last Friday night, with visiting Governor Livingston first stopping host Summit and then the Hilltoppers halting the Highlanders.

That went on for four possessions by each team before a bad snap out of the end zone finally resulted in some points put on the scoreboard.

That could be attributed to the field position advantage Summit worked hard to achieve after a couple of fine punts from the lefty-kicking Jake Froschauer.

His punt following Summit's third possession went for 55 yards and his next punt covered 50 yards, with the Hilltoppers managing to down the ball at the GL one-yard line.

Three plays later Summit had a 2-0 lead when the GL snap went past the player it was intended for and through the end zone.

Five plays after that Froschauer, who completed just one of four passes for zero yards during Summit's first four possessions - which totaled just 18 yards- tossed the first of his three touchdown passes, this one a perfect spiral that led Matt Newman at the 15 and into the end zone for a 39-yard scoring strike.

While underdog GL hung in there as best as it could, Summit managed to put together another scoring drive before the half, this time Froschauer concluded it by completing a seven-yard TD toss to Matt Murdock.

The Hilltoppers added single touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters en route to a commanding 30-6 Mid-State 38-Conference-Raritan Division triumph over GL.

Summit improved to 2-0 overall and 2-0 in the Raritan Division, while GL fell to 0-2 overall and 0-2 in the Raritan.

Summit - 2-0 for the seventh straight season - also extended its regular season home winning streak to 29. The Hilltoppers last lost a regular season home game in November of 2008.

"I give (GL head coach) Dan Guyton a lot of credit," third-year Summit head coach Kevin Kostibos said. "He packed it (his defense) in a box and made sure we were not going anywhere running the ball. We had to throw it to beat them.

"At times we completed passes and at times we didn't."

At the half, Summit had 123 total yards of offense, with 105 coming on its final two possessions. GL was held to 89, with senior Stephen Sottosanti carrying the ball three times for 30 yards and senior Anthony Wong five times for 22 before he left the game for good in the first quarter with a right ankle injury.

GL reached the Summit 33-yard line before its second possession fell just inches short when Pat DeAngelis gained two yards on fourth-and-three.

"We had a bad break with field position and some of their punts hurt us, but you have to hand it to Summit for they way they played," said Guyton, in his third year at the helm of the Highlanders.

"There were some positives for us. We'll keep on working hard and show that we're improving."

GL got on the scoreboard with 53 seconds left in the third quarter when junior running back Will Nicholson scored on a 55-yard zigzag touchdown run. Nicholson first broke free on the right side of the field and then saw a hole to his left and cut across and through the Summit defense for six points.

Both defenses did a good job of swarming to the ball early on, with players such as Andrew Galitelli, Nick DeLuca, Matt Bruno, Carlton Edwards and Turner Haddad coming up with key tackles for the Highlanders.

Excelling on defense for Summit were tacklers Danny Petrela, Liam Dougherty and Matteo diMayorca.

"I thought our defense played phenomenal," Kostibos said. "They caught us out of position on the one play (GL's touchdown), but I thought we did a great job of reading keys and with our gap integrity. Our defense kept us in the game until we scored."

Down by two scores to start the second half, GL had the ball first and took eight minutes off the clock before its drive stalled at the Summit 38.

In contrast, it then took Summit just one minute to score its third touchdown. Junior running back Sam Zanelli, who did not carry the ball at all in the first half, raced down the left sideline for a 44-yard gain to the GL 18 on Summit's first play of its first second-half possession.

Two plays later, Murdock scored his second touchdown, this one on a four-yard run up the middle.

Newman also scored a second touchdown when he caught Froschauer's third touchdown pass from three yards out in the fourth quarter.

GL sophomore defensive lineman Mike Magliacano had a sack for the Highlanders that helped thwart a Summit fourth-quarter drive.

Summit will next play at Warren Hills tomorrow night, while GL on the same day will face North Plainfield in its home-opener under the lights at Frey Field in Berkeley Heights.

RP football has a quality placekicker

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

With five seconds remaining before halftime two weekends ago, Roselle Park fourth-year head coach Terry Hanratty said, "why not?"

So he sent out sophomore Valentino Ambrosio to attempt a 46-yard field goal at Herm Shaw Field.

The 5-7, 140-pounder - who was Roselle Park's varsity kicker last year as a freshman - sought to extend a two-touchdown Panther lead with what would be his first field goal as a sophomore.

Ambrosio, whose first field goal as a freshman came in a setback at Brearley, put everything he had into the kick and made it with little margin to spare.

Roselle Park's eventual 38-0 victory over visiting Pingry saw the Panthers have a 17-0 lead at intermission because of it.

"He's now elevated his game a bit," Hanratty said. "He's also kicking off and had two touchbacks. He's even more of a weapon for us."

Ambrosio was a perfect 1-for-1 on field goal attempts and 5-for-5 on extra point kicks.

"He's been working with coach (state's kicking guru) Pat Sempier," Hanratty said. "Pat said to him that he has the potential to be one of the best."

Scoring touchdowns for Roselle Park were senior running back Carry Mimy (2), sophomore Enzo Brutus, senior Khaleel Roach and junior Steven Karas.

Roselle Park, which now owns the longest winning steak of any team in Union County at four, opened its fourth straight season with a win over Pingry and the last three have been by shutout.

"This is the hardest-working group of kids I've ever coached," Hanratty said. "The kids took it upon themselves to do conditioning drills without being asked."

Roselle Park is now preparing for a 2-0 Bound Brook team.

The Panthers take on the Crusaders tomorrow night in Bound Brook.

"This is the best team I've coached, not from a talent standpoint, but from being as solid a team as anyone would want to coach," Hanratty said.

Roselle Park's 4-4 defense was sparked by the play of senior end Joe Picarelli, who finished with eight tackles vs. Pingry.

"Joe has really improved and become a solid, high school football player," Hanratty said. "He really showed how to play defensive end. He made plays on the sideline and right at him. He really stepped up his game. "It was a great surprise to see the way he played."

Roselle Park had two shutout wins last year and hopes to add more this season.

"Everything else is a team effort with us," Hanratty said. "We don't know who's going to run the ball well or who is going to step up from game to game."

Hanratty also reported that his players put valuable time in during the off-season with assistant coach Justin Polce.

"I can't say enough about the job Justin has done with the kids," Hanratty said. "He was there every day with them, in the weight room. I give him a lot of credit."

Hanratty guided the Panthers to the North 2, Group 1 playoffs his first two years at the helm, while last year's non-playoff team closed with a three-game winning streak to finish 5-5.

"I don't know how good we could be, a lot of that depends on injuries and how we match up on a game-to-game basis," Hanratty said. "Three years ago we beat Pingry in overtime (on Opening Night) and then we ended up playing for a state championship."

"We just have to get better every week, that's our goal."

ALL coaches speak before guest speaker

The Johnson High School Athletic Booster Club held its first meeting earlier this month and in attendance at the packed house were coaches, players and parents who had the opportunity to meet the fall coaches and listen to them speak on behalf of their teams, in addition to listening to a guest speaker who talked about maximizing the high school athletic experience.

The program continued with guest speaker John McCarthy of Montclair State University. McCarthy is an award-winning teacher, author, and coach who captivated student athletes, coaches, and parents alike with his discussions on high school athletics.

The symposium focused on talking to the audience on numerous topics related to high school athletics today. Furthermore, McCarthy talked about excerpts from his book, What Would Yogi Do?, which provided guidelines for athletes, coaches and parents who love sports.

The highlight of the evening was when McCarthy introduced surprise guest speaker Gian Paul Gonzalez.

Gonzalez's program, "Going All In", discussed the keys to helping empower the student athletes to truly commit to goals despite the obstacles that will try to hinder the type of commitment they will need for success. Gonzalez implored the audience to let "ALL IN" be more than just a slogan, but become a lifestyle that will impact all parts of their life.

Gonzalez is a social studies teacher in Union County and has been delivering his message to athletic teams, Fortune 500 companies, high schools and churches. He was a former NCAA Division 3 All-America first-team basketball player at Montclair State University where he scored nearly 1,400 points in his three-year career. Gonzalez played in the NBA Summer League in 2007 and was offered a few professional basketball contracts, yet he turned them down in order to continue his work with at-risk youth.

Gus Kalikas, Johnson Athletic Director, had this to say about the event. "The Booster Club was thrilled to be able to bring both John McCarthy and Gian Paul Gonzalez into our school district to talk to our student athletes, parents, and coaches.

"The messages of the evening resonated with our audience as they related the importance of going "ALL IN" in all aspects of one's life.

"I am sure that everyone in attendance will implement some of these valuable ideas and incorporate them into their everyday lives."
